WM. SEEGER'S FUNERAL TUESDAY

SERVICES HELD AT PARENTAL
HOME IN GREENLEAF.

Young Man Died Sunday Morning
Following an Operation for Appendicitis.

The funeral of Charles William Seeger, the third son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Seeger of Greenleaf township, was held at the Seeger home Tuesday afternoon and the remains were interred in Elkland cemetery. Rev. D. J. Feather preached the funeral sermon and the Hub Quartette sang selections.

Charles William Seeger was born in Lancaster, New York, June 22, 1884. In November of 1886 the family moved to Michigan settling on the homestead four miles east and two miles north of Cass City and here the son was raised to manhood and has spent the greater part of his life. The deceased has always been in excellent health and was taken sick only Tuesday, September 8. On Friday he was taken to Pleasant Home Hospital and Saturday morning local physicians with the aid of a specialist operated for appendicitis but the operation was of no avail and the patient died Sunday at 2:30 a. m.

Besides his mother and father, the deceased is survived by five brothers, John, George, Arthur, Albert and Andrew, all of whom live in this vicinity, and three sisters, Miss Hattie Seeger of Belding, Mrs. Charles McCaslin and Miss Cora Seeger of this place. The five brothers and one brother-in-law acted as pall bearers.

Mr. Seeger was an industrious young man and his death is the first break in the family circle.

George Fitch of Owendale, Chris Seeger of Deford and George Paul and daughter, Clara, of Buffalo, New York, attended the funeral.

WANTS INSURANCE

O. A. Braman Sues to Collect $6,000
on Burned Deford Milk Plant.

Oliver A. Braman has commenced suit in circuit court against the Michigan Mutual Creamery and Cheese Factory Insurance Company, of Grand Rapids, to collect $6,000 insurance on the plant of the Standard Milk Company, destroyed by fire at Deford.

It is represented that the milk company failed to pay premiums on the insurance policy, and that Braman, in order to protect his interests in a mortgage on the plant for borrowed money, paid the premiums and secured transfer of the insurance to

New Plan of Taking Care of State's Wards Being Worked Out at Wahjamega

Fine Work Is Being Carried on Under Direction of Dr. R.
L. Dixon.

From Detroit Tribune.

Dr. Robert L. Dixon, superintendent of the Michigan Farm Colony for Epileptics, has a huge task before him, but bids fair to accomplish what he has set out to do. The task referred to is to equip the new state colony so that between 500 and 600 patients can be cared for within the next two years. Less than two months ago Dr. Dixon left his duties as secretary of the state board of health and accepted the new position created by an act of the last legislature which authorized an appropriation of $200,000 to create a farm colony for the care of epileptics. One of Dr. Dixon's principal ambitions is to make this colony self-sustaining. It's a hard proposition, yet there are already being advanced reasons why the doctor will accomplish what he has set out to do.

Situated in what was once the heart of the pine industry of Michigan, seven miles from Vassar and four from Caro, the county seat of Tuscola county, the new institution is still in its infancy. Over 1,500 acres of land is embraced in the site, which is located at a beautiful spot on the banks of the Cass river, once having the distinction of floating more pine logs than any other one Michigan stream.

It is pretty hard to start on a large farm and build up a state institution with beautiful grounds, buildings, etc., in the space of a year's time. Dr. Dixon has not started out to do this. Rather he has prepared the patients already taken from the Lapeer home to do their share toward building what himself November 21, 1913. Also that the plant was burned March 17, 1914, without fault or procurement of plaintiff, and that the plaintiff sustained a loss of $10,000.

The insurance company refused payment on the following grounds: That the plant was insured before completion; that the plant was never in operation; that the application misrepresented the facts—the boilers were not bricked in as stated, etc.; that other insurance was allowed to lapse without notifying the defendant; that no report of the amount of business done was ever made by the milk company; that the building burned under suspicious circumstances; that the policy was transferred to a third party illegally.

Plaintiff says the insurance company refused to arbitrate, therefore he brings suit.—Caro Courier.

Sandusky, North Branch and Mariette
Are Making Efforts to Secure D. U. R. Extension.

North Branch fair next week.

Unionville street and business places are now lighted by electricity.

Sandusky, North Branch and Mariette are towns that are making an effort to secure the extension of the D. U. R. from Inlay City north. Work will be started this fall on the road from Almont to Inlay City.

At a meeting of Tuscola county rural mail carriers on Labor Day the following officers were elected: President, I. M. Lewis, Akron; vice president, M. M. Osgerby, Vassar; secretary, M. D. Shaver, Caro; treasurer, B. A. Elliott, Kingston; trustee for three years, Mr. Grover, Colling.

Mariette bids good-by to its ancient and time-worn landmark—the village hall. Like the deacon's one-hoss shay, the time of its dissolution had to come and though long delayed it is here at last. The council has wisely given up the idea of trying to remodel the old ark and instead it will be razed to the ground and a new building will be erected.

John Mills was found dead by the woodshed of his home in Caro, his body still warm, undoubtedly the result of heart failure. Mrs. Mills had been away from the house a part of the afternoon and returning at four o'clock, went to look for him. He had evidently been engaged in getting kindlings, as the saw was lying near his hand. Mr. Mills was a well

VASSAR FARMER KILLED BY HORSE

FOUND DEAD IN BARN SUNDAY MORNING.

Chas. Palmer Released After Coroner's Jury Announced Their Opinion in Case.

Chas. Palmer, a picture salesman from Chicago, who was arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in causing the death of Fred Loesel, a wealthy German farmer near Vassar, was released Monday morning. The coroner's jury found that Loesel was killed by his horse, by being crushed against the stall or the animal having fallen on him.

Fred Loesel was found dead in his barn at his farm five miles northwest of Vassar early Sunday morning. He was badly bruised, and it was thought he had been murdered. Adam Loesel, a brother, called Deputy Sheriff Edward Humes, who arrested Charles Palmer, who had been with Loesel Saturday night and accompanied him home. Officers tried to get Loesel to go home early in the evening, but he stayed until he became intoxicated, and, according to Palmer's story, asked him to go home with him. The two started home about 10 o'clock.

Palmer says that Loesel told him to stay in the buggy while he put the horse in the stable. He said he waited in the buggy about half an hour and then went to look for his companion, whom he found on the stable floor. He tried to get him up but was so intoxicated himself that he called for help from the house. Mrs. Loesel and the son, Edmond, succeeded in getting him in the house. A physician was called, but could do nothing for the man.

Coroner Lyons called for a post-mortem, and it was found that the man died from ephysema, the left lung being crushed. The doctors said the blow was too heavy to be given by a man. Fred Loesel leaves a wife and eight children, six boys and two girls, the oldest being 21 and the youngest 3 years old, her birthday being Sunday. He had four brothers and one sister, Mrs. Michael Stern, John C., John M., Adam and Willie Loesel, all of whom live near Vassar and are among the wealthiest and most respected German families.

FRITCH-NIQUE NUPTIALS

Former Shabbona Young Man Married
September 8.

The following account of the marriage of Harvey Nique, formerly of Shabbona, is taken from the Oxford Leader:

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at high noon on Tuesday, Sept. 8th, at the home of the bride's parents, Bell View Farm, when Hazel M., only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Fritch, and Harvey A. Nique were united in marriage by Rev. Cronkrite, who married the bride's parents, assisted by Rev. Barclay.

Promptly at twelve o'clock the bridal party entered the room to the strains of the beautiful song "Oh Promise Me" sung by Mrs. M. W. Fritch, accompanied by Mr. C. Wilder, before a bank of ferns and flowers.

The bride was gowned in pearl white crepe de chene and oriental overlace and carried a showerbouquet of sweet peas and carnations. She was attended by Miss Bernice Nicholas, of Metamora, as bridesmaid, who was dressed in lavender silk and crepe de chene. She carried a bouquet of lavender flowers. Harmon, brother of the bride, acted as best man.

Little Lester, nephew of the bride, acted as ring bearer, and Miss Alice Peck as flower girl.

Following the ceremony a fine two course dinner was served, the color scheme of the decorations being lavender and white.

Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Nique left amid showers of rice and good wishes in a motor car for a trip through the state. The bride was attired in a tailored suit of dove blue.

The esteem in which the young couple are held was shown by the large number of checks and handsome, useful presents. The groom's gift to the bride was a piano.

Guests were present from Detroit, Flint, Decker, Inlay City, Metamora, Leonard, New Haven, Deckerville and Edmonton, Alberta.

TABERNACLE

BIBLE STUDY ON

JUDGMENT OF THE NATIONS.

Matthew 25:31-46—Sept. 20.
"Inasmuch as ye did it not unto one of the least of these, ye did it not unto Me."
—Verse 45.

IN the past many of us read the Bible too carelessly. For instance, today's lesson was at one time applied to the Church. We failed altogether to notice that it says not one word respecting the Church, but is entirely applied to the heathen.
The Jews were accustomed to think of themselves as God's people, and to style all others heathen, Gentiles, nations. In the prophecies God treated the matter from this standpoint.

In this parable our Lord tells us what will befall after His Kingdom shall have been set up—after the selection of the Church to be the Bride, the Lamb's Wife and Joint-heir in His Throne. Who after proper consideration of the beginning of the parable will dispute that this is a description of Mes-siah's Kingdom
following His Pa-roussia and His Epiphania at His Second Advent?

The work of the Millennial Age is then delineated.
"Before Him shall be gathered all nations." All the world, except God's holy nation, the Church, will be before His great white Throne of Justice, Mercy and Love. Then will be their judgment time.

Six thousand years ago, in Eden,
Adam and his entire race were judged, and the sentence was death. In due time God sent His Son to die for Adam's sin, so that "as by a man came death [of the entire race], by a man [Jesus] also will come the resurrection of the dead"—[the entire race]. "For as all in Adam die, even so all in Christ shall be made alive"—"every man in his own order."—1 Corinthians 15:21, 22.

The first to be made alive in Christ is the Church. These pass their judgment, their trial, for life or death everlasting in the present time. Hence the worthy ones will be quite ready to be Messiah's Bride class, joint-heirs with Him in His Kingdom and in His work of judging the world.—1 Corinthians 6:2.

The World's Judgment Day.

The gathering of the world before that Throne will be the result of knowledge. The Time of Trouble will lead on to great knowledge. All blind eyes shall be opened, all deaf ears un-stopped, and the knowledge of God's glory will fill the earth. Some there will be who, resisting this knowledge, will decline to accept Christ and will not come into this judgment, but after a hundred years of resistance will be destroyed.

Those in the parable are such as have accepted Christ's terms, and desire to be on judgment, or trial, for everlasting life. This will include all in their graves. Messiah's Kingdom will disseminate the knowledge of God and of righteousness, with a view to uplifting all the willing and obedient out of sin and death conditions to the full image of God, as possessed by Father Adam in the beginning.

But what about heart conditions? If conformity to the Divine Law will bring blessings, would not some come into harmony merely because this outward harmony would bring Restitution? Undoubtedly this is correct reasoning. It is along this line that the parable before us teaches; namely, that outwardly sheep and goats will have much the same appearance, except to the Judge, the King. He will read the heart, and ultimately will manifest to all that there has been a real heart difference between the two classes, all of whom will have been on trial for a thousand years.

The Basis of Judgment.

Meantime each individual will have been making character. That character will be fully appreciated by the Great Judge, and the individual rated as a sheep or a goat. But not until the conclusion of the Millennium will His decision be manifested.

The kingdom given to the sheep class is not the Messianic Kingdom, but that given to Adam, and lost through disobedience. Christ redeemed it by His sacrifice. The everlasting punishment to which the goat class is assigned is
the Second Death
—"everlasting destruction." No provision will be made for redemption and resurrection from
the Second Death.

While blessings
will be showered upon those who accept the Lord's terms, others will need assistance.

Those having God's Spirit of Love will be glad to apply the eye-salve of Truth to the spiritually blind, glad to unstop deaf ears and to help the sin-sick back into harmony with God—helping them to cover their nakedness with the merit of Christ.

The prison referred to in the parable is undoubtedly the great prison-house of death, into which approximately twenty thousand millions of individuals already have gone. During the Millennium the awakening from the dead will, we believe, come about by Divine Power, in answer to prayer.

Thus the race will come forth in reverse order to that in which they entered the tomb.

outdoor life with a high degree of industry. Already these patients have manufactured 10,000 cement blocks, and it is planned to continue the block-making industry throughout the winter, thereby having on hand blocks for the construction of future buildings, many of which are planned already and will be erected next year.

Just at the present time the patients are employed in digging sewers, and more particularly in constructing a large tunnel from one of the main buildings to the power house.

Dr. Dixon says that he plans, within a short time, to place in one of the buildings some simple machinery, and have a class of patients manufacture chairs and tables, to be used for the equipment of future buildings.

One of the most valuable assets of the institution at the present time is a first-class herd of pure bred Holstein cattle. One of the finest dairy barns to be found in the state was on the farm when it was purchased and this gives the patients ample milk and butter and enough is left over to provide a profit to the institution.

While the soil of the farm is in large part a sandy loam, yet all kinds of crops can be raised on it.

Two large buildings for the patients are now in course of construction, and when completed will be a great asset to the institution, which has had to be content with rather crowded quarters for several reasons.

The colony plan for the care of epileptics has just recently been established in this country, having been tried and proven highly beneficial in Germany. This was taken into consideration when the 1913 session of the legislature authorized the $200,- 000 appropriation and paved the way for the care of epileptic patients, not insane, to be transferred from the various state institutions to the new farm colony as fast as quarters can be made for them. This means that within the next two years the institution must have reached a growth that will care for between 500 and 600 patients, and this will be the aim of the colony. It was demonstrated some time ago that the policy of keeping epileptics in institutions for the feeble-minded in county jails and county infirmaries, as well as at large among the public, was entirely wrong, and for this reason the plan of a farm colony was favored. It appears to be the logical solution of the present complicated grouping of certain of the state's wards.

The board of control of the institution is composed of Gov. Ferris, M.
T. Murray, secretary of the state board of corrections and charities;
Judge H. S. Hulbert, Detroit; Thos.
Gordon, Jr., Howell, and E. J. Rice,
a Vassar merchant. Clay W. Gage, the steward, having been formerly connected with the auditor general's department in Lansing, is well versed with the state's method of bookkeeping and purchasing.

Dr. Dixon, acknowledged to be an expert in the class of work in which he is engaged, also has a training along many other lines that will prove valuable to him at the new institution.

NOVESTA.

On the evening of Sept. 7, a complete surprise was sprung on Omar Glaspie by his wife in honor of his 28th anniversary which occurred on the next day, Sept. 8. He was invited to spend the evening with his cousin, Miss Blanch Frost, and in their absence from home a nice little company of 46 of their friends gathered in bringing with them the sweets and the sour. The telephone called them home and you can guess what Mr. Omar received when they arrived. As the two hands of the clock pointed upward, the company was served with splendid music and refreshments. Many gifts were presented; also a purse of money. After wishing him many happy returns of the day, all returned home in the wee hours of the 8th.

When A. C. Edgerton's mother announced her intention of visiting relatives in Detroit this week, one of the first things the popular science teacher at the local schools did was to bring down his college alarm clock and give it a thorough overhauling. Early in the week, Mr. Edgerton dropped into the Chronicle office to inquire if any of the ladies' aids were advertising suppers at the church dining rooms this week. This may be taken as evidence that Mr. Edgerton has not acquired such proficiency in the cooking game that he is entirely satisfied with his efforts in that line. "Batching" may have its delights, but not at meal time" is his opinion.

"It wouldn't cost anything," remarked B. J. Dailey recently when the fire whistle blew, "to have the town divided into four sections, taking the intersection of Main and Seeger Sts. as the center. After the general alarm was given, one, two, three or four blasts could be sounded to designate the section of the town in which the fire was located." This idea is passed on to the members of the fire department for their consideration, and if they deem it wise, to number the sections. Quite frequently when the fire whistle blows, citizens run several blocks to the fire hall and find that the fire is located but a few doors or blocks away from their home or place of employment which they left so hastily. Had they known where the fire was located, they might have saved their energies for more useful employment at the scene of conflagration.

The Wisest Decision

Any housekeeper can come to is to resolve that from now on she will serve her family with nothing but the very best eatables that she can buy.

If she will make that decision, and will stick to it, she will be dollars ahead every month.

Any housekeeper who makes such a decision can make the working out of it a success by getting her supplies HERE.

Our kind of eatables cost no more than the others, but if they did they would still be the cheapest.

Cash paid for butter and eggs.

Hamlet and the Doctors.

Hamlet "fat and scant of breath" and encumbered with "too, too solid flesh." Hamlet swaying indecisively between profoundest gloom and hysterical gaiety, is diagnosed by the Medical Press and Circular, which says: "Read the play and consider how such a man would be treated today. The diagnosis is clear at last. A gouty diathesis and auto-intoxication with protein fermentation fills the bill and Hamlet's abdomen. We would promptly do a gastrostomy and prescribe liquid paraffin."

These Are Fall
Opening Days

If you would like to see what are the right things this fall and winter in ladies' head-gear--we are waiting to show them to you.

There are changes from last season--plenty of them. Changes that are important, even radical.

No lady who really "CARES" can afford to miss our display.

We shall not attempt even a partial description. We cannot do the subject justice.

So we shall content ourselves with emphasizing the fact that we shall be looking for you. By all means come--and tell your friends about us.

Any day now is the right time.

SASH BOWS IN FRONT.

So Fashion Decees They Shall Be Tied This Season.

GREEN SILK GOWN.

For the fair maid of the debutante set an afternoon frock like the one pictured here is exceedingly dainty. In most cases it will be found becoming. The dress is of green pussy willow taffeta mottled with white. Style features of the gown are the kimono sleeves and the surplice front showing a vest of cream colored shadow lace. The sash of black satin tied in the front is fastened by a jet ornament. Plaited frills of the material adorn the lower part of the skirt.

WILLOW PATTERN PLATES.

Old Blue and White Design Popular For Decorative Purposes.

The old blue and white china that was so familiar to our grandmothers is high in favor nowadays, but as a treasured curiosity. Its soft deep blues or grays tone well with oak and add a delightful note of color to a girl's den. In modern reproductions it is far from being expensive.

The old fashioned china has a rhyme attached to it which runs thus:

Two little birds flying high,
Little vessels sailing by;
Chinese temple there it stands,
Seems to cover all the land.
Weeping willow bending o'er Little bridges with three or four Orange trees with oranges on,
Paisanading all along.

And the ancient Chinese romance told by the design is that of two long ago lovers who eloped from an angry father. He followed them over a bridge, and they took a boat. Still, he pursued, and rather than be separated the lovers turned themselves into two birds and flew away.

PEACH STAINS.

They May Usually Be Removed With Javelle Water.

Peaches should always be served with a dolly, as there is no fruit stain so difficult to remove. It will yield to renewed applications of javelle water, but the cloth is weakened unless great pains are used.

Javelle water, by the way, is a convenient article to keep in the house, but it should be under lock and key or high on a shelf out of reach of inquisitive children. It is simply a solution of choride of potash and if purchased under that name will cost less than when bought as javelle water.

Pour a little of the solution over a stain; then almost immediately immerse the garment in lukewarm water and rub well.

If the spot does not come out repeat the operation, letting it soak a moment longer in the solution.

HOUSEHOLD HELPS.

Do not use strong soapsuds on paint, varnish, linoleum or oil-cloth. Wash such a surface with tepid water and a little powdered borax. Going over it with a soft cloth wet with milk and water is beneficial.

If egg yolks are put in a jelly glass and covered with cold water they will remain fresh and soft for several days. Change the water gently each morning.

If ants should invade the house remember that they detest ground cloves and will not cross a white chalk line.

A wooden rack which can be scrubbed daily is a great protection to a porcelain sink.

An apple in the bread box keeps the contents moist, and a slice of bread in the cake box keeps cookies and cakes from becoming dry.

After sweeping matting go over it with a woolen cloth dipped in a solution of salt and water. This is far better and more lasting than using ammonia.

Different Now.

"It's funny how marriage will change a man," said Flogg the other day. "There's Moustier, for example. Before he was married a glance of May Taintor would intoxicate him, so he used to say. Now when he comes home late at night and meets Mrs. Moustier, nee Taintor, the sight of her actually sobers him."—Boston Transcript.

Spanish Cedar.

Only one wood, Spanish cedar (Cedrela odorata) is commonly used for cigar boxes. Sometimes a cheaper wood may form the basis of the box, with paper thin veneers of the tropical cedar over it.

NOTICE OF LETTING GILLIES DRAIN.

Notice is hereby given that I, Albert Hunter, County Drain Commissioner of the County of Tuscola, State of Michigan, will on Sept. 24, A. D. 1914, at the Deford Hotel in the Village of Deford at nine o'clock in the forenoon of that day, proceed to receive bids for the construction of a certain drain known and designated as the Gillies Drain, located and established in the Township of Novesta and traversing sections numbered 19 in town 13, north range 11 east in said county and state.

Said job will be first offered in sections and will be let in sections, or otherwise, as may be determined by me to be for the best interests of all concerned, which determination will be announced on that day; if let by sections that at the outlet will be let first, and the remaining sections in their order up stream, in accordance with the diagram now on file with the other papers pertaining to said drain, in my office, to which reference may be had by all parties interested, and bids must be made and will be received accordingly. Each bidder will be required to deposit, in advance, with the County Drain Commissioner a check, properly endorsed, in the sum of not less than five hundred dollars ($500.00) certified to by the cashier of some bank or banker doing business in Tuscola County, as a guaranty of good faith and of a purpose to enter into a contract for the performance of the work if making a successful bid. Contracts will be made with the lowest responsible bidder giving adequate security for the performance of the contract, in a sum then and there to be fixed by me, but the right to reject any and all bids is hereby expressly reserved to myself. The date for the completion of the work, and the terms of payment therefor, will be announced at the time and place of letting.

At the same time and place bids will also be received for the construction and erecting of the several necessary bridges incidental to said drain, and bidders therefor will be required to deposit checks certified and in like amount as hereinbefore required of the other class of bidders. Bridge bids must in all respects conform to specifications prepared therefor and which will on the day of letting, be made fully known to prospective bidders. In addition to bonds mentioned, successful bidders for both drain and bridges will also be required to give supplemental bonds in a sum of not less than one thousand dollars, each conditioned for the payment of debts incurred for labor employed and materials used in connection with their respective undertakings.

Notice is further hereby given that at the time and place of said letting, or at such other time and place thereafter to which I, said County Drain Commissioner, may adjourn the same, the assessments for benefits and the lands comprised within the special assessment district of such drain and the apportionment thereof will be announced by me and will be subject to review for one day; such review will be held from nine o'clock in the forenoon until five o'clock in the afternoon of the day named.

The following are descriptions of the several tracts or parcels of land constituting the special assessment district of such drain.

You Have Neighbors Who Use

Home-made Acetylene For Lighting and Cooking

For the asking you can have the name and address of the nearest one. Then you can, if you wish, make an evening call and get the facts at first hand.

All told we have sold no less than six thousand Pilot Acetylene Plants to the people in your state.

These people are our friends. Anyone of them will be proud to show you just how these Pilot plants work—how they automatically mix the gas producing stone, Union Carbide, with plain water. How they make just enough Acetylene to keep the lights and the range going—no more, no less.

They will show you also how the Pilot starts making this gas when the lights are turned on—and stops when the lights are turned off. How this gas is piped to handsome light fixtures in every room in the house—as well as to big, round safety lights in all barns and out-buildings.

The women folks in these homes will be glad to show you too just what a boon the Acetylene range is—how it furnishes heat on tap that can be regulated with a little valve—how it does away with handling wood, coal and ashes and makes the kitchen work easy.

You cannot judge the Pilot Acetylene Light Plant by what you have seen and heard of other Acetylene plants.

You must see a Pilot plant and talk to the people it works for. Then you will have a clearer understanding as to why over two hundred thousand country families now find home-made Acetylene indispensable.

Better Light Than City Homes Enjoy

The Pilot makes Acetylene the right way—makes it so well that it provides country homes with even a better light and fuel than the gas which twenty million city people are enjoying.

After you have inspected a Pilot plant we will leave it to you to say whether it doesn't make the whitest, the most brilliant, and most beautiful light you have ever seen.

We will leave it to you also to say whether stationary Acetylene fixtures are not much safer than oil lamps, which can be tipped over.

As a matter of fact—only two accidents have been charged to the misuse and abuse of Pilot Acetylene, while ten thousand accidents have been charged to oil illuminants in a single year.

That is why the Oxweld Company, makers of Pilot Light machines, has grown to be the largest concern of its kind in the world.

Complete Pilot Light Plants may be purchased from dealers in Oxweld Acetylene Company products. These dealers are permanently located in some three thousand different towns.

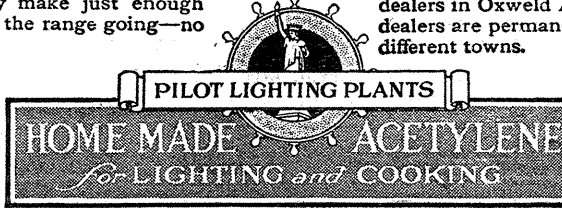

The Oxweld Company's advertising books, telling the whole Acetylene story—with full details about the installation of the Pilot, its cost, economies, etc., will be sent free of all cost to anyone.

O. HENRY'S STORIES

II.—Witches' Loaves

By O. HENRY

Copyright, 1911, by Doubleday, Page & Co.

MISS MARTHA MEACHAM kept the little bakery on the corner (the one where you go up three steps, and the bell tinkles when you open the door).

Miss Martha was forty, her bank-book showed a credit of $2,000, and she possessed two false teeth and a sympathetic heart. Many people have married whose chances to do so were much inferior to Miss Martha's.

Two or three times a week a customer came in in whom she began to take an interest. He was a middle-aged man, wearing spectacles and a brown beard trimmed to a careful point.

He spoke English with a strong German accent. His clothes were worn and darned in places and wrinkled and baggy in others. But he looked neat and had very good manners.

He always bought two loaves of stale bread. Fresh bread was 5 cents a loaf. Stale ones were two for 5. Never did he call for anything but stale bread.

Once Miss Martha saw a red and brown stain on his fingers. She was sure then that he was an artist and very poor. No doubt he lived in a garret, where he painted pictures and ate stale bread and thought of the good times to eat in Miss Martha's bakery.

Often when Miss Martha sat down to her chops and light rolls and jam and tea she would sigh and wish that the genteel mannered artist might share her tasty meal instead of eating his dry crust in that drafty attic. Miss Martha's heart, as you have been told, was a sympathetic one.

In order to test her theory as to his occupation, she brought from her room one day a painting that she had bought at a sale and set it against the shelves behind the bread counter.

It was a Venetian scene. A splendid marble palazzo (so it said on the picture) stood in the foreground—or, rather, forewater.

For the rest there were gondolas (with the lady trailing her hand in the water), clouds, sky and chiaroscuro in plenty. No artist could fail to notice it.

Two days afterward the customer came in.

"Two loafs of stale bread, if you please. You haf here a fine picture, madam," he said while she was wrapping up the bread.

"Yes?" says Miss Martha, reveling in her own cunning. "I do so admire art and"—no, it would not do to say "artists" thus early—"and paintings," she substituted. "You think it is a good picture?"

"Der balace," said the customer, "is not in goot drawing. Der balerspective of it is not true. Goot morning, madam."

He took his bread, bowed and hurried out.

Yes, he must be an artist. Miss Martha took the picture back to her room.

How gentle and kindly his eyes shone behind his spectacles! What a broad brow he had!

To be able to judge perspective at a glance—and to live on stale bread! But genius often has to struggle before it is recognized.

What a thing it would be for art and perspective if genius were backed by $2,000 in bank, a bakery and a sympathetic heart to— But these were day dreams, Miss Martha.

Often now when he came he would chat for awhile across the showcase. He seemed to crave Miss Martha's cheerful words.

He kept on buying stale bread. Never a cake, never a pie, never one of her delicious Sally Lunn's.

She thought he began to look thinner and discouraged.

Her heart ached to add something good to eat to his meager purchase, but her courage failed at the act.

She did not dare affront him. She knew the pride of artists.

Miss Martha took to wearing her blue dotted silk waist behind the counter.

In the back room she cooked a mysterious compound of quince seeds and borax. Ever so many people use it for the complexion.

One day the customer came in as usual, laid his nickel on the showcase and called for his stale loaves.

While Miss Martha was reaching for them there was a great tooting and clanging, and a fire engine came lumbering past.

The customer hurried to the door to look, as any one will. Suddenly inspired, Miss Martha seized the opportunity.

On the bottom shelf behind the counter was a pound of fresh butter that the dairyman had left ten minutes before. With a bread knife Miss Martha made a deep slash in each of the stale loaves, inserted a generous quantity of butter and pressed the loaves tight again.

When the customer turned once more she was tying the paper around them.

When he had gone, after an unusually pleasant little chat, Miss Martha smiled to herself, but not without a slight fluttering of the heart.

Had she been too bold? Would he take offense? But surely not. There was no language of edibles. Butter was no emblem of unmaidenly forwardness.

For a long time that day her mind dwelt on the subject. She imagined the scene when he should discover her little deception.

He would lay down his brushes and palette. There would stand his easel, with the picture he was painting in which the perspective was beyond criticism.

He would prepare for his luncheon of dry bread and water. He would slice into a loaf—ah!

Miss Martha blushed. Would he think of the hand that placed it there as he ate? Would he—

The front doorbell jangled viciously. Somebody was coming in, making a great deal of noise.

Miss Martha hurried to the front. Two men were there. One was a young man smoking a pipe—a man she had never seen before. The other was her artist.

His face was very red, his hat was on the back of his head, his hair was wildly rumpled.

He clinched his two fists and shook them ferociously at Miss Martha—at Miss Martha.

"Drummkopf!" he shouted with extreme loudness, and then "Tausendoller!" or something like it in German. The young man tried to draw him away.

"I will not go," he said angrily, "else I shall tell her."

He made a bass drum of Miss Martha's counter.

"You half spoilit me," he cried, his blue eyes blazing behind his spectacles. "I will tell you. You vas von meddingsome old cat!"

Miss Martha leaned weakly against the shelves and laid one hand on her blue dotted silk waist. The young man took the other by the collar.

"Come on," he said; "you've said enough." He dragged the angry one out at the door to the sidewalk and then came back.

"Guess you ought to be told, ma'am," he said, "what the row is about. That's

"You vas von meddingsome old cat!"

Blumberger. He's an architectural draftsman. I work in the same office with him.

"He's been working hard for three months drawing a plan for a new city hall. It was a prize competition. He finished inking the lines yesterday. You know, a draftsman always makes his drawing in pencil first. When it's done he rubs out the pencil lines with handfuls of stale breadcrumbs. That's better than india rubber."

"Blumberger's been buying the bread here. Well, today—well, you know, ma'am, that butter isn't—well, Blumberger's plan isn't good for anything now except to cut up into railroad sandwiches."

Miss Martha went into the back room. She took off the blue dotted silk waist and put on the old brown serge she used to wear.

Then she poured the quince seed and borax mixture out of the window into the ash can.

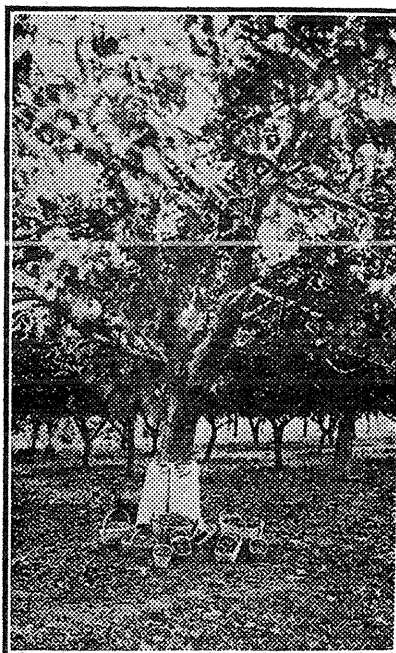

Farm and Garden

TREES IMPROVE THE FARM.

They Add Both Beauty and Value to the Ground About Them.

Twenty years ago, says a contributor to the Farm Progress, on a spring morning my mother and I spent the forenoon planting walnuts in fence rows along the lane. I remember the only tool we had was a sprouting hoe. I scratched out the dirt and leaves from the fence corners—it was a high stake and rider affair—and she would drop the walnuts from an apronful she carried. Nearly every walnut came up. We planted them on both sides of a lane, a quarter of a mile in length, running up to the two room log house.

The place has changed very much since that time. There is a two story frame house on the site of the old log cabin. A big red barn stands just back of the place where we planted the first walnut tree. Nothing, however, has made any more of a change about the farm than the double line of walnut trees that now flank the lane. They have grown wonderfully fast. Some of them are now worth many dollars each.

The trees are of two varieties, white and black walnut, the white outgrowing the other. It is the most talked about row of trees in that county, and its splendid showing has caused scores of other trees to be planted.

Aside from their monetary worth, these rows of walnuts have added hundreds of dollars to the value of the place, and any buyer looking for a home would be fascinated by them. Some of them have gone to a height above sixty feet, and their branches have reached out till they touch from one tree to another. In places the taller and sturdier of the trees nearly form an archway across the lane.

No especial care was taken in the planting of these trees. They were hardly expected to grow. For some years they were at the mercy of stock running in the pasture and in the orchard. But they survived in spite of the breakings, mutilations and tramping they suffered, and every one of them is flourishing now.

In case it is ever desired to turn them into lumber, and walnut is temptingly valuable since the revival of walnut furniture, they would be worth a large sum of money. There is no probability, however, of their ever being cut down and hauled to the mills.

Fumigating a Barrel.

Flour moths and other insects that destroy meal, flour and other stored food products are best controlled by fumigating with carbon bisulphide. The barrel containing the infested food should be placed where the odor of the gas will not be objectionable while the fumigation is going on. The proper precautions against exploding the gas by fires and lights must also be taken.

On top of the flour, meal, hams or what not is placed a small earthenware dish. Into this dish is poured the carbon bisulphide, used at the rate of one pound for every thousand cubic feet of air space to be fumigated.

Then the barrel is well covered to prevent the escape of gas and the fumigation is allowed to go on for at least twenty-four hours. Although the gas has a most disagreeable odor, that odor is not lasting and does not in the least impregnate the foods thus fumigated.—Country Gentleman.

Planting in the Fall.

Most kinds of deciduous trees and shrubbery can be planted with success in the fall. There are advantages, too, in planting them at that time. The heat in the soil, stored up from the long season of warm weather, is retained in a degree up until early winter. This warm soil encourages root growth in the newly planted tree and enables it to become established and ready to start growing with the first warm days of spring. This means that the planter will get better results than if the planting had been deferred until the next season.

Another advantage is because the spring season is so short, and there is usually so much to be done that it is almost impossible to do all. The fall season, extending over a longer period, enables one to accomplish this work in a much more satisfactory manner.—Suburban Life.

Kitchen Kinks

Intelligent Use of Butter.

It is almost universally admitted that vegetables require the addition of fat in order that they may be at their best, and there is no fat which is so suitable as butter for the majority of vegetables, judged by the character of the dish and also by its flavor.

Some housekeepers have a way of looking upon the use of butter, milk and cream in the preparation of vegetables, soups and sauces as if these ingredients were simply "luxuries" and not food essentials. But it should be remembered that these articles are valuable foods and naturally increase the food value of the dish of which they form a part. They are all wholesome foods, and, although generally more expensive than the vegetable foods with which they are combined, their use in reasonable quantities is certainly to be recommended.

Increasing the cost of the dish by the free use of butter, cream, etc., may, after all, be economy if the increase is intelligently made, and the vegetable soups and purees made richer as well as more appetizing by the addition of butter or cream combined with smaller quantities of meat.

Preserved Ginger.

Those people who like it should keep a few jars of preserved ginger on hand. Now is the time to buy the ginger root. Young roots are put into a vessel and kept at the scalding point until tender, when they should be peeled in cold water. Make a thin sirup and pour it over the ginger and allow it to remain for five days. Then place the ginger in the jars for keeping and enrich the sirup by the addition of sugar. Boil thoroughly and pour over the ginger. It is then ready for sealing.

Ginger pears are novel. The pears should be ripe. Peel them and remove the cores, then cut into thin slices. To every four pounds of pears allow the juice of two large lemons, three and one-half pounds of sugar, four ounces of ginger root shaved fine and one gill of water. Dissolve the sugar, then drop in the pears, ginger and lemon juice and cook for an hour very slowly. Place in the cans and seal when hot.

Blanched Vegetables.

Green string beans, onions, full grown lima beans and other green garden vegetables are made more delicate and palatable for many by blanching them, to remove the strong or acrid flavor, before cooking them. This is done by dropping the prepared vegetables into a saucepan well filled with boiling water and salted, immediately brought back to boiling point and boiled continuously from five to twenty minutes, according to the kind and condition of the vegetable.

The cover, if used at all, should only partially cover the saucepan. The blanched vegetables must not stand in this water. If not convenient to finish cooking them at once, drain them from the hot water, throw into cold water to cool at once; then drain again and set in a cool place covered with a piece of cheesecloth until ready to finish the cooking.

Fruit Sirups.

To make fruit sirups boil the fruit till soft and let it drip through a jelly bag. Put juice in a preserving kettle, boil and skim it, add a pint of sugar to each quart of juice, boil it five minutes, and skim. Have ready bottles sterilized by putting them in cool water brought to a boil. Fill them with the sirup and stand them in pans of water in the oven for ten minutes. Have boiling juice ready, fill the bottles, put in corks that have been in boiling water, and coat the corks with paraffin. Stand the bottles where no draft can strike them till cool; keep them in a cool, dark place.

Dutch Butter Cakes.

Dutch butter cakes are delicious. They are made as follows: Take one-half pound butter, three cupsful flour, one-half pound brown sugar, a heaping teaspoonful baking powder, one-fourth pound sweet almonds and yolk of one egg, cut into small pieces. Mix butter and sugar until soft; add all other ingredients, mix thoroughly with hands until they stick together; form into cakes and brush each with white of egg. Bake in very hot oven; not too brown, as otherwise butter becomes too dry.

How to Can Beets.

Wash young beets, and leave on an inch of the stems. Boil them till tender, drop them in cold water then rub off the skin, pack them tightly in jars, set these on a rack, fill the jars to overflowing with boiling water, and add a teaspoonful of salt to each jar. Put on rubbers and covers loosely, set the jars in a kettle of water that partly covers them, and boil them for three-quarters of an hour. Then tighten the covers and let them cool in the kettle. Carrots may be canned in the same way.

Crisp Cabbage.

To treat cabbage in order to have it retain all its fresh, crisp, clean qualities for a long time, strip off the root and old outside leaves clear down to a compact head. Take two or three thicknesses of clean newspapers and wrap each cabbage in a tight, neat little bundle. Place in a box or barrel.

known figure in Caro where he has been a respected resident for forty years.

At the primary election in Sanilac county, Benjamin Bishop, of Decker-ville, was nominated on the Progressive ticket for sheriff, his name being written in several townships. The county canvassing board has ruled that he cannot be placed on the official ballot and now it is rumored that the "dry" forces are back of a movement to run Bishop on slips at the fall election.

While gathering mushrooms in a pasture field one mile east and one mile north of Argyle, Hazel, the thirteen year old daughter of John Langenburg, met an unexpected death. The little girl was picking mushrooms near an old family horse, that had heretofore been of a kindly disposition. Suddenly the horse, as if resenting the encroachment upon his feeding grounds, gave Hazel a vicious kick behind the ear, death following soon after.

Thos. Proctor, aged 65 years, a farmer of Carsonville, was instantly killed on the farm of Thos. Canfield, when a team of horses ran away, the wheel of the wagon striking Proctor in the chest knocking him to the ground. Proctor was unmarried.

Dr. and Mrs. J. M. Ealy left Caro Tuesday morning for Detroit where the former has business as Supreme Treasurer of the A. O. O. G., then they will go to New York city to greet their daughter, Harriete, when she lands at the dock of the steamer Potsdam, via Rotterdam from Amsterdam where she arrived from Munich several days ago.

CARO.

The following persons were among the Caro visitors at the Cass City fair and rooted for the Caro boys when they defeated the Elkton base ball team: Ora Hutchinson, Harry Morton, Don Hamilton, Forest Clark, Stuart Wilson, Delbert Clark, Wm. Alexander, S. O. Applegate, Harold Strickland, Harold Coad, Ben Patterson, Merle Bowen, Glen McHenry, Frank Bosley, Glen Owens, Wm. Ford, Frank Laprat, Roy Montague, Art Layman, Fred Ruff, Geo. Gunsell, Ed. Maier, Wm. Gunsell, Chas. Dapura, Chas. Emery, Ira Bosley, Geo. Gallagher and Peter Hart.

Fred Ruff, a Caro garage man, was injured while "trying out" a motor cycle at the Cass City fair Thursday afternoon. He was riding the machine the first time round when he fell on the back stretch of the track. The fall rendered him unconscious. As soon as he was resuscitated, he was taken to a hotel and later to the Pleasant Home hospital. He carried a bruised nose and face as the result of his injuries, but was able to leave the hospital Friday morning and drove home to Caro that afternoon.

CIRCUIT COURT IN TUSCOLA

Several Plead Guilty While Others Deny Guilt.

Circuit court opened Tuesday for the September term and Judge Beach appears to have benefitted by the summer vacation. His step is springy and he is evidently enjoying excellent health.

Calvin Hall declared he is not guilty of the charge of larceny and awaits trial.

Gerald Shaver, charged with stealing, refused to plead, the Court ordered a plea of "not guilty" entered and the case was continued.

Albert Goff and Charles Goff, charged with unlawfully killing and destroying fish, entered a plea of guilty and were placed on probation for one year on condition that each pay $25 to the clerk of the court before the opening of the December term.

Frank Cooper, Robert Babcock and Earl Foster, also charged with fish killing, plead "not guilty" and will stand trial.

Glen Kolb, also known as Glen Staples, plead guilty to the charge of larceny from the person and is awaiting sentence.

Thomas D'Arcy plead not guilty to the charge of taking improper liberties with a female child and is awaiting trial.

James Jones, charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm, less than the crime of murder, plead "not guilty."

Pall Zanoski and Felix Kavinski, on the same charge refused to plead and a plea of not guilty was ordered entered.

Ralph Timlick and Douglas Miller, charged with larceny from the person, both plead guilty and await sentence.

Charles Martin plead guilty to the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder, and awaits sentence.

Raymond Wagner plead guilty to the charge of unlawfully taking and using an automobile and awaits sentence.

Try It—It Pays

Have you a "little furnace" in your stove?

YES!—if it's an Estate Hot Storm. Otherwise—no! For the wonderful little furnace is an exclusive and patented feature of the Estate Hot Storm's construction.

While the stove is working overtime, radiating its heat upward, and downward, and every which way, the little furnace inside is shooting an enormous volume of pure hot air into the room.

Hardly seems possible for a stove to do so much work as the

Estate Hot Storm

does—and to do it so nicely, without any smoke or gas getting into the room, without any puffing or exploding, without requiring any attention whatever except to put in some coal every day or two.

Make up your mind to "Own an Estate" this season, and make it an Estate Hot Storm—"the stove with a little furnace in it." See it here at our store.
