It looks as though Sebewaung will have another bank. Sufficient stock to float the proposed institution has been subscribed by local business men and farmers during the past week and application for a charter to do business is being made. The bank will be capitalized at $20,000. The new company is negotiating for the purchase of the Pengra building now occupied by E. D. Finkbeiner.—Blade.

While working alone in the gravel pit John Kennedy, Jr., of Brown City, 15 years old, was caught in a cave-in and is now in a serious condition. The young lad lay pinned under a heavy mass of frozen gravel until discovered by Philip Cotter, who released him. One leg was broken in two places, his shoulder crushed and his jaw broken in two places, besides he suffered other bruises. He was removed to his home where his condition is critical.

The total number of county weeklies and dailies which have gone out of business in this country since we got into the war is 2,133 and they are failing by the wayside everywhere, and no doubt some of the Owendale Herald's creditors are sleepless because our toenails appear to be slipping. Perhaps they are, but then again perhaps we are letting up a little to "spit on our hands." The next six months will tell the story.—Owendale Herald.

Huron Lodge, F. & A. M., at Harbor Beach is to have a Masonic temple. The old J. Jenks & Co. store building is to be the nucleus for the new temple. This is the oldest building of importance in that city and it was suggested to officers of the lodge who were looking for a new home that it would be very fitting to secure this building and remodel it into a Masonic temple and thus preserve the building which has been an important factor in the history of the city. The plans picture a colonial building. The lower floor has an auditorium, stage, dining room and lobby; the upper floor is given over to the lodge room proper and its necessary antechambers.

According to all indications the management of the D. U. R. are getting ready to extend their road north from Imlay City. We have it from a prominent business man of that town that the officials of the road have been up to the end of the line on several occasions the past month or six weeks. It is the general opinion among the residents at Imlay City that the road is to be extended at once, and that the visit of the officials was for the purpose of laying out the route. No later than Friday of last week a former Brown City resident was in our office and in the course of the conversation told us that as a motorman on the D. U. R. he had been informed that they would be driving cars through to Marlette or Brown City before this fall.—Brown City Banner

The final report of the Seventh District Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, giving summary and analysis of results of the Fourth Liberty Loan in Tuscola county is received. The total amount subscribed is $1,052,350, distributed among 7,518 subscribers. Tuscola quota of the six billions to be sold in the United States was $931,900, equivalent to a per capita (on basis of the 1910 census) of $26.69. The amount actually subscribed is equivalent to a per capita of $30.14, or an average of that amount of patriotic sacrifice and investment for every man, woman and child of the 34,913 people of Tuscola county. Allowing four or five persons to the family, the total of 7,518 purchasers in the county indicates an average which puts a Fourth Liberty Loan bond in every home.—Advertiser.

U. S. LED MOVE FOR TEMPERANCE

Many Societies to Fight Alcohol Organized Early in Nation's History.

WOMEN ACTIVE AS LEADERS

John B. Gough, Reformed Drunkard, First Crusader to Win Fame by Success at Home and Abroad.

When the movement which has now brought about prohibition began in the United States it was called the "temperance movement" and the phrase "temperance question" embraced all the problems in connection with the use and abuse of alcoholic drink. Temperance, of course, primarily means moderation, while prohibition, as used in this connection, means a form of sumptuary legislation abolishing the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors. In the early days "temperance" was loosely used; sometimes it meant moderation and sometimes total abstinence. Many of the first crusades were against "spirits"—distilled liquors as distinguished from wines and beer. Early temperance pledges were often framed to draw this distinction. However, the word temperance as used in the titles and constitutions of reform organizations soon came to mean total abstinence.

This temperance movement, which shows signs of bringing about prohibition in many parts of the world, began in the United States. The temperance pledge was in existence before 1800. Possibly the first temperance society was organized by the farmers of Litchfield county, Connecticut, in 1779. In 1808 a society was formed in Saratoga county, New York; the 43 members were pledged not to drink rum, gin, whisky, wine or distilled Prohibition — or temperance — has made many men and women famous; probably some of these foes of liquor and the saloon will be remembered for all time. Among the names familiar to most Americans in this connection are those of John B. Gough, Neal Dow, Frances E. Willard and Carrie Nation. All four made their mark in widely differing ways and the personality of each is interesting.

John B. Gough attracted public attention first. He achieved world-wide fame and furnishes a remarkable example of what in these days is called a "come-back." He was born in Sandgate, England, in 1817, and died in Frankford, Pa., in 1886.

A Quaker in Worcester, Mass., induced him to sign a total abstinence pledge. This was the turning point in his career. He set out to tramp New England, lecturing on temperance at 75 cents a lecture. He delivered 386 lectures the first year—and found himself locally famous. He mingled the pathetic and humorous so successfully and made his lectures so entertaining that thousands who had no interest in temperance went to hear him. For the next 17 years he spoke only on temperance and addressed more than 5,000 audiences, making two long temperance campaigns in England. He had the power over an audience that comes from experience, purpose and natural eloquence. Robert J. Ingersoll at his best could sway an audience no more completely than this reformed bookbinder. Next Gough turned his attention to general lecturing and made a fortune. His books have been translated into many languages.

spirits except by a physician's advice, in illness or at public dinners, under penalty of 25 cents.

The Massachusetts Society for the Suppression of Intemperance was organized in 1813. The American Temperance society was founded in 1829. Thereafter organizations of various kinds came thick and fast, many of them securing large memberships. Among them were the Sons of Temperance of New York (1842), Order of Rechabites (1835), Society of the Washingtonians (1840) and Good Templars (1851).

In 1873 began the Woman's Temperance crusade in Ohio. Women held prayer meetings in saloons in this campaign against alcohol. This movement grew so strong that in 1874 in Cleveland the National Woman's Christian Temperance union was formed. The same year Francis Murphy's Blue Ribbon Temperance mission attracted public attention.

MRS. ARTHUR MURPHY.

A cloud of sadness settled over friends and relatives of Mrs. Arthur Murphy on Friday, Jan. 17, as she departed this life at 3:30 o'clock, a victim of influenza-pneumonia.

Elizabeth Dobson was born and reared in Grant township, Huron county. She was of a quiet, loving disposition and was loved by all who knew her.

In memoriam of my dear friend, Elizabeth Dobson-Murphy, who died at Cass City January 17, 1919.

She has gone back home, her soul has found the land of its new birth. The loving one who cheered your daily life, by her kind and loving care.

years in Ontario, Canada, from there moving to the township of Evergreen, Sanilac county, Michigan, where he pursued farming the remainder of his life, until 1905 when he moved to Orion, Mich., where he resided until three years ago.

He was a patient sufferer during his illness. In life he had the respect and honor of his neighbors, friends and fellow citizens.

The funeral services were held at his late home on Friday, Jan. 17, at two o'clock, the Rev. Thompson officiating, and interment was made in the Shabbona cemetery.

The relatives coming from a distance to attend the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. George Engel of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Love of Roscommon, Mich., Mrs. Robert Stephenson of Chicago and Rhea Pike of Detroit, who for many years made his home with Mr. Auslander.

It was very much regretted that a daughter, Mrs. Chas. Wilcox, of Muskegon, Michigan, was not able to attend the funeral because of an attack of the influenza under which she was suffering.

COW TESTING ASSOCIATIONS ARE BRINGING RETURNS

The following story from "The Weekly News Letter" is fairly typical of conditions on many of the farms in this part of Michigan.

Two years ago Hulda was just an ordinary grade cow, getting on in years, and with no future, unless the prospect of winding up as a canner might be called a future.

Last year Hulda's owner, a farmer of Ottertail Co., Minn., joined a cow testing association and began to take a new interest in the care and feeding of his cows.

This year, as a 14-year-old, Hulda has demonstrated what some old cows can do if they are given half a chance.

Hulda stands as a striking example of the practical results that farmers are getting through business organizations of their own.

WOULD BAR VOTER WHO CAN'T WRITE

Detroit Representative Asks Americanization Qualification.

Radical changes in the voting qualifications of electors in Michigan were proposed today by representative Andrew Toepel, of Detroit, who offered a resolution to the legislature for a constitutional amendment providing that every voter must be able to read and write a section of the Michigan state constitution.

According to its author, the proposition is merely another link in the chain to Americanize America. As an adjunct to the generally accepted legislative scheme to compel the teaching of nothing but English in the schools up to the eighth grade.

"While I realize that the amendment I propose would disfranchise many thousands of voters in Michigan right now," said Mr. Toepel, "I also realize that if this war taught us that Americanization of ourselves was a necessity the sooner we get at it the better for all concerned."

Pliny Marsh, of the Citizens league of Detroit, who was in Lansing, quickly endorsed the idea.
