"The Man Without a Country" tells the | story of John Alton, a worldy young American residing in New York just prior to America's entrance into the World's War. Alton, who is a pacifist, is engaged to Barbara Blair, whose father, Phineas Blair, is head of the pacifist society. Barbara is in-tensely patriotic, and when she sees that Al-ton will not change his views after her brother, Tom, has enlisted, Barbara breaks her engagement and sails for France as a Red Cross nurse.

Dr. Milton, a friend of Alton's father, is spurned by the young man when he tries to arouse in him patriotic feeling. "D_____n the United States," says Alton. Milton leaves after giving Alton a copy of "The Man Without a Country," which he has brought with him—Edward Everett Hale's story of unfortunate Philip Nolan, a lieutenant in the United States Army, who was on trial for treason in 1807.

"D-n the United States; I wish I may never hear of the United States again." When Alton reads these lines he looks at the book in wonderment, saying: "Why, these are the very words I recently used at the club." As he speaks his sweetheart, in the guise of Columbia, the Goddess of Lib-in which that unhappy officer figured. Aroused from his vision, following No-lan's trial, Alton learns that the ship on which Barbara went abroad has been sunk by the enemy. Renouncing the "Peace at Any Price" attitude which he has so far as-sumed, Alton, patriot, hurries to the nearest recruiting station and enlists for the defence of his acoutry. Every new voter should be interest ed in HOW to vote and pay absolutely no attention to the exceptions or how a ballot may be thrown out.

On April 7 there will be three eparate sheets or tickets. One conparty nominations for state and counheld at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. of their many friends go with them names of the township candidates. One containing the amendments to the state constitution. (These are three in number on one sheet).

> Desiring to vote you present yourself at the voting place and give your name as you registered to the election inspector having charge of the ballots. You are then shown to a booth where you proceed to mark your ballot. Right here is where many seem to be confused. The state, county and township tickets are printed with name of Chas. LETTERS FROM OVERSEAS

Earl Connell to His Aunt, Mrs. J. E. Crawford.

February 23, 1919. Dear Estella: I'm sorry that I did ot answer your letter before, but I was so busy I could not get time. I have been driving night and day for the last week, so you see I didn't get much time for anything.

I received the papers today and found a lot of news in them. There isn't much news over here and not much chance of getting home I guess. It wouldn't surprise me much if I did not get home before this time next year for the U.S. navy is taking over Germany's ships now. However, I have a good place and cannot kick. I recovered from the "flu" alright and feel fine now. I hope you folks do not get it. If you should you want to go to bed and stay there until you're all over it.

Do you know where Eldie is now? I would like to write to him. I wrote to Roy McIntosh-don't know whether he will ever answer or not.

Well, Etella, it is about 7:00 o'clock now and I have to go to the city at 7:15 so will mail this and it will go out at 8:00 in the morning. You want to write as often as you can and I will do the same. With love to all, EARL.

CONTEST ON APRIL 7

7, the real battle at the polls on Monday, according to lieutenants who have been directing the pre-election campaigns, will revolve about the con. test in progress between the wets and drys over the wine and beer amendment proposed by the liquor interests. if adopted by the electors of Michigan, the amendment will again make lawful the sale of wines, beers, ales and porters within the state.

Representatives from both the 14 stitches left on the needle. liquor and the prohibition camps have had their coats off and their sleeves needle 8, knit on 2nd needle 22 rolled up for several weeks-the wets stitches. On first needle (A) knit to platforms in every section of the anti- within 3 stitches of end, knit 2 togeththe present dry laws will be maintained, and the wine and beer amendment defeated.

The present struggle between the saloon interests and the drys. it is being pointed out, is the reverse of that it was in 1916, when the drys were on the offensive. On Monday the drys will be on the defensive to hold what they have. In 1916 their motto was "Vote Yes." Their slogan in the present campaign is "Vote 'no', on the wine and beer amendment."

Confidence in the dry camp is attributed in the main to the expectation that a big majority of Michigan's 500,-000 feminine voters will line up to prevent the return of the saloon.

FIND FORTY JOKERS IN WINE-BEER BILL

Wet Amendment to Be Voted On Monday is Masterpiece of Camouflage, Drys Declare.

Lansing, Mich .- A wag among the many who are holding down seats in this season's state legislature, has pinned a name upon the proposed wine and beer amendment of the wets which promises to stick with it until after the election of April 7. Some time ago the Dryspissued a pamphlet enumerating 40 flaws in the measure, and taking his cue from this, the capitol wit christened the amendment "The Forty Jokers." It is upon the presence of these "Jokers" in the amendment, which make it something inches. other than what it purports to be, that the Drys are basing their hopes for the defeat of the measure by Michigan voters on election day.

Among the jokers enumerated is one, it is said, that would make it legal, if the amendment was adopted, to give wine, beer, ale or porter to boys and girls; another would restrict the legislature from making any laws ;hat would limit the amount of alcohol these beverages could contain and a and naturally has had many experithird feature of the amendment would

NO DEBATE ON WINE AND SEER AMENDMENT

Wets Decline Invitation of Drys to Thrash Issue Out on Platform.

Lansing, Mich .-- Michigan will hear no debates this spring upon the relstive merits and demerits of the proposed wine and beer amendment to the constitution, which will be voted upon April 7. Some weeks ago a challenge was issued from the headquarters of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League here inviting representatives of the liquor interests to talk the question over in public, but the invitation has thus far brought no respone; from the champions of the wine and beer measure.

"Our only inference," remarked Grant M. Hudson, superintendent of the Michigan Anti-Saloon League, "is that the wets realize their measure is so lacking in merit that no defense tor it is possible."

Another invitation addressed by the Drys directly to State Senator Arthur E. Wood of Detroit a few days ago. has likewise remained unanswered.

The slogan has come from here a by the governor in the course of an | a fair way to recovery. He received New York, where it was first enunciatnterview granted to the New York fournal.

The governor was asked whether the 'No beer, no work" movement would effect Michigan.

"Not at all," he answered. "Our experience is 'no beer, more work.' " The governor's declaration is expected by the Drys to much help the Dry cause when the proposed wine ind beer amendment is voted on VPCU 7.

Another accident took place at the plant of the Michigan Sugar Co. at Croswell Wednesday afternoon whereby Albert Campbell lost his life and Frank Tucker received a terrible bruising. The two men were engaged in dismantling a lime mill that was to be moved to a different part of the factory and were lifting a heavy casting from the abutments that held the mill. The casting was a large, heavy plate about six feet square and had been lifted up with chain falls. When partly clear from the foundation a crowbar was used to push it off the abutments and when it slipped off the great weight broke the chain and the casting dropped and tipped over, pinning the two men against the wall. The casting weighs in the neighborhood of two tons and it fell over so quickly that they could not get out of Bovernor Albert E. Sleeper So Tells, the way.
