FARMERS COMMENCE MARKETING EARLY

TOP PRICES AND GOOD ROADS
FOUND HERE.

Load After Load of Beans and Grain Being Hauled to Cass City.

Farmers have commenced marketing their beans and grain at an earlier date than usual this fall and load after load has been coming in to the local buyers from all directions. That Cass City is considered one of the best market towns of the Thumb has been conceded for many years, the business of local dealers showing a volume that probably is unsurpassed by any town of the size in the state.

Four large elevators, under the management of two different companies, provide capacity for storing thousands upon thousands of bushels. Two firms buying live stock attract sellers from near and far and large shipments of stock are made to Buffalo markets. Other dealers handling poultry, eggs, etc., are actively engaged in their various lines and the outlook for a brisk fall business is most promising.

Cass City has the reputation of paying top prices for grain, produce and live stock and this fact together with the exceptionally good roads which lead into Cass City from all directions brings farmers here from within a few miles of our sister villages.

MRS. H. WETTLAUER

Sudden Death of Cass City Lady
at Detroit.

The community was shocked Wednesday when word was received from Detroit that Mrs. Henry Wettlaufer had died in that city. Mrs. Wettlaufer left Cass City for Detroit Friday morning where she expected to undergo an operation in one of the city hospitals. Her death occurred at Harper hospital Tuesday evening at 7:40 o'clock.

Funeral services will be held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. A. J. Ratz, at 47 Lothrop Ave., Detroit this (Friday) afternoon. Rev. D. J. Feather, pastor of the local Evangelical church, expects to leave for the city this morning and will officiate at the services.

Mrs. Wettlaufer has been a resident of Cass City several years and during her residence here has won many friends. She has been especially active in the Evangelical church and will be greatly missed in that society. Mrs. Wettlaufer has enjoyed unusually good health until a few weeks ago when she was taken ill and gradually grew weaker. Her friends little anticipated when she left here Friday that death would so soon claim her as a victim.

She was born in Canada and was 48 years, 6 months and 5 days old. She is survived by her husband, a son, Dr. E. J. Wettlaufer of Detroit, a daughter, Mrs. A. J. Ratz, and several brothers and sisters.

INSTRUCTIVE SESSIONS

E. H. Pinney a Delegate to American Road Congress at Detroit.

E. H. Pinney was at Detroit most of last week attending the third annual American Road Congress, having been appointed by Governor Ferris as a delegate from the State of Michigan to this convention. A. E. Sleeper of Bad Axe was also a delegate. Mr. Pinney reports the sessions very instructive relative to the projection and construction of Trunk Line Roads across states and the continent from New York to San Francisco, concerning which automobile manufacturers are much interested. There was also considerable talk on roads for the benefit of farmers and rural districts generally.

The congress is held under the auspices of the American Highway association, American Automobile association and the Michigan State Good Roads association.

Donations for the rummage sale given by the Presbyterian ladies should be left with Mrs. Edward Pinney and Mrs. Chas. Wiley. The sale will be held under Auten's bank Oct. 11-18.

WOMEN AFTER PARK

Decker-ville Woman's Club Starts Proceedings to Accomplish Results.

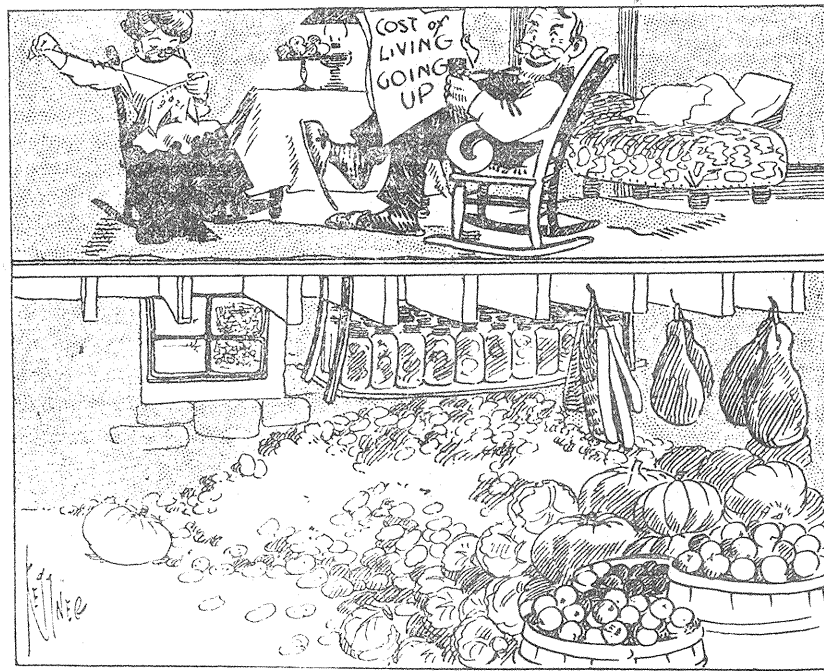

Decker-ville is to have a park, due to the untiring energy and push of the Woman's Literary club, a band of twelve young married ladies of that town. For some time they have been agitating the cause until the city fathers have been completely won over to their side and have already donated the grounds, located near the city water works plant.

Last week the ladies instituted a bee, and though it was not as largely attended as anticipated, a large amount of work was accomplished. The ground was plowed and the work of filling and leveling will be taken up later when another bee will be held.

As a means of raising additional funds, the ladies will hold a masquerade ball in the Auditorium on Friday evening, Oct. 10.

"WE SHOULD WORRY"

BLEEDING HIM.

"Just see," said a Caseville farmer as he read the rules and regulations tacked on the door of a Detroit hotel during state fair week, "how these hotel people try to bleed a fellow." "What is it pa?" asked his wife. "Why one of these rules says, 'Don't blow out the gas,' and another says, 'Gas burned all night will be charged extra.' Now what's a fellow to do?"

BAD AXE WINS HARD FOUGHT GAME

LOCAL ELEVEN GETS LITTLE
END OF 16-6 SCORE.

Visitors Outweighed Locals and Made Gains Through Line Plunges.

One of the best football games seen in recent seasons was witnessed on the local grounds Friday. Both Bad Axe and Cass City had good teams, but the home team was outweighed by the outsiders by about 15 pounds to a man. The line of Cass City weighed on the average only 138 pounds, while the backfield tips the scales at 136 pounds.

During the first half, through a series of bad fumbles, Bad Axe ran up 16 points, two touchdowns and one drop-kick.

Cass City went into the second half determined to hold the visitors and to score if possible. Within a few minutes the ball was pushed to within a foot of the Bad Axe goal only to have it go over. But the home team held the outsiders so well that they soon had the pigskin in their possession again and this time, Bien carried it through for a touchdown. In the third quarter the ball was again carried over the line only to be fumbled, thus giving a touchdown to Bad Axe.

It could not be said that Cass City was outplayed by Bad Axe for all of their gains were made by line plunges while Cass City used a more open method of playing, resorting to fakes, and end runs for their plays. The excess of weight gave Bad Axe an advantage in their way of playing while our fellows showed the greater speed and skill.

The game was straight and clean all the way through although both were penalized several times for being off side.

North Branch comes here Friday and another good game is expected for by all accounts North Branch has an excellent team.

The line-up:

WHITE TUB FROCKS.

How to Add Daintiness and Charm to the Summer Wardrobe.

The white tub frock, if it is really a tub frock, comes out from the laundering each time it is washed looking fresh and cool. Even if it is not memorably modish those qualities continue to give it charm so long as it holds together.

The woman who yields to the lure of the delicate pinks and blues and lilacs and greens or of the delightful flowered cottons, which are so tempting in the first spring showing after a winter of dark skies and dark frocks, may have an attractive summer wardrobe, but it will be neither practical nor so economical as that of the woman's who turns her back upon the flowery spring lines and buys the white that is not so bewitching in the hand, but is so eminently satisfactory on the back.

This season the wise buyer of white will find an unusual number of desirable white materials from which to make her choice. Whether she wishes to spend much money or little the white goods counters will offer a satisfactory solution of her problem, and among ready made frocks there are more pretty white models than in the ordinary season.

The simple type of lingerie frock, for example, has improved amazingly. Not so very long ago it was almost impossible to buy for a moderate sum a sheer white tub frock that was of good material and neatly and attractively made. The manufacturers tried to give too much for the money, piled cheap laces, cheap embroidery, cheap machine work upon coarse white lawn and achieved shoddy copies of lingerie models, copies that a woman of taste could not be persuaded to wear. If such a woman wanted a simple and inexpensive white lingerie frock she had it made at home.

A Marvelous Escape.

"My little boy had a marvelous escape," writes P. F. Bastians of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a very severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for an hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

The Last Word.

"Your wife likes the last word, doesn't she?"
"I don't think so," answered Mr. Meekton. "Anyway, she's mighty reluctant about reaching it."—Washington Star.

Not Too Forgetful.

When a woman says she forgets an injury she keeps forgetting that she has forgotten it.

Strengthen Weak Kidneys.

Don't suffer longer with weak kidneys. You can get prompt relief by taking Electric Bitters, that wonderful remedy praised by women everywhere. Start with a bottle today, you will soon feel like a new woman with ambition to work without fear of pain. Mr. John Dowling of San Francisco, writes:—"Gratitude for the wonderful effect of Electric Bitters prompts me to write. It cured my wife when all else failed." Good for the liver as well. Nothing better for indigestion or biliousness. Price, 50c, and $1.00 at L. I. Wood & Co's.—Adv.

HE WAS IN THE GAME.

To Prove It He Showed Where the Other Side Made a Hit.

Frank I. Cobb, chief editorial writer of the New York World, was a great baseball player while he was at college in Michigan. During vacations he accumulated strength and a little extra money by "working" in a lumber camp and playing catcher on the camp team. (The word "working" is put in quotation marks advisedly.) Young Cobb and his pitcher, Flanagan, formed a splendid battery, and all the players and their camp mates won their bets in games against rival camps with great regularity. The battery worked so well that on a certain dull Saturday they were hired at $10 each and expenses to play on the team of Svenson & Stefansson, a score of miles away. They had to pretend to be Swedes, of course, and they were down on the score card as Larsen, pitcher, and Olsen, catcher.

At a dinner in Washington not long ago Mr. Cobb had the pleasure of meeting Senator Julius C. Burrows of Michigan and found him a delightful companion. Mr. Burrows seemed to find the dignified young editor very entertaining, too, especially when the talk turned to baseball, for Mr. Burrows was a "fan" in the superlative degree. "The boys in my lumber camp have a team," he declared, "that has never been beaten."

"Didn't the team from Svenson & Stefansson's camp beat them some years ago, senator?" asked Mr. Cobb innocently.

"No, sir!" cried Mr. Burrows, turning hot as if the battle were again going on before him. "No, sir! They didn't beat us. Confound 'em, they put in two ringers as a battery and were leading our boys by 7 to 4 in the eighth when we found out about it and ran 'em off the field and most of the way home."

"The score was 7 to 5, wasn't it, Senator?" asked Cobb politely.

"No-o—yes, I believe it was," Mr. Burrows admitted. "That's so; the umpire didn't allow our fourth tally because the runner didn't touch second. But how did you know the score?"

"I was there," said Mr. Cobb, turning the left side of his head toward Mr. Burrows. "See that scar? That's where they caught me with half a brick as I was going over the fence. I was Olsen."—Harper's Weekly.

The Best Light.

Treat a man with as much deference as you would a picture—look at him in the best light.—Emerson.

Poetry With a Sting In It.

On one occasion when Paul Hamilton Hayne was visiting Samuel Minturn Peck at the latter's home in Tuscaloosa the two poets strolled into the woods and paused to rest beneath the shadows of the pines.

"Here are your favorite pines, Hayne," said Peck. "Let's dream a few poems beneath them."

The languid summer day had its effect upon them, and they were soon snoring and dreaming away.

But suddenly both awoke and both started down the home road at top speed, shouting as they ran.

An army of yellow jackets had discovered them and, not being partial to poetry, had forcibly and feelingly resented its intrusion on their domain.

Later, at supper, Peck asked:

"Did you make a poem, Hayne?"

"No," was the meek reply. "I made a poultice!"

"So did I," said Peck.

Their Message.

The evening callers were chatting with their hosts when there came a patter of little feet along the hall.

"Hush," whispered the hostess, raising her hand. "The children are coming with their good night message. It always gives me a feeling of reverence to hear them. They are so much nearer to heaven than we, and they speak from the fullness of their little hearts never so freely as when the dark has come. Listen!"

THE MESSAGE CAME IN A SHRILL WHISPER.

There was a moment's pause, and then the message came in a shrill whisper. "Mamma," it ran, "Willie found a cockroach in the bathtub."—Ladies' Home Journal.

He Loved Not the Massage.

Mrs. Ponsonby, visiting Paris, is receiving her friends at a "little evening" and, thinking to have a pleasant change after talk, suggests to a guest, "And now, M. Dubois, shall we have a rubber?" "Ah, madame," said M. Dubois, with perfect politeness but pitifully, "a thousand thanks, mais—je—je—n'aime pas le massage!"

His Besetting Sin.

At a banquet in New York Mark Twain was the guest of honor.

Thomas Bailey Aldrich was among those present who happened to be seated near Twain, and in some manner the talk had veered round to pet failings.

"What is yours, Mr. Aldrich?" inquired a man near him.

The poet opened his lips to reply, but Twain beat him to it.

"Vice versa!" he drawled laconically.—Saturday Evening Post.

Horrible.

"Oh, Henry," she said when she had thrown off her wraps and hung herself into a chair. "I'm so mortified."

"What's the matter, dear?"

"I met Mrs. Biggles at the reception this afternoon and she seemed so nice that I stood there before the crowd for half an hour and talked to her. When we were leaving her chauffeur drove up in an old four cylinder car and after she had taken her seat in it she called out right before everybody that she would expect me to call on her soon."—Chicago Record-Herald.

"It's THE BEST POLISH I EVER USED"

That's What Every One Says Who Tries

Black Silk Stove Polish

DON'T imagine for a moment that all brands of stove polish are the same. Don't get the idea that to keep a nice glossy shine on your stove you must black it every few days. It's not a question of oft-repeated application. It's a question of the stove polish to use.

Black Silk Stove Polish is so much better than other stove polishes that there is absolutely no comparison—it's in a class all by itself. It cleans to the iron—becomes a part of the stove. It makes old stoves look like new and lasts four times as long as any other shine.

Get a can and give it a trial. Try it on your parlor stove, your cook stove, or your gas range. If you do not find it the best stove polish you ever used, your dealer is authorized to refund your money. Black Silk Stove Polish has been made by the same formula and sold under one name for 30 years.

Here is what some of the ladies write us:

"I sent to you for a can of Black Silk Stove Polish and found it so much better than any I had ever used that I asked my hardware dealer to order a supply. He did so, and is now selling nearly everyone in the place your polish. I had no idea there could be such a difference in stove polishes."

"I was visiting friends and they used Black Silk Stove Polish on their stoves. It made the best shine I ever saw, and after blacking, the polish did not rub or dust off. It is way ahead of any polish I have ever used."

Ask Your Dealer for Black Silk Stove Polish and refuse a counterfeit brand. Costs you no more than the ordinary kind, so why not have the best. Made in liquid or paste—one quality.

Black Silk Stove Polish Works, Sterling, Ill.

Use Black Silk Air-Drying Iron Enamel for grates, fenders, registers, stove pipes, etc. Prevents rusting. Not affected by heat or cold. Produces a permanent glossy black surface. Can, with brush for applying enamel, only 25 cents. Ask your dealer.

Use Black Silk Metal Polish for nickel, brass, silverware or tinware. It has no equal for use on automobiles.

Origin of Authors' Rights.

The first trace of authors' rights goes back, it appears, to the year 1655. A playwright named Quinault had written a piece named "Les Rivaux." It was his first play, and he offered it to a strolling company of actors, who were not willing to risk more than fifty crowns on its purchase. Quinault then suggested that, instead of receiving a sum cash down, he should be given a ninth part of the receipts taken during the run of the piece. This bargain was accepted, and it proved to be the beginning of what was at first known as "the author's share," and subsequently "the author's rights."—London Standard.

Living in New York.

Some people have queer ideas of what it means to live in New York.

"I couldn't possibly live elsewhere than in New York," declared one lady. "It is the only town."

"It is a remarkable place," admitted the visitor. "What part of the city do you live in?"

"East Orange, N. J."—Brooklyn Eagle.

Chronic Dyspepsia.

The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken, Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. G. Mattison, No. 7 Sherman St., Hornellsville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

Grief and Remorse.

"No," said the stage manager, "you are the heroine. You are supposed to suffer more than anybody else in the play. You must put yourself into a frame of mind which represents grief and remorse."

"I know," replied the leading woman. "I'll try to make myself believe I'm one of the people who paid $2 to see this play."—Washington Star.

Many persons feel offended because their comings and goings are not mentioned while those of others are, and wonder what the matter can be. The explanation of the matter is that the newspaper means to be impartial, but some escape mention. The likes and dislikes of an editor have nothing to do with it, and while it is not pretended that the editor is more than human he knows that the success of his journal depends on his fairness and impartiality to all. It is the best way always when a notice is desired to mention it to the editor, reporter, or communicate through the post office. No one feels worse about any seeming neglect or partial performance of duty than the editor himself.

Rally Day of the Sunday school was observed at the Evangelical church Sunday morning. The church was prettily decorated with autumn leaves, flowers and an American flag. An interesting program was given and an offering amounting to over $10 was raised for missionary purposes.

County Treasurer H. S. Wickware has rented a residence on West Sherman St. in Caro and he and his good wife expect to move to the county seat in about two weeks. The house is within a half block of the court house corner and will make a short walk for Mr. Wickware to reach his office this winter.

Did you ever think what your ad in the newspaper is doing for you? When you close your store in the evening and go home to your family and fireside, not thinking about your business at all, then it is that the paper is being pored over in hundreds of homes—the home from which your trade is drawn. And there is your ad doing its work silently, but surely, and if you have taken the pains to make it attractive its work will be all the more attractive. This is repeated over and over again, and is no doubt what inspired some writer to call newspaper advertising a "silent drummer."

Some of the Presbyterian friends of Miss Ruby Taggett, wishing to show their appreciation for her faithfulness to their choir, remembered her birthday Monday with a beautiful gold watch with bracelet case, also a lovely watch chain. Saturday when she went to Cass City to be the guest of Miss Madeline Auten, she was handed a package to carry to her hostess, never dreaming of the happy surprise in store for her. Miss Taggett is deputy county treasurer and the watch will be very useful for this successful young business woman. Monday evening Miss Auten entertained twenty-four young people in Miss Taggett's honor at her beautiful Cass City home.—Caro Courier.

HOME HAPPINESS.

The happiness of any home can be murdered by any two people in it, each determined daily to have his or her own way. Riches or poverty, position or obscurity, has nothing to do with it. Home happiness is built on selfishness and sympathy and forbearance.

HATRED.

Hatred is a bad companion. Hate keeps the heart always at full tension. It gives rise to oppression of the brain and senses. It confuses the whole man. It robs the stomach of nervous power, and, digestion being impaired, the failure of life begins at once.

E. W. Jones and John Thompson were guests at the business men's banquet given at Bad Axe Tuesday evening to celebrate the completion of the D. & H. R. R. Seventy-five were present. Commissioner of Industries Fitzsimmons of Montreal and J. A. Caldwell, supt. of the Detroit Division, were the Grand Trunk officials present. They gave ad-resses and Bad Axe was represented on the program by Frank W.
Hubbard, John Ryan, James Burgess,
James McCaren, George English, A.
J. Spiess and other local speakers.

Robt. McKenzie returned to Cass
City Wednesday after a six years' absence.
He has spent the past four years in the Marine Corps service and during recent months has been stationed at the Naval Recruiting Grounds near Washington, D. C. He spent 2 years and 8 months at Panama. While the thermometer registers as high as 140 degrees at times,
he says the climate is quite "bearable" when there is a breeze blowing. The isthmus is 48 miles across and a breeze from either ocean cools off the atmosphere to some extent.
Mr. McKenzie is visiting his brothers, William and James, and other relatives. He says he does not contemplate re-enlisting.

Mrs. Frank Woolman is quite seriously ill.

Miss Carrie Thomas is spending
the week at Tyre.

Mrs. John Emmons is on the sick list this week.

The Priscilla Club met with Miss Lillian Goff Tuesday evening.

C. D. Striffler was in Buffalo on business from Saturday to Monday.

Norman Brown of Lincoln Nebraska, is visiting his mother, Mrs. Selma Brown.

Miss Grace Bennett of Lapeer expects to spend the week end with friends in town.

Dr. Treadgold and C. Fuester of Akron were callers at the home of Dr. A. N. Treadgold Friday.

Miss Kate Armbruster of Pigeon
is the guest of her sisters, Mrs. Jacob Oesch and Mrs. William Henke.

Mr. and Mrs. James Fee of New Lathrop were guests at the home of Rev. G. A. Fee Monday and Tuesday.

Thad Patterson of Argyle and John Patterson of Carsonville visited at the home of Charles Patterson Tuesday.

Mrs. Joseph Kelley of Elsie came Tuesday to visit her parents, Mr.
and Mrs. Jesse Cooper, for a short time.

John Walmsley, who was badly injured in an automobile accident last week, is reported some better but is still confined to his bed.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Brown of Traverse City are spending the week at the home of Mrs. Selma and other relatives here.

The Woman's Missionary Society
of the Evangelical church will meet with Mrs. J. M. Bittner Friday afternoon, October 17 at 2:30.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Lounsbury are the proud parents of a nine pound son, who arrived Tuesday. He has been given the name Leslie Emory.

J. A. Caldwell presented the Chronicle force Thursday with a generous sample of apple jelly, one of the several palatable products manufactured at Mr. Caldwell's cider mill.

J. A. Renshler has moved from his building on Main St. east to the Doerr garage near the Gordon Tavern where he is busy repairing automobiles.

Mrs. Lucy Brown suffered a paralytic stroke several days ago and small hopes are entertained for her recovery. Mrs. Brownley of Detroit, one of her daughters, has arrived here and is with her mother.

The Beulah Buck Co. opened the lecture course Monday evening with an entertainment number. The attendance was good and the program was heartily enjoyed. The members of the company are blessed with sweet, mellow voices and their selections
in solos, duets and quartettes delighted the audience who encored them repeatedly. Mrs. Buck's readings contributed richly to the evening's enjoyment.

Misses Vernita Treadgold and Virginia Wilsey entertained Misses Pell and Grace and C. A. Edgerton, high school teachers, and 25 of their high school friends at a marshmallow roast at the Treadgold home Saturday evening from 7:30 to 11:00. The lawn was prettily lighted with Chinese lanterns and seats were arranged in cozy corner style. Punch and wafers were served and marshmallows roasted.

Now that J. A. Caldwell has sold and shipped his barn yard alarm clock to West Branch, several of our citizens will probably oversleep these fine autumn mornings. However it's an ill wind that blows no one good. Our local jewelers carry a line of alarm clocks of the usual type and there ought to be a healthy demand for them now since the competitor of the power house whistle has gone so far that his bray will no longer be heard here.

Geo. Roblin of Greenleaf township received a cut over one of his eyes and another at the back of his head when he fell from his wagon
as his team ran pell mell down Main St. shortly before noon Thursday.
The team was frightened by an automobile near the roller mills. When they reached the cross walk at Bigelow's store, Mr. Roblin, who sat on the wagon reach, lost his balance and fell to the ground. He was taken to Young's meat market and a doctor called and shortly after went to the home of his sister, Mrs. Anna Parker. He was resting quite comfortably there early in the afternoon and expected to be pretty well recovered within a few days.

The Deckerville Agricultural Association will hold a one-day matinee
race meet on Tuesday of next week and all the best performers of the Thumb Racing Circuit will be gathered there for the final event of the season. The program will consist of four races, a free-for-all, a 2:30 trot or pace, a 3:00 class and a farmers green race. The meeting is being pulled off in the hopes of overcoming some of the financial losses which the association has suffered during the past few months,

beginning with the "Good Friday" wind storm which demolished their grand stand and other buildings and which was followed on the day before their fair begun by a fire which destroyed 300 feet of horse stalls and resulted in a loss of $800. The weather conditions during the week of the Deckerville fair were also unfavorable and resulted in keeping down the proceeds.

new "Two Year Winter Course in Agriculture." This course opens No-

Farm and Garden

THE MONEY CROP.

How to Raise Potatoes For Big Profits.

The aim in raising potatoes should be to plant so as to get the biggest yield and at the same time with the least expense. One of the farmers in Somerset county, Me., who have been able to do this most successfully is F. B.
Davis. He has received as big a yield as 800 bushels per acre in some instances and on the whole 300 to 500 bushels per acre. He tells his story how he did it, which many farmers would do well to follow. He writes in the American Cultivator as follows:

The soil must be in the best possible condition as regard tilth and fertility. The dirt should be made fine and mellow and the soil of good depth before planting the seed. If the piece is of clover sod then the time for plowing does not count so much, yet in this case an application of a small coat of manure is good and enables us to reduce the expense of commercial fertilizer at least one-half and to further increase the yield of from fifty to a hundred bushels per acre, yet care should be taken not to put on too much manure.

Plowing and planting are only a small part of the work of raising potatoes. They require considerable care. If in a dry season they should be cultivated often, the loose dirt having a tendency to moisten the plants.
If you wish to raise the largest possible crop, 500 bushels or more per

HOW PROPER FERTILIZATION INCREASES
SIZE OF POTATOES.

acre, you must get as many perfect
hills to reach full maturity as possible.
I advise rows two and one-half feet
apart and seed pieces to be dropped twelve to fifteen inches apart in the drill, using a good sized seed cut one to three eyes.

In raising 300 bushels per acre
make the rows three feet apart. Place the seed pieces eighteen to twenty inches apart and don't take quite so much pains in cutting seed. One ton of the best commercial fertilizer is not usually too much per acre. I find it a good method to sow the fertilizer with the planter before dropping the seed. Then it is mixed with the soil.
After the plant is up a little fertilizer can be used on it, but it should be brushed from the plant with a broom or in some similar manner.

I have in my own work by following the best methods here described been able to secure yields of 500 bushels and over per acre on commercial fertilizer alone. That of the best grade, about 4 per cent nitrogen and 10 per cent potash. I remember on one piece my men called attention to the fact that they were getting a bushel of potatoes to market in six paces of a single row. If my figures were correct this would be over 800 bushels per acre in ordinary field culture, but this piece had the advantage of a coat of barn manure the fall previous to planting.

FEED YOUR LAND WELL.

You must feed your stock well
if you want good results. So must you do with your land.
You cannot afford not to enrich your land year after year. Build up your compost heap. Put stable manure on your land. Buy those fertilizers your land and your stable will not supply.
Study the fertilizer question in all its bearings; solve it and you have settled half your problems.

A Transportation Kink.

In moving a plow on the farm take a two inch plank about two feet long and eight inches wide. Nail a horseshoe near the front end. This will catch the point of the plow, and the point will slide along like a sled when the team is hitched to the plow. The front end of the plank should be beveled on the under side so it will pass over stones and small obstacles.—Farm and Fireside.

New Forage Plant.

A new crop called Sudan grass,
which is another of the sorghums, gives great promise as a hay crop for the dry land districts of the west. It is the most rapid growing of all the similar crops, and, although experimental work has been limited so far,
it is expected that it will be adapted to the dry districts in Montana and North Dakota, as well as the southern states.

Two Developments of a Rembrandt Hat

REMBRANDT painted many graceful hats and we shall do honor to his art during the coming season; for they have furnished inspiration for thousands of hats which are triumphant among the new styles. Never was such a widespread demand for rich velvet. Crowns are soft, brims are flexible and full of grace. Their lines are good from every point and they silhouette the face adorably. One of the Rembrandt models is shown here as interpreted by two designers. It will be seen that there is very little variation in lines. The brim is elaborated in the all-velvet hat by the addition of an extra under brim of velvet smaller than the brim above it. This secondary brim is really a flat puff of velvet tacked to the brim proper, and it is not an essential part of the design. In both hats the brim is a large, flat puff of scant fullness supported by the lightest of frames, and the crown is a full puff. One designer has provided her hat with a crown of satin, thus accomplishing a little elaboration in her model, placing the puffed crown care has been given to disposing its fullness so that the crown falls toward the right side as it should. Both designers selected odd feathers for decorating their creations, of a character so light and airy that no line of the shape is concealed by them. Both selected narrow ribbon and copied the quaint flat pair of bows into which the sprightly feathers at the side are mounted. The all-velvet hat is trimmed with the Numidi feather in the natural dark brownish gray color. It is far more expensive than the very effective and beautiful peacock feather which was chosen for the other hat. There are certain styles in hats which are so good from the standpoint of art that they have more stability than mere fashions. These hats are examples of good style. Besides possessing good style they are immensely fashionable; which two commendable characteristics are not always found together in millinery or other things. Some very ugly things manage to become fashionable for a brief time. But they never are stylish—that is, they have not good style, and therefore have no permanence. But look and you will see that the good style of the Rembrandt hats has put the master's name in everyone's mouth at this present time. We shall delight in the lovely lines of these hats and in the rich, soft velvets and odd, saucy feathers which go into their composition. With all their virtues these lovely conceptions are comparatively inexpensive. They must be made of good velvet with a live luster. They admit of little trimming—and this may cost much or little. The two examples here show that the peacock feather is quite as pretty as the Numidi. If it were as scarce, expensiveness might be added to its charms. But it is one of those splendid things that is within easy reach. We are used to it and want something else. Therefore feather manufacturers have provided great numbers of fancy feathers, odd and graceful—and unrecognizable. They are originally even easier to get than peacock, but they are masquerading in new forms—which is worth something. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

SCARF AND MUFF OF ERMINE FASHIONABLE PLUSHES

AS befits so rich fur the scarf and muff of ermine shown here are plain and exquisitely made. Ermine, in the body of both pieces, is made up without the points of black, which only appear in the trimming. It depends on the furrier for variety, as nearly all fashionable furs do this season. It is the manner in which skins are matched, arranged and sewed together that provides individuality in style for the wearers of handsome furs. This careful making is a big item in the matter of expense, also. The amount of work involved in making a set like that shown here is not realized until one sees how many small pieces—shaped and themselves priced—must be joined with the most painstaking exactness to make even a small scarf. Ermine is a luxury for the rich, and not suited to general wear. It is, in fact, more attractive in a small neck piece than in a long and ample scarf. It really appears to best advantage as a trimming for other handsome furs or on neckpieces and muffs made of velvet and chiffon. Ermine made up without the black points is called "pure ermine" and is quite the fashion for the coming season. It is fairly durable, but, of course, soils easily. People who can afford several sets are those who will indulge themselves in the pure white of this fur and reserve it to wear upon high occasions. But the scarf and muff pictured here may serve as guides for making up sets in some of the remarkably handsome plushes which are as fashionable as fur. The large flat muff and the long and moderately wide scarf are just as comfortable in plush as in fur. A good plush is handsomer than a cheap fur. The best idea of the new season is the use of plushes for making matched sets, muff, neck-piece and turban. There was never so great a variety of plushes to choose from, and of wool batting. The down beds are sold in the shops ready made and simplify the work of the woman who makes her own muff. Plushes are to be bought in narrow or wide weaves. Most of the heavier ones suitable for these sets are woven a yard and a half wide. Three-quarters of a yard will make a muff and scarf. JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

SYNTHETIC TANNIN.

Tar Distillation Product Said to Produce Fine Leather.

What is said to be a successful synthetic tannin has been discovered by Dr. Edmund Stiasny, assistant professor of the leather industries laboratories of the University of Leeds, England. The new tannin, which is called neradol, is made from tar distillation products, the synthesis being carried out by sulphonating cresylic acid and combining it then with formaldehyde. The white color of the neradol tanned leather and the brightening and bleaching effect of neradol when used in combination with other tannins (vegetable and chrome) are especially noteworthy.

Neradol is somewhat similar to ordinary tanning extract and forms a light brown solution in cold water. It is a pure tannin of 30 per cent strength according to the hide powder method and can be used in smaller quantities to obtain the same effects as those at present produced by the ordinary agents.

Dr. Stiasny has made a series of tests on hides and sheep and calf skins and has recently showed samples of leather ranging from light glazed kid to sole leather produced either with synthetic tannin alone or with it in combination with vegetable tannin, chrome or wood pulp liquors. In every case the product appeared to be satisfactory, the leather being supple, fine and strong in the case of the light skins, while the sample of insoling belly was flexible and clear and light in color. However, the synthetic product is not likely to greatly interest the sole leather manufacturer while it is the custom to sell such leather by weight, as the new tannin does not give weight—in fact, it produces a light tannage, and is, therefore, more likely to find commercial application in the manufacture of light leathers. But it is said to be useful in the early stages of sole leather tanning to prevent drawn grain.

It is quite possible, especially when it can be produced more cheaply—the price is stated to be about $97 per long ton—that the adoption of neradol tannage may have to be seriously considered by those interested in chrome tanning. Meanwhile it is probable that this synthetic material may be used in conjunction with both vegetable and chrome tannages, as it is claimed that it considerably hastens the process, and that, contrary to the general effect of quick processes, it improves the quality of the leather at the same time. It is stated that it has been already used on a fairly large scale in the German tanning industry. An advantage of the new tannin is that it can be prepared in a uniform manner, and the material is not subject to chemical changes.

An interesting experiment recently carried out consisted in placing a piece of calf pelt, which was badly discolored, in a solution of the synthetic tannin. After a few minutes the discoloration had completely disappeared, and the pelt was almost white. In about two hours the pelt was struck through.

with the tannin. The time occupied in tanning the various samples shown by Dr. Stiasny varied from two days to a few weeks. The combination tannage of neradol, wood pulp and vegetable tannin on a stout sheepskin took four days.

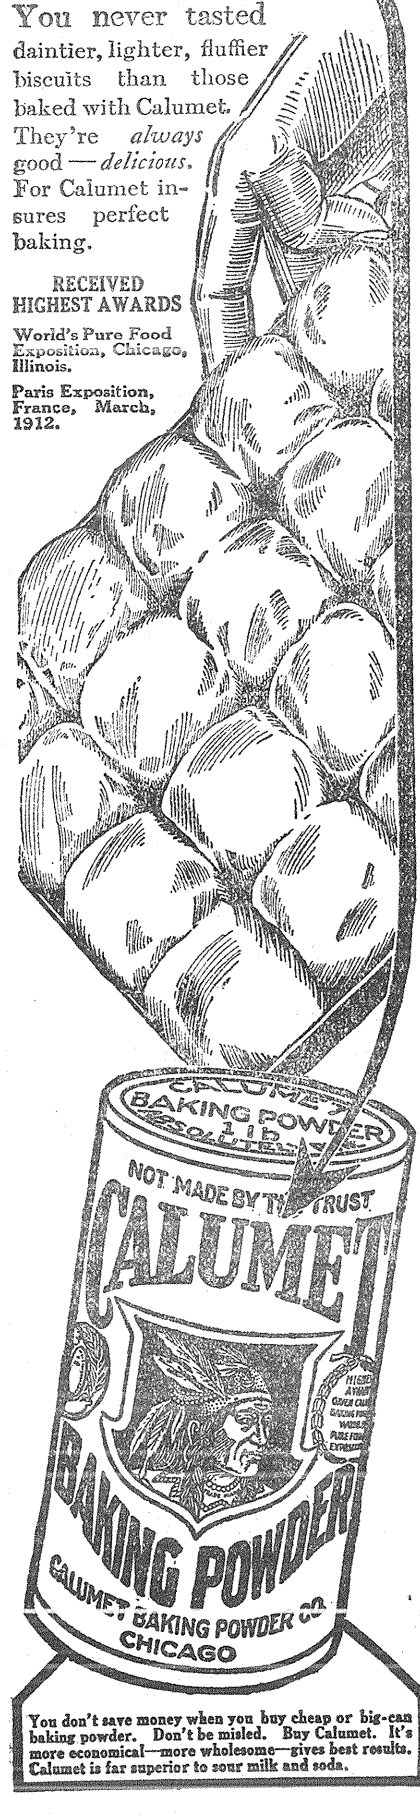

Healthy City Folks. Life in a great city does not necessarily lead to physical degeneration. There died a London fish hawk about four years ago who could trace his family back 200 years and had never heard of any addition of country blood. He died within a few weeks of his golden wedding and left twenty-one children, seventy-one grandchildren and twenty great-grandchildren. None of the children married out of the London district in which they lived, except a soldier son who emigrated. The old man piled his trade until within two days of his death and "could pull his barrow twenty miles. He had sinews like a young 'un and not a corn on his feet."

Do You Fear Consumption? No matter how chronic your cough or how severe your throat or lung ailment is, Dr. King's New Discovery will surely help you; it may save your life. Explained. There is on the south side of Chicago an amusement park named, from the French words "free from care," Sans Souci park. Two young men passed this park on a street car recently. One of them evidently was a stranger in the city and his friend was showing him about. Said the stranger: "What does Sans Souci mean?" His friend readily replied, "It's from the Spanish and means 'I should worry.'"—Everybody's.

See It In Action!

YOU have heard and read a great deal about the wonderful new heating stove invention--Estate Hot Storm--the stove with a "little furnace" in it; perhaps you have seen the stove at our store.

Next Friday, Oct. 17

You are going to have the opportunity of seeing this remarkable stove in action.

An expert from the Estate Factory will be here on that date to demonstrate the Estate Hot Storm to you, and to answer any questions about heating that you want to put up to him. The demonstration will be held on the sidewalk in front of our store, from 9 a. m. to 5 in the evening, and everybody is urged to attend.

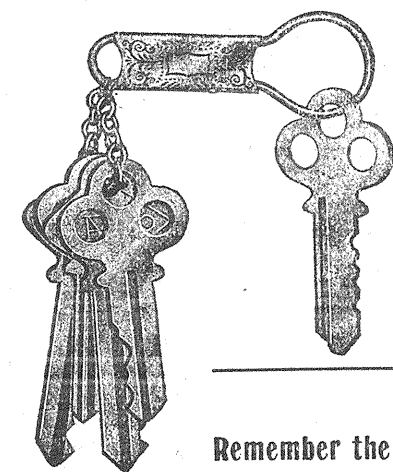

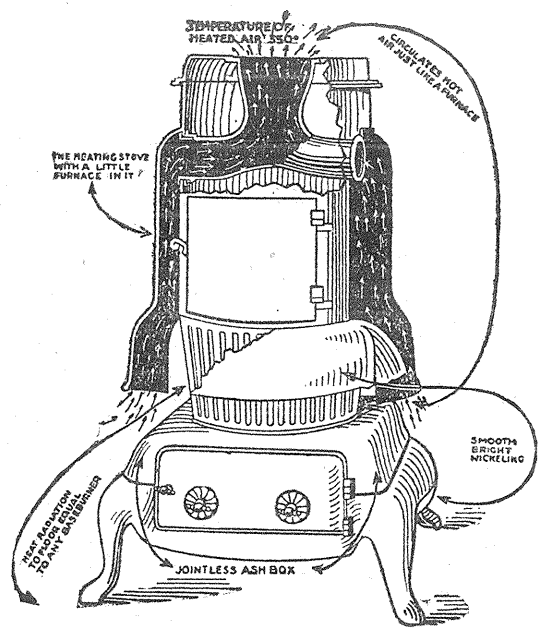

Estate HOT STORM

---the stove with a little furnace in it is without doubt the biggest and most important improvement that has ever been made in heating stove construction. It takes up no more room in your house, costs very little more to buy, and not a cent more to operate than the ordinary coal stove, yet it will do all the work of a furnace. "A parlor heating stove," it has been called, and the phrase fits it exactly.

How It Works

The Diagram herewith shows how the "little furnace" in the Estate Hot Storm sucks air from the room at both sides of the stove, carries it through the fire chamber, and discharges it from the top, heated to several hundred degrees, either into the room in which the stove sets, or into a pipe to conduct the heat to the rooms above. The hot air chamber has no obstructions, and every inch of its surface is exposed to high heats. No gases can get into it to contaminate the purity of the hot air which rushes through. It is in fact a hot-air furnace placed entirely within the body of the stove, furnishing a circulation of hot air which has never been approached in previous stove construction.

100 Handsome Souvenirs

To be distributed FREE at the Demonstration

The Estate Stove Company has sent us 100 handsome souvenirs to distribute to our friends at the demonstration. They are the new Patented Individual Chain Key Rings--the only device made that holds one key separate from the rest. Made of steel, handsomely nickel plated; exactly as shown in illustration; sell regularly at 15c. We will give these key rings, absolutely free, to the first 100 people who attend the demonstration and leave their names and addresses with the demonstrator. No souvenirs given to children.

IMPORTANCE OF HEALTHY KIDNEYS.

Chronicle Readers Should Learn to Keep the Kidneys Well.

The kidneys have a big work to do. All the blood in the body is coursing through the kidneys constantly to be freed of poisonous matter. It is a heavy enough task when the kidneys are well, but a cold, chill, fever or some thoughtless exposure is likely to irritate, inflame and congest the kidneys and interrupt the purifying work.

Then the aching frequently begins and is often accompanied by some irregularity of the urine--too frequent passages, sediment or retention. Thousands testify to the wonderful merit of Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy for the kidneys only, that has been used in kidney troubles 50 years. You will make no mistake in following this Cass City citizen's advice.

Mrs. David Tyo, Fourth St., Cass City, Mich., says: "About five years ago my kidneys became disordered and my back was very painful. The contents of two boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wood & Co.'s Drug Store cured me and I have had no return attack of my trouble."

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines.

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ diseases. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. For sale by all dealers.--Adv.

Making the Little Farm Pay

By C. C. BOWSFIELD

RECALLING the costly experience of last season, farmers and gardeners are preparing to make war on the cutworm and other pests of the kind. Caterpillars, in their various forms, were unusually destructive last summer in all parts of the country. They seemed to be getting the start of land owners in corn and cotton fields as well as in orchards and gardens.

The difficulty in fighting the cutworm lies chiefly in the fact that it operates extensively in fields and hides in the ground. Its operations cover such a wide territory and its migrations are so rapid that ordinary spraying processes are not effective. This caterpillar is identical with the army worm and probably the same as the cotton worm. In habits and formation it is identical, though rather larger in southern localities than in the northern lake region.

When a farmer knows in the spring that there are cutworms or army worms in his fields he should adopt vigorous measures. The extra work involved is cheaper than replanting his crops. A second plowing of the land is helpful, the last to be as near seeding time as possible. All methods of stirring the soil as summer warmth comes on are beneficial. The plow tears up the nesting places, throws the insects out where birds may get at them and creates a general disturbance.

This extra tillage is good for the land and will go a long way toward exterminating the pests. In connection with the work of plowing and cultivating it will pay to use a preparation made on the basis of one pound of Paris green, thirty pounds of bran and two quarts of molasses. Moisten the bran with water before mixing. This may be manufactured in larger lots if needed. It is to be spread thinly about the field. If placed around a garden, orchard or field it may serve to exclude all caterpillars. Kerosene emulsion is also recommended.

Where any crop has been damaged by the caterpillar pest it is a good policy to sow alsike. This is a profitable product, almost equal to cotton or corn, when cost is considered, and it is of great value to the soil.

Another good plan is to sow part of the affected ground to rape and allow a drove of hogs to forage on it. A rotation of crops, with an occasional application of the preparation described, will rid a farm of cutworms and similar creeping pests.

The cankerworm is best known as a pest of apple and cherry orchards, but it is even more destructive to elms. Modern methods require frequent spraying with arsenical poisons as a protection of fruit against the codling moth, and this has the incidental effect of killing canker worms.

The San Jose scale can be destroyed by the use of one of the lime and sulphur mixtures, which may be purchased ready made or brought into solution by boiling the raw materials together as follows: Fifteen pounds of lime, fifteen pounds of sulphur and fifty gallons of soft water. For fifty gallons of the spray heat twelve gallons of water in a four gallon iron kettle, mixing in a separate vessel fifteen pounds of sulphur with enough water to form a thin paste. Add this sulphur to the water in the kettle and bring the mixture to a temperature just below boiling. Then add fifteen pounds of best lump lime, keeping cold water at hand to use as the mixture threatens to boil over. After the lime is fully slaked, boil for forty minutes with almost constant stirring. Then strain into a fifty gallon tank and fill with warm water.

Codling moth, attacking apple and other fruit trees, should be treated with the bordeaux mixture, which can be purchased ready for use or made up as follows: Copper sulphate (blue vitriol), four pounds; quicklime (not air slaked), four pounds; water to make fifty gallons. Dissolve the copper sulphate by putting it in a bag of cheesecloth and hanging this in a vessel holding at least four gallons, so that it is just covered by water. Use an earthen or wooden vessel. Slake the lime by addition of a small quantity of water and when slaked cover freely with water and stir. Strain the milk of lime thus made into the copper sulphate. Pour more water over the remaining lime and stir the strain into the other until all lime but stone lumps is taken out.

The bordeaux mixture is effective in treating asparagus rust, cabbage worm, mildew, rot and parasites on grapes, early blight, scab and Colorado beetle on potatoes, leaf blight and insects on muskmelons and watermelons, worms on tomatoes, raspberries and blackberries, slugs and leaf blight on roses, leaf spot on strawberries, rot on fruit trees and nearly all insect pests and fungous diseases.

There is gold in manure, but you can't collect it while it lies in the barn lot.

Herbert Spencer and the Puddles.

On no one occasion was Herbert Spencer known to ride when going to a dinner, yet so carefully did he guard himself against the chance of soiling his dress shoes that he habitually carried a bundle of old newspapers under his arm. These were for the purpose of being dropped, one by one, into each mud puddle he might encounter on crossing the street. By the time he reached his destination the store of papers was exhausted. Muddy shoes on the return walk did not matter to him in the least.

No Reason to Work.

A large, slouchy colored man went shuffling down the road whistling like a lark. His clothes were ragged, and his shoes were out at the toes and heels, and he appeared to be in the depths of poverty for all his mirth. As he passed a prosperous looking house a man stepped from the doorway and hailed him. "Hey, Jim! I got a job for you. Do you want to make a quarter?" "No," said the ragged one. "I done got a quarter."—Washington Star.
