Health a Factor in Success.

The largest factor contributing to a man's success is undoubtedly health. It has been observed that a man is seldom sick when his bowels are regular—he is never well when they are constipated. For constipation you will find nothing quite so good as Chamberlain's Tablets.

1863 1913 GETTYSBURG Fifty Years After

In all the centuries, with their innumerable wars, there have been few great, decisive battles. The world has been full of bloodshed and carnage and the horrid rapine that goes with war, but among the battles innumerable there have been but few that greatly influenced the world's history or decided the fate of nations.

THE SUMMIT OF LITTLE ROUND TOP

Here, scattered over the hills and fields, are no fewer than 600 monuments and tablets. Most of them are of elaborate and artistic design, costing all the way from a few hundred to a hundred thousand dollars. The spot of culminating emotions, however, is not the dreadful field of carnage, but the peaceful, beautiful, national cemetery where lie, Under the sod and the dew, Waiting the judgment day,

THE LAW OF SACRIFICE--A TRIBUTE

Continued from first page. every Harriman, Pierpont Morgan, Rockefeller is the story of ease, comfort and self-indulgence lost during the first half of his life to save ease and comfort for the second period of his career. Again, the law of sacrifice is the secret of beauty. When the artist who gave his days to the service of the unfortunate had passed away, it was discovered that a beauty almost divine had transformed his canvass. Self-sacrificing deeds will some day build a beautiful house for your soul. Self-sacrificing thoughts will in time make the plainest face take on a touch of that beauty which is Divine. The law of sacrifice is the law of progress. The progress which our nation is making today in unity, in fellowship, in wealth and industry speaks of a national gain which is a loss. Four years of war saw homes demolished, towns laid waste, lives lost—but this tremendous loss brought a national gain in progress. The law of sacrifice is the secret of lasting influence and of moral and spiritual growth. A beautiful character is purchased at the death of the hindrances to character. If you sacrifice the higher duty to the lower pleasure in the hour of temptation—what a loss! You saved your pleasure but you lost an opportunity for soul-growth! In this highest sphere of life we find the real motive for self-sacrifice.

Only that sacrifice is noble which is intelligent, which declares an intense love for the Father, which speaks an obedience to the Son, and love for mankind. The sacrifice for a great cause, a great leader, a great service with this highest motive to lend direction results in lasting good. Not he that loseth his life for his own sake; not he that loseth it here for the sake of finding it hereafter—but he that loseth it for "the Master's sake"—"for my sake" are His very words—is holding true to the real law of sacrifice. Christ lived a life of continual sacrifice but on Calvary showed the greatest sacrifice. Oh, wondrous lesson! The taunting priests summed up the eternal law of sacrifice in an eternal life when they said—"Himself he cannot save." How true! No man could save a world from sin and save himself! We bow at Calvary before the supreme example of sacrifice! This laurel which the passing years have placed upon the brow of soldiers of the Civil War is the word—Self-Sacrifice. In losing their life in a worthy cause, they found their life in a nation's salvation.

OLD NEWSPAPER PRINTED IN 1770

Continued from first page. Measure with a View to their securely enjoying the profits of an American Revenue, and unhappily both for Britain and this Country they found Means to effect it."

"The Inhabitants of the Town of Acton, at their annual Town Meeting on the first Monday of March, 1770, taking into Consideration the distressed circumstances, that this Province and all North America are involved in by reason of the acts of Parliament imposing Duties and Taxes, upon the Inhabitants of North America, for the sole purpose to raise a Revenue, and when the Royal Ear seems to be stopt against all our humble Prayers, and Petitions, for redress of Grievances, that this land is involved in, and considering the salutary Measures that the Body of Merchants and Traders in this province have come into, in order for the redress of the many troubles that we are involved in, and to support and maintain our Charter Rights, and Privileges, and to prevent our total Ruin and Destruction: Making all these things into serious Consideration; came into the following Votes.

"VOTED, That we will use our utmost Endeavours to encourage and support the Body of Merchants and Traders, in their salutary Endeavours to retrieve this Province out of its present Distresses, to whom this Town vote their Thanks for the constitutional and spirited Measures pursued by them for the good of this Province.

"VOTED, That from this Time, we will have no commercial, or social connection with those, who at this Time do refuse to contribute to the relief of this abused Country, especially those that import British Goods, contrary to the Agreement of the Body of Merchants in Boston, or elsewhere, that we will not afford them our Custom, but treat them with the utmost Neglect, and all those who countenance them.

"VOTED, That we will use our utmost Endeavours, to prevent the Consumption of all foreign superfluities, and that we will use our utmost Endeavours, to promote and encourage our own Manufactures.

"VOTED, That the Town Clerk transmit a Copy of these votes of the Town, to the Committee of Merchants of Inspection at Boston. "A true Copy Attested. "Francis Faulkner, Town Clerk."

LEARN TO SEW

School Girls in Rural Districts Are Being Taught to Use Needle.

Practical education for girls is not being confined entirely to those progressive cities and towns which have introduced domestic arts but is gradually making its way into the rural districts. Enterprising country teachers are finding that sensible sewing assignments are possible and furnish the best kind of "busy work" for girls. At least one county has been organized into sewing clubs for the girls, the experiment of corn clubs for the boys having proved so successful. It has been discovered that the girls have entered into their work as enthusiastically as the boys and the scheme has been tried out so thoroughly that it can be considered an unqualified success, meeting favor with teachers, pupils and parents. Not only has it been found that this practical work is training girls in a subject which they will follow throughout their lives, but it has kept the interest of some who were about to leave school while the academic work of all the girls has improved instead of being hindered.

The girls do not spend their time merely sewing, but they are making useful things such as aprons and simple articles of wearing apparel. The art of making buttonholes, mending and darning hosiery also form a part of the course. Those who have had home training along these lines and prove their ability to do such work are encouraged to attempt more advanced things so the lessons are fitted to the individual. In some districts the teachers have not been able to instruct the students owing to their own lack of training. This difficulty has been overcome in a number of cases by having one or two of the older students who were capable instruct the others, or some of the women of the district have become assistants of the teacher. These assistants give their services and usually feel that they are more than repaid by the pleasure of helping the children and the school.

The only real objection to this work is the possibility of unwise teachers requiring the first and second grades to do fine sewing. The muscles of the hand are the last to develop and the cramping of fingers is injurious, so if the younger children sew they should be encouraged to use only long stitches. In a few districts where people are laboring under the delusion that schools are for book education only, objections have been made to the sewing but when the results have been realized, there is inevitably a decided change in sentiment.

In a New Department. An old employee of a Sixth avenue emporium went to his boss. "I have been with you a long time," he said, "but my eyesight is getting poor. I have been in several departments of the store—laces at one time, silks at another—and I have lost some goods through shoplifters." "Oh, that will happen occasionally," said the boss. "I guess I'd better resign." "Not at all, my boy. You have been with me for years, and you shall remain as long as you like. I'll put you in the grindstone department. I don't think you'll lose many goods there."—Pittsburgh Post.

FACTORS IN SUCCESS. The man who would succeed must be efficient. He should have a good constitution, a determination to make good, the quality called stick-to-itiveness, character and an aptitude for his work. Opportunities are as good today as they were when Grant, Lincoln, Rockefeller, Hill, Harriman, Edison and Huntington, all poor boys, began to make names for themselves. — John J. Mitchell.

The Chinese. Conservative historians among the Chinese claim for their race an antiquity of at least 100,000 years, while those whose estimates are a little "wild" assert that the Chinese were the original inhabitants of the earth and that Chinese history goes back at least 500,000,000 years. The government records of China place the foundation of the empire at 2500 B. C. and claim that it was established by Tohi, who, they assert, is the Noah mentioned in the book of Genesis, B. C. 2240.

Apulia. The department of Apulia, bordering on the Adriatic, is an ancient division of southeastern Italy. It comprises the provinces of Lecce, Foggia and Bari and has a population of nearly 2,200,000.

Make Your Walls Sanitary

The first step in making homes sanitary was the installation of plumbing, etc.

The second step in this direction was the replacing of the old style carpets by rugs and painting the floors with "Hard Drying Floor Paint."

The third and very important, is the replacing of wall paper by paint.

This soft-velvet-like paint—called "Lowe Brothers produces a very beautiful, yet sanitary covering for plastered walls, steel ceilings, etc. in any desired shade. This finish is fadeless, spotless, not easily marred and is washable.

It is found to be most satisfactory and more economical than wall paper, kalsomine or water-paints.

You must not fail to get color cards and suggested color combinations from us, before you do your decorating or redecorating this Spring. Our booklet, "Common Sense about Interiors" will be of assistance to you in planning for decorating. This book

Lumber, Above All Building Materials

HAS kept pace with the demands of home builders. Notwithstanding the many substitutes that are today offered under the guise of "just as good" there's an abundance of evidence right here at home to cause the conservative home builder to move cautiously in selecting his material. The real value represented in the lumber we handle these days is 50 per cent. to 75 per cent. above what it was when your father built his home. This is due to the modern day way of manufacturing.

We've lots of good sound lumber suited for finishing and interior work that can be put right into your house without your carpenter touching a plane to it. This means a saving in dollars to you. Now, don't jump at conclusions when you hear about exorbitant (?) prices of lumber; come in and see us.

LOCAL ITEMS.

J. B. Tindale was in Bay City Thursday.

G. A. Tindale went to Lansing Tuesday to attend the Masonic Grand lodge.

Mrs. Benjamin Foster and son, Alex, of Brown City were guests at the home of T. L. Tibbals over Sunday. Little Anna Bell Tibbals returned to Brown City with them to spend a few days.

The U-sta-koods were greeted by a full house at the Presbyterian church Wednesday evening and presented a program of songs, recitations and drills with a grand finale tableau that was enthusiastically received. There was a laugh in every maneuver and the laughs came close together. Each number was heartily encored and responded to. The receipts of the evening were $34.60.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Parr, sr., and their daughters, Lue and Anna, left Wednesday afternoon for Edmonton, Alta., where they expect to make their home. They expect to stop at Chicago and Winnipeg to visit relatives and also to ease the journey for Mr. Parr, who has reached an age where a long journey grows exceedingly tiresome. Miss Hattie Parr, another daughter who has been visiting at the parental home, accompanied the party as far as Lansing.

KICKED IN FACE BY HORSE.

John Moshier, living on Sec. 35, Novesta, was kicked in the face by a horse Monday afternoon. The animal was shod and the injury was quite severe about and above the nose. A physician was called from Kingston and the patient is doing as well as can be expected under the circumstances. Mr. Moshier is a young man and he will probably be able to resume work in a few days.

Conditions of the Best.

On another page will be found the advertisement of Belding Bros. & Co., silk manufacturers, of Belding, Mich. This concern established the first silk industry in Michigan, in fact the first in the Central States, some thirty years ago, Belding, Michigan, being the location chosen, as it was the Belding Brothers' boyhood home. The mills have gradually increased in number and size, with a capacity today of well on toward 2,000 hands. The result is that the city and surrounding districts will not supply the required number of young lady employees, so it is found necessary to advertise more widely. It has always been the policy of the company, and with success, to make the conditions in their mills, dormitories, and living conditions generally, of the highest order. The city is in a "Dry" county, has a clean and efficient administration, has active churches of the several denominations, and is a first class city of its size. Any young ladies looking for good, clean remunerative employment, will do well to correspond with this concern.—Adv.

THE DEAN AND HIS WIFE.

They Gave a Gang of Blackguards an Awful Surprise.

In the early part of the nineteenth century Vauxhall garden was the resort of many respectable persons, especially of those who came up from rural England to see London sights. During one season it was infested by a band of roughs, who made it their occupation to insult and molest the most quiet, decent people, especially any whom they guessed to be country visitors. They became such a nuisance that several men about town, among whom were Lord Alvanley and Keppel Crazen, laid a plot to get rid of them.

They hired Mendoza, the famous prizefighter, and dressed him up as a dean, with a shovel hat and apron. Another prizefighter, a short man, was dressed as a middle aged lady and passed as the dean's wife, and one evening they were seated at Vauxhall in a conspicuous position to watch the fireworks. It was not long before the old fashioned, countrified pair attracted the attention of the gang, who assailed them with every kind of coarse rallery and insult, all of which they bore very meekly.

At length one of the persecutors, growing bolder by impunity, stepped up to the dean and squirted an orange into his eye. On this the dean, rising, said in a meek, quiet tone, "Really, gentlemen, I have borne a great deal, but I must put a stop to this." With that his hat went one way and his coat another, and, followed by his "wife," he sprang into the middle of the party, hitting out in all directions. Filled with astonishment and terror, some fled and some tried to show fight, but the handling they got from the prizefighters was too severe for the fracas to last long.

All the time Lord Alvanley and his friends, who were joyously watching the fray, were calling out in delight: "Go it, Mr. Dean! Give it 'em, Mrs. Dean!" An effectual stop was thus put to the annoyance.—London Spectator.

Politeness.

There is no policy like politeness, and a good manner is the best thing in the world either to get one a good name or to supply the want of it.

The Sleep of the Heroes

UNDER the summer sun and stars
 And under the winter snow
 Our heroes sleep, unvexed by wars,
 While the seasons come and go.
 Kissed by the dew and gentle showers
 And arched by the blue above,
 They sleep today 'neath a world of flowers,

GET TO THE CAUSE

Cass City People Are Learning the Way.

There is but little peace or comfort for the man or woman with a bad back. The distress begins in early morning—keeps up throughout the day. It's hard to get out of bed, it's torture to stoop or straighten. Plasters and liniments may relieve, but cannot cure if the cause is inside—the kidneys. When suffering so, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the tested and proven kidney remedy, used in kidney troubles for over 50 years. Doan's Kidney Pills are recommended by thousands for just such cases. Proof of their effectiveness in the testimony of this Cass City resident:
 Mrs. J. B. Tindale, Pine St., Cass City, Mich., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in my family for a long time and we take pleasure in recommending them. A member of my family suffered from kidney complaint, backache and pains across the loins being the principal symptoms. Whenever the person referred to caught cold, the trouble was aggravated. Doan's Kidney Pills, stored at Wood & Co.'s Drug Store, always dispose of the attacks promptly."
 For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.
 Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.—Adv.

A Successful Farmer

Gives as much attention to his stock as he does to his crops. All stock loses condition at times and it is the good manager that applies the remedy before there is any serious loss of time. The successful men in the New England States use Harvell's Condition Powder for stock and poultry. A package goes a long way because it is all medicine, not a food. It puts working animals in good spirits and flesh. Keeps poultry free from diseases and increases the yield of eggs. Price 25 cts. Sold by Wood's Drug Store.—Adv.

"That's the sixth Studebaker we've passed—the only kind to invest in"

"The only kind—because, as I always say, when a man puts money in a thing he wants to know that he's going to get the worth of it out again."

"That's plain business as I look at it."

"That's why I say the price doesn't tell you anything at all. There's only one thing that talks—except the wagon itself. That's the name of the maker."

"When you buy a Studebaker you're buying a vehicle that has behind it and in its sixty years of experience—sixty years of success—and sixty years of reputation for the square deal. That's why a Studebaker always looks good to me."

"My father used to say that Studebaker honor was as sure as a United States bank note. He was talking after having used Studebaker vehicles since he was a lad, and he told me his father before him said, 'Be safe—get a Studebaker.'"

"Vehicle builders can't hold that sort of reputation nowadays without delivering the goods. A Studebaker wagon has the best in it. That's why a man gets the most out of it—why it's always an economy."

"Dealers may say to you something else is 'just as good.' But when you buy a Studebaker, you're making a safe investment every time."

The "General's" Picnic

"GOIN' into town, Mir'um?"
 "Not today, gin'ral. Was there anything special?"
 "No; only I thought if you was goin' to the postoffice—but 'tain't no matter."
 "Not today, gin'ral; some other time."
 She did not turn to look at him, but she seemed to see him just the same—his white hair blowing under his battered, wide rimmed hat, his bent figure shabbily dressed in a faded suit of blue.
 "I wish he'd get his letter and his pension, poor old gin'ral!" she murmured. "The general" was only a nickname, and most of the people at the poor farm said he was "cracked in the head" and that the things he talked about were "only his notions."
 The general was not looking for a letter that evening. For once he had forgotten the postoffice in the unwonted pleasure of a newspaper to read.

 "Just think, Mir'um, they've been havin' an old soldiers' picnic over to Jacksonville! There was an excursion in the cars to a place where they had a big dinner, and there was military bands and speeches—all about the battles they'd been in."
 The loud clanging of a bell at the house announced that the evening meal was ready, and the light suddenly faded from the old man's face as he walked away. The dimming of his eyes, the droop of his shoulders, as he turned from her touched Miriam, and there flashed into her brain a thought so startling that she seized the first leisure minute to consider it. What if they should have an old soldier's picnic of their own—she and the general?
 Oh, it was a wonderful plan! Miriam could scarcely sleep for thinking of it, and by morning she was ready to communicate it to her old friend

It is doubtful if any European tour, "personally conducted" or otherwise, ever gave such satisfaction as did this little trip. They tried singing "Hail Columbia" and "John Brown" and derived a great deal of satisfaction, if not much melody, from the attempt. The little girl from a nearby farmhouse ran down and brought them some lemonade, and altogether it was a day crowded with pleasure.
 But it was just at the close of the day that disaster came. They had lingered as long as they dared, and then when they started back to the station the feverish hurry of inexperienced travelers seized them.
 A carriage with a party of gentlemen turned down a crossroad just as they approached the station, but the general, intent only on the train that was drawing up to the platform, saw nothing else and pushed forward. There was a warning cry, a shout to the horses, a groan.
 "Oh, he's killed, he's killed, and now I can't never take him back!" sobbed Miriam.
 But the general was not dead. One of the gentlemen, a physician, speedily assured himself of that.
 "I do not believe he is dangerously hurt," he said after a swift examination, "but there is a fractured bone in the leg, and with that and the wound in his head he ought not to be moved if he can be cared for near by. Where does he live?"
 All eyes turned upon Miriam, and the simple story of where they belonged and how they had won their day's pleasure was told between pitiful catchings of her breath as she tried to restrain her tears.
 The station keeper suggested that the people at the farm near the grove had a comfortable house and had plenty of room and might be willing to care for the invalid until he should be able to travel.
 "We will see that they are well paid for it," said the leader of the party, who instructed the volunteer messenger, and word was soon sent that the mistress of the house was willing if Miriam would stay to assist her.
 So the general was gently removed to a pretty, roomy chamber, his wounds dressed, and he began to mend from the first day.
 The doctor made regular visits, and the gentleman whom the others addressed as "governor" came occasionally and meanwhile used that intangible but powerful thing called influence to set certain forces at work in Washington. The long delayed papers were speedily found and attended to, and one day, when the general had nearly recovered, the governor brought out a long envelope.
 "Here's your pension, my friend—$12 a month while you live and the neat little sum of $1,100 for arrears."
 "Leven hundred dollars in a lump, Mir'um, and $12 every month as long as I live!" murmured the general. "I'll never go back to the poor farm, an' if I can just find some place to live, kinder like this!"
 "You can stay right on in these rooms that you like so well," said the farmer's wife, kind hearted, but wily also—"that is, if your daughter will live here, too, and help with the work. She can earn her own keep, and I'll pay her fair wages besides."
 Miriam had been called his daughter many times during his illness, but now that he might possibly have something to bequeath her the word caught the old man's fancy, and by the aid of his friend, the governor, Miriam was legally adopted. — Ruth Cady in Forward.

Did It Ever Strike You
 That you may perhaps be making a mistake by not getting our prices on the lumber and building material you buy? You know there's a big difference in the quality of lumber and prices are not the same at all yards. Perhaps you don't use a great deal of lumber and figure that it doesn't cut much figure where you buy. But you might just as well get the best material when you do buy. It will cost you no more, if you buy here.
 Let us tell you the price on the next lot you buy. Then you'll know that you are making no mistake.

PIN AND NEEDLE SHOWER.

Girl Chums Give Bride Elect a Useful and Unique Shower.

It is not always easy to think of something new for entertainment, but one girl recently originated the pin and needle shower.

There were many consultations, so that the gifts should not be duplicated. One brought a fair sized handmade workbasket, another a dozen spools of silk in useful colors, a third a fine pair of cutting shears.

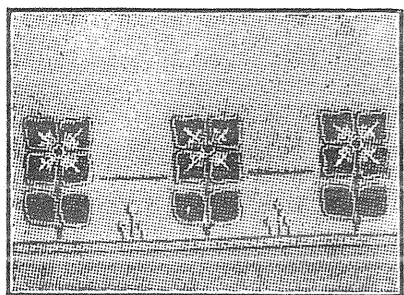

This particular shower was the accompaniment to a luncheon, and the clever hostess had made a large simulated spool from cardboard, colored with water colors.

When a man marries his trouble begins. These twelve girls were a group that had been close friends since they were little girls, and, wishing to give the bride an engagement present really worth while, they clubbed together and got a lovely pearl "pin" more properly brooch—and this was, of course, the center of the pin shower.

IN STENCIL EFFECT.

Design For Living Room Table Carried Out in Bulgarian Linen.

Here is a simple stencil pattern suitable for the ends of a table runner or bureau scarf. The material used for the background is ecru Bulgarian linen, and the leaves and the hem are of blue-green linen, while the flowers are rose color.

END OF TABLE RUNNER.

alternate stitch spring from a common hole in the center and every other a little shorter than its neighbor; this will prevent the middle from becoming overcrowded.

The detail shows the method of working this stitch; the chain loop should not be pulled too tightly, but should be allowed to form a circle, as near as may be, the little catching down stitch should be as small and as inconspicuous as possible.

GOOD THINGS TO KNOW.

Finely ground dry coffee grounds make a good filling for pincushions.

Before frying liver dip each piece in milk, and then it fries a rich brown and is not hard.

By adding common table salt to gasoline spots can be removed from the most delicate fabrics without leaving a ring around the places cleaned.

To clean hardwood casings add one pint of sweet milk to a pan of water. It will remove all dust and leave the wood looking bright and clean.

In attaching the stamp to be enclosed in a letter by means of a wire clip, which is a great improvement over the old method of moistening one corner, turn the face of the stamp toward the paper and there will be no danger of the metal leaving a disfiguring mark.

FUTURIST EFFECT.

An Artistic Gown of the Season.

FROCK OF FLORAL SILK.

A set of eccentric French artists very modern in their works, has been influencing the fashion world this season.

The gown illustrated is made by a great Parisian dressmaker of futurist silk in a new shade of red with yellow and blue floral figures, precise and prim in design.

Proper Airing of Bedrooms. In airing a bedroom first open the windows, top and bottom.

If one side of the bed is near a wall put the end of the pillow where the fastening comes toward the wall. Put the top sheet on wrong side out, with a good margin at the top.

Fads of the Season. A fad of the season is the wearing of gray silk stockings with black pumps. Taupe and smoke gray stockings in fine thread silk weave have even a more airy and diaphanous suggestion than sheer black hose.

Renting a Room For Storage. One woman who found it necessary to do something to add to her little income and who had never been able to afford the furnishing of several rooms on her third floor decided to rent it out for storage purposes to people who wished to store furniture or other belongings when they went away.

Narrow Trains. All trains are very narrow, long or pointed. Because of their narrowness they have a tendency to turn over, so should be fixed their full length with a contrasting color of the material of the gown.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM NEAR-BY TOWNS

LAPEER — Mrs. J. H. Taylor has been elected president of the school board of Lapeer by a unanimous vote.

BAD AXE—The April teachers' examination was the largest ever held in Huron county. Of the 175 applicants, fifteen were granted second grade certificates, and seventy-eight thirds.

KINDE—A 10 per cent dividend for the creditors of J. H. Hall, the Thumb banker who failed over a year ago, was declared by Referee in Bankruptcy Marston Tuesday.

CARO — This village has been troubled more or less in past years with petty thieving and ladies preparing refreshments for company have often been robbed of the eatables before the time came for serving.

DECKERVILLE — Isaac Putham, well known in this place where he has resided for many years, was hit by a Pere Marquette freight train at the 24th street crossing at the Tunnel Depot in Port Huron on Thursday evening of last week and died from his injuries in the city hospital at 8:00 o'clock Friday morning.

BAD AXE—A farm machine went out of Bad Axe on Tuesday afternoon which is well calculated to make faithful old farm horses weep over the vanishing glory of their day and generation.

SEBEWVAING—The village of Sebewaing is at present without a health officer. When President Selee made his annual appointments in April, he reappointed Dr. B. Friedlaender to fill the position, but the doctor would not qualify unless the salary was raised.

CARO—This town has been mightily excited over a rumor to the effect that several men were seen to throw a heavy object into Cass river at the lower bridge, causing all kinds of stories to be circulated.

VASSAR — The Spears home in Arabela, an old landmark, was destroyed by fire and is a total loss. The building was a large two-story upright with wing. The upright was formerly the old "Buckhorn" Inn, and in an early day when the Pine Run and Vassar stage route was the principal line of thoroughfare into Tuscola county, the "Buckhorn" was a well-known hostelry.

The Appeal to Reason Fully Vindicated

The last indictment against the Appeal was dismissed at Fort Scott May 7th, leaving the editors and their lawyer free from prosecution by the government for the first time in six years. The dismissal of the last case occurred on the sixth anniversary of the first indictment of Warren, Harry Bone, the federal prosecutor who so persistently persecuted the Appeal, objected to the setting aside of the indictment of Warren and Phifer, even after Judge Pollock, hearing the arguments in the matter in the demurrer proceedings, had decided for the defendants. He also objected to the dismissal of the indictment against Debs, Warren and Sheppard and it became necessary to wire Assistant Attorney Harr, who served in that capacity under both Roosevelt and Taft. Upon receiving the telegram he—not the democratic attorney general—reluctantly ordered the quashing of the indictment. The cases against the Appeal that have been prosecuted in the federal courts are:

No. 1. Fred D. Warren charged with sending threatening matter through the mail in publishing a reward for the kidnaping of former Governor Taylor of Kentucky, in an effort to call attention to the wrong done Moyer, Haywood and Pettibone in the Colorado war. This dragged for three years, when Warren was finally convicted by a packed jury and sentenced to six months in jail and a $1,500 fine. Before the time came for him to go to jail he was given an unsolicited pardon by President Taft. The pardon was returned, but Warren was not locked up. Neither was the fine paid.

No. 2. J. A. Wayland, Fred D. Warren and C. L. Phifer were indicted for sending alleged obscene matter through the mails in exposing vile conditions in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan. On the strength of the expose the deputy warden of the prison was retired from service and a congressional investigation proved everything the APPEAL had said. This is the case that was heard in demurrer proceedings by Judge Pollock and dismissed by him.

Credit for the victories is due the Appeal Army for its magnificent work of agitation, without which the conspiracy would have succeeded and the Appeal editors would have been railroaded to prison. To Attorney Sheppard is due the credit for handling the legal points in a singularly bold and efficient manner. It is strange that these cases, growing out of the Colorado war on miners, should end just in time to permit the Appeal to turn its full force toward saving the comrades from the conspiracy in West Virginia, if the Army does as magnificently now as it did in the Moyer-Haywood conspiracy another victory is sure.
