It is true, however, that some of the drafted men are college graduates.

BIG SPIDER FOUND.

James Tennant has handled bananas off and on for over a quarter of a century but not until Tuesday did he discover a banana spider on J. A. Cole Buys Hoffman's Garage; any of the fruit he had placed on sale. The spider was of good size, had a sufficient number of legs to travel any direction, eyes placed so he could see to kick backwards and ears and nose so arranged that he could readily detect an attack from the front. Despite these advantages, Mr. Tennant soon had his majesty placed where he could be inspected with ease and without danger.

Both local garage businesses have hanged ownership recently.

Glen Hoffman has sold his garage building and its repair shop equipment to J. A. Cole, agent for the Dodge car, who will use the building as a Dodge salesroom and service station. Mr. Cole takes possession April 1, and by the terms of the agreement, Mr. Hoffman will remain with Mr. Cole until Dec. 1 as superintendent of the repair department. Mr. Hoffman intends moving to California before another winter season as he is troubled with asthma and previous residence in the west has demonstrated to him that the western climate has freed him from the sufferings of this disease.

Earl J. McKim, who made a trip to New Mexico a few months ago, has decided to remain there, and his father, E. McKim, has effected the sale & Son to Auten & Tindale, local Ford month's receipts, but helped to reduce agents. RETURNED TO GELL

Thumb Horse Thief Back in Prison at Jackson.

Edward Putman, sentenced to prisfive years for stealing a horse and buggy, and who escaped from a prison farm at Jackson in 1915, has been returned to complete his unexpired sentence. During his absence he served two years in the Canadian army, 18 months of which were passed in the trenches of France as a member of the 111th Canadian infantry. He enlisted at Preston, Ont., immediately following his escape.

Putman, who was gassed twice and wounded twice, was invalided home suffering from shell shock. While visiting relatives in the vicinity of Bad Axe he frequently gave addresses for the Red Cross, making no effort to conceal his identity. Following a Red Cross address at Bad Axe he was recently arrested as a fugitive and returned to prison. Putman, who is 36 years old, is a nervous wreck, and in view of his condition and his army service, prison officials express the hope that his friends may obtain his parole or pardon.

As for peace with Great Russia, Dr. Von Kuehlmann said he was awaiting signed confirmation from Trotzky that the German terms were accepted. These terms, not wholly made pub-Ne, of course "correspond with Cermany's interests."

> The written confirmation of Russia's acceptance of the peace terms, it was reported, passed the German lines on Thursday.

---- Passa

The socialist members of the Austrian reichsrath called on the government to adopt the principles set forth by President Wilson as a basis for general peace and asked that negotiations be begun quickly. They and all the Czechs and Slavs protested violently against the resumption of the war against Russia. Further trouble for Austria was reported by deserters who said the men of the fleet at Cattaro had mutinied, and there was growing disaffection at Pola, Flume and other Austrian ports.

The United States and the entente allies have declared they will recognize no peace in the East made under compulsion and by a mere faction of the Russian people, nor one involving Poland without a previous consultation with Poland.

Sweden finally made up its mind that it couldn't intervene to stop the horrible civil conflict in Finland, but it was expected that Gegmany would take a hand in the mess there.

While President Wilson and his administration show no intention of discontinuing the campaign to bring about peace by argument, they do show an increasing realization of the improbability of peace within a short time. Possibly they are ready to admit that men and guns will do the most to end the war. At any rate, our preparations are being speeded up unner that is gratifying. Plat the training camps the second increment of 500,000 men, beginning about May 1, and continuing at the rate of 10,000 men a weeks. These, it is believed, will all be taken from class one, which numbers approximately 1,500,-000, and from the million men who will become twenty-one years of age during the year ending June 5 next. With increasing rapidity the men of the first draft are being sent across to France, in response to the call of the allies, and to provide more transports for them and their supplies a great number of vessels have been withdrawn from trade outside the war zones, these being replaced by vessels of neutral nations, according to a recent agreement. Further relief in the matter of transportation was provided by the economic agreement with Spain, signed Thursday, which permits General Pershing to purchase in Spain mules, army blankets and other supplies for his troops. A month age Spain refused to let Pershing have these materials, but sufficient argument and pressure were brought to bear to induce a change of mind.

and are able to take observations and make photographs almost without opposition. As a result, the villages oc cupied by the Americans back of the lines have been bombed repeatedly. - 122 -

In other respects Pershing's men are holding their own finely, both the infantry and the artillery demonstrating their entire readiness to meet the drive of the enemy if it should be directed against their sector. This, however, is not considered like ly, as the Germans, if they gained any ground there, would place themselves in a wedge where they could be attacked on both sides by the allies. Some authorities have expressed the belief that Hindenburg will attack not only on the west front, but in Italy and the Balkans as well at the same time, making his strongest efforts on the latter fronts. Others, and these are supported by the statements of prisoners, are sure the Hun will make his supreme effort at two points on the west front. General Maurice, British director of military operations, said on Wednesday there had been no developments during the last two weeks to indicate that the German offensive was near. This is not in accord with the information that has been coming to America, but if anyone knows conditions and what they indicate, it should be General Maurice. - 闘 ---

Switzerland has become much exercised over the massing of Teutonic troops near her frontier, and fears that her neutrality will be violated as ruthlessly as was that of Belgium. This might happen if Hindenburg decided to attempt to turn the right flank of the French army, and the results might be serious, for the French-Swiss frontier is not strongly protected.

- 23 In Palestine the British are steadily forging forward. To the east and northeast of Jerusalem several advances were made during the week, despite resistance by the Turks, and at last advices the British were within four miles of Jericho. - 🖾 --

More Building Now Per Dollar I WHY WAIT?

HE average rise in prices of building materials has amounted to less than 30 per cent-all told. The rise in prices of farm and many manufactured products has amounted to from 100 per cent to 300 per cent. Therefore, your products with which you do your trading will buy more than twice as much building now as at any other time. Think of it! With the same quantity wheat, corn, oats, etc., as before the war, one can build two houses, two barns, two cribs-two anything! Building never was, nor will be cheaper!

Prices will not drop for years. Certainly not during the war. And they have remained up after every war in modern history. You would be the last to want them to drop! But the chances are building materials will rise. Reconstruction work, resuming industries forced out by war and big building demand will do it. Don't get caught!

These are prosperous times-billions being spent-with greater times coming. Buildings needed now will produce a rental proportionate to their cost. Rest assured of this!

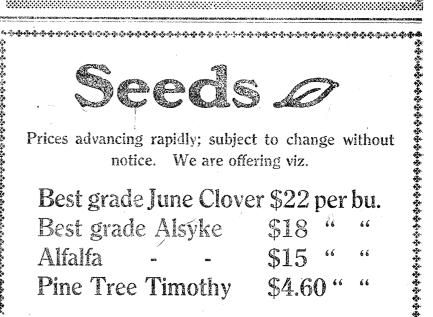

Is it not logical then, for you to BUILD NOW-when you have the money-when your products can buy more building than ever before-when your prosperity and your country's depend on your keeping money in circulaton, business going?

We are confident you will answer YES!, place your order and Build NOW!

"MORE BUILDING NOW PER DOLLAR-WHY WAIT?" YOU LIVE BUT ONCE-time is fleeting! There is nothing which makes more for self-respect, honest pride and all-round contentment than a modern, comfortable home! Be happy! NOW! It is your right! You can AFFORD IT! Don't wait until it is TOO late! You should Build NOW!

Trotzky, finding his hope that Teutonic workers and peasants would have been completed for sending to refuse to fight against those of Russia, emitted a loud wail, offering to sign the peace treaty Germany had demanded, but seemingly Dr. Von Kuehlmann deemed it too late. Furthermore, there were strong indications that the long-expected split in the ranks of the bolsheviki leaders had come, for Lenine countermanded Trotzky's orders for immediate demobilization, stating that they were unable yet to announce the terms of peace as peace had not yet heen signed.

The Red guard is necessarily scat-tered, because civil war is raging in many parts of Russia. The bolsheviki claimed to have established their authority in that part of East Siberia known as Trans-Baikalia, to have captured Botalsk and advanced far beyond Rostov-on-the-Don, and to have routed the Cossacks in Astrakhan. In Finland, too, they claimed decided victories over the White guard of the government. Official dispatches from Petrograd said the Ukrainians had made an alliance with the Roumanians and that a joint army had occupied Kishinev, but that the bolsheviki forces had driven them from Tiraspol on the Dniester. The Ukrainians, on the other hand, appealed to Germany for help against the bolsheviki, who, they asserted, had invaded their territory and were burning and looting their towns.

In the Don Cossack region the government fostered by General Kalendines was ousted and a new republic organized at Tcherkask by the workmen and soldiers. Kalendines committed suicide, and his successor as hetman, General Nazaroff, ordered all Cossacks to mobilize at once and fight the advancing bolsheviki forces. Altogether it is a pretty mess, and no one will envy the Germans the task they have assumed of restoring order.

The German and Austrian ministers, addressing the reichraths, expressed the strong conviction that the peace with Ukraine was the beginning of peace with all Russia, but warned the people they might be disappointed. They explained that, in order not to disrupt this peace and lose the chance of getting wheat from Ukraine, they

---- 🛤 ----In the matter of American shipbuilding, the prospect is fairly rosy again. The president, by quick and decisive action, put an end to the strike of shipyard carpenters, and on Thursday the pleasing announcement was made that the drive for the enrollment of 250,000 shipyard workers would bring more than the number sought. thousands of union men joining without restrictions as to working with unorganized workers.

Equally cheering was the statement by Secretary Baker that the first American battleplanes for Pershing's forces already had been shipped, several months earlier than had originally been intended. These machines are equipped with the Liberty motor, and from now on there will be a steady stream of them going over, together with the aviators and mechanics necessary to operate them. From the dispatches of correspondents in France these planes are sorely needed, for it is stated as an admitted fact that the Germans have the complete mastery of the air above the American sector, combined and offering to resign if parliament felt like refusing him a vote of confidence. It all came about through his adherence to the program adopted by the Versailles council for a more unified control of war operations by all the allies. Gen. Sir William Robertson, chief of staff, would not hold his position in these circumstances, and it was given to Gen. Sir Henry Wilson. Something of a storm resulted, but the premier did not vield. He said the extension of powers of the supreme council was in accordance with the proposal of the United States, which was almost identical with those of the other governments, and that the policy of Great Britain in this matter was the policy of France, Italy and America. This satisfied most of the premier's critics, though what the program of the council is has not been told to the people. In Washington military circles there is a belief that the council decided to strike the enemy without waiting for him to make his spring drive. -----

Two more air raids on London occurred during the week. Together they resulted in the death of 27 persons. Over on the continent the allied aviators made repeated raids on Treves, Thionville and other towns, as well as on Zeebrugge. Many tons of explosives were dropped on barracks. railways, airdromes and other targets, with excellent results. In the numerous air fights the British and French flyers easily maintained their superiority.

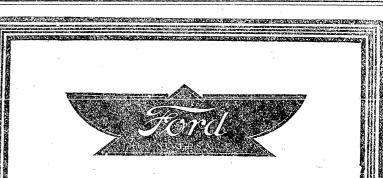

The list of British vessels sunk by submarines again decreased in numbers, but the week's reports included the torpedoing of the French steamer La Dives in the Mediterranean on February 1, with the loss of 110 men.

Following a conference of envoys of the allies with Director General Me-Adoo on ways and means to move foodstuffs from the middle West to the seaboard, so they can be shipped to Europe, Mr. Hoover issued an urgent appeal to the American people to do better than they have been doing in the matter of food conservation, warning them that they must be prepared to endure a domestic food shortage with in 60 davs.

The man remembered that he had left the office hurriedly and had not taken his gloves, and that during the drive his eyes had watered and he had rubbed them with his bare hands. Thinking possibly that the tester who drove the car might be afflicted with sonorrhea an effort was made to find him, but his identity could not be established and it was decided to examine some fifty odd testers. Out The meeting of the Leek Young of the 50 men 35 were found to have either syphilis or gonorrhea, and the doctor came to the conclusion that the steering wheel was the carrier of the disease germs.

Infected toilet seats have been the medium through which children, particularly little girls, have developed gonorrhea.

As Dr. Richard M. Olin, secretary of the state board of health, points out, the discovery of a venereal disease in either a husband or wife, should not constitute immediate grounds for charges of infidelity.

Investigate Before Judging. "People should not rush immediately to the divorce courts upon learning that one or the other is afflicted with a venereal disease," said Dr. Olin. "Owing to the wide spread nature of the disease and the great possibility that it may be contracted in a perfectly innocent manner, married people should not jump at conclusions, as it has been proven on several occasions that innocent persons have been publicly humiliated in the divorce courts through no fault of their own.

"The best way to avoid these diseases is to lead a clean life. Keep away from prostitutes, ninety-five per cent of these women are diseased, and remember that the same agencies like the public drinking cup and public towel that spread the germs of smallpox, diphtheria and tuberculosis, also carry infection that is more dangerous and more deadly in its effect than any of the other above mentioned diseases."

The rose slug in the fly state is shiny black, about a fifth of an inch in length, usually found on the under side of the leaves or flying from bush to bush. About the 1st of June the first young slugs hatch and increase during the month. They are pale green, almost transparent and feed on the leaves, which look as if they had been burned. Dry slaked lime scattered over the leaves while they are wet with dew is said to be effective. Syringing the plants daily for eight days with fish oil soap (one pound dissolved in eight gallons of water) when the flies first appear will keep most of them away.

The rose chafer or rose bug is a small beetle with a slender body tapering at both ends, about three-eighths of an inch in length, covered with a yellow ashen down. They usually appear the middle of June and are troublesome from four to six weeks. They should be destroyed by shaking them off into a pan of kerosene oil.

CHAPTER XVI.

"Hm-mm!"

LOYD CARSON was a phlegmatic young man, but he swore an astonished oath when he saw Billy Louise galloping along the lane that led nowhere except to the womanless abode of Samuel Seabeck. He walked very fast to the stable, which was the first logical stopping place, and so he met Billy Louise before she had time to dismount, even supposing she intend to do so.

"Hello, Floyd! Is Mr. Seabeck at home?"

"Sure. Get off, and I'll put up your horse. We're just through eatin', but our grub carpenter will rustle some thing for yuh, all right.'

"No, I can't stop this time. I'm not hungry, anyway. Just give a yell for Mr. Seabeck, will you? I want to see him a minute.'

Floyd eyed her uncertainly, decided that Billy Louise was not in the mood to yield to persuasion, and tactfully hurried off to find Seabeck without shouting for him-lest he bring others also, who were evidently not wanted at all. He took it that Billy Louise felt some diffidence about visiting a strictly bachelor outfit, and he set himself to relieve her of any embarrassment. Presently Seabeck himself came from the dirt-roofed, rambling cabin which was his home and strode down the path, buttoning his coat as he came. Floyd's face showed for a minute in the doorway before he effaced himself completely, and not another man was in sight anywhere. Billy Louise was grateful to circumstance; she had dreaded this visit, though not for the reason Floyd-Carson believed. -

"How de do, Miss MacDonald? Pretty nice day, but I'm afraid it's a weather breeder. The wind's trying to change, I notice."

"Yes, and so I mustn't stop. Could you ride part way home with me, Mr. Seabeck? I-want to talk with you about something. And I can't stop a minute. I must get home.'

"Why, certainly, I'll go. If you'll wait just a minute while I saddle upor if you'd rather ride on, I'll overtake you.'

"I'll ride on, I think. Blue hates standing around, and he's a little warm, too. You're awfully good, Mr. Seabeck

"Oh, not at all !" Seabeck stubbed his toe on the stable doorsill in his confusion at the praise. "I'll be right along, soon as I can slip a saddie on.' He disappeared, and Billy Louise turned and loped slowly down the lane.

"You must have some light fine

Since the United States government, through Surgeon Bay City Tuesday on business. General Gorgas of the U.S. army, has taken up the fight against venereal diseases for the purpose of increasing and maintaining the efficiency of the nation's fighting forces, the manufacturers and other employers of labor have recognized this problem as an economic proposition, realizing that employees free from any venereal taint are more proficient and industvious than those suffering from disease.

and rifle fire, might well be the countryside in any nation, with cyclists, a little hurried of motion possibly, going in every direction. In fact, one might well imagine himself in a rural community 25 years ago, when everyone sessed of a wheel, trundled madly about the country every hour to be snatched from his work.

The "bike" had a distinct part in the advance of troops, and this was particularly so during the early days of the war, when the fighting was carwere alternately advancing and retreating, too busy with the objectives in hand to stop and "dig in."

The English troops, in particular,

With the British, cyclists technically are regarded as army troops, but used as specialist corps, like the Royal Engineers and other army troops establishments, but signs are not wanting that, with their great increase in numbers and with the new conditions of modern warfare, the cyclists will in future take their place as a definite arm rather than as specialists.

The military cyclists played a great part in the early days of this struggle. In their advance through France and Belgium the German armies depended largely upon their advance guards of cyclist companies of Jaegers, supported by mobile mechanical transport colimns, armored machine-gun cars, and re-enforced when necessary by swift concentrations of infantry in motor omnibuses.

The old tradition of the cavalry screen and the patrols of mounted lancers were swept aside by the more progressive "mechanical cavalry," as the cyclists have been called. All roads and villages were reconnoitered and seized by cyclist units, only the inclosed country in between the road parallels being covered by the slower cavalry.

The houses of rich people in ancient Rome, in the days of the Caesars, had vindow panes of glass set in frames of bronze. They were uneven and full of defects, so that the view of things outside, from inside, must have been cather unsatisfactory. But at that time they were doubtless regarded as he height of luxury. Such panes were not blown, but cast on stone. When used for public buildings they were set n pierced slabs of marble.

Our Appointed Practice.

Do not quarrel with your lot in life. Do not complain of its never-ceasing cares, its petty environment, the vexations you have to stand, the small and sordid souls you have to live and work with. Above all, do not resent temptation. That is the practice which God appoints you; and it is having its work in making you patient and humble and generous and unselfish and kind and courteous.-Henry Drum- Cartoons Magazine.

I will say this respecting the horse -and I have had much to do with every variety and kind-that for docility, for faithfulness and for cheapness of maintenance give me the horse who never sheds his coat or is bothered with ingrowing toe nails, who remains wherever you place him and is ever on the job when he's wanted. Old Custom Needs Correction.

"It has been the general custom to make the greatest basic to placard a house in which a case of scarlet fever has developed. In the next house might be a case of syphilis in the most aggravated, virulent form and not the slightest effort would be made to prevent its spread.

"We screamed ourselves hoarse if a chimney happened to be afire, with practically no danger, and stood complacently by and watched a fine home burn without the slightest effort to subdue the flames.

"But we may be thankful that we have at last awakened to the need for action. We probably cannot fairly at. tach blame to the state authorities for their long delay. The public had to be educated by degrees to the mistaken character of the false attitude toward venereal disease. It has been regarded in the past as a private mat ter and the spread of syphilis has so astounded members of the medical fraternity that they have been inspired to take more rigid action.

Most Deadly of All Diseases.

"Dr. Olin is authority for the statement that at present venereal diseases are causing more suffering and death than tuberculosis, small pox, diphtheria and infantile paralysis.

"In the face of such a sobering statement, does any man in his right senses wish to continue a pussr-footing policy in regard to this pathologi cal course?

The Pontiac editor takes the same common sense view of the situation as others who have given it careful study.

Must Give Public Protection.

While the editors of Michigan have patriotically announced their inten. tion of cooperating with the state board of health a great deal may be said among these lines in public mestings. The United States department of public health is furnishing some speakers and a number of Michigan physicians have volunteered their services. Any organization desiring to obtain a competent speaker on this subject should communicate with the secretary of the state board of health at Lansing.

It is to have Blouses of white georgette, with cola place of honor even if it cannot hope for as great popularity as blouses with open throats or round necks. Sy WILLIAM A. RADFORD.

During the past ten years and at the present time there is a tendency among home builders to select a type of architecture which descends directly from the early houses of this country. The colonial architecture, in all of its phases, has been carefully studied by architects specializing in residence design and beautiful dwellings may be found everywhere which possess the characteristics of this style. All of the modern building materials have been used successfully in the adaptation of the early style to present needs and desires.

Among others there is the type shown in the accompanying photo-graphic perspective view. This house with its gambrel roof and central entrance, divided sash windows and shutters is typically Dutch calonial. The walls of the first floor and dormers are finished with stucco and the remaining exterior surface is covered with shingles. The outside-built chimney is laid of brick. The design is simple, which is really a characteristic of the style rather than of this particular house. The dominating features of the house, as far as appearance is concerned, are the roof and the windows. The roof surface is large in the Dutch colonial style and a considerable portion of it has such
