SEVERE DAMAGE DONE BY CYCLONE

BUILDINGS BLOWN DOWN AND CROPS DESTROYED BY HEAVY WIND STORM

Losses and Damage Will Amount to Several Thousand Dollars.

Property and crops suffered either through loss or damage to the amount of several thousand dollars in the vicinity of Akron last Thursday caused by a cyclone and wind storm which swept over that village shortly after two o'clock that afternoon. Telephone poles and wires, silos, windmills and farm buildings were blown down either entirely or partly, and fruit orchards suffered heavily from the storm, which uprooted several trees. A silo on the farm of E. A. Rohlf, which had just recently been filled, was completely wrecked. William Turner's silo and granary, both well filled, were blown down. The windmill and the chimney on the farmhouse of Frank Turner were blown down, and his orchard also was hard hit by the storm. Dave Summer-ville's barn was demolished under the lash of the winds, and the house of R. M. Lewis was lifted from its foundation. Clarence Fuester's orchard was badly torn up by the winds, and windows in the homes of C. J. Becker and Jesse Ellison were shattered.

A large plate glass window in the high school was shattered by lightning, and the window casing hurled the length of the room, barely missing the instructor, Prof. Siegbee.

I. O. O. F. GRAND LODGE

Will Meet in Bay City October 18 to 21.

The Grand Lodge of Michigan Odd Fellows will meet in Bay City for its annual convention Oct. 18 to 21. Monday, October 18, will be devoted to the reception of delegates. At 4 o'clock, grand lodge degrees will be conferred at Eden hall. In the evening a model lodge will be held in the armory. Tuesday the business sessions of the grand lodge will open and the Rebekahs will assemble at the Grotto theater. A public reception and degree work will follow.

Wednesday will be devoted to business and in the evening the degree of chivalry will be conferred. Following the final business sessions Thursday, the Diamond degree team, of Detroit, will exemplify initiatory work.

An elaborate program of entertainment is being arranged for the visitors, who are expected to number several thousand.

MRS. JOHN HILDEBRANDT

Passed Away at Home Southeast of Wilmot Sept. 18.

(From Wilmot Correspondent.)

Mrs. John Hildebrandt died at her home 1 1/2 miles east and south of Wilmot on Saturday, Sept. 18, age 46 years. She had been in poor health for about two years and the last three months a sufferer with cancer of the stomach. Always hard working and ambitious that her children should have an education, she kept up as long as possible. When all else failed to help her, Mr. Hildebrandt took her to the hospital at Saginaw, but it was of no use; they could give her no help.

Besides her husband, four children are left to mourn a mother's love, two sons and two daughters, the youngest 13 years, also two brothers and one sister. Mrs. Hildebrandt had been a Gleaner for a number of years and carried a policy for $1,000. Funeral was held at Baptist church Tuesday at 10 o'clock, Rev. Sutphen preaching the funeral sermon. Interment was made in the Kingston cemetery.

I will make collections for binder twine before October 10. Please call if convenient. Charles I. Cook. 9-24-1

WILL MEET AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH OCTOBER
5 AND 6.

E. K. Moore, M. G. VanBuskirt and
Rev. D. H. Glass, Prominent Speakers, Are on Program.

The annual convention of the Tuscola County Sunday School Association will be held at Cass City Tuesday and Wednesday, October 5 and 6, and the officers of the society are planning on an enthusiastic gathering of Sunday School workers from all parts of the county.

E. K. Moore of New Buffalo, treasurer of the state association, M. G. Van Buskirt, of Sommerset, superintendent of the rural department of the state society and Rev. D. H. Glass of Detroit, a specialist in Sunday School work, are prominent among the list of speakers. The convention opens at 1:30 p. m. on Tuesday at the Presbyterian church.

Free entertainment will be provided for visiting delegates and all who expect to attend as delegates from outside points are requested to notify Rev. W. A. Gregory, chairman of the entertainment and reception committee not later than the Monday noon preceding the convention.

Rev. D. J. Feather is chairman of the music committee and is arranging for a large chorus composed of members of the choirs of the local churches. Rev. H. C. Hayward is chairman of the publicity committee. The convention will be in charge of Rev. J. W. Hamblin, president of the county association, H. D. Schiedel secretary, and Mrs. John Monroe of Gageton the treasurer.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

Claud Wood was able to leave the hospital Wednesday.

Mrs. Claud Root went home the latter part of last week.

Miss Mae Bruce of Deford underwent a critical operation at the hospital Monday and is doing as well as can be expected.

Miss Hazel Koppelberger underwent an operation for appendicitis Monday and is getting along nicely. The walls of the rooms on the second story of the hospital are being redecorated.

ONE WEEK IN THE CIRCUIT COURT

THREE SENTENCED TO IONIA REFORMATORY BY JUDGE BEACH.

Deford Condensory Due for an Airing in Court
Today.

While the jury has been called for a number of cases at the September term of court, they have so far been relieved of their duties as each time the cases have either been settled or discontinued. The jury is called again to meet today (Friday) in the case of Oliver A. Braman vs. Michigan Mutual Creamery and Cheese Factory Fire Insurance Co. In this instance the defendant seek to secure the amount of the fire insurance policy covering the Standard Milk Condensory Co.'s plant burned at Deford several months ago.

The following is the disposition made of cases before the court during the past week

Albert Alexander, who pleaded guilty last week to desertion and non-support, was sentenced Wednesday afternoon by Judge Beach to a term in the state reformatory at Ionia, a minimum of 1 1/2 years and a maximum of three years.

Clifford Mervin and Arthur Henderson, who are charged with breaking and entering a dwelling, were sentenced from 2 1/2 to 5 years at Ionia.

Orlo Karr, Wm. Hildie and Chas. Hildie pleaded guilty to burglary and were paced under probation, fined $25 and ordered to pay $1 a month to the court.

Jack McKay pleaded guilty to violating the local option law and was fined $50 and $10 costs and sentenced to 90 days in the county jail. In the event that the fines are not paid, McKay must serve another 30 days in jail.

The local option case in which James Robinson is defendant was continued.

The case of M. V. Edgar vs. Josephine Parsell, administratrix of the estate of G. Franklin Parsell, deceased, was discontinued after the jury had been called.

A judgment was given in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Homer Mower vs. John R. Watchorn, assumpsit.

The trespass case of Mary Canfield and Maggie Canfield vs. Henry Hohlf, W. E. Detweiler, Emery Cook and Chas. Freeman was discontinued on call for jury.

The assumpsit case of the First National Bank of Canton, Ohio, vs. Unionville Milling Co. was settled on call of jury.

Divorces were granted in the cases of Anna B. Reitz vs. Leo V. Reitz, Julia Hudgins vs. Wm. Hudgins, Lillian Crouch vs. John Crouch.

VASSAR MAN DIES FROM INJURIES

ROY FOSTER FATALLY BURNED WHILE POURING KEROSENE OIL IN STOVE.

Roy Foster of Vassar died Saturday afternoon from burns suffered that morning while using kerosene oil to start a fire. He was pouring oil on some hot coals when the oil exploded and he was enveloped in flames, being badly burned about the head and waist.

Mr. Foster was 34 years of age and is survived by his wife and one child. He was a prominent business man of Vassar, being engaged in the insurance business. He also marked timber for a Saginaw concern.

REV. W. A. GREGORY AGAIN PASTOR HERE

RETURNED BY CONFERENCE FOR SECOND YEAR'S WORK IN M. E. CHURCH.

Ministers Commend Peace Policy of President; Declare for Statewide Prohibition.

Port Huron and Ann Arbor districts in the Detroit conference of the M. E. church were passed out of existence by Bishop Burt and his cabinet at the conference session at Port Huron which closed Monday. Three districts were reduced to two by creating a Detroit east and Detroit west district.

The plan followed in reducing the number of districts to six was to place that part of the Ann Arbor district which lies south of the Michigan Central lines in the Detroit west district and all territory east of the center of Woodward avenue and including the Port Huron district in the new Detroit east district.

Before adjournment a resolution was read by Dr. George Elliott protesting against preparedness for war, commending the peace policy of President Wilson, declaring for statewide prohibition and deploring the alleged physical decay of many men who are today entering into the marriage relation.

A resolution approving the proposition to establish a bishop's residence in Detroit was adopted.

The appointments for Thumb towns are as follows:

Akron, C. W. Seelhoff; Applegate, V. J. Hufton; Argyle, W. L. Card; Bad Axe, S. J. Gillette; Cass City, W. A. Gregory; Carsonville, E. J. Carless; Caro, E. J. Warren; Clifford, E. Smith; Deckerville, Wm. Richards; Deford, G. W. Scott; Elkton, Joseph Chapman; Fairgrove, F. M. Purdy; Harbor Beach, E. G. Johnson; Kingston, J. B. Lomass; Marlette, W. J. McCain; Mayville, F. H. Townsend; Millington, M. P. Karr; Minden City, W. C. L. Phillips; North Branch, E. E. Allen; Owendale, Grant and Gagetown, J. A. Yoeman; Pigeon, G. A. Bowles; Pinnebog, J. W. Mitchell; Port Austin, F. M. Schleicher; Port Hope, A. Thompson; Port Sanilac, C. W. Stevens; Reese, A. P. Potts; Sandusky, L. N. Moon; Sandusky circuit, J. Meredith; Shabbona, to be supplied; Tuscola, H. J. Hudgins; Ubyly, Philip Shoemaker; Unionville, Robt. Pattinson; Vassar, G. B. Marsh; Watrous-ville, A. M. Taylor.

Action toward uniting the Methodist Episcopal churches of the north and south and the Methodist Protestant church is urged in a modified memorial adopted by the Detroit conference. The memorial as presented was modified by the adoption of a resolution proposed by Dr. George Elliott, of Mt. Clemens, to the effect that the conference go on record as approving the union and requesting the general conference at Saratoga, N. Y., to direct the federal council of the conference to confer with the other councils of the other Methodist churches to outline an equitable adjustment of the union, to be taken up later by the general conference.

OLD FILES OF CASS CITY EN-TERPRISE REHASHED FOR PRESENT-DAY READERS.

Sept. 26, 1890.

The first annual fair of the Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac District Fair Association has been held and to say the least it was a grand success. Never before was Cass City visited by so large a crowd, as people from all over the three counties were in attendance.

On Saturday evening while R. McBride and wife, who live five miles north of this place, were away from home and their sons were doing the chores at the barn, through some accident the lantern was upset and exploded. The barn and all its contents were soon consumed by the flames.

Chas. McKichan, only son of the late Alex McKichan, had a narrow escape from being killed last week by being thrown out of a lumber wagon while returning home from school.

Dr. R. C. Ogilvie of Pt. Hope was nominated by the republican senatorial convention held at Caro on the 18th inst., for senator from this district.

Ab. Higgins visited Sebewaing last Sunday. He was accompanied on his return by J. F. Hendrick and wife, who have been visiting there for some time.

Rev. W. P. Tompkins will preach his farewell sermon at the Baptist church next Sunday morning. He has accepted a position to preach in the southern part of the state.

Miss Jennie Walmsley expects to leave soon for Detroit to learn more about the dressmaking trade.

Sam Champion imported a darkey barber to assist him this week.

Harry Outwater is now playing the "devil" in this office.

WINDOW TRIMS

Three Prizes Offered for Best Displays Shown on Oct. 2.

The Chronicle offers three prizes for the best window trim in Cass City stores and competent judges will be asked to view the displays. Advantageous display of merchandise, power to draw attention and appropriateness to season will all be considered. Judges will be asked to decide from the standpoint of the display of merchandise alone and not from the size of the windows or architecture of buildings.

While the contest is instituted primarily for employes, it does not bar proprietors from giving suggestions and assisting or entering the contest themselves. Prizes of $3.00, $2.00 and $1.00 are offered and all displays are to be ready by 9:00 a. m. on Saturday, October 2.

BEAN JOBBERS BALK ON FIXING PRICES

ASSOCIATION REFUSES TO EN- TER AGREEMENT WITH GROWERS.

Pledge Aid in Obtaining a Modification of Ban of Diseased Product.

A delegation of farmers from all sections of the state went before the closing session of the Michigan Bean Jobbers' Association meeting at Ann Arbor Thursday afternoon and asked the assistance of the jobbers in solving two problems, which bean growing farmers are up against.

The first is the price fixing question. They asked that the association assist them in making the present price of $3 a bushel, with 10 cents a bushel a month additional till January 1, and five cents a month additional thereafter till the price should have reached $3.50 a bushel. President Elector of Saginaw objected, saying that in the 23 years of its life the association had never attempted to fix prices, and the association refused to go into it.

The second problem pertained to the disease of beans known as anthracnose, the United States food commissioner having ruled that no beans so afflicted shall be sent outside the state. The farmers asked the help of the association in approaching the commissioner with a request that the ruling be modified to admit a certain small percentage of such beans.

The association will ascertain how harmful this disease is before pledging assistance. The jobbers expressed a desire to co-operate with the farmers as much as possible.

Upon the refusal of Fred Welch, of Owosso, to accept re-election W. J. Orr, of Saginaw, was unanimously chosen president.

Others elected were G. Frank Allmandinger, first vice-president, Ann Arbor; Jacob Isgreig, Traverse City, second vice-president; A. L. Holmes, Marlette, third vice-president; W. N. Heisbell, treasurer, Lansing. Directors for two years; C. E. Deput, Pontiac; J. C. Crawford, Ithaca; A. L. Chamberlain, Sandusky; Fred Welch, Owosso.

GAGETOWN.

Miss Florence Cook, who was visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Palmer, returned to her home near Akron last Wednesday.

Mrs. L. A. Hurd, who is in Detroit taking treatments, is somewhat better.

Miss Jennie Nelson, who went to Flint for treatment, is reported to be in a very serious condition.

Word was received here of the death of Miss Cassie Quinn of Kalamazoo. She died at the home of her sister in Port Huron and was buried at that place.

Jack Lehman, Patrick Kehoe, Frank Lenhard, Peter and Alfred Creguer took an auto trip through Kinde, Bay Port and Pigeon last Sunday. They brought some fish but not of their catch.

Mrs. Jack Lehman and Iva Ryan spent last Sunday with their mother, Mrs. M. Ryan, and two brothers near Akron.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Palmer and daughter spent Sunday as the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dell Fairy, near Akron.

Miss M. Babcock left Tuesday for New York state to visit for two weeks. Her sister, Mrs. DeWitt, of Flint will remain here during her absence.

Miss Josephine Fletcher is visiting at the Thos. McDonald home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Walsh are the proud parents of a baby boy who came last Tuesday to make his home with them. All are well.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sting and family are this week moving to Sebewaing where they will make their future home. Mr. Sting has the position of assistant postmaster.

A good Jersey cow belonging to Byron Bingham was struck and killed by lightning last Friday.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at St. Agatha's church Wednesday morning when Miss Anna McDonald, daughter of Mrs. Josephine McDonald, was united in marriage to Ed. Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnston. The bride and the bridesmaid, her sister, Miss Florence McDonald, were dressed in navy blue suits with hats to match. Earl Johnston of Detroit was groomsmen. A miscellaneous shower was given them last Friday night at her home. They left for Detroit Thursday where they will make their future home. The best wishes of their many friends go with them.

First Aid.

"Dear me," said the girl, "I've bruised my lip. My mother used always to kiss a hurt place to make it well."
"And did that treatment make it well?"
"I don't remember, but those old fashioned remedies were often very good."
And then he got busy. — Louisville Courier-Journal.

Ruth Is Home Again.

"Oh dear, these pies!" cried Ruth's mother, as she was baking for company, shortly after Ruth returned from her vacation trip, "the juice has run out all over the crust and made them soggy! And I was so anxious to have them look nice as well as taste nice."

"Well, I'm sorry mother, that I cannot help you with these particular pies," sympathized Ruth, who had fallen into her old helpful ways, "but I can tell you how Aunt Mary prevents just this sort of thing. She takes two small pieces of macaroni, and puts them through the top crust, and lets them run down through the filling. This allows the air to escape and keeps the juice in the pie, and also keeps the crust dry and flaky."

"Oh Ruth, why didn't you come down here an hour earlier?" almost wailed her mother as she gazed ruefully at her pies.

WHY MICHIGAN IS GREAT.

From Maumee Bay to Isle Royale is farther than from London to Berlin. Between lies an empire—fields of grain, sparkling lakes, and richest mines. People truly exclaim: "Michigan is a great state!" But neither because it is large nor rich is Michigan a great state.

What then makes Michigan great? I will tell you.

If the boys and girls of Michigan join hands, they form a solid line from Keweenaw to Lenawee—six hundred miles in all.

And who are the boys and girls in that line?

I know who they are, I know them all. They are the Joy of Today and the Promise of a Greater Tomorrow.

I see in that line a young fellow, tall and green as the cornfields that grew him. I like him. Through the most blustering blizzard of the year walked sixteen miles from his home in the country one Sunday night to be in time for school next morning.

Whether at last he shall work in field or factory or forum I do not know, and it does not matter. This I know, and that matters much, he will do what he promises and he will do it on the minute.

I see a girl at her piano with the rising sun. Morning, noon, and night she helps in household duties. Her day's work is done when at last she has rendered with finish the last line of her Virgil. If there is a hard theorem, that she delights to prove. But above all, she proves every day that needle and dishpan lend charm to piano and poetry and, moreover, are just as respectable.

I see a girl without father or mother, who, by her own pluck, has made her way until now she has done with credit the work of the public schools. Some say she is poor. I say a girl with such spirit is rich. She is going to college. I know for she says so.

I see a girl who works hard and fails often, but for all that is never defeated. She smiles and says, "Let me try once more." They say she is not a brilliant student. Perhaps that is so. But every Sunday afternoon I see her on the way to the home of an old man who for years has sat by the window seeing folks go by. Her bouquets of roses mean more to him than expert knowledge of imaginary roots.

I see a smiling, curly-headed boy who thinks wireless and flying machines. He told me once he was going to make a machine that would run forever, but he knows better now for he has studied science some. This, though, I believe, he will some day make a machine that will lighten the load of labor; and if he lays the keel of a ship, it will be a safe ship.

I see a girl, modest, refined, and accomplished. She is Industry, Loyalty, and Cheer. Why does she work so hard when her father has lots of money? Swift comes her answer: "I am greater than money. I must be true to myself. Then some day I may use money so it will be of service to others and to myself a blessing."

I see boys and girls, ten hundred thousand of them, all different, all aspiring, all good.

It is they that make Michigan great.

The Public School is their Opportunity and how eagerly do they grasp it!

One bitter cold morning last winter I was in a town in northern Michigan. The roads were hemmed in by snow banks so high you could not see over them. On my way to the station I met three girls trudging on though the deep drifted snow. Under their arms they had books and lunches, while their hands shielded their faces from the biting wind. I knew they were schoolgirls come far from the country to the high school in the village. As I stood at the station I saw boys and girls dotting the distant hills in all directions—some walking, some running, others pulling sleds with brothers and sisters in them—all bound for school that day.

Inspiring!
I almost cheered. And what I saw there was happening that moment in every district and village and city in Michigan—indeed, in all America.

Why is it, when all the world is warring, Uncle Sam is so calm and patient and unafraid? You know. It is because from Ocean to Ocean, from Lakes to Gulf, he hears the tramp, tramp, tramp, of twenty million boys and girls who every morning, rain or shine, set out for the American Public School to conquer the knowledge of the World. That is the largest, the most invincible host that ever marched in any country in all history. The whole globe sways under its footstep. In the front rank of that procession is Michigan, My Michigan!

What shall come of our triumphant band—these boys and girls of Michigan?

Only themselves can answer; and with one voice they answer in deeds of today:

"This country is My Country. I honor the brave men and women who gave it. I am glad that now my country needs me.

"This state is My State. Every day it heaps riches upon me. These I shall some day repay. If I cannot sit high in its councils, I shall see that only worthy men do. My voice shall ever be honestly spoken.

"This school is My School, the best school of all. Here I am free to laugh and to play and to work. To every lesson I give my honest effort; and my teacher helps me most when she helps me to help myself.

"This home is My Home, the best home in all the world. My father and my mother give me tenderest care. They rejoice when I am strong; of all friends and playmates they are the best. When danger is near they think of me; tears and unrest pale my mother's cheek, my father is sad and says nothing. Oh, Father and Mother, I treasure the Name you have given me! I will forever keep it honor bright. I will be noble and kind and true." We accept the answer.

We take off our hats to you, Boys and Girls of Michigan!

You are, indeed, the Joy of Today; the Hope, the Promise, the Assurance of a Greater Tomorrow.

"This disregard for human life is gettin' to be something awful," remarked the sage as he shifted his paper under him to soften the box he was sitting on.

"I was jest readin' where some of the crowd over to the auto races at the state fair went home disappointed because none of the racers got hurt. Why, I seen a feller t' other day what said he saw a man fall out of a flyin' machine, and he said the thrill wuz sure worth seein'. Now when we used to go to circuses we thought it wuz something terrible t' see a man put his hand in a lion's mouth, but now he's got t' stick his head in while attendants jabs the lion with pint-d sticks t' make it more interestin' fer the crowd."

"I guess you're about right, Uncle, remarked the fellow listening to him, "I suppose you're going over to the Imlay City fair next week."

"Yep, reckon I will," answered the sage, "they tell me they got a parachute stunt on over there that's a regular thriller."

Thinking about selling your house?

To get the greatest cash value for your property you should make sure that it looks in first-class condition. Repainting makes a world of difference in an old house.

A clean, fresh-looking house sells quicker and commands a higher price than the dingy place. The cost of the paint has been known to come back ten to one because of the greater desirability to the purchaser.

If thinking of selling, think also of painting and use "High Standard," the paint made to give best results.

The Reasons

Why the Chronicle's Plan of Handling Auction Sales Ought to Be Favored by Every One Who Contemplates Having a Sale in This Section of the Thumb:

FIRST—BECAUSE IT IS A DEMONSTRATED SUCCESS. In the past six years, hundreds of auction sales have been advertised in the CHRONICLE to the mutual satisfaction of the seller and buyer. Many of those who advertised their sales in the CHRONICLE have said that on a few articles they have realized enough more than they expected, to pay all the expenses of the sale. In practically all cases when results have been compared with expectations the sales advertised in the CHRONICLE have exceeded expectations, in some cases by several hundred dollars.

SECOND—BECAUSE PEOPLE HAVE COME TO LOOK TO THE CHRONICLE FOR ANNOUNCEMENTS OF SALES. The success of the CHRONICLE'S plan of advertising sales has naturally led people to expect that an auction sale in this section will be advertised in the CHRONICLE, just as they expect that the rural carrier will deliver their mail.

THIRD—BECAUSE OF ITS SMALL EXPENSE. We make a uniform charge for our service in reaching practically all the people of this section, that is but a little above what used to be charged for sale bills that were read by only a few of the people.

FOURTH—BECAUSE IT PUTS THE SELLER IN TOUCH WITH HIS BEST AVAILABLE CUSTOMER. The CHRONICLE goes into practically every home in Cass City and the surrounding territory. The people naturally look to the Chronicle to learn about auction sales. If a man in this section of the country wants for his own purposes any tool or live stock advertised in any sale, he knows just where to go to find it. He will be prepared to bid what he believes the article or animal is worth, because he has use for it. There will be no element of speculation in his bid. With the old plan, the people in the immediate neighborhood were the only ones who knew of the sale, and they would generally bid because they hoped to buy something cheap.

FIFTH—BECAUSE IT AVOIDS HAVING TWO AUCTION SALES IN THE SAME NEIGHBORHOOD ON THE SAME DAY. The CHRONICLE makes dates for the auctioneers and practically all of them report the sales they book to this office, which is the recognized auction sale headquarters. If we find two sales are booked for the same locality on the same day we can and do at once take it up with the parties interested, and arrange for a change of one of the sales, thereby avoiding spoiling both sales.

SIXTH—BECAUSE THE CHRONICLE'S PLAN REACHES ALL THE PEOPLE OF THIS SECTION WHILE THE AUCTION BILL REACHES ONLY A FEW IN THE IMMEDIATE LOCALITY OF THE SALE.

SEVENTH—BECAUSE THE CHRONICLE CONTAINING THE AUCTION ADVERTISING IS LAID AWAY AND PRESERVED IN THE HOME WHILE THE BILL IS SUBJECT TO THE WINDS AND RAINS AS IT IS TACKED ON THE FENCES AND TREES.

The Chronicle's Method of Advertising Auctions is endorsed by the leading auctioneers.

DAIRY and CREAMERY THE COMMUNITY BULL.

Animal Should Be Well Fed on Grain and Alfalfa Hay.

The probabilities are that a community bull is harder worked than the average bull owned privately, says Hoard's Dairyman. For this reason a sufficient grain ration should be given to insure a strong, vigorous condition.

Emphasizing the advantages of Guernsey cattle, Secretary Caldwell of the American Guernsey association mentions the following: They won the only breed test where all breeds were represented.

and if used at all should be used sparingly. The bull should not be allowed to run with the herd, but should be given a certain amount of outdoor exercise each day.

The community bull proposition, to work out successfully, must have absolute honesty and fairness among the members of the association. In some cases where a member has had abortion in his herd and failed to report it to the director of his block practically all the cows in this block have been seriously affected.

When Properly Fed They Gain at Rate of a Pound and a Half Daily. Jersey calves will average, as a rule, between 50 and 60 pounds in weight at birth, and under a proper system of feeding should gain from 1 to 1 1/4 pounds per day up to three months, says Hoard's Dairyman.

According to Eckles of the Missouri station 35 male Jersey calves averaged at birth 56 pounds in weight and 29 females averaged at birth 40 pounds; a total of 62 calves of both sexes averaged 53 pounds in weight at birth, or 6.24 per cent of the average weight of their dams, which was 864 pounds.

At a meeting of the stockholders of The Farm Produce Co. Saturday afternoon, the matter of increasing the capital stock to $40,000 was under consideration, but as there were not sufficient members of the company present, the object was not realized. Out of 917 votes cast, 768 were in favor of increasing the capital stock and 148 were opposed to the proposition. It takes a two-thirds vote of all stock issued to make this action legal, which in this instance would mean 1,334 votes in favor of the proposition. The members of the M. E. church gave a farewell reception for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Martus in the church parlors Friday evening. There were about fifty present and the evening hours were spent in a social manner. Mrs. L. H. Wood in behalf of the Daughters of Wesley presented Mrs. Martus with a handsome hand painted china plate and gave the sentiment of the company when she wished Mr. and Mrs. Martus many years of comfort and happiness in their new home and assuring them, should they ever return to Cass City, they would find a warm welcome awaiting them. Smokeless Powder. Some smokeless powders decompose after awhile, and as a result of such deterioration they are likely to explode spontaneously. The destruction of the French warship Liberte, which blew up in 1911, is thought to have been caused by such an accident. As a precaution against such tragic happenings all the powder of that kind used by our own navy is put through a process of remanufacture every five years, and there is a regular fortnightly inspection of the stuff on hand on every battleship and cruiser. When it decomposes it gives out reddish, acrid fumes, which should give ample warning of the threatened danger.—Youth's Companion.

Shorthand. The earliest work on shorthand was compiled by Dr. Timothy Bright, of Cambridge, in 1598. He dedicated it to Queen Elizabeth, under the title "An Act of Short, Swift and Secret Writing by Character."

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Cass City People Know How to Save It.

Many Cass City people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Cass City citizen's recommendation.

A. McGillvray, Main St., Cass City, says: "An attack of lumbago and lameness across my back led me to use Doan's Kidney Pills. I could see a decided improvement from the first and the pain and lameness in my back was soon driven away." Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McGillvray had. Foster-Milburn Coa. Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv. 1

HERE AND THERE
AROUND THE THUMB

Supervisor Braun received word a few days ago that the state tax commission has decided to re-assess the personal property of Sebawaing township. Deputies are now at work reassessing Rubicon, Paris, Brookfield and Winsor.

Nicholas Schwalm, aged about 50 years, a beet worker on the Norman Kain farm 2½ miles south and ¼ of a mile east of Owendale, committed suicide Sept. 15. Schwalm has been suffering with a form of insanity for some time according to reports. He had just finished eating his breakfast, when he suddenly grabbed a razor and slashed his throat from ear to ear.
The job was so complete that the doctor pronounced death instantaneous, and cause of suicide, insanity. Deceased leaves a widow and two sons at Owendale, and a son and a brother in Cleveland.

Fifteen hundred dollars have been subscribed for the building of a hotel at Snover by a stock company and more subscriptions are in sight.
A building costing between $3,500 and $5,000 is planned by local citizens to be ample for present needs.

He came into town, looking like a tramp, but when he announced that he wished to buy a good farm, Oxford real estate agents and property owners lavished upon him care, attention, auto rides, meals and cigars. Despite their efforts to occupy his attention he strayed away, and within three days had bargained with farmers for the purchase of half the farms around Oakwood, meanwhile boarding and lodging with the owners while inspecting his prospective purchase. Fond dreams of big sales were brought to a sudden end Friday when several farmers met at a local bank, expecting to receive deposits on the purchase price of their farms only to find themselves victims of a hoax.
The tramp had gone, leaving behind a record for free entertainment every hobo can well copy.—Oxford Leader.

Elkton will have a big race and base ball tournament on October 7th and 8th. Our neighboring town proposes to make this the last big event of the season.

G. V. Black of Berne, is selling stock and will organize a big mail-order house, same to be in the buggy factory in Pigeon. It is reported that solicitors are out with stock among the farmers east of Owendale.

D. T. Knight of Marlette has solved the hay problem. From a six acre field he has cut his second crop, making a total of twenty-two tons of
hay. Of course it is alfalfa.

Harry Leonard, a farmer near Car-sonville, met with a painful accident.
While threshing, three of his fingers became caught at the end of the feeder, and were badly crushed. They were dressed by a physician, and it is probable that it will not be necessary to have them amputated.

The little 2½ year old son of Mr.
and Mrs. Geo. Stoliker living east of Downington ate a quantity of fly poison. Prompt medical assistance was secured and the little fellow is none the worse for his experience.

OUR POET-PHILOSOPHER.

October.

Though Mexico is bilin' and a spill-in' for a fight—though European countries is a-usin' all their might to see which one is strongest and will finally be boss, it teaches us a lesson, for it shows us what a loss there is when nations go to war and, using skill and stealth, kill off their sons and fathers just to gain a little wealth. We're glad we live in old U.
S., where every man is free, and where the Right, instead of Might, protects both you and me. And now, though summer's leaving us to wintry winds and cold, we have our thrice-blessed, cheerful homes to take us into fold.

Some poetry, that, for one who has neither an overcoat nor a shovelful of coal. But then poets do not live in realities, you know. Why we could write summer lyrics while sitting on an iceberg in Greenland and really enjoy it.

But we started out to say something about October. October has a great many things to her credit—and some that discredit her. Being neutral, we'll merely enumerate a few and you can place them on the side of the ledger that suits you best. October in history: Chicago's great fire,
Mr. Columbus finds America, Erie Canal completed, Theodore Roosevelt born, Marie Antoinette guillotined, Harvard college founded, Hallowe'en.

The month will find Mr. Wilson and the eastern countries still writing notes to each other—and the probabilities are the practice will be continued until one or the other's supply of ink is exhausted. But we should worry about that. Aside from Hallo-

Potash, Perlmutter and Others

By MONTAGUE GLASS

III.—"R. S. V. P."

(Copyright, The Frank A. Munsey Co.)

It was the 10th of the month, and Abe Potash of Potash & Perlmutter was going through the firm mail with an exploratory thumb and finger, looking for checks.

"Well, Mawruss," he said to his partner, Morris Perlmutter, "all them high tone customers of yours, they don't take it so particular that they should pay on the day, Mawruss. If they was only so prompt with checks as they was to claim deductions, Mawruss, you and me would have no worries. I think some of 'em finds a shortage in the shipment before they open the packing case that the goods come in. Take your friend, Hyman Maimin of Syracuse—nothing suits him. He always kicks that the goods ain't made up right or we ain't sent him enough fancies or something like that. Five or six letters he writes us, Mawruss, when he gets the goods, but when he got to pay for 'em, Mawruss, that's something else again. You might think postage stamps was solitaire diamonds and that he dassent use 'em!"

"Quit your kicking," Perlmutter broke in. "This is only the 10th of the month."

"I know it," said Abe. "We should have had a check by the 10th of last month, but—here Abe's eye lit upon an envelope directed in the handwriting of Hyman Maimin—I guess there was some good reason for the delay," he went on evenly. "Anyhow here's a letter from him now."

He tore open the envelope and hurriedly removed the inclosed letter. Then he took the envelope, blew it wide open and shook it up and down, but no check fell out.

"Did y'ever see the like?" he exclaimed. "Sends us a letter and no check!"

"Why, it ain't a letter," Morris said. "It's an advertisement."

Abe's face grew white.

"A meeting of creditors," he gasped.

Morris grabbed the missive from his partner and spread it out on the table.

"Hello!" he exclaimed, a great smile of relief spreading itself about his ears. "It's a wedding invitation." He held it up to the light.

"Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Bramson," he read, "request the pleasure of Potash & Perlmutter's company at the marriage of their daughter Tillie to Mr. Hyman Maimin, Sunday, March 19, at 7 o'clock p. m., Wieder-mayer's hall, 2090 South Oswego street, R.S.V.P. to residence of bride, care of Advance Credit Clothing company, 2097 South Oswego street."

"What is that 'R.S.V.P.' to residence of bride?" Abe Potash asked.

Morris reflected for a moment.

"That means," he said at length, "that we should know where to send the present to."

"How do you make that out?" said Abe.

"R.S.V.P.," Morris replied, emphasizing each letter with a motion of his hand, "means, 'Remember to send wedding present.'"

"But," Abe rejoined, "when I went to night school, we spelt 'wedding' with a W."

"A greenhorn like Maimin," said Morris, "don't know no better."

"He knows enough to ask for a wedding present, Mawruss," Abe commented.

"What is that 'R.S.V.P.' to residence of bride?" Abe Potash asked.

ed, "even if he don't know how to spell it. We'll send him a wedding present, Mawruss. We'll send him a summons from the court, that's what we'll send him."

Morris shook his head.

"That ain't no way to talk, Abe," he said. "If a customer gets married we got to send him a wedding present. It don't cost much, and if Hyman Maimin gets a couple of thousand dollars with this Miss—Miss—"

"Advance Credit Clothing company," Abe helped out.

Morris nodded.

"Then he buys more goods, ain't it?" he concluded.

"Let him pay for what he's got," Abe rejoined.

"I just slipped his mind. He'll pay up fast enough after he gets married."

"All right! Wait till he pays up, and then we'll give him a present."

"Now looky here, Abe," Morris protested, "you can't be small in a matter of this kind. I'll draw a check for $25 and—"

"Twenty-five dollars!" Abe screamed. "You're crazy! When you was married last year I'd like to know who gives you a present for $25."

"Why, you did, Abe," Morris replied. "Me?" Abe cried. "Say, Mawruss, I want to tell you something. If you can buy a fine sterling silver bumbum dish, like what I give you for $25 I'll take it off your hands for $27.50 any day!"

"But, Abe!"

"Another thing, Mawruss," Abe went on. "If you don't like that dish, there ain't no law compelling you to keep it, you understand. Send it back. My Rosie can use it. Maybe we ain't so stylish like your Minnie, Mawruss, but if we don't have bumbums every day we could put dill pickles into it."

"One moment," Morris protested. "I ain't saying anything about that bumbum dish, Abe. All I mean that if you give me such a high price present when I get married, that's all the more reason why we should give a high price present to a customer what we will make money on. I ain't no customer, Abe."

"I know you ain't," said Abe. "You're only a partner, and I don't make no money on you neither."

Morris shrugged his shoulders.

"What's the use of wasting more time about it, Abe?" he said. "Go ahead and buy a present."

"Me buy it!" Abe cried. "You know yourself, Mawruss, I ain't a success with presents. You draw the check and get your Minnie to buy it. She's an up to date woman, Mawruss, while my Rosie is a back number. She don't know nothing but to keep a good house, Mawruss. Sterling silver bumbum dishes she don't know, Mawruss. If I took her advice you wouldn't get no bumbum dish. Nut picks, Mawruss, from the five and ten cent store, that's what you'd got. You might appreciate them, Mawruss, but a sterling silver—"

At this juncture Morris took refuge in the outer office, where Miss Cohen, the bookkeeper, was taking off her wraps.

"Miss Cohen," he said, "draw a check for $25 to bearer and enter it up as a gratification to Hyman Maimin."

At dinner that evening Morris handed the check over to his wife.

"Here, Minnie," he said, "Abe wants you should buy a wedding present for a customer."

"What kind of a wedding present?" Mrs. Perlmutter asked.

"Something in solid sterling silver, like that bumbum dish what Abe gave us."

"But, Mawruss," she protested, "you know we got that bonbon dish locked away in the sideboard, and we never take it out. Let's give 'em something useful."

"Suit yourself," Morris replied, "only don't bother me about it."

"All right," Mrs. Perlmutter said. "Leave me the name and address and I'll see that they send it direct from the store. I'll put one of your cards inside."

"And another thing," Morris concluded. "See that you don't hold nothing out on us by way of commission."

Mrs. Perlmutter smiled serenely. "I won't," she said in dulcet tones.

It was the fourth day after Potash & Perlmutter's receipt of the wedding invitation. When Morris Perlmutter entered the private office he found Abe Potash in the absorbed perusal of the Daily Cloak and Suit Record. Abe looked up and saluted his partner with a malignant grin.

"Well, Mawruss," he said, "I suppose you sent that present to Hyman Maimin?"

"I sent it off long since already," Morris replied.

"I hope it was a nice one, Mawruss," Abe went on. "I hope it was a real nice one. I'm sorry now, Mawruss, we didn't spend $50. That would have made it an even seven hundred, instead of only six hundred and seventy-five, that Hyman Maimin owes us."

"What d'ye mean?" cried Morris.

"I don't mean nothing, Mawruss—nothing at all," Abe said, with ironical emphasis. He handed the paper to Morris. "Here, look for yourself."

A petition in bankruptcy was filed late yesterday afternoon against Hyman Maimin, 83 West Tonawanda street, Syracuse. It is claimed that he transferred assets to the amount of $8,000 last week. Mr. Maimin says that he has been doing business at a heavy loss of late, but that he hopes to be able to resume. A settlement of 30 cents is proposed.

Morris sat down in a revolving chair, too crushed for comment, and drummed with a lead pencil on the desk.

"I wonder if he done up his intended father-in-law, too?" he said at length.

"No fear of that, Mawruss," Abe replied. "He ain't no sucker like us, Mawruss. I bet you his father-in-law—what's his name—"

"The Advance Credit Clothing company," Morris suggested.

"Sure," Abe went on. "I bet you this clothing concern says to him: 'If you want to marry my daughter you gotta go into bankruptcy first. Then, when you're all cleaned up, I'll give you a couple of thousand dollars to start as a new beginner in another line.' Ain't it?"

Morris nodded gloomily.

"No, Mawruss," Abe continued. "I bet you his father-in-law is a big crook like himself."

He rose to his feet and opened the large green and red covered book furnished by the commercial agency to which they subscribed.

"I'm going to do now, Mawruss, what you should have done before you sent that present," he said. "I'm going to look up this here Advance Credit Clothing company. I bet you he ain't even in the book—what?"

Before Morris could reply the letter carrier entered with the morning mail. While Abe continued to run his thumb down the columns of the commercial agency book, Morris began to open the envelopes. Both their heads were bent over their tasks, when an exclamation arose simultaneously from each.

"Now, what d'ye think of that?" said Abe.

"Did y' ever see anything like it?" Morris cried.

"What is it?" Abe asked.

For answer, Morris thrust a letter into his partner's hand. It was headed "The Advance Credit Clothing Company—Marcus Bramson, Proprietor" and read as follows:

Messrs. Potash & Perlmutter: Gents—Your shipment of the 5th is to hand, and in reply would say that we are returning it via Blue line on account Miss Tillie Bramson's engagement is broken. We understand that low life H. Maimin got into you for $850. Believe me, he done us for more than that. Our Mr. Bramson will be in New York shortly and will call to look at your line. Hoping we will be able to do business with you, Yours truly, THE ADVANCE CREDIT CLOTHING COMPANY. Per T. E.

"So he's going to send back the present!" Abe said. "That man Marcus Bramson, proprietor, has a big heart, Mawruss. He's a man with fine feelings and a fine disposition, Mawruss. He's got a fine rating, too, Mawruss—seventy-five to a hundred thousand, first credit!" He closed the book almost lovingly. "D'ye think they would give the money back for that present, Mawruss?"

"I don't know," said Morris. "Minnie bought it, and she told me it was a big bargain. It was a sale, she said, but I guess they'll take it back."

"What did it look like?" Abe said.

"I didn't see it," Morris replied. "They sent it direct from the store, but I took Minnie's word for it. She said it was fine value."

"And Minnie," Abe concluded, "is a fine, up to date woman!"

Two days later Abe Potash spotted the name of Marcus Bramson in the "Arrival of Buyers," column of a morning newspaper.

"Mawruss," he cried, "he's come!"

"Marcus Bramson," Abe replied, reaching for his hat. "I'm going over to the Bingle House now to meet him. You wait here till I come back. I bet you we sell him a big bill of goods."

As Abe went out of the store by the front door an expressman, bearing a square wooden box, entered the rear alley. He brought the package straight to Miss Cohen, who signed a receipt and summoned Mr. Perlmutter. Morris proceeded to pry off the cover.

"This is something what Mrs. Perlmutter bought for Hyman Maimin's wedding present," he explained. "I ain't never seen it yet."

"Oh, Mr. Perlmutter," Miss Cohen exclaimed, clasping her hands, "what a beautiful bonbon dish! What a lovely wedding present!"

Morris looked at the bonbon dish, and beads of perspiration started on his forehead.

"Ain't Mrs. Perlmutter got good taste!" Miss Cohen went on enthusiastically.

Morris said nothing, but picked up the silver dish. Examining the polished center carefully, he discerned the indistinct initials "M. P." almost but not quite effaced by buffing. Undoubtedly it was the same bonbon dish.

He gathered up the tissue paper and carefully arranged it in the box as a bed for the silver dish. Then he put the cover on and nailed it down.

"Ain't you going to let Mr. Potash see it?" Miss Cohen asked. "He ain't never seen it before neither, has he?"

Morris frowned.

"I think he has," he replied. "Anyhow, I'm going to send it right uptown by messenger boy."

"Do you think they'll exchange it?" Miss Cohen inquired.

"Oh, I guess it will be put back in stock all right!" said Morris, turning away.

The next morning when Morris entered the store Abe was busy figuring on the back of a torn envelope.

"Hello, Mawruss!" he cried, looking up. "Ain't it a beautiful weather?"

Morris agreed that it was.

"That Mr. Bramson," Abe went on. "He ain't what you'd call a close buyer neither, Mawruss."

"No?" Morris commented.

"The way I figure it," Abe continued, "reckoning on what we lost by Hyman Maimin, if he settles for 30 cents, and what we make out of Mr. Bramson's first order, we come out even to the dollar."

"So?" Morris murmured.

"All excepting that wedding present, Mawruss," said Abe. "By the way, Mawruss, ain't that wedding present come back yet?"

"Why, sure," said Morris. "It come back yesterday when you were out."

"Why ain't you showed it to me? Ain't I got no right to see it, Mawruss?"

"Of course you got a right to see it," Morris assented, "but I thought I'd get it right uptown to Minnie and have it exchanged."

"And did she exchange it?" Abe asked.

"Well, it's like this," Morris explained: "Minnie liked it so well that she decided on keeping it. So I'll give the firm my personal check for $25."

Abe puffed hard on his cigar.

"You're a purty generous feller, Mawruss," he commented, "to give Minnie a present like that for nothing at all, ain't it?"

"Oh, no, I ain't, Abe!" Morris replied. "I ain't giving it to her for nothing at all. I'm taking it out of her housekeeping money, Abe, $5 a month."

Pinney and Son, a copartnership, consisting of Elijah H. Pinney and Edward Pinney, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds for the County of Tuscola, Michigan, on the 13th day of February, A. D. 1914 in Liber 135 of Mortgages on page 440 upon which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice for principal and interest the sum of Four Hundred Thirty-eight Dollars, Eighty Cents and the further sum of One Hundred Two Dollars, Thirty-one Cents for taxes paid by said mortgagees upon the mortgaged premises, being the taxes for the year 1914 and paid under the terms and conditions as provided in said mortgage and that the whole amount claimed to be due upon said mortgage is the sum of Five Hundred Forty-one Dollars Eleven Cents. Now therefore notice is hereby given that said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises at public vendue to the highest bidder at the front door of the Court House in the Village of Caro, Tuscola County, Michigan, on Monday, the 27th day of September, A. D. 1915, at one o'clock in the afternoon. The said mortgaged premises are described in said mortgage substantially as follows: The South half of the Northeast Quarter of Section Eleven, Township Number Thirteen, North Range Eleven East, being the Township of Novesta, County of Tuscola, State of Michigan. Said premises will be sold as aforesaid to satisfy the amount due on said mortgage and the costs of foreclosure. Dated June 24th, A. D. 1915. E. H. PINNEY & SON, By Elijah H. How the Seed of Consumption Gets Planted

We have seen that the consumption seed comes from some person having consumption. We have seen how natural weakness, over-work, under-nourishment and unwholesome living conditions prepare the human soil in which the seed can grow. Here we consider how the seed gets transplanted. This is really the most important part of all, for though the seed and soil existed, if there were no method of transplanting, consumption could not spread; but tuberculosis is an infectious disease. It is planted by one person into another person. That this is not done intentionally makes no difference in the fact.

Sometimes this transplanting is direct. That is, the consumptive may sneeze out the consumption germs and they may be inhaled immediately by the person to whom he is talking. Or, in the spray which often accompanies rapid and forceful talking, these germs may be communicated one to another. Among children this direct transplanting is common. They exchange pencils that have been moistened in the mouths of others, exchange gum and slates, and bite off the same piece of fruit or lick the same candy. Very little children creeping on floors place their fingers in their mouths and touch many things with their tongues. Dr. Haynes of Los Angeles noticed that the window of a sleeping car berth where a consumptive had passed the night was sprayed with the sputum of his coughing. A little later in the journey a couple and two children took the same seat, and the youngest child immediately did what so many children are allowed to do—rubbed its tongue on that coated window.

But more often the transplanting is not so direct as this; there is an intermediate stage during which the germ waits in darkness and moisture, or blows about seeking favorable conditions in some human body. If a family having a consumptive moves away from a house and another family moves in, there is danger of tuberculosis ensuing unless the house is thoroughly disinfected. Yet how few people ever think of disinfecting the house they are moving into! Again: "The mouth and hands of a consumptive, the articles he uses, as handkerchiefs, towels, napkins, cups, spoons, forks, pillow cases, pencils, and other things that he uses, may have tuberculosis germs on them." You see, then, that there is nothing hidden and mysterious about these things—they are the commonplaces of the microscopical forms of life all around you. If tubercle bacilli were as large as beetles, you would be fighting them until they had all been destroyed. But because they are visible only under the microscope, you take your chances thoughtlessly. If you say, "How is it that, with so many of these germs, the whole population is not down with consumption?" Listen: there are many more than 2,000 cases of consumption in Detroit today. Listen again: consumption kills more people than any other disease. Sit down and count up the number of persons you have known to have contracted—in your own family, amongst your own friends, on your own street, in your own neighborhood. If you could see the consumption map of Detroit which hangs in the health office of that city—a map sadly deficient because doctors do not report their tuberculosis cases—you would have a vision of this plague covering the whole city, killing more men and women every month than are killed in accidents.

The seed of consumption is blowing about everywhere around you. The number of cases shows how fertile a soil it finds. Consumptives are ignorantly transplanting their disease all around. If these germs were mad dogs, you would do something about it, and would be calling for the authorities to stamp them out. What are you doing to do about these deadly germs that are many times greater in number in Detroit than there are people in the whole world?

Call to Prayer.

The all day Evangelistic conference for prayer and Bible service to be held in connection with our great national W. C. T. U. convention at Seattle, Washington, Saturday, Oct. 9, should be duly emphasized by every white ribboner. It is urged that every local union hold a special prayer and Bible meeting Oct. 9. Remember we have three hundred and twenty evangelists who will be in prayer that day. Arrangements will be made by the local superintendent of the Evangelistic department for prayer that day. Further notice later.

Hon. L. B. Hanna, Gov. North Dakota: "I wish to say, I am in favor of prohibition. I believe in it. We have prohibition stamped in the constitution of the state of North Dakota since statehood. I have lived here during all the years since statehood, twenty-six years and I can say that I believe that prohibition has been a vital force for the betterment of the people of the state, both morally and financially."

Poster Wagons Appeal to Hub.

Three "poster vans" of the Massachusetts Men's League for Woman Suffrage made their appearance in Boston last week and will continue to travel through the streets of the Hub until after election on Nov. 2. These vans, or covered wagons, have posters on every side asking men to support the suffrage amendment. The horses which draw them have light "Votes for Women" blankets, which protect them from flies, and the smart Negro drivers wear "Votes for Women" caps. An automobile van, with a kaleidoscopic device for presenting suffrage arguments will be sent out through the State.

The posters on the vans are changed frequently. Among the sentiments that they bear are the following:

"Why should women vote? Why shouldn't they? Think it over!" "If the mother knows enough to bring up the voter, she knows enough to vote."

"Women pay taxes. Women obey laws. Let them vote." "Woman's job is the home! Give her power over her job! Give her the vote."

"Women vote in twelve States, Men of Massachusetts, make it thirteen."

"Do you believe in government of the people, by the people, for the people? Why not live up to your ideals? Give women votes."

"Working men, you need the vote for your protection! Won't you give the working women the same protection?"

"Indirect influence is a broom, but the ballot is a vacuum cleaner which every woman should possess."

"Governor Walsh will vote for the woman suffrage amendment. Organized labor has nationally and locally endorsed woman suffrage."

"Give your girl the chance that you give your boy! Give her the vote."

Looks Like Success

I have been considering a plan for some time that would enable a person not able to attend certain sales of Stock, Implements, etc., to make purchases. The plan has been used successfully in other places and I can see no reason why it cannot be made a great benefit to the person who is buying and to the person who is selling as well, because if the stock to be sold complies with the orders of buyers wishing to obtain stock, etc., you will have double protection up to the price the order contains. The purchaser states definitely what he wants in horses, cattle, feeders, etc., and states that he will pay a certain amount above the highest bid up to another certain amount, which we as salesmen must protect. The purchaser pays us two per cent commission on purchases. We have a number of orders from buyers for milch cows, calves, yearlings and two year olds at liberal price limits. We have orders for Belgians, Clydes and Percheron horses and colts, one order for sheep, Oxfords, preferred, one for brood sows and one for various farm implements at stated prices. The following is an order from a large farmer at Otter Lake, Mich. I withhold the price limit and the name as a protection to the buyer and to ourselves as well.

"Otter Lake, Sept. 15, 1915. "McKenzie & McEldowney, Public Salesmen and Auctioneers, Cass City, Michigan. "Sirs—I see by the Tuscola Co. Courier that you buy on orders. CHURCH NOTES.

M. E. Church—
Next Sunday, Sept. 26, at the morning service in the Methodist church, the Annual Sunday School Rally will be observed. Several new and interesting features will be introduced. A fine program has been prepared and the committee is hopeful that all in any way intrusted in the welfare of our church and Sunday school will be present. The Sunday School is the most important branch of the church and it depends very largely upon the interest of the parents as well as the children as to whether it shall be a success or not. Plan to be present, plan to come on time, 11 o'clock, and invite your neighbors to come with you.

Sunday evening next the pastor will begin a series of sermons on the True Qualities of Manhood and Womanhood.

The first sermon is entitled "The Human Hand." This series will be practical, full of interest, and will repay careful following throughout the series. Services commence immediately at close of the Epworth League service. Short sermons, straight truths and a Gospel message in every service. Do not miss the first sermon.

An important meeting of the official board is called for Monday evening, Sept. 27. Make it your business to attend.

Conference Notes.
One of the most tense sessions of the Detroit conference of the Methodist Episcopal church came to an end last Monday night with the reading of the ministerial appointments by the presiding Bishop, Wm. Burt, of Buffalo.

Fully 80 per cent of the preachers were pronounced in their objections to a re-districting of the conference and several of the districts, Port Huron amongst the number, passed resolutions to that effect. But the cabinet consisting of the seven district superintendents and Bishop Burt completely wiped out all old boundaries, dropped the Port Huron district and Ann Arbor district, made two Detroit districts, and re-appointed six of the seven superintendents for another term of six years. Dr. Wm. Balmer was the one selected to be dropped out of the superintendency and he was assigned to the Burns Avenue church at Detroit. All discussion, which would certainly have followed the announcement, was completely blocked by the passage of a resolution by Dr. Geo. Elliott that the conference adjourn immediately after the reading of the appointments by the Bishop.

The Journal terms the Bishop as "Diplomatic" and states that everybody seems pleased. The Journal may speak for a part of Detroit, but has evidently misjudged the sentiment of the remaining seven-eighths of the conference entirely.

What the Conference Did.
Redistricted whole territory. Elected strongest general conference delegation in its history.

Severed connection with holiness campmeetings.

Took action for union of all M. E. and M. P. churches.

Planned quarter million-dollar fund for old ministers.

Voted for admission of laymen to annual conferences, revolution in conference control.

Appointed conference claimants board with majority of laymen.

Memorialized general conference to establish episcopal office in Detroit.

Established high school education as necessary qualification for ministers.

Enlisted in vast evangelistic campaign of "Methodist forward movement," took strong action against armament and "prepared-ness" and in favor of peace.

Announced big parish plans for social service, education, moral reform, etc., etc.

Baptist Church—
The regular services will be held Sunday morning and evening with Pastor Hayward in charge.

The ladies of the church met Wednesday afternoon and made plans for repapering the church and purchasing new carpet for the wing. The basement of the church, in which the ladies are especially interested, will be completed in two weeks.

At the gathering of the Huron Baptist Association at Bad Axe last Tuesday and Wednesday, all reports showed a gain both financially and spiritually. Eight churches in Port Huron were added to the association, making it the strongest in the state. The churches all show an increase in membership.

Evangelical Church—
Regular services at the Evangelical church next Sunday. S. S. at 10:00 a. m. Sermon at 11:00 a. m. Y. P. A. at 6:45 p. m. Sermon at 7:30.

The Ladies' Aid society will meet at the home of Mrs. J. H. Striffler Thursday, Sept. 20. A good attendance is desired as there is important business to be transacted.

Christian Science—
Christian Science services are held in the rear room of the Sheridan Building, next to Farrell & Townsend's, every Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and on Wednesday evening at 7:30. All are welcome.

The subject for next Sunday, Sept. 26, will be "Reality."
