DECORATION DAY EXERCISES MAY 31

BOY SCOUTS ARE IN CHARGE OF PROGRAM.

Rev. J. W. Hamblin Will Give Address at the Presbyterian Church.

Decoration Day services will be held at Cass City on Monday, May 31. The village president appointed the Boy Scouts to have charge of the day. The Scouts selected as a committee, Nelson Higgins, Arthur Hicks, Earle Buchanan, Frank Mixer and Roy Striffler, who with the local troop committee and Assistant Scout Master, W. R. Kaiser, have planned the service.

The troop will assemble at the hall at 12:30, local time, and march to the Presbyterian church. The G. A. R. veterans will meet in the vicinity of the post office and march to the church, while the school children and the public will gather at the latter place. Promptly at one o'clock the following program will be given.

Selection Quartette
Address Rev. J. W. Hamblin
Chorus 12 Camp Fire Girls
Solo Miss Anna Finkbeiner

After the service, the G. A. R. and their wives will follow the line of march to Elkland cemetery in automobiles provided for that purpose. The music will be furnished by the Cass City Cornet band and the Boy Scout Martial band. The line of march will be arranged in the following order: Troop I, Cass City Boy Scouts of America, Camp Fire Girls, school children, G. A. R. in automobiles. At the cemetery the graves of soldiers will be decorated and J. W. Fenn will give a short address. W. R. Kaiser will act as marshal of the day. Local citizens are requested to decorate their homes.

Union Service Sunday evening.
Local churches will unite in a union service at the M. E. church Sunday evening. Rev. H. C. Hayward will preach the annual Memorial Day sermon.

$50,000 APPROPRIATED TO FAIRS

LOCAL FAIR OFFICERS ASK SHARE.

Michigan Agricultural Fair Commission Has Power to Apportion Appropriation.

President C. J. Striffler and Secretary H. L. Hunt of the local fair society have made application to the Michigan Agricultural Fair Commission for a portion of the $50,000 appropriation which the state legislature has made for the promotion of agriculture and industry in the state by the payment of premiums to exhibitors at the various fairs.

The commission is to be composed of six members to be appointed by the governor and made up as follows: one member from the State Board of Agriculture to be nominated by said board, one from the officers of the Michigan State Agricultural Society to be nominated by said officers, and one each from the officers of the Michigan State Grange, the Ancient Order of Gleaners, the Michigan State Association of Farmers' Clubs, and the West Michigan Fair Association; all of whom are to be nominated by the officers of their respective organizations. The term of office of the members of the commission is two years. The governor is ex-officio a member of the commission.

The commission has power to determine what fair or fairs are entitled to receive a portion of the appropriation and the amount of each. In addition to the Michigan State Fair and the West Michigan Fair, there are

HISTORICAL SOCIETY MEETS

Will Hold 41st Annual Meeting at Lansing June 2 and 3.

The forty-first annual meeting of the Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society will be held in the Senate chamber, Lansing, on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 2 and 3. Besides a number of interesting papers by Hon. Charles A. Weisart, Clarence M. Burton, Andrew J. Dougherty, Mrs. Lillian Drake Avery and others, there will be a conference on "Methods of Co-operation" on the part of public libraries, patriotic societies, and local historical societies, with the Michigan Historical Commission in gathering and publishing materials relating to the history of the State. Among the speakers will be William L. Jenks, president of the Michigan Historical Commission, Hon. Edwin O. Wood, member of the Commission, also of the Mackinac Park Commission and the Genesee Historical Society; Mrs. M. C. Spencer, State Librarian; Mrs. Hubbard, Grand Rapids Historical Society; Mrs. Henry E. Hoyt, Kalamazoo Historical Society; Hon. Ernest G. Pray, Eaton County Historical Society; J. S. Cleavinger, Librarian Jackson Public Library; J. W. Sexton, principal Lansing High School; Mrs. R. H. Ashbaugh, president of the Michigan Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. William H. Wait, Michigan State Regent, D. A. R.; Mrs. James H. Campbell, president Michigan Society of the Daughters of 1812. Clarence E. Bement, president Michigan Pioneer and Historical Society, will preside at the meeting; and William Lavin of Detroit, tenor, will sing several solos.

HARMONY OF GOV. AND LEGISLATURE

SENATOR CORLISS PREPARES STATEMENT.

Finds Governor and Legislature in Perfect Accord on 96 Per Cent of Legislation.

Terry Corliss of Mayville, state senator of the 21st district, had the following statement read and spread upon the Journal of the Senate on Tuesday, the day of final adjournment:

"The Legislature passed 336 bills, of which the Governor approved 321, making the Governor and the Legislature in perfect accord on 96 per cent of the work of the Legislature. The Legislature sustained the Governor in eight of the vetoes, leaving the difference between the Legislature and the Executive applying to only seven bills, or one-forty-eighth, a trifle over 2 per cent of the whole number passed.

"The Senate passed 150 bills which went to the Governor. One of these was the bill exempting the Judiciary Act from enrollment printing because it was thought to be physically impossible to enroll the bill in the time given. But it being found that the bill could be enrolled, everybody wanted the exempting bill to die; so the veto of that bill need not be counted as a difference between the Governor and the Senate. Leaving this out of the question 149 Senate Acts were presented to the Governor for approval and he approved 144 of them, or nearly 97 per cent.

"Of the five vetoes of Senate bills the Senate sustained the Governor in two of them, thus leaving a difference between them as to only three of 149 Senate bills, or less than one-forty-ninth of the completed work of the Senate as to Senate bills.

"Of the three Senate bills which the Senate passed over the Governor's veto, one had passed the Senate 29-3, a strict party vote; the second had passed the Senate 28-0, every Democrat voting for the bill; the third had passed the Senate 24-2, two Democrats voting for the bill and none against."

MRS. A. E. BOULTON

Death Called Patient Sufferer Saturday to Peaceful Rest.

Mrs. A. E. Boulton, who has been an invalid for several years, passed away at her home on Houghton St. west Saturday afternoon at the age of 63 years. Funeral services were held at the M. E. church Tuesday afternoon, Rev. W. A. Gregory, the pastor, preaching the sermon. Interment was made in the Elkland cemetery.

Eleanor Jacobs was born Nov. 3, 1851, at Morristown, Pushlinch township, Ontario. She moved with her parents to Watrousville where they lived one year. The family came to Elkland township in 1856.

In 1875, she was united in marriage with A. E. Boulton, who with three sons and one daughter are left to mourn her departure. The children are Clarence of Elkland township, Arthur of Colling, Chauncey of Chicago and Miss Ellen of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Boulton has been a member of the M. E. church since 1884 and bore her sufferings cheerfully and uncomplainingly. She was the last member of the Wm. Jacobs family, who were among the first settlers of Elkland township.

MEMORIAL DAY.

I know how the music will sound today
In a beautiful city far away
The beat of the drum and the martial notes
That will soar towards Heaven from the bugle throats.
Ah! long years ago in that stately street,
Was heard the tramping of soldier boys' feet -
And we saw the long shining ranks go by
They were mothers' boys and daring to die!
Yes, half of them-boys, but we called them men
And they never marched in that street again.

Today, sweet music, pathetic and grand
Still tells the story of Liberty's land
But through it all is a tremulous strain
For those that marched off but came not again.
Thoughts of the veterans' suffering years
Desolate households, the broad land in tears.
Today, could I see the ranks passing by
Shadowy shapes would be hovering nigh
Brightness and sorrow to hear and to see
The street of the dead—that old street to me.
—Elizabeth H. Fenn.

ELKLAND LOSES PIONEER CITIZEN

LEVI MUNTZ LAID TO REST SUNDAY.

Came to Elkland Township in Early Sixties and Resided on Same Farm Since.

Elkland township lost one of her pioneers Thursday, May 20, when Levi Muntz passed away at his home, 2½ miles north of Cass City. Mr. Muntz suffered two paralytic strokes six days before and his family realized then that his recovery was hardly possible.

Funeral services were held Sunday at the Evangelical church, Rev. D. J. Feather, the pastor, officiating. The building was well filled, many friends and neighbors coming to pay their last respects to the memory of an honored citizen.

Levi Muntz was born in Reichenbach, Germany, July 26, 1835. He came to America in 1851 and located at Buffalo, N. Y. In 1854 he was united in marriage with Miss Mary Schlip. To this union were born six children, two of whom preceded the father in death. Mr. Muntz came to Michigan in the spring of 1862 and soon thereafter he and his family located on the farm where he has since resided. As an early settler he endured the hardships incident to pioneer life. He bore adversity bravely and enjoyed prosperity quietly.

He united with the local Evangelical church as a charter member and for many years was an official of the society.

Besides his aged companion, he leaves three sons, Wm. Muntz of Vigerville, Alberta, Lewis P. Muntz of San Jose, Cal., and Andrew Muntz of Elkland township; one daughter, Mrs. Henry Blades of Elkland, 15 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

JUNE 5 IS TAG DAY

W. C. T. U. Will Raise Money for M. C. H. S.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of Cass City observe Saturday, June 5, as "Tag Day," or as it is sometimes designated, "Pencil and Balloon Tag Day." Proceeds realized by the ladies on that occasion will be contributed to the support of the Michigan Children's Home Society.

For nearly a quarter of a century this society has been working in Michigan, and every year its usefulness and efficiency is increasing. Last year a total of two hundred and ten children were under the legal control of the organization, and one hundred forty-three were placed in foster homes on trial for adoption. Five hundred forty-eight wards of the society were visited in supervision by representatives of the society, three hundred forty-eight homes were investigated as applicants for foster children, and three hundred forty-nine other children, not received as legal wards, were temporarily cared for looking to a restoration to their natural parents.

This Society receives no state appropriation, though it is licensed by the State and approved by the State Board of Charities and Corrections. All support comes from voluntary gifts, and especially in this year of many homeless children as well as financial depression, the hearty support of the public is earnestly invited.

A lazy cuss invariably hunts the shade, but seldom owns the tree.

NON-SMOKING PAYS

Marlette Doctor Saves Considerable Coin in Tabooing Smoking Habit.

"Dr. W. T. Atkinson and daughter, Vern, left Tuesday morning on their two-months' trip to the West," says the Marlette Leader. "We believe our readers would be interested in learning the secret of getting fine trips like this. Dr. Atkinson lays it all to saving the money which he might have spent for smoking. Starting at the age of 17 he laid aside $1.15 each week, figuring that a moderate smoker would burn up 15 cents each week day and 25 cents on Sunday in cigars. The money was put out at 5 per cent and compounded semi-annually. The good doctor is many years past 17 now and this money saved consistently every year since has brought him his fine residence property, paid $500 on building a new church, paid a goodly sum each year to benevolent causes, given him a trip abroad, pays for this trip and will give him a fine trip every two years and there will still be left a nest egg of $500. Yes, the above was all paid for out of smoking money and shows that little things are not to be despised. It should set young men to thinking. Start now."

RAT BOUNTY LAW SOON TAKES EFFECT

THE PAY IS FIVE CENTS PER HEAD.

Law Provides that Clerk Cannot Draw Order for Less Than Five Heads at a Time.

The new rat bounty law which provides that five cents per head will be paid from the public treasury for every rat killed should be a source of much interest and many nickels to the small boys of Michigan. All the boys has to do is to catch five rats, cut off their heads and take the five heads to the unfortunate city or township clerk and receive an order drawn on the county clerk for the money. The new law will take effect about the first of August. The law expressly provides that the heads shall be in a good state of preservation when presented to the clerk for

PALMER KARR

Former Elkland Resident Buried Here Tuesday Morning.

The funeral services of Palmer Karr were held at the M. E. church Tuesday morning at 10:30 and interment was made in Elkland cemetery. Rev. Samuel Gilchrist of Williamson conducted the services.

Palmer Karr was born in Whitney, Ont., in 1832. In 1883 he came to Michigan, settling on a farm, one mile east and four miles north of Cass City. Mrs. Karr died ten years ago and about a year after her death, Mr. Karr went to Kingston to make his home near his son, Naaman Karr. His death occurred there on Sunday morning when he was 83 years and seven months old. His body was brought to Cass City Monday night.

Deceased is survived by two sons, Rev. Manley Karr of Millington and Naaman Karr of Kingston.

WEDDING AT DEFORD

Edna B. Bruce Becomes Bride of Walter W. Kelley Tuesday.

The home of Postmaster and Mrs. A. L. Bruce at Deford was the scene of a quiet wedding Tuesday morning when their daughter, Edna Blanche, was united in marriage with Walter W. Kelley. The ceremony was performed at six thirty o'clock by the Rev. Stubbs of Ugly.

The bride's gown was a dainty effect of cream crepe de chine trimmed with cream lace. Her travelling suit was of Copenhagen blue. The ceremony was witnessed by 20 of the immediate relatives and the couple was unattended.

The groom is the son of ex-Drain Commissioner and Mrs. W. W. Kelley of Eaton, Indiana, and the newly-weds left on the morning train Tuesday for that village where they will make their home.

DRY FIGHT WILL BEGIN BY JULY 1

PETITIONS FOR AMENDMENT BEING PROPOSED.

State-wide Prohibition Measure to Be Submitted at November, 1916, Election.

According to the present plans of the Anti-Saloon League, the campaign to make Michigan a dry state will start before July 1.

The petition for a constitutional amendment to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor in Michigan is about ready to be referred to the secretary of state. Thousands of copies will be sent to all parts of the state, and the work of securing signatures will begin in about three weeks.

The number of signatures required to initiate the amendment is 44,048, but the league does not intend to be content with the minimum number. It hopes to secure 100,000 or 150,000—the higher the number, the better, as evidencing the disposition of the state toward prohibition.

In October, the active campaign to win votes will begin, and it will continue for 13 months. The signed petitions will be filed in December, so that there will be about a six-months' campaign for signatures.

The petition will demand that Michigan be dry on and after May 1, 1918. If the constitutional amendment is adopted at the election of November, 1916, the liquor manufacturers and sellers will thus have a year and six months in which to close up their affairs.

In addition to this program, the Anti-Saloon league is planning a "dry" campaign in 17 counties, in the spring of 1916. There is some discussion as to the advisability of such action in view of the state-wide campaign, but the leaders believe that they can put it through. The list of counties has not been made up, but it will certainly include Huron, Clare, Washtenaw, Jackson, Cheboygan, Ogemaw and Crawford, and, possibly, Bay, and all the northern counties of the lower peninsula that still permit the sale of liquor.

A large delegation will go from Michigan to the national convention of the Anti-Saloon league of America, in Atlantic City, July 6 to 9. This convention will be immediately followed by that of the World's Anti-Alcohol league, July 10 to 15.

The Anti-saloon of America is organizing a committee of 5,000 to travel in special trains from Atlantic City to Washington, July 10, to present to President Wilson the plan of action which the convention adopts. It is planned to march down Pennsylvania Ave. in a great demonstration of the power of the temperance forces.

MONDAY'S LINE-UP

Fats and Leans Are Both Confident Over Result.

Announcement of the Fat and Lean ball game in the Chronicle last week was hailed with delight and many who enjoy real fun are anticipating a jolly time next Monday afternoon. The Fats attired in blue and the Leans clad in white will battle for supremacy and according to the talk heard on the street by sympathizers of both sides, there can be but one result—two victories and two defeats.

Grover Burke has been chosen to fill the position of umpire. Being a middle-weight and one in whom both sides have confidence for square dealing, his election to that position was unanimous.

The Line-up.
Fats	Position	Leans
Capt. Cootes	RF	Capt. Ball
Crandell	3B	Wood
Higgins	LF	Landon
Sandham	2F	Leavens
Bailey	CF	McCasin
Kelley	C	Townsend
Schenck	P	Johnson
Bliis	SS	Atwell
Dickinson	1B	Finney
J. Frutchey	Sub	Dickinson
Bradshaw	Sub	Tyo
Doerr	Sub	Nash

The Fat and Lean managers have had some time in arranging the above line-up for the big game Monday afternoon. Each charged his opponent of attempting to ring in professional players when they first started to make out the schedule, but by a course of eliminations, they finally reduced the list of would-be players to those named above. NOVESTA.

The following item is taken from the Northville Record: "Ernest Root of this place and Miss Mary Niles of Ortonville, who were quietly married at Pontiac, took a brief wedding trip to Cass City, where a reception was given in their honor by the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Root. A miscellaneous shower followed by a six o'clock dinner was given the bride last week Thursday afternoon by her cousin, Mrs. Effie Root. Each lady came prepared to sew carpet rags, and occasionally the laughter and noise sounded like "rag time." The newlyweds have started housekeeping on Mrs. Nettie Leaverworth's farm."

CHAPTER VII.

Fidelity of a Little Dog.

THE returning students that afternoon observed that Penrod's desk was vacant, and nothing could have been more impressive than that sinister mere emptiness. The accepted theory was that Penrod had been arrested. How breath taking then the sensation when at the beginning of the second hour he strolled in with inimitable carelessness and, rubbing his eyes, somewhat noticeably in the manner of one who has snatched an hour of much needed sleep, took his place as if nothing in particular had happened. This at first supposed to be a superhuman exhibition of sheer audacity, became but the more astounding when Miss Spence, looking from her desk, greeted him with a pleasant little nod. Even after school Penrod gave numerous maddened investigators no relief. All he would consent to say was: "Oh, I just talked to her."

A mystification not entirely unconnected with the one thus produced was manifested at his own family dinner table the following evening. Aunt Clara had been out rather late and came to the table after the rest were seated. She wore a puzzled expression.

"Do you ever see Mary Spence nowadays?" she inquired, as she unfolded her napkin, addressing Mrs. Schofield. Penrod abruptly set down his soup spoon and gazed at his aunt with flattering attention.

"Yes, sometimes," said Mrs. Schofield. "She's Penrod's teacher."

"Is she?" said Mrs. Farry. "Do you?" She paused. "Do people think her a little-queer these days?"

"Why, no!" returned her sister. "What makes you say that?"

"She has acquired a very odd manner," said Mrs. Farry decidedly. "At least, she seemed odd to me. I met her at the corner just before I got to the house a few minutes ago, and after we'd said howdy do to each other she kept hold of my hand and looked as though she was going to cry. She seemed to be trying to say something and choking."

"But I don't think that's so very queer, Clara. She knew you in school, didn't she?"

"Yes, but—"

"And she hadn't seen you for so many years! I think it's perfectly natural she—"

"Wait! She stood there squeezing my hand and struggling to get her voice, and then finally she said in a kind of tearful whisper: 'Be of good cheer. This trial will pass.'"

"How queer!" exclaimed Margaret. Penrod sighed and returned somewhat absently to his soup.

"Well, I don't know," said Mrs. Schofield thoughtfully. "Of course she's heard about the outbreak of measles in Dayton, since they had to close the schools, and she knows you live there—"

"But doesn't it seem a very exaggerated way," suggested Margaret, "to talk about measles?"

"Wait!" begged Aunt Clara. "After she said that she said something even—"

Penrod entered the schoolroom Monday morning picturesquely leaning upon a man's cane, shortened to support a cripple approaching the age of twelve. He arrived about twenty minutes late, limping deeply, his brave young mouth drawn with pain, and the sensation he created must have been a solace to him, the only possible criticism of this entrance being that it was just a shade too heroic. Perhaps for that reason it failed to stagger Miss Spence, a woman so saturated with suspicion that she penalized Penrod for tardiness as promptly and as coldly as if he had been a mere, ordinary, unutilized boy. Nor would she entertain any discussion of the justice of her ruling. It seemed almost that she feared to argue with him.

However, the distinction of cane and limp remained to him, consolations which he protracted far into the week—until Thursday evening, in fact, when Mr. Schofield, observing from a window his son's pursuit of Duke round and round the back yard, confiscated the cane, with the promise that it should not remain idle if he saw Penrod limping again. Thus, succeeding a depressing Friday, another Saturday brought the necessity for new inventions.

It was a scented morning in apple blossom time. At about ten of the clock Penrod emerged hastily from the kitchen door. His pockets bulged abnormally, so did his cheeks, and he swallowed with difficulty. A threatening mop, wielded by a cooklike arm in a checkered sleeve, followed him through the doorway, and he was preceded by a small, hurried, wistful dog with a warm doughnut in his mouth. The kitchen door slammed petulantly, inclosing the sore voice of Della, whereupon Penrod and Duke seated themselves upon the pleasant sward and immediately consumed the spoils of their raid.

From the cross street which formed the side boundary of the Schofields' ample yard came a jingle of harness and the cadenced clatter of a pair of trotting horses, and Penrod, looking up, beheld the passing of a fat acquaintance, torpid amid the conservative splendors of a rather old-fashioned victoria. This was Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr., a fellow sufferer at the Friday afternoon dancing class, but otherwise not often a companion; a home sheltered lad, tutored privately and preserved against the coarsening influences of rude comradeship and miscellaneous information. Heavily overgrown in all physical dimensions, virtuous and placid, this cloistered muton was wholly uninteresting to Penrod Schofield. Nevertheless, Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr. was a personage on account of the importance of the Magsworth Bitts family, and it was Penrod's destiny to increase Roderick's celebrity far, far beyond its present aristocratic limitations.

startlingly, stooping to look under the piano. A statement that he had suddenly remembered his son's presence would be lacking in accuracy. The highly sensitized Penrod was, in fact, no longer present. No more was Duke, his faithful dog.

"What's the matter?"

"Nothing," he returned, striding to the open window and looking out. "Go on."

"Oh," she moaned. "It must be kept from Clara. And I'll never hold up my head again if John Farry ever hears of it!"

"Hears of what?"

"Well, I just couldn't stand it, I got so curious. And I thought, of course, if Miss Spence had become a little unbalanced it was my duty to know it as Penrod's mother and she his teacher. So I thought I would just call on her at her apartment after school and have a chat and see. And I did, and—oh—"

"Well?"

"I've just come from there, and she told me—she told me! Oh, I've never known anything like this!"

"What did she tell you?"

Mrs. Schofield, making a great effort, managed to assume a temporary appearance of calm. "Henry," she said solemnly, "bear this in mind, whatever you do to Penrod it must be done in some place when Clara won't hear it. But the first thing to do is to find him."

Within view of the window from which Mr. Schofield was gazing was the closed door of the storeroom in the stable, and just outside this door Duke was performing a most engaging trick.

His young master had taught Duke to "sit up and beg" when he wanted anything, and if that didn't get it to "speak." Duke was facing the closed door and sitting up and begging, and now he also spoke—in a loud, clear bark.

There was an open transom over the door, and from this descended—hurled by an unseen agency—a can half filled with old paint.

It caught the small besieger of the door on his thoroughly surprised right ear, encouraged him to some remarkable acrobatics and turned large portions of him a dull blue. Allowing only a moment to perplexity and deciding after a single and evidently unappetizing experiment not to cleanse himself of paint, the loyal animal resumed his quaint, upright posture.

Mr. Schofield seated himself on the window sill, whence he could keep in view that pathetic picture of unrequited love.

"Go on with your story, mamma," he said. "I think I can find Penrod when we want him."

And a few minutes later he added, "And I think I know the place to do it in."

Again the faithful voice of Duke was heard pleading outside the bolted door.

Penrod entered the schoolroom Monday morning picturesquely leaning upon a man's cane, shortened to support a cripple approaching the age of twelve. He arrived about twenty minutes late, limping deeply, his brave young mouth drawn with pain, and the sensation he created must have been a solace to him, the only possible criticism of this entrance being that it was just a shade too heroic. Perhaps for that reason it failed to stagger Miss Spence, a woman so saturated with suspicion that she penalized Penrod for tardiness as promptly and as coldly as if he had been a mere, ordinary, unutilized boy. Nor would she entertain any discussion of the justice of her ruling. It seemed almost that she feared to argue with him.

However, the distinction of cane and limp remained to him, consolations which he protracted far into the week—until Thursday evening, in fact, when Mr. Schofield, observing from a window his son's pursuit of Duke round and round the back yard, confiscated the cane, with the promise that it should not remain idle if he saw Penrod limping again. Thus, succeeding a depressing Friday, another Saturday brought the necessity for new inventions.

It was a scented morning in apple blossom time. At about ten of the clock Penrod emerged hastily from the kitchen door. His pockets bulged abnormally, so did his cheeks, and he swallowed with difficulty. A threatening mop, wielded by a cooklike arm in a checkered sleeve, followed him through the doorway, and he was preceded by a small, hurried, wistful dog with a warm doughnut in his mouth. The kitchen door slammed petulantly, inclosing the sore voice of Della, whereupon Penrod and Duke seated themselves upon the pleasant sward and immediately consumed the spoils of their raid.

From the cross street which formed the side boundary of the Schofields' ample yard came a jingle of harness and the cadenced clatter of a pair of trotting horses, and Penrod, looking up, beheld the passing of a fat acquaintance, torpid amid the conservative splendors of a rather old-fashioned victoria. This was Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr., a fellow sufferer at the Friday afternoon dancing class, but otherwise not often a companion; a home sheltered lad, tutored privately and preserved against the coarsening influences of rude comradeship and miscellaneous information. Heavily overgrown in all physical dimensions, virtuous and placid, this cloistered muton was wholly uninteresting to Penrod Schofield. Nevertheless, Roderick Magsworth Bitts, Jr. was a personage on account of the importance of the Magsworth Bitts family, and it was Penrod's destiny to increase Roderick's celebrity far, far beyond its present aristocratic limitations.

The Magsworth Bittses were important because they were impressive. There was no other reason. And they were impressive because they believed themselves important. The adults of the family were impregnably formal. They dressed with reticent elegance and wore the same nose and the same expression—an expression which indicated that they knew something exquisite and sacred which other people could never know. Other people in their presence were apt to feel mysteriously ignoble and to become secretly uneasy about ancestors, gloves and pronunciation. The Magsworth Bitts manner was withholding and reserved, though sometimes gracious, granting small smiles as great favors and giving off a chilling kind of preciousness. Naturally when any citizen of the community did anything unconventional or improper or made a mistake or had a relative who went wrong that citizen's first and worst fear was that the Magsworth Bittses would hear of it. In fact, this painful family had for years terrorized the community, though the community had never realized that it was terrorized and invariably spoke of the family as the "most charming circle in town." By common consent Mrs. Roderick Magsworth Bitts officiated as the supreme model as well as critic in chief of morals and deportment for all the unlucky people prosperous enough to be elevated to her acquaintance.

Magsworth was the important part of the name. Mrs. Roderick Magsworth Bitts was a Magsworth born herself, and the Magsworth crest decorated not only Mrs. Magsworth Bitts' note paper, but was on the china, on the table linen, on the chimney pieces, on the opaque glass of the front door, on the victoria and on the harness, though omitted from the garden hose and the lawn mower.

Naturally no sensible person dreamed of connecting that illustrious crest with the unfortunate and notorious Rena Magsworth, whose name had grown week by week into larger and larger type upon the front pages of newspapers owing to the gradually increasing public and official belief that she had poisoned a family of eight. However, the statement that no sensible person could have connected the Magsworth Bitts family with the arsenical Rena takes no account of Penrod Schofield.

National Flags.

The American flag in its present form was adopted in the year 1777, and the only changes made in it since that time have been the addition of new stars for the new states as they came into the Union. Our British cousins often refer in affectionate terms to their ensign as the flag that has "braved a thousand years, the battle and the breeze." But they forget that the Union Jack in its present form dates only from 1801.

The French tricolor was adopted in 1794, the Spanish flag as now displayed in 1785, while the German and Italian flags are no older than the empire and the kingdom respectively.—Washington Star.

Going Down.

The art of bathos is tolerably well illustrated by the exclamation of a French critic before an English artist's canvas: "C'est superbe! C'est magnifique. C'est pretty well!"—Household Words.

To the Business Men of Cass City

When a run-down salesman calls on you, do you buy his goods? Aren't you afraid of his line because he looks as if no one ever gave him an order?

Some thing is true of a seedy town. To be prosperous we must look prosperous and show local pride.

Clean streets, nice stores and well-painted buildings pay because they bring business. Paint-hungry buildings are least excusable, for paint made of Real Quality Was Lacking.

When Grantland Rice, who now writes verses and prose for one of the New York papers, came from Nashville to Manhattan to live he brought along his small daughter, Florence, then just five years old. The Rice family established themselves in an apartment uptown, and on the day after they got settled little Miss Florence was taken out for a walk by her negro nurse, also a Tennessee importation. The pair spent an hour on Riverside drive.

"Well, Florence," inquired her mother when the small promenader returned, "how did you enjoy it?"

"Not very much," said Florence calmly.

"Didn't you see anything?" pressed Mrs. Rice.

"Only a lot of northerners," said Florence.—Saturday Evening Post.

At a Scottish watering place one summer Macpherson was found stretched in a contented mood on the sands, puffing his old pipe. "Come on, Mac," said his companion, who had just come from town, "let's go for a sail." "Na, na," replied Macpherson, slowly shaking his head. "I have had a guld dinner at the cost o' three and saxpence, an I'm takin' no risks."

The twenty members of the Woman's Study Club seldom absent or late received invitations from the twenty absent or late members to the home of Mrs. Edward Pinney Tuesday, May 25, at half past seven. The invitations asked all to bring wraps and empty baskets. When all had arrived they were served to one ginger snap and a glass of grape juice after which they were invited to don their wraps to take a walk. They were escorted around the city, finally ending at the Rex Theatre, where each one as she entered was tagged with a chestnut and tag (jewelry). Here is where the basket came into use as they were served with napkin, nabisco, pop corn, peanuts, chocolate bars, all day suckers with Japanese umbrella attached, gum, tooth pick and ticket for the show. While waiting for admittance to the theatre, the party were escorted to the drinking fountain. After the show, the party visited Heller's where they were served to ice cream and sodas, after which each one wended her way homeward it being near the midnight hour. The losing side was given a rising vote of thanks for the unique way in which they were entertained. Everyone wants to be on the winning side next year.

Clinton Helwig, the four year old nephew of Miss Mary A. Murphy, who makes his home with her, was kicked in the face by a horse Friday and narrowly escaped death. Had it been an older person they would probably still be very ill or think they were, but Master Clinton is out of doors playing all the time and even before physician and dentist had finished repairing the damage he was anxious to be out to play and it never occurred to him to cry over the injury. Clinton and a little playmate were going to have some fun and they went to the barn where Clinton commenced hitting the horse with a whip and the other youngster used a broom to "beat up" the cow. The horse finally kicked, hitting his tormentor a glancing blow on the mouth. His chum ran to tell some one and Clinton started for his auntie. A physician and nurse were called in, two stitches were taken in the lower lip and other cuts and bruises dressed and then a dentist straightened four upper and two lower teeth which had been knocked loose. The little chap is getting along nicely and it is thought that the accident will leave no bad effects.

C. D. Striffler was in Argyle on business Thursday.

Mrs. Edwin Pettit was a visitor in Gageton Thursday.

Bread Is The Most Important Food
For Boys and Girls

Growing Boys and Girls need lots of Bread. In fact, it is the most important food for them. It supplies the nourishment and energy which they need.

When they come home from school let them have a hearty lunch of Bread and Butter spread thick with jam or marmalade. They'll play and sleep better.

Cookies and cakes are good for them too, providing of course that the right kind of Flour is used. Diamond Flour will add a touch of fine flavor as well as make your Bread, Biscuits and Rolls wholesome and nutritious. Ask your Grocer to send you a sack of Diamond Flour today.

MONDAY'S LINE-UP.

Continued from first page. proved to be the player over whom the greatest contention was manifested. Jimmy Cootes, the Fat, insisted that the professor was a professional and Johnny Ball, the Slim, denied the accusation. The matter was finally adjusted and an agreement signed by Ball was left with the Chronicle Monday evening with the line-up of the players. The agreement reads, "Prof. Weavens is not to play on the outfield."

It is probable that the positions of some of the players will be changed for as the training season draws to a close they show their adaptability to fill other positions better than those to which they were first assigned.

The game is called at 3:00 p. m., local time. Cass City and Pigeon high schools will play directly after the Fat and Lean game.

RAT BOUNTY LAW SOON TAKES EFFECT

Continued from first page. inspection. Boys are warned not to carry the heads around loose in their pockets for inspection by the clerk as he would much prefer that they be tightly corked in a large mouthed bottle, where they may be inspected by the eye rather than the nose. Here's the law. The People of the State of Michigan enact: Section 1. Every person being an inhabitant of this state who shall kill any black, brown, grey or Norway rat, commonly known as the house rat, barn rat or wharf rat, in any organized township, village or city in this state, shall be entitled to receive a bounty of five cents for each rat thus killed, to be allowed and paid in the manner hereinafter provided.

Section 2. Every person applying for such bounty shall take the heads of such rats, in lots of not less than five, to the clerk of the township, village or city within which such rats shall have been killed, in a state of good preservation, and if satisfied with the correctness of such claim, said township, village or city clerk shall issue a certificate stating the amount of bounty to which such applicant is entitled and deliver the same to said applicant, and shall destroy the heads of such rats by burning. Section 3. Such certificates may be presented by the claimant or his agent to the county clerk of the county in which such rats have been killed, who shall thereupon draw a warrant for the amount on the treasurer of said county, and said treasurer shall, upon presentation of said warrant, pay the same from the general contingent fund of such county.

The First Lesson

in life should be to learn to save a part of what you earn. Remember, it is not how much you earn; it's what you save that counts. If you are one of the men with a good income that lives up to it, there's danger ahead unless you stop it. Remember there are lots of things might happen over night when it would be very convenient to lay your hands on some ready money. Make up your mind today to open a savings account at our bank today.

Coughs and Colds Not to Be Neglected

Anyone will realize the seriousness of neglecting a cold if he observes results of such neglect among his acquaintances. How often have you heard, "He caught cold, didn't do anything for it and it turned into"—then some dreaded disease is named!

Ordinary colds yield to prompt treatment at the beginning. That is why every family should be supplied with a reliable cough medicine—one that will heal raw and inflamed surfaces, loosen the phlegm, allay irritation, ease the hoarseness and stop the tickling sensation in the throat that does not permit one to sleep.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is invaluable for relief of coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, tickling in throat, tightness or soreness, grippe or bronchial coughs. It contains no harmful ingredients. It is healing, soothing, efficient and pleasing.

The Veteran's Remembrance

By WILLIAM GERARD CHAPMAN

SOLDIERS marchin', bands a-playin',
Cav'ry chargers prancin' gay—
Lord! how I would like to jine them
On this decoration day
Like I jined the ranks of blue coats
At the Union's stern command;
Gosh! that very tune we marched to
'Way down South in Dixie land.

"Somehow, seems as I remember
Trampin' 'long the dusty road,
How the baby of the regiment
Staggerin' 'neath his heavy load,
Gazed up at me sort of smilin',
With a brave though tired look,
But in such a pleadin' manner
That his gun from him I took.

"But he gave his life up bravely,
Fightin' with a youngster's hand,
Till the minie ball that pierced him
Sent him to a better land.
An' before he crossed the river—
Where no battlefields he'll roam—
Lookin' in my eyes he whispered,
'Take me—back again—to—home.'

"To the North his body journeyed
In a soldier's grave to rest—
Young 'uns seem to think war's glory,
But they'll find that home is best,
An' I heard his poor old mother,
From whose side he ran away
Couldn't live while Paul was buried—
Close beside him soon she lay.

"Guess I'd better quit my gazin'
Makes my eyes feel kinder wet,
Tho' the stirrin' martial music
Makes me seem a youngster yet.
Wonder if of all those flowers
Any for Paul's mound they'll save?
'Spose they don't know where he's buried—
Guess I'll decorate Paul's Grave."

WOMEN'S WOES

Cass City Women Are Finding Relief at Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in spite of constantly aching backs, or headaches, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery.

Read of a remedy for kidney ills only that is endorsed by people you know.

Mrs. William H. Withey, Oak & Houghton Sts., Cass City, says: "My kidneys were disordered for some time. My limbs became swollen, and I was caused annoyance by the kidney secretions. Short use of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Wood & Co.'s Drug Store, brought me great relief. I now feel better in every way."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Withey had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv 63

PEARL Screens Are Still New When Others Are Gone—

Does that sound like a pretty strong statement? Let us prove it.

First of all genuine Gilbert & Bennett PEARL Wire Cloth derives its rust-resisting qualities from the coating. This metallic protection is a secret composition, owned and controlled by Gilbert & Bennett. It will not crack, chip or peel off under any conditions whatsoever.

For Screening Doors, Windows and Porches Made in Two Weights—Regular and Extra Heavy

PEARL is handsome—its original bright metallic lustre with a short exposure to the weather turns a permanent "invisible gray" and stays that way.

The thing that's making PEARL sales bigger every year is the fact that it requires no paint or repairs—it represents true screen economy.

Don't be deceived. There can not be a "just the same as PEARL." The manufacture and application of the non-crack, non-chip coating from which it derives its wonderful rust-resisting qualities is a secret process, the exclusive property of the company.

We sell genuine PEARL Wire Cloth with two Copper Wires in the Selvage and the Round Tag bearing the Gilbert & Bennett name on each roll.

The Epworth League business meeting was postponed until next Tuesday on account of bad weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar B. Merriman and daughter, Anne, Miss Olive Merriman, Willis Merriman, Mrs. Edith Baird, Miss Vera Clancy and Miss Morehouse, all of Deckerville, visited at the home of their uncle, Dr. Merriman, Sunday.

Everyone interested in the school should attend church Sunday morning for the Baccalaureate sermon by the pastor.

Bert Myers entertained his father and mother from Dayton Sunday.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Tuesday, May 18.

Mrs. Schmuhl spent Sunday with Fred Lester and family.

The Sunday school has purchased maps and hymn board for the church.

A bee is being organized to gravel the church yard.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Bruce have gone to Ohio for an extended vacation.

The opening game of base ball was played on the Deford lot between Deford and Leeks, resulting in the score of 15-0 in favor of Deford. The visitors were at the mercy of Johnson, the new pitcher and hardware man. He pitched shut out ball from the beginning. Gage, his back stop, played league ball from the start. There was not any discount on any of the boys; they are all live wires, all except Pete, the umpire, and he is losing his eye sight, so the visitors say.

WILMOT.

Wm. Barrows, sr., who has been seriously ill, is now improving.

Mrs. VanWald of Kingston visited relatives here over Sunday.

Bertha McArthur was taken suddenly ill with appendix trouble on Saturday but is much better at this writing.

Maxwell

"The Wonder Car"

16 Great Service Branches—54 Maxwell District Offices—More than 2,000 Maxwell Dealers are always at the Service of Those Who Drive Maxwell Cars

When you buy an automobile you buy two kinds of service. First:—The service given and guaranteed by the car itself. Second:—The service given by the maker and the dealer while the car is in use.

The service the Maxwell car gives is known. 38,000 satisfied Maxwell owners have given the car the rough and tumble acid test of fully eighteen months' service. The Maxwell has shown that it is able to stand up under the severest use. In cities, over country roads, through mud and sand and up the steepest mountains, the 1915 Maxwell has made good for 38,000 owners.

THE SERVICE THAT THE MAXWELL MOTOR COMPANY GIVES

The service that the Maxwell car gives cannot be questioned. Any automobile owner from time to time requires service from the maker of the car he drives. He sometimes needs new parts, adjustments, etc.

16 GREAT MAXWELL SERVICE BRANCHES

The Maxwell Motor Company takes care of Maxwell owners by maintaining 16 great Maxwell Service Branches. These branches are in great cities which have been selected in such a manner as to thoroughly cover the United States. They can deliver parts to any Maxwell dealer or Maxwell owner within a few hours.

54 MAXWELL DISTRICT OFFICES

54 Maxwell District Offices are maintained in leading cities. This means 54 District Managers, each with a corps of assistants. A great big part of the work of this army of skilled men is to see that Maxwell dealers give real Maxwell service to Maxwell owners.

MORE THAN 2,000 MAXWELL DEALERS ALWAYS AT YOUR SERVICE

Each of the Maxwell dealers in the United States and Canada is an automobile expert. Anyone of them stands ready at all times to give advice and assistance to any Maxwell owner. You can tour all of the United States and Canada and should your car require the attention of an expert you will find a Maxwell dealer near at hand. If you need a replacement part, and the dealer does not have it in stock, he can get it for you from the nearest Maxwell branch within a few hours.

Maxwell owners never have their cars out of service for days or weeks at a time waiting for replacement parts.

The $695 Maxwell "Wonder Car" is the greatest real automobile value ever offered. The service that the Maxwell Motor Company gives is not surpassed by the service given by any other automobile manufacturing organization in the world.

Read This List of Expensive Features. The 1915 Maxwell Has These Features And Many Others.

Attractive Streamline Body

Pure streamline body—graceful crown fenders, with all rivets concealed. All the grace, style and "snap" that you will find in any of the highest priced cars.

A High-Tension Magneto

Nearly all the high priced cars have high tension magnetos. A high tension magneto gives positive ignition. The Simms magneto, with which the Maxwell is equipped, is recognized as one of the best magnetos made.

Left Side Drive—Central Control

Left side steer with gear shifting levers in center of driving compartment—center control—has been accepted by leading makers of expensive automobiles as the safest and most comfortable for the driver; that is why the Maxwell has it. The Maxwell is so easy to drive and control that a child can handle it.

Three-Speed Sliding Gear Transmission

All high priced cars have a sliding gear transmission. It is costly to make, but it is the best. If the motor has the power, sliding gears will pull the car out of any mud or sand. The Maxwell has a three-speed selective sliding gear transmission because Maxwell engineers do not consider any other type to be worthy of the Maxwell car.

Double-Shell Radiator with Shock Absorbing Device

The Maxwell radiator is of handsome design, gracefully curved, and it is built to be trouble proof. It is the expensive double shell type and has ample cooling capacity. The radiator is mounted to the frame by means of a shock absorbing device on each side, which relieves the radiator of all twists and distortions of the frame, caused by roughness of the road. The shock absorbing device also minimizes the possibility of radiator leaks.

The Roomy Full 5-Passenger Body Adjustable Front Seat

The 1915 Maxwell has a full grown 5-passenger body. The front seat is adjustable, you can move it three inches forward or backward. This makes the car really comfortable for the driver. No cramped legs for tall people or uncomfortable reaching for short people. Most drivers' seats are made to fit anyone—so fit no one.

Low "Up-keep" Carburetor

The carburetor used on the Maxwell was especially designed for it, after long and severe tests under every conceivable condition. Economy tours conducted by hundreds of dealers and owners in different sections of the country have proved its efficiency, its quick response to throttle and its extremely low consumption of gasoline. It has been termed the "low up-keep" carburetor.

Irreversible Steering Gear

The greatest margin of safety has been provided in the steering gear of the 1915 Maxwell. The Maxwell irreversible steering mechanism is of the expensive worm-and-gear type and its superiority over every other type lies in its many adjustments. At no time is more than a fourth of the bearing surface of the gear which operates the worm in use. When needed, a new bearing surface may be had by adjusting the gear a quarter of a turn. In short, the Maxwell steering gear has four times the adjustment of any other kind.

Heavy Car Comfort

What surprises most people is the smooth, buoyant riding qualities of the Maxwell. The spring suspension of the 1915 Maxwell is the same costly combination of long semi-elliptical front springs and the three-quarter elliptical rear springs that is used on most heavy weight, high priced cars. The Maxwell offers you every essential of the highest priced machines at a fifth of their cost.

One Size of Tire—Anti-Skids on Rear

The Maxwell car is one of the easiest cars in the world on tires. Maxwell owners carry but one spare tire and but one size of spare tubes. Economical 30 inch x 3 3/4 inch tires are used all around. A famous make of anti-skid tires are supplied on rear wheels.

A Dependable Electric Starter

For $55 extra, you can have your Maxwell delivered equipped with the famous Simms-Huff electric starter. This starter is efficient, trouble proof and easily operated.

And the Maxwell is completely equipped from the clear vision, ventilating windshield at the front to the spare tire carrier at the rear.

The Maxwell Company's Guarantee of Service to Maxwell Owners

No other automobile is backed by a more reliable service than that guaranteed every Maxwell owner. More than 2,000 Maxwell dealers—in every part of this country—are always ready to give expert advice, to make adjustments, and to supply new parts at reasonable prices.

This splendid Maxwell dealer service organization is perfected and completed by the chain of Maxwell owned and Maxwell operated Service Branches. Sixteen great Maxwell Service Stations are so located throughout the country that a Maxwell dealer can supply any part for an owner within a few hours if not in his stock. Maxwell Service is one of the great advantages enjoyed by Maxwell owners.

Order a Maxwell from us now, and when you want it delivered, we will give you your car—not an excuse on delivery day

Business Should Be Used as a Means for Elevating Mankind.

A. L. Chamberlain, manager of the Producers elevator at Sandusky, spoke on the subject, "Beans," at a meeting of Group Six of the Michigan Bankers' Association held at Deckerville May 19. He advocated a closer relationship between the country business men and the farmer, not only to secure better financial returns, but to promote better social conditions and a better feeling. Mr. Chamberlain said:

"Undoubtedly you are aware that Michigan raises 75 per cent of America's dried beans and that our production for years has been superior in flavor and texture to any other beans raised in this or any other countries. Not only does our crop mean about $12,000,000.00 per year to the farmers, but the elevator men have large investments in expensive machinery and plants for preparing these beans for the market and therefore takes on more of an industrial nature, generally speaking, than other crops and is of special benefit to the small towns where these plants are located.

"You perhaps know that three counties in the Thumb of Michigan produce approximately one-sixth of the Michigan crop and we believe, without successful contradiction, that the bean crops in the Thumb have paid off more mortgages, built more good houses and barns, bought more automobiles and made possible better educations for the children than other crops.

"The Michigan Bean Jobbers' Association is comprised of the Michigan Bean Elevator Men and Jobbers and affords a system of grading and a protection for this grading which is known in all bean countries of the world. Our association is courting the farmer and we look with favor on the new organization of the farmers known as the Michigan Growers' Association, the object of which is for better seed selection, the combating of bean diseases, the financing of the grower and to avoid dumping onto the market faster than the demand warrants also to carry on a campaign of education to promote the greater use of beans and to secure statistics, in general, to secure a co-operative in who are essential to this business.

"Michigan beans have been hard hit the past three years by the bean diseases. The Michigan Bean Jobbers' Ass'n. has secured the co-operation of the State and Federal departments in assisting the farmers in combating these diseases, but it is a long campaign. The farmers need encouragement to take better care of their crop, to plant better seeds and to work out successfully the principle in his bean crop—"The survival of the fittest."

"The campaign of education for the better cooking of beans and their use by the working classes, who can not afford to buy canned beans, as a substitute for meat, requires finances. The farmer should be educated to realize that he has his share in this responsibility as well as in its benefits.

"Perhaps no other co-operative measure has produced better results or stimulated greater interest in the communities, in general, than the Boys' Bean Contests. The first complete contest was held at Harbor Beach last year by the Producers Elevator Co., having 25 boys between the ages of 12 and 18. This year we have 34 boys and one girl. Several gold watches were distributed besides other valuable prizes. It would do your hearts good to be in close contact with these contestants and realize the large amount of practical knowledge the boys glean from their experience.

"We believe that the bankers will be very glad to co-operate with us in these movements and that they have not done so before on account of not knowing just where and how to catch hold. It is too late to start this year but next year we trust every banker present will co-operate with their local elevator men in launching a bean contest in their community. I will be very glad indeed to render any assistance possible in a general way. We country business men must work more closely together with the farmer, not only to secure better financial returns but to promote better social conditions and a better feeling between the farmers and ourselves. As Bishop Williams says, 'A man must be something more than a good banker or a good grain man or a good farmer. He must use his business as a means for elevating mankind, without which object, any ideals on a financial basis alone are a failure.'"

HAPPENINGS IN OUR NEIGHBORING VILLAGES

Lapeer county is now in the peculiar position of having no coroner to hold an inquest over a dead body and there probably will be none until the November election, 1916. The men elected coroners at the last election failed to bury the dead.

Robert T. Lambert of Caseville, one of the early pioneers of Huron county, was found dead in bed Friday morning at the age of 77. He formerly conducted a hotel at Sebawaing, but had resided at Caseville for 45 years. He was a corporal in Company E, Second Missouri Light Artillery, in the Civil War.

When it went "dry" a certain well known man of North Branch dampened his cellar to the extent of two cases of beer. He is very moderate in his indulgences but the other day the thirst caught him and he just naturally gravitated to the two, only to find three one dollar bills in place of the coveted amber fluid. Just filthy lucre, that was all.—Gazette.

A very thrilling but fortunate automobile accident occurred near Brown City Saturday when an auto containing eight people and driven by Lewis Underhill turned turtle in the ditch. Mr. Underhill has driven a machine for a year but in turning the corner accidentally turned on more gasoline instead of turning it off. A slight scratch was the only mark received by any of the party.

Some individual with nothing better to do, surreptitiously turned a valve at the Central school building at Vassar allowing all the water to drain from the heating plant. Not knowing this, the janitor started the fire with the result that the furnace was cracked and the rooms could not be heated. For this reason there was no school the first of the week until the necessary repairs could be made.

Sanilac county's board of supervisors has accepted the architect plans of Mills & Sons for their new court house. As finally determined the lower story, the columns, cornice and trimmings will be of Bedford stone; other stories of pressed brick; floor, ceiling and roof of reinforced concrete; roof covered with green slate with tile ridge hip covering. Plate and Florentine glass will be used in the windows and doors. The woodwork will be of clear oak and the stairs made of steel, fire-proof. The building will be absolutely fire-proof, no wood partitions, no wood used only in the interior where finishing requires it. The architect will complete his plans, preparing them for the contractors. His contract calls for a $90,000 court house, he to receive as a fee five per cent of the cost of the building. The board has a contract with the architect which states that if the court house is not built within the $90,000, that the architect will receive no fees. The board spent two days considering bids for the bonds which were, Wednesday afternoon, sold unconditionally to Sidney Spicer & Co., of Toledo. Eighty bonds, of $1,000 each, will be issued, all dated May 1, 1915. These are serial bonds, $8,000 due May 1, 1916 and every year thereafter for ten years. Interest on bonds, five per cent. Premium given county, $632 and accrued interest.

A FEW SUGGESTIONS FOR BOOSTING CASS CITY.

- Don't be the man who put sit in city. Building good houses builds a good town. Save a little money and save a lot of worry. Good roads lead not only to town, but to money. Be a live one and the town will never be a dead one. A nice front porch has prevented many an old maid. Why should the town muzzle dogs and not knockers? When someone plans to help the town, plan to help the plan. The best plans a man can have to the future are house plans. A good way to make the world better is to begin with the home town. A town is like a perambulator: it isn't much good unless it is pushed. Don't spend all your time telling what you could do if you had some time. Be like a ball player. The thing he is always working for is home. Be one of the leaders of the town, if you can; but, anyway, keep up. If you think a cow can't laugh for joy, let somebody sell you a good silo. Don't be a grouch. Everybody in this town wishes you well, even the doctor. Let's not be trying to stop something all of the time. Let's start something. A good town will do more to keep the boys at home than good advice. A town is like a girl. It's wonderful what a little fixing up will do for her.

JUNE.

June this year comes in on the first and ends on the thirtieth. It will have ten and twenty days with a night added onto each one of them. June's days, too, have a habit of absorbing most of the allotted twenty-four hours, and the habit is not at all approved by those who retire and arise by the sun.

Though sowing time for many, it is Cupid's harvest time, and wedding bells resound with joy in every known clime. A bunch of flimsy, fluffy lace "he" takes to be his bride, to shelter and provide for no matter what betide. But presently, we should surmise, by Fashion's onward trend, it will be "she" who promises to keep him to the end.

On June 19th, Jupiter, who has long been working mornings, will give up that position and take a job as evening star. His place in the wee sma' hours will be vacant for about a week when Saturn will go on duty. Summer is almanacally said to begin on June 22nd, but most of us will be willing to believe that it has been hanging around uncomfortably close long before that time.

And then comes the dreamy maids, creamy and screamly maids, filling and thrilling our souls with delight, and though with discretion, a slight premonition says money is saved if we stay in o' nights. Summer time's money time—picnic and parties both call us and ball us until we attend, and once we are started quite soon we are parted with all winter's savings, yes, every stipend.
