MASS MEETING NEXT MONDAY EVENING

CITIZENS WILL CONSIDER ADVISABILITY OF RAISING LIGHT AND WATER RATES.

A mass meeting of the citizens of Cass City will be held at the council rooms next Monday evening when the advisability of raising the electric light and water rates will be discussed with the village council.

The high price of fuel has made the annual expense for that item alone $3,600 higher than under normal conditions at the municipal plant.

At Monday evening's meeting of the council, Supt. Straube was instructed to contract for 20 cars of coal from a West Virginia company at $3.50 a ton at the mine. Last year's contract with the same concern called for $1.10 a ton. While the freight rate remains the same, the price of the coal delivered here will be approximately twice that of last year.

Village Assessor Hunt reported to the council Monday evening that the village assessment roll showed the following valuations:

Real Estate $556,840
Personal 182,250

$739,090

The trustees voted to raise $12,564.53 by taxation this summer. Of this amount, $5,912.72 is for electric light and waterworks bonds and $6,651.81 is for general purposes. The taxes are considerably higher than in 1916.

URGES HIGHER LEARNING

Education Com. Wants More Students Than Ever in College.

"Many college presidents and others fear that on account of our entrance into the war few boys and girls will enter college next fall and that the total college attendance will be very small. This number ought to be larger than usual," says P. P. Claxton, commissioner of education of the United States, "and I wish to urge all boys and girls who graduate from a high school this spring and who can possibly do so to enter some institution of higher learning next fall—college or normal school or technical or vocational school of some kind. There should be more students in the schools next year than ever before.

"The more mature young men are, the more serviceable they are in the army. The selective draft will take only those between twenty-one and thirty. In the total of 60,000,000 people of productive age in the United States the 350,000 students in college and normal schools and technical and vocational schools of high grade constitute only about one-half of one per cent. More than half of these live in cities and cannot be employed in agricultural production except as a few of them may find work on the farms during the summer. Their going to college will not lower the productive capacity of the country as a whole in any appreciable degree. The colleges, normal schools, and technical schools will all be open with undiminished income from public funds and endowments, and the expense of their maintenance will continue. It is quite probable that many of the older students will not return next fall and the higher classes will be smaller than usual. The graduates from the high schools should see to it that the lower classes more than make up for this deficiency.

"This appeal is made on the basis of patriotic duty. If the war should be long the country will need all the trained men and women it can get—many more than it now has. There will be men in abundance to fight in the trenches but there will be a dearth of officers; engineers, and men of scientific knowledge and skill in all the industries, in transportation, and in many other places where skill and daring are just as necessary for success as in the trenches. The first call of the allies is for 12,000 engineers and skilled men to repair the railroads of France and England; and other thousands will be needed later. Russia will probably want thousands of men to repair and build her railroads. The morning papers of today contain a statement of a plan to reconstruct thousands of miles of railroads in that country. The increase in transportation and the tax on our own roads will call for large numbers of men of the same kind. New industrial plants, shipyards, and our armies abroad will call for highly trained men beyond all possible supply unless our colleges and technical schools remain open and increase their attendance and output.

"When the war is over there will be made upon us such demands for men and women of knowledge and training as have never before come to any country. There will be equal need for a much higher average intelligence for citizenship than has been necessary until now. The world will have to be rebuilt and American college men and women must assume a large part of the task."

WHAT FOLLOWS REGISTRATION

Registration Reports Too Scant for Accurate Estimate.

The official figures of Tuesday's registration are yet too scant for an accurate estimate of the total number of the men who have registered in the United States. The first reports showed that the census bureau estimates of eligibles had not been equalled but officials pointed out that late figures would wipe out the entire deficiency of the several smaller states sending in the first official returns.

Provost-Marshal-General Crowder Wednesday night outlined what is to follow the general enactment:

"Registration marks the completion of the first well-defined step in the execution of the selective service law," he said. "The actual recording has been practically finished in a single day, but the arrangement and copying of the cards, their segregation into appropriate groups, the publication of lists and the garnering in of delayed registrations will consume a week or ten days. In the meantime the machinery of the registration is being re-adjusted to serve as machinery for the further execution of the law. This work is proceeding rapidly, and should be completed coincidentally with the tying up of the loose ends of registration."

"When this is all done regulations governing the jurisdiction of the local boards will be issued, and the machinery will then be ready to proceed to the drawing which will result in a determination of the order in which registered men will be examined for the purpose of their selection for military or industrial service. When this list of order is determined, it is expected the war department will be able to make a definite call for men, and as soon as this data is available, the quotas necessary to fill the first call will be assigned to the several states."

"The policy of de-centralization, the application of which has so successfully consummated the registration, will be adhered to throughout. The various states knowing the number of men which they must call and the order in which each particular man is to be examined, can then assign to the various local boards the task of selecting the number of men necessary to complete the quota for the locality under the jurisdiction of each board.

"Precise time limits cannot be set at present for the reason that it is desired to have uniformity of operation of the machines through which the United States is to have each step taken simultaneously throughout the nation. Mountainous, heavily wooded and sparsely settled states cannot move with the expedition of densely populated states. While dates are not to be named precisely, these steps will follow each other promptly with a fixed purpose of giving as much time as possible to men who are selected to adjust their affairs, to make their farewells, and to avoid the inconvenience and suffering that would result from a hasty change from civil to military status."

B. B. CHAMPIONSHIP

CASS CITY DEFEATED BOTH AKRON AND CARO LAST FRIDAY.

Cass City high school will compete for both the county championship in base ball and track events at the county high school meet at Caro today. Cass City qualified as a contestant in the base ball game today by defeating both Akron and Caro teams at Akron Friday. Millington is Cass City's opponent for the base ball honors in Tuscola. These teams have met twice in the preliminaries, each team securing a victory, and the contest this afternoon promises to be a lively one.

Dickinson, showed remarkable endurance last Friday when he twirled both games for the local team. In each contest, he fanned 14 men on the opposing team. He was ably supported by Champion, behind the bat. The Akron team put up a good fight, scoring two to Cass City's three. The Caro pitcher was weak, but his teammates proved to be good fielders which kept the local scoring down to five runs. The county seat boys were unable to go farther than the third sack.

WEDDING AT DEFORD

Miss Addie Sole Becomes Bride of Chauncey Tallman.

A pretty wedding was solemnized Monday at high noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sole of Deford when their daughter, Addie, and Chauncey Tallman of Pontiac were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Hallead in the presence of intimate relatives. They were attended by Miss Lena Wentworth and William Patch.

The bride was charmingly attired in a gown of navy blue messaline and carried a bouquet of lillies of the valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Tallman left Monday afternoon for Pontiac where they will make their home.

HOSPITAL NOTES.

Mrs. R. Moshier, who has been a patient at the hospital for a month, went to Caro Monday where she is a guest of her daughter, Mrs. Brown.

Mrs. Myrtle Allen of Novesta underwent an operation Monday for removal of tonsils.

COMMENCEMENT

EXERCISES NEXT WEEK

ALL MEMBERS OF THE CLASS PRESENT PLAY WEDNESDAY EVENING.

Commencement week is ushered in next Sunday evening when the baccalaureate address will be given to the largest class graduated in the history of the Cass City high school. Rev. S. Comany will give the address at the Evangelical church. He has chosen "The Current of Life" as his subject. Wednesday evening, June 13, the members of the Class of 1917 will present the class play, "Kicked Out of College", a college farce in three acts. The following cast have been under the direction of Rev. J. W. Hamblin for the past few weeks:

Bootles, Benbow, a Popular Senior
Leland Higgins
Lad Cheseldine, the College Cut-up
Joe Dickinson
Leviticus, the Ace of Spades
Millard Spurgeon
Scott McAllister, a Hard Student
Carl Martin
Shorty Long, on the Glee Club
Arthur Walker
Slivers Magee, a Happy Junior
Ernest Wood
Mr. Benjamin J. Benbow.
Bootles' Father, Hazen Guinn
Mr. Sandy McCann, Coach of the Dramatic Club, Russell Gillies
Officer Riley, from the Emerald Isle
Earl Buchanan
Mr. Gears, of the Speed Motor Car Co., Foster Van Blaricom
Jonquil Gray, the Little Chauffeur
Virginia Wisley
Betty Benbow, Bootles' Sister
Miriam Fritz
Mrs. B. J. Benbow, her Mother,
a Suffragette, Vernita Treadgold
"Ma" Baggsby, a Popular Lady
Marie Martin
Mrs. Mehitabel McCann, a Jealous Wife
Margaret Hurley
Selina McCann, Aged Thirteen
Gelda Hoagland
Miss Juliet Snobbs, the College Stenographer
Thelma Nettleton
Mlle. Mimi Fleurette, a French Costumer
Irene Frutcher
Salamanca Spivins, a Black Wash Lady
Hazel Bixby
Suffragettes—Katherine Striffler, Gladys Jackson, Mary Yakes, Marie Crandell, Leola Schwaderer, Lela Flint.

And this is the story of the play:

Bootles Benbow, the most popular boy in college, is so busy with inventing a patent air brake and with his various social and athletic activities that he finds it impossible to go to class. Accordingly he is dropped from the roll and is "kicked out of college." This news is received at the college boarding house when the lads are in the midst of a rehearsal for the annual college play. Bootles' father arrives and is furious to think that his son has wasted his opportunities at college. He threatens to disinherit Bootles, but promises to relent if Bootles will marry and settle down. Sandy McCann, the coach of the dramatic club, is always trying to "fix" things for his friends. He therefore informs Mr. Benbow that Bootles is already married and introduces Bootles' roommate, Tad Cheseldine, who is the leading "lad" of the college play, as Bootles' wife.

The scheme works successfully. Bootles and Tad move to Honeymoon Flats and live off the fat of the land, entertaining the college boys every night and doing as they please by day. Bootles completes his blue print drawing of his patent air brake and sends it to the Speed Motor Car Company. In the meantime the supply of money provided by Mr. Benbow is running short. A colored wast-i-ady, one Salamanca Spivins, calls to collect a bill and discovers the fact that the so-called Mrs. Benbow is a man in disguise. She informs the police and immediate discovery is prevented only by additional advice from the ever-ready Sandy. Why not introduce another wife? No sooner said than done, and Mlle. Fleurette, a French costumer, is introduced as Bootles' wife. She is wife No. 2.

A suffrage parade is held and Bootles' father and mother arrive to visit him. Both wives appear on the scene at the same time and Mrs. Benbow, Sr., is informed by the faithful Sandy that Bootles has joined the Mormons and has two wives. Bootles' father is not so easily taken in. He employs a detective to search out the truth. This detective is really an absurd Irish policeman, and when he tries to disguise himself as a Freshman he is hazed by the students and tossed in a blanket. At last the truth comes out. Mr. Benbow threatens to disinherit his son, but the agent of the Motor Car Company accepts Bootles' air brake and makes him a liberal offer for it. The faculty reconsider Bootles' expulsion and he is allowed to re-enter college. Under the circumstances his father relents and he wins the hand of Miss Jonquil Gray and promises soon to introduce her as his third little wife.

Commencement Exercises.

Commencement exercises will be held Thursday evening, June 14. W. H. French, professor of agriculture at the M. A. C., and formerly deputy superintendent of public instruction, will give the commencement address at the opera house. Everyone should avail himself of the opportunity to hear Mr. French. This is a treat given by the class and will be free to the public.

NEWSPAPER OF 1800

Ben Gage of Deford Has Relic of Early Days.

Ben Gage of Deford has a copy of the Ulster County (New York) Gazette bearing the date of January 4, 1800, in his possession which he prizes highly. The newspaper was found in an old family Bible which had been handed down several generations and is now in the hands of Mr. Gage's mother, who resides in St. Clair, Mich.

Mr. Gage's great grandmother was a member of the well known Vanderbilt family of New York, but was disinherited at the time of her marriage, her family disapproving of her choice of a husband. The young lady secured possession of the Vanderbilt Bible however and her descendants have cherished this relic of the famous family.

The Ulster County Gazette was published at Kingston by Samuel Freer & Son. The issue of Jan. 4, 1800, contains a resume of the proceedings of Congress when John Adams was president, a poem on the death of Washington, foreign news, legal notices and local advertisements.

The Gazette consisted of four pages each 11½ by 17½ inches in size. The two inside pages were surrounded and the columns divided by heavy black border rules because of the death of George Washington. An article entitled "Washington Entombed" and dated at George Town, Dec. 20, contained the following paragraphs:

"On Wednesday last, the mortal part of Washington the Great—the Father of his Country and the Friend of man, was consigned to the tomb with solemn honors and funeral pomp.

"A multitude of persons assembled from many miles around, at Mount Vernon, the choice abode and last residence of the illustrious chief. There were the groves—the spacious avenues, the beautiful and sublime scenes, the noble mansion—but alas the august inhabitant was now no more. That great soul was gone.

"On the ornament at the head of the coffin, was inscribed 'Surge ad Judicium'—about the middle of the coffin, 'Gloria Deo'—and on the silver plate, Departed this life, on the 14th December, 1799, A.E.T. 68.

"Between three and four o'clock, the sound of artillery from a vessel in the river, firing minute guns, awoke afresh our solemn sorrow—the corpse was removed—a band of music with mournful melody melted the soul into all the tenderness of woe.

ODD FELLOWS

DEDICATE TEMPLE

SPEAKERS CONGRATULATE LOCAL LODGE ON FINE NEW QUARTERS.

An occasion auspicious in the history of local Odd Fellowship was the formal dedication of the temple of Cass City Lodge, No. 203, on Wednesday evening, June 6.

The heavy rain storm of Wednesday afternoon made heavy and slippery roads which accounted for the small attendance of members of the fraternity from neighboring lodges, many of whom had planned to be present. About 175 members of the local Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges and their friends, were present, however, and the event will be one long remembered.

At nine o'clock, S. Champion, Noble Grand of Cass City Lodge, called the meeting to order and placed the dedication service of the new temple in the hands of Thos. S. Scuphalm, Jr., of Pt. Huron, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Michigan, who was ably assisted by Mr. Rodgers, the Grand Secretary, who acted in the capacity of Grand Marshal, Mrs. Merta Rheinfrank of Battle Creek, president of the Rebekah Assembly, who assumed the duties of Grand Warden, and members of the local staff.

Following the singing of the opening ode and a prayer by J. W. Hamblin, Grand Chaplain, Chas. Robinson as Chairman of Building Committee, delivered the request to the Grand Master that the temple be dedicated according to the rites and customs of the fraternity. F. A. Bigelow sang with feeling the solo, "Abide with Me," which was followed by a responsive reading by Mr. Scuphalm and Mrs. Rheinfrank. Geo. Bartle, Geo. Seed, Morton Orr and Howard Lauderbach as Heralds from the East, West, South and North, assisted by Messdames B. F. Benkelman, Geo. Land, C. D. Striffler and G. W. West, representatives of the Rebekahs, erected an altar for the dedicatory service. Building blocks representing purity, friendship, love, truth, faith, hope and charity, cardinal virtues of the fraternity, formed the altar and the solemn words dedicating the temple were spoken by the Grand Master. The entire service lasted one hour.

Large tables decorated with flowers and loaded with an abundance of good things to eat were carried from the dining room and placed in the large hall. The scene was a remarkably pretty one and the ladies of the Rebekah lodge are to be congratulated on their successful handling of this portion of the evening's enjoyment.

J. C. Corkins, acting as toastmaster, placed the audience in a happy mood by his introductory remarks and the speakers that followed touched on both merry and solemn topics leading their hearers from hearty laughter to consideration of the serious problems of the day and age. Short addresses were given by Messrs. Edward Pinner, M. M. Wickware, J. W. Hamblin, Thos. S. Scuphalm and M. Rogers and Mrs. Rheinfrank. All congratulated the local fraternity on their splendid new quarters which are so well suited to their needs.

NAVY YOUTH TELLS OF THE FIRST SHOT

Gunner That Drew German Blood Recounts Exploit.

SURE U BOAT WAS SUNK

Denies Berlin Report That Undersea Craft Returned, Damaged, to Home Port—His Gray Haired Father Present at Banquet Proud of His Naval Hero and Envied by Others.

A slender young man in the uniform of the United States navy stood before 150 cheering and proudly jubilant army and navy veterans at a New York hotel and told how he had fired the first shot for America in the war. He was Lieutenant Bruce R. Ware, Jr., who on April 19, the anniversary of the battle of Lexington, gave the command from the deck of the Mongolia that sent a six inch shell spinning through the periscope of a German U boat bent on the liner's destruction.

All evening Lieutenant Ware and Captain Emery Rice, commander of the Mongolia, had listened to words of praise from the other speakers, and the lieutenant was smiling when he arose, but his voice broke with emotion as he swept into his story, and at times he repeated his commands to his men as if he were still standing on the Mongolia's bridge with his eyes glued to his glasses.

Day and Night Watch Kept.

"It is a wonderful pleasure to tell you how I fired the first shot and drew the first blood," he said. "Captain Rice and I formulated a war doctrine, and one of the first things we did was to begin a night and day watch when we were six days from our destination. This event happened five and a half days later."

"We had been up continually, the men had all been at their guns, and we had not had our clothes off. Captain Rice and I were always on the bridge; there was a gunner's mate always ready and a telephone always at my elbow. We were always ready, and we were ready at 5:22 a. m. on the 19th of April."

The lieutenant was forced to halt for a moment, as the room rang with shouts as the guests rose to their feet and waved napkins and small American flags.

U Boat Sighted.

"The sun came up one minute before 5, and it began to get a little thick," he continued. "We were then off Beachy Head light, twenty miles from the Dover strait. Looking through the port, I saw the chief officer turn around. You could see the whole story in his face. He could hardly speak the words. 'My God,' he cried, 'look at it!' I said, 'It's a U boat, and he's got us.'"

"We threw in the starboard control. 'Zigzag,' I said to Captain Rice. I didn't tell him which way to go, because that had all been doped out. We charged. We made that snake that came creeping in toward us go down."

"I rushed to the chart house and telephoned: 'No. 3 gun train on the starboard quarter! Report when you see submarine.' The gun crew reported almost instantly, 'There it is.' Then, 'Now it's gone; there it is again.' I trained my glasses and picked it up."

Conning Tower Hit.

"I ordered No. 3 gun to commence firing. 'Fire! Fire! Fire!' And they did, and I picked up that six inch shell as she left the gun, and I saw it travel through the air, and I saw it strike eight inches, a foot, in front of that fellow's periscope."

And then, in contradiction of the German dispatch to the effect that the submarine was not sunk, but limped into a home port, badly crippled, Lieutenant Ware fairly shouted the words: "And it went into that conning tower! I saw the flakes of metal flying into the sea. I saw smoke. I hit the enemy!"

"When the applause had subsided a gray haired, bespectacled and bearded man arose and asked if he might say a word.

"Sure!" came the answering chorus.

Ware Senior Proud of Son.
"You," he said, "have been proud of my son since April 19. I've been proud of him since Feb. 27, 1887."

And Bruce R. Ware, Sr., with moist eyes and flushed face, sat down again, amid the cheering of more than 100 fathers who envied him that proud moment of his life.

Captain Rice was called upon, but blushing excused himself.

"I'd rather take the Mongolia through the war zone any day than make a speech," he said. "All I can say is that I hope we meet that U boat again if she is still able to navigate."

FARMER FEED EXPERTS.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
A farmer who has devoted his lifetime to the study of feeding generally has more success through his common sense methods than any scientific analysis can supply. If such a feeder could have on hand all of the ingredients (most by-products of cereal manufacture), which according to the market at the time would be more economical, he could, through his experience, be very successful in mixing his feeds. But the difficulty with the average man is to maintain an economical ration from the products of his own farm.

He may be an expert, if he chooses to study out a new ration every time the market changes, but he generally prefers to let someone who makes a business of mixing feeds do it for him. No doubt the majority of users of mixed feeds begin to buy it because of a shortage of forage and grain crops on the farm.

If such a man will keep books he will find that as a usual thing the use of mixed stock feed is a mere matter of arithmetic whether he could buy the ingredients cheaper than he could buy them in a so-called "balanced" ration.

MUST TASTE GOOD.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
A dairy ration must, of all things, be palatable so that a cow will eat it. It must be bulky and coarse so as to avoid indigestion and sickness. It must contain a variety of foods so that the cow will not tire of it or get off her feed. It must contain enough real protein—all protein is not alike. It must contain the right amounts and kinds of mineral substances necessary to life, health and milk secretion. It must be highly digestible. Many feeds are only about fifty to sixty per cent digestible and the work of excreting so much waste matter is costly in that it uses up the energy of the food to do it.

SUCCESSFUL FEEDING.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
It is most significant and probably the best argument for mixed feeds when it is considered that a large number of the most prominent and skilled men in America have discarded their own mixed feeds and rations because they have found a satisfactory brand of feed which will make as much milk at less cost and no trouble and, above all, keeps cows in perfect health.

Many agricultural schools and experiment stations use and have used them for the same reason.

You can verify this by writing to any experiment station and they will give you the names of mixed brands which are best adapted to your purpose.

FIVE POUNDS OF MILK ON ONE POUND OF GRAIN.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
C. H. Packard, of Delavan, Wisconsin, a progressive and practical dairyman, was not satisfied with his ration of home-grown feed. Although he mixed his ration with brains and it seemed to be theoretically correct, he thought he would try out his own mixture in comparison with a first class dairy feed. Much to his surprise he found that he could save about five lbs. of grain per cow per day and nearly 5 cents per cow. He figured his own grain at prices much below the wholesale market and bought his mixed feed at retail.

Also when his ration was figured according to Armsby or Energy method his mixed feed proved to be the right combination to make a balanced ration with his own farm roughage.

EXPENSIVE PASTURE.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
When you stop to consider that an acre of pasture will feed a cow, but that that same acre will raise ten tons of silage during the time the cow is feeding on it, it would seem that a grass cafeteria would be the most expensive way to feed your stock.

MORE FEED, MORE MILK.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
Cows of a decided dairy type will return the greatest profit when fed to their full capacity.—Nebraska Experiment Station.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
Ordinarily, silage will correct the tendency to costiveness. When it is not sufficiently effective for this purpose, add enough old process oil meal to keep the droppings moderately soft, but not necessarily loose. Usually all that is needed is to increase the allowance of concentrates.

There are always two sides to every question. If the government insists on more bran in flour, bossy will have to turn to still more artificial bran.

Wheat bran is a dear feed. Barley and rye by-products are more economical.

Poverty holds a mortgage on the feeder who can see nothing but the price. Some feeds are as cheap at $50 as other at $25 per ton.

When you buy hay for cows it usually costs more than grain by-products, although it costs half as much per ton.

[National Crop Improvement Service.]
It is a fair assumption that any farmer who talks against mixed feeds does not know what a mixed feed ought to be. There is no danger of any man buying a fraudulent feed. The state laws are very stringent on this point and if any man has any doubt as to the value of a feed, all he has to do is to write his State Experiment Station and get the truth.

DETROIT'S USED AUTOMOBILE SHOW

Will Offer Many Unusual Bargains in Used Cars.

The keen desire to always have the very latest thing and to keep just one step ahead of our neighbors is in large measure responsible for a big majority of the high class used cars which will be on exhibition at the big show and sale to be conducted by the Detroit Auto Dealers Association, June 9th to 17th. Many cars are turned in on new models before the original set of tires show much wear and cars of this sort offer real bargains to the motorist who wants the utmost for every dollar expended. With finish and upholstery unscratched and the motors just nicely worked in, hundreds of cars are disposed of by fastidious folks who want something just a bit more advanced in style. Perhaps they want a little roomier car or perhaps a smaller one but most any excuse will do so long as they made up their minds that they should have a new motor car.

If it were not for this sort of people a lot of us would not be able to ride in the luxury we do. However, it is a happy state of affairs for in the end we are all well satisfied. In many instances cars with mileage as low as 2,000 or 2,500 miles are exchanged and any machanic or experienced motorist knows that such a car is exactly as good as the day it came from the factory. The original newness is gone, but that does not harm the car in the least—only it reduces the market value to a considerable extent.

So with nothing but the best of Detroit's used cars to choose from, the show which is to be held in the monster new Crosstown garage at John R. street and Warren avenue, promises a treat for the motor wise. Dealers in the association have long appreciated the fact that used cars in order to give satisfaction must be in "quality condition" when they are sold and each year has found them striving harder to deal in nothing but high grade automobiles. Many of them now maintain complete departments for putting their used cars in shape for re-sale, painting them, replacing tires that are worn and giving the motors complete overhauls.

Some happy surprises are in store for visitors to the used car show for the directors of the D. A. D. A. insist that this first exhibit shall be so good that the public will demand it as an annual event.

To get as much POWER as Studebaker offers in a Four at $985, you must pay on the average $2753. To get as much POWER in a six as the Studebaker Six at $1250, costs on the average $4078.

As a matter of fact, there are very few FOURS on the market that equal the Studebaker Four in Power, just as there are but few Sixes that match in Power the Studebaker Six. And they are all very expensive, as the figures show.

In ratio to power, Studebaker is the most economical car made, because Studebakers are the lightest cars in the world in ratio to their power.

This lightness, together with the enduring strength that characterizes Studebakers, is the evolution of four years' intense study of the performance of hundreds of thousands of Studebakers in actual use under all sorts of service conditions. A Crop of Potatoes

It Was Connected With a Romance.

By F. A. MITCHEL

When the time approached for our going to our modest country home for the summer I had just parted with my fifth servant in as many months. I concluded to advertise for another. I wrote out a tempting description of the place, expatiating on the delicious country air and mentioning that the house stood in a four acre lot.

I received just one reply. A few days after the issue of the advertisement a girl came to see me who said that she was looking for a situation. She was very plainly dressed, but there was an air about her that did not accord with her attire. She did not seem so interested in the wages I proposed to pay as in the place where she was to spend the summer. She asked me if there was room for a kitchen garden, adding that she would like to try her hand at raising vegetables.

When I informed her that she could have all the land she could plant, that the soil was excellent and had never grown anything but grass, she accepted the position, but on condition that she might be permitted to go to the place by the middle of April in order to get her planting done in season. It was not my intention to go to the country before the 1st of May.

Margaret, my new maid, agreed to fill her position in my household for the few weeks remaining till she was to depart for the country. She came one day at noon and cooked the dinner. I had told my husband that I had secured a prize, and when he saw Margaret and ate the dinner she had prepared he admitted that I was right in my assumption.

"But I fear," he said, "that she will be above her work. She is evidently not of the servant class. I can't exactly make out to what class she belongs; but, from her personality, leaving out the fact that she is a servant, I would place her well up in the social scale. I don't believe she will be satisfied to remain long with you."

"If she plants a garden she will have to remain with me," I replied, "till she has gathered her crop."

Margaret showed no disposition to be dissatisfied with her work so long as we were in the city nor, for that matter, ever displayed such dissatisfaction. True, I treated her with more consideration than I had ever treated a servant before. But she did not exact such consideration and was always perfectly respectful to me, though she never addressed me as "ma'am."

It was always "Yes, Mrs. Ackerman," and "No, Mrs. Ackerman."

On the 15th of April my maid left me for the country. I supposed that she would fear to sleep alone in the house, but she said she might have a sister with her some of the time, with my permission. This I of course granted. We missed the delightful meals Margaret prepared for us, for she was the best cook I ever knew. I was glad when the time came to follow her, though my husband said that if she were to make a farmer of herself she would deteriorate as a cook.

When I reached my cottage I found Margaret domesticated. She was alone, her sister having gone away the day before my arrival. What was my surprise to see two-thirds of the ground laid out for a garden and a few sprouts here and there. I asked Margaret who had turned over the ground, and she said she had hired a farmer in the neighborhood to plow it and a friend of hers had leveled it. She had done the rest herself.

"What have you planted, Margaret?" I asked.

"I have put in a variety in that corner," she said, pointing, "for your table; the rest has been given up to potatoes."

"Potatoes?" I exclaimed. "What do you propose to do with so many potatoes?"

"Sell them. You see, Mrs. Ackerman, that the world's war is reducing the earth's products. Not only will this tend to raise the price of food, but speculators will make this an excuse to hoard their products, which will greatly enhance the market value. I have put in this crop on speculation."

I was astonished. A servant girl had secured a situation that brought with it a piece of ground and had used it to enter upon a speculation. Her action was predicated upon sound reasoning and business principles. My husband's prediction that I would find her above her business was true in one respect, but false in another. She knew her place as a servant, but was competent to act in a far wider field.

As the weather warmed the vegetables in Margaret's garden came up, and since both the soil and the weather were admirably fitted for the growth of potatoes there was every prospect of her securing a fine crop. The stalks were not too luxuriant, and Margaret said she did not fear that the crop would be mostly stalk with few potatoes. The corner that she had planted for our private use gave us such a variety of vegetable food as one could enjoy.

And this corner was of especial satisfaction to us because by midsummer Margaret's calculations on prices had begun to show themselves correct. We could not buy vegetables even from the farmers about us at prices we could afford to pay, and, as for potatoes, when the old year's stock had given out one would have been obliged to go without them had we not bought the few we needed from Margaret.

When the summer was drawing to an end a man drove up in a wagon one morning and asked if Margaret Sayles was in. Margaret was out in the garden, and I sent him there. Later I saw him digging the potatoes, putting them in gunny sacks and loading them on to the wagon. I did not notice the man's appearance particularly, but he wore a slouch felt hat and a pair of overalls. I don't know how many loads of potatoes he took away with him, but he was all day at the work.

That evening I asked Margaret how she was coming out on her crop. She said that she believed she would do very well, since potatoes were increasing in price every day. I replied that I was well aware of the fact, to my cost. She added that she had been solicited by the neighboring farmers to hold her property for a better price, but had declined. She did not believe in the principle and would risk losing all she had made. The price might drop and the potatoes might rot on her hands. I told her I thought she was wise.

We returned to the city on the 1st of September. Margaret continued to serve me faithfully till the end of the year, when she notified me that she expected to be married in the spring and would leave me whenever I had found another servant to suit me. Of course this was a great disappointment, but I had no blame for Margaret. I asked her whom she was to marry, and she told me her betrothed was the man who had carted away her potatoes, adding that he was a practical gardener.

When she told me this I was sorry that I had not more carefully noticed the man. I was a trifle disappointed that she was not to marry some one in a higher station, for both my husband and I clung to the idea that Margaret was fitted to fill almost any grade in social life. I asked a number of other questions about her betrothed, but she was as reticent about this as she had been about all matters pertaining to herself.

Margaret would not leave me till I had tried several persons to take her place. Finally I found a woman who was fairly satisfactory, and I insisted on parting with Margaret, for I knew that she wished to spend her time preparing for her wedding. I felt that I was losing a companion rather than a servant, and she seemed to have formed some attachment for me.

"Let me know when the wedding is to come off," I said.

"You will certainly receive an invitation," was her reply.

One morning in June it came. It was an engraved note stating that Mrs. Elihu Sayles would be pleased to see me at the wedding of her daughter, Margaret, at the residence of Mr. William Ferguson. There was nothing about it that bespoke the servant. Indeed, there was everything indicating that the parties concerned were of the better class.

On the day of the nuptials I drove up to the house of Mr. Ferguson, which I found on a first class residence street. Other vehicles were arriving, and those alighting were in costumes appropriate to a wedding in high life. There were perhaps fifty guests in all. At noon the couple took their position before the officiating clergyman, and in the groom, attired in a Prince Albert coat and gray trousers, I recognized the man who had carted away Margaret's potatoes. The bride was in traveling costume.

After the ceremony I passed the bride with the throng of guests, and her mother, saying that she would like to make me acquainted with her brother, Mr. Ferguson, took me to him. He beckoned me to follow him to another room and then there explained the mystery of Margaret and her potato crop.

"If I were a young man seeking a helpmate," he said, "I should consider myself most fortunate if I could secure my niece Margaret. Her father brought her up in comfort, but practically. He considered the basis of a woman's education cookery and sent his daughter to a cooking school. He died a few years ago, and she has since, up to the time she went to you, made her living by some plan connected with cooking. She became engaged to the man she has just married a year ago. He has been studying agriculture and has just been graduated, but had no funds. Seeing your advertisement, it occurred to Margaret that by accepting a position with you she might secure the use of ground without cost on which to raise a crop. She sold her potatoes for $800, which is the capital on which the couple are to commence married life. Her husband will become scientific superintendent of a gentleman's farm at a good salary."

I was introduced to a number of Margaret's friends and relatives and found them all persons of refinement. Furthermore, they all spoke in the highest terms of her, not only praising her for her practical makeup, but especially commenting upon the absence in her of that false pride which prevents so many persons from accepting positions which are calculated to exclude them from social prestige. She did not hesitate to take a position which, though considered servile by the world, is perfectly honorable and furnished the key to fortune.

Margaret and her husband made a second step upward, occupying a cottage on the farm he managed, but it was not long before they had accumulated sufficient capital to buy a tract of land on which they planted fruit trees and eventually made a fortune.

There is nothing to be added to my story except that Margaret has become one of my most valued friends.

BEAULEY.

Eighty-nine of our men registered in Grant Tuesday.

A number from Elkton, Canboro and Owendale attended church in Beaulley Sunday.

We extend congratulations to Rowland Hartsell and Miss Anna Quinn who were married last Thursday.

A good number of the Beaulley people attended the Children's Day exercises at Owendale Sunday evening and report them good.

Mrs. E. W. Turner returned to her home in Roscommon Tuesday after spending three weeks with her daughter, Mrs. A. P. Stinton.

Quite a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Hartsell surprised them last Wednesday evening and left the bride many useful gifts. A pleasant time is reported by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hoffman and son, Gerald, of Cass City were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moore and children to Unionville Sunday where they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Hinman.

The W. H. M. S. held their meeting with Mrs. Arthur Moore—fast Friday afternoon and also held their election of officers. Mrs. C. E. Hartsell is president, Mrs. Arthur Moore, vice pres., Mrs. T. H. Heron, corresponding sec.; Mrs. H. Smith, treas.; Mrs. W. J. Moore, mite box sec. The delegates' report from the convention at Caseville was given. Refreshments were served.

Don't forget the big day at Beaulley church June 20. Eight speakers, good singing and a basket dinner. The first meeting is at 10:30 a. m., the second at 2:30 p. m. and service at 8:00 in the evening. Come and spend a profitable day. Hot tea and coffee will be served by the ladies free. The following ministers are on the program: Wilmet Moore of Armada, J. D. Young and J. W. Hamblin of Cass City, Walter Firth of Caseville, John Meredith of Deford, C. A. Bowles of Pigeon and Julius West of Bad Axe and District Supt. Leonard.

SHABBONA.

Registration Day was splendidly and most loyally observed in Shabbona. At seven o'clock the ringing of the M. E. church bells called the folks to duty and despite a wet and dull morning nearly 400 partook of a free luncheon provided by Evergreen people in the Maccabee Hall, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion, the chief honor, of course, being given to the boys who had registered in the Ehlers Hall opposite and who in double file proceeded to luncheon. The M. E. church being inadequate to accommodate the huge crowd, a great mass meeting was held in the open at 3:30. Elder F. Phetteplace presided. The proceedings opened with the singing of "My Country 'tis of Thee" followed by a suitable prayer from Pastor W. H. Harris of the M. E. church. Mrs. W. H. Harris sang in good style and strong voice, "Your Cause and Your Country Need You." Rev. W. H. Harris gave a stirring address on many view-points of the crisis. To the address he gave a fitting close by speaking "Rally Boys Around Old Glory" an original poem which he composed especially for the occasion. At the call of the pastor, three hearty cheers were given for President Wilson and other cheers for the boys, mothers and sweethearts. God bless our native land, concluded a dandy time.

Birds as Mimics.

Birds, from the ostrich down, are imitative. The ostrich, where he lives alone, is silent, but in a country where lions abound he roars. The reason for this is that, admiring the lion's roar, he gradually learns to roar himself.

Among small birds buntings imitate pipits and greenfinches imitate yellow lammers. They seek their fellow in the winter together, and they gradually steal each other's calls. The jay is an insatiable imitator. Some will include in their repertory not only the cries or songs of other birds, but also the bleat of the lamb and the neigh of a horse. In a nightingale's song it is frequently easy to detect phrases he has borrowed from other birds.

Fur Rugs.

When a fur robe or rug has been hardened by washing and drying it may be softened in the following way: Mix together three tablespoonfuls of castor oil, one of glycerin and one of turpentine. Rub this into the back of the rug and let it remain for a week; then rub it with a smooth stone or block of wood; wipe thoroughly before using.

FOR YOUNG FOLKS

Sleepy Time Story That Is of Interest to Children.

A BOY WHO WAS VERY LAZY.

Stubborn Youth Who Was Careless About Study and Behind in His Lessons Gets a Surprise—After a Time He Is Cured of His Slothful Ways.

When I was a boy, said Uncle Ben to little Ned and Polly Ann, we were taught to march, and that brings me to my story about a boy who WOULDN'T MARCH.

I hope you will always take an interest in the marching. Little Tommy, a boy I have heard about, did not care to march. He was fat and would rather sit still than run about.

Tommy's mother had told the teacher that he must take part in the marching or any exercises that might take some of the extra fat off his lazy bones. So the teacher tried her best to get Tommy interested in marching. He was a new boy in her class.

But one morning when Tommy had missed a good many words in spelling and had not had the right answer to many of his arithmetic questions he was a bit sulky. Instead of blaming the mistakes on his own carelessness he was vexed with the teacher and cross with the children who had done their work right. It was very silly of Tommy.

And when the teacher threw up the windows and said, "Now the class will stand up, ready for the march," Tommy planted his feet stubbornly on the floor and settled back in his seat.

The teacher looked surprised when Tommy did not rise with the others. She said: "Tommy, please rise. You know we are going to march now."

But Tommy growled, "I don't want to march." The little girl at the piano began playing the march. The other children stepped briskly around the room, and when the last child passed Tommy's desk the teacher was behind him. She whisked Tommy out of his seat and, with her hands upon his shoulders, pushed him into place and walked him around the room with the rest of the children.

At first Tommy was too taken back to object, but when he found himself being marched around the room against his will he squirmed and struggled so much that the rest of the children who had been trying to keep sober burst out laughing.

"Don't you think you could march by yourself now?" whispered the teacher, and Tommy murmured, "Yes."

With his eyes on the ground he tramped briskly after the other children, and from that day to this the teacher has had no trouble in getting Tommy to join in the marching.

Boy Scout Professorship.

In order to make the preparations of boy scout leaders and scout masters a regular feature of the curriculum of Teachers' college, New York city, the board of trustees accepted the offer made by Cleveland H. Dodge and Francis Phelps Dodge, presented through the Boy Scouts of America by the chief executive, James E. West, to maintain in Teachers' college for a certain number of years a provisional professorship in scouting and recreational leadership.

Shadow Tag.

This is a game to play when the sun shines. One person is chosen to be "it" and must run after the others. He does not have to tag them, however. He must only step on the shadow of one, calling that player's name at the same time. When he succeeds that player must change places with him.

A Beautiful Visitor.

There are several species of the woodpecker family, with which young people in the country and even the city are familiar. They are the flicker, the

with his saddle, holsters and pistols, pall bearers and corpse, mourners, Masonic brethren and citizens.

"When the procession had arrived at the bottom of the elevated lawn, on the banks of the Potomac, where the family vault is placed, the cavalry halted, the infantry marched towards the Mount and formed their lines—the clergy, the Masonic brothers, and the citizens descended to the vault, and the funeral service of the church was performed. The firing was repeated from the vessel in the river, and the sounds echoed from the woods and hills around.

"Three general discharges by the infantry, the cavalry and 11 pieces of artillery, which lined the banks of the Potomac back of the vault, paid the last tribute to the entombed commander in chief of the Armies of the United States and to the departed hero.

"The son was now setting. Alas! the son of glory was set forever. No—the name of Washington—the American president and general—will triumph over death. The unclouded brightness of his glory will illuminate the future ages."

Among the news from foreign shores, the following paragraphs appeared under a Paris, Oct. 14, date line:

"Bonaparte and Berthier are in France, at the very moment when the fame of their triumphs at Paris, they disembarked at Frejus. It appears that he was afraid of being taken by the English had he attempted to land at Toulon, and in consequence preferred landing at Frejus. The frigate in which he came was escorted by two vessels.

"On reaching the shore Bonaparte and all those who accompanied him, fell down and kissed the land of liberty. Bonaparte and Berthier have not arrived alone from the banks of the Nile. They were accompanied by Generals Lasles, Mormons, Murat, Andicoffe and citizens Mons and Bertholet. They have left the army in Egypt in a most satisfactory state. Moreau is in Egypt."

Under a London date line—"The Hamburg Mail due on Sunday arrived on Friday, and brings numerous details of the actions fought in Switzerland, by which it appears that the French telegraph and other accounts of those desperate conflicts are fallacious—the Imperialists instead of 19,100 men, having lost not much more than 3,000. The allies have defeated the French near Schaffhausen, where the corps of Conde having joined the Archduke his Royal Highness was on the 2nd marching to sustain Sawartow.

"The Vienna Court-Gazette on the 28th ult. relates that General Melas and Kray on the 13th defeated the French at Savigianu and Jano, with the loss of 1,000 killed and 900 taken prisoners; the Austrians losing 92 killed, 582 wounded and missing. On the same day the French lost 400 men under Gen. Thampionier, in an unsuccessful attack upon a division of Austrian cavalry at Sealega."

EAST NOVESTA.

CAUSE OF DEATH.

Fred Sheriff, son of Mrs. M. Seeger of Cass City, who died on May 20 1917, in Alberta, came to his death by a general anaemic condition due to ulceration of the bowels, producing a rapid and general break down of his system.

DON'T USE RHUBARB LEAVES

Because rhubarb leaves contain certain substances which make them poisonous to a great many persons, specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture warn housewives against using this portion of the plant for food. A number of letters have been received by the department calling attention to the fact that certain newspapers and magazines are advocating the use of rhubarb leaves for greens, and that disastrous results have followed the acceptance of the advice.

DOCTOR'S AUTO DAMAGED

Overseer's Neglect Causes $250 Damages to Paris Township.

It is the duty of overseers to see that the roads in their beat are in passable condition and thus save the township and others much damage. The failure of an overseer of Paris township to do this caused Dr. Holdship of Ubyly, to smash his automobile last week. An old log was sticking up in the middle of the road, probably from an old corduroy road. Vehicles had made mud holes on each side of this log. The doctor's machine dropped into these holes, lowering the machine so the front axle struck the end of the log. It smashed the axle, spring and frame so badly that the township board settled the matter for $250. The log will now be extracted.—Ex.

ADVANCE STYLES.

Tips About What to Order and Wear This Summer.

A fashion expert writes: "Of course you are always interested in the new things not only for the pleasure such knowledge affords, but because having a good, broad, general knowledge of fashions past, present and future makes us better shoppers and enables us to be better dressed for less money than if we have no real understanding of fashions and purchase promiscuously without reason, except that a certain garment or accessory tickles our fancy at the moment."

"As summer advances look for more short sleeves, three-quarter and elbow in length, especially on dresses and fancy blouses.

"Long skirts are on their way, though frankly I feel it will be autumn before we see skirts to any extent longer than are now worn. And I believe then the longer skirt will not be popular for the street clothes that business and professional women wear.

"Separate coats, it is said, will be cut without any ripple—that is, they will have closer fitting, straight sections.

"Bodices darted and fitted to wear outside the skirt have lately been introduced by one of the French designers, but here again is a fashion that has been slightly in evidence for a long while. You shouldn't worry about being forced to wear them if you don't want to. One never has to wear what one really dislikes in order to be in fashion these days. There are always more than one and frequently many designs from which to make a choice.

"Midseason should bring silk suits with perky little bolero jackets, many of them having seven-eighths or three-quarter sleeves, and nothing could be cooler or more attractive for warm weather wear than suits of this character.

"French designers are sponsoring hats trimmed profusely with flowers—a welcome change this after our long acceptance of severely trimmed or untrimmed millinery.

"Evening capes are in line now and come at a most opportune time, for if one ever needs an easily slipped on wrap it is in the summer."

skirt. Coral colored linen is used for collar cuffs and belt, the disks on the skirt being hand embroidered in coral floss. A few white pearl buttons do the rest.

Boiled Raisin Cake.

Let one and one-half cupfuls seeded raisins simmer in water to cover for twenty minutes. Cream three-quarters cupful sugar, one-quarter cupful butter and one egg beaten light, one and one-half cupfuls flour, one-half cupful raisin water, one teaspoonful each soda, cinnamon and nutmeg sifted with the flour. Add the raisins, well dredged with flour. Bake in a moderate oven forty-five minutes. This cake has a flavor all its own.

Just a Cue.

If you are ambitious enough to attempt the chiffon or georgette crape blouse buy three-quarters of a yard of half inch metallic ribbon to harmonize with the color of the blouse. Finish each end with a metal ball or silk tassel and tack the ribbon down at the back of the neck and at the shoulder seams, letting the ends hang loose at the front.

While soldering a gasoline tank in the Bay Port Garage last Sunday morning the tank which was supposed to be empty exploded. Beside Mr. Smith who was handling the torch there were three other men standing within three or four feet of the tank. Mr. Smith received quite a bad cut on the arm. The others escaped with a bad scare. The report of the explosion was heard all over town.

Croswell has passed an ordinance governing motoring in that city. It prohibits driving of automobiles by children under sixteen years of age; also speeding within its limits, as well as establishing other necessary restrictions for the safety of the public. The cheerful co-operation of the public should be accorded the authorities, not only of Croswell, but of every other community where "safety first" legislation is enacted.

Considerable excitement was stirred up in Croswell on Tuesday by the arrival of Frank Stark of Chicago in search of his three children, who had been brought here without his consent from his home city. He found the youngsters in the west house of the south German row with a Polish family named Brusseau. After fitting them up with suitable clothing he took them back to Chicago that evening. The story is that at the death of his wife he placed the three children, a girl aged 13 years, and two boys aged 10 and 7, in an institution that cared for children. As the place was crowded they were afterwards sent to the Brusseau family for board. When that family concluded to try the best fields of Michigan the children were brought along and it was intended to work them in the fields. Mr. Stark is a railroad man and on his return to Chicago from his run was unable to locate the children and it was nearly a month before he could get track of them.—Croswell Jeff.

"KEEP A HEN" IS NEW WATCHWORD

"Keep a hen" has been adopted by Michigan's food campaigners as one of their watchwords.

"Poultry", according to Prof. C. H. Burgess of the Michigan Agricultural college's poultry department, "offer quickest possible means for increasing the meat supply. There is nothing on the farm or about the home which can be developed into a source of meat and food so immediately as a flock of hens. Pulletts can be brought to a laying condition in four months time, and cockerels can be marketed when four weeks of age. There is no other animal on the farm which is able to convert so much waste material into meat.

"If every family living on the outskirts of our larger cities, or in our smaller towns and villages would keep a few hens, the food cost would be much lowered through the resulting increase in egg production.

"Droppings from the table, instead of going into the garbage can, would by passing through the hen be converted into an article of food of the highest quality. A well bred hen will produce on the average about ten dozen eggs a year, and for the small flock which derives its maintenance from the food left-overs of the family, a clear gain of at least two dollars per head could be realized. Some flocks will do better than this. Ten hens will keep an average family in eggs for a year, and produce a few extra for sale. A hen needs but a square rod of yard space. A back yard three rods by four rods will keep ten hens. A piano box will furnish all the necessary shelter, and clippings from the lawn mower all the green food required."

The period of incubation for hens' eggs is twenty to twenty-two days; ducks, twenty-eight days; turkeys, twenty-seven to twenty-nine days; geese, twenty-eight to thirty-four days; guinea fowls, twenty-six days.

RAYMOND REIL

ABOUT SILHOUETTES.

How to Make Them of All Your Own Family.

Almost every boy and girl some day will look through mother's old album or treasure box. When your turn comes try to find some silhouettes of Aunt Jemima or Uncle Silas. Wouldn't you like to make some of your own immediate family?

Nowadays, when cameras are easy to borrow if you do not own one yourself. It is a simple matter to make a silhouette. Select a room in your home that has plenty of sun in the morning. Open one window, pin a sheet over it, then shut out all light which comes from any other source but that window. Your model must be posed before the sheet draped window so that his profile is shown up clearly. It is a good plan to put some object before him that shows his character. If he has a pet dog let Rover pose with him, if sister is an artist put her easel in position before her, and if grandma loves her flowers place a potted plant on the table which she faces.

In exposing the plate use only a short exposure. The result will be very much like a negative. The outlines will show up clearly enough in the manner of a silhouette, but no details will show. Everything will be solid white or black.

Mount the silhouettes on a long strip of white cardboard, frame the whole in a narrow black frame and be sure the family will treasure their modern silhouettes, from the negative of which any number of copies can be made.

How to Stop Bleeding From a Cut in the Simplest Way.

Sometimes you cut or prick your finger so badly that you have difficulty in checking the flow of blood and perhaps no medical appliances are at hand. Pick up the nearest newspaper and tear off a strip of the clean margin, on which there is no printing. Wash the cut with clear running water if possible and bind it closely around with this strip of paper. Fasten it or hold it on until you know that the flow is stopped and the wound is beginning to dry. It never fails to check bleeding in an ordinary cut.

How to Bring Death to the Spider That Infests the Cellar.

Take a small common kerosene lamp and light it and late in the afternoon or early in the evening look over the corners and places where spiders are commonly found and when one is seen hold the lamp chimney directly beneath it and it will fall at once into the chimney and be instantly destroyed. It is not difficult in this way to destroy all the spiders in the house in a few evenings. It avoids killing them by sweeping them down and staining the walls or carpet. Early in the evening is the best time.

How to Remove Iodine Stains and Ink Smears From Linen.

Iodine stains are removed from linen by rectified spirit. To take ink out of linen use essential salt of lemon made by taking an ounce of oxalic acid in fine powder, mix with four ounces of cream of tartar. You must be careful as this is poisonous if swallowed. To remove the ink wet the finger in water then dip it in the powder and rub gently on the spot. The stain will disappear without injury to the fabric; then wash the linen in pure water.

Grease on Leather.

Grease stains on leather may be removed by carefully applying benzine or perfectly pure turpentine. Wash the spots over afterward with the well beaten white of an egg or a good leather reviver.

Attractive Dress Not Enough.

Why don't the women stand straight, hold up their heads, throw their shoulders back and look at you as the queens that they are? As a rule, they depend upon their dress, their hats, gloves, shoes, waists to make them look attractive and neglect that feature of their appearance that is most important—their carriage and their bodily form. There are too many hollow chests and stoop shoulders going about. The women should think more of themselves than of the fashions and thus make womanhood appear at its very best. It is not the finest dresser who is the most beautiful woman.—Ohio State Journal.

Finger Arithmetic.

The earliest way of counting was by means of the fingers, and in the picture writing of the ancients the drawing of an open hand invariably signified the numeral V. Some nations, indeed, even went so far as to make their week consist of five days. A few tribes were not content to count solely by the fingers alone and added their toes as well. The Aztecs, for example, counted in multiples of twenty and had twenty days in their months. The Roman notation consisted of a ten fingered system, and the X used to signify ten is, after all, only two V's placed point to point or apex to apex, the V typifying five.

SUSPECT YOUR KIDNEYS

Too Many Cass City People Neglect Early Symptoms of Kidney Trouble.

If your back is lame—if you feel dull, tired and all-worn-out— If you have hard headaches, back-aches and dizzy spells— If the kidney secretions are disordered—

Suspect your kidneys and "take a stitch in time."

Use Doan's Kidney Pills, the time-tried, home-endorsed kidney remedy. It may save you from some serious kidney trouble.

Make use of Mrs. Vader's experience. Mrs. A. E. Vader, West Pine St., Cass City, says: "Whenever there is any need of a kidney medicine in our family, we take Doan's Kidney Pills and they always respond with satisfaction. Personally, I can vouch for Doan's Kidney Pills, for I have taken them on several occasions for back-ache and disordered kidneys. We get this medicine at Wood & Co.'s Drug Store, and in every instance, have found them very beneficial."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Vader recommends. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv. 8.

The comma. The point on which most writers are at odds with the compositor is the comma. He is too fond of this particular punctuation point. We all say "Why then did you do it?" in one breath. It is the compositor who says "Why, then, did you do it?" It is possible to be too hard on the comma. It has its undeniable uses. Edward Clodd in his memoir of Grant Allen tells the story of a compositor who dissented very strongly from that writer's moral philosophy and had to "set up" an interview with Allen in which the sentence "He is happily married" occurred. He salved his conscience by printing it "He is, happily, married."—London Chronicle.

What to Do When Backache Comes On

"Foley Kidney Pills have done more good than $150.00 worth of other medicine." Chas. N. Fox, Elmrod, N. Y. When backache comes on and it seems as if you can't stand the pain and pressure across the small of your back, hurry to your druggist and get relief through a box of Foley Kidney Pills. They will stop the cause of that pain very quickly, spur the sluggish kidneys to regular action, enable them to throw the poisons out of the blood. They will get rid of pain and rheumatism for you, quiet your nerves, stop your backache, and limber up your stiff joints and sore muscles. Dr. W. Sherman, Lacrosse, N. Y., writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble, had a tired feeling in my back, did not have any ambition and felt all tired out. I used Foley Kidney Pills and in a few days began to feel better, and now I have entirely recovered."

There is something wickedly wrong about the food price. Every person who labors has a God-given right to eat. In this land they have a right to bread, meat and potatoes, but the farm workers by day or month can't maintain a family and get clothes at two dollars per day or $35.00 per month. Then wisecracks will say let the farmer elevate the price of labor on his ranch. He dare not do it; farming is a gamble. Many a man sows and reaps nothing. For the past two years more farmers lost their entire crop than those who had something to sell, run in debt to pay help, borrowed money to pay taxes. $40.00 per month on the farm is foolish.

Delicious Puddings.

RAISIN PUDDING.—Put four level teaspoonfuls well washed rice, a teaspoonful salt, four teaspoonfuls sugar and half a cupful of raisins, with a quart of milk, into a pudding dish and let it stand on back of stove until rice is swollen. Bake in a moderate oven until soft and creamy. Serve with cream.

Cocoanut and Raisin Pudding.—Put half pound desiccated cocoanut into a pudding dish, break in pieces six small sponge cakes and over these pour a quart of boiling milk with a table-spoonful butter melted in it. Add four table-spoonfuls of sugar, let it stand an hour, covered close. Mix a pound of raisins without seeds with four well beaten eggs and bake in a slow oven.

Snowball Pudding With Berry Sauce.—One-third cupful butter, one-half cupful sugar, a cupful flour, one-half cupful cornstarch, three teaspoonfuls baking powder, four eggs (whites). Cream the butter and add the sugar. Sift the dry ingredients three times, add to the butter mixture the milk slowly, fold in the beaten whites, put in greased molds and steam an hour. Roll in powdered sugar and serve hot with berry sauce.

Pineapple Tapioca.—Cover a cupful peari tapioca with cold water and soak eight or ten hours or overnight. Then put in porcelain lined kettle (double cooker) and boil till clear. Drain juice from a can of canned crushed pineapple. Add to the boiled tapioca one-half cupful granulated sugar and when dissolved beat in pineapple. When cool turn into a mold and set on ice till chilled. Serve with pineapple juice.

Fruit Pudding.—Baked batter pudding with fruit: Quarter of a pound of flour, salt, one-half pint of milk, two eggs, one-quarter pound of fruit, one-half ounce of butter, sugar. Put flour in a basin, add one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, stir in gradually one-half pint of milk. When sufficiently liquid beat with a spoon. Break an egg into a cup, add it to the batter, beating lightly till thoroughly mixed, then repeat with the second egg. Grease a pie dish—grease it well—and pour in batter. Take one-quarter pound of any fruit, sprinkle it into the batter and put two or three pieces of butter on top. Put dish in oven to bake for half an hour. When taken out sprinkle some sugar on top.

CHICKEN DAINTIES.

CHICKEN CROQUETTES.—Cut cold roasted or boiled chicken in small pieces, place in earthen dish. Season well with salt and pepper and the juice of one lemon. Let the meat stand one hour, then make a fritter batter and stir the pieces into it. Drop by the spoonful into boiling fat. Fry till light brown. Drain and serve immediately. Any kind of cold, tender meat can be used in this way.

Supreme Chicken.—Force breast of uncooked chicken through a meat chopper. There should be one-half cupful. Add two eggs slightly beaten and one-half cupful heavy cream. Season with pepper and salt. Turn into a buttered mold, set in a pan of water and bake until firm. Cooked chicken may be used in this way.

Chicken Timbales.—Two table-spoonfuls butter, one-fourth cupful stale breadcrumbs, two-thirds cupful milk, one cupful chopped cooked chicken, one-half table-spoonful chopped parsley, two eggs, salt and pepper. Melt butter, add breadcrumbs and milk and cook five minutes, stirring constantly. Add chicken, parsley and eggs, slightly beaten. Season with salt and pepper. Turn into buttered individual molds, having molds two-thirds full; set in pan of hot water, cover with buttered paper and bake twenty minutes. Serve with Bechamel sauce.

Chicken and Asparagus.—One cupful of cooked minced chicken, one cupful of cooked or canned asparagus. First cook together two table-spoonfuls of butter, two table-spoonfuls of flour, one and one-half cupfuls of the top of the milk; add salt and pepper, a dash of mace and a few drops of lemon juice. Add this to the chicken and asparagus. When boiling add two egg yolks slightly beaten; take from the fire and add the stiffly beaten whites. Turn into timbale molds well oiled and lined with breadcrumbs. Bake fifteen minutes under greased paper and in a pan of water. Turn out of the mold, garnish with asparagus tips and serve with highly seasoned cream sauce.

HOW TO FEED BABY

Especially Natural Feeding, the Ideal Way.

THE BEST OF SUSTENANCE.

Human Milk Was Intended For Babies, and the Next Best Substitute, Cow's Milk, Was Designed For Stomachs That Can Pass Tough Curds.

[Prepared by Ohio state department of health.]

That human milk is the ideal food for babies is an accepted fact, but there may be too much even of this diet for the baby. The baby should have its milk regularly, but it should have long hours of rest between feedings. A baby's stomach holds one ounce at birth and three ounces at one month. Any one can realize how small this receptacle is if she remembers the very small bottle which comes when she orders an ounce of fluid at the drug store. It is a mystery why a woman will insist upon trying to make the poor baby's stomach, day after day, hold any amount of milk which the baby may swallow if nursed every fifteen minutes. This constant nursing over-distends the stomach and causes fermentation, vomiting and colic. The baby cries with the colic, and instead of giving the tiny little stomach a chance to rest the mother returns it to the breast and wonders why the baby will not nurse, or, if it does so, wonders why it cries harder than ever. If mothers would only learn that the frequent nursings only make matters worse and that often when the baby screams it has had too much food.

Some babies are gluttons, and if the milk flows easily they swallow too fast or overfill the stomach, and the result is that the stomach contracts forcibly and the food is ejected. Babies who vomit the milk almost unchanged as soon as it is swallowed often have simply eaten too fast.

The mother's milk may be too rich, and so the milk causes indigestion, and it may be eructated in the form of a cheesy mass which is quite undigested. In case of the mother's milk being too rich the baby may be given a drink of water from a bottle immediately before nursing, thus diluting the milk from the mother's body. The mother's milk, on the other hand, may be lacking in amount, and the baby may have to work very hard to get a very little nourishment.

The mother should remember that babies, like all other human beings, require generous amounts of water. The baby should have freshly boiled water every day. At first it may be given in a spoon, but later it may be put in a bottle, preferably one with a wide mouth and a large, flat nipple, and fed directly from this. This has two advantages, for it trains the baby to drink the water and to drink from a bottle.

The baby should be held during the nursing period so that it gets the milk readily and without strain to the mother. For this reason the low foot-stool upon which the foot of the same side that the baby is nursing may rest is the easiest, correct position. The period of nursing should not be dragged out indefinitely. Keep the baby awake while the meal is in progress and then let him rest. Twenty minutes, ten for each breast, is desirable with a three-hourly feeding. Most babies will thrive better if after the first three months they are put on four-hourly feedings. Many doctors begin earlier than this. Remember always to wake the baby when feeding time comes, between the hours of 6 in the morning and 10 at night.

center for battenberg patterns, and this illustrated may be enlarged to cover your tea table or your colonial bed. Rings, braid and ingenuity are all that's needed.

Potato Chop.

Chop fine the whites of four hard boiled eggs and add to two coffee cupfuls of cold boiled potatoes chopped rather fine. When well tossed together add a cupful of broken English walnuts or hickory nuts and the smallest sized bottle of stuffed olives cut in bits. Season all to taste with onion juice (obtained by rubbing the onion over a grater), salt and pepper. Melt half a coffee cupful of butter, add to it the juice of half a lemon and mix thoroughly with the potato mixture. Arrange on a platter and grate over the top the four egg yolks, arranging as a narrow green border around the edge about three table-spoonfuls of chopped parsley.
