SCHOOL NOTES.

Miss Pell gave a five-minute lecture on war hoops Thursday. Now we know that men pull hair as well as women in the 20th century at least. Mr. Parker is trying to get on the good side of Miss L. by presenting her with 5c pencils. M. T. does some thinking in algebra. He studies three periods on his hard examples and then doesn't get them. We are glad that C. P. has his flag out. It isn't leap year now. 1913 brings the juniors good luck even if it does contain an unlucky number. The junior exercises were excellent this week. Truman Tibbals, Miss Hall the junior male quartette and Paul Fritz were the main stays of the event. Meredith Autin visited in the high room Monday. Allie Bentley and Joyce Retherford visited in the high room Tuesday. The Boys' Athletic Association met and elected the following officers: President, Cecil Brown; vice president, Dugald Duncanson; secretary, Wm. Deming; treasurer, Harold Lee; manager, "Chick" Schwaderer. The effects of the sleigh ride were clearly seen when Miss Whitney tried to take charge of the assembly room the second period instead of the third and it took some time for Miss Pell, who was equally as sleepy, to convince her of her mistake. Basket ball practice began for the boys Monday evening. Meals at all hours at No. 4, G. A.

UBLY.

Mrs. Himstreet, who has been visiting there for some time, returned with him. Mrs. J. H. Cole, of Detroit is the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. L. Pettit, at present. The farmers' institute was largely attended here on Monday, in spite of the fierce storm that raged all day. Miss Beatrice Gibson departed for Detroit on Monday where she will take a business course. D. W. McLean was in Detroit on business the first of the week. Mrs. Johnson, who has been making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Robt. Dobson, departed this life on Sunday at the age of eighty-four. The funeral will take place on Wednesday. Lava. Lava may be blown into opaque bottles of gossamer lightness, and the harder sort makes a beautiful green glass of half the weight and double the strength of ordinary glass. But it is not always the same. Every volcano pours out its own special brand of molten mixture, disagreeable to walk on, but sometimes yielding precious products, as pumice stone. Lava, like all things, decomposes under the touch of time, as the fertile plains of Sicily testify.

Wartyrdom. "Sympathetic people have a hard time in this world." "In what way?" "They have to listen to other people's troubles and never get a chance to tell their own."

The Annual "Farmers' Dinner" Is always a success, and the finest in the country is spread before a lot of appreciative people. His Stomach Troubles Over.
Mr. Dyspeptic, would you not like to feel that your stomach troubles were over, that you could eat any kind of food you desired without injury? That may seem so unlikely to you that you do not even hope for an ending of your trouble, but permit us to assure you that it is not altogether impossible. If others can be cured permanently, and thousands have why not you? John R. Barker, of Daulton Creek, Mich., is one of them. He says, "I was troubled with heartburn, indigestion, and liver complaint until I used Chamberlain's Tablets, then my trouble was over." Sold by all dealers.—Advertisement.

The Scrap Book

A Dead Loss. This is one of Sir Thomas Lipton's stories: During the month of May I was motoring through France. I had as my guest Sir Thomas Dewer. At the end of our trip we arrived in Boulogne and were obliged to wait an hour or so for our boat.

Now's the Time. Now's the time to be a-doing If there's work that must be done, While the earth itself is wooling Favours from the shining sun. Not tomorrow. You may never Hear the bells of morrow chime. But for every brave endeavor Now's the time.

Eased His Feelings. Couldock's company was once barnstorming through Virginia. It was at Petersburg, and the play was "The Chimney Corner." All through the audience sat in distressing silence, neither laughing nor shedding a tear, although "The Chimney Corner" abounds with humor and pathos, and the company then producing it was of great merit for those times.

Ready to Fight For it. He was a grand actor and a wonderful man in tragedy. He could rip open a grave and learn all the secrets of sorrow and darkness. He did it every night, and in every town which he played he hired a large band of supernumeraries who played the part of the mob.

Recognized the Portrait. "Whenever I think of Thanksgiving and turkey," said Chaucey M. Depew recently, "I am reminded of how the laugh was turned on me on the last night on board ship in a transatlantic trip. A crowd gathered in the smoke room. Everybody had told a story, made a speech or done or said something to contribute to the general gaiety with the exception of an elderly man, who pulled his pipe in silence.

Remedy For Scours in Horses. The feeding of carrots sometimes checks tendency to scouring. If that does not prove helpful mix a pint of browned wheat flour with each feed, and if that does not suffice give twice daily a tablespoonful of a mixture of one part each of powdered alum, subnitrate of bismuth, powdered catechu, powdered ginger root and two parts powdered wood charcoal.

THE FLOCKMASTER. A good Shropshire flock should average nine to ten pounds of wool. Do not attempt to winter more sheep than can be done without crowding. Be sure the flock has plenty of fresh water. If the sheep drink from springs, keep the approaches dry.

THE COLT IN WINTER. Growing Animals Need a Ration of Grain and Warm Stalls. During the cold winter days the colt needs some grain to keep him growing and in good flesh. The older horses may get through fairly well on roughage, but they are not developing bone and muscle like the colt. Then they are larger and naturally have more heat in their bodies.

Constipation, if Neglected, Causes Serious Illness

Constipation, if neglected, leads to almost innumerable complications affecting the general health. Many cases of typhoid fever, appendicitis and other severe diseases are traceable to prolonged clogging of the bowels. Regarding the effects of constipation, C. E. Ayers, of Sabin St., Montpelier, Vt., says: "I was afflicted with constipation and biliousness for years, and at times became so bad I would become unconscious. I have been found in that condition many times. Physicians did not seem to be able to do me any good. I would become weak and for days at a time could do no work. Not long ago I got a box of Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets, and after using them found I had never tried anything that acted in such a mild and effective manner. I believe I have at last found the remedy that suits my case."

Thousands of people are sufferers from habitual constipation and while possibly realizing something of the danger of this condition, yet neglect too long to employ proper curative measures until serious illness often results. The advice of all physicians is "keep your bowels clean," and it's good advice.

Dr. Miles' Laxative Tablets are sold by all druggists, at 25 cents a box containing 25 doses. If not found satisfactory, your money is returned.

ASYLUM GETS $2,633

Flint Man Leaves That Amount to Detroit Institution.

Flint, Mich., Jan. 13.—When Chas. Henry Hoyt died in March, 1911, he left a will bequeathing two-thirds of the residue of his estate, after the payment of other bequests, to the Protestant Orphan Asylum, of Detroit.

The amount to which the home is entitled has just been fixed by Probate Judge Swayze at $2,633 and the executrix of the estate has been authorized to forward a check covering the bequest to the Detroit institution.

term of the late Senator Russell A. Alger, after having been elected in January that year for the ensuing full term. Senator Smith was born at Dowagiac, Mich., May 12, 1859, but his home has been at Grand Rapids since 1872.

State Grange Comes Forward.

Talk that a plan was afoot to forestall progressive legislation promptly brought forward vigorous opposition to any such procedure. It was openly declared that if the scheme was persisted in there would be things doing in Lansing that would create a real tempest. It was emphatically stated that promises of progressive legislation should be made good else there would be an accounting. The State Grange was not slow to step in and take a hand. The Grangers called a meeting of the executive committee in Lansing, with the result that former speaker, Herbert F. Baker, was employed to remain in Lansing during the session to advocate measures favored and supported by the State Grange. Baker's long experience as a legislator and his acquaintance with men and methods in the law-making body prompted his selection.

Initiative and Referendum.

Several important measures were considered by committee, among them the proposal of Senator Fred L. Woodworth for a 10 per cent initiative clause on laws and constitutional amendments, and the Dunn bill for recall, also with the low percentage clause. War is declared against any measure on these lines that includes percentage clauses so high as to make them ineffective.

The committee also considered the question of the repeal of the mortgage tax law and it was decided to favor an amendment to provide for a tax on mortgages of .50 cents on each $1,000 face valuation, payable annually within the term of the instrument. Several other important propositions were considered and these will be brought to light as the session progresses.

Civil Service Law Will Pass.

There seems now to be little, if any, doubt that very early in the session a measure will be enacted providing for civil service among employees of the state.

Senator Verdier, of Grand Rapids, has presented a bill that is one of the strongest in existence copied largely after the Colorado law. The democratic platform calls for civil service and the party is pledged to that reform, but as the proposed law would give immediate effect the plums expected at the hands of the administration will go a-glimmering.

The Verdier bill is one of the most pronounced and far-reaching of any of its kind in any state, taking in about every office in the employ of the state, even down to the grade of laborers who must be employed in accordance with the priority of their applications. It calls for a non-partisan and non-salaried board of three civil service commissioners to be appointed by the governor, the secretary to receive a salary of $2,000 as the executive officer. The proposed commission is to enact rules and regulations to classify the various grades of employment and to establish suitable examinations. There is much detail about the measure, but it is comprehensive and calculated to accomplish that which it seeks.

As all parties represented in the house and senate are pledged to civil service, it is scarcely likely that there will be any serious difficulty in the passage of the law. Should it be enacted the present employees of the state will be able to hold their jobs without further fear of political upheavals, or so long as their faithfulness shall endure.

Labor Legislation.

That there will be some effective legislation for the benefit of labor generally is conceded. But just what the specific result of present plans will be is at this time a matter of conjecture.

There is a set purpose to change the laws governing child labor. Hours of labor for women and children will be given consideration. Regulation of the number of hours women and children shall be employed in the street trades, canneries and other industrial employments will be demanded. And a measure will be introduced providing for mine inspection for the protection of workmen; also for boiler inspection and a commission to fix a minimum wage scale.

Among other bills the labor department and representative heads of labor organizations will consider will be the compensation of mothers' bill, hotel inspection and others of kindred intent.

The legislative labor conference committee has met with Labor Commissioner Powers to outline a plan to be followed and the measures enumerated were agreed upon. The meeting was attended by several representative women of the state.

A bill has been prepared by the legislative committee of the Michigan district of the United Mine Workers to present to the legislature. It deals with conditions of miners and embodies many features that are calculated to promote the welfare of mine workers.

Statewide Prohibition.

The senate and house are squarely up against a condition which they cannot side-step. Nothing that has yet come before the legislature at this session has attracted such universal attention as the introduction of a state-wide prohibition resolution for constitutional amendment.

During the past four years every candidate for public office has been confronted with this proposition, and now that the matter is brought up with the view of allowing the people to express themselves upon the question, the Anti-Saloon League has not been slow to grasp the situation and has taken this means of putting the house and senate to the test.

The pressure will be particularly heavy upon members representing districts divided between the wet and dry interests.

Amendment to Liquor Laws.
Auditor General Fuller in his annual report to the governor says that the general liquor law should be amended in so far as it relates to the license of a non-resident liquor dealer, as there are many who have not taken out licenses. If possible, he says, it should be a misdemeanor for any retail dealer to purchase liquor from a non-resident dealer.

Contests Settled.

As all the contests were settled by the retention of their seats by members whose election was declared to have been in doubt, the senate and house settled down to real business as soon as reports of committees were acted upon. There was little trouble for any except Senator McGregor, of the twelfth district. In spite of the vigorous protests of Frank L. Covert and the efforts to dislodge him, he retains his place.

"Blue Sky" Propositions.
State Banking Commissioner E. H. Doyle's proposed legislation on "blue sky" propositions promise a death blow to visionary schemes to lure the unwary. The house and senate committees will meet Jan. 29 to take up these questions. Several other measures have been introduced and drastic action is assured. All those who endorse or oppose the measures proposed are invited to express their views at that meeting.

H. L. McDERMOTT ON RETURN TRIP

ber, but I don't believe I want to cut any of it in the swamps. We also went through thousands of acres of sugar cane. They were just finishing the harvest.

From Houston to San Antonio, Texas, we went through a very good country. They grow an immense amount of cotton here and we saw them picking some of it. San Antonio is a good city of 105,000 population. Here is situated the historic Alamo, where Davie Crockett and so many other good men died. From San Antonio west we begin to see some hills and rolling ground with trees and bushes but we soon got away from this and until we got to El Paso I thought it about the worst looking country I ever saw. It did not even grow good sage brush.

All along the railroad at certain distances apart through western Texas, New Mexico and Arizona we saw camps of American soldiers, whose duty is to see that the Mexican soldiers and rebels stay on their own side of the line.

I noticed one thing about Texas, that was, that it is a big state. It took us two days and two nights to get through it, and that is too long to travel in one state. From El Paso to Los Angeles I had travelled before and wrote something about it in a previous letter, so won't say anything about it, except to say that it is mostly the same desert country that it was, and as Will Carleton said we can appreciate Heaven better if we have spent some time in the other place. So we can appreciate this beautiful country the more for having come through the desert.

This place was beautiful when we came but we have had some hard frosts and you know what frost does to tender plants. They don't know yet how badly the oranges and lemons are damaged but it must run into millions. This wonderful city is growing as rapidly as ever, and must eventually be one of the very large cities.

We are nicely settled and all feeling fine, so far and know all the Cas City people who are here are well.

I trust that everybody back there is behaving himself, and that everybody is well.

POULTRY PROVED PROFITABLE

poultry, eggs laid, stock sold, etc. The year was started with a stock of 160 hens and pullets which number was reduced by the death of a few and sale of older stock, until mid-summer the number was 115. At the end of 1912 we had 217 hens and pullets, but pullets were so late hatched that they laid but few eggs in 1912.

The figures given on feed include that fed to the young stock. Roup caused the death of more than half of our young stock when they were nearly half grown, thus consuming a large amount of feed for which we got no returns. The cost of feed for the flock, young stock included, was $167.99. Most of the feed we raised on the farm, and when fed, was weighed and charged up at the price we would have to pay if buying from the elevators. The money received from eggs and stock sold was $292.61 giving us a profit of $124.62. We also have 57 more hens than on Jan. 1, 1912. The eggs laid numbered 1217 8-12 dozen which were sold at the local market excepting a few dozen for hatching purposes.

"We are aware these is nothing startling about these figures but give them merely to show that a profit can be made from chickens even in a year that has more than the average number of drawbacks and when feed is extremely high in price."

FINE ARTS PALACE, PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

THE Fine Arts Palace will be one of the most beautiful structures in its architecture as well as in its location at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The building, 600 feet in length from north to south, will be semicircular in form and will have as its central motive a low dome arising from a unique base. Forming the foreground will be a great lagoon surrounded on three sides by a sunken garden, which will be designed in romantic Italian architecture. Here will be assembled the notable paintings of history.

Costly Silence.

A representative of the local authority of a German city once informed the conductor of the municipal orchestra that the extra pay demanded for the tuba players in the Wagner performances would not be granted. "You must give the opera without a tuba," he said. Finally, however, on the conductor's earnest solicitation, the additional remuneration was conceded, but after the first act of "Die Walkure" the municipal representative referred to hurriedly sought the conductor. "My dear sir," he exclaimed, with a groan of despair, "we pay those tuba players 6 marks each, and they haven't played a note!"

Acted on the Advice.

A well to do business man of Arkansas City tells a unique story of how he got started in life. When a young man, without much money, he struck New York city. While walking down the street he saw a sign which read, "We will tell you how to get rich for $1," says the Kansas City Journal. He went in and plunked down a dollar and received instructions in a sealed envelope. Going out on the street, he opened the envelope and found a slip of paper reading, "Work like the devil and save your money." Did he have the outfit arrested for swindling? No, indeed! He took their advice, and today he is worth more than $100,000.

Best Cough Medicine for Children.

"I have used it for years both for my children and myself and it never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is pleasant and safe to take, which is of great importance when a medicine must be given to young children. For sale by all dealers. Advertisement.

A Historian's Joke.

Macaulay is not usually regarded as a humorous writer, but in his "History of England" he perpetrates the following in relating the death of Charles II.: "Several of the prescriptions have been preserved. One of them is signed by fourteen doctors. He recovered his senses, but he was evidently in a situation of extreme danger."

A Girl's Wild Midnight Ride.

To warn people of a fearful forest fire in the Catskills a young girl rode horseback at midnight and saved many lives. Her deed was glorious but lives are often saved by Dr. King's New Discovery in curing lung trouble, coughs and colds, which might have ended in consumption or pneumonia. "It cured me of a dreadful cough and lung disease," writes W. R. Patterson, Wellington, Tex., "after four in our family had died with consumption, and I gained 87 pounds." Nothing so sure and safe for all throat and lung troubles. Price 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by L. I. Wood & Co.—Advertisement.
