CASS CITY'S GOOD ROADS HURT UBLY

CUT OFF SOUTHWEST TRADE OF THAT TOWN.

The Courier Urges Business Men of Uby to Get Into the Good Roads Campaign.

With a new railroad station to be established six miles west of Uby to divide the trade from that point with Uby-town, and with Cass City reaching out with a system of state roads, cutting off Uby's southwest trade, that village has got to open up a new trade from the south or settle down into a has-been trading point. Such is the opinion of the Uby Courier as expressed in its last issue.

The Courier advocates the building of two good roads south of Uby—one from Piety Hill, one-half mile east, and the road of Pagett's Corners over the "hog back," and says they will open a trade to the south that will be worth thousands of dollars in trade to that town.

Speaking of Cass City's system of good roads the Courier continues:

"If the business men of Uby don't wake up to the fact that the only hope for the town in maintaining her trade is better roads they might as well prepare for a steady decline in business. Cass City is reaching out with her stone roads within a mile or two of Cumber and has already cut into the trade from that section and it is already hurting. Will the Uby business men wake up to the fact that they have got to get into the good roads campaign?"

GETS $1,478.40 FOR BEANS

Young Farmer in Grant Township
Is a Hustler.

Floyd McComb, a young farmer of Grant township, sold his crop of 704 bushels of beans to the Cass City Grain Co. a few days ago and realized $1,478.40. The beans were contracted early in the season at $2.10 a bushel.

Mr. McComb is nearing the end of the first year as tenant on the Stirtan farm in Grant township. The farm consists of 160 acres, 120 of which are cleared. He with his two-horse team has done the greater share of the farm work during the year and only during the rush of the bean harvest was he obliged to secure assistance. He says $61 will pay his "help bill" from spring to the present time.

Thirty acres of the farm were planted to beans on "stubble ground." The average amount realized from the acre was $49.28. This average is lower than some published this season, but realizing the amount of land he had under cultivation and the little extra assistance he had, Mr. McComb's record isn't to be sneezed at.

A Chronicle representative intimated to Mr. McComb that crops like this one would soon buy him a farm. He admitted that he would like two or three more bean crops like the one just marketed.

STATE-WIDE FIGHT FOR PROHIBITION

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE PLANS TO INAUGURATE CAMPAIGN.

State League Will Make a Strong
Effort to Obtain Statutory
Legislation in 1913.

That a campaign for state-wide prohibition be inaugurated in Michigan, probably in time for decision by the 1913 state legislature, was the unanimous decision of the Michigan Anti-saloon league leaders at the annual meeting.

The determination to make an effort immediately to put Michigan in the dry column does not carry with it all the details involved. These methods were considered statutory prohibition, the submission by the legislature of a constitutional amendment, and the initiation of legislation.

Statutory prohibition is the proposition tentatively settled upon, the other methods of obtaining a dry state being considered only as subsidiary measures. Statutory prohibition requires only a majority of each house of the legislature, and although the anti-saloon men have not procured definite returns on all the legislators elected, they are confident that they will be able to muster at least one-half of each house.

The submission of a constitutional amendment to the people requires a two-thirds vote of each house, and although they do not admit that it would be impossible for them to get that many votes, the dry men are not going after the two-thirds vote if they can pass the measure with a bare majority. The initiative method is considered only as a last resort by the anti-saloonists, and it will only be followed if both others fail.

All three parties have been committed to the submission of an initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution and petitioning under the initiative, if it carries, would delay the submission of prohibition for at least two years, say the anti-saloon men, and for that reason they will make the strongest efforts to obtain statutory legislation.

CHICAGO STOCK SHOW

$75,000 Are Offered in Prizes and Entries Are Closed.

With its $75,000 offered in prizes and its entries closed, the International Live Stock Exposition, which will be held on the dates of November 30 to December 7 inclusive, at the Union Stock Yards, Chicago, has broken all records in every department in regard to the number of exhibits. Every breed of cattle, sheep, swine and horses will be represented on a much larger scale, the arrangements for the show have been better provided for, and the great Stock Show of 1912 will go down into history as the most comprehensive, advanced and up to date of all the exhibitions, which have preceded it. Such a statement of facts as this, is positive proof of the importance of the event and how it is regarded by the stockmen of the country.

A Grace for Codan By Wilbur D. Nesbit

Show us the way to see the good
That comes into our lives each day,
The blessings, dimly understood,
That give us cheer along the way.
Give us content, with gold and gear—
Though much or little we possess—
Let us be glad for what is here
On this, our day of thankfulness.

But broaden, too, the soul and mind
So that our thanks will not be found
By custom's rule and rote confined
Within this one day's narrow bound.
Let us be glad for early rain
That bids the flowers wake and creep,
Let us be glad for snowy plain
That holds them in their winter sleep.

Give us the heart to understand
The graciousness of spreading trees,
The changing seasons, wisely planned,
The storm and sunshine—all of these.
For all the brightness of the dawn,
And cheerfulness of noon and night,
And all that joy is builded on
Give us the grace to see aright.

Let us remember each kind word
By weight of goodly feeling blessed—
Each gentle thing we've said or heard—
And blot from memory the rest.
Give us the grace to see and know
The benefits along the way—
The many things that help us so.
Let us be thankful every day.

DELIGHTED AUDIENCE

Herbert Leon Cope Gave Pleasing
Entertainment at Cass City.

Considering the number of dates to be met by the people of Cass City during the present week the audience which greeted Herbert Leon Cope at the M. E. church on Wednesday evening, was a surprise to the committee. And while this is the third time Mr. Cope has appeared here, it was by far the largest audience he ever had at Cass City.

The command which Mr. Cope has over a crowd is marvelous. From seemingly uncontrollable laughter he with a few short remarks brings the tears and again by one story has everyone doubled up with almost painful mirth.

The lessons drawn by Mr. Cope from mistakes and eccentricities of everyday people will soften many a hard line and make broader charity to abound in any community where Mr. Cope presents his "smile that won't come off."

The piano fund of the young people of the church was enriched by about $25.

UNION THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Rev. G. A. Fee Will Preach in

Following a custom established many years ago in Cass City, members and attendants of the several churches will unite in a union service on Thanksgiving Day.

The service next Thursday will be held at the Baptist church commencing at 7:30 p. m. Rev. G. A. Fee, pastor of the M. E. church will preach the sermon and an offering will be taken for benevolent purposes.

BAPTIST CHURCH NOTES.

The pastor's subject for his sermon Sunday morning will be "The Empty Seat"; evening, "The Supremacy of Christianity."

VASSAR—Progressives of Tuscola county are planning to hold a banquet in Vassar in December, and at that time to organize every township.

CARO — Mistaken for a deer, George H. Heims of Caro was shot and killed Sunday, November 10 by Aaf Johnson, a settler near Limestone, Alger county.

MARLETTE—W. B. McGill has leased the Wigwam, Marlette's popular assembly hall, to Lee Bowerman of Caro. The new manager will add roller skating to the entertainment features.

CARO—Contractors have the timber frame up for the new round house for the storage of locomotives on Michigan Central tracks, at the "Y" near the sugar factory and will have it ready for use before the holidays.

BAD AXE—Mrs. George B. Rochefort, who was shot four times by her husband before killing himself, is dead. Up to Friday night chances looked good for her recovery, but a change for the worse came during the night and she died Saturday morning at four o'clock.

SEBEWAING—On account of the shortage of beets, caused by the inability of the growers to get into the fields, owing to the heavy rains, the sugar factory closed down last week. It is expected the plant would resume operations Monday, unless weather conditions are such as to make another shortage inevitable.

LAPEER—Flames which destroyed a barn owned by Mrs. J. L. Richards snuffed out the life of Arthur Jarvis, 60 years old. The fire is supposed to have started from an explosion in a gasoline stove which Jarvis used for cooking purposes. He was a well-known horseman. The barn contained several buggies, which were also destroyed. The loss is estimated at $2,000.

GAGETOWN—Chris Kastner was in Detroit last week on a business trip, and while there visited Edw. Hennessy and found him enjoying life immensely, and Chris says Ed. didn't forget his old time friend; he also visited George Hopcroft, wife and family, who are now moving to their new grocery store on the west side of the city. The location Chris says looks good to him. He called at the home of Chas. Rocheleau where Mrs. Joe Bildstein is stopping with her daughter and found her in a very poor state of health.—Times.

MAYVILLE — J. A. Peterson dropped dead from heart failure in his store on Tuesday evening. He had been at Saginaw during the day, returning on the evening train. He walked up town from the train and had been in the store but a few moments when he fell over dead. His wife was the only person in the store at the time. Mr. Peterson was a blacksmith by trade, but rented his shop last winter on account of poor health and for several months had been conducting a dry cleaning establishment in the Mitchell building. He was 61 years old.—Monitor.

OWENDALE—About a year ago our little two by twice combination freight and passenger depot burned to the ground, and shortly afterwards a "one by once" excuse was shipped here on a flat-car and dumped off. Our present depot is large and commodious. It takes a willow plume, a suit case, a baby carriage and 25c worth of express to fill the waiting room of the passenger depot, and as for a freight depot, we have none at all, but must load and unload from the cars. The good Lord only knows what we would have to put up with if another fire visits us—probably a second hand egg crate or a match box.—Herald.

NEW RULES FOR PARCELS POST LAW

ORDINARY STAMPS NOT TO BE USED ON 4TH CLASS MATTER.

Observance of Rules Will Lessen
Hard Work for Postoffice
Officials.

Postmasters throughout the country are in receipt of significant orders from the postmaster general with reference to the Parcels Post Act which goes into effect January 1, 1913. The bulletin embodies requirements insisted upon in sending packages by parcels post and they are as follows:

Ordinary postage stamps must not be used for fourth class matter after January 1, 1913, and all such matter bearing other than distinctive parcels post stamps will be held according to the rules of the department. Neither will parcels post stamps be accepted for the mailing of letters or any matter not in the fourth class.

All parcels must bear the return card of the sender or they will not be accepted for mailing. Also packages in this class will be mailable only at the postoffices, branch postoffices, local branch offices, letter offices and numbered offices named by the postmaster.

The needed requirements in carrying out these laws will be furnished by the government and before January 1, every postmaster in the country will be furnished with a copy of the parcels post map indicating the eight zones; the unit of area in which the postoffice is located and the distance on which the parcels post rates are based. There are many difficulties found in the enforcing of these laws and an unusual amount of work is necessitated which will result in the employment of a good many employees throughout the country but on the other hand the unfair discrimination practiced in this country which required the people of the United States to pay four cents a pound more in the sending of the packages to be governed by the new law than is exacted in other countries, will be stopped and in the long run there will be a great amount of money saved.

Most people are liable to get mixed up in the use of the stamps and put parcels post stamps on regular matter and ordinary stamps on fourth class matter and it probably will be a hard test to educate the public with the postal card which requires a 2c stamp. And then in case of the absence of the name of the inside or outside of the package, it will be sent to the dead letter office and that is where a lot of them will go. Yes there will be a lot of hard work but the results will be felt largely in the large cities where they wish to order provisions from other cities and here alone it will save thousands of dollars.—Ex.

WHAT HAPPENINGS IN THE CITIES

Tale of Treasure Trove; Hans Sure Was a Bird

NEW YORK.—Here is a tale of treasure trove. Not the treasure trove of pirates bold, but a yarn of the sea, just the same.

The good ship Cincinnati set sail at one o'clock the other afternoon from her pier at Hoboken.

On the second class deck at the rail stood a comely German woman. She was Mrs. Anna Luepp of Wilkesbarre, Pa. On the dock stood Rudolph, her husband. Fifteen years ago they came to this country, and by their thrift and industry amassed a snug income, and now the wife was returning for a visit to the home of her girlhood. Their happy union had not been blessed with any branches of the family tree.

Longing for prattling babes at the hearth, they compromised on the adoption of a green parrot. They called the big bird Hans, and that he is a bird, all right, all right, you shall see.

Mrs. Anna couldn't think of parting with Hans, so it was decided that she would take Hans across the sea. As she stood at the rail, a wet handkerchief in her right hand, she swung Hans over the rail in a newly gilded cage.

"Goodby, papa," she cried, and waved to Herr Leupp.

"Goodby, papa," repeated Hans, who talks English with a slight German accent.

As they were about to cast off the stern line, Frau Anna got mixed in her gesticulations. Her right hand was raised to her eyes to dash the tears away. She forgot that she held the parrot, and disengaged her left hand from the cage to help her right hand out. With fluttering feathers and indignant screams Hans went tumbling to the dock in his gilded cage.

"Donner und blitzen!" yelled the enraged bird.

Two longshoremen put a pole through the ring in the top of the cage and hoisted it to a porthole. Just as somebody was about to drag the cage through the porthole the cage slipped and down came the bird to the longshoremen.

"You tam fools," roared Hans. "Donner und blitzen!"

A rope was thrown from the ship, a knot was passed through the ring of the cage and the latter went crashing against the ship's side as the stern line was cast off.

"Donner und blitzen!" yelled the bird again as the cage was dented in against the ship's side. "Pretty Hans," cooed Frau Leupp, stretching forth her hands.

"Pretty h—!" returned the pious bird. "Donner und blitzen! Goodby, papa! Goodby papa!"

"Goodby, Hans," shouted Rudolph. "Goodby, Mamma."

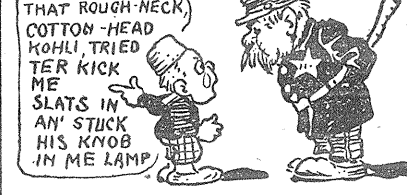

John Yonker Is Official Neighborhood Chaperon

CHICAGO.—Hamilton park, one of the prettiest public playgrounds on the extreme south side, claims among its other attractions a model policeman. His name is John Yonker, and all the boys and girls of that section of the city swear by him. A policeman who is popular among children has a pretty good certificate of efficiency.

Although nominally a patrolman, Yonker really has half a dozen other jobs. He is arbiter in chief of all the youngsters' disputes of the neighborhood, director general of their sports and umpire and court of last resort to their games. But the job which requires the most tact and diplomacy and which has won him his chief fame is that of official neighborhood chaperon.

Rules of the park require that no children remain there after 9 o'clock in the evening. It is Yonker's duty to see that this is enforced. The business of getting children to go home to bed is a delicate one, but Yonker succeeds at it without exciting enmity.

Little girls are prone to linger in the park after hours just as much as boys. If the night is dark or rainy and the little girl lives a long way off in a lonely neighborhood, Yonker takes her home. This often keeps him working over hours, but the "model policeman" seems to do it cheerfully as part of the day's work.

There are six baseball diamonds at Hamilton park. On a Saturday afternoon teams of boys are playing all day on these diamonds. Yonker presides over these activities. He knows the baseball rules as well as Johnny Evers, and when a dispute arises that proves too much for the boys Yonker settles it by the book.

Incidentally, Yonker is a bureau of information. He answers a thousand questions a day. How he stands it without becoming a confirmed grouch no one knows. His good humor is perennial. However, there are occasions when Yonker has to make it known that he is "a limb of the law." Many a "tough" boy has felt the weight of Yonker's hand and learned not only to respect it but afterward to like its owner.

Athletic Cat Visits an Ohio Temple of Justice

CLEVELAND, O.—A Maltese cat, with a mangy, rat-bitten tail and a hankering for the beautiful in art and architecture, entered and upset the tranquillity of the county's $5,000,000 courthouse the other day.

The cat made a hasty but complete tour of the building, led Custodian Clay's guides and subguides a merry chase through marble corridors and closed the performance with a "leap of death" act from the marble railing which overlooks the forum in the center of the building. The guides dared not follow.

How the cat entered the building is a mystery. Guides on the lower floor and at the entrances denied that it passed them. Chief Watchman O'Connor found it reclining against a bunch of grapes which form part of the $90,000 decorations on the upper floors of the building.

He approached with caution and a volume of Ohio state reports. The latter he held behind his back. The cat scented trouble and vanished. O'Connor spread the alarm. Guides responded from all sections of the building. The chase was on.

It took in offices and courtrooms, interrupted trials, scattered jurors and frightened court witnesses. Then pussy, after touring the two upper floors, decided to parade around the marble railroad which overlooks the forum. It was high and dangerous. The guides called foul, but the cat paid no heed.

O'Connor volunteered to crawl out and capture it. He traveled with more caution than speed. The cat traveled ten feet ahead of him for a while, then leaped to the floor below and disappeared.

Pop Bottle Answers to "Oh, You Beautiful Doll"

DETROIT, MICH.—To inculcate music into unresponsive souls of some of the folks of Cork town is a thankless, if not hopeless task, as Louis Fuchs, who plays the bass fiddle in the German band experienced the other night.

There he was, and his four fellow artists poured forth their sweetest strains at Sixth and Abbott streets.

With dreamy eyes Fuchs had just finished the intricate movements of Mascagni's immortal Intermezzo and had with ecstatic mien gone into the depths of Beethoven's divine Moonlight Sonata, when shouts of derision unnerved his aesthetic ear. Even that brilliant little musical rem. "Oh, You Beautiful Doll," which is said to have moved Mozart to tears even in his grave, struck an unresponsive chord in that unmusical crowd.

And when the little fellow with the second fiddle passed the hat, he collected jeers instead of shekels. Truly, the lot of a wandering minstrel is a thankless one in this twentieth century.

The orchestra moved away, seeking more congenial audiences. Just then somebody hurled a pop bottle. It struck Louis Fuchs' bass violin in its vital part, smashing it in the region of the bridge.

There was an uproar in a minute. Orpheus soothed and tamed the wild beasts with his lyre, but to calm this crowd with even a hand organ was quite impossible. And so the street artists beat a hasty retreat.

Sure Remedy.

The editor of the correspondence columns had had a busy day—a very busy day indeed. So busy, in fact, that he had to enlist the aid of John, the office boy, to read out the correspondence. "What is the next query?" he asked, when he had gone halfway through the pile of letters. "Oh," said John, "a reader in South Africa wants to know how to prevent the hairs in his mustache from falling out. What have I to put down, sir?" "Well," replied the editor after a pause, "just put down, 'The best way to prevent hairs from falling out is to brush them lightly apart—and keep them from quarrelling.'"—London Answers.

Russia is famed for the manufacture of great bells. The "Giant" cast in Moscow in the sixteenth century, weighed nearly 320,000 pounds and required twenty-four men to ring it. In 1732 it fell, but its fragments were recast along with other metal into a bell which weighed 443,000 pounds, the metal of which alone is valued at $300,000.

How to Tell if Your Hair is Diseased. Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair, you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition or not. Ninety-eight per cent. of the people need a hair tonic.

Pull a hair out of your head; if the bulb at the end of the root is white and shrunken, it proves that the hair is diseased and requires prompt attention if its loss would be avoided. If the bulb is pink and full, the hair is healthy.

We want every one whose hair requires treatment to try Rexall "33" Hair Tonic. We promise that it shall not cost anything if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve scalp irritation, to stimulate the hair roots, tighten the hair already in the head, grow hair and overcome baldness.

Commissioner Powers, of the state labor department, is urging school teachers to see that needy students benefit by the provision of the law which provides that parents of needy students are entitled to $3 per week in case their child attends school. In case of two children, the parents are entitled to $6 per week. The law gives school boards the authority to distribute the money. The commissioner says there is not a case on record of school boards taking advantage of the act in the state, although there are many needy students whose parents cannot permit them to attend school because their wages are needed to support the home.

Now that the election is over and we have demonstrated our national patriotism let us not forget our local obligations. We may differ relative to political matters but in the matter of local work we should be united solidly. He is a poor citizen who does not devote some of his time to the helping of his town. It is not enough that a man be negative in his citizenship, but should be positive in character. The man who excuses himself and begs to be let off when asked to promote by money or time some wise project for the improvement of his home town is one of that large class whose indifference and selfishness have been the means of killing the prosperity of many a place. When one considers the interests of his home town he will not attempt to shirk responsibilities or refuse to lend a helping hand, but will do what is fair and sensible to make it a more prosperous place and a better place in which to live.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. THE TALENT OF TUNE.

Come all ye who suffer from this shortcoming, let reason together. The writer was born without musical talent; in plain honesty he is idiotic on tune, a lack that fell heavy at times all through life. No doubt there is many an old gray headed sinner like myself who recalls his courting days when some youth gifted in song rendered "Old Dan Tucker" to the delight of the maiden whose laughing eye had in it a "come hither" for us while we sat back in the corner half quiet and the other half mad.

Being born near Belfast, Ireland, where nearly all tell their story in song, and unable to warble the least faint note, we were sometimes constrained to think "Nature has degraded the intellect of an Irish son." But as I read the life of Governor-elect Ferris and find the following, I take new courage: "I determined to learn to sing and paid a man $500 who said he was sure he could learn me. After a half dozen lessons he handed my money back and remarked that it was impossible." So a problem that makes Woodbridge take a back seat shouldn't make the average citizen talk suicide because of failure.

As a child I tried to sing and knew in a half thoughtful way there was something wrong. When fifteen years of age I enlisted in Co. D, 22nd. Mich. Infantry and commenced to drill; then there "was doings" with the big army shoes. I knocked the ball off the heel of every man in leg striking distance because I couldn't keep step. The drilling officer was good to me and tried hard that I might be able to lift the "hoof" at proper time, but no use, and he said, "Boy, you are totally lacking in time." Since then we have learned that often men are taken from the ranks because they cannot keep step.

Inability to take part in song bothered me at times 'till reading the life of Martin Luther and in his muses "Mart" gave me a jar that was a bad one for a youth looking forward to one and twenty "Mart" said, "He that loves not wine, women and song will remain a fool his whole life long." Then we felt knocked out for a time 'till we began to study it over. The great reformer didn't say he who lacks the gifts is a fool, but he who loves not these things. And then I thought I love wine but I won't drink it. I love the women and will 'till my dying day but I am not "a woman's man" and as for song it carries me away to some celestial clime. So "Mart" did not touch a hair of my head.

Now to all who read and like me hear this so called affliction, cheer up. You can have something for a supply. If you cannot sing you can pray. What you lack in song you can make up in preaching. And remember better than if the song is in your heart, it will come forth in everyday life with a greater influence than if heralded forth by a Jennie Linn whose heart beats not for the sad and oppressed.

Costly Peanut Paste.

To the diner out with a taste for costly delicacies may be commended the peanut paste of China. The paste is compounded of ginger jelly and a minute formation at the base of the peanut. # Royal Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

The only Baking Powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar

Adds Healthful Qualities to the Food.

THANKSGIVING NIGHT

By WILBUR D. NESBIT.

Last night I got to thinking, when I couldn't go to sleep,
Of the way Thanksgiving served me in the days when joy was cheap—
Of how we'd have a turkey, and of how I'd beg a taste
Whenever they would open up the oven door to "baste"
The bulging breast, and how then from the oven came a drift
Of tantalizing odor, such as only boys have sniffed.

I got to thinking of it—for I couldn't go to sleep—
Of mince pies in the pantry, where I'd sidle in and peep,
And jelly and plum butter, and the peach preserves and cake—
And then I got to thinking of how fine 't would be to take
A trip back to the old days, when the dancing candle light
Played pranks with all the shadows on the wall, Thanksgiving night.

The boys I used to play with! I could shut my eyes and see
The whole troop of them waiting, and a-waving hands to me;
All freckled, ragged-trousered, with their scarfs and mittens, too,
They made a splendid picture—but the picture wasn't true;

For they've grown up, as I have, and strange paths have lured our feet—
The paths that find Tomorrow, and that never, never meet.

I wondered if they also were not lying half awake
And thinking of the turkey, and the jelly, and the cake;
And if they had their fancies of the lazy little street
That leads beneath the maples where the topmost branches meet—
And suddenly I heard them—heard the murmurs low and clear,
That told me they were with me, and were very, very near.

And then I curled up boylike, with my cheek upon my hand,
And shut my eyes
and whispered—to myself, you understand—
Our little "Now I lay me," clear to its "My soul to keep."
Just as I used to say it when I hurried off to sleep.
And something seemed to touch me like a hand held out to bless—
And all at once my heart throbbled to a hymn of thankfulness!

Some Cause for Rejoicing.
In addition to the general occasion for thanksgiving, every life has its own joys and every soul its own delights. There are many who appear to be barren of rejoicing, some into whose homes calamity has come and from which have gone those whose faces were the love lights of the domestic circle. But even here may be found some cause for rejoicing, and, in any event, a reverent faith may take up the triumph of the uncrushed spirit of Job—"Though he slay me, yet will I praise him." God does not willingly afflict the children of men, and when the misfortunes come he stands ready to comfort and to protect.

Cure For Loss of Memory.
There is a cheap cure for the sudden lapse of memory. You have but to take three deep breaths and the memory returns. The late Canon Fleming put the cure to good purpose. He came up from Bath to Camberwell to preach. At Paddington he injured his wrist. Next day he walked from Paddington to the church. Sick with pain when he stood up in the pulpit and the hymn was being sung, he had forgotten his text and his sermon. He stood in agony until he remembered the cure, of which he had once heard. He took the three deep breaths, and the memory returned. The moral is, breathe freely.—London Chronicle.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

There will be a gold medal contest at Beaulieu this (Friday) evening and one at Bethel next Wednesday evening.

The young people at Wickware are preparing for a silver medal contest which will be given in the near future.

At the double gold medal contest held at Deford Friday, Nov. 9, an interesting program was rendered and Misses Leola Schwaderer and Zelma McKenzie were successful in winning the medals.

The double gold medal contest held at the Presbyterian church last Friday evening was well attended and the contestants delivered their declamations in a pleasing manner. Those taking part in the contests were, Ida Sherman of Fairgrove, Persis Roberts, Alta Hartwick and Leola Kilgore of Deford, Merle Craig, Miriam Fritz, Luvern Hays, Dorothy McKim, Geraldine Auten and Marie Beebeysyer of Cass City. During the meeting of the judges the audience was favored with a vocal solo by Miss Florence Smith of Gagetown. Prof. J. E. ## M. E. CHURCH NOTES.

Topics of the sermons for Sunday, Nov. 24, Morning, "A Business Man's Gospel;" Evening, "Mr. Facing-Both-Ways."

Glad to see the steady upward trend of Sunday School attendance. There were forty-five in the Epworth League devotional service last Sunday evening. Come again. Goodly attendance and interest, clear cut reports from different departments of church work, and a vigorous, voluntary boost of the figures for pastoral support characterized the First Quarterly Conference held Tuesday night at the church. The regular Union Thanksgiving Day service will be held in the evening at the Baptist church.

POLITICAL NOTES.

No, my dear bachelor girl, it won't be necessary to tell 'em your age more than to say, "I'm past 21."

The first column on the ballot at the next election will be occupied by the Progressive ticket, the party polling the largest number of votes in the state not the nation getting the place of honor. As the Democrats were second in the race in Michigan they will get second place on the ballot, the Republicans taking the third position.

The Socialists vote at the late election showed a gain of more than 100 per cent over the last presidential election. In Michigan the vote jumped from 11,000 in 1908 to 24,000 in 1912.

Thanks to the untiring efforts of a woman, the state of Illinois has put into effect one of the wisest laws yet made by man. Under this law, if a man dies leaving a wife and small children without means of support, instead of the state seizing the children, taking them from the mother and sending them to be reared in some institution at the state's expense, they are left with the mother and the state pays her an annuity to bring them up for the state. This costs far less in both money and returns, as the citizen reared under the mother's care and the one reared in average public institution, show a difference largely in favor of the mother, this difference itself being a large moral dividend. It took a woman to put this law through, yet some protest that a woman should not help make the laws under which she must rear her sons and daughters.—Lapeer Clarion.

The Pigeon Progress, republican in politics, gives this good advice: "The success of the democratic party at the recent election does not necessarily mean that this great nation of ours is going 'hay-wire.' If that party does what is generally expected of it (not too much tinkering with the tariff) we do not think there will be any demand for free soup houses. Don't let us be in too big a hurry to borrow trouble, but instead give the democrats at least our best wishes backed with our confidence. They're with us for four years anyway which is a mighty long while to worry if it's worry we're after."

DIAMOND FLOUR is milled with the utmost care from select wheat. It will pay you to buy your winter supply by the barrel. Results will be pleasing.
