PAID TRIBUTE TO NATION'S HEROES

REV. AMES MAYWOOD OF DE-TROIT GAVE INSPIRING
ADDRESS FRIDAY.

One of the Largest Decoration Day
Crowds in Local History
Here Friday.

The people of Cass City and the surrounding community turned out en masse Friday to pay tribute to the heroes whose deeds are written in glowing words on the pages of American history.

The Memorial exercises commenced at 1:30 p. m. at the opera house. Rev. Ames Maywood was the speaker of the day and gave an inspiring patriotic address. He said in part:

"Stand back from the canvas! When we stand too close the work of the greatest artist loses its delicate blending of colors and its relative proportions. Stand back then and allow the light of the ages to pour in upon this realization of the artist's dream, and as you look and comprehend some of the rapture which was his shall be yours. We stand too close to a portion of the canvas to fully appreciate what has been painted thereon. The brush is still occupied, the colors are still fresh, the artist is still at work. Lines must be modified, colors must be blended, and time and experience must be added to us before we shall be fit to judge. The picture before us is our own nation's history.

"In view of these facts, what to say of all that might be said, what to say of all that which in consideration of its importance ought to be said, this is the task. Before a task of such possibilities and obligations I frankly confess my poverty of knowledge and my utterly inadequate powers of expression. To tell the emotions, to adequately describe what we have seen and what we feel would at once place us beside the most gifted thinkers and teachers of men. There are epochs of national life which fill us with such profound emotions that had we the gift of tongues to give them utterance we might take our places beside the sweetest and most inspiring singers of time. Everyone has at times longings and thoughts, which, if expressed in canvas, would make him kin to Angelo and Raphael; if set to music, would make him brother to Beethoven and Mozart; if uttered in philosophical prose would make him a Socrates or a Plato; if spoken in sympathetic language, would make him another Shakespeare or Browning, or Burke, or Beecher. As I contemplate the brief history of my country, the grand men and the soul stirring events which comprise that history, I am inspired by such an emotion and "I would that my tongue could utter The thoughts that arise in me." "In the time of this nation's greatest crisis, when the hour had struck, the people waited for the man of the hour to appear. Webster and Clay, those giant compromisers, were dead, and it is doubtful whether they could have availed in that hour anyway. Seward and Douglas and Sumner and Chase were disqualified for the highest position of responsibility. It was then that a grotesque figure of a man strode upon the stage. He would occupy the attention of an anxious people until the chief actor should arrive. He needed no one to caricature him; nature had done that for him. His six feet four inches of awkwardness was the jest of his enemies and the despair of his advisers. Who was this buffoon in the seat of the mighty when the nation was in the convulsive agony of its death hour? Why should he be permitted to spin yarns and change state papers drafted by the greatest statesmen of his day and inform people that he was the nation's Mr. President? The modern priesthood of the science of eugenics would never have given its consent to his being born,—his father a shiftless illiterate, the very incarnation of futility; his mother, noble of heart and mind, was almost never known to smile, so heavily did the sorrows of life compass her about. But God has a way of overturning the laws of eugenics in a most unexpected manner and of making a wastrel from a king's first born son, and a king from the loins of failure. God laughs our systems of scientific breeding to scorn. This does not mean that we are to neglect the safeguards of society. It does mean that we are to follow every lead of hope, every prospect of intelligence, for we cannot say when or where genius is next to burst through the social crust and assume the role of greatness in the drama of life.

"It is a fact of vast significance that the man nearest to the hearts of the American people is not a helmeted figure, suggestive of war, but a strange, lonely, tragic figure, a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief, the incarnation of peace and tenderness. It is the genius of America that a spark may be obscurely kindled and burn for a time as a lambent flame, then suddenly burst into a quenchless conflagration in the hearts of a hundred millions of people. Such a flickering flame would have no chance beneath the iron heel of a Prussian autocracy. It is only possible in the free atmosphere of a true democracy. This strange genius converted his very handicaps into his most valuable assets. His early poverty did not crush him, but only added incentive to his efforts. His loneliness, instead of making him morose, only made him meditative and resourceful. His lack of early educational opportunities did not leave him in ignorance, but gave to him an insatiable thirst for knowledge and appreciation of opportunities. His very form and fashion as a man made him depend not upon the exterior of his manhood but upon his innermost spirit and character. Still he might have been but a rough backwoodsman had it not been for the providential setting of the stage for his life. He came from the people. He came from the right section of the country. He came in the hour of the nation's supreme crisis. He came with a clear brain, unclouded by formulas, or sophistries, or religious cant. He possessed an intuitive vision of right and wrong, coupled with strong common sense of action. He was made of the most flexible yet the most tenacious stuff that God ever put into

STATE PREPARING AUTO LICENSES

NEW LAW WILL TAKE EFFECT
AUGUST 13, BLANKS READY
ABOUT JULY 11.

Every Applicant Will Be Required to Make Affidavit as to Exact Age.

Women electors were not required to tell the election inspectors their exact age when they registered for the spring election. They simply stated that they were "21 or over." Under a ruling by the attorney this was sufficient evidence that they had attained the voting age.

However, in making application for a license to drive an automobile, under the new state law requiring the registration of every motorist after August 13, general information regarding ages will not be accepted.

Every man and woman who applies for a license to drive a machine must state his or her exact age and the statement must be made under oath. On the application blank the motorist must also tell his height, color of eyes, color of hair, weight, and state whether he has ever been convicted of any violation of the state automobile law or a local driving ordinance. Application blanks will not be ready for distribution among police chiefs, sheriffs, county clerks and garages before June 15. Motorists are requested not to send applications to the state department at Lansing before they are approved by the sheriff or chief of police.

Mrs. Rocheleau was in the best of health until Friday morning. The body was brought to her home here Sunday morning and laid to rest in St. Agatha's cemetery Tuesday morning. The grief stricken husband and family have the sympathy of the entire community.

The reception given last Thursday evening in honor of the returned soldier boys by the ladies of the Red Cross was a grand success and much praise is due the various committees who had charge of the affair. Rev. P. J. Dwan acted as toastmaster in his usual able manner and enlivened the evening by his funny jokes. Each of the boys in turn ably responded to the toasts. After the program, dainty refreshments were served followed by a real social time.

A very pretty wedding took place Monday at 9:00 a. m. in St. Agatha's church when Florence Comment became the bride of Francis L. Lenhard. The bride was gowned in a beautiful blue suit and was attended by her sister, Agnes Parseil. The groom is one of our soldier boys who recently returned from overseas and was attended by his brother, Clem Lenhard. The wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. Fr. Patrick R. Dunigan, chaplain 126th Infantry and former mayor of Lapeer has been promoted to the rank of major and is now chaplain-in-chief of the entire army on the Rhine.

Because of his gallant record in the field which won him the D. S. C., and his success as an administrator Major Dunigan has been prominently mentioned for chaplain-bishop to succeed Monsignor Hayes appointed archbishop of New York.

The Salvation Army window trim at the Ford garage is receiving much favorable comment.

Mrs. J. E. Seed received a telegram Tuesday announcing the arrival of her brother, Ernest Schwaderer, from overseas service. He is now stationed in a camp in Virginia.

Cass City will contest with Caro for the county championship in base ball at the Tuscola Co. field meet at the county seat June 13. Caro has not met defeat in the series of games with high schools of the county. Cass City lost one game, played with Caro here last Thursday.

Mrs. Harry Leepa returned Monday evening from Detroit, where she had taken her son, Howard, to a hospital last week for medical treatment. Howard was able to leave the hospital Saturday and is at the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Hortop, in Detroit, where it is hoped that he will be sufficiently recovered from his injuries to be able to return home in a few weeks.

Miss Beatrice Helwig closed a very successful term of school at the Bird school last Thursday. She entertained the pupils and their parents and friends at a picnic held in Tulley's orchard. The refreshments consisted of cake, fruit, salad, potato salad, pickles, sandwiches and ice cream. At the close the pupils presented Miss Helwig with an ivory toilet set. Fifty-nine were present. Miss Helwig is engaged to teach the school another year.

Commenting on the receipt of a bundle of Chronicles, Fred Parker, who is in a hospital at Buxton, England, in a note to the Chronicle says: "In one issue you printed most satisfying news, the names of the boys who have reached home. Good luck to them. We fellows on this side expect to cross the water some time during the summer." Fred will be delighted to receive letters from his Cass City friends. His address is Granville Special Canadian Hospital, Buxton, England.

L. C. Keagan received news several months ago of the death of his brother who died in service overseas last July, but not until he picked up a Detroit paper the other day did he learn any details regarding it. In an article in the daily regarding the 125th regiment, he found this short paragraph relating to his brother: "Ray Keagan, Company F, died laughing at his own joke. He had run across a dead Boche. 'Get up and fight for your country,' he told the Hun and laughed with his pals at the jest. A Boche bullet cut it short."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers received word Monday of the painful accident of W. E. Rogers, district engineer with the Detroit-Edison Co. at Trenton. Mr. Rogers was charging arrestors at the Sibley power station when a short circuit sent 2300 volts through his body, knocking him six feet to a cement floor. His chin and arm from the wrist to his shoulder were badly burned and the bone in his elbow was split from the fall. He was taken to Harper hospital in Detroit where it was found that it would probably be necessary to graft skin onto his wrist, which was burnt so badly. Mr. Rogers has the deep sympathy of his friends here in his misfortune, for suffering from burns in the torrid heat of the past week seems almost unbearable.

Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Dailey entertained the Wm. Ohls family and their guest, Miss Myrtle Flewelin of Mendon, at a six o'clock dinner Friday in honor of Don Ohls, who recently returned from overseas service. After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the Rooney home to only the nuptial parties. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Flewelin of Mendon, where Mr. Ohls is the popular proprietor of one of the leading barber shops in that city.

A TINY SAPPHIRE

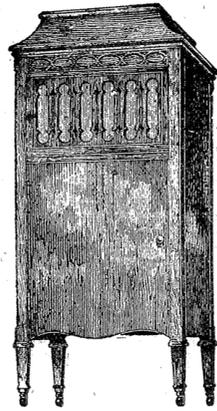

No bigger than the head of a pin—highly-polished and rounded by hand—the Pathe Sapphire ball, holds the secret of perfect tone. It gives absolutely accurate and distinct reproduction, in fact perfect duplication of tone.

This round, polished ball fits exactly into every tone wave registered on the record. It never misses the slightest indentation; it never scratches down the high notes, or jumps from one groove to the next.

Like a drop of water it runs, freely, smoothly, without scratching or cutting. In every crevice of the record, the Sapphire ball gives the perfect angle of contact, the clear, crisp reproduction of tone. It is the echo of sound, as accurate as the mirror is to sight.

The Sapphire ball will not wear out records. A Pathe record played on a Pathe phonograph will last practically forever. We guarantee every Pathe record to play at least one thousand times with the Pathe Sapphire ball, without losing the unexcelled beauty of tone, and without showing any perceptible wear on the record.

TEACHERS' PAY A DISGRACE.

Higher pay for school teachers is urged by the Literary Digest in a recent issue.

In clear, positive English, which leaves no doubt regarding its intense conviction that the low pay of American teachers is a national shame, the magazine declares that there is no class of workers of whom we demand so much or to whom we give so little in return.

With statistics, seemingly dependable, the magazine shows that compensation of ordinary laborers is higher than that of teachers. The article makes no attempt to decry the wages paid laborers, but it does decry the astoundingly small pay of teachers.

The case of a mining town of Illinois is cited.

There, the average wages of 15 miners for one month was $217, while the average monthly salary of teachers was $55. In another town a miner, who, by the way, was an enemy alien, drew more than $2,700 last year, while the salary of the high school principal in the same town was $765.

The magazine article states that the 740,000 teachers of America are paid an average salary of $630. The article comments:

When we consider that living costs have actually advanced 103 per cent since the beginning of the war, thereby cutting the buying power of these insignificant salaries in half, we can easily determine that only a fool or a martyr would choose teaching as a profession, or would long remain in it unless these terrible conditions were swiftly remedied.

The low pay of teachers is branded by the Literary Digest as a crime, an incitement of our justice and common sense.

The magazine avers that the future of the republic depends much on the teaching of our children and that if we continue to underpay teachers, we will have no worth-while, able teachers left.

It advises a minimum wage of at least $1,000 a year for the teachers of America.

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 200 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weakness and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is inclosed in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease.

Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Three sizes. But remember to ask for the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages.

Your Old Corn Field Can Again Be Made to Produce Big Corn Crops

You can make fields that have been repeatedly cropped to corn again produce the old time yields. The remedy is not expensive and consumes no time. It is applied successfully and extensively under similar conditions in many sections.

Stop in our store the first chance you get and ask us about applying fertilizer at the same time the corn is planted. We can show you a corn planter which, besides dropping the desired number of kernels in each and every hill, is equipped with a fertilizer attachment that successfully distributes any standard fertilizer. It drops the fertilizer without any choking up or bridging of fertilizer in the hopper and it does not let the fertilizer come in contact with and fire the seed.

Don't overlook the "accurate planting" features of this planter—the instant variable drop. A kick of the foot and the drop can be changed to 2, 3 or 4 kernels per hill, as desired. A push of the foot lever and the planter changes instantly from the hill dropping to drilling, or back to hill dropping, and you don't have to get off the seat nor touch the seed plates to make these changes.

Come in and see our John Deere No. 999 Corn Planter.

Wisdom of Solomon.

In the proverbs of Solomon there is this bit of wisdom: "Though thou shouldst bray a fool in a mortar among wheat with a pestle, yet will not his foolishness depart from him." More than two thousand years of world experience sustains the accuracy of the Biblical proverb. Braying the fool in a mortar may not cure him, but it is sometimes the only way of ridding the community of pernicious fools intent upon spreading the contagion of their own folly.

HOW CLEOPATRA'S NEEDLE WAS SAVED

New Process Invented to Preserve Surface of Monolith in Central Park.

HIEROGLYPHS OBLITERATED.

Rigors of Western Climate Caused Khedive's Gift to Disintegrate. Painting Ancient Obelisk With Special Preparation Stayed Decay—Ruined Portions Restored.

New Yorkers awoke one morning to find in their breakfast headlines the news that a zealous park employee had discovered signs of disintegration on the surface of the city's most treasured antique—Cleopatra's Needle. Photographs revealed that the monolith was peeling, large pieces of sandstone having fallen from the tall shaft, carrying with them part of the prized hieroglyphs.

London's twin sister of Cleopatra's Needle was reported as resting comfortably and enduringly on the banks of the Thames, and the rival port wondered whether a preparation would be found to stay the attacks of their harsher climate.

Such a preparation was soon forthcoming. A new paint combination as a preservative for stone was invented

THE OBELISK.

The Obelisk was presented to the City of New York by the Khedive of Egypt. Lieutenant Commander Goringe, U. S. N., after a three years' effort, obtained possession of it and moved it to its present position, at an expense of nearly $100,000. It was finally swung into position at noon, January 22, 1881.

The height of this monument, from base to tip, is 69 feet, 2 inches. The measurement of the base, square through its axis, is 7 feet, 8 1/2 inches. The entire weight of the monolith is 219 1/2 tons.

Since it was quarried near the torrid zone, it has traversed the entire length of Egypt, most of that of the Mediterranean Sea and the width of the Atlantic Ocean—a distance of 6,400 miles—proving itself a first rate traveler for one whose age has exceeded thirty-five centuries. In the course of its existence it has seen Pharaoh and his host going to their destruction in the Red Sea; Shishak marching to the conquest of Jerusalem; Cambyse desolating the land; Herodotus, Plato and other Greek students engaged in pursuit of Egyptian lore; Alexander the Great on his victorious expedition through the land of Goshen; six and a half centuries of Roman sovereignty and Christian struggle at Alexandria; all the long line of Moslem rulers since Caliph Omar; and now, leaving altogether its native land, it stands looking up on the million dwellers in this metropolis, whose site was unknown to the Eastern world at a time when the Obelisk had been in existence for two thousand years.

by Dr. William Kueckro, chemist of the Metropolitan Museum of Art. Many years previous coating with paraffin had been tried, but the application had not entirely accomplished its purpose. The new painting process, however, proved a success. Disintegration was halted and the damaged parts restored. New York breathed easily again.

PAINT PROTECTION AND ITS ECONOMY.

The preservation of structural materials, which may be obtained through the application of paint, constitutes a most vital means of furthering the conservation of our natural resources. It is, moreover, the most economical method of sustaining the appearance and general upkeep of any community.

A structure coated with sheets of India rubber would not be as well protected from decay as a structure coated with a good oil paint. This is due to the fact that a sheet of rubber is not so durable or as waterproof as a thin dried film of paint. The latter material when applied dries to a continuous elastic film containing finely divided particles of metallic wear resisting pigments. A square foot of such a film upon a wooden surface costs less than a penny, yet it will beautify and protect a dollar's worth of surface for many years. This is a low rate of insurance.

Dwellings, barns, outbuildings, sheds, posts, fences, stock enclosures, wagons, implements, windmills and other structures, whether of wood, iron or cement, should be preserved, through the use of paint, from rapid decay. High grade paint may be used successfully for all such purposes. Colored paints will be found the most serviceable, the coloring matter in the paint adding from two to three years to the life of the coating.
