People who allow their chickens to run loose should remember that a state law forbids it. Keep 'em penned up and avoid possible trouble with your neighbors. It's really very annoying you know to work for hours planting ten cents worth of sweet pea seeds and just when the sprouts are about to break through the ground to suddenly discover that your neighbors' hens have scratched them all out.

Automobilists are requested to leave their machines outside of the Elkland cemetery. Township officials and the sexton have decided to make this request for several reasons. One is that the automobiles find it difficult in making the short turns of the driveways and cut up the cemetery lots. Another is that the machines and narrow driveways make it dangerous for those driving horses. The township board has ordered large signs printed asking auto drivers to leave their machines outside the cemetery and they do not expect any difficulty in enforcing the ruling.

A Note To You

May 30 Is Decoration Day.

The sad and distressing details incident to the glorious achievements, participated in by the illustrious dead, whose last resting places will be strewn with flowers on this day are fresh in recollections of many and familiar to others as a matter of history and should command the respect and secure the attendance of all on this occasion.

Show your patriotism and respect by doing a little decorating.

We have a good assortment of flags and crepe paper suitable for the occasion.

Yours truly,

Lumber, Above All Building Materials

HAS kept pace with the demands of home builders. Notwithstanding the many substitutes that are today offered under the guise of "just as good" there's an abundance of evidence right here at home to cause the conservative home builder to move cautiously in selecting his material. The real value represented in the lumber we handle these days is 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. above what it was when your father built his home. This is due to the modern day way of manufacturing.

We've lots of good sound lumber suited for finishing and interior work that can be put right into your house without your carpenter touching a plane to it. This means a saving in dollars to you. Now, don't jump at conclusions when you hear about exorbitant (?) prices of lumber; come in and see us.

 Marshal Hutchinson says that there are a number of girls, some as young as 10 and 12 years, who "hang out" all hours of the night and who would be better off at home under mamma's watchful eyes.  Mrs. Lucy Longley, a nurse at Pleasant Home hospital, is caring for Miss Gene Hyatt, a nurse of Detroit, who is ill here with scarlet fever. Mrs. Longley received a bouquet of carnations from a friend last Thursday evening and she and her patient anticipated several days enjoyment of their beauty and fragrance. During the rain that night, Mrs. Longley placed the flowers on the hospital lawn to freshen them and she was righteously provoked Friday morning when she found they had been stolen.

Maxfield has been a missionary of the Baptist church in the Philippines for 10 years and this is the second furlough he has had since engaging in that work. The family expect to remain in this country for a year. Mr. Maxfield lectures in Detroit this week and in Chicago next week and the party will gradually work west to Seattle, Wash., where they have a fruit farm near that city. Rev. Maxfield gave an address at the Baptist church here Sunday evening in which he gave vivid portrayals of the habits and traits of the Philippines and the work of the missionaries among them. He said that the campaign of the different churches in the islands was a most harmonious one in which different denominations confine their labors to different sections of the country.

A Growsome Custom.
 It was the custom of the Tapagos, natives of Brazil, to preserve the head of an enemy slain in battle, and on some occasions they wore the ghastly relics hung around their necks as amulets. The sockets of the eyes are filled in with black cement of a resinous nature, in which are embedded small pieces of bleached bone.

MONITOR'S LOG PRESERVED.
 It Was Given to Navy Department by Captain Stodder.
 The original log book of the famous Monitor, covering the period of her engagement with the Confederate ironclad Merrimac in Hampton Roads on March 9, 1862, is preserved among the historic records of the navy department.
 The restoration of the log to the department was due to Captain Louis Stodder of the United States revenue cutter service and an officer on the Monitor during her entire service. For years he treasured the log among his most valuable possessions, but as the infirmities of age increased he desired to see it placed where its preservation might be assured. Hence it was that he forwarded it to the library of the navy department.
 The entries cover dates from Feb. 23 to the end of 1862 and tell of the little "cheese box on a raft" foundering off Cape Hatteras on Dec. 31, 1862, when Stodder was acting master, and of her engagements with the Confederate batteries at Sewall's Point, Hampton Roads, and at Fort Darling, in the James river. But by far the most interesting concern the fight with the Merrimac. Among the entries on Sunday, March 9, 1862, are the following:
 4 to 8 p. m.—Fine weather and calm. At sunrise saw three steamers lying under Sewall's Point. Made one out to be the rebel steamer Merrimac. At 7:20 got under way and stood toward her and piped all hands to quarters. J. WEBBER.
 From 8 to meridian.—Fine, clear weather. The rebel steamers advancing and opened fire on the Minnesota. 8:20 opened fire on the Merrimac. From that time until 12 constantly engaged with the Merrimac. LOUIS STODDER.
 From meridian to 4 p. m.—Clear weather. At 12:30 riddled shell struck the pilot house, severely injuring Commander Worden. 1 p. m. the Merrimac hauled off in a disabled condition. Stood toward the Minnesota and received on board Assistant Secretary Fox of the navy. 2 p. m., Captain Worden left for Fort Monroe in charge of Surgeon Logue. GEORGE FREDERICKSON.

The Fur Seal.
 The fur seal is a land animal of perverted tastes who, living at sea, has had his paws changed into flippers very like the long black kid gloves of a woman. His heart, liver and kidneys are exactly the same as those of a sheep and just as good to eat, but his flesh, although just like fat mutton to look at, is rank and distasteful from his habit of eating fish. The whole package is put up in a parcel of thick white fat to keep the body warm, while from the skin grows a heavy crop of beautiful brown fur, protected with large flat oil bearing hairs, making a glossy surface which slides through the water without friction.

Rio de Janeiro's Mosquito Squad.
 The city of Rio de Janeiro has a mosquito department, which is as prompt and efficient as many fire departments. If a person discovers a mosquito he must notify the inspectors. A telephone call will bring them promptly to the scene. It is then their duty to find the pool or body of water where the mosquitoes are being developed and destroy it. Owing to this sort of vigilance and prompt action neither mosquito bars nor fly screens are necessary in the whole city of Rio de Janeiro.

Comparative Digestibility of Food

Made with different Baking Powders

From a Series of Elaborate Chemical Tests:

An equal quantity of bread (biscuit) was made with each of three different kinds of baking powder—cream of tartar, phosphate, and alum—and submitted separately to the action of the digestive fluid, each for the same length of time.

The relative percentage of the food digested is shown as follows:

- Bread made with Royal Cream of Tartar Powder: 100 Per Cent. Digested
- Bread made with phosphate powder: 68 1/4 Per Cent. Digested
- Bread made with alum powder: 67 3/4 Per Cent. Digested

These tests, which are absolutely reliable and unprejudiced, make plain a fact of great importance to everyone: Food raised with Royal, a cream of tartar Baking Powder, is shown to be entirely digestible, while the alum and phosphate powders are found to largely retard the digestion of the food made from them.

Undigested food is not only wasted food, but it is the source of very many bodily ailments.
