CASS CITY TAKES 1400 TO BAD AXE

THAT NUMBER ENJOY HURON
CO. FAIR SEPT. 4.

Three Trains Conveyed the Crowd
That Went by Rail over
D. & H. R. R.

The gathering at the Huron County fair at Bad Axe was greatly augmented on Thursday, Sept. 4, by a crowd of 1,400 people who went from Cass City and the surrounding farming territory.

Local citizens decided to return the compliment extended by the Bad Axe people when they visited the Cass City fair in a crowd numbering over 600 people. Local business houses were closed and every preparation was made to get out a good sized number.

The first train was to leave over the D. & H. R. R. at 9:00 a. m. But six passenger coaches were provided to convey the passengers. Long before the time arrived for the departure of the train, the trainmen realized that the accommodations were insufficient and the coaches being filled, the train departed a half hour before the scheduled time, the conductor announcing that it would return to Cass City for a second load. At 9:00, an engine, caboose and tool car made up an improvised train that took a contingent of boosters who were willing to forego the comforts of the plush cushions. About 11:20 the regular train had returned from Bad Axe and was ready to go back with the second load of passengers. All told, between 1100 and 1200 people went by train over the D. & H. to take in the fair. In addition to this number about 100 went from Cass City by automobile and about the same number by carriages. This would bring the total number of visitors from Cass City and surrounding territory, conservatively estimated, to 1,400.

Cass City had planned a big parade, but owing to the insufficient number of coaches provided by the railroad and the long intervals between the arrivals of the several trains, it was impossible to keep the crowds together and so smaller parades, one from each train marched down the business streets of Bad Axe. The Cass City band accompanied the excursionists and a pretty float decorated in white, drawn by a pony driven by two young ladies, led the procession and attracted the admiration of all.

The excursions from the two towns has created a feeling of friendliness between the citizens of Cass City and Bad Axe and the ties of good fellowship have been thoroughly cemented by the visits. Bad Axe citizens were well pleased with the splendid showing made by their sister town.

THIRD ANNUAL REUNION

Hulburt Family Held Yearly Celebration at Fenton.

Three years ago the first Hulburt family reunion was organized and held at Cass City. On August 28 members of the clan travelled from this point to Fenton, where the annual reunion of 1913 was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hulburt, former residents of Cass City.

The house was prettily decorated, the color scheme being pink and white. Bouquets of asters adorned the tables. At 1:00 p. m. about 25 guests enjoyed a bountiful dinner after which a delightful program was given. The remainder of the day was spent in games and a social time. Guests were present from Cass City, Port Huron, Washington, Romeo, Lapeer and Rochester.

The next reunion will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hulburt at Romeo.

Cass City Cider Mill. will run on Saturday, Sept. 20. Make your arrangements with F. Schaaf or J. A. Caldwell.

NOLAND OUT ON BAIL

Case Will Come Up in Justice Court
Sept. 30.

Harry Noland, arrested August 25 on a charge of stabbing Chas. Connelly, a railroad employe, appeared before Justice Corkins Monday, and owing to the improvement in Connelly's condition, bail was reduced from $5,000 to $2,000. This amount was secured and Noland was released from the county jail. The sureties were Harve Dellinger of Cass City and Henry S. Uhan of Akron. The latter is an uncle of Noland. The case was continued in justice court until Sept. 30.

RARE TALENT FOR LECTURE COURSE

SEASON OPENED OCT. 6 BY BEULAH BUCK QUARTET.

Leland Powers, Interpreter of Drama,
Gives Closing Number on March 5.

Mesdames Dora Fritz, J. D. Brooker, M. M. Wickware and L. I. Wood, members of the lecture course committee of the Woman's Study club, are in charge of the lecture course which will be given at Cass City the coming season.

The club has secured an array of talent which they consider is the best that has ever been presented on any lecture course given in Cass City. Some especially strong numbers appear on the list and the course is the most expensive of any ever engaged by a local management.

The Beulah Buck Quartet will open the season on Oct. 6 with a concert number. Members of the company are Mrs. Beulah Buck, soprano and reader, Miss Marjorie Paddock, soprano, and Misses Teresa Von Nell and Harriett E. Jones, contraltos. Their concerts are so planned as to please all persons having refined musical tastes, whether trained musicians or not, and close with a musical sketch, "The Old Melodeon." This is the strongest and best women's quartet booked by the lyceum bureau.

The second number will be given on Nov. 13 by Mac Innes Neilson. This lecturer and entertainer is a witty Scotchman, a man with a message, and is especially strong with Scotchmen and their descendants. This will be Mr. Neilson's second appearance at Cass City.

The Danish Musical club come one day late for a New Years call. Members of the club are Theodore Peterson, his two daughters, Alvina and Gladys, and Miss Maud Heath. Each one has been before the public from childhood and is a first-class musician. Their entertainment on Jan. 2 promises to be an enjoyable occasion.

Robt. P. Miles, a lecturer of ability, will appear as the fourth number on Jan. 21.

Leland Powers, interpreter of the drama, is an unusually strong feature in any lecture course, no matter what size of city or village where it is given. For the coming season, Mr. Powers has prepared two modern comedies, "The Pigeon," by John Galsworthy, and "The Devil's Disciple" by George Bernard Shaw. He will give either play at a single evening's entertainment. As a preface to the play, Mr. Powers will give a short talk on "What Makes the Modern Play Modern." The number of times Mr. Powers has been re-engaged to appear on many of the important courses in the United States is remarkable. At the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences he has had re-engagements 27 times, at Chautauqua assembly, Chautauqua, N. Y., 33 times, at Oberlin college, Oberlin, O., 20 times, at Hill school, Pottstown, Pa., 30 times, at University of Michigan star course, 18 times, at Williams college, Williamstown, Mass., 12 times. He will close the local course March 5.

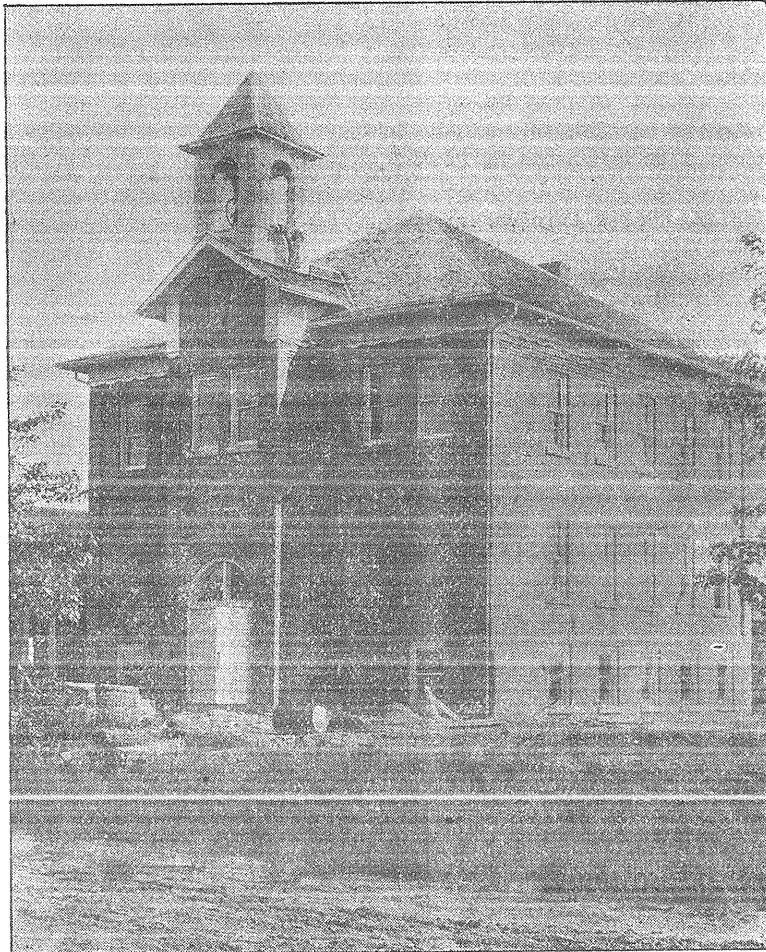

The regular prices will prevail for the course, $1.50 for adult season tickets and $1.00 for school pupils tickets for the season. Reserved seats are extra. Tickets may be purchased from members of the Woman's Study club.

Cass City Cider Mill. will run on Saturday, Sept. 20. Make your arrangements with F. Schaaf or J. A. Caldwell.

DEFORD POINTS WITH PRIDE TO NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

NEW SCHOOL BUILDING AT DEFORD.

Deford citizens point with pride to the new school building which has been erected in their district—No. 4, Novesta township. Workmen completed their jobs in time so that school could be commenced in the new building Monday.

The building is 38 by 44 feet in size, two stories and basement, and built of brick. Saginaw paving brick are used for the outside course and cement sand brick for the inside courses. The school will be heated by steam and will be equipped with single steel seats. The basement is seven feet high, has plenty of light and can be equipped for play rooms or for recitation rooms should additional room be needed in the future. The inside woodwork is in southern pine and finished in the natural color.

The two teachers employed are Miss May Bruce and Miss Joyce Retherford. The school officers are Wm. Parks, director; E. R. Bruce, moderator; Geo. Spencer, assessor. There are 109 pupils in the school district.

GAINS $500 IN 6 MONTHS

Interest on Daily Balances of Tuscola Co. Funds Go Over Estimate.

When H. S. Wickware was elected county treasurer, he wrote to the several members of the board of supervisors suggesting the depositing of the county funds in banks paying the highest rate of interest. While the board did not follow Mr. Wickware's plan in every detail, the members took advantage of his suggestions and entered into an agreement with the State Savings Bank of Cairo whereby the bank furnished bonds for the county treasurer, and agreed to pay interest on county funds at the rate of two per cent on daily balances and to loan any sums the county may require at five per cent per annum.

It was estimated at the time this agreement was made that the county would gain from $400 to $500 annually. This estimate, however, was too low and for the first six months of the new treasurer's term, the amount received for interest on county funds has been over $500. Before Treasurer Wickware's regime, the county did not receive any interest on daily balances and paid six per cent on loans.

DIED SUDDENLY

Son of Rev. and Mrs. B. J. Baxter Died at Lexington.

The following paragraphs regarding the death of Harold J. Baxter, formerly of Cass City, are taken from the Lexington News:

The death of Harold Jacques Baxter, son of Rev. and Mrs. B. J. Baxter, which occurred at Lexington, on Saturday, August 30, 1913, at 8:00 a. m. was a great shock to his relatives and many friends. Though he had been in failing health for some time the end came quite suddenly.

Of more than ordinary ability he would have filled an honorable position in the world had he been blessed with robust health. Cheerful, humorous, generous, wherever he went he made many friends. His habits were always good so that there is nothing in his career to give those who loved him pain in the contemplation.

In the patient bearing of affliction he has been a living lesson to all who have come in contact with him. We shall think of him and the memory of his brief life will be blessing to us. Not in vain has he sojourned among us.

He was born November 26, 1884, in Douglas, Allegan county, Mich.

The funeral service (of a private nature) was held at the rectory of the church of the Good Shepherd on Tuesday at 1:30 p. m., and was conducted by Rev. F. S. DeVona of St. Clair. Interment was in the Lexington cemetery.

A special meeting of the Eastern Star will be held Tuesday evening, Sept. 16. All members are urged to be present.

NEARLY ELECTROCUTED

Was Unconscious for Over Two Hours. Is Fully Recovered.

From Imlay City Times.

Rev. S. M. Gilchrist accidentally was shocked by the village electric lighting current last Tuesday evening and for several hours his condition was serious. He had been attending a meeting held in the M. E. church and at the close of the meeting remained to turn off the lights. He accidentally touched an uncovered wire and was thrown to the floor. His outcry as he fell attracted the attention of passers-by and a doctor was called at once and Mr. Gilchrist was taken to his home. He was unconscious for over two hours but has since fully recovered and feels no bad effects resulting from his unpleasant experience.

SPECIAL ELECTION ON SEPT. 22

COUNCIL SET DATE AT MEETING MONDAY.

Village Treasurer Instructed to Place Village Funds at Interest to Best Advantage.

As announced in the Chronicle last week, a few technical errors in the preliminaries relating to the special election held recently to vote on the bonding issue for the improvement of the municipal electric light and water plant make it necessary to hold another election. The council at a meeting held Monday evening voted to hold this election on Monday, Sept. 22. As the issue was carried July 21 by a vote of 167 to 54, it is expected that the election on Sept. 22 will simply be a ratification of the will of the majority as expressed at the previous election.

The council instructed the treasurer to place the village funds in the bank so that they would draw interest at the rate of 3 per cent on daily balances. If this arrangement could not be made, then place all village funds except $1,000 in certificates of deposit of $500 each drawing the usual interest when so placed.

CRAMPTON MAKING GOOD

Michigan Member of Committee Praised by Joe Chappell.

Representative Louis C. Crampton, from this district, who was elected Michigan's member of the congressional committee, as one of the junior members from this state, is making good in congress. Joe Chappell, editor of the National magazine, has the following to say:

"The new congressman from the Seventh District of Michigan is Louis C. Crampton, and here again another newspaperman is coming to the front. Mr. Crampton is a Republican—one of the progressive kind. For three terms he was law clerk of the Michigan State Senate, later Deputy Commissioner of Railroads, and a member of the Michigan House of Representatives in 1909, but his chief distinction is that he is editor of the "Lapeer County Clarion," a newspaper that with clarion directness rings out the convictions of the editor. He knows how to handle a blue pencil on yellow paper, and is one of the promising men in the minority party."

M. E. CHURCH NOTES.

FORMER PUBLISHER VISITING HERE

A. A. P. McDOWELL, FROM ALBERTA, WRITES FOR READERS.

Is Much Pleased to Notice the Healthy Development About Cass City.

By A. A. P. McDowell.

Having just arrived in your pleasant little town, after an absence of over seven years, and having spent that time in the Province of Alberta, some comment on conditions here and there, as they have impressed themselves upon my mind, may be of interest to some of your readers. While privileged to engage in the work of a publisher at Cass City, we were thoroughly convinced and tried to convince others that this part of Michigan was in line with the best agricultural sections and the changes now noted after so long an absence are proof that we were correct in such conclusion. It is pleasing to be informed that as a class the farmers here are contented and prosperous, that the values of farm lands are holding steady, with a tendency to raise and that the tendency on the part of the rising generation to seek "greener fields" is not as noticeable now as it was a few years ago. All this is well and speak well of the commercial and industrial development of the community and district. It is to be hoped that the intellectual, moral and spiritual development has kept pace with the former.

Alberta being one of the newest provinces in the Dominion of Canada, has profited largely and practically by the experiences of the older provinces as well as the States of the Union. Many of the settlers in Alberta are from Uncle Sam's domains and their observations and knowledge of the laws and their working on the American side have had their effect in the formation of the laws for the young province. While the legislators have not lacked in strength of personality, they have shown a willingness to learn and be guided by the opinions of their constituents. The entire province, to all intents and purposes is under the single or land tax system, with slight modifications according to local conditions and necessity. Through new acts passed and becoming effective last year, the rural districts may now organize and proceed with development, such as the building of roads and bridges, in much the same way as is done in the counties here, and may still be assisted largely by the provincial government, where such seems necessary. These municipalities are about 18 miles square and the controlling council consists of six members, one of whom is chosen reeve. A minister of municipalities, who is a member of the Legislative Cabinet, has

Stockwell's Ghost Story.

Stockwell was at one time famous for its ghost, which set all London in an uproar in 1772. Making the furniture dance and the crockery fall was the ghost's specialty, though by way of variety an egg once flew across the room and hit the cat. Having excited London and frightened Stockwell, the ghost retired, leaving behind a firm belief in his supernatural origin, until many years later a servant admitted that long horsehairs attached to the crockery and wires to the furniture had enabled her to play the ghost so successfully that frightened beholders never even detected such open feats as throwing the egg at the cat.—London Answers.

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15th, and used the doctor's medicine and other medicines with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Aunt Lucy Cake.

Two cups brown sugar, 2 eggs, 1 cup shortening, 1 cup sour milk, 1 heaping teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon each of cinnamon, cloves and nutmeg, 1 cup chopped raisins, 3 tablespoons molasses, and flour to make quite stiff; bake in a loaf.—Mrs. J. W. Ball.

Rhubarb Conserve.

Four pounds rhubarb, 2 oranges, 3 pounds sugar, 1-3 pound nut meats, juice of 3 lemons. Cut rhubarb and orange pulp into small pieces, add lemon juice, sugar and orange peel, chopped fine, and let stand over night. Cook slowly for 2 hours and add nut meats about 15 minutes before removing from stove.—Mrs. C. W. Clark, Caro.

Wellesley Cake.

One cup butter, 2 cups granulated sugar, 1 cup milk, 1 cup cornstarch, 2 cups flour, 2 level teaspoons baking powder, 5 egg whites. Cream the butter, add sugar gradually and sift together thoroughly, the flour, cornstarch and baking powder and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture; beat the egg whites until stiff and add and beat vigorously. To one-third of the mixture add 1½ squares of melted chocolate and ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Cover the bottom of the pan with the white mixture, add the chocolate mixture and the remainder of the white mixture by the tablespoonful so that the cake may have a marbled appearance.—Miss Grace Meiser.

Mothers! Have Your Children Worms

Are they feverish, restless, nervous, irritable, dizzy or constipated? Do they continually pick their nose or grind their teeth? Have they cramping pains, irregular and ravenous appetite? These are all signs of worms. Worms not only cause your child suffering, but stunt his mind and growth. Give "Kickapoo Worm Killer" at once. It kills and removes the worms, improves your child's appetite, regulates stomach, liver and bowels. The symptoms disappear and your child is made happy and healthy, as nature intended. # "It's The BEST POLISH I Ever Used"

That's What Every One Says Who Tries

Black Silk Stove Polish

DON'T imagine for a moment that all brands of stove polish are the same. Don't get the idea that to keep a nice glossy shine on your stove you must black it every few days. It's not a question of oft-repeated application. It's a question of the stove polish to use.

Black Silk Stove Polish is so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison—it's in a class all by itself. It makes a brilliant glossy shine that don't rub or dust off. It anneals to the iron—becomes a part of the stove. It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine.

Get a can and give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove, or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Black Silk Stove Polish has been made by the same formula and sold under one name for 30 years.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:

"I sent to you for a can of Black Silk Stove Polish and found it so much better than any I had ever used that I asked my hardware dealer to order a supply. He did so, and is now selling nearly everyone in the place your polish. I had no idea there could be such a difference in stove polishes."

"I was visiting friends and they used Black Silk Stove Polish on their stoves. It made the best shine I ever saw, and after blacking, the polish did not rub or dust off. It is way ahead of any polish I have ever used."

Ask Your Dealer for Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeit brand. Costs you no more than the ordinary kind, so why not have the best. Made in liquid or paste—one quality.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works, Sterling, Ill.

Use Black Silk Air-Drying Iron Enamel for grates, fenders, registers, stove pipes, etc. Prevents rusting. Not affected by heat or cold. Produces a permanent glossy black surface. Can, with brush for applying enamel, only 25 cents. Ask your dealer.

Use Black Silk Metal Polish for nickel, brass, silverware or tinware. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

Once Upon a Time

ONCE there was really no way out of it for the farmer. Plodding home from the field with his team at close of day, he saw before him the waiting small jobs about the house, barn, and yard, jobs that took time and labor, and never seemed to end. There was water to be pumped, wood to be sawed, various machines to be run by hand. It was a dreary prospect—but that was once upon a time. Today he lets the engine do it.

Buy from the IHC engine line. IHC engines are built right and consistently all through, to work efficiently for years. Whether you want it for sawing, pumping, spraying, electric light plant, for running separator, or repair shop, or for all sorts of tiresome energy-wasting small farm jobs, you have need of an

IHC Oil and Gas Engine

An IHC engine will develop from ten to thirty per cent more than its rated capacity. Perfect combustion makes it economical in fuel consumption. Its simplicity makes it practically trouble-proof.

IHC engines are built in vertical, horizontal, stationary, portable, skidded, air-cooled and water-cooled styles. The line includes sawing, pumping and spraying outfits. Sizes from 1 to 50-horse power. They operate on gas, gasoline, kerosene, naphtha, distillate and alcohol. IHC oil tractors range in size from 6-12 to 30-60-horse power, for plowing, threshing, etc.

Have the IHC local dealer demonstrate the engine to you and explain its various points. Get catalogues from him, or write the

MRS. CHAS. WARN.

After months of suffering, Mrs. Chas. Warn passed away at the age of 48 years. She is survived by her husband, her son, Chas., and daughter, Mrs. Frank Meredith. Funeral services were held at the residence on Houghton St. west Aug. 30 conducted by Rev. G. A. Fee and interment was made in Novesta cemetery.

IMPROVING PLANTS.

Samuel Champion has just completed a handsome set of metal bill boards for his Bad Axe plant. These boards, Mr. Champion says, will stand the rigid inspection and passing mark of the National Bill Posters association and will give Bad Axe a double A rating, or the highest known to the business.

Besides the above, Mr. Champion operates posting plants in Cass City, Mayville, Pigeon, Sebawaing and Gagetown. With the exception of the two last named, all are standard boards known as Class A among the profession.

Costly Treatment.

"I was troubled with constipation and indigestion and spent hundreds of dollars for medicine and treatment," writes C. H. Hines, of Whitlow, Ark. I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

REX BEACH ADVENTURE STORIES

The Colonel and the Horse Thief

By REX BEACH

Copyright by McClure, Phillips & Co.

THOSE marks on my arm? Oh, I got 'em playing horse thief! Yes, playing. I wasn't a real one, you know. Well, I s'pose it was sort of a queer game. Came near being my last, too, and if Black Hawk hadn't been the best horse in Texas the old colonel would 've killed me sure. He chased me six miles as it was—me with one arm full of his buckshot and anxious to explain and him straining to get in range again and not wishing any further particulars.

That was way back in the sixties, when I was as wild a lad as ever straddled a pony.

You see, five of us had gone over into the Crow Nation to race horses with the Indians, and it was on the way back that the old man and the bullet holes figger in the story.

At the beginning it was Jim Barrett's plan, and it had just enough risk and devilment in it to suit a harum scarum young feller like me. So we got five of the boys who had good horses, lumped together all of our money and rode out to invade the reservation.

You know how an Indian loves to run horses? Well, the Crows had a good deal of money then, and our scheme was to go over there, get up a big race, back our horses with all we had and take down the wealth.

Taking chances? Don't you believe it. That's where the beauty of Jim's plan commenced to sort of shine through.

You see, as soon as the money was up and the horses started every Indian would be watching the race and yelling at the nags; then in the confusion our boys was to grab the whole pot, Indian's money and ours, too, and we'd make our getaway across the river back into Texas.

We figured that we could get a few minutes' start of 'em, and, with the horses we had under us, there wasn't much danger of their getting in range before we crossed back to where they couldn't follow us.

Well, sir, I never see anything work out like that scheme did. Then Crows was dead anxious to run their ponies and seemed skeered that we wouldn't let 'em get all their money up.

As we was eating supper the night before the race Donnelly says: "Boys, I'm sore that we didn't have more coin. If we'd worked 'em right they'd 'a' give us odds. We could 'a' got 5 to 3 anyhow and maybe more."

"They shore have got a heap of confidence in their skates of their'n," says "Kink" Martin. "I never see anybody so anxious to play a race in my life. If it wasn't all planned out the way it is I'd like to stick and see which hoss is the best. I'd back Black Hawk agin any bunk of meat in the territory with the kid here in the saddle."

They'd ribbed it up for me to ride Martin's mare, Black Hawk, while a little feller named Hollis rode his own horse.

Donnelly's part was to stay in the saddle and keep the other horses close to Barrett and Martin. They was to stick next to the money and one of 'em do the bearin' off of the booty while the other made the protection play.

We hoped in the excitement to get off without harming any of Uncle Sam's pets, but all three of the boys had been with the rangers, and I knew if it came to a showdown they wouldn't hesitate to "pot" one or two in getting away.

We rode out from camp the next morning to where we'd staked out a mile track on the prairie, and it seemed as if the whole Crow Nation was there and nary a white but we live.

They'd entered two pretty good looking horses and had their jockeys stripped down to breechclouts, while Hollis and me wore our whole outfits on our backs, as we didn't exactly figger on dressing after the race—leastways, not on that side of the river.

Just before we lined up Jim says: "Now, you—all ride like—and when you git to the far turn we'll let the guns loose and stampe the crowd. Then jest leave the track and make a break fer the river, everybody fer himself. We'll all meet at them cottonwoods on the other side, so we can stand 'em off if they try to swim across after us."

That would have been a sure enough hot race if we had run it out, for we all four got as pretty a start as I ever see and went down the line all together with a banging of hoofs and Indian yells ringing in our ears.

I had begun to work Black Hawk out of the bunch to get a clear start across the prairie at the turn when I heard the guns begin snapping like popcorn.

"They've started a'ready!" yelled Hollis, and we turned the rearing horses toward the river, three miles away, leaving them two savages tearing down the track like mad.

I glanced back as I turned, but instead of seeing the boys in the midst of a decent retreat the crowd was swarming after 'em like a nest of angry hornets, while Donnelly, with his reins between his teeth, was blazing away at three reds who were right at Barrett's heels as he ran for his horse. Martin was lashing his jumping cayuse away from the mob, which sputtered and spit angry shots after him. Bucks were running here and there and hastily mounting their ponies, while an angry roar came to me, punctuated by the popping of the guns.

Hollis and I reached the river and swam it half a mile ahead of the others and their yelling bunch of trailers, so we were able to protect 'em in their crossing.

I could see from their actions that Bennett and Martin was both hurt, and I judged the deal hadn't panned out exactly according to specifications.

The Crows didn't attempt to cross in the teeth of our fire, however, being satisfied with what they'd done, and the horses safely brought our three comrades dripping up the bank to where we lay taking pot shots at every bunch of feathers that approached the opposite bank.

We got Barrett's arm into a sling, and as Martin's hurt wasn't serious we lost no time in getting away.

"They simply beat us to it," complained Barrett as we rode south. "You all had jest started when young Long Hair grabs the sack and ducks through the crowd, and the whole bunch turns loose on us at once. We wasn't expecting anything so early in the game, and they winged me the first clatter. I thought sure it was off with me when I got this bullet in the shoulder, but I used the gun in my left hand and broke for the nearest pony."

"They got me, too, before I saw what was up," added Martin, "but I tore out of there like a jack rabbit. It was all done so cussed quick that the first thing I knew I'd straddled my horse and was making tracks. Who'd 'a' thought them durned Indians was dishonest enough fer a trick like that?"

Then Donnelly spoke up and says: "Boys, as far as the coin goes we're out and injured. We jest made a 'Mexican stand off'—lost our money, but saved our lives—and mighty lucky at that from appearances. What I want to know now is how we're all going to get home, clean across the state of Texas, without a dollar in the outfit and no assets but our guns and the nags."

That was a sure tough proposition, and we had left it teetotally out of calculations. Ave'd bet every bean on that race, not seeing how we could lose. In them days there wasn't a railroad in that section, ranches were scattering, and people weren't giving pink teas to every stranger that rode up, especially when they were as hard looking as we were.

"We've got to eat, and so's the horses," says Hollis, "but no rancher is going to welcome with open arms as disreputable an outfit as we are—two men shot up and the rest of us without bedding, grub, money or explanations. Them's what we need—explanations. I don't exactly see how we're going to explain our fix to the honest hay diggers either. Everybody 'll think some sheriff is after us, and two to one they'll put some officer on our trail, and we'll have more trouble. I believe I've had all I want for awhile."

"I'll tell you how we'll work it," I says. "One of us 'll be the sheriff of Guadalupe county, back home, with three deputies, bringing back a prisoner that we've chased across the state. We'll ride up to a ranch and demand lodging for ourselves and prisoner in the name of the state of Texas and say that we'll pay with vouchers on the county in the morning."

"No, sir; not fer me!" says Martin. "I'm not going in fer forgery. It's all right to practice a little mild deception on our red brothers, as we figgered on doing, but I'm not going to try to flumm the state of Texas. Our troubles would only be starting if we began that game."

"Your plan's all right, Kid," says Bennett to me. "You be the terrible desperado that I'm bringing home after a bloody fight where you wounded Martin and me and 'most escaped. You'll have every rancher's wife giving you flowers and weeping over your youth and kissing you goodby. In the morning, when we're ready to go and I'm about to fix up the vouchers for our host, you break away and ride like the devil. We'll all tear off a few shots and feller in a hurry, leaving the farmer hoping that the villain is recaptured and the girls tearfully praying that the gallant and misguided youth escapes."

It seemed to be about our only resort, as the country was full of bad men, and we were liable to get turned down cold if we didn't have some story, so we decided to try it on.

We rode up to a ranch 'bout dark that night, me between the others, with my hands tied behind me, and Jim called the owner out.

"I want a night's lodging fer my deputies and our prisoner," he says. "I'm the sheriff of Guadalupe county, and I'll fix up the bill in the morning."

"Come in! Come in!" the feller says, calling a man for the horses. "Glad to accommodate you. Who's your prisoner?"

"That's Texas Charlie that robbed the Bank of Euclid single handed," answers Jim. "He give us a long run clean across the state, but we got him jest as he was getting over into the Indian Territory. Fought like a tiger."

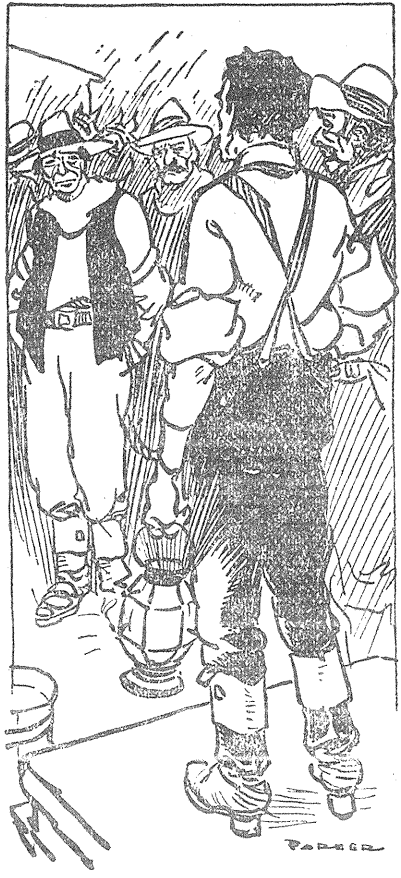

It worked fine. The feller, whose name was Morgan, give us a good lay-out for the night and a bully breakfast next morning.

That desperado game was simply great. The other fellers attended to the horses, and I jest sat around looking vicious and had my grub brought to me, while the women acted sorrowful and fed me pie and watermelon pickles.

When we was ready to leave next morning Jim says, "Now, Mr. Morgan, I'll fix up them vouchers with you," and, giving me the wink, I let out a yell, and, jabbing the spurs into Black Hawk, we cleared the fence and was off like a puff of dust, with the rest of 'em shooting and screaming after me like mad.

Say, it was lovely, and when the boys overtook me, out of sight of the house, Morgan would have been astonished to see the sheriff, his posse and the terrible desperado doubled up in their saddles laughing fit to bust.

"That's Texas Charlie that robbed the Bank of Euclid."

Well, sir, we never had a hitch in the proceedings for five days, and I was getting to feel a sort of pride in my record as a bank robber, forger, horse thief and murderer, according to the way Bennett presented it. He certainly was the boss liar of the range.

He had a story framed up that painted me as the bloodiest young tough the Lone Star had ever produced, and it never failed to get me all the attention there was in the house.

One night we came to the best looking place we'd seen, and in answer to Jim's summons out walked an old man, followed by two of the prettiest girls I ever saw, who joined their father in inviting us in.

"Glad to be of assistance to you, Mr. Sheriff," he said. "My name is Purdy, sir—Colonel Purdy, as you may have heard; in the Mexican war special mention three times for distinguished conduct. These are my daughters, sir—Annabel and Marie." As we went in he continued: "You say you had a hard time getting your prisoner? He looks young for a criminal. What's he wanted for?"

Somehow when I saw those girls blushing and bowing behind their father I didn't care to have my crimes made out any blacker'n necessary, and I tried to give Jim the high sign to let me off easy—just make it forgery or arson—but he was looking at the ladies, and, evidently believing in the strength of a good impression, he said: "Well, yes; he's young, but they never was a old man with half his crimes. He's wanted for a good many things in different places, but I went after him for horse stealing and murder. Killed a rancher and his little daughter, then set fire to the house and ran off a bunch of stock."

"Oh, oh! How dreadful!" shuddered the girls, backing off, with horrified glances at me.

I tried to get near Jim to step on his foot, but the old man was glaring at me something awful.

"Come to observe him closely, he has a depraved face," says he. "He looks the thorough criminal in every feature; dead to every decent impulse, I s'pose."

In those days I was considered a pretty handsome feller, too, and I knew I had Jim beat before the draw on looks, but he continues making matters worse.

"Yes, and he's desperate, too—one of the worst I ever see. We had an awful fight with him up here on the line of the territory. He shot Martin and me before we got him. You see, I wanted to take him alive, and so I took chances on getting hurt."

"Thank you, miss; my arm does ache considerable. Of course if you'd jest as soon dress it—Oh, no; I'm no braver'n anybody else, I guess! Nice of you to say so, anyhow." And he went grinning out into the kitchen with the girls to fix up his arm.

The old man insisted on having my feet bound together and me fastened to a chair and said: "Yes, yes, I know you can watch him, but you're in my house now, and I feel a share of the responsibility upon me. I've had experience with desperate characters, and I'm going to be sure that this young reprobate don't escape his just punishment. Are you sure you don't need more help getting him home? I'll go with you if—"

"Thank you," interrupted Hollis. "We've chased the scoundrel 400 miles, and I reckon now we've got him, we can keep him."

At supper Jim, with his arm in a new sling, sat between the two girls, who cooed over him and took turns feeding him till it made me sick.

The old man had a nigger move my chair up to the foot of the table and bring me a plate of coarse grub after they all finished eating.

He had tied my ankles to the lower rung of the chair himself, and when I says to the nigger, "Those cords have plum stopped my circulation; just ease 'em up a little," he went straight up. "Don't you touch them knots, Sam!" he roared. "I know how to secure a man, and don't you try any of your games in my house either, you young fiend. I'd never forgive myself if you escaped."

I ate everything I could reach, which wasn't much, and when I asked for the butter he glared at me and said: "Butter's too good for horse thieves. Eat what's before you."

Every time I'd catch the eye of one of the girls and kind of grin and look enticing she'd shiver and tell Jim that the marks of my depravity stood out on my face like warts on a toad.

Jim and the boys would all grin like idiots and invent a new crime for me. They put it to the old man so strong that when he turned in he chained me to Sam, the cross eyed nigger that stood behind me at supper, and made us sleep on the floor.

I told Sam that I cut a man's throat once because he snored, and that nigger never closed an eye all night. I was trying to get even with somebody.

After breakfast, when it came time to leave, Donnelly untied my feet and led me out into the yard, where the girls were hanging around the colonel and Jim, who was preparing to settle up.

As we rode up the evening before I had noticed that we turned in from the road through a lane and that the fence was too high to jump, so when I threw my leg over Black Hawk I hit Donnelly a swat in the neck, and as he did a stage fall I swept through the gate and down the lane.

The old man cut the halter off one of his Mexican warwhoppers and broke through the house on the run, appearing at the front door with his shotgun just as I checked up to make the turn on to the main road.

As I swung around, doubled over the horse's neck, he let drive with his old blunderbuss, and I caught two buckshot in my right arm where you see them marks.

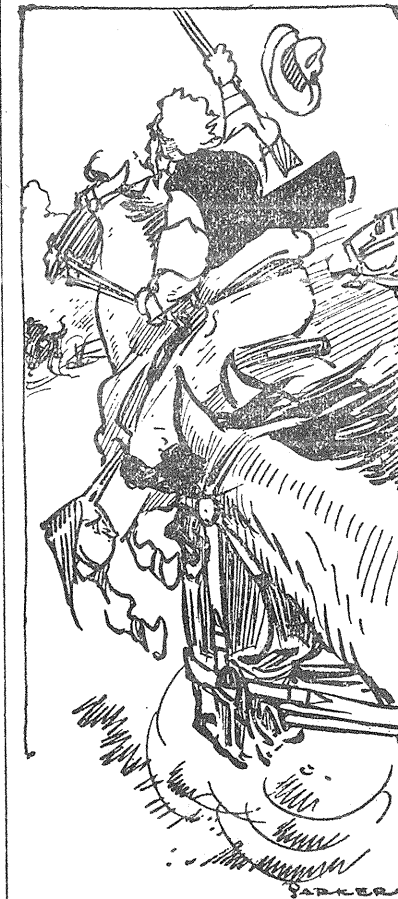

I had sense enough to hang on and ride for my life, because I knew the old fire eater would reckon it a pleasure to put an end to such a wretch as me if he got half a chance.

I heard him howl: "Come on, boys! We'll get him yet!" And over my shoulder I saw him jump one of his loose horses standing in the yard and come tearing down the lane, ahead of the befuddled sheriff and posse, his white hair streaming and the shotgun waving aloft as though charging an army of greasers at the head of his regiment.

From the way he drew away from the boys I wouldn't have placed any money that he was wrong, either.

I've always wondered how the old man ever got through that war with only three recommendations to the government.

He certainly kept good horses, too, for in five minutes we'd left the posse

"Come on, boys! We'll get him yet!" behind, and I saw him madly urging his horse into range, reloading as he came.

As I threw the quilt into the mare with my good arm I allowed I'd had about all the horse stealing I wanted for awhile.

The old devil finally saw he was losing ground in spite of his best efforts and let me have both barrels. I heard the shot patter on the hard road behind me and hoped he'd quit and go home, but I'm blamed if he didn't chase me five miles further before turning back in hopes I'd cast a shoe or something would happen to me.

I believe I was on the only horse in Texas that could have outrun the colonel and his that morning.

About noon I stopped at a blacksmith's shop, half dead with pain, and had my arm dressed and a big joint of whisky.

As the nosse rode up to me, sitting in the sun by the lathered flanks of my horse and nursing my arm, Jim yells out: "Here he is! Surround him, boys! You're our prisoner!"

"No; I'm blamed if I am!" I says. "You'll have to get another desperado. After this I'm the sheriff!"

HOW TO MAKE FRUIT COCKTAILS FOR SUMMER

Almost any fruit may be served as a "cocktail," the same sirup answering for all. Boil a cupful of sugar in a little water to the thread and set aside to cool, but do not stir, or it will sugar; seed and halve white grapes, mix them with orange pulp or pineapple grated, sugar and chill, then pour over some of the sirup after half filling cocktail cups and put two or three maraschino cherries in each.

Sherry wine is a fine addition to any fruit cocktail, and apples, grapefruit and oranges may be used. Apples cannot be prepared long before using, as they turn dark, but oranges may be pared, every particle of the inner skin removed, leaving only the pulp. Break this into bits, sugar and chill, then add grapes or any other fruits liked.

Pineapple is one of the best fruits for the purpose, as its flavor always adds to the delicacy of taste, and, unlike most fruits, the canned is very nice.

SUMMER MISHAPS.

How to Relieve Stings and Sprains Which Come With Outing Days.

Insect stings are among the most uncomfortable of the minor mishaps which befall the seeker for summer pleasure. Even mosquito bites sometime prove really bothersome. If they are treated with applications of ammonia before they are scratched much of the unpleasant sting and burning will leave them. If they have been scratched so that the skin is broken the ammonia will burn perhaps more severely than the bite does. Salt and water is another good remedy for mosquito bites.

Stings and bites of other insects are even more uncomfortable to bear than those of mosquitoes, but those of the insects in temperate climates are seldom dangerous, and unless they are in the throat or mouth they do not need the attention of a physician. If, however, a bee has concealed himself in a peach or other fruit and with a bite of the fruit reaches the throat, there to stop and apply his sting, it is well to call a physician. Such a sting sometimes produces painful and troublesome swelling. Gargle with water and salt or boracic acid until the physician comes.

The treatment of bee and wasp stings is similar. The bee leaves his sting in the skin; the wasp takes it with him. So the first thing to do to counteract a bee sting is to press out the sting with a watchkey, if this is possible. Salt, soda, ammonia or any other alkali should be sopped on the stung surface frequently until the stinging sensation has stopped. The old method of applying wet earth to a bee sting surely does bring relief to the sufferer, and if nothing else is at hand mud should be applied. But considering the uses to which soda or borax can be put on a summer's day a little of it might be carried on every tramping or touring trip. It is useful to dissolve in water and apply to sunburned skin, to use for stings, to use as an antiseptic wash for bruises and cuts, and, moreover, it helps soothe the skin irritated by poison ivy.

How to Go to Sleep.

A man should make his toilet as carefully for going to bed as for the business of the day.

Certain physical things are conducive to sleep, such as plenty of sweet, outdoor air, the absence of noises, of lights and of bad odors and, above all, a feeling of tiredness.

There are also certain mental and spiritual preparations. To be intensely interested in anything is fatal to sleep; so also are the memory of a rankling failure, plan making, problem solving, apprehension, shame and remorse.

The soul must take off its interestness as the body must remove its vestments.

Passions of any kind, craving and all beats are against sleep.

One is very fortunate who has a habit of prayer, for there is nothing can still the soul like purging the conscience before God, and cares, pricking annoyances, dreads and all mental tensions can be remedied in no way more satisfactorily than by letting the consciousness of God wash the soul.

A sense of friendliness and peace toward the infinite is the surest medicine for sleep.

How to Use Old Raincoat.

There are many occasions when at play children need rubber aprons. Make these from your discarded raincoats. Cut them out in the form of a rectangle. Round the corners hollow out the neck, bind the edge and attach strings to the neck and waist. They can be easily adapted to children of different sizes.

Soap bubbles can be blown, flowers sprinkled and boats sailed in a tub without fear of the children getting wet.

How to Wash Ecu Lac.

To keep the color of ecru lace when washing it add a little yellow ochre oil paint to the starch. Mix a small amount of the ochre with boiling water and add it to the starch or to the last rinsing water if starch is not used. Ochre may be bought at any paint store.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Good Reason for His Enthusiasm.
When a man has suffered for several days with colic, diarrhoea or other form of bowel complaint and is then cured sound and well by one or two doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, as is often the case, it is but natural that he should be enthusiastic in his praise of the remedy, and especially is this the case of a severe attack when life is threatened. Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Coleman of Deford were most pleasantly surprised Aug. 31 when the honk of automobiles made them look out and one car after another rolled into their driveway until there were five. Each one was filled with friends and neighbors from their former home at Crosswell. After hearty greetings some of the gentlemen of the party thought the long drive made them feel as if it were dinner time and straightway searched the cars. The baskets and boxes they brought forth were indeed surprising. Very soon some of the worthy dames had a most delicious lunch spread on the lawn. The hostess being informed that she had nothing to do, she willingly resigned. About 40 in all enjoyed dinner in the cool shade of the poplars. After dinner some one snapped the crowd presumably thinking the outer man would appear at his best after such a filling of the inner man. The host and hostess and family were snapped as a souvenir. After an all too short but very pleasant visit, the party left for their respective homes, each one saying they were glad to see their old neighbors so pleasantly located. The only fault was "it is too far away." "Wish we could transplant this place down home," was the expression of all. Mr. and Mrs. Coleman came to Deford a little over a year ago and are well pleased with their new home and trust that the friendships they are forming may be as lasting and prove as precious as are their old ones.

IS IT YOUR KIDNEYS?

Don't Mistake the Cause of Your Troubles. A Cass City Citizen Gives a Valuable Hint.

Many people never suspect their kidneys. If suffering from a lame, weak or aching back they think that it is only a muscular weakness; when urinary trouble sets in they think it will soon correct itself. And so it is with all the other symptoms of kidney disorders. That is where danger often lies. You should realize that these troubles often lead to dropsy or Bright's disease. An effective remedy for weak or diseased kidneys is Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the experience of a resident of Cass City who has tested Doan's.

Mrs. Bert Gowen, Pine & West Sts., Cass City, Mich., says: "I can speak a good word for Doan's Kidney Pills as they have done good work in my home. Anyone suffering from pain in the back and other symptoms of disordered kidneys will make no mistake in giving Doan's Kidney Pills a trial."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other. 37.—Adv.

Can't Stand the Pressure.

No use sitting around thinking about it. Your old corn cribs simply won't stand the pressure any longer. You've put it off too long already. A new crib you must have, and you might as well make up your mind right now that you've got to build—and that mighty soon.

WE CALL YOUR ATTENTION TO CRIBS THIS WEEK because we have a particularly fine stock of bone-dry cribbing material, on which are attractive prices.

AMERICA'S GREATEST PACERS AND TROTTERS WILL COMPETE FOR RICH PURSES AT THE MICHIGAN STATE FAIR, SEPT. 15-20.

Horse Department

By N. P. HULL,
Vice President of the Michigan State Fair and Superintendent of the Horse Department.

N. P. HULL.

ESTIMATES place the value of Michigan's farm horses alone at $80,000,000. In this the horses in the cities are not taken into consideration. Then they say that the death-knell of the horse was sounded with the coming of the steel steeds, the autos. What the State Fair is endeavoring to do is to encourage the breeding of those types which give the greatest service on the farm. We are making every effort to secure the most attractive exhibit of heavy horses the Fair has ever known this year.

There has been a steady increase in this class the last ten years, and there is every indication that the 1913 roster will show a healthy previous year.

There will be unusual features in this year's horse department to attract the attention of western breeders. Liberal prizes under distinct classifications are offered for some of the following well known and approved types: Percheron, Clydesdale, Shire, Belgian, French and German coach.

Special prizes are also offered for stallions, "bred, owned, in service and registered in Michigan." In addition to the many handsome awards presented to successful competitors by the Fair, there will be several valuable medals and cups given by the horse breeding associations.

America should be proud of its superior bred horses, and nowhere in these United States are there better grade animals than in Michigan. The recent sweeping victory of the American polo team was due more to the superior mounts possessed by the Yankees than to their superiority of play.

The English came here supposedly with the mounts valued at $100,000, and yet the American ponies were far tougher and more agile and intelligent than the animals from over the seas. This is but one instance where American bred horses have proved their right to be classed as the best in the world.

"BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER"

Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anaemia, is common in young folks as well as old. Especially is it the case with those who work in filthy ventilated factories—or those who are shut up indoors in winter time with a coal stove burning up the oxygen or emitting carbonic (oxide) gas. This blood, or blood which lacks the red blood corpuscles, in anaemic people may have been caused by lack of good fresh air breathed into lungs, or by poor digestion or dyspepsia. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart which is not heart disease at all, but caused by indigestion. Whatever the cause, there's just one remedy that you can turn to—knowing that it has given satisfaction for over 40 years.

the supervision of all affairs pertaining to these rural municipalities. Land owners are allowed to work out their taxes on the highways, but there is a strong tendency to change this so that all taxes must be paid in cash and road work done by contract, with a provincial road commissioner to prepare specifications and accept the work, after inspection, much after the plan of the state supervision of roads here.

The Department of Agriculture is doing much to encourage the farmers. During the last year six demonstration farms have been established in different portions of the province and in connection with these agricultural schools are being started, three of them to open next month. Not only is much attention being paid towards assisting the farmers to get the largest return from the fields, from their beef and dairy herds, the rearing of good horses, sheep, swine and poultry, but the boys and girls, which are the hope of every nation, are being looked after as well. The educational system is one of the best in the world and new school districts are being organized so rapidly that the Department of Education is unable to keep up with the work. The youth is also being protected morally by the passing and enforcing of laws regulating the operation of pool rooms, which have become very common even in the small towns and villages. Local option is in force in one or two small districts only, as, under existing laws, it is only possible to vote on local option in an entire license district and some of these districts are very large. It was intended to vote on this question last year in two of the largest districts, covering nearly half of the province, but, through a technicality, the organized liquor party succeeded in deferring the vote indefinitely. Three commissioners now control the licenses of the provinces. They have license inspectors under their direction and those who violate the law are being summarily dealt with.

The government, some years ago, bought out the Bell Telephone Company and have since extended the system not only to many of the smaller towns, but into the rural districts, so that the system is one of the most complete to be found anywhere and the prices or rentals are very reasonable, the farmer being able to get his telephone for $15 a year.

These are only a few of the points which, possibly, your other correspondents have not touched upon, and may be of general interest. It is not our wish to say anything by way of comparison that would make any of your people discontented or give them a desire "to flit." If, however, there should be any of your readers who desire further information, more directly concerning the farming pursuits, prices of land and other conditions, it will be a pleasure to give them the benefit of our observation during a seven years' residence there, and will be quite willing to leave the correctness of our statements to be backed up by our reputation for veracity already established in and about Cass City.

SCHOOL NOTES.

The seniors held a class meeting last week and elected the following officers: President, Norman McGillivray; vice-president, Wm. Blen; secretaries, Laura Striffler.

Ye Freshmen! Privileged Freshmen! Surely ye are the fortunate few for a vision has already appeared to you in which, as you declare, a man's foot was seen protruding through the ceiling of the English recitation room. Of course, the upper classmen are inclined to doubt some of your statements, but never mind, ye saw it and ye know.

All the girls of the high school met Monday for the purpose of reorganizing the Girls' Athletic association and elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Edna Colwell; vice president, Mae Benkelman; secretaries, Ora Stockmeyer.

Miss F. declares that a certain string is straight—but she stretched it.

The seniors have gotten busy again and made arrangements for a corn roast at the fair grounds Wednesday evening—that is, if it doesn't rain!

The A. B. C.'s are enjoying back seats this year, whereas the X. Y. Z.'s have had them before.

Committees have been appointed from each of the four upper grades to see that all the girls of the different classes attend basket ball practice as soon as the association can begin work. Good interest has already been manifested and the fine material presented by the freshmen makes the outlook encouraging.

E. S., (thinking about what happened long ago)—"Gone, but not forgotten!"

The seniors are contemplating a very busy time this year in preparing a senior annual. This will be the first production of its kind since the "Sphinx" of '09 and '10 and things will soon be in readiness for taking orders.

We wonder if the teachers are taking advantage of the opportunity presented them of procuring paddles for the rest of the year. The old shingles might make good ones.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM NEAR-BY TOWNS

SNOVER—Work has commenced here on the new depot of the D. B. C. & W. R. R. The site has been graded in preparation for putting in the sidings and a Y track.

BROWN CITY—About noon Saturday as the big threshing outfit of Guy Forbes was passing over the Cass river bridge, eight miles north of Brown City, the structure suddenly gave way and together with the engine, tank, separator and team of horses settled to the river bed about eight feet below.

CARO—Caro Light & Power Co., is engaged in extending the power dam on Cass river two miles below the town, to improve the storage capacity, and to better control the flood of water which sometimes interferes with the operation of the water wheels. The extension of the dam will be 50 feet making it about 150 feet long and increasing the capacity of the "spill" fifty per cent over its present stage.

IMLAY CITY—Myron Pancher, secretary of the Mutual Telephone Co., was in Chicago the latter part of last week, purchasing a new switch board to be used to handle the long distance calls. He also bought a thousand feet of cable to take the place of the wires running from the telephone office north in the alley between Almont and Bancroft. The use of the cable is an expensive proposition for the company but it will almost entirely eliminate all wire trouble for the distance it covers, and is especially valuable in time of storms. The company in time will cable all wires used in the village—Times.

SANDUSKY—A very enthusiastic meeting was held at the Harrison school, Elmer township, a few days ago in regard to enlarging the Cass river drain. Everybody seemed in favor of starting a petition; even the people who were not affected by the numerous overflows seemed fair minded and willing to help the movement along by word or signature. A committee was appointed to confer with Drain Commissioner Smith. The committee is determining this week whether the lower end of the improvement should cease. It is now believed that it will be at about the center of Evergreen township. When this is settled a petition will be started which will call for the reconstruction of the drain as far south as the Lapeer county line.—Republican.

COMPETITION AT COUNTY FAIRS.

There has been much complaint of recent years that the county fairs are not so educational as formerly. Uncle Reuben, getting gay in his old age, frivolously follows the races and watches base ball, when he ought to be inspecting the cattle sheds. There is one sure way to make an agricultural fair truly educational and that is to rouse the spirit of rivalry. The farmer likes his holiday as well as anyone. But if he sees a chance to slip a blue ribbon on his neighbor, the grand stand will lose its interest. Recognizing the basic appeal of the spirit of competition many county fairs conduct contests in handling draft animals, correct judging of stock, plowing, etc. A fair that has these features never lacks the educational element. The ambitious and successful farmers are found watching these rivalries with keen and critical eyes, rather than ringing canes or getting their fortunes told.—Harbor Beach Times.

The Innocent Joys of Youth.
"Gracious, Fanny!" exclaimed a mother to her little daughter. "Why are you shouting like that? Why can't you be quiet like your brother?"
"He's got to be quiet," replied Fanny. "He's playing papa coming home late."
"And who are you playing?"
"Oh, I'm playing you!"—Harper's Weekly.

The Submarine and the Whale.
A squadron of submarines anchored in an Atlantic port found itself surrounded by ten whales. To the astonishment of the men, these mammals escorted the vessels as they moved. It is believed, from the observation of whales, that they never descend lower than forty meters, and this school descended with the submarines to that depth.

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

How to Use Stale Bread.

The modern housekeeper is likely to buy a loaf of fresh bread every day at the baker's, but our grandmothers made their bread at home and used up every scrap of one baking before baking day came around again.

Here are some of the ingenious ways in which one grandmother disguised stale bread so that the most picky child she had would not know it from a brand new dish.

Cut squares of very hard bread two inches thick, steam over boiling water for twenty minutes and serve hot, with butter and maple sirup.

Or cut the bread in one inch squares, put in a colander and dash cold water over them. Then fry the squares in butter until they are a delicate brown. Break two eggs over them, cook three minutes and serve immediately. This is particularly good for breakfast.

Another way is to make our old friend, French or Spanish toast, which is good for breakfast or luncheon. Cut rather thick slices of bread, dip in milk, then in beaten egg, and fry a delicate brown. Serve this very hot and, if possible, with maple sirup.

If you happen to have a whole stale loaf left over, here is a fascinating way to use it. Cut off all the crust, put it on a tin and set in the oven to dry and brown. When it is a light golden brown lay it on the molding board and crush fine. Then cut the crustless loaf into pieces one inch thick and two or three inches long. Beat two eggs very light, add two cups of sweet milk and a pinch of salt, dip the pieces of bread in the mixture, roll in the fine breadcrumbs and drop them into hot lard. When they are fried a nice brown put them on a hot dish and sprinkle thickly with sugar and a little fine cinnamon.

A really delicious pudding can be made in the following manner: Take rather thick slices of bread from which the crust is trimmed. Butter these slices on both sides. Heat a can of rather tart red or purple plums, put a layer of fruit in the bottom of a pudding dish, then a layer of bread and butter and continue until the dish is filled. Set it in the oven for five minutes to get heated through. Then remove it from the oven, cover with a plate, put a weight on it and set where it will become thoroughly cold. Eat it with cream and sugar. Tart cherries may be used in place of plums or blackberries, and there should be plenty of juice, so that the bread may be saturated.

How to Make Coffee For Two.

Always scald the coffeepot immediately before using. Keep the inside of the coffeepot perfectly clean and leave the cover up and place in a sunshiny window. Never let coffee stand more than five minutes after it is boiled before serving. Buy the coffee unground and grind just before using, is the advice given in the Woman's World.

The flavor of the coffee may be improved by heating the ground coffee carefully just before making.

Four level teaspoonfuls of ground coffee, one teaspoonful of the white of egg and the crust shell of one egg.

Mix with four tablespoonfuls of cold water, pour on two and one-half cups of boiling water and cover closely and let boil from three to five minutes. Then add three tablespoonfuls of cold water to settle and set the coffeepot where the coffee will keep hot, but not boil, and let stand for five minutes. Pour out a half cupful of the coffee and put it back into the coffeepot to rinse down the grounds and serve at once. The first cup of coffee is considered the best.

How to Make "Old" Lace.

Once more we have reached the point in the revolution of fashion when laces, especially the real ones, must have the old look now required by the costumers in making up lace trimmed gowns. There is a way to make new lace look old, which, so far as color is concerned, cannot be told from the priceless heirlooms.

All that is needed is a newspaper. Strips of newspaper are cut a trifle wider than the lace is to be tinted. To these the edges of the lace are carefully sewed. A roll of newspapers about the size of an ordinary mailing tube is then made, and the lace trimmed newspaper strips are then rolled around this smoothly. The whole is then sealed and laid away. In the course of a few weeks or months the lace will have acquired the most perfect "old" color. A hundred years couldn't produce any better results than the newspaper properly put on.

How to Make Dutch Coffee Cake.

One yeast cake, three pints sifted flour, two cupfuls of butter, one pint lukewarm milk, two beaten eggs, one and a half cupfuls sugar.

Dissolve yeast in half cupful warm water for twenty minutes. Place flour in deep bowl, make hole in center and pour dissolved yeast into it. Melt butter, stir into milk and then into yeast in center of bowl of flour. Last add beaten eggs. Sprinkle the sugar over the flour and beat the mixture thoroughly. Cover and let rise all night. In morning mold into two large loaves.

FIRMNESS.

There is one sort of man that never wins respect. He is the weak wabblor, who never knows where he stands, who is always slipping about, apologizing, never daring to take a firm stand on anything. Everybody despises him. He is a weakling. Better a thousand times have the reputation of being eccentric and cranky, even, than never to stand for anything.

REGISTRATION NOTICE.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Village of Cass City, State of Michigan. That a meeting of the Board of Registration of said Village will be held at Council Rooms within said village, on Saturday, Sept. 20, 1913, for the purpose of registering the names of all such persons who shall be possessed of the necessary qualifications of electors, who may apply for that purpose.

Women Electors.

In accordance with Section 4 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Michigan, and Act 206, Public Acts of 1909, the Board of Registration of said Village will register the names of all women possessing the qualifications of male electors who make personal application for such registration; Provided, that all such applicants must own property assessed for taxes within said village, except that any woman otherwise qualified who owns property within said village jointly with her husband or other person, or who owns property within said village on contract and pays the taxes thereon, shall be entitled to registration.

Following are the qualifications of male electors in the State of Michigan: Every male inhabitant of this state, being a citizen of the United States; every male inhabitant residing in this state on the twenty-fourth day of June, eighteen hundred thirty-five; every male inhabitant residing in this state on the first day of January, eighteen hundred fifty; every male inhabitant of foreign birth who, having resided in this state two years and six months prior to the eighth day of November, eighteen hundred ninety-four; and having declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States two years and six months prior to said last named day; and every civilized male inhabitant of Indian descent, a native of the United States and not a member of any tribe, shall be an elector and entitled to vote; but no one shall be an elector or entitled to vote at any election unless he shall be above the age of twenty-one years and has resided in this state six months and in the township or ward in which he offers to vote twenty days next proceeding such election.

Said Board of Registration will be in session on the day and at the place aforesaid from 9 o'clock in the forenoon until 8 o'clock in the afternoon for the purpose aforesaid.

Dated this 10th day of Sept., A. D. 1913.

MARC WICKWARE,
Clerk of Said Village.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL VILLAGE ELECTION.

Notice is hereby given to the qualified electors of the Village of Cass City, State of Michigan, that a special election will be held at the Council Rooms within said village, on Monday, Sept. 22, 1913, at which election a proposition will be submitted to the said electors to borrow the sum of eleven thousand dollars ($11,000) by bonding the Village of Cass City, Michigan, to be used in the constructing of water works for the introduction of water into the Village of Cass City and supplying the Village and inhabitants thereof with pure and wholesome water; and for the extinguishment of fires and for the ordinary and extraordinary uses of the inhabitants thereof.

In accordance with the Constitution of the State of Michigan and Act 206, Public Acts of 1909, every woman who possesses the qualifications of male electors and owns property assessed for taxes or owns property subject to taxation jointly with her husband, or with any other person, or who owns property on contract and pays taxes thereon, all such property being located somewhere within the district or territory to be affected by the result of said election, will be entitled to vote upon such propositions, provided such person has had her name duly registered in accordance with the provisions of said Act.

The polls of said election will be open at 7 o'clock a. m. and will remain open until 5 o'clock p. m. of said day of election.

Dated this 10th day of Sept., A. D. 1913.
