

CASS CITY BROUGHT HOME BOTH TROPHIES

WON COUNTY BASE BALL CHAMPIONSHIP, DEFEATING CARO 6-5.

Local High School Secured 58 Per Cent of Total Points in County Track Meet.

After securing the lion's share of points in the Tri-county track and field meet at Cass City last Wednesday, the Cass City high school went to Caro Friday and won 58 per cent of the points in the Tuscola Co. Athletic Association's track meet and were victors in the championship ball game.

The county meet Friday was well attended, but the number of schools who secured points was disappointing, only four out of the eight who entered contestants were able to show any results for their efforts.

The county track meet, coming within two days of the tri-county event took the edge off of the Cass City athletes and they weren't in as good condition Friday as at the first contest. However, they found competition Friday less strong as indicated by a comparison of the records which in a majority of cases were not as good at the county meet as were established in the meet held at Cass City two days previous when schools of three counties participated for honors.

Final totals give Cass City 58 points at Friday's meet, Vassar 35, Caro 8 and Millington 3.

Miller of Vassar won the honors as the highest individual point winner at the county meet. The following is a list of the events, the winners and records:

100-yard Dash—Won by Miller of Vassar; 2nd, Gowen, Cass City; 3rd, Dodge, Cass City. Time, 10 4-5 seconds.

12-lb. Shot Put—Won by Hammond of Vassar; 2nd, Wright, Millington; 3rd, Dodge Cass City. Distance 37 ft. 1 in.

880-yard Run—Won by Miller of Vassar; 2nd, Lee, Vassar; 3rd, Hutchinson, Cass City. Time, 2 min. 10 seconds.

Discus Throw—Won by Hammond of Vassar; 2nd, Brooker, Cass City; 3rd, Dodge, Cass City. Distance, 93 ft. 5 in.

220-yard Dash—Won by Gowen of Cass City; 2nd, Miller, Vassar; 3rd, Bell, Caro. Time, 23 seconds.

Pole Vault—Won by Brooker of Cass City; 2nd, Benkelman, Cass City; 3rd, McKeen, Vassar. Distance, 10 ft. 4 1/2 in.

Running High Jump—Won by Bell of Caro; 2nd, Benkelman, Cass City; 3rd, Yakes, Cass City. Distance, 5 ft. 6 in.

440-yard Dash—Won by Miller of Vassar; 2nd, Gowen, Cass City; 3rd, Caro. Time, 55 sec.

Running Broad Jump—Won by Benkelman of Cass City; 2nd, Brooker of Cass City; 3rd, Caro. Distance, 19 ft. 3 in.

120-yard Low Hurdles—Won by Brooker of Cass City; 2nd, Dodge; 3rd, Benkelman, both of Cass City. Time, 15 3-5 seconds.

One Mile Run—Won by Hutchinson of Cass City; 2nd, Lee, Vassar; 3rd, Severance, Cass City. Time 5 min., 10 sec.

Half Mile Relay—Won by Cass City, 2nd, Vassar; 3rd, Caro. Time, 1 min. 40 seconds.

Cass City Wins Championship Game. Caro's heart was set on the championship base ball game and the county seat citizens were positive Friday morning that only one result would be forthcoming and that Caro would be the victors. They based their conclusions on a previous game between the two teams at Cass City in which the county seat team, loaded with horseshoes, had secured the long end of the score in a contest in which the locals played a ragged game. It was a sorely disappointed Caro crowd that left the ball grounds Friday afternoon after Cass City had won a decisive victory from the county seat team on the latter's own grounds.

Only four men in the local base ball team had not participated in the track and field events, yet Harris and Craft, the Freshmen battery, were given excellent support throughout the game in spite of the hard work of their team mates in the track meet earlier in the day. Harris pitched a great game and Craft kept the Caro runners hugging first base by his fine pegs to the second sack.

TOO FREQUENT CHANGE OF TEACHERS IS DETRIMENTAL

Dr. Donald Morrison Suggests that Permanent Home Be Built for Instructors in Local Schools.

The Presbyterian church was well filled Sunday evening at the union service when Dr. Donald Morrison, the pastor, delivered the baccalaureate sermon to the Class of 1919. Rev. B. O. Shellenbarger offered the invocation, Rev. J. D. Young read the Scriptures, Rev. A. J. Butzbach offered prayer and a quartet, F. E. Kelsey and L. I. Wood and Mesdames Edward Pinney and P. A. Schenck, sang a beautiful anthem.

Rev. Morrison chose as his text, I Thess. 5:23, "I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ."

After congratulating heartily the class numbering seventeen upon their graduation and referring to the good work of their parents in providing for each of them during the about thirteen years from the time of entering the kindergarten 'till graduation, and stating that graduation in high school now would possibly about equal a college course to the end of the sophomore year in 1860, Mr. Morrison said that an apostle Paul had labored among the Thessalonians and after his leaving them had written them as part of his epistle the words of the text, so kind. That apostles as well as ministers have one trait in common with children, viz., they had a kind memory of those who had been kind to them. The text was a prayer and a very kind one.

It taught first Trichotomy, viz., that man is composed of spirit, soul and body. The Reformers as well as others did not accept this three-fold division of man, but rather believed that the two words, spirit and soul, were used by way of emphasis and that man in his personality was dual, i. e., composed of soul and body.

There was reference in the text to the coming of the Savior. As to this there were two views, viz., the pre-millennial, that the Saviour would return to the earth one thousand years before the end of the world and that the saints departed would be raised from their graves and would reign on earth with Christ during the thousand years. The post-millennial view, viz., that Christ would appear at the end of the world when the departed would be raised from the dead and those alive at that time would be changed, when all would be judged by the Saviour. The speaker did not accept the pre-millennial view.

Further to be blameless at the

GRAND CELEBRATION AT SHABBONA ON JULY 4

Citizens and Business Men Invite Public to Spend the Holiday at Shabbona.

Shabbona is planning for a big celebration on July 4. Citizens and business men of that thriving little town have prepared a fine program consisting of two ball games, horse races, athletic events, calithumpian parade, tug of war, a big display of fire works and dancing. Those who prefer cool shady grounds will find them close by and citizens of Shabbona will put forth every effort to make the day a pleasant one for all who come to spend the nation's anniversary day with them.

CLASS OF 17 GIVEN DIPLOMAS

"DEBT OF H. S. GRADUATE" IS SUBJECT OF COMMENCEMENT ADDRESS.

Class Day Exercises at the Opera House Were Cleverly Handled by Class of '19.

Mid pleasant, happy and auspicious surroundings, the commencement exercises of the Cass City high school were held in the Hitchcock opera house on Wednesday evening.

The stage nicely decorated with cut flowers and the class banner presented a beautiful appearance and as the Misses Lillian Rogers and Cora Bartle played the class march, the class numbering 17 took their places. Members of the class are Cameron Wallace, Frances Abbott, Ben. Benkelman, Irene Croft, Frank Dodge, Wayne Fleenor, Thelma Hunt, Eliza Leishman, Hazel Martin, Isabelle MacIntyre, Dorothy McKim, Grey Lenzenner, Norma Retherford, Sara Robinson, Florence Striffler, Robt. Adams and Colin McRae.

The exercises were opened with the invocation by Rev. J. D. Young, who asked that God's blessing might rest upon the members of the class.

C. O. Davis, in charge of Secondary Education in the Department of Education at the University of Michigan, gave the commencement address, choosing as his subject, "The Debt of the High School Graduate."

The obligations of the high school graduate, said the speaker, may be considered under four topics—his debt to himself, to his parents, to his community and to his state.

The graduate owes it to himself to be true to his ideals and convictions, not to be satisfied with past achievements but to progress, grow and develop. He should not lay aside the old text books but cling to them, especially to those pertaining to literature and history. Cultivate the habit of reading good literature and continue to develop physical and moral nature. While it may not be practical or advisable for all, yet some of the Class of 1919 should continue their schooling in higher institutions of learning.

To parents, graduates owe not only obligations in material matters, but are greatly indebted for sympathy and kindly interest to the family circle.

One word covers the payment the graduate may make for his obligation to his community, said Mr. Davis, and that word is "loyalty." He should be a leader in the affairs of his community and take a personal interest in its various social, charitable and political affairs.

The graduate is under great obligation to his nation in the support of liberty by being patriotic. Patriotism, said the speaker, is putting a righteous interest in the state above that of self. Support all the laws and as an individual be self-supporting. The speaker advised the selection of a vocation carefully and seriously.

The diplomas were presented to the graduates by E. W. Jones, secretary of the board of education, after which Rev. Donald Morrison pronounced the benediction.

Class Day Exercises.

Class Day exercises at the opera house Tuesday evening were cleverly handled in two scenes. In the first, a newspaper editorial room was represented in which the Class of 1919 were busily engaged in preparing the copy of the final issue of the "Commencement Times." Four members of the class presented their literary offerings for publication. Norma Retherford gave a cheery welcome in the salutatory. Isabelle MacIntyre furnished a realistic history of the '19 class, Frank Dodge presented an editorial in the form of an oration entitled, "To Be Rather than To Seem," and Sara Robinson recited an original poem. These offerings were received enthusiastically by members of the staff and by this time there seemed to be sufficient copy in sight for a good start for the Commencement number of the Times. At this juncture, some one suggests a picnic and this idea spreads like wild fire among the office force.

In the picnic scene which was a jolly one with red lemonade, sandwiches and fruit, Florence Striffler, gowned as a gypsy fortune teller, revealed the future to the several members of the class, Cameron Wallace, in the convincing tones of an attorney, read the last will and testament, Eliza Leishman brought out many laughs in the giftatory and Thelma Hunt presented the valedictory, the subject of which was "Looking Forward." The class closed a delightful evening's program by singing the class song which was composed by Dorothy McKim.

While scenes were being changed, Wayne Fleenor, the class cartoonist, drew some sketches of high school life. They were very clever and exhibited marked talent. Piano duets were contributed by the Misses Bardwell and the Misses Lillian Rogers and Cora Bartle.

Juniors Banquet Seniors.

The Seniors were guests of the Juniors at a banquet served by the Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Monday evening. Musical numbers were given by Wayne Fleenor, James Yakes and the Misses Lillian Rogers and Cora Bartle and Rev. J. D. Young gave an inspiring address. The ladies served the following excellent menu:

Fruit cocktail
Wafers
Creamed chicken in cases
Mashed potatoes
Rolls	Coffee
Salad
Lemon jelly	Olives
Ice cream	Cake

LOCAL ITEMS

Rev. J. D. Young delivered a splendid sermon to members of the Odd Fellow and Rebekah lodges at the M. E. church Sunday morning. Both lodges were well represented.

Mrs. Helen Schwaderer has accepted the position of superintendent of the Kingston schools for the coming school year.

Raymond Wood, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. I. Wood, celebrated his ninth birthday Tuesday with the help of nine little boys of the same age. An elegant supper was served on the lawn and a perfectly splendid and, needless to say, an exceedingly noisy time was enjoyed by each one present.

Ed. Knoblet of Novesta has made a most generous donation to the Mennonite society of that locality, having presented a fine building site on the corner of his farm in Novesta township for the erection of a church, work upon which has already begun under the supervision of the new pastor, Rev. F. A. Jones.

Roy D. Risheill of Flint and Miss Mary C. Hall of Cass City were united in marriage by Justice Isaac Cragg on Monday evening. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Hall. Mr. Risheill recently returned from France where he was in the service for 15 months, as a member of the Machine Gun Co. of the 12th Infantry.

It has been found upon investigation by Miss Laura Striffler that the twenty-two members of the old 1914 class of the Cass City high school are to be in such close proximity the coming season that a reunion is not only a possibility but a probability, and Miss Striffler with others is endeavoring to arrange for this to be held the twenty-eighth of June.

The lower grades in our school presented an excellent program Wednesday morning in the high school assembly room to a very appreciative audience. Several of the youngsters displayed very careful training in enunciation and expression which reflects considerable credit upon the corps of teachers employed the past year. Some excellent singing was also provided by the younger children.

Ernest Schwaderer, son of Wm. Schwaderer, who during his boyhood was a resident of Cass City, arrived last week to remain with friends and relatives here until the first of July. Mr. Schwaderer has just returned from France where he has been stationed at Tours, Toule and different cities as a member of the Supply Regiment of the 24th Engineers. Mr. Schwaderer's home is in Illinois where he will continue to reside and where he will also be re-employed in his former position with the Illinois State Highway Dept.

Norman McGillvray and Howard Hoadley arrived from Camp Custer Friday, having landed at Newport News June 5, after seeing nine months of service across the water. Norman says they were in the hands of Uncle Sam two years, he and Howard having had the good fortune to be together from the beginning. He also says Cass City is the finest place he has yet seen, it never having looked so good to him as now, for which reason he is planning to remain for the summer at least. Norman says the Red Cross is a wonderful institution and did great work not only overseas but in camps in this country. Red Cross workers were "on the job" at the opportune moment.

McQUEEN-ORR NUPTIALS.

The many friends and acquaintances of Miss Lottie McQueen and Morton Orr were greatly surprised Wednesday morning to learn that the young people had had a quiet wedding ceremony performed the previous evening, Tuesday, June 17, at eight o'clock at Miss McQueen's rooms over Mrs. M. J. McGillvray's millinery store, Dr. Donald Morrison of the Presbyterian church officiating. Only a very few of the immediate friends were present.

The groom's brother, Robert Orr, of Pigeon had a car in readiness to convey them to his home immediately after the wedding where they remained until Wednesday morning, leaving at that time for Indiana where they will remain for ten days after which they will be at home at the farm of the groom's mother, Mrs. Emily Orr, on East Main street where her son now resides. These young people are both beloved and highly respected in Cass City by a large circle of acquaintances, who unite in extending best wishes for a long and happy wedded life.

Miss Maude Soderquist, for the past two years kindergarten teacher in the Cass City schools, was united in marriage Friday evening, June 13, in Saginaw to Elmer Jamison of Fairgrove.

Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson have a delightful treat in prospect, planning to leave Monday or Tuesday for a motor trip to South Carolina, not returning until August. At that time they will take up their residence at 1238 South Washington St., Saginaw.

S. S. RALLY AT ARGYLE NEXT THURSDAY

The 22nd annual Sunday school rally and basket picnic will be held in Walker's grove, one mile west of Argyle, next Thursday, June 26. The Cass City band has been engaged to furnish music for the day and a program of singing, recitations and addresses will be given.

The rally draws large crowds from several townships and officers anticipate a large gathering next Thursday.

BIG CELEBRATION AT CARO ON JULY 4

RECEPTION FOR RETURNED SOLDIERS LONG TO BE REMEMBERED.

Address by Hon. Washington Gardner; Six Special Free Amusement Features.

The big celebration and reception for returned soldiers of Tuscola county to be held at Caro on July 4 under Red Cross auspices promises to be an event long to be remembered.

The canteen with some Salvation Army lassies to dispense doughnuts, the possibility of aviators from Selfridge Field, the presence of mayors and supervisors of the county, the war workers of the county, free attractions, fireworks, several bands, badges for the soldiers and medals for the bereaved, all will tend to make this a most glorious day for our returned heroes.

The following program which may be subject to some minor changes has been given the Chronicle for publication:

5:45 a. m. First Call.

6:00 a. m. Reveille. Assembly at City Hall Square; flag raised by Home Guards of Caro.

7:30 a. m. Meeting at Court House. Home Guards and Boy Scouts will meet in court room to arrange for meeting incoming trains and welcoming Soldier Boys and visitors.

9:00 to 10:30. Music by bands at Court House Square. Announcement.

9:30 to 11:30. Military drills on pavement. These drills will be by Home Guards of Tuscola County and voluntary drills by World War veterans.

11:30 to 1:00. Mess call. Dinner and basket picnic—Free canteens for the convenience and comfort of soldiers not accompanied by relatives and friends.

1:00 p. m. Military parade. Line of march from Court House to Fair Grounds. Upon arrival of parade at grand stand, Gold Star parents will

FLINT-MERRIAM.

A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday, June 18, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flint when their daughter, Lela, became the bride of J. L. Merriam.

At twelve o'clock, Maxine Campbell played the wedding march, and the bride and groom, accompanied by Miss Beryl, sister of the bride, and Nelson Merriam, brother of the groom, took their places beneath an arch of roses and ferns where Rev. J. D. Young pronounced them husband and wife.

After the ceremony the company was seated at a sumptuously spread table where all enjoyed the wedding feast. The wedding party then drove to Deford where they boarded the train for a honeymoon trip to Detroit, Port Huron, Niagara Falls and other points.

Those present were Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Young, Mrs. Hannah Merriam, Mrs. J. Serven, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Collins, Miss Evelyn Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Flint and family, Mr. and Mrs. John McKichan, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Wager, Mrs. Eva Maharg, Ernest Beardsley and Merle Gale.

The young couple received many pretty and useful gifts from their many friends, who wished them a happy and useful life.

They will be at home after July 1st, residing at 4510 North street, Flint, Michigan.

ARGYLE LADY FOUND DEAD IN HER CHAIR

Community Greatly Shocked by Sudden Death of Mrs. Paul Freiburger.

(From Argyle Correspondent.) This community was greatly shocked at the sudden death of Mrs. Paul Freiburger last Tuesday evening. She was apparently in her usual health throughout the day, taking care of her household duties. Late in the evening she was found by her husband sitting in a chair, death having taken place about an hour previously. She was a hard working woman and was dearly beloved by friends and neighbors. Funeral services were held Saturday morning at the Catholic church.

Cass City High School Athletes Make Remarkable Record in Four Months

Cass City citizens are very proud of their high school athletes and the many honors they have won for the local school in the last four months. In that short space of time they have accomplished the following:

The basket ball team won the trophy at Mt. Pleasant on March 21 which gave them the championship of Central and Northern Michigan.

This team also were champions of the Thumb, having won every game in the series with teams in this section of the state.

Earl Gowen, James Brooker, Frank Dodge and Bennie Benkelman composed a quartet which represented the Cass City high school at the inter-scholastic field meets held at Kalamazoo and Ann Arbor. At Kalamazoo, they won second place for their school and at Ann Arbor they secured seven points. In both meets, they were in competition with schools in Battle Creek, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo and other large cities.

At the Tri-county track and field meet, Cass City won 65 1/2 points to 42 1/2 won by the remainder of the schools from other high schools in the Thumb.

At the Tuscola county meet, Cass City brought home both the track meet and base ball trophies.

These splendid accomplishments of Cass City athletes are due to consistent training, clean living and good habits. The boys are to be congratulated on their splendid records made in this short space of time.

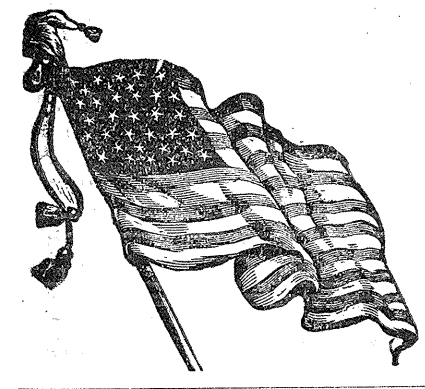

I. B. Auten and M. B. Auten attended the bankers' convention at Saginaw Wednesday, Mrs. Auten, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. W. McKenzie, at Kalamazoo for the past two weeks, accompanied them home.

Pontiac—Authorization for their local branch to loan $1,000,000 in Pontiac to help solve the housing situation was made by directors of the Detroit & Northern Building and Loan association, after inspecting loans already made and surveying industrial prospects in Pontiac.

Big Rapids—Ferris Institute students here clipped Harold Tibbets hair, ducked him in Clear lake and then made him walk half way back to the city barefooted and hatless. He took the next train out of town. Tibbets, whose home is in Lapeer, is a Ferris Institute student who married a coed May 27. His bride is still here.

Muskegon—At least one local mother was made happy by an exhibition of motion pictures, for when Mrs. W. A. Slinger of Muskegon attended a local theater, her son, Wagoner Edwin A. Slinger, at present in Coblenz, Germany, "waved his tin hat at his parents and winked." Slinger is a motor truck driver with the fifth division of regulars, and when his mother saw him, although he was "dirty and his clothes were mussed up," he was happily devouring a Salvation Army doughnut.

Camp Custer—After completing a hurried inspection of Camp Custer, Major General Frank Winn, new commandant, congratulated Michigan on having one of the best of the various army cantonments, though he agreed with his predecessor, Major General Haan, that Uncle Sam ought to paint the several hundred buildings as soon as possible not only for their preservation and the improved appearance of the camp, but also for the effect it would have on the morale of the men. None of the buildings are painted.

coming of Christ, each one would need to make the best of life. Then arose the question, what constitutes a successful life? In the popular acceptance to be successful was to make money, accumulate property. Thrift was a duty but when carried too far it became avarice, and often instead of the individual owning the money, the money owned him. Who was the richest man in the world when Paul was doing his great work? None could tell. Who was the richest man when Luther was doing his work? None could tell. Who was the richest man in the United States when Washington lived? None could tell. Who was the richest man in the United States when Abraham Lincoln went into the White House? None could tell. It was evident that the American people or any other people did not remember any man very long simply because he made money.

A very good definition of the successful man is (a) one who makes the world (humanity) the greatest debtor to him, or one who does most for the advancement of his fellow beings. (b) The Duke of Wellington's definition of success is, doing your duty in that station in life to which it shall please God to call you.

The speaker believed that it is a great aid in making life a success to secure a college education and advised, if health permitted, that each of the class secure such in some one of the smaller Christian colleges, and thought it best to go to a co-educational college. He believed that the time now required to graduate in high school (thirteen years) was too long and for many would be entirely unnecessary had not the lock-step been introduced into our schools. They were now taking the lock-step out of our penitentiaries and it was time that it be taken out of our schools. It meant not only a loss of time to many pupils but what was worse than waste of time, it meant or lead to a weakening of the faculties of some pupils to be kept at elementary studies too long when they should be advancing, did not the lock-step hinder, and as a rule pupils should be ready for college say at sixteen instead of at eighteen or later. He referred to the early age at which Mr. W. E. Gladstone had entered Oxford University and his early graduation therefrom. At present a student could graduate in Oxford University in three years, sessions about six months each.

He briefly sketched the influence that the college had on various civilizations mentioning the permanence of Government in China for thousands of years due undoubtedly to the fact that no one in China is eligible to a governmental position who has not passed certain difficult examinations. The worship of ancestry and the respect shown to parents in China, no doubt aided in this stabilizing of government. He referred to what the college at Cairo, Egypt, and another at Fez, Morocco, had done for Mohammedanism in North Africa. What the parochial schools and the colleges had done for Scotland whose people have often been oppressed but impossible to enslave them. What such colleges as Oxford and Cambridge had done for England, the splendid secondary schools such as Rugby and Eton and her colleges had given Great Britain the administrators of an empire now numbering 400,000,000 souls.

Admiral Sims had said that England won the recent war. If so, she owed that victory to her schools and universities, for the war was a war of scholars. Never before in any war had so many cultured men given up their lives.

He spoke of the Canadian universities, a continuous chain of them from Dalhousie college on the east to British Columbia. The splendid record Canada made in the war, was due in the main to those colleges. England showed her high appreciation of education by paying princely salaries to the head masters of such secondary schools as Rugby, Eton, Harrow and Winchester, salaries ranging from $25,000 to $35,000 yearly and free use of a residence. When Mr. Arnold became head master of Rugby, he remained so 'till his death. England so far as salaries were concerned put those head masters on about a par with the Premier of the empire or the Lord Chief Justice, and, said the speaker, why not? Teachers in the United States have never had that high place in the people's estimation that was due to their most important work. He thought it time that the school board of Cass City should build a home for their teachers; also that too frequent change of teachers was very detrimental to any school.

He urged upon the graduates the importance of each securing a college education of the classical type. It is not best to be too hasty in deciding what calling in life to pursue. A cultural study is one that is taken simply for culture. As soon as any study is taken for a profession, it ceases to be a cultural study to that person.

As showing the influence of the college it was said 70 per cent in each two years of the names that appeared in "Who's Who?" were those of college training. That of the ministers of the United States at a certain time, 80 per cent of the Congregational, 78 per cent of the Presbyterian, 74 per cent of the Episcopalian were college trained, and while there was a time in the history of the Methodist church that only 11 per cent of its ministers were college graduates, it was possible now that its ministry were as classical in training as those of the other churches named.

Of the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence 42 were men of classical training. Of the 55 who constituted the convention that formed the constitution, 35 were college men. Of our Presidents at least 16 were or are college trained; of our vice-presidents at least 13 were or are so trained. In 1896, every member of the supreme court of the United States was a college graduate and the same is possibly true now. In looking back in history, Luther, John Knox, John Calvin, John and Charles Wesley were college men.

The speaker referred to the fact that about all callings were now open to ladies. It was not so fifty years ago, and he was old-fashioned enough to hope that it would not be so fifty years hence. He believed woman had a special sphere for her, ordained of God, viz., that of being a homemaker. That any condition of society that tends to shut her out of this sphere would not only militate against her happiness but also against the happiness of the male sex. Yet he urged upon the young ladies of the class to secure, if possible, a college education that each might be a scholar and homemaker. He told of a lady high school graduate at eighteen who would not enter upon a college course for fear that she would be an old maid before she got through. It was unfortunate that that opprobrious epithet should have deterred her from securing a classical training.

The speaker referred to various splendid callings—the farmer, the journalist, the banker, etc., each of which was important, but he referred to the following four as being very important, viz., 1, the ministry; 2, the teaching profession; 3, the legal profession; 4, the medical profession. Each of the four is open now to ladies as well as to young men.

1, With 1,000,000,000 of the human race non-Christian the question every Christian young man should put to himself is, do I know any good reason why I should not consecrate my life to the work of the ministry? Quoting Leigh Richmond, the speaker said, the ministry was the greatest work in which any human being can be engaged. The minister's business, like that of the angels, is to minister to the heirs of salvation. His concern with his fellowmen officially is to promote their everlasting welfare. Reference was made by the speaker to a remarkable letter written by Wm. E. Gladstone before his graduation at Oxford to his father. The father wished the son to become a lawyer and asked at least that he defer making a choice of life's calling 'till later. The son in writing of the dignity of the ministry says, "I know none to compare with the office, none which can compete with the grandeur of its end or of its means. So long as this field continues unfilled I do not see how I am to persuade myself that my powers, be they the meaneast or the greatest, can be so profitably or so nobly employed as in the performance of this sublime duty." * * *

There can be no claim so solemn and imperative as that which even now seems to call to us with the voice of God from heaven, "I have given mine own Son for this rebellious and apostate world. The sacrifice is offered and accepted by you, who are basking in the sunbeams of Christianity. You who are blessed beyond measure and oh! how beyond desert in parents, in friends, in every circumstance and adjunct that can sweeten your pilgrimage. Why will you not bear to fellow creatures sitting in darkness and the shadow of death the tidings of this universal and incomprehensible love?"

After referring to the blessed work of the doctor in relieving pain, the speaker told of the splendid life of Dr. MacLure of Drumtochty, who for 40 years without a vacation, was the physician in that long and wide district; his journeys by day and by night on Jess to see the sick. How he had become lamed for life by Jess falling with him and over him in the deep snow one cold night. How the face of a Drumtochty man would become tender as he would notice that Dr. MacLure, once so athletic, would require to make a second effort to get into the saddle. He related somewhat of the doctor's fight with death when Saunders, Drumtochty's grievous was sick with fever, and the city physician calling on his way from the moor said, "I give him six hours more or less to live," buttoned his gloves and left.

Belle, the wife, sobbed as if her heart would break as she heard the oracle give his opinion. Dr. MacLure came, and after sending Belle away to bed for some rest, he with the aid of Drumshough put Saunders, so pitifully sick, three times in a tub of cold water, using stimulants and milk between each time they put him so tenderly into the tub of water. It was a hard night with Drumshough and the Doctor, but as the sun was about to rise above the Grampians, Saunders ceased moaning so pitifully and sank into a natural sleep. Dr. MacLure went out to the field, Drumshough followed. There he found the doctor had thrown his coat east, his vest west, and after giving Drumshough a mighty blow, said, "I cannot contain myself. Belle is no to be a widow nor the bairnies fatherless," and said Drumshough, "Sure as deith o' a' the Hielan flings I ever saw you was the bonniest. A' hevna shaken my legs for thirty years, but I confess tae a turn mase!"

Then, said the speaker, was it not worth four years in the study of medicine to save Saunders for Belle and the babes? The funeral of Dr. William MacLure took place after a great snow storm but the men of the gen were all present. They could see the women, as the procession passed along, standing at the door of every house on the hillside weeping, and the bairnies in the village made such a wail for him they loved. At the grave Lord Kilspindie spoke of one who will never be forgotten as long as one of us lives and said he, "I pray that all doctors everywhere may share his spirit. Come ye blessed of my Father. * * * I was sick and ye visited me."

Mr. Gladstone has said, neither statute nor parliament, nor press is more essential to liberty than the absolutely free spoken bar. Rev. Dr. Palmer of New Orleans said, "The bar is the leading influence by which society is silently moulded. The consecration of the barrister is second (if second) to that of him who ministers in our places of worship. Human law is but the reflex and shadow of the divine. Every barrister is invested with a priesthood and the altar at which the lawyer ministers is inscribed with the name of God. Truth and right throw their eternal sanctions around the office of the barrister and he is the interpreter of the Divine oracle." John Adams said, "I practise law, first for justice, then to make a living." The courts of law are invested with a sanctity only less than that which throws such an awe around the temples of our worship. The barrister should find it easy to step from the temple of justice into the sanctuary of religion.

The ablest defense of the ministry known to the speaker did not fall from the lips of a minister, but from those of a lawyer—Daniel Webster in the Girard will case before the supreme court of the United States. If the undevout astronomer is mad, what must be the verdict against the irreligious lawyer? The one, though he walks among the stars, touches but the fringe of the Creator's robe. The lawyer passes within the pavilion of Jehovah's presence and touches the candlesticks around His throne in those eternal principles of rectitude and truth with which he deals. There are no other two men who could change places so easily as the consecrated minister and the devout barrister. The Bible is the grandest of all law books and he who will make a success of the practise of law must know his Bible. Without such knowledge, he may be a pettifogger or a shyster but never a great lawyer.

Blackstone is founded on the word of God. The speaker spoke of a barrister who defended a strike-breaker who had shot intending only to frighten those who were beating him but unintentionally he had shot to death a man whom he had never known. He spoke of how ably that defense was conducted, the final plea before the jury, how justice was secured and the accused sent home a free man to his wife and children. It was a noble effort, to be able to so secure justice for his client was worthy of years of study.

The speaker spoke of the nobility of the teaching profession and he had been for years a teacher himself, and had he to do that work over again and could get together the boys and girls whom he had taught, he would say to them he was thankful for what he was privileged to do for them from an intellectual standpoint, but wished that he had done more for them spiritually. No community was saved by either the commercial or intellectual; we need the spiritual. God hangs the earth upon nothing, and He hangs His heaviest weights upon the thinnest threads. He referred to the loyal help he received years ago, in the morning and evening services, the Sunday school and the mid week prayer meeting from a certain superintendent of schools, and his corps of teachers. He did not know but the fault lay with our college but for years he had not received such loyal help from teachers as he did twenty-five years ago. They did not seem so interested in the spiritual welfare of their pupils, nor so faithful to the church. It was now more difficult to keep our young people faithful in the services than it was twenty-five years ago. He thought every teacher should be a spiritual force in the school and in the community. He referred to Arnold of Rugby, an ideal teacher. How deeply he was interested especially in the religious welfare of his boys, and that he was not so in vain was proved by the letters of his once pupils in writing of their beloved head master, after the angels had come for him.

He closed by wishing every success for the Class of 1919, that their whole spirit, soul and body would be blameless at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

LETTER FROM LELAND TOPPING

Mrs. Topping of Peerless, Alta, writes to her mother, Mrs. F. J. Nash, sr., on June 8: "I haven't heard from Leland for two weeks but he didn't know when he was coming home. I will send you his letter enclosed. The crop is looking fine so far and everything is nice and green. I suppose you have read of the big strike in Canada. No freight or express comes to Jenner. We wonder how this will be settled, perhaps not very easily. I guess the laboring class have a hard time to live."

Leland's Letter.
South Camp, Ripon, Yorkshire,
May 4, 1919.

Dear Mother:—It has been over a week since I wrote to you and it has been about a month since I had your last letter. I am not doing much yet and have not gone on leave yet as they are figuring to transfer me to the army service corps and are waiting to see how it comes out. The other boys are signing their dispersal papers but I have not signed mine yet. We also went for a medical board but my papers were not on hand so I will have to go again. I hear the bunch are going to sail this month so they will likely be home in June. I don't know whether I will be among them or not. Don't look for me too soon, then you won't be disappointed. I'll get there some time anyhow. Easter

The Cost of the Cake

Flour? Sugar? Milk?
Butter? Eggs? Baking Powder?

How much does it cost to make a good cake? Very little if the cake IS good. But if the cake is a failure because of inferior baking powder, the cost is lost.

week was glorious weather but it has snowed and rained every day since. This country is a lovely place when the weather is fine but when it rains it's fierce. Well, I haven't much news to write but that I am fed up in general and wish I was back in God's country, so will close with love and best wishes to all.

LELAND.

Fjord and Farewell.

The word "fjord" comes from the old Norse, survives in the modern words "firth" and "frith," is connected with the English "fare," meaning to travel, and used in the word "farewell," and meant, most probably, in the first instance, says the author of "Norwegian Pictures," water safe for navigation on account of its sheltered position.

Delicate Compliment.

Charles received a wagon on his birthday and promptly broke a wheel. His father soon mended it. "Papa," he said, "you are smarter than you look."

Westminster Abbey.

The name "Westminster Abbey" is shortened from the fuller phrase, "Westminster Abbey church"—the church, that is, of the abbey of Westminster. Up to the year 1504, in the reign of Henry VIII, the "Abbey," as we call it today, was the church of a Benedictine monastery.

EVERY STREET IN CASS CITY

Has Its Share of the Proof That Kidney Sufferers Seek.

Backache? Kidneys weak? Distressed with urinary ills? Want a reliable kidney remedy? Don't have to look far. Use what Cass City people recommend. Every street in Cass City has its cases. Here's one Cass City woman's experience. Let Mrs. Emma Murphy, West & Third Sts., tell it. She says: "I am very seldom without a box of Doan's Kidney Pills which I get at Wood & Co's Drug Store, for they are the only remedy that gives me quick relief. Once in awhile, I am subject to attacks of kidney trouble and my kidneys act irregularly. I feel depressed at these times but after I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills for a few days, I feel as well as ever." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Murphy had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv. 7.

BOLSHEVISM ON TRIAL

THE MOST TIMELY PICTURE EVER SCREENED. It deals with love, greed and intrigue. Not a war picture, but a story of the ruthlessness and treachery of the demon, Bolshevism, with all the scenes laid on this side of the Atlantic. Not a propaganda picture, but with a delightful love story running through it, the kind that leaves you something to think about. We hear nothing but Bolshevism morning, noon and night, so don't miss this production.

This shows a group of people—they called themselves Socialists—band together and purchase the island of Ventura, a bankrupt winter resort off the Florida coast, which they decided to make their future home. Norman Worth is made chief. They are not on the island long before the crowd becomes discontented. They are unwilling to work. Soon rebellion takes hold of the island. Norman is deposed and Herman Wolff, an ardent believer in the cause, is appointed in his place. Socialism becomes Bolshevism, freedom becomes license and order becomes chaos. The island goes wild. Men and women, drunk with the thought of freedom, become maniacs, living their lives of lust and greed as only people who are not in their proper senses could. Norman soon loses his Socialistic tendencies and with the arrival of the American sailors, peace and happiness is once more restored to the island.

This picture is well worth seeing. It furnishes not only entertainment but a lesson. It will leave you something to think about.

Miss Edna Lowe, who has been employed at the millinery store of Mrs. M. J. McGillvray the past season, has entered this week the employ of Zemke Bros., as saleslady.

Prof. L. O. Hoxie, who has been engaged as superintendent of schools for Cass City for the coming year, was presented a few days ago with a fine young son at his home in Albion.

Alfred Farrell, student at the U. of M. finishing his sophomore year, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Farrell, is expected home the latter part of this or first of next week. Alfred is not decided as to where he may be located this summer but expects to return to the university the coming school year.

Dr. J. T. Redwine facetiously ventured the opinion that in view of the results of the late field meet at Caro it might be an opportune time to agitate the removal of the county seat to our fair village. The display of trophies and medals in the Cass City Drug Co.'s window won by our athletes would go quite a ways toward the erecting of a first class court house.

C. W. Goff spent from Saturday until Monday in the booming city of Flint where his daughters, Nellie and Lillian, are both excellently located in fine business positions and where he expects to reside as soon as he is able to dispose of his stock of goods at his harness shop on Main St. Mr. Goff secured a fine building site while there and is already making preparations for a modern bungalow to be erected thereon. Mr. Goff says it is utterly impossible at present to rent a place in Flint in which to live and the cheapest building lots now sell at $800.

Wm. Sturm of Pigeon was a guest Sunday at the home of W. D. Striffler.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allard of Ellington spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Dickinson.

Mrs. Jesse Withey and daughter, Seva, were in Caro on business Wednesday of last week.

Earl Messner and Gustave Wandrie of Detroit visited recently at the home of Wm. Zinnecker.

J. C. Corkins is moving this week to his lately acquired property, the Jas. Brooker farm, west of town.

Mrs. P. A. Schenk and little son, "Buddy", returned the latter part of the week from a visit with relatives in Detroit.

The Art club was royally entertained and bountifully feasted Wednesday afternoon at the home of one of their members, Mrs. William Schwaderer.

Mrs. C. W. McKenzie and children, Margaret and Jean, will arrive Sunday to spend the summer months with Mrs. McKenzie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Auten.

Miss Laura Striffler, daughter of J. H. Striffler and a schoolteacher in Deckerville, arrived last Friday for her summer vacation.

Miss Kathryn McLarty, teacher in the Owendale schools, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McLarty, is home for the summer.

Mrs. (Dr.) A. N. Treadgold of Detroit is visiting friends around Cass City for a few days. She will return to her home the last of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hall, daughter, Mildred Irene, Mrs. D. McIntyre and Mrs. Robert Carmichael motored to Bay Port, Sunday, returning to Wilmet with Mrs. R. Carmichael.

Dr. Foster of Detroit, husband of a former Cass City girl, Miss Eva Wickware, and brother-in-law of Dr. M. M. Wickware, has been very ill recently but latest reports state he is gaining slowly in health.

Dr. W. W. Florer of Ann Arbor was in town on business this week.

Miss Beatrice Helwig is spending a few weeks with friends in Bad Axe.

Miss Helene Bardwell and little Marjorie Graham spent Saturday in Caro.

Mrs. A. A. Ricker, who visited friends in Detroit last week, returned Friday.

C. Collins, proprietor of the Gordon Tavern, received a telegram Monday stating the serious condition of a sister in New York state, who was lying at the point of death. Mr. Collins left Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Rowena Manning of Alma and Mrs. Ada Leap from Colorado arrived Tuesday and are spending a few days at the home of their uncle, Edwin Andrews. A cousin, Frank Andrews, of Detroit, was also a visitor at the Andrews home Wednesday.

Home Again

AFTER greeting the folks, calling on the girl, sleeping for a week, and sitting around awhile just doing nothing, the chances are that you'll begin to look around for some smart "civies" as a fitting introduction to civil life.

SONGS AND SILVERWARE!

But what has music to do with table-knives? Just this! The best silverware you can get is marked "Sterling"; the best phonograph you can get is marked PATHE.

The Pathe phonograph is different in principle, better in result. The Pathe Sapphire Ball, a round polished jewel, replaces the old-fashioned steel needles, which cut and gouge the records. No needles to change; no needles to buy; always ready to play. The Pathe plays all makes of records, and plays them better. Every Pathe Record is guaranteed to play 1000 times. These are just three of the big Pathe advantages.

But the most important Pathe feature is the TONE. The Sapphire Ball and the all-wood violin tone chamber give the pure clear tone of perfect music. Not a shading is lost; not an expression missed. When you hear a Pathe instrument, you at least realize how perfectly music can be duplicated.

We have selected the Pathe instrument because we know it is the best. After a careful investigation and comparison of all makes of phonographs and records, we realized the Pathe superiority. Yet the Pathe costs no more than the ordinary talking machine.

Give your ears a treat. Let us play a jewelled Pathe for you,—the Phonograph of Sterling Quality.

Be Specific.

For business purposes, for social purposes, for any purposes in life, a rule that should admit of no exceptions is: "Be specific in everything you say. Don't take it for granted that vague, general statements will properly convey your meaning." General statements, please remember, leave wide room for inference, and there is always the liability that a wrong inference will be drawn.

The Thrift of Years.

Every man should strive to live at least 100 years and die all hitched up in working harness. Many a man feels that he would like to retire at about sixty and spend the rest of his years with nothing to do but lead a gold-headed cane around by the hand. It is thrifty to stay on the job just as long as possible. Every man should make the century plant his favorite flower and the undertaker his worst enemy.—Thrift Magazine.

Get Thorough Cultivation Without Hard Work

When you use a cultivator you want thorough cultivation first of all. But you want to get this result in the shortest possible time and with the least possible labor.

We want you to see why using the John Deere KC Cultivator does away with the necessity for hard work, and at the same time gets the most thorough results.

Here are just a few of its features that will appeal to you.

Using it, you can meet every field condition without stopping to make adjustments. No wrench is necessary. Cultivation at even depth and distance of cultivation from the row are accurately regulated by means of handy levers.

Because of its parallel shift rigs, its shovels always face squarely to their work. They never track or trail in dodging on crooked rows. No uncultivated spots are left. You get thorough cultivation over all of the field.

The rigs shift quickly in response to slight pressure on the foot levers. Guiding the rigs is as natural as walking.

We want you to get into the seat of this cultivator and see for yourself how handy and reliable it is. We've never seen its equal for time-saving, labor-saving, weed-destroying work in the field.

Don't fail to come in early and get acquainted with the "K. C."

A Houghton street resident tells the following story: "An exciting incident happened at the home of Mark Bond when he attempted to remove a sink faucet which was leaking. Mark removed the faucet, thinking the water would shut off automatically, but not so, and he decided to replace the faucet, but found he had a plumber's job on his hands. Soon Mr. Bond was completely drenched and standing ankle deep in water. A lady friend of Mr. Bond's happened to call and offered assistance. Mr. Bond instructed her to summon the fire department, then giving the matter a second thought, decided it wasn't water he needed so asked her to inform Hiram Lewis, a near-by neighbor, who succeeded in plugging the pipe with a corn cob while Mr. Mark went in search of the marshal and a new faucet. When Mark returned two hours later he found Hiram still guarding the plug. Mr. Bond has been taking instructions in plumbing at the Hitchcock hardware and knowledge of faucets and water assisted him greatly. Mr. Bond offers his services to any one in Cass City or surrounding country who has technical plumbing they wish done. After this triumph Mark and Hiram both declare they are not afraid to stand at either end of the water works."

WHY

Prince Eitel Is Execrated in France

Here is how Newell Dwight Hillis, in his book entitled "German Atrocities," tells of the crime for which Prince Eitel, son of the kaiser, now stands under indictment in France, the sacking and ruin of a beautiful chateau:

"One of the historic chateaux is that of Avricourt, rich in noble associations of history. It was one of the class of buildings covered by a clause in the international agreements between Germany, France and the United States and all the civilized nations, safeguarding historic buildings. For many months it was the home of Prince Eitel, second son of the kaiser. When a judge and jury held inquiry at the ruins of the chateau the aged French servant, who understood the electric lighting and had charge of the gas plant during Eitel's occupancy, stated that he heard the German officers telling Eitel Frederick that he would disgrace the German name if he destroyed a building that had no relation to war, that could be of no aid or comfort to the French army, and that he would make his name and that of his family a name of shame and contempt, of obloquy and scorn. But the man would not yield. He brought in his auto trucks and carried to the freight cars every historic object in the splendid chateau. Having pledged himself to leave the building unharmed, the prince stopped his car at the gates of the exit, ran back to the historic house, lighted his firebrand, spread the flames upon the halls, waited until the flames were well in progress, and then ordered his men to light the fuse of dynamite bombs. A few days later inquiry was held and testimony of aged servants and little children was taken. The degeneracy of the German prince as then revealed has not been equaled since the first chapter of Romans catalogued the unnatural crimes of the men of the ancient world."

BROUGHT TOGETHER BY FATE

How Two Brothers in the British Service, Long Parted, Met Each Other on Hospital Dock.

The part which fate played in the reunion of two long-separated brothers is told from an embarkation port in the south of England. Two hospital ships were berthed at the same time alongside the landing stage. One was from France and the other from the near East.

For the most part the cases removed from one ship saw nothing of those disembarked from the other, but it happened by chance that one of the first stretcher cases from the near East was laid down in the shed alongside one of the last stretcher cases from the French ship. But the two men did not see each other, as their heads were turned in opposite directions.

An elderly walking between the stretchers offered a newspaper to one of the men, and as he spoke both turned their heads and saw and recognized each other. They were brothers. Both had been serving since the autumn of 1914, and neither had the remotest idea of what had become of the other.

How War May Overcome Prejudice.

Englishmen are overcoming their old-fashioned prejudice against "branny" women, and nowadays all sorts of jobs are being tackled by women with wonderful success.

But there is one sphere which has always been open to them and which has proved more or less a failure, and that is the medical profession. The failure of women in this branch is due, strange to say, to the prejudice of women.

At present there is a shortage of physicians, but there are in training 2,250 women medical students. It remains to be seen to what extent English women will patronize them.

Meanwhile the authorities are urging expectant mothers to engage women doctors to bring their children into the world.

Why Huns Are Hated.

The following extract from a letter received from Wallonia is printed in the Belgian Bulletin:

"A farmer was plowing his field in front of his house. A green devil (German policeman) came along and demanded his identification card; first conviction, for not carrying it with him. The farmer crossed the road to go to his house to get it; conviction number two, for having abandoned his horse. The green devil followed the farmer. The housewife was cooking new potatoes, unauthorized before September 15; conviction number three; the chickens in the yard were pecking rye, a serious offense; conviction number four.

"And all that in less than five minutes."

How State Encourages Settlers.

Colonization in California is being pushed by the state on a 6,000,000-acre tract, purchased recently, near Chico. The state proposes to provide the settler not only with land, but will erect simple, modern houses, barns, silos and other necessary buildings, payments to be made on an installment plan, with terms that may be met easily. One-third of the investment must be paid at the start, but 25 to 36 years' time is given to pay the balance. The prime requisite is a loyal, patriotic citizen not holding land in any other part of the state. Plans are made to invest at least $500,000 in the project at the start.—Engineering News-Record.

Dromedary Came a Long Distance to Attend Methodist Centenary Celebration

The first Methodist Centenary Celebration dromedary has arrived in Columbus, O., and has consented to an interview. In fact, so softened was his disposition by the familiar scenes which greeted him in the North Africa exhibit section at the exposition grounds that he smilingly consented to pose for a picture with the reporter perched precariously on his hump.

"I've come a long distance to attend the Centenary celebration," he stated, "and I don't regret a mile of it now that I have seen the preparations being made for it at the exposition grounds. This world's missionary exposition is going to beat anything I have ever seen, and I have seen many things in my travels."

The dromedary is one of a number of animals who are arriving to take part in the great Centenary celebration in Columbus. They will appear in the exhibitions of foreign countries, and some absolutely safe camels and elephants will be ridden by children who come to the exposition.

The architecture of the Coliseum is such that every person will have an unobstructed view of what goes on upon the stage, and can hear every word spoken or note played or sung.

ENTERTAINMENT AT CENTENARY VARIED

Every Effort Made to Popularize Daily Programs.

CHILDREN TAKE GREAT PART

Huge Pageant, Representing the Children's Crusade of the Twelfth Century, Will Be Given Each Day. Famous Speakers Have Agreed to Attend Celebration at Columbus, June 20 to July 13.

In addition to the religious features of the Methodist Centenary celebration, which opens in Columbus, O., on June 20, every effort is being made to popularize the daily programs and to make them attractive to the varied tastes of all visitors, according to Alonzo E. Wilson, director of the department of special days.

The Rainbow Division band and a famous Jackie band will furnish music daily, and well known Chautauqua entertainers have contracted to be here with lively programs of singing and instrumental music. For lovers of classical and sacred music, the Coliseum at the exposition grounds will be a Mecca. Daily recitals by Professor William J. Kraft of Columbia University, at the $50,000 organ; a symphony orchestra, famous singers, a chorus of 1,000 voices and the trombone choir of 100 pieces will be featured there.

Pageants, life plays, motion pictures and educational lectures will fill the mornings, afternoons and evenings. "It is our aim to provide entertainment for everybody every minute of the day," says Mr. Wilson.

That the celebration is not for grownups alone is proved by the extensive preparations being made for the children who come. In addition to playgrounds, well equipped and attended, there will be elephants, camels and burros to ride, and a Wild West show every day. A huge pageant representing the Children's Crusade of the twelfth century will be presented daily by 500 children, accompanied by a children's chorus of 500 voices.

Among the famous men of the country who have agreed definitely to be here for the Centenary celebration are ex-President William H. Taft, Major General Leonard Wood, Secretary Josephus Daniels, William Jennings Bryan, Lieutenant Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, Governor Henry J. Allen, Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior; John Barrett, director general of the Pan-American Union, Henry P. Fletcher, United States ambassador to Mexico; El Sr. Dr. Lic Bonilla, Mexican ambassador at Washington, and Chaplain Tiplady of the British army. These men will speak in the Coliseum during the celebration.

COLISEUM HAS LARGEST STAGE IN THE WORLD

Crowning Feature of Methodist Centenary Celebration.

Columbus, O.—As the Coliseum is the crowning feature of the exposition grounds where the Methodist Centenary celebration will be held June 20 to July 13, so it will house a number of the crowning features of that celebration.

Built originally by the state of Ohio at a cost of a quarter of a million dollars to house live stock exhibitions, it has been transformed by liberal expenditures into one of the finest auditoriums in America.

It has been furnished with a $50,000 pipe organ.

It has been fitted with the largest stage in America.

It has been reseated to accommodate 8,000 spectators.

The stage will accommodate 2,000 people.

The orchestra pit is arranged for 75 musicians.

The building is solid concrete, steel and glass, and has extraordinary acoustic properties.

Dutch Form of Golf.

Where and when golf started no body knows of a certainty; whether or not it comes from Holland or Scotland matters little, perhaps, except to the seeker after the truth and nothing but the truth. To him we would say that some sort of a game resembling golf was played in Holland oftentimes on the ice with stakes instead of holes. No rules for such play have ever been discovered, but from pictures we learn that the finish of this Hollandish form was somewhat after the fashion of croquet, with the ball being hit between two sticks.

"Take It Easy."

A great many young folks make hard work of things that should be perfectly easy, and as long as there are plenty of really hard duties to be done, it seems a pity to make hard work of the rest. One of the arts of life is to learn to do our work in the easiest way, saving on the simple tasks strength to apply to the hard duties.

W. S. S.—YOU CAN BUY 'EM ANYWHERE

ENCOURAGE NATIONAL THRIFT BY WIDESPREAD OFFERING OF THESE STAMPS.

POSTAL SAVINGS IMPROVED
Stamps Are Just As Safe, More Profitable and Patriotic.

Washington, D. C.—Thrift stamps, under plans adopted by Carter Glass, new secretary of the treasury, are to be a permanent part of the financial program of the United States.

Drawing a lesson from France's experience, the United States will keep constantly on sale large quantities of this small-sized and easily-bought security. Just as the ordinary citizen now can put his money into postal savings at any sizeable postoffice, so he will be able under the new program, to buy War Savings Stamps.

Instead of the two per cent, which the postal savings pay, the stamps will have an interest return to their owner of 4 per cent. This will be compounded four times yearly, instead of once or twice as at banks so that the real interest return will be very close to five per cent.

When the new program gets completely under way, which will be in the first half of 1919, the thriftily inclined citizen will be able to buy the stamps also at many stores and at practically all banks.

For 1919, and probably for a part of 1920, the government will urge its citizens to purchase the stamps as a matter of patriotism—to pay up war bills. But after that, the trend of the campaign will be more and more toward simply encouraging the people to save both for their own individual good and to make the nation strong financially.

Big Factor in Treasurer.

Secretary Glass said recently that he planned to make the War Savings Stamps—which will continue to bear that name because the public is familiar with it—a major factor in his plans for the treasury department. Gradually, he hopes to educate the American people to something of the same habits of thrift which have made the French nation so strong in an emergency.

The United States, up to the time of its Liberty loans, had sold no securities to its people—although some had been wholesaled to bankers and other big investors through such financial houses as Jay Cook & Co.

With the people now educated to bonds through the war, Secretary Glass believes that the government can sell to the people hundreds of millions of dollars in stamps every year. The idea, like that of the postal savings, won't be to make money for the government, but to provide a method under which the ordinary man can save money and be absolutely sure of not losing it. Just as the postal saving drew millions of dollars which had been "hidden in an old sock" or in a garret, he expects the stamps to result in bringing into circulation great numbers of small hoards which had been hidden away. That means better business for everyone.

Register War Savings Stamps.

To make the safety of the stamps doubly sure, the government will emphasize the registration feature. That is, everyone who holds a $5 stamp will be asked to register it, which he can do at any postoffice. After this is done, he might lose the stamp either through accident, robbery, fire or any other way, and still not be out anything. The government would issue him new stamps free of charge and register them also. They would be marked (duplicate) to prevent fraud.

Here are a few things which Mr. Glass will ask the people to do.

Save to pay for your home.

Save to give your children a good education.

Save for old age—you don't want to be dependent.

Save as a matter of insurance.

If you used to spend money on intoxicants, save that now.

Save because, if some business opportunity opens to you, you won't lose it because of the lack of a few dollars.

And do all this saving, not in money, which pays no interest, and which may be lost in some way, but in War Savings Stamps. These latter can be put by in such small amounts too, that they scarcely will be missed. A quarter here and there put into a thrift stamp will soon become a $5 War Savings Stamp.

The stamps this year are slightly smaller than those of 1918, blue in color and display the head of Benjamin Franklin, the Apostle of Savings. The February price is $4.13 and the maturity date is January 1st, 1924. The same Thrift Stamps, as in present use, will be continued through 1919 and partially filled Thrift Stamp cards may be completed during the new year and exchanged for the 1919 issue of War Savings Stamps.

A new certificate is issued for use with the 1919 War Savings Stamps. These should not be affixed to unfilled 1918 Certificates. The fact that a 1918 Certificate is only partly filled will make no difference in redemption on or before January 1st, 1923.

Portuguese Cemeteries.

Instead of headstones and monuments, the cemetery of Lisbon shows rows and rows of tiny chapels ranged in long avenues bordered by cypress trees. The Portuguese are reluctant to bury their dead out of sight, and these chapels serve as mortuaries for the coffins, which are placed on the shelves within. Through the iron grills the eye discerns small altars and flowers gleaming through the subdued light of the interiors.

Henry Adams on Facts.

Adams was a man of industry, always doing more work than he confessed to. With him all facts had to be interrelated into meaning and significance. "For facts as such I have a profound contempt," he said one day in his classroom; just as in his education he remarks that "nothing in education is so astonishing as the amount of ignorance it accumulates in the form of inert facts."—Henry O. FISK CORD TIRES

AN HONEST MAN

By H. FIELDING.

George was a thief at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Half an hour earlier he had been merely an imprudent young man who had neglected a matter of $25 borrowed by him from "cash."

If his account had been turned over to anybody else but Williams the matter might not appear so black, but George had been promoted over Williams' head; the matter would go straight to the supreme head of everything.

Even now, if he could borrow the $25—but he had tried—all his friends in the office and it would not "be easy to get out." Yet it must be done; the alternative was criminal prosecution—sheer ruin.

George laid his hand upon the lid of his desk to pull it down. With or without an excuse, he must go out and find that money.

Just as he arose from his seat a hand was laid upon his arm and he turned to face Old Ben, the soft-footed messenger, mysterious as a demon of Eastern fable, who did the will of the supreme head of the establishment.

"Mr. Harriman wants to see you," said this slave-of-the-ring.

"I wonder if there is anything in making a clean breast of it?" he said to himself, as he walked toward Harriman's room; and then he remembered what had happened to a certain young man who had done that very thing. It seemed that the floor was no longer on a level and he saw four knobs on Harriman's door, as he stretched his hand to open it.

There was a flat-topped desk as large as a dinner table in the middle of the room, and at the opposite side of it sat Harriman. His eyes smaller, his nose was larger, his chin was fatter, and his coloring was a brighter red, than ever before in George's recollection of him.

George had been in the great man's presence oftener, during the past year, than any other minor employee in the main office. He was an object of envy on that account. The idea of appearing before this man as a thief was a thing to die of.

"Lang," said Harriman, "I'm going to give you a chance."

George's brain made 500 rapid revolutions in his head.

"Ninety-nine clerks in a hundred," Harriman continued, "will always be clerks. I believe that you are the hundredth man. You've been handling some correspondence with our agents—under my direction and you have shown a comprehension of the subject that has made me think well of you."

George merely bowed. He could not speak aloud. All his faculty of language was occupied in interior, soundless cursing of himself for his incredible folly.

"Our man Robbins, in Johnstown," Harriman proceeded, "has been having trouble, as you know."

He paused, and in the interval, the effort of remembering who Robbins was, cleared George's mind.

"Robbins is not the man for the place," he said. "He doesn't seem to know what he is there for."

Harriman slapped the desk gently with his fat hand.

"Precisely," said he; "and that is why I am going to put you in his shoes."

The sweat started out suddenly in the palms of George's hands, and he felt at the same time the sensation of a cold grip on the back of his neck.

"You will leave for Johnstown tonight," said Harriman. "Here is the order superseding Robbins. You will draw the same salary and get the same commissions that he does. This is an exceptional opportunity. No man gets such a chance as this twice in his lifetime. You must prove yourself worthy, and do it in a hurry."

He leaned over the desk and looked earnestly at George, who, in that moment, would have given his right hand to be an honest man.

"I expect you to crush competition out there," continued Harriman. "That fellow, Wellbrook, who is running an independent racket, must be done up. I don't care how you do it, or what it costs. Lay him out. We want all the business wherever we go."

He laughed pleasantly, and George tried to join him, but the thought of Williams restrained his mirth. It was dreadful to think that at the moment when he was about to be trusted with so important a mission, the stigma of dishonesty would be placed upon him.

"Mr. Williams wishes to see you, sir," said Old Ben, appearing suddenly. Harriman nodded to George, who was moving toward the door, and then said to the messenger: "All right; I'll see him."

Williams entered hurriedly, and started with surprise at sight of George. The latter nodded coldly.

"By the way, Williams," he said, "there's twenty-five dollars in an envelope in my desk that I forgot to turn over to you. I'll lay it out on your table."

He passed out, leaving Williams standing with his mouth open, and his eyes like two glass marbles.

To draw his money from the cashier to arrange the amount for Williams, and to escape from the office, required but little time.

George hurried home, his heart light, his mind full of plans for the ruin of Wellbrook.

"How pleased father will be," he said again and again. "Thank heaven that I go home to him this day an honest man!"

The average-sized Alaska walrus is as big as an ox and often weighs more than a ton. A walrus was recently killed by some whalers near Point Barrow whose head weighed 80 pounds, and skin, including flippers, 500 pounds. The animal had a girth of 14 feet, the skin was from half an inch to three inches in thickness, and the blubber weighed 500 pounds.

Persia's Favorite Beverage.

The great beverage in Persia is sherbet, which is plentifully supplied and of which there are many varieties--from the bowl of water with a squeeze of lemon to the clear concentrated juice of any sort of fruit to which water is added to dilute it. Only among the rich and fashionable are glasses used; in all other cases sherbet is served in china bowls and drunk from deep wooden spoons carved in pearwood.

Substitute for Putty.

A cheap substitute for putty, suitable for stopping cracks in floors and other woodwork, is made by soaking newspaper in a paste made by boiling a pound of flour in three quarts of water and adding a teaspoonful of alum. Force this mixture into the cracks with a knife.

Satisfied With Little Food.

In the Edinburgh (Scotland) Zoo there is a crocodile that is content with a rat or a piece of horseflesh every fortnight. There is an anaconda which arrived more than a year ago and has since steadily refused to take food of any kind, an example of abstention surpassed, however, by an Indian python which during its 13 months' stay has not voluntarily taken food.

Major and Minor Prophets.

The major prophets of the Old Testament were Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel and Daniel. The Old Testament books contain their prophecies. The minor prophets of the group of Old Testament writers from Hosea to Malachi are so called because of the brevity of their prophecies. Malachi was the last of the minor prophets.

Intelligent Dog.

The family doctor was making a professional call one afternoon, when Johnny, who happened to be the patient on this occasion, suddenly gave a chuckle just as the physician had completed his examination and remarked in a half confidential whisper: "Say, just look at my doggy! I guess he knows you're a doctor, all right. He's got his tongue out."

Notice to Water Users.
 The Village of Cass City desires to give patrons who pay for the convenience of city water good service. This cannot be done with useless waste going on. Much complaint is made against people who use a hose to wash cars and water gardens without paying lawn service; also against use of hose out of specified hours. When you use water without paying for it you are using extra coal at the power house. Keep all leaks repaired. That will save coal. Special Notice—In case the fire alarm is sounded shut every faucet, especially the hose. J. C. FARRELL, Village Clerk.

ALLIES MAKE FINAL REPLY TO GERMANY

REVISED TREATY TEXT HANDED TEUTONS—NUMBER OF MODIFICATIONS MADE.

GIVEN TILL JUNE 23 TO SIGN

Clemenceau Severely Castigates foe For Defiant Protests, In Note Accompanying Text.

Versailles.—The reply of the Allied and associated governments to Germany's counter proposals to the peace treaty and a revised copy of the peace treaty were given to the German delegation June 16.

Few changes have been made in the revised peace treaty. The original contents of the Allied and associated powers virtually have been maintained intact.

Five days was the allotted period fixed originally for the Germans to answer yes or no to the demands of the Allies. But two days additional have been granted because of the insistence of the German delegation that not sufficient time had been allowed for proper consideration of the revised terms.

This will extend the time limitation to Monday, June 23.

If Germany's reply is yes the treaty will be signed immediately; if Germany declines to accede to the demands the armistice will be terminated automatically and the Allied armed forces will take whatever steps they deem requisite to the occasion.

With the revised treaty containing interlineations in red ink, where changes had been made in it, was a covering note, written by Premier Clemenceau, president of the peace conference.

It had been impossible to reprint the treaty in time for its presentation.

The covering note severely castigates Germany for protesting against the treaty on the ground that the treaty conflicts with the terms of the armistice.

M. Clemenceau says Germany fails to understand the position she occupies today in the estimation of the world for being responsible for a war which was "the greatest crime against humanity and the freedom of the people that any nation, calling itself civilized, ever has consciously committed."

The reply is in two parts—a general covering letter and seriatim discussions of the general counterproposals. The changes include:

A plebiscite for Upper Silesia, with guarantees of coal from that territory.

Frontier rectifications in West Prussia.

Omission of the third zone in the Schleswig plebiscite.

Temporary increase of the German army from 100,000 to 200,000 men.

Declaration of the intention to submit within a month of signature a list of those accused of violation of the laws and customs of war.

Offer to co-operate with a German commission in reparations, and to receive suggestions for discharging the obligation.

Certain detailed modifications in the finance, economic and ports and waterways clauses, including abolition of the proposed Kiel canal commission.

Assurance of membership in the League of Nations in the early future if Germany fulfills her obligations.

The detailed reply follows exactly the scheme of the original conditions of peace, which in turn was followed by the Germans in their counter proposals. It says it cannot be disputed that the Allied statesmen never have expressed a desire for any other peace than one which would undo the wrongs of 1914, vindicate justice and international right, and reconstruct the political foundations of Europe which would give liberty to all its peoples and therefore the prospect of a lasting peace.

TELEPHONE STRIKE AVERTED

Burleson Issues Order Recognizing Electrical Workers Union.

Washington.—Orders calling off the threatened strike of electrical workers June 16 were issued by J. P. Noonan, acting international president of the Electrical Workers' Union, after issuance of orders by Postmaster-General Burleson granting employees of telephone companies the right to bargain collectively.

"Our fight from the beginning," Mr. Noonan said, "has been to establish the right of the telephone workers to organize and to bargain collectively with the employers and to stop discrimination practiced by a great many of the companies throughout the United States."

Tawney, Former House Leader, Dead.

Winona, Minn.—James A. Tawney, former congressman of the First Minnesota district, and one-time chairman of the house appropriations committee, died last week at Excelsior Springs, Mo. Mr. Tawney was 64 years old. For 18 years he was a member of congress. He was first elected in 1892 and retired in 1911. He since had been a member of the International Joint commission. He was a blacksmith and a machinist in his youth.

New Telephone Toll Rates

Effective June 13th, 1919

By order of the Postmaster General, new schedules of rates for telephone toll calls became effective 12:01 a. m., June 13th, 1919.

Under these new schedules the "station to station" rate is the base rate upon which all rates for the various classes of service offered, are computed. This rate is determined by the air line distance between toll points and is computed, for the initial period, on the basis of 5c for each 6 miles up to 24 miles and 5c for each 8 miles beyond that distance.

For toll calls where the calling party does not specify a particular person to be reached at the called telephone, the "station to station" rate is charged. This method provides the cheapest and quickest form of telephone toll service.

"Station to station" calls should be made as far as possible by giving the telephone number of the called telephone. Where the number is not known and telephone directory information is not available, the name and address under which the telephone is listed together with the information that it is a "station to station" call should be given to the toll operator.

For toll calls where the calling party specifies a particular person to be reached at the called telephone and the connection is established and conversation held with that person, the "person to person" rate is charged. As this service requires a greater amount of operating effort, the rate for such calls is about one-fourth greater than the "station to station" rate. (Minimum "person to person" rate 15c).

For toll calls on a "person to person" basis, where the calling party, in placing the call, designates a definite time at which he will talk and the conversation is held, the "appointment" rate is charged. As this service involves the making of the appointment in addition to the operating effort necessary for a "person to person" call, the "appointment" rate is about one-half greater than the "station to station" rate. (Minimum "appointment" rate 20c).

For toll calls made on a "person to person" basis where messenger service is required to secure attendance of the designated person at the called telephone the "messenger call" rate applies. This rate is the same as the "appointment" rate, plus any necessary charge for messenger service.

In connection with all toll calls other than those made on a "station to station" basis where the connection is established but the conversation is not held, because of any reason beyond the control of the telephone company a "report charge" is made equivalent to about one-fourth of the "station to station" rate. (Minimum "report charge" 5c, maximum $2.00).

Reduced rates, applying only to calls made on a "station to station" basis are quoted for toll service between the hours of 8:30 p. m. and 4:30 a. m. The rate between 8:30 p. m. and 12 midnight ("evening rate") is about one-half the "station to station" day rate, and between 12 midnight and 4:30 a. m. ("night rate") about one-fourth the "station to station" day rate. The minimum night rate is 25c. Where the "station to station" day rate is 25c or less no reduction is made for evening or night service.

The time at which connection is established at originating point governs the rate determining whether the day, evening or night charge applies on "station to station" service.

Day rates apply on all calls other than those made on a "station to station" basis, whether they are made during the day, evening or night.

"Collect Calls" or calls for which the charges are reversed (that is, collected from the subscriber at the called station) are allowed only in connection with "person to person" calls.

AMERICAN ARMY INVADES MEXICO

FIRE OPENED ON VILLA FORCES
FOLLOWING SHOOTING OF U. S. ARTILLERYMAN.

WITHDRAWN AGAIN SAME DAY

Reason Given For Ordering Troops
Across Border Was to Prevent Attacks On El Paso.

Juarez, Mexico.—At the request of General Gonzales, Mexican federal commander, orders were issued to the American troops to be General Cobelli, the American officer in charge of the expedition, to withdraw to American soil.

General Gonzales also requested General Cabell to make it known through the Associated Press to the people of the United States that he, General Gonzales, had not requested assistance from the United States in handling the situation.

El Paso, Texas.—American troops and Mexican rebel forces fought their first general engagement at the Juarez race track early Monday.

Many prisoners were reported taken by the cavalry, which surrounded the track on the east and southeast, according to an official announcement at military headquarters.

Following the killing of one member of the Eighty-second artillery and the serious wounding of another by Mexican snipers Sunday night, General Erwin ordered expert riflemen at that point to return the snipers' fire.

The shots which killed the artilleryman were fired before American artillery began the bombardment of the race track.

The twenty-fourth infantry, the fifth and seventh cavalry and a battalion of eighty-second artillery crossed the border.

The American troops crossed to Mexico to stop Villa's rebels from firing further shots into El Paso. This was the statement of Brigadier General James B. Erwin to the Associated Press immediately after issuing the order for the crossing.

He added emphatically that it was not to be an invasion of Mexico, that the situation was fully understood by General Francisco Gonzales and the Carranza officials and that no resistance was anticipated from the Carranza forces which have been fighting in Juarez.

UNIONS PROTEST DRY LAW

Hold Meeting At Capitol Against
Enforcement of Prohibition.

Washington.—Organized labor, bringing to congress in a public demonstration, its protest against prohibition of beer and wine, gave warning that the tranquility of the working classes might be seriously menaced by enforcement of the war time prohibition law.

In a three-hour meeting on the eastern steps of the capitol, other advocates of wine and beer prohibition repeated protested that the provision was striking at the personal liberty of the masses, and was taking from millions of workers an accustomed part of their daily food.

ARMY OF HALF MILLION ASKED

Baker Insists That Congress Make Provision For 509,000 Men.

Washington.—Secretary Baker, appearing before the senate military committee, insisted that congress make provision for an army of 509,000 men until a permanent military policy can be adopted. He declared the force of 300,000 proposed in the annual army appropriation bill as passed by the house was "inadequate."

Secretary Baker told the committee that in addition to the army of occupation in Germany, a sufficient force must be maintained for Mexican border duty and to take care of vast stores of government supplies, both in France and in this country.

LIGHTNING KILLS TWO BROTHERS

Caught in Storm While Fishing.—Boat
Undamaged.

Newport, Mich.—Caught in a row-boat a considerable distance from the shore during a sudden electrical storm June 15, William H. and George McBride, both of 197 Vermont avenue, Detroit, brothers, were struck by a lightning bolt and instantly killed.

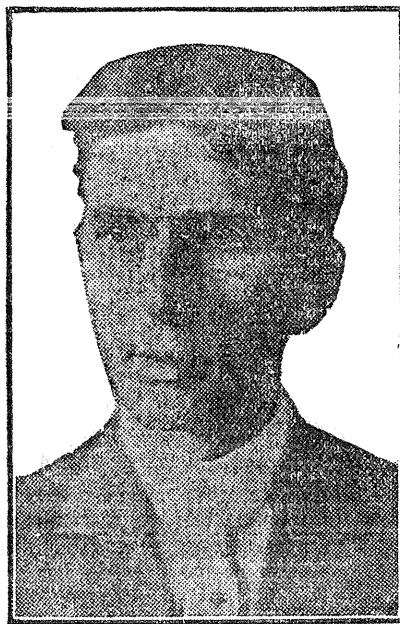

The men had spent the early part of the day fishing.

The boat was undamaged.

Potash Makers Accused of Combine.

Washington.—American potash producers are accused by Representative Rainey, Democrat, of Illinois, of unlawful combination in violation of anti-trust laws to get high prices for their product. The charge was made after witnesses at hearings on protective legislation had said the producers wanted $250 a ton for their potash salts. It developed later that some of the companies would sell their products for less than $250 a ton.

GETS APPOINTMENT AS AMBASSADOR TO ITALY

BRAND WHITLOCK.

Paris.—President Wilson has decided to appoint Brand Whitlock, now minister to Belgium, ambassador to Rome, succeeding Thomas Nelson Page. The promotion is in recognition of Whitlock's fine work at Brussels during the war.

BRITISH PLANE "HOPS" OCEAN

Crosses Atlantic in 16 Hours 12 Minutes—First Non-Stop Flight.

London.—The final goal of all the ambitions which flying men have ventured to dream since the Wright brothers first rose from the earth in a heavier-than-air machine, was realized Sunday morning, when two young British officers, Captain John Alcock and Lieutenant Arthur W. Brown, landed on the Irish coast after the first non-stop flight across the Atlantic ocean.

Flying at the rate of 120 miles an hour, sometimes in dense fog with their rugged Vickers-Vimy bombing plane upside down only 10 feet above the waves, and at other times at an altitude of 11,000 feet, Captain Alcock and Lieutenant Brown finished their 1,950-mile leap from St. John's, Newfoundland, to Clifden, Ireland, in 16 hours, 12 minutes.

But the brief and modest description which comes from the airmen at Clifden tells of an adventurous and amazingly hazardous enterprise. Sleet cut into their faces, ice caked the machine and at times the fog was so dense the speed indicator would not work.

The NC-4, of the United States Navy, carrying Lieutenant commander Read and four aids, covered 2,420 miles at the rate of 91.20 miles an hour, but this was not a non-stop flight.

Other aviators now at St. John's preparing to fly to Europe, declare they will not give up the attempt, though the $50,000 prize has been won, but will try for a new time record, in hope of having either the British government or individuals offer a prize.

COMMERCIAL KEYMEN STRIKE

Indications Point to Bitter Fight—
20,000 Walk Out First Day.

Chicago.—Claims of the rival organizations notwithstanding, the strike of commercial telegraphers against the Western Union and Postal-Telegraph companies gave every indication of settling into a protracted and bitter fight.

According to S. J. Koenekamp, president of the union, the first day of the strike took between 18,000 and 20,000 men and women from their keys. Koenekamp maintained that other operators would go on strike until the number is increased to 40,000.

Analyzing the reports received from various sections of the nation, it is evident that, except in a few localities, the Western Union is not affected by the strike to an extent that would seriously hamper the operation of the system.

339TH SCHEDULE IS CHANGED

Men Now At France to Await Comrades Before Coming Home.

New York.—Receipts of the news at the army transport office at Hoboken that the six companies of the 339th infantry, now at Camp Pontanezen, near Brest, France, are to be held there until about June 28, led military authorities to announce that the veterans from the Russian front would be sent back to Michigan as an entire regiment, rather than in broken units.

Considering the new arrangements announced from Brest, present indications are that the veterans from Russia will reach the United States not later than July 8.

Morgan Partner Got Copy of Treaty.

Washington.—Senator Lodge has revealed that the copy of the peace treaty which stirred up such a sensation in the senate, was shown him by Elihu Root, former secretary of state. Mr. Root told the committee he got it from Henry P. Davison, member of the Morgan banking house and head of the Red Cross, and Mr. Davison in turn testified it was given him in Paris by Thomas W. Lamont, another Morgan partner attached to the American peace mission.

Flint, Mich.—Frank Dako, 37, was watering a team in the river when one of the horses kicked him, throwing him into the river unconscious and he was swept away by the current before witnesses could help.

Daniels Tabooes Royal Pomp.

Washington.—Epaulets, cocked hats, gold covered belts and highly ornamented special full dress coats heretofore worn by naval officers on special occasions are abolished under an order issued by Secretary Daniels.

Veteran Returns With 148 Scars.

New York.—Scarred from 148 wounds, received while fighting with the Italian army, Private Felice Crespi has arrived here on the transport Francisco. Crespi left Toronto in July, 1915, to fight for his home country.

General Motors Capital $1,000,000,000.

Wilmington, Del.—Stockholders of the General Motors corporation, at a meeting in this city gave a vote of approval to the action of the directors in increasing the capital stock of the corporation from $370,000,000 to $1,000,000,000.

Makes Dummy of Soap, Escapes.

Ossining, N. Y.—A cleverly made dummy of himself, with face sculptured out of dough and soap and said to be a striking resemblance, enabled John McAllister, a New York burglar, to fool his guards and escape from Sing Sing prison.

Toledo to Fight Bolshevism.

Toledo.—The Toledo Americanization Board, a newly formed organization, is perfecting plans to combat the spread of Bolshevism and the I. W. W. teachings. Flying squadrons of speakers are being formed to take the stump in all parts of the city against un-Americanism.

Five-Day Week For London Editors.

London.—A five-day week for brain workers on the London Times has been inaugurated by Lord Northcliffe. It includes editors, copyreaders and reporters. The system shortly is to be extended to the Daily Mail and his other daily publications.

Flying Less Deadly Than Infantry.

Washington.—Casualties among infantry officers were higher than among aviators, a report by the war department showing that 55 infantry officers and 46 enlisted men of every 1,000 were returned as battle deaths against 31 officers and one man for the air service.

Fifty Years a Teacher, Resigns.

Kalamazoo, Mich.—Miss Sarah Beach has resigned as a public school teacher here after 50 years of service. With the exception of three years she taught at Minneapolis, she has served continuously as a grade instructor at the Vine street school. Many of the city's most prominent men have been her pupils.

Sales of W. S. S. to Be Pushed.

Washington.—Sales of Savings Stamps and certificates will be relied upon by the Treasury to supply a large part of the Government's financial needs during the period of transition and the thrift campaign started during the war will be continued as a permanent part of the Government's fiscal policy.

Army Paymaster Skips With $121,250.

Coblentz.—German army and police authorities in the unoccupied territory opposite the Coblentz bridgehead have been requested by American intelligence officers to keep a lookout for an American disbursing officer who has disappeared with $121,250. The money was intended to be paid to the men of the Fifth field artillery of the first division, which holds the outpost of the bridgehead. It is believed that the officers fled into the interior of Germany.

Expenses of Telephone Company Increased 89.3%

Mr. Geo. M. Welch, General Manager of the Michigan State Telephone Company, declares that the increased rates authorized by the Postmaster General are needed to meet an emergency unparalleled in the history of the Company.

No dividends have been paid on the common stock since 1915. From 1915 to 1918, inclusive, new business requiring added capital increased the revenue of the Company 29.5% while expenses, not including depreciation nor interest charges, increased 89.3%.

If the Company had paid a reasonable return on the investment for the year 1918 it would have needed $2,823,592 more than it did earn. As a matter of fact it did not earn enough to wholly take care of its depreciation.

The General Manager calls attention to the problem in Michigan that faced the Postmaster General when the Government took over the operation and direction of the Telephone lines last August. With a continuing deficit increasing monthly because of the increasing costs of materials and labor, added revenue had to be obtained in order to prevent the Government from having to make up the loss. For this reason an application was made before the Michigan Railroad Commission for increased rate schedules. The rates asked for were not claimed to be adequate but it was thought that they would produce the minimum amount with which the Company could continue doing business and were so low and the amount of added revenue so small that no one could conscientiously challenge them. Since that time costs have still further advanced and conditions have changed so that the rates now authorized by the Postmaster General will not meet immediate needs.

Mr. Welch says that for six years there has been a continued effort to adjust telephone rates in Michigan. Because of rapidly changing conditions each schedule proposed has become obsolete before the regulatory bodies considering it had finally passed upon it. While charges for all other products and services have advanced telephone rates have not increased although the cost of furnishing service has been steadily going up.

With this change in rates the increase in charges for telephone service are not proportionately as great as the increase in price for all other commodities.

The reliance that womenkind has learned to put in crackers is being well illustrated at the teas being given for returning soldiers and sailors.

Every woman in the metropolis has in her pantry a generous supply of the National Biscuit Company's always useful and sally accepted products.

Nettie, a comely young woman, yeoman of the Navy, still in uniform, found her time well spent entertaining a company at tea at her uptown home the other afternoon including several young officers and a battleship in port.

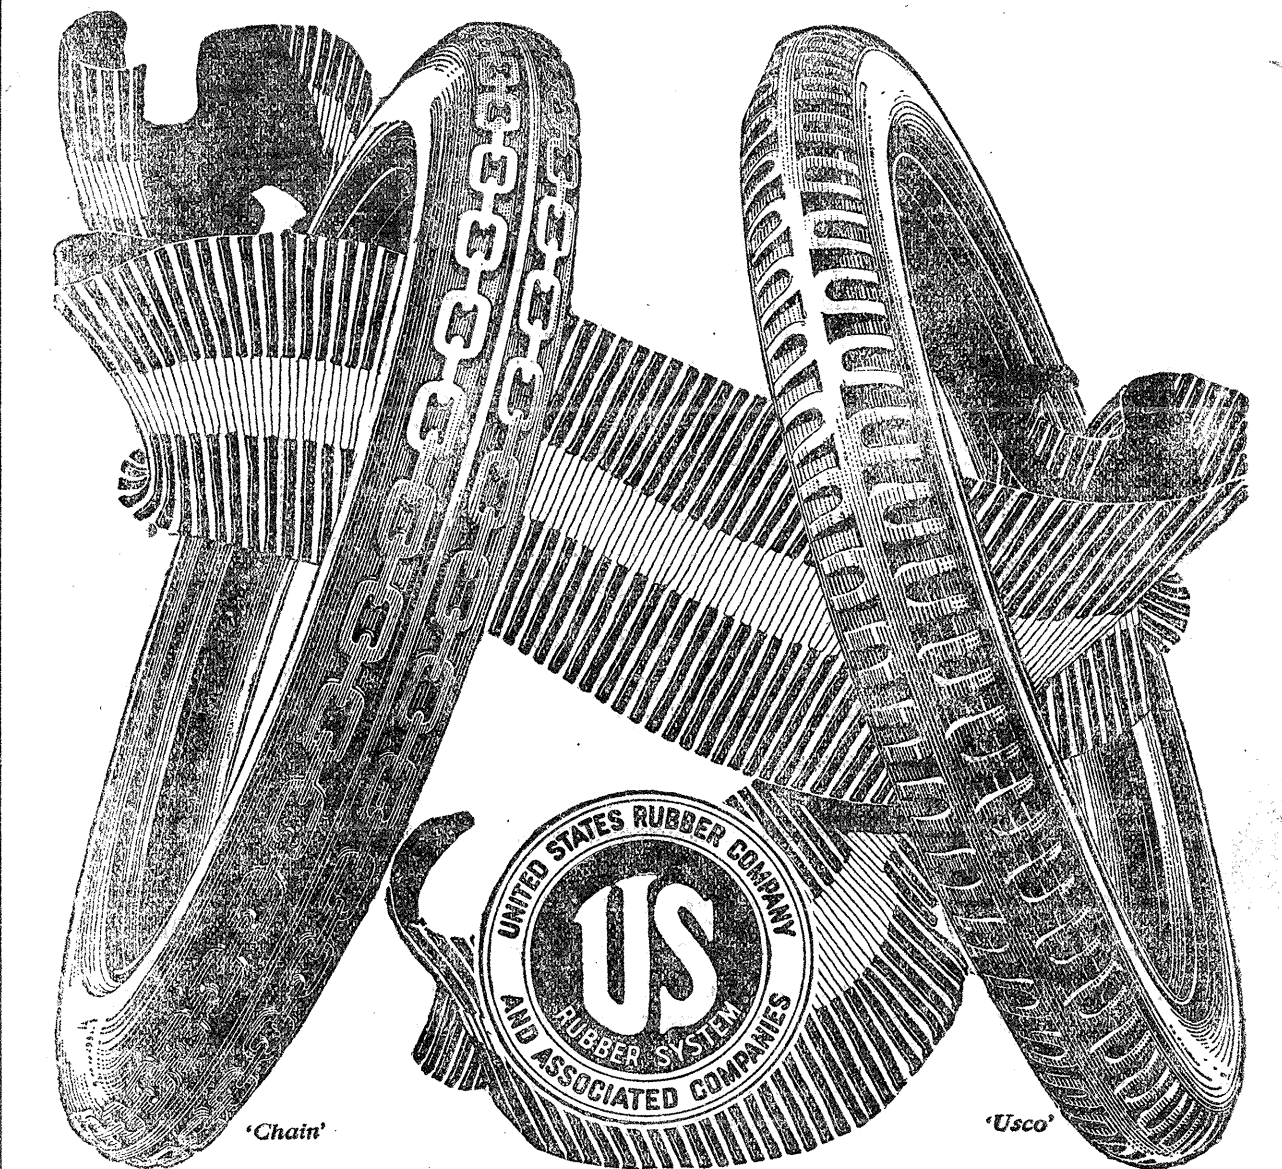

She had figured out every soldier's ration and had a biscuit or two for tea.

On a thick, cracker she had edged with sassafras leaves and Lotus biscuit. Some bruised leaves lay at the bottom of the basket, and the petals emitted a delicate fragrance, adding charm to the delightfully flavored.

sugar-filled wafers which they supported. There was no question about the complete success of Nettie's discovery, as the fragrance of the fresh cups of tea which she served added to the inviting repast. Another favorite at the tea hour—punch—was almost as much at breakfast and luncheon—is the N. B. C. Graham Crackers.

That children should have robust appetites is natural and proper. It is a sign they are strong, well and growing. Encourage them—give them N.B.C. Graham Crackers—even between meals.
