MURDER AT BACH SUNDAY MORNING

ENMITY OF FARMERS HAS FATAL ENDING.

Wm. Ziehm, Father of Six Children,
Dead; Tony Schall in Bad
Axe Jail.

Tony Schall, Hungarian beet worker, 23 years old, was arrested Sunday morning at his home 2 1/4 miles east of Bach on a charge of shooting Wm. Ziehm, a neighbor, who died early that morning from the effects of the wound. Schall was taken to the county jail at Bad Axe by Sheriff Uptogrove.

The cattle of Conrad Schall, father of the young man arrested, have strayed to the Ziehm farm several times this summer in spite of the protests of Ziehm. Twice the cattle were shut up by Ziehm and enmity existed between the two farmers all summer because of this difficulty.

Saturday, so the story is told in Bach, Ziehm assisted a neighbor in haying and beer was served to the hands. Towards evening, one of the Schall boys passed the haymakers on his way home with a quantity of beer and invited them down to a dance which was to be held at the Schall home that night. Along about midnight, Ziehm and three or four of his friends went to the dance at which several of the foreigners employed as beet workers in that neighborhood were present.

The new comers had been there but a short time before a quarrel started, the elder Schall arising from his bed and mixing in the fray. In the melee, Ziehm was shot in the back of the head, the bullet lodging back of the eye. He lived about two hours.

Sheriff Uptogrove arrived at the Schall home early Sunday morning and took Tony Schall, his brother and a young man, who is a friend of the family, in custody. The two last named were released later. A revolver with one bullet missing was found in a manure pile on the Schall farm by the sheriff and the bullet removed from the dead man at the post mortem on Monday is of the same size as those still remaining in the weapon.

Wm. Ziehm, the victim, was 31 years of age and leaves a wife and six children, the oldest about 11 years. He is spoken of in Bach as a hard working, industrious man. He has lived on his farm about four years, and though he was rather unfortunate with his crops at the first, the last two years he has been better favored and "things were coming his way." Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon and burial was made at Sebawaing.

CARO'S TALLEST MAN DEAD

Dies as Result, It Is Said, of Taking Headache Tablets.

Chas. Westfall, aged 35 and Caro's express messenger, died at his home at the county seat Friday. He leaves a wife and two small children.

Mr. Westfall complained of a headache about two weeks ago and took some tablets which caused partial paralysis, and although stout and robust, he could not overcome the shock. He had the distinction of being known as the tallest man in Caro.

POSTMASTERS GET RAISES.

Several postmasters in the Thumb have received an increase in salary. These raises are due to increased postoffice receipts. Marlette was granted from $1700 to $1800, Bad Axe $2200 to $2300, Port Austin $1200 to $1300, Ubyly $1100 to $1200. The postmaster at Vassar will receive $100 less than he did last year.

Mr. Belknap, after the inspection, informed J. J. Gallagher, highway commissioner, that he had accepted the road which entitles the township to the state reward of $500 for this mile.

MARTIN-MORGAN NUPTIALS

Seventy-five Guests Witness Wedding at Martin Country Home.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Martin Wednesday evening, July 28, at eight thirty o'clock when their youngest daughter, Miss Laura Irene, was united in marriage to T. H. Morgan of Pontiac.

The beautiful country home was tastily decorated with ferns and roses throughout, while a canopy of white wedding bells was formed, under which the bridal party stood. At the strains of the beautiful wedding march played by Mrs. H. P. Lee, the wedding party took their places.

First came the minister, Rev. H. C. Hayward, followed by the little ring bearer, Marjorie Rieder, niece of the bride, carrying a large white lily in which the wedding ring reposed. Next came Miss Joy Roy, sister of the groom, accompanied by Master Jack Ryland carrying armfuls of flowers. Miss Lila Jones of Caro and C. H. Lude of Bay City, who attended the bride and groom, took their places, immediately followed by the bride accompanied by her father. Next the groom unattended joined the party and the ceremony was performed, the impressive ring service being used. Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party assembled, in the dining room where a dainty wedding lunch was served.

The bride was gowned in embroidered net over white messaline, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. The bridesmaid was gowned in pink messaline and carried pink roses. The groom wore the conventional black.

The bride is a popular young lady, graduated from the Cass City high school in 1911, and has been a normal teacher in this county for the past four years. The groom is a highly respected young man of Pontiac. Recently he took a course at Ferris Institute where he completed a civil service course and expects to take up that line of work for the coming year, after which he will take up farming on his farm recently purchased from Charles McCue.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan left Thursday morning for Niagara Falls and New York City on their wedding trip. A host of good wishes from their many friends wish them God-speed on the journey through life.

There were about seventy-five guests present. The out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lucas of Flushing, Mr. and Mrs. A. Lucas of Imlay City, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jones and daughter, Lela, of Caro, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Hartt of Wilmet, Mrs. Wm. Rieder and children, of Niles, Mr. and Mrs. W. Legg and daughter, Thelma, Miss Lorna Decker, Mrs. J. Roy and daughter, Joy, all of Kingston, and C. H. Fude of Bay City.

OLD PARTNERS RE-UNITED

Ball Joins Bailey Again in Barber Business.

After a separation of three years, the firm of Ball & Bailey has been re-organized, John Ball having purchased a half interest in the barber shop from Lester Bailey. This firm had been in the barber business for several years until three years ago when Mr. Ball's health failed and he sold his interests to his partner. Since that time the shop has been moved from the rooms under the Cass City Bank to the Sheridan Block on the north side on Main St., and has been improved in various ways. Last November, Mr. Ball began work as an employee in the shop and now is part owner.

Ball & Bailey are ambitious in their desire to have a standard shop and one that meets all requirements as to sanitary conditions. They are now installing some new fixtures which greatly improve the shop and aid in the desire for cleanliness. Three Koch's one-lever chairs replace the old chairs. The seat frame, back and legrest of these chairs are of oak, the base is enameled iron and nickel and the upholstery is leather. This provides a chair easily kept clean. A new case, with three beveled French mirrors, each three by four feet, has also been installed. The shelf of this is Italian marble. Besides these fixtures, Mr. Bailey recently added a group of eight smaller mirrors to one of the walls of the shop. The work room has an inviting appearance and speaks for the success of the new-old firm.

SANILAC'S VALUE UP 147 PER CENT

ACCOMPLISHED WITHOUT INTERFERENCE FROM STATE.

Other Counties Are Higher in Order to Bring Them Up to the Cash Value.

Assessing officers of Sanilac county in reports made to the state tax commission, show that the county this year is assessed at 147 per cent. higher than it was last year. This bears out the claims of the tax commission made at the state board of equalization last year that Sanilac as well as many other counties in the state were under-assessed.

From a valuation placed on the county last year by local assessing officers of $15,916,875 the assessed valuation this year was raised to $39,351,017. How this was accomplished without interference from the tax commission is shown by the fact that local assessing officers of the county worked as a unit in getting the real and personal property up to as near cash value as they could. From a valuation of real estate in the county in 1914 placed at $14,468,095, it was raised to $34,986,610 this year and personal property last year valued at $1,448,690 was boosted to $4,364,407.

A year ago the tax commission in giving the state board of equalization figures which they considered true cash values of the various counties, placed Sanilac county at $40,177,249. The same year the state board of equalization equalized the county at $34,200,000.

Chairman Barnes of the tax commission who by virtue of his office is a member of the state board of equalization had a number of heated arguments with the equalization board when it met last year and his contention that the state should be equalized at $3,324,500,825 was met with refusal by the remainder of the board who finally voted to place the equalized value of the state at $2,800,000,000.

The reports coming in from the various counties this year, with a few exceptions show that the tax commission figures were nearer correct.

For instance, Alcona county assessing officers this year raised their assessed valuation from $2,081,355 to $4,311,112. Huron county assessing officers raised that county from $24,989,330 to $35,991,981. Arenac county was raised from $4,346,690 to $6,372,330. Mecosta county was raised from $10,326,526 to $12,052,350. St. Joseph county from $18,067,415 to $28,540,841, an increase of 70 per cent., and several other counties raised in like proportion. In nearly all instances the figures given the state board of equalization by the tax commission last year are shown to be accurate or as nearly so as made possible by estimates based on actual reviews and reassessments.

There are a few instances where parts of counties will have to be reassessed by the tax commission, due to the fact that a few local assessing officers did not assess their respective townships at true cash value as did a majority of others in the same county. This condition is true in very few counties, however.

In Alpena county the tax commission will reassess the entire county with the exception of the city of Alpena which has already been reassessed by the state commission. This county was assessed at $8,218,598 in 1914, and raised to $8,552,033 this year. The tax commission a year ago said it was worth $12,698,430 while the state board of equalization equalized it at $11,200,000. Lapeer county will also be reassessed.

STILL LOYAL TO MICHIGAN

Trip West Does Not Lessen Love for Home State.

San Martin, Cal., July 21, 1915. H. F. Lenzner, Cass City, Mich.

Dear Friend:—It may be of interest to our friends in and around Cass City to know that the people of Armada kindly gave Mrs. Moore and myself a three months' vacation this summer with the injunction that we take a trip west and spend the time visiting in California and taking in the two expositions. Mrs. Moore's father being a resident of California, we were all the more anxious to make the trip a reality.

Consequently we left Armada June 13th and arrived in Chicago Monday afternoon where we spent a day and a half with my mother's brother, I. B. Littlejohn, and then were ready for our real trip Tuesday night. We left Chicago by Santa Fe and reached our first stop near Kansas City in Missouri where we spent a couple of days with cousins, and then boarding the train again we crossed the Missouri river and were in the midst of the broad fields of wheat that have made Kansas famous. Crossing Kansas from east to west we entered Colorado and soon were located in a beautiful hotel in Manitou, which is located at the foot of famous Pike's Peak. Here we took in Mt. Manitou, Garden of Gods and Cave of the Winds and finally were ready for our trip westward through the heart of the Rockies. We passed through the Royal Gorge and crossed Tennessee Pass about two miles high and by noon next day caught sight of Salt Lake City. Here we took in the Mormon grounds and took a sight seeing trip in this beautiful Mormon city, then on to Ogden and from here across the Great Salt Lake and the great Nevada desert until at Reno we were at the gate way to the beautiful Sierras. Crossing these and coming down into the warm and prosperous Sacramento valley on the way to San Francisco was indeed a great delight. After spending the night in the exposition city we took train for Mr. Bond's home in San Martin, 75 miles south of San Francisco, in the Santa Clara Valley. Here we have visited until now.

Tomorrow we start for a trip over the Coast Range to the Pacific Coast where we spend a week, after which we spend another week at San Francisco.

On the way home we see Los Angeles, and the Exposition at San Diego; take a trip into Mexico and returning prepare for the journey homeward through Arizona, where we see the Grand Canyon, New Mexico, where we see Santa Fe, and then to Denver. From this mile high city we come home through Nebraska, Iowa and Illinois. We are enjoying the vacation and trip to the utmost and trust that great help shall be derived therefrom.

We wish to state, however, and very emphatically too, that we are going to come back to Michigan and be more loyal too, for she compares very favorably with what we have thus far seen.

Sincerely,
WILMOT L. MOORE.

BABE'S HEAD CUT OFF BY HAY ROPE

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT NEAR AKRON THURSDAY.

Little Boy, Placing Rope Around Neck, Had Head Torn Off When Team Started.

The little son of Frank Beach, a farmer living near Akron, met instant death Thursday afternoon at four o'clock in a novel manner, being decapitated.

The child was two and one-half years of age. It wandered from the house over to the barn yard where men were engaged in hoisting hay from a wagon to the upper door of a barn, the same being done by means of a block and tackle, and clutching fork. When the fork with a load of hay was ready for hoisting, a signal was given to the driver of the team and the team hoisted it to the door where the fork took a runaway into the barn to be unloaded.

Unnoticed by those engaged in unloading the hay, the child put a half hitch of the rope playfully around its neck, and it was while in this position that a signal was given for the teamster to go ahead. When the rope became taut, it cut the child's head completely from the body and the quick jerk sent the head rolling more than a rod from where the child lay.

AUTO TAX IS HIGH

Average Will Be $12 Per Car; Counties Will Get Half.

The Newell Smith automobile tax law will net the state of Michigan and its component counties close to $1,750,000 during the first year of its operation, 1916.

The first estimate upon the amount of tax the bill would raise was placed at $700,000 to $800,000, but since the secretary of state has been delving in the statistics of the automobile manufacturers in regard to horsepower and the weight of cars, the estimate has been materially boosted.

The law calls for a tax of 25c a horsepower and for 25c a one-hundred pounds of weight. When state officials began to make inquiries, the manufacturers' eyes were opened.

The ordinary Ford car, under figures received at Lansing, will cost each owner about $11 for his license. When the larger cars are averaged in, it is figured by Deputy Secretary of State Geo. L. Lusk that the average will run close to $13.

So far this year there have been more than 102,000 licenses issued and the order for plates for 1916 is for 150,000. The opinion prevails in the automobile license bureau that the number will reach 135,000. On the basis of splitting the difference between the $11 and $13 average, making it $12—a figure which is very conservative—the total amount of money taken in would be $1,620,000.

Of this money, one-half will go to the counties in which it originates.

Some days ago Secretary of State Vaughan wrote to the manufacturers and asked for figures as to horsepower and weight on all makes of machines, and varied models for the last 10 years. The data from the manufacturers will be compiled in a book and a copy sent to each applicant for a license, so that he can figure out his own fee.

WHICH IS BEST BREED OF CHICKENS?

A Paying Flock of Chickens on a Western Farm.

(By F. O. WELCOME.)

"Which is the best breed of fowls?" is one of the popular and continually reiterated queries. If we look to experienced poultry keepers for our answer we often find them so prejudiced against breeds that they do not handle and so biased in favor of those they prefer that their evidence only makes our confusion more complete.

If we examine the matter in the light of pure logic we find that the most popular breeds and varieties of chickens are so universally bred by all types of poultry keepers that even were one sort better than another it would require a wiser expert than the world has yet produced to point it out and prove his case.

I saw the other day this statement: "Leghorns are universally admitted to be better layers than any other breed." Even if that statement be true it proves nothing as to the relative laying abilities of Leghorns and other breeds. Sometimes Leghorns do not lay well. When that is the case the reason for their failure is likely to be the same as those that cause specimens of other breeds to lay poorly—and there are many reasons for poor laying that have nothing at all to do with the breed as such.

I have no prejudice against any breed, but during the past ten years I have examined a great many reports of egg production in private letters and in our poultry periodicals, and I have yet to find any evidence that any one breed or variety, as individuals or as flocks, surpasses another in inherent egg-producing capacity.

The largest authentic individual egg-record that I know of—318 eggs in less than one year—was made by a Brahma. The next largest—310 eggs in one year—by a Plymouth Rock. The largest flock records that I have seen reported by apparently dependable people were made by Asiatic and American breeds as well as Mediterraneanans.

If we divide chickens into three great classes—Mediterranean, Asiatic and American—and then examine the difference in those classes we will much simplify the matter. Having selected the class that seems best suited to our temperament, circumstances, location and market, the choice of the breed and variety is mainly a matter of whim or fancy.

In the Mediterranean class we have several varieties of Leghorns, black and white Minorcas, Black Spanish, several varieties of Hamburgs, several varieties of Polish, blue Andalusians.

The Leghorns are hardy, small, exceedingly nervous and active but tamable; forage widely when at liberty, high flyers when confined to small yards or parks. They are nonsitters and not so likely to become overtaken on full and careless feeding in confinement as are the larger and less active breeds. When marketed their small size limits the returns.

The Minorcas are considerably larger than Leghorns and lay a very large white egg. They are not so nervous and "flighty" and are good market fowls whenever their white skin and dark legs are not objectionable. They are nonsitters.

The Black Spanish, once deservedly popular, no longer possess any particular desirable qualities, as a rule.

The Hamburgs are nonsitters, lay a white egg, are small and not considered to be sufficiently hardy for general utility purposes. They and the Polish (a crested head) are fanciers' rather than farmers' breeds.

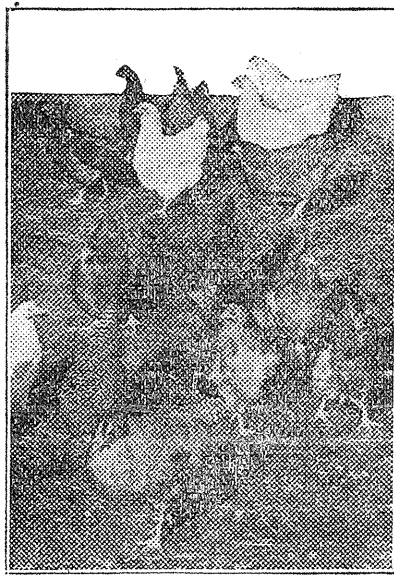

The Blue Andalusians are nonsitters, lay large white eggs, are larger than Leghorns and smaller than the Minorcas and have slate-colored legs.

In the Asiatic class we have the light and dark Brahmas; several colors of Cochins; black and white Langshans. These breeds lay large brown eggs, are large in size and are usually very persistent sitters. They are quiet and slow-motioned, cannot fly over a fence and are heavily feathered, including legs and feet. This last feature is objectionable on heavy soil that becomes muddy in wet weather. Aside from that, they are less affected by climatic changes than are the more thinly feathered, larger combed breeds. These heavy breeds easily become too fat to lay well, if carelessly fed, but care in feeding, forced exercise in litter and skillful breeding will produce individuals and stocks that will lay as many eggs per hen in a winter or a year as will any other breeds. When marketed for meat each bird brings an appreciable return.

In the American class we find the Plymouth Rocks, several varieties; Wyandottes, several varieties; Single and Rose Comb Rhode Island Reds; American Dominique; Javas, and several little known breeds that I am unable to describe.

The breeds in this class are intermediate between the Mediterranean and the Asiatics. They are known as the "general purpose" breeds. As breeds, they are hardy, good foragers, bear confinement well, are the right size, when well grown, to just suit the average meat market demand. They have clean legs and produce eggs that vary in color from very light tinted to dark brown and in size from medium to large. While they are known as sitting breeds, many individual hens, especially in Plymouth Rocks, are practically nonsitters. They are as prolific as any breed or as poor layers as any, according to the particular stock or strain in hand and the care and skill applied to them.

I have not mentioned the English Orpingtons. There are several varieties. I have no doubt that they are an excellent breed but wherein they excel or even differ from our leading American breeds in any practical particulars I do not know; except that their white skin is more favored in the English markets than the yellow skin that our discriminating markets prefer.

Space limits compel the brevity of their descriptions and the omission of several breeds that have not yet impressed many practical utility poultry keepers by their merits.

CHICKS CROWDED TO DEATH

Little Fellows Have Habit of Piling Up Where They Are Kept Together in Large Numbers.

Chicks have a fashion of piling up where kept in numbers together. In the morning one often finds, not the weakest, but the strongest, stretched out trampled and dead. Why the strong so often cannot beat their way more than the weak from under the pile of chickens is often a mystery to the owner.

If you have them in a brooder and there is glass at any end of the brooder, place something over this, or just so soon as light comes, before you may have time to get out to them, here they will crowd, standing one on top of the other, and every morning you will take out a dead chick or more.

COMPOSITION OF GOOD EGGS

First-Grade Article Is Fresh, With Clean Shells and Weighs Twenty-Four Ounces Per Dozen.

The eggs graded firsts in the market are fresh, good-sized eggs with clean, sound shells and weigh 24 ounces or more per dozen, 45 pounds per case of 30 dozen eggs. When the egg is broken into a plate, the yolk must stand up firm and the white must not be watery. A fresh laid egg fills its shell. The longer an egg is kept the larger the air space in the interior on account of evaporation through the shell. An old egg may not fill over half its shell.

Shrinkage in Carcass.

Poultrymen generally count on a shrinkage of a half pound on a carcass. In other words a two and a half pound chicken should dress about two pounds.

Meat for Poultry.

The meat food supplied poultry should always be sweet and fresh. Animal food that smells badly should be used as fertilizer and not as poultry food.

WHO IS WHO NOW

A MILLIONAIRE CLERK

Stephen T. Mather, millionaire, has a theory that there is a lot of fun in doing things for other people when one has done all that is necessary for himself, and that no particular credit should flow to him for so doing.

Hence Stephen T. Mather, millionaire, is a $2,750 employee of Uncle Sam. He likes his job, even if it does not show up as very large in the public eye.

Mr. Mather, becoming tired of newspaper work after five hard years as a reporter in New York, broke into business life, and made his million or so as a manufacturer. Having got all he needed and never having become money-mad, he thereupon became very active in trying to improve social conditions in his home city of Chicago. And this brought him, in February of this year, to appointment as assistant to the secretary of the interior at Washington. Now, Mr.

Mather happens to know all about national parks, scenery, the mountains and the wilds.

He knows every glacier, creek, mountain and valley in those national parks by its first name. So Secretary Lane gave him the job of administrative head without title or added salary. And now he is boss of them all.

He is forty-seven years old and as enthusiastic about any task he undertakes as any freshman. He made his money in the borax business.

WIFE OF OHIO SENATOR

Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the new senator-elect from Ohio, will be a welcome addition to social circles in Washington. Her husband has been prominent in public life for 16 years, and Mrs. Harding has always been a leader in society in their home state. She is a true gentlewoman, educated, cultured and gracious, and a charming conversationalist. Mrs. Harding was Miss Florence M. Kling, daughter of the late Amos H. Kling, who at the time of his death was the wealthiest resident of Marion county, Ohio.

The Hardings were married in 1891, and they live in a pretty home on Mt. Vernon avenue, in Marion. It is just a lovely, homelike home. Its furnishings are rich and tasteful, but there is no sign of gaudiness anywhere. Many little things have been picked up in Europe and are used as decorations in Mr. Harding's den. Books are everywhere to be found—in the library and out of the library. Mrs. Harding and her husband have no children, but they love pets.

SIR JOHN FRENCH'S FRIEND

George Gordon Moore of Detroit, whose intimacy with Sir John French has enabled him to be near the firing line since the British expeditionary force went to France and whose presence there has been resented by some of the public men of England, perhaps is least known among those of his own community. And what is more, he never has made an effort to attract public attention, although his operations have been among the most extensive in America in the last decade.

He merged the interests of urban and interurban lines and built up the Michigan United Traction company, with 350 miles of track, then sold it to an eastern corporation, incidentally making millions for himself. Several years ago he organized a $50,000,000 water power corporation in Georgia, and later he amalgamated the Pacific coast utilities. He also heads a great corporation with extensive interests in Brazil.

He is a man of tremendous nervous energy and seems never to tire, although he now has very widespread interests. In the Canadian Northwest he has a vast cattle range; he controls the traction company at Lincoln, Neb., a water power in Texas and another in Vermont.

Although he has been tremendously busy he has found time for recreation, and is a sportsman with many fancies. He plays polo, tennis and other outdoor games, and is an expert rifle shot.

The friendship between Mr. Moore and Sir John French is of several years' standing. Always they were together when in London, and a couple of years ago when the Balkan troubles threatened to cause international difficulties he was with the field marshal day and night.

PRESIDENT WILSON'S DOUBLE

Most public men have doubles, though in many cases the resemblance is artificial or imaginary. The particular double, whose picture is here presented, has been mistaken time and again for President Woodrow Wilson. He is Dr. Herbert Lake, a resident of Swift Current, Saskatchewan, Canada. In a hotel in New York recently he was followed for half an hour and when he protested he was told that the hotel detectives were "protecting" him, the secret service men having apparently lost the trail.

In Minneapolis, former Governor Sulzer of New York spoke to the double and called him Mr. Wilson. In Montreal his friends introduced him to a score of Canadian legislators as "President Wilson," and not one of them suspected the joke. Recently Doctor Lake has been asked to use his resemblance to President Wilson by posing for motion pictures. When he smiles his resemblance to Mr. Wilson is especially striking, the lines about the mouth and eyes being identical with those noted when the chief executive smiles.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Proud Moment For a Boy on the Dreadnought Wyoming.

ASTRIDE A BIG WAR GUN.

Master Samuels is Photographed With One of Uncle Sam's Jack Tars—Games of Telegrams is Fun—Many Things to Interest Children.

Recently Uncle Sam's fleet of warships that guard the Atlantic coast steamed into New York harbor. It was composed of super-Dreadnoughts, Dreadnoughts, battleships, destroyers, torpedo boats, submarines and many other vessels that go to make up a powerful fleet of sea fighters. The Wyoming, a Dreadnought, was the flagship of Admiral Fletcher, who is in supreme command of all the ships. When the ships came to anchor in the Hudson river, they were visited by thousands of persons, old and young, who were anxious to see what a warship looked like. Among the visitors was Master Winston A. W. Samuels, who recently traveled from England all alone. While on board one of the sailors lifted Winston on to one of the big guns and then the photographer snapped them both as well as the muzzle of the huge gun. Winston looks highly pleased and almost any other boy would look the same. It was a proud moment.

Telegrams.

This is a game in which paper and pencil and some wit will be needed by each of the players.

The director of the game asks from a succession of players in turn a letter of the alphabet, chosen at random, and the ten letters are taken down in the order given.

A "from" person—some one well known to all—is next chosen, and then another well known person to whom the telegram is to be addressed. This telegram must consist of ten words, the words to begin with the letters given in the order in which they were taken down.

Each player writes a message, and when all are ready they are read aloud in turn by the writers or by the director.

For example, suppose the letters given were a, c, g, l, f, t, p, s, r, b, one of the telegrams might read "After Christmas geese laying four times per Sunday receive benedictions."

A Geographic Game.

A game which is entertaining as well as instructive is played as follows: There may be any number of players, and it will be enjoyed by people of all ages. Let the beginner give some geographical word—the name of a country, city, river or mountain. The next player continues with a name whose first letter is the last letter of the word given by the preceding player.

Thus, suppose the first word given is Albany, the second must begin with Y, Yucatan, for instance. No 3 must give a place whose initial letter is N, and so on. When a player fails to have a name ready he is dropped from the game, and the one who can play the longest is, of course, the winner.

Conundrums.

Why is a hive like a spectator at a show? Because it is a bee holder. What is the difference between an auction and seasickness? One is the sale of effects, the other the effects of a sail.

Why is a chicken pie like a gunsmith's shop? Because it contains fowl in pieces.

Why cannot a deaf man be legally convicted? Because it is unlawful to convict a man without a hearing.

A Problem.

A boy driving home some turkeys was asked how many he had. He replied, "When in line there are two turkeys ahead of a turkey, two turkeys behind a turkey and one turkey in the middle."

How many turkeys had he? Answer.—Five turkeys.

When You Build a Home Get the Most House-Value for Your Money. Everyone who owns a home pays for it "by the year." There is no other way. The building cost is the first payment. Then there is the cost of repairs every year. The house that requires least patching and altering will give you best house-value. The original dollar's worth is worth a dollar longest. Spend Your Building Dollars Wisely. Buy the right kind and quality of building materials. Then you'll have no regrets, no useless repair expense. Quality does not mean mere "showiness." Quality refers to the backbone of the material—the sound, clear, strong, uniform fiber and texture of the lumber, brick, cement, etc. That is the quality you want—backbone quality. It is the only quality that will insure you real house-value—the pleasing, comfortable home that lasts longest at least expense—a daily source of satisfaction and bringing full value if you want to sell or rent. Take Plenty of Time to Look Into the Matter of Quality. See and know every building material you buy. Come to our store and see the different grades of material. We'll show you the different grades of material that are so "awfully cheap" and, therefore, so "awfully expensive" in the end; also the grade that is the most economical in the long run—the kind with backbone quality and reasonable price. You will readily see and feel the difference. You will be surprised at the big difference in quality and the small difference in price. Let us help you. This puts you to no obligation. Watching for Your Ship to Come In. For years we have waited, in hope and glee—

Watching the billows, scanning the sea,
For our ship on the ocean, laden with gold,
To come and enrich us; the tale is soon told.

Our ship has come in—but it's bottom side up!

EASY WAY TO TEST TIRES

Rough-and-Ready Method of Finding Out Whether They Have Been Overinflated.

Time was when every tire manufacturer warned all and sundry to inflate their tires to a high degree of pressure, and more probably than not this was due to the fact that in those days all pumping was done by hand and with very inefficient implements.

The correct thing to do nowadays, of course, is to consult a standard table of requisite pressures, according to the size of the tire and the load to be carried, and to use this in conjunction with a reliable gauge. But there is also a rough-and-ready method which is by no means indeterminate if no pressure gauge is handy, and that is to take the car out into a dry road which is in a bad state of repair and full of holes. Preferably there should be no passengers on the rear seats. If the driving wheels are pumped up too hard, the driver will experience a constant sensation of incipient skidding, and though he may not actually side slip, he will not find the car by any means easy to steer. This is evidence that the tires are so hard that they are bumping over obstacles instead of absorbing them without leaving the ground.

Keep Foot Off Pedal.

While the prudent driver seldom, if ever removes his foot from the clutch pedal while the car is in motion, it is advisable for him to learn to keep it in position without exerting pressure against the throw-out mechanism. Resting the weight of the leg against the pedal not only tends to cause the clutch to slip, but produces friction between the stationary yoke and the rotating collar of the clutch. This, in time, produces wear, and sometimes leads to more serious results. Because of this risk some drivers never place the foot upon the pedal except when about to disengage the clutch, although always keeping in readiness to find it quickly in the ever-possible emergency.

Electric Airbrake.

Electric-pneumatic brakes are soon to displace air brakes used on the passenger trains of the Pennsylvania railroad. This form of brake has been found necessary because of the weight of trains made up of all-steel cars. In a 12-car train it takes eight seconds for the full braking force to be felt at the last car. With an electro-pneumatic brake the braking power will be exerted at the same instant on all the cars, and within two seconds after the application of the brakes the whole braking force will be exerted throughout the train.

It's Up to the Driver.

The life of a car is entirely in the hands of its driver. To prolong the life of the car is or should be the object of every driver, and to do this few things are so important as the proper manipulation of the clutch. A clutch should engage gradually—that is, it should not take up with a jerk, but should impart the motion of the motor to the car gradually, so that there are no undue strains upon the driving mechanism.

Want Clocks in Cars.

German buyers are fond of clocks in their automobiles.

CIGARETTE SMOKERS MUST BE 21 YEARS OLD

It Is Also Unlawful to Let Minors Smoke on Your Premise.

Prosecuting Attorney Herbert W. Smith of Lapeer county says that while the last Legislature failed to pass an anti-cigarette law, it did the next best thing—made it unlawful for minors to smoke the "Tacks." It provided penalties for those minors who smoke in public places and for persons who permit minors to smoke on their premises, but provides that the act shall not be construed so as to interfere with the rights of parents or guardians in the rearing and management of minor children within the bounds of their premises.

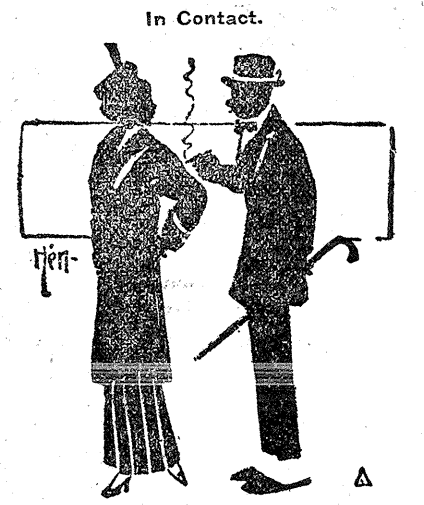

The law, which will become effective next month, follows:

Section 1. Any person within this state who sells, gives to, or in any way furnishes any cigarettes in any form to any person under twenty-one years of age shall be punished by fine not to exceed fifty dollars or imprisonment in the county jail for not to exceed thirty days for each offense.

Section 2. Any person under twenty-one years of age who shall smoke or use cigarettes in any form, on any public highway, street, alley, park or other lands used for public purposes, or in any public place of business or amusement may be arrested by any officer of the law, who may be cognizant of such offense; and further, it shall be the duty of such officer upon complaint of any person and upon warrant properly issued to arrest such offenders and take them to the proper court. In case the offender is found guilty the court may impose a penalty in its discretion in the sum of not to exceed ten dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed five days for each offense.

Sec. 3. Any person who knowingly harbors any person under twenty-one years of age, or grants to them the privilege of gathering upon or frequenting any property or lands held by him, for the purpose of indulging in the use of cigarettes in any form, shall be held under the same penalty as provided for under section 1 of this act shall be construed so as to interfere with the rights of parents or lawful guardians in the rearing and management of their minor children or wards within the bounds of their own private premises.

is a new idea and differs from the ordinary Furniture Polish, in that it does not leave a tacky surface to catch the dust. It takes away that dull and smoky look from varnished surfaces, and restores the lustre making it look like new; removes all grease and dirt, leaving a bright, clean finish. It is colorless and can be used on the most delicate surface without injury, such as White Enamel, White Mahogany, Birdseye Maple Etc. Especially adapted for varnished surfaces on automobiles and carriages.

This is a very economical polish. A few drops go a long way.

"Going to heaven!" Georgie bellowed. "Going to heaven! Going to heaven, my Lord! Going to heaven, heaven, heaven!"

He tried to climb higher, but began to slip downward, his exertions causing damage to his apparel. A button flew into the air, and his knickerbockers and his waistband severed relations.

"Devil's got my coattails, sinners! The devil's got my coattails!" he announced appropriately. Then he began to slide. He relaxed his clasp of the tree and slid to the ground.

"Going to —!" shrieked Georgie, reaching a high pitch of enthusiasm in this great climax.

With a loud scream Mrs. Bassett threw herself out of the window, alighting by some miracle upon her feet with ankles unstrained.

Mr. Kinoslign, feeling that his presence as spiritual adviser was demanded in the yard, followed with greater dignity through the front door. At the corner of the house a small departing figure collided with him violently. It was Penrod, tactfully withdrawing from what promised to be a family scene of unusual painfulness.

Mr. Kinoslign seized him by the shoulders and, giving way to emotion, shook him viciously.

"You horrible boy!" exclaimed Mr. Kinoslign. "You ruffianly creature! Do you know what's going to happen to you when you grow up? Do you realize what you're going to be?"

With flashing eyes the indignant boy made known his unshaken purpose. He shouted the reply:

"A minister!"

EXPENSIVE FENCES ABOUT POULTRY YARD

Poultry Farm Showing Houses to Accommodate Twenty-Five Birds on Each Side, With Lots Set Out in Young Apple Trees and Corn Growing Between the Rows.

(By R. G. WEATHERSTONE.) Fences about the poultry yards mean an outlay of money, and this outlay is more or less continuous, as they must be maintained after being installed. There should be as few fences as possible dividing the lots and the yards, as land can be kept "sweet" more easily if not fenced, and fresh, sweet land is a valuable asset in poultry raising.

On good soil, a greensward may be kept up by allowing 200 to 250 square feet of land per bird. This means 217 or 174 birds per acre. More space is necessary on poor or light land. A larger number of fowls are usually kept to the acre where double yards are used and the land is frequently cultivated. Plymouth Rocks, and the other heavy meat breeds in small yards require fences 5 to 6 feet high, while a fence 6 to 7 feet high is necessary for Leghorns. The upper two feet of the fence for the latter may be inclined inward at an angle of 30 degrees, or a strand of barbed wire may be used on top of the regular wire to keep them confined. It is also sometimes necessary to clip the wing feathers of one wing of those birds that persist in getting out. A board or strip along the top of the fence is not advisable. Hens will often fly over such an arrangement.

Posts may be set or driven into the ground. They should be set 8 to 10 feet apart with common poultry netting, or 16 to 20 feet with woven wire. Corner posts should be about 8 inches in diameter, and be set 4 feet in the ground, while intervening posts may be 4 or 5 inches in diameter and set 3 feet in the ground. That part of the post which is set in the ground may be charred or treated with some wood preservative to advantage, while corner posts should be firmly braced or set in cement.

Should Be Cultivated in Rows Like Corn, Though Not So Close—Shade Provided for Poultry.

To cultivate sunflowers for chicken feed plant them in rows as you do corn, though not so close together, because they require more space to head out in than corn. The sunflower that bears the striped seed will set often from seven to eight heads to the stock. They resist dry weather and will grow on poor soil. If planted about or in the poultry yard they will furnish much shade for the poultry. Cultivate them while growing as you do corn. Sunflower seeds contain flour of an oily nature.

Regular Feeding Times. If you feed your chickens regularly they will not bother the hog pen and always be under the horses' feet, to the loss of many dollars' worth of chickens in a year. Give them regular feeding times on the farm, the same as given by the town poultry keeper.

Marketing Pullets. Pullets are marketed just before they begin to lay; after they have begun to lay they will command only the prices of fowls.

THUMB NOTES.

SNOVER—Frank McGunegle of Marlette has purchased the interest of the Holmes Grain Co. in the Snover elevator and has taken charge of the business.

UNIONVILLE—Local citizens held a meeting here to consider the matter of organizing a stock company which will build a hotel in this village.

REESE—C. J. Chilton, who for the past year has been manager of the Hotel Mosack, has severed his connection with the hotel and moved to his former home at Chesaning. Jas. Davison of Alma is his successor.

DECKERVILLE—Dr. W. J. Harrison, veterinarian, was severely injured while preparing a colt for an operation at the home of Marvin Mather, two miles west of McGregor. The colt reared up striking the doctor on the back of the head with its foot and inflicting a bad bruise on the left shoulder. After being knocked down he attempted to resume his work but complained of feeling sick and was taken to the house where he lapsed into unconsciousness. He was brought to Deckerville the following day and he is now better.

IMLAY CITY—The electric road is now nearing completion and the work is so far along that the officials have definitely fixed upon Friday, August 20, as the opening day for traffic on the road. Imlay City business men are making arrangements for a netting program to celebrate. The D. U. R. official car will arrive here on the 20th at about 10:45 a. m., and the first public car is scheduled to arrive at 1:50 p. m., so that between those hours there will be something doing all the time, including a banquet at noon in the Masonic Temple.

BAY PORT—Harry Leonard, 24, was instantly killed and State Tax Commissioner J. W. Horn sustained a broken arm and severe injuries about the head and face when the automobile in which they were riding was thrown into the ditch as a portion of the roadway near Bay Port crumbled beneath its weight. Horn and his companion were on the way to Caseville to transact business for the tax commission. About a mile from Bay Port the driver attempted to pass a wagon. The earth of the newly-constructed road crumbled beneath the weight of the car. Horn and his companion were thrown out of the machine.

SEBEWAING — Tuesday F. J. Lange noticed a strange pigeon in his barn yard and on approaching the bird it was found to be a carrier pigeon. It was quite tame and Mr. Lange found little difficulty in picking it up. On a number of its wing feathers are stamped the names Ira Travel, Oshawa, and around one of the pigeon's legs is a metal band on which is engraved "893 O. F. C., 1913." Oshawa is a town in Ontario, Canada, and lies about 225 miles from Sebewaing as the crow flies. Mr. Lange has written the owner advising him of the arrival of the pigeon.—Blade.
