TRAINS ON NEW ROAD BY FEB. 1

G. T. ENGINEER SAYS IT IS PROBABLE.

Carload of Spikes Arrive and Work on Laying Steel is Resumed.

A carload of spikes arrived at Cass City Wednesday evening and the laying of steel, which was delayed because the spike supply was exhausted, will commence again at a merry clip on the new Detroit & Huron railway between this point and Bad Axe. One work train is "on the job" and another is expected as soon as the work progresses a little farther. Workmen were engaged Thursday in preparing a switch on the south line of the "Y" which connects the new railroad with the P., O. & N. and it is expected that the steam shovel will commence operations soon.

A. S. Going of Montreal, locating engineer of the Grand Trunk, was in Cass City Saturday and in conversation with I. B. Auten stated to the new road may be running by Feb. 1, 1913. He said that with good weather there was a possibility of getting the road finished in 30 days.

The weather this week has been anything but favorable for railroad building and the work will probably have to advance at a pretty good pace on the fine weather days to make good Mr. Going's prediction.

RECOUNT IN THREE TOWNS.

Canvassing Board in Tuscola Found a Few Technical Errors.

When the canvassing board met to officially determine the election of candidates in Tuscola county, defeated Progressives filed a formal notice asking for a recount of the votes, in the Townships of Indianfields, Denmark and Akron, given for the office of register of deeds.

Frank St. Mary, chairman of the board, informed the Chronicle Thursday morning that in the recount a few technical errors were found, but the result is practically the same as the original count, and Joseph Walton's majority over the Progressive candidate for register of deeds remains in the neighborhood of 50.

In Indianfields the recount showed the following vote: Walton 519, Hunt 205, Stone 75. Denmark township, Walton 277, Hunt 100, Stone 54. Akron township, Walton 162, Hunt 162, Stone 32.

GOOD MONEY FOR BEANS

Rainy Season Responsible for Big Returns for D. E. Turner.

The rainy season last spring and summer is responsible for a big bean crop on the farm of D. E. Turner in Ellington township. Mr. Turner had prepared 15 acres for a corn crop, but it rained for several days and then it rained some more. Mr. Turner got tired waiting for Jupiter Plevius to suspend his schedule and one day announced to "the boys" that he guessed he'd put in beans instead of corn. The bean crop from the 15-acre plot was sold to The Farm Produce Co. the other day for $1,050.00, an average of $70 an acre.

Geo. Compton, another farmer, had an average return nearly as good as that of Mr. Turner. On a crop from 14 acres, he averaged $63 an acre.

Railroad Company Settles Claim of A. A. Hitchcock.

Nearly three years ago, at the time the P., O. & N. depot at Cass City was destroyed by fire, A. A. Hitchcock had a shipment of dry goods damaged and the loss was estimated at $629.00. This claim has been pending against the railroad company since that date and it was only last Thursday that the matter was finally settled.

In discussing the matter with his friends, while the claim was still pending, Mr. Hitchcock was assured more than once that it was of no use to try to get a settlement with the railroad company and he might as well drop the matter for good. He, fortunately, did not heed this advice and the claim was paid Thursday in full.

RE-DISTRICTING OF STATE WILL BE REQUIRED IN STATE

New State Constitution Makes This the Work of Legislature Every 10 Years.

According to the new state constitution the state legislature will be required to redistrict the state at the coming session for representative, senatorial and congressional districts. That there will be a merry war on in the legislature when the question is taken up is assured.

The constitution provides for a re-districting of the state every 10 years and 1913 is the year in which the new order of things starts. Under the constitution no county can be divided in the formation of a senatorial district, unless such county is entitled to more than one state senator, as in the case of Wayne county. The basis for the redistricting is gauged by the population, and there can be no more than 100 representatives and no more than 32 state senators.

ANOTHER BEAN DRYER

Farm Produce Co. Will Install Machine Soon.

The Farm Produce Co. received a bean drying machine from the Hess Warming and Ventilating Co. Thursday and expect to have the machine erected and ready for use within the next three weeks. The machine will be erected outside of the elevator buildings and stands 25 feet in height. The installation of the dryer has made it necessary for the company to purchase a small boiler to supply the steam, and this added boiler capacity will enable them to operate the dryer at the same time that the other machinery is in operation. It will cost in the neighborhood of $2,000 to install the dryer and the capacity of the machine is 500 bushels of beans every 10 hours.

"We were simply forced to purchase this machine this year," said F. E. Kelsey, the manager of the company, "because the beans are more difficult to handle this season. Last fall the beans were either entirely good or poor. This season we often find the beans mixed, both dry and damp beans in the same load, it being difficult and sometimes impossible for the farmer to keep them separate."

ELKLAND FARMER DIES SUDDENLY

EPHRAIM FOURNIER VICTIM OF HEART TROUBLE.

Funeral Services Were Held at St. Agatha's Church at Gage-own Wednesday.

The funeral services of Ephraim Fournier, 3 1/2 miles north and 1/2 mile east of Cass City, were held at St. Agatha's church Gagetown on Wednesday at ten o'clock. Rev. Fr. Dolan of Sheridan conducted the services and interment was made in the Gagetown cemetery.

Ephraim Fournier was born in Montreal, Canada, October 9, 1845 where he lived until 1860, when he, with his parents, sisters and brothers, moved to Unionville, Michigan. In 1869 he was united in matrimony with Miss Katherine McDonald of Unionville. Twelve children were born to this union: Michael, George, Fred and Miss Clara of Cass City, Miss Marie of Philadelphia, Kenneth of Grand Rapids, James of Pinconning, Thomas, William and Mrs. Frank Young of Gagetown. Two, Ephraim and Mrs. Geo. Holl, preceded the father in death. In March, 1908, they moved to their farm north of Cass City where they have since resided.

Mr. Fournier's death was very sudden. On Sunday he was feeling well and laughed and joked with his family. Monday morning he was seized with a pain in his heart and died about 8 o'clock.

Mr. Fournier was a prosperous farmer and excellent neighbor and his death is mourned by a host of friends. Besides his wife and children, he is survived by three brothers, Albert of Gagetown, Louis of Caro and Fred of San Francisco, and two sisters, Mrs. James Andrew of Colwood and Mrs. M. Andrew of Quarry City, Alberta.

EXPENSIVE BUGGY WHIP.

David Macomb, a Sanilac county resident, misappropriated a buggy whip in Cass City Monday evening and found it to be the most expensive whip he had ever procured. The theft was noticed immediately, deputy sheriff C. D. Striffler was informed and Macomb was arrested 1 1/2 miles south. He was brought back to Cass City and tried the next day and forfeited $10 for fines and cost.

SAVED SALARY OF COM.

State Reward Road in Elkland is Accepted.

Frank Rogers, deputy state road commissioner, inspected the two miles of state reward road built in Elkland township this fall and OK'ed the job yesterday morning. This entitled the township to a $1,000 reward appropriation which goes towards defraying the expense of building it.

When the job was advertised this spring, only one bid was received and that was for $4,508.78. The township officials figured they could build it for less money and the work was completed under the direct supervision of Highway Commissioner Spurgeon. Mr. Spurgeon's books show that the work will cost the township $4,064.09, not counting the time he put on the job himself. The difference between the two sums, $444.69, will pay the greater part of the highway commissioner's salary for the entire year.

Rev. F. A. Armstrong performed the marriage ceremony. The wedding is the culmination of a romance which began when the contracting parties were schoolmates in Cass City, Mich.

The bride arrived in Kalspell from her home in the east Sunday night. Mr. and Mrs. Campbell will leave this week for Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, where they will make their home. The groom holds a responsible position with Carlson & Co., contractors. —The Kalspell (Mont.) Bee.

FOR RETIREMENT OF TEACHERS

Would Operate to Create Pension Fund for Veteran Educators.

The bill framed by the committee on legislation of the Michigan Federation of Teachers' Clubs for retirement of teachers, has some feature of interest to many of our readers.

1. Voluntary retirement after thirty years of teaching provided the last fifteen years are served in the public schools of this state.

2. Retirement by the board after fifteen years of service in the public schools of this state if physically incapacitated for school work and desiring of a retirement salary.

3. Retirement salary to equal half the average contractual salary for the last five years of service, but no retirement salary to exceed $500.00 per annum.

4. Retirement salaries to be paid out of a fund created by:

(a) Contributions from all of the public school teachers one per centum of their annual salaries, but no annual contribution to exceed $10.00, as the maximum retirement salary is half of one $1,000.

(b) Appropriations by the legislature. (Note.—Under this plan the average teacher will pay about 13 cents per week into the fund.)

5. Teachers who shall cease to teach in the public schools may secure refund of one-half of their total contribution to the fund.

6. The retirement fund is to be managed by a Board that will be responsible to the teachers of the entire state.

The Aim of the Bill.

1. To increase the efficiency of teaching in Michigan.

(a) By allowing the teacher to give his whole time and attention to serving the schools.

(b) By making the teaching profession a life work and not a make-shift job.

(c) By making teaching attractive to the brightest and ablest young men and women.

(d) By making it possible for school authorities to retire worn-out, faithful teachers on a competence that will keep them from the almshouse.

(e) By removing the dread of a penniless future from the life of 19,000 teachers of Michigan.

Points of Interest Regarding the Subject.

1. The tendency of the times is clearly toward retirement on part salary for long and faithful service. Notice:

(a) All large railroad systems.

(b) Every great corporation.

(c) Police and firemen in many cities.

1. Ohio, New Jersey, Maryland, Wisconsin, New York and Rhode Island use state money to retire public school teachers.

2. Our proposed bill is based on the Wisconsin and New York retirement laws.

3. The idea of a retirement salary has been approved by the State Superintendents' association, by the State Federation of Teachers' Clubs, by most of the leading schoolmen of the state and by many members of the Legislature.

HERBERT LEON COPE NOV. 20

(Advertisement.)

Herbert Leon Cope, the Humorist, is to appear before a Cass City audience on Nov. 20 through the enterprise of the young people of the M. E. church.

Mr. Cope is not merely an entertainer nor does he claim to be a lecturer. Really he is both in one. His bureau says that "his lecture-entertainments are a resistless medley of unadulterated fun, solid common sense, classic beauty and magnetic pathos, all tinged with the philosophy and religion of life. His record with us indicates a popularity unequalled by any lecturer or entertainer now appearing before American audiences."

During the last two seasons Mr. Cope has filled engagements in four hundred and twenty-three different cities and towns, and during the summer months appeared at seventeen of the leading Chautauquas.

Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania says: "Next to Bill Nye, Mr. Cope is the funniest man I ever heard."

The late Bishop (Chaplain) C. C. McCabe said of him "I heard Mr. Cope several times and was delighted with him. I noticed how thoroughly he held his audience and how fully he measured up to the high encomiums that have been passed upon him."

The young people are making an effort to purchase a piano for the church and are anxious that their friends assist by giving Mr. Cope a good audience. The entertainment will be held in the M. E. church. The admission is twenty-five cents. Tickets are on sale at Wood's Drug Store.

Former Resident of Sheridan Twp. Dies at Traverse City.

Mrs. W. S. Tuttle died at the home of her son, Geo. Tuttle, 321 West 12th St., Traverse City on Sunday, Nov. 10, at two o'clock, at the age of 80 years. Heart trouble and old age are given as the cause of death.

Mrs. Tuttle, for 38 years, was a resident of Sheridan township, Huron county, and left her home in that township, in company with her husband but a few weeks ago, for Traverse City where they went to spend their declining years at the home of their son.

Interment was made in Oakwood cemetery at Traverse City on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock.

AGED MAN SHOTS WIFE AND COMMITS SUICIDE

Bad Axe Man Who is Responsible Was 72 and Believed to Be Insane.

While insane, George B. Rochefort of Bad Axe shot his wife four times with a revolver Tuesday and fired a fifth shot into his own brain. Rochefort was found dead in his bedroom, three hours later. His wife is still alive, but is expected to die. Rochefort was 72 years old and his wife 65. They were married about three months ago. Both have families which are prominently connected.

Rochefort claimed illness and asked his wife to bring his dinner upstairs to his room. She did so, and the shooting followed, after he stated to her that he did not think she had used him very well, and he was going to kill her and himself. This was Mrs. Rochefort's statement while conscious.

The news of the shooting was not made public until Portia Johnson, their granddaughter, arrived and found her grandfather dead and her grandmother lying on the floor unconscious, but too weak to call for assistance.

39 STATES VOTE FOR GOV. WILSON

New Jersey Man Will Have 429 Electoral Ballots.

ROOSEVELT GETS SIX STATES

President Taft Finishes with Two States and 8 Electoral Votes—Democrats May Control United States Senate.

Wilson's electoral vote.....429 Roosevelt's electoral vote..... 90 Taft's electoral vote 8

States carried by Wilson.... 39 States carried by Roosevelt. 6 States carried by Taft..... 2

Fuller returns from the election indicate that Woodrow Wilson carried thirty-nine states and has 429 electoral votes. This leaves Roosevelt second with six states and 90 electoral votes, while President Taft has but two with 8 votes to be cast for him.

The latest significant change was the change of places by Illinois and Minnesota. More complete returns took Illinois from Roosevelt and added its 29 votes to the Wilson column, while Minnesota's cornfield voters were found to have gone for Roosevelt, which took the 12 electoral votes out of the Wilson column and gave them to Roosevelt.

There is at present not the slightest doubt as to the lower branch of congress being decidedly Democratic and that the Democrats will have the largest representation in the history of the party or nation. It merely is a matter of whether the Democrats will have 120, 130 or some other equally large numeral as the index of their majority over all opposition, including Republicans and Progressives.

The latest stack-up showed 291 Democrats, 133 Republicans and 11 Progressives. This would be a clear majority of 135 for the winning party. United States Senate Still Close.

The Democrats appear reasonably certain of controlling the United States senate, although it will be very close. The Republicans had a majority of seven in the present session with three vacancies. While the Democrats have held their own in the states, the indications are that they have taken two seats away from the Republicans in Colorado, one in Delaware, one in New Jersey, one in Kansas, one in Montana, one in New Jersey, one in Kansas and one in Montana. They may win one in Nevada, while Democrats believe there are chances in Oregon, Tennessee, Iowa and South Dakota. In Illinois the United States senator will have to be elected by a coalition, as the Progressives and three Socialist members of the lower house will hold the balance between the two parties.

The day developed the defeat of three very well known Republican congressmen, Joseph G. Cannon, William B. McKinley and Nicholas Longworth, son-in-law of Colonel Roosevelt, but a Taft supporter. Situation in Illinois.

All shadow of doubt as to the minor Democrats on the Illinois ticket has been dispelled. They come through with the head of the ticket. Late returns settle definitely that there will be no party responsibility in the next general assembly, say party leaders. No party has a majority with the Progressives holding the balance of power.

Of the twenty-seven congressmen from Illinois, eighteen will be Democratic, three Progressive and six Republican. It is likely that the present Illinois legislature will claim the right of electing a successor to Lorimer, and efforts are being made to get all factions to agree on some Republican, preferably Lawrence Y. Sherman, who defeated Shelby M. Cullom in the preferential primaries. Composition of Legislatures.

It is conceded unofficially that the next Delaware legislature will have twenty-nine Democrats and twenty-three Republicans. In Massachusetts the Democrats have added the secretary of state to their winning list, the post being won by Frank J. Donoghue, a young newspaper man. The legislature will be Republican on joint ballot by fifty-four plurality.

Returns on Governors. In 29 states electing governors, the Democrats not only maintained their own, according to late returns, but overthrew majorities in three states, Illinois, Missouri and Nebraska, in which Republicans were the incumbents. In addition, a Democrat was elected to succeed Wilson in New Jersey.

Indiana—Samuel L. Ralston, Democrat, (incumbent, Democrat), elected. Iowa—George W. Clarke, Republican (incumbent, Republican) elected. Kansas—Arthur Capper, Republican (incumbent, Republican) leading, Massachusetts—Eugene N. Foss (Democratic incumbent) elected. Michigan—W. N. Ferris, Democrat, (incumbent, Republican) elected. Minnesota—Adolph O. Eberhardt (Republican incumbent) elected. Missouri—Elliott W. Major, Democrat (incumbent, Republican) elected. Nebraska—John H. Morehead, Democrat (incumbent, Republican) elected. New York—William Sulzer, Democrat (incumbent, Democrat) elected. Ohio—James M. Cox, Democrat (incumbent, Democrat) elected. Wisconsin—Governor McGovern, (Republican) elected.

LATE BULLETINS OF ELECTION

San Francisco, Cal. — Corrected figures from Santa Clara county showed that 434 votes had been credited to Wilson by mistake. With this result included, Roosevelt appeared to have a lead of 359 votes in the state.

Chicago—The latest revised returns on the elections indicate that equal suffrage carried in four of the five states voting on the question of giving the vote to women, namely, Arizona, Kansas, Michigan and Oregon. In Wisconsin alone was the proposed amendment defeated.

Baltimore, Md.—Woodrow Wilson has carried Maryland, including Baltimore city, by a plurality of 54,000. Roosevelt runs second and Taft third.

Indianapolis, Ind. — The Indiana Democrats made almost a clean sweep of all offices of importance in the state. Wilson's plurality may reach 140,000.

Chicago—The total vote in Chicago for president was: Roosevelt, 154,174; Wilson, 127,697; Taft, 72,665; Debs, 54,677; Chafin, 2,895. Roosevelt's plurality was 26,477.

Danville, Ill.—Frank J. O'Hair, Democrat, is victor over Former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon for congress in the Eighteenth district by 611 plurality. Vermilion county gave Cannon 718 plurality and Kankakee 544 plurality.

Kansas City, Mo.—Revised figures on the election in Missouri indicate that the plurality of Wilson in the state will reach 75,000. The entire Democratic ticket is elected by large pluralities and the legislature will be overwhelmingly Democratic.

Des Moines, Ia.—Wilson has a lead of 10,794 plurality over Theodore Roosevelt in 57 out of 99 counties in Iowa. The state legislature is apparently Republican by a small majority, which will insure the re-election of Senator W. S. Kenyon.

Champaign, Ill.—Congressman William B. McKinley, manager of the re-convention campaign of President Taft, has been defeated in the Nineteenth district by a plurality estimated from 500 to 800 votes. Mr. McKinley has confirmed the result by sending a congratulatory telegram to Charles M. Borchers, the Democratic candidate, at Decatur.

POSTAL DEPOSITS GAINING

Report from Washington Says Banks Now Hold $28,000,000.

Postmaster General Hitchcock says approximately $28,000,000 had been deposited to date in postal savings depositories by 290,000 individuals, averaging $96 per depositor.

The system now is operated in 12,773 postoffices and 7,357 banks have qualified to receive postal savings funds.

G.O.P. HAS LEGISLATURE

Re-Election of William Allen Smith of Michigan Assured.

Ferris Chosen Governor by 25,000 and Roosevelt Carries State by 40,000.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 9.—Later returns from the state show practically no change in the results announced early. The plurality of W. N. Ferris, Democrat, for governor, will probably increase to 25,000 on the full count.

Roosevelt's plurality over Wilson will be well over 40,000, with Taft about 12,000 behind the Democratic candidate.

Sufficient returns are now in on the legislature to assure the re-election of William Alden Smith to succeed himself as United States senator next January.

The Republicans have elected eight congressmen, the Democrats two and the Progressives two, while woman suffrage has apparently carried by 7,000 majority. It is probable that a Progressive will occupy the lieutenant governor's chair.

The Fork.

It is about 1,900 years ago since the fork made its appearance in Europe. In 99 A. D. a son of the doge Pietro Orsola had wedded in Venice the Byzantine Princess Argila, who produced at the wedding breakfast a silver fork and gold spoon. Then the high Venetian families followed suit, and these martyrs to fashion pricked their lips with the new instrument. The fork prospered, however, and spread over Italy. In 1576 it had traveled as far as France, and in 1608 a traveler took it direct to England.

Patrons of rural routes should remember that now that the weather is getting cold they should provide themselves with stamps and thus save the carrier from picking pennies out of the boxes. They are not required to do this and it is an imposition to ask them to do it in cold weather. Just imagine yourself trying to pick up pennies after you had been riding twenty miles and driving a horse.

When they have such crops of apples in Idaho as we have here at home this year, they photograph them and bring the pictures to Michigan and sell our farmers these beautiful orchard lands anywhere around $300 per acre and the land must be irrigated and cultivated and sprayed and fussed with and protected against the jack rabbits and other vermin or you won't get any crop at all. Left Hand Cigars.

It isn't because the cigar is badly made that the wrapper sometimes comes uncurled. It is because the cigar is a left handed one.

Cigarmakers must be ambidextrous. They cut the wrapper and leaf on the bias, rolling it from left to right on the fier, while the other piece is rolled with the left hand, from right to left. A nervous smoker, twisting and twirling his cigar, has no trouble with a right hand one, but if it happens to be a left hand one it is apt to come undone.—New York Tribune.

Alligator Skins.

The difficulty about raising alligators to supply the demand for the animals and skins is that they do not attain full growth for about 100 years. The skin of the six or seven-year-old animal is available, however, for many practical purposes. There is one on a farm at Palm Beach which measures eighteen feet in length and is said to be about 900 years old. There are several of these farms in operation at the present time, but the industry will not be really profitable until the wild alligators become scarcer.—Exchange.

The Chronicle acknowledges the receipt of a pretty calendar from The Youth's Companion. It is in the form of a window transparency, to be hung in the window or in front of a lighted lamp. Through it the light shines as through the stained glass of a cathedral window, softly illuminating the design—a figure of autumn laden with fruits; and all around, wreathed in purple clusters of grapes and green foliage, is the circle of the months.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure

[From a series of elaborate chemical tests.]

Comparative digestibility of food made with different baking powders.

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of two kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

99 Per Cent. Digested

Bread made with alum powder:

67 Per Cent. Digested

Royal Baking Powder raised food is shown to be of greatly superior digestibility and healthfulness.

HE GOT THE PICTURE.

There is no more enthusiastic follower of the fistic gentry than Charlie Horan. Years ago he was sporting editor of a New York paper, which later went by the boards. During his connection with it the paper was run "upon the cheap." Penny paring was the chief occupation of the managing editor. As illustrations cost money, nothing short of a national disaster could force a picture in the paper.

Horan was a firm believer in the star of Jim Corbett, then matched to fight John L. Sullivan. One day Corbett visited New York, and Horan sent his staff out to get a photograph of the great man. None was available. Horan got angry, slammed on his hat and announced that he would get one himself. He found a full length picture in the lobby of the theater where Corbett was showing, put it under his arm and started back for the office.

In the meantime word had come to the city desk that William Windom, then secretary of the treasury, had died while addressing a dinner of the chamber of commerce in Chicago. The city editor sent his men out to get a picture of Mr. Windom. By and by Mr. Horan appeared, bearing an enormous framed picture under one arm. "I got it," he announced cheerfully. "When I go after a picture I get it."

The city editor leaped for him, seized the picture and then threw it down noisily. "That," said he tersely, "is not a picture of the secretary of the treasury."

A Shakespearean Abyss.

The late Andrew Lang had many amusing tales to tell of his treatment by printers and proof correctors. In one of his articles he had quoted the Shakespearean phrase, "In the dark backward and abysm of time." When he received his proof he found a query against the word "abysm." Scribbling the word "Shakespeare" on the margin, he returned the proof, not unreasonably imagining that this would recall to the reader the quotation from "The Tempest." To his horror, Mr. Lang found when he opened the magazine containing his article that his sentence ran, "In the dark backward and Shakespeare abysm of time."

Carlyle and the Ax.

Carlyle as a schoolmaster was a terror to evildoers. Even the biggest and boldest boys wilted when he growled out "dunce" or "blockhead."

THE JOINER RUSHED IN.

He did not thrash often, as his scowl was enough to hush a whole school, but when he did thrash he meant business. One day a joiner passing along the road heard the most piteous howls and cries for mercy and help coming from the schoolhouse. Through the window he saw Carlyle doing the flogging act in his most approved and vigorous fashion. Jumping to the door, the joiner rushed in, handed his ax to the perspiring Carlyle and exclaimed: "Just doo't ootrich, mon, and no mince maiters."

Taken at His Word.

When Rossetti was a student of art he one day happened to go with some fellow students to the east end of London. There at a wharfside inn he saw an immense canvas on the barroom wall. After laughing at it for some time and thus provoking the innkeeper's wrath the following conversation took place: "Where did you get that picture?" "Oh, never mind, young man, where I got it!" "What price do you set on it?" "More than you can afford." "Indeed!" said Rossetti. "Now, how much?" "Three thousand pounds," replied the innkeeper.

At this there was a loud burst of laughter from the young artists. "Do you know how much I would give you for your $3,000 picture?" "How much?" asked the innkeeper. "Three pounds," said Rossetti. "Done," said the innkeeper promptly. And to his amazement and amusement Mr. Rossetti found himself the owner of the colossal daub.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Appointments aggregating in salary upwards of $1,000,000 a year will pass from republicans in Michigan to the hands of democrats as result of the election of Woodrow Wilson, president, and Woodbridge N. Ferris, governor, Tuesday, January 1, 1913, will see the end of 16 long, lean years for the Michigan democracy. Not since 1892 has a democrat held a state job, excepting those doled out meagerly by republican governors, where the law specifically required the appointment of democrat members of non-partisan commissions.

The woman suffrage amendment, if the count shows that it is adopted, gives the right to vote to over 600,000 Michigan women, of whom 100,000 live in Detroit and Wayne county. No other state has ever enfranchised at one time so large a number of its citizens. The other suffrage states, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Washington, California, Oregon, Arizona and Kansas, are all smaller than Michigan.

Later election returns than those given in the Chronicle last week indicate that D. Healy Clark for probate judge had a majority over Mr. Varum, the Democratic candidate, of about 2,000. H. S. Wickware for county treasurer and D. Knox Hanna for sheriff are credited with pluralities over other candidates for the same offices of approximately 250 and 350 respectively. Joseph Walton won the office of register of deeds by 51 votes.

Sheriff John Scully was re-elected sheriff of Lapeer county. He was the only democratic candidate elected on the county ticket; all others were republicans.

Benjamin Plumley, progressive, was elected representative to the state legislature from Huron county. Fred Woodworth, republican, was elected state senator. Sherman, candidate for Congressman, carries the county by 127 majority.

Hall was decorated with jack o' lanterns, autumn leaves and black cats. This is the first of a series of good times this club intends having this winter. The first regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Nique Thursday afternoon.

Some Words Beginning With H.

Most persons aspirate the initial letter of "humble" nowadays and write "a humble" just as they write "a humbug" or "a humming bird." But there are very many who would not naturally sound an h in "humble" or in "herb," "hospital," "homage" or even "humor." Before the nineteenth century nobody did, though it is clear that the aspirate had become regular by "David Copperfield's" time, from the fact that Dickens harps on Uriah Heep's "um-ble." The insistence on the h is comparatively modern. Medieval men not only said "abit" for "habit," but wrote it so, and the Bible has an "Hebrew."—London Standard.

ORDERS SLOWER TRAINS

Pere Marquette Tracks Are in Poor Condition.

The state railroad commission has issued an order demanding that the Pere Marquette Railroad company run its passenger trains on a slower schedule.

"The change was made for two reasons," said Commissioner Dickinson, who has just returned from a thorough inspection of the entire system. "In many instances the rails of the company are so light and ties so old that a slower schedule would increase the safety of the passengers. Then the company was never able to keep on its schedules, and the passengers were correspondingly inconvenienced."

"The receivers of the company have abandoned their policy of attempting to compete with roads in better shape, and are now paying more attention to the safety and convenience of the patrons."

A Word With a Strange History.

"Treachle," or molasses, is a word with an interesting history. The earliest treacle was an antidote against the viper's bite and probably was made of viper's flesh itself. It is a word with a strange history, descending from the Greek "ther," a wild beast, whence came the adjective "theriaks," pertaining to a wild beast, which was eventually specialized to mean serving as an antidote against a wild beast's bite. In English treacle then came to mean anything soothing or comforting. Chaucer even speaks of Christ as "treacle of all harm." And, as so many soothing remedies were sirups, treacle at length meant simply sirups of various kinds.

Humidity.

Humidity is a term which is coming into general use and is often spoken of without a definite understanding of what it means. It refers always of course to the moisture in the atmosphere, but does not always mean the same proportion.

There is at all times some moisture in the air, and the amount, expressed in number of grains to the cubic foot of air, is the absolute humidity, a term seldom used. When we speak of it we usually mean the relative humidity, which is the difference between the amount of moisture in the air and the amount it could hold at the present temperature, if it were saturated.—"Preventive Medicine."

Changing Serpents Into Rods.

The Egyptian cobra is not unlike its Asiatic cousin except in the absence of the curious spectacle-like mark which distinguishes the latter. Although it is the most poisonous reptile known to inhabit northern Africa, it is the favorite among the snake charmers. These conjurers know how to render this serpent rigidly unconscious by pressing the nape of its neck with a finger. This act appears to throw the reptile into catalepsy, in which it is as stiff as an iron rod. Traces of something similar having been practiced in olden times may be found in the Bible, where Aaron made a serpent of his rod or staff.

GENEROSITY.

Never be sorry for any generous thing that you ever did, even if it was betrayed. Never be sorry that you were magnanimous if the man was mean afterward. Never be sorry that you gave. It was right for you to give even if you were imposed upon. You cannot afford to keep on the safe side by being mean. Open wide your heart.

Needless Alarm.
A nervous man took his wife to a party and, having laid aside his things, waited for her to come downstairs from the dressing room. The hostess saw him standing alone in the hall and exclaimed excitedly:
"Oh, Mr. Jenks, hasn't your wife come too?"
"Dear me, madam," screamed the nervous man, "nobody told me she had fainted!" And he rushed upstairs before the hostess could explain.—Woman's Home Companion.

Flagged Train With Shirt.
Tearing his shirt from his back an Ohio man flagged a train and saved it from a wreck, but H. T. Alston, Raleigh, N. C., once prevented a wreck with Electric Bitters. "I was in a terrible plight when I began to use them," he writes, "my stomach, head, back and kidneys were all badly affected and my liver was in bad condition, but four bottles of Electric Bitters made me feel like a new man." A trial will convince you of their matchless merit for any stomach, liver or kidney trouble. Price 50 cents at L. I. Wood & Co.—Advertisement.

Adam's Mistake.
Eve had just come in from the wood, where she had gathered unto herself a fine new costume of autumn leaves.
"How do you like my new dress, Adie?" she said, striking an attitude before him.
"It's a peach," said Adam admiringly.
"No, dear; it's a maple," returned Eve.

Safe For a Short Distance.
A young man who is blessed with a Scotch kinsman need never fear that he will be allowed to hold too high an opinion of himself.
"What do you think of my project to study law?" asked young Witherby of his great-uncle, Robert Donaldson, a person whom he was desirous to propitiate.
"I should call it a vera harmless amusement," said Mr. Donaldson dryly after a comprehensive survey of the young man's fatuous face and gay attire, "if not carried too far."

Father of the Weather Bureau.
The father of the weather bureau service was Increase A. Lapham, a modest and retired but ripe scholar, who lived in Milwaukee. He was the first to note by telegraph the progress of the wind currents and storms and to predict their appearance in specified neighborhoods. On the strength of a weather dispatch from Omaha in 1869 or thereabouts he announced the first storm on Lake Michigan that ever was heralded twelve hours in advance of its arrival. The first work of the weather bureau was under his charge in Chicago. It was on the small beginnings of Dr. Lapham that the entire system of the signal service was based. Dr. Lapham died in 1875.

A crusade of education which aims "that common colds may become uncommon within the next generation" has been begun by prominent New York physicians. Here is a list of the "don'ts" which doctors say will prevent the annual visitation of the cold:

"Don't sleep in hot rooms."

A RIDICULOUS PROMISE.

It Convinced One Man That the Editor Was Simply a Fool.
Every now and then magazine editors come across an attempted "literary steal," but a Munsey editor had a few unique touches put upon such an experience the other day. He had gone about reading a submitted story written out in longhand and had not got far before he began to recognize Cherokee Sal, Stumpy, Oakhurst and other familiar friends from Bret Harte's "Luck of Roaring Camp."

He called the whole staff, and they decided that the best way to treat the contributor, who had asked for a "speedy decision," was sarcastically. So the editor wrote:
My Dear Sir—We are very glad to use this splendid story, but unfortunately Bret Harte had it copyrighted when he first wrote it, and his publishers, who now own the copyright, would object, we fear, to your receiving money for it.
Not long afterward the man from Memphis wrote in reply:
Dear Mr. Editor—I have looked that matter up, and I find that the story was first written in 1886, and the copyright has run out, and you have a perfect right to pay me for it, and I hope to receive check by return mail.

This made the editor a little hot under the collar, but he resolved to be patient and go further with the sarcasm. So he wrote:
My Dear Sir—We are very glad to hear that the copyright on "The Luck of Roaring Camp" has expired. How very careless of Bret! However, I regret that it seems still impossible to pay you for this story, because I now recall that when Bret Harte lay on his deathbed he made me promise that I would never, never buy and print a story of his that had been previously bought and paid for elsewhere. I am very, very sorry.

You ought to be sorry. For making such a promise you are a fool.
Insulted.
A bachelor who was very bald fell in love with a pretty widow whose late husband's name was Robin. One evening the bachelor dropped in to have a cup of tea with the widow. After tea was over she commenced to sing "Robin Adair."

The bachelor picked up his hat and said:
"Madam, even if your husband did have hair, it is no fault of mine that I haven't."
Then he fled.
Then His Smile Faded.
Ramsay Calles in his reminiscences says he was once traveling in a smoking compartment on an Irish railway. The only other person in the compartment was a gentleman who was smoking a pipe with evident satisfaction, but whose tobacco had a particularly disgusting smell. Not having any tobacco himself with which to overcome this appalling smell, Mr. Calles opened the window. But the weather was very cold, and he was obliged to shut it again almost at once. It then occurred to him that possibly good humored remonstrance might prevail and abate the nuisance, so he said, with a conciliatory smile, "Pardon me, sir, but really your tobacco would poison a toad."

"Evidently!"

Put His Foot in It.
A gifted amateur slinger who had just recovered from a slight cold responded to an invitation to slug at a swell social affair and rendered his selection in a most charming manner. The host was nervous, a bit shy and somewhat inexperienced, and he rose hurriedly at the conclusion of the song.

MANNERS.

Manners are of more importance than laws. Upon them in a great measure the laws depend. The law touches them but here and there, now and then. Manners are what vex or soothe, corrupt or purify, exalt or debase, barbarize or refine us by a constant, steady, uniform, insensible operation like that of the air we breathe in. They give their whole form and color to our lives. According to their quality they aid morals, they supply them or they totally destroy them.—Burke.

Straining was the cause of my kidneys becoming disordered. My back was weak and often I was seized by a catch in my loins when I attempted to lift. It Wasn't Lost.

A woman and her brother lived alone in the Scotch highlands. She knitted gloves and garments to sell in the lowland towns. Once when she was starting out to market her wares her brother said he would go with her and take a dip in the ocean. While the woman was in the town selling her work Sandy was sporting in the waves. When his sister came down to join him, however, he met her with a wry face. "Oh, Kirstie," he said, "I've lost me weskit!" They hunted high and low, but finally as night settled down decided that the waves must have carried it out to sea.

"I'VE FOUND ME WESKIT!" They hunted high and low, but finally as night settled down decided that the waves must have carried it out to sea. The next year at about the same season the two again visited the town, and while Kirstie sold her wool in the town Sandy splashed about in the brine. When Kirstie joined her brother she found him with a radiant face, and he cried out to her: "Oh, Kirstie, I've found me weskit! 'Twas under me shirt!"—Everybody's Magazine.

There is joy in a thousand things that be.
There is fruit to gather from every tree—
Look up, my friend; look up!

But no strength cometh without the strife—
Look up, my friend; look up!

There's a place in the land for you to fill.
The river comes from the tiny hill.
Look up, my friend; look up!

There are bridges to cross, and paths are long.
But a purpose in life will make you strong.
Keep e'er on your lips a cheerful song—
Look up, my friend; look up!

An Inquisitive Bird.

A peppery old English military official in India possessed a parrot and also a very irascible temperament. The parrot was a valuable bird, but was rather a nuisance by reason of its extreme talkativeness. One day while the general was writing his business letters the parrot kept up a continual chatter, very disturbing to the writer. At last the general could stand it no longer, and jumping up, he seized the cage of the unhappy bird, which he whirled vigorously round and round, at the same time shouting furiously. Then he set the cage down again, and silence for some time ensued. At length, however, a feeble voice came from the interior of the cage.

"General," it inquired in quivering accents, "where were you when that cyclone struck us?"

How He Remembered.

Professor Huxley had a funny way of remembering certain anatomical details of the human heart. On the left side of the heart there is a valve with two flaps resembling a bishop's miter and known as the mitral valve. The corresponding valve on the right side has three flaps. The only means by which he could remember their respective positions, said Huxley, with his skeptic's humor, was by the reflection that a bishop could never be in the right.

Yale Team Work.

Eddie Allen of Chicago and elsewhere went to Purdue university contemporaneously with George Ade, John T. McCutcheon and others.

One night Eddie strayed into the Chicago University club. A number of college men were there, telling of the glories of their respective classes. They had all been to Yale, dear old Yale.

They told Allen about it, told him with a wealth of detail and airs of superiority that annoyed him.

"By the way, Allen," said one, "what is your university?"

"Purdue," said Allen.

"Ah—Purdue—Oh, yes, Purdue—nice little school. We are all from Yale, you know."

"Sure," replied Allen affably; "I know all about Yale. I've got half a dozen Yale men working for me."—Saturday Evening Post.

Why He Laughed.

An eastern potentate was wont to exact offerings in kind from those who came to do him homage. One day a man arrived bringing a basket of bananas.

Furious at the gift being one of fruit only, the prince commanded that the bananas should be thrust down the donor's throat. As the latter was being led away to have the sentence executed he was seen to smile, and the prince had him brought back and asked him why he smiled.

"Nothing, O prince," he replied; "only thy servant's wife's mother is now approaching, and she bringeth a basket of pineapples."

HOW IT WORKED IN OHIO.

That the establishment of the sugar beet industry in Ohio will result in an increase of $20,000,000 in the value of farm lands in the state by the end of the present year is the statement of C. H. Allen, a banker of Paulding, O.
"Ohio and Indiana should become as great producers of sugar as Michigan," said Mr. Allen, "and they will unless hostile legislation by congress interferes with the natural development of this industry. In Paulding county alone, although the beet sugar factory here has been in operation only two years, the value of farm property has increased $5,000,000 as a result of the introduction of sugar beet culture. Another result has been the investment of $5,000,000 or more in other beet sugar factories in this section of the state within the past year, which in turn will vastly increase the value of the farm land surrounding them, adding $20,000,000 or more to the agricultural wealth of this region."
"Aside from the direct financial returns that have followed the establishment of the sugar beet industry in Ohio, there are numerous other benefits which, though not so direct, are no less important. To obtain good results from beet culture farmers have found it necessary to put more hand labor on the land. The result is that thousands of men, women and children are being taken from the overcrowded sections of the cities of the state and set to work on the land, a back to the farm movement that is of real practical value.

"This increased tillage of the soil is the very best—and, in fact, the only effective—means of overcoming the weeds that are the chronic enemies of the farmer, choking his crops and exhausting his soil. Besides all this, we have found that every other crop raised upon land that has been put into sugar beets shows a greatly increased yield."
"Upon a piece of land that had been in beets the previous season I myself raised seventy bushels of oats to the acre, while across the fence one of my neighbors, on exactly the same kind of land, got a yield of not quite fifty. Last year on another piece of land that had been used for sugar beets I grew fifty bushels of wheat to the acre where the ordinary crop is between twenty-two and twenty-five bushels. Farmers have learned so well that sugar land increases the yield of oats that when they are in conversation among themselves and one reports a yield of from seventy to ninety bushels an acre the other will reply: 'You have raised it on sugar beet land. That accounts for it.'"
"This year there will be taken from Ohio cities to the country to work in the beet fields over 5,000 people, and yet this industry is only beginning in the state. Ohio ought to have twenty-five beet sugar factories, and Indiana, equally favorably located and with land peculiarly fitted to this crop, should have an equal number."

PLANT THAT IMPROVES SOIL.

The Sugar Beet Increases Yield of Other Crops.
How sugar beets improve the fertility of the soil and increase the yield of all crops grown in rotation with them is explained in the National Magazine by Truman G. Palmer, who has spent the past ten years in studying agricultural methods in Europe and America.
"The sugar beet being a deep rooter," says Mr. Palmer, "a prerequisite to its culture is that the soil be stirred to a depth of ten to fourteen inches. The tender beetlet having to undergo the shock of thinning soon after it comes up in order to leave but one beet to a place, it demands a well prepared, mellow seed bed. Gathering the sugar in its leaves from the atmosphere by the aid of the light and storing it up in the roots, it will not thrive if the light is cut off through being shaded by weeds, and their eradication means not only a further stirring of the soil by cultivation and hoeing, but they are removed before going to seed, thus leaving weedless fields for succeeding crops. Being plowed out in autumn gives an extra fall plowing, which leaves the land in condition to absorb instead of shed the fall and winter rains and store up the moisture for the following season's crop. With the removal of the main root myriads of fibrous roots are broken off and left in the soil to an average of a ton to the acre, and in rotting they not only deposit humus in the lower strata of soil, but leave minute channels through which it becomes aerated and hence fertile. The roots of subsequent crops follow these interstices and draw nutriment from two and three times the depth of soil formerly reached, and hence the farmers double and treble their soil output without increasing their acreage."

Beet Pulp as Cattle Food.
In summarizing the important features of sugar beet growing in various parts of the country the Department of Agriculture calls attention to its peculiar importance to the middle western states because of the extent to which stock feeding is followed as an industry in this territory. Beet pulp—that is, what remains of the beet after the sugar has been extracted—has been proved to be the finest feed yet discovered for milk cows and for fattening cattle, sheep and other farm animals. This is true whether the pulp is fed in its wet state as it comes from the factory or after being dried. A business of about $2,000,000 a year has grown up in the sale of dried beet pulp, in which form it can be shipped to any distance.

Genius is genius. But unless it goes in double harness with hard work it seldom gets anywhere. Dickens remarked once at the height of his fame, "My imagination would never have served me as it has but for the habit of patient, daily, toiling, drudging attention."

The Fountain Pen.

The fountain pen is not an invention of recent years. In Samuel Taylor's "Universal System of Shorthand Writing," published in 1788, we find proof of the fountain pen's great age.
"I have nothing more to add," wrote Samuel Taylor, "for the use or instruction of the practitioner except a few words concerning the kind of pen proper to be used for writing shorthand. For expeditious writing some use what are called fountain pens, into which your ink is put, which gradually flows when writing, from thence into a smaller pen cut short to fit the smaller end of this instrument, but it is a hard matter to meet with a good one of this kind."

The Dardanelles.

The Dardanelles is celebrated in ancient history on account of Xerxes and Alexander having crossed it, the former in 480 B. C. to enter Europe and the latter in 334 B. C. to enter Asia. At the point where Alexander crossed young Leander nightly swam the Hellespont to visit Hero—a feat performed in modern times by Lord Byron.

THE COST OF THE MCGREGOR TRIAL

Supervisors Appoint Committee to Investigate. It Was $6,870.10.

There were various and extravagant reports current last summer as to the cost of the great MacGregor trial. Claims were generally circulated that the expense of it would be from $15,000 to $30,000. Many thought it would reach $25,000.

After the trial The Tribune interviewed the prosecutor and county treasurer and secured an estimate of $10,000 as the total cost. This was later thought to be high.

Last week the Board of Supervisors appointed a special committee consisting of supervisors Moore and Alexander to investigate the cost of the trial and report.

This committee found that the entire amount paid out on account of the MacGregor trial was $6,870.10. This amount did not include assistant prosecutor Enow's bill, not yet presented, and some extra sheriff's fees which are included in the sheriff's bill.

Furthermore the expenses of the trial were paid out of the county's contingent fund and there is enough left in it to run the county next year. No contingent fund was voted this year, for perhaps the first time in the history of the county.

This certainly speaks well for a careful and economical administration of the county's finances and especially the handling of the big trial. Its expense will in no sense be a burden on the taxpayers. In fact it has been no extra expense at all because enough was saved out of another fund, already paid in to take care of it.

Mr. Snow's bill was not presented because his contract with the prosecutor included his services 'till the cases were concluded which will not be 'till the supreme court disposes of MacGregor's appeal.—Huron County Tribune.

M. E. CHURCH NOTES.

Topics of sermons for Sunday services: Morning, "The Romance of Home Missions." Evening, "Iron in the Blood."

The first quarterly conference will be held 8:00 p. m., Tuesday, Nov. 19. The Dist. Supt., W. Balmer, will be with us. All who are interested in the work of the church are urged to be present.

Four new members were recently received in the Epworth League. Miss Cecil Krapf was elected president in the place of A. S. Williams, resigned.

We are glad to see the steady increase in the Sunday school. There is abundant room for improvement, however.

Parents are invited to inspect the work of the Junior League, Monday afternoon immediately after school. It only means one hour a week, but there is no hour in the week that will mean more in equipment in the fundamentals of Christian doctrine and Bible knowledge.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

"The Master's Prayer" will be the subject of the pastor's sermon Sunday morning; evening, "A Poor Man's Market."

The pastor's bible class of young men and women extend a hearty invitation to any who are not attending other Sabbath schools.
