

WIN MORE HONORS FOR C. C. H. S.

BROOKER AND GOWEN STAR AT KALAMAZOO TRACK AND FIELD MEET.

Each Man Sets New Record; Brooker Highest Point Winner in Class B.

Forty-two high schools entered 242 athletes in the Western State Normal's fourth interscholastic track and field meet Saturday afternoon when six state records were broken and two tied.

Cass City, with but two men entered and they in competition with the largest high schools in the state, won sixth place in the meet and carried off the honors of breaking two of the records. Jas. Brooker set a record of 110 feet 7 inches in the discus and Earl Gowen set a mark of 52.2-5 seconds in the 440 yard dash. Cass City was the leader of Class B schools and Brooker the highest point winner in that division.

Kalamazoo high school won the meet by a narrow margin of two points. The total team scores follow: Kalamazoo, 23 points; Grand Rapids Central, 21; Detroit Eastern, 21; Detroit Northwestern, 19; Battle Creek, 15; Cass City, 13; Detroit Central, 8; Highland Park, 8; Wayland, 6; Grand Rapids Union, 6; Belding, 6; Paw Paw, 5 1/2; Rockford, 5 1/2; Grand Rapids South, 5; Allegan, 3; Bangor, 2; Hastings, 2; Otsego, 2; Bay City Western, 1; Detroit Northern, 1; Three Oaks, 1; Lansing, 1; Plainwell, 1.

Earl Heller, who accompanied the Cass City athletes to Kalamazoo, says the meet was splendidly conducted throughout, the track was in fine condition and the visitors were accorded excellent entertainment. Luncheon and supper were served at the Normal school and about 250 competing athletes sat down to the tables. Mr. Heller says Clark McKenzie of Kalamazoo proved to be a veritable godfather to the Cass City bunch.

BIG DEMAND FOR GAS.

The gasoline service station of J. C. Farrell served its first patrons with gasoline Tuesday and it proved a very busy day for the proprietor and his helpers. Approximately 4,500 gallons were sold. Many auto tanks were replenished, gas barrels were filled and every conceivable receptacle which had a red tinge of color was brought in from village and country to get a supply of gasoline. The first two days' sales showed up 7,800 gallons.

GOOD ROADS ALL WAY TO CASS CITY

Elkton Review: "If some of our Elkton merchants would wake up and carry a stock of merchandise that should be carried in a town of this size, there would be less tendency for people of this town to trade elsewhere. Yes, there are a good many things people are forced to buy in neighboring towns simply because our merchants don't carry a complete stock in their line. People are going to have what they want no matter where they have to go in order to get it."

Listen, Mr. Elkton Buyer, there are good roads all the way to Cass City and live merchants and complete stocks at this end of the highway.

FRIDAY TELLS WHEN PRICES WILL FALL

U. OF M. PROFESSOR SAYS BIG DEMAND HAS KEPT PRICES HIGH.

Financial Depression Which May Be Short and Drastic May Come in 15 Months.

Prof. David Friday of the University of Michigan lectured to the members of the Parent Teachers' association on Friday evening. The subject, "Tax Reform in Michigan," had been announced, but since there is confusion in the minds of many regarding the cause of continued high prices, he suggested giving his lecture on "When Will Prices Fall?" By a majority vote of those present it was decided he give that lecture after which he answered many questions on taxation.

He said in part, "When will prices fall? How come prices to rise? The same causes will bring them down. Prices will not fall when profiteers are all put in jail nor when the excess profits tax comes off. Prices did not rise on account of excess profits tax."

"Our prices multiplied 2 1/2 times in five years. In England 3 1/2 times. In France, Germany and other nations of Europe even more. Even Sweden, a neutral nation, had a bigger rise than ours. Foreign competition won't bring down prices."

"Europe, by heavy purchases raised our prices 61 per cent before we entered the war. Before the war England yearly saved two billions of dollars from her 12 billion income. England had 17 billions invested in other nations. The United States saved 6 1/2 billions a year so grew rich faster than England. When war started, values changed, nothing now was as important as winning the war. England paid us big prices for war materials. We could buy no cheaper from our factories than the price England gave for the same product. That ran prices up. Why didn't prices come down when the armistice was signed? We extended credit to needy Europe to help them and they turned the money right back for goods and wanted more than before."

"Another reason was that we refused to allow unemployment fearing disturbances. The big demand for goods has kept prices high and labor is only from 40 per cent to 60 per cent efficient. To keep labor 100 per cent efficient we need competition and immigration costs have risen too much to make excessive profits. Profits have increased but were higher in 1917 than they are now."

"Ever increasing cost and ever increasing inefficiency will bring financial depression which may be short and drastic, and may come within fifteen months. Banks in New York are now at the end of their capacity to increase credit. If dealers could stop buying for a time manufacturing would let up, men would be laid off, wages would fall, efficiency would rise and prices fall. If America could raise 15 billions of dollars in one year and feed and clothe herself, what can't she do now if she tries?"

Enough Vacant Farm Houses in Michigan to House Grand Rapids

The number of men that have left the farms of Michigan during the past three years is three times as great as the number of Michigan men that died or were killed in the Civil war. It would require the present male population, over 15 years of age, of Lansing and Flint to replace them. There are enough vacant farm houses in Michigan to house conveniently the population of Grand Rapids. The number of farm houses vacated within the past 12 months could easily accommodate all of the people in the city of Jackson with homes. 8.74 per cent of the farms of the state are wholly idle this year, an area of approximately 1,668,000 acres, equal to about five ordinary counties. The total men and boys over 15 years of age on the farms of the state is 230,000 or 82.5 acres to be worked by each man or boy.

These figures are based upon a complete survey made during the past four weeks by the Michigan crop reporting service under the joint supervision of Coleman C. Vaughan, secretary of state and Verne H. Church, field agent, U. S. bureau of crop estimates, and aided by the office of the superintendent of public instruction. A blank was mailed to each rural school director asking for a report upon the farms of his school district. The compilation of these reports shows that 18,232 farms are idle this year as compared with 11,831 last year. While the abandonment, which in many cases is temporary because of the lack of tenant farmers, is least in the best farming sections, it is found to be a community movement. Many districts show no abandonment, but where families began leaving the act seems to be contagious until, in some cases, one-third to one-half of the school district had migrated to the city. In the southern district only 4.7 per cent of the farms are idle and in some counties only three per cent. In the northern district of the lower peninsula, 19.4 per cent are idle and occasional counties report 25 per cent or more.

This abandonment does not tell the whole story. A large percentage of men on farms are past 50 years of age and without help. The average size of farms is 91.5 acres, and there are but 11 men and boys to each ten farms or but one man or boy to each 82.5 acres, with many of these unable to do a full man's work. There are 30,300 vacant houses on farms, ten thousand of which have been vacated within the last year.

Of the 276,000 men on farms three years ago, 46,000 have since left, 20,000 of them during the past year. This unprecedented exodus from farms indicates that city and industrial life have become more profitable and satisfactory than farm life. A recent preliminary survey conducted by the state farm bureau shows similar and comparable results and that there would be a decrease of 15.8 per cent in the acreage of cultivated crops this year as a result. Its report also shows that the number of dairy cattle has decreased 11.3 per cent during the past year.

As Michigan is only typical of the conditions found in most other states, it is evident that the production of farm crops will decline as long as the present situation continues and as long as the cost of producing these crops follows so closely the price the farmer receives. With a steadily decreasing supply and increasing demand the price of food will continue to advance. The only remedy is a reversal of present conditions through an increase in the number of food producers and a corresponding decrease in the number of non-producers of food. This reversal will only come when the remuneration for growing food crops becomes as great in proportion taking into account investment, risk and labor as that of other occupations; and when farm life takes on attractiveness equal to that of city life.

FARMERS TURNING TO SORGHUM FOR SWEETS
Sugar Shortage Causes Many to Grow Patch of Syrup Crop.

As a result of the high price and threatened shortage of sugar many Michigan farmers are turning to sorghum as a syrup crop, declares Prof. J. F. Cox, head of the farm crops department at M. A. C. A number of new sorghum mills have started up over the state, and indications point to a record production of "home-grown" syrup during the coming season.

"Under present conditions it would be a good thing for many farmers to grow a half acre or acre of sorghum," says Professor Cox. "The usual yield is from 50 to 75 gallons per acre, though a few have produced more than that. The early Amber variety is the best for syrup purposes, giving the best yield and having the sweetest juice. Michigan seed companies can furnish seed."

"The crop is planted on ground prepared in the same way that land is prepared for corn. It usually does best when planted the latter part of the corn growing season, in late May or early June. A good piece of fall plowed land that has been manured will give best yields."

"When sorghum is planted for syrup, 6 or 8 pounds of seed should be planted in rows 36 to 42 inches apart, using an ordinary corn planter. Cultivation is similar to that for corn."

"The crop should be cut in the dough stage before the seed becomes hard. The leaves are usually stripped while the canes are in the field, though this is not necessary. The stripping of the leaves increases the yield of the juice a little and insures a better quality. One ton of cane will yield from 500 to 1000 pounds of juice, which will make from 8 to 25 gallons of syrup. An acre should yield from 4 to 6 tons of cane."

we all respect very highly and who has sat in our circuit court, dealing out justice for over thirty years and whose judgment we have never questioned says that "A well educated county clerk has become almost a necessity." This means that he should be well qualified for the work to begin with and then, it will be two to three years before he is thoroughly familiar with the work. So that under the two term system he has about time to become educated and proficient in the duties of the office when a new man is put in his place. The only remedy, until the law makes the terms longer, as they are in the probate judge's office, is to get away from this two term foolishness. Let's get out of the rut. That means progress.

I want to be your county clerk another term, and I will do my best to merit your confidence and to satisfy you that you make no mistake by re-electing me.

Sincerely yours,
—Adv. F. W. BOWLES.

BAY PORT STORE IS TOTAL LOSS

WALLACE & MORLEY CO. GENERAL STORE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Liquor Stills Found in Huron County and Four Men Were Arrested.

The Wallace & Morley Co. general store at Bay Port, together with practically its entire stock, was totally destroyed by fire last Wednesday afternoon. The fire started in the basement but how it originated is not known. When an employee discovered it, the whole basement seemed already in flames. One end of the basement contained three-fourths of a car load of sugar. The most of this was saved. Very little else could be gotten out of the store. The loss is estimated at between $50,000.00 and $60,000.00 with only partial insurance. Help was called for from Sebawaing and Pigeon and both towns responded quickly. The visitors saved the Maccabee hall which caught fire from the burning store. The only source of water for the engine was on the shore of the bay, no wells being available. As the water is shallow, the pumps became clogged with sand, which made it impossible to do further work. Luckily this took place after the danger of the fire spreading was past.

More than 100 gallons of whisky, sixty-five gallons of wine, two stills and quantities of raisin mash and sugar have been confiscated and four men are facing charges of making liquor as a result of raids made in Huron county by county, state and federal officers. The names given out of those under arrest are: Gorman Grates, Bingham township; Frank Wazczak, Kinde; George Loosmoore, Pigeon; Jacob Reider, Bloomfield township. Grates and Wazczak were arrested on federal charges, Loosmoore and Reider under the state law. Officers participating in the raids were C. B. Atwell of the federal service and J. R. McDonald of the state food and drug department.

WALKER IS HIGHEST INDIVIDUAL POINT WINNER

Arthur D. Walker, a student at Ypsilanti Normal and son of W. A. Walker of Cass City, won honors as the highest individual point winner at a dual track meet between Ypsilanti Normal and Detroit Jr. High in which the Normal won by a 66-65 score. Walker was first in high jump and pole vault, second in high hurdles and broad jump and third in javelin, winning 17 points.

The Detroit school was winner in an earlier contest, but Walker carried off the honors as highest individual point winner in this contest as well.

MRS. EDWARD BUEHRLY INJURED IN COLLISION

Automobile Hits Buggy and Occupants Are Thrown Out Sunday Evening.

Mrs. Edward Buehrly had six ribs broken and suffered other severe injuries Sunday evening when the buggy in which she and her husband were riding to church was struck from behind by an automobile, a mile northeast of town. Mr. Buehrly escaped with a few minor bruises. The buggy was badly damaged and the horse ran away.

The automobile was driven by Solomon Striffler, who was learning to drive the machine. In attempting to pass the buggy, the driver became confused and struck the vehicle.

Mrs. Buehrly was considerably improved Wednesday.

FARM PRODUCTION GREATLY REDUCED

SURVEY SHOWS THAT 24,900 FARM HANDS ARE LACKING IN STATE.

Per Cent of Decrease in Cultivated Lands over That of Last Year Is 15.8.

The many speculative stories that have been going the rounds for months to the effect that farm production in Michigan is going to be seriously reduced in 1920 are true, a survey of the state just made by the Michigan State Farm Bureau shows. This survey extended from one end of the state to the other, and while of course, its results are only approximate, the figures are extensive and were gleaned in every case from the most reliable authorities possible.

Reasons given by the Farm Bureau for this decreased farm activity are mainly inability of farmers to obtain competent labor, high costs and attraction of high wages in cities which is drawing hundreds of people from the country districts.

COACHLESS NINE ADD 'NOTHER VICTORY TO STRING

Cass City Defeated Elkton Friday on Local Grounds. The Score Was 6-4.

Cass City's coachless baseball nine added another "win" to their string of victories by defeating Elkton on the local grounds Friday. The final tally stood 6-4.

Luckily for the locals, their runs came early in the game. In the fifth the visitors' catcher suffered a badly injured finger necessitating his removal from the game and a shake up in their battery. Elliott, Elkton's 3rd baseman, pitched the remainder of the game and held the locals scoreless and almost hitless in the last four frames.

In the early stages of the game, Cass City, ran in six runs to Elkton's one and it looked like a walk away for the home team. In the seventh, however, the visitors tightened up and for the remainder of the game had the local nine worried. Hits coupled with loose playing gave Elkton three more runs in the final innings and they threatened a real comeback in the ninth.

Cass City's average still remains 1000. The games so far, however, have not been regularly scheduled games. With a little work, the locals should be strong contenders for county honors.

HOW ABOUT THIS? EGGS AT 9 CENTS A DOZEN

Potatoes 23c a Bushel. Yes, It's True, But These Prices Prevailed 20 Years Ago.

John B. Pettinger of Cumber brought to the Chronicle Tuesday afternoon a scrap of paper torn from a Cass City Enterprise printed in April 1900. On this were printed the Cass City markets under date of April 27, 1900. Wheat, No. 1 white, was quoted at 65 cents a bushel, rye No. 2 at 53 cents, white oats No. 2 at 29 cents, hand picked beans at $1.90, peas at 60 cents, timothy hay at $10 a ton, potatoes at 23 cents, eggs at 9 cents a dozen, butter at 11 cents a pound, live hogs at $4.25 to $4.50 cwt., sheep, live weight, at 3 to 4 1/2 cents lb.; chicken, 6 cents lb.; White Lilly flour at $2.00.

Hugh Cooper happened in the office while Mr. Pettinger was talking about the 1900 prices and remarked that he remembers bringing in a cord of wood in exchange for a year's subscription to the Enterprise. The Chronicle would like to accept a similar amount of wood for a year's subscription. Or if a farmer would rather exchange eggs or potatoes, 9 dozen eggs or 4 bushels of potatoes—the basis of 20 years ago—would seem like a mighty good bargain to the newspaper man for a year's subscription.

U. S. ASKS STATE HELP END TIEUP

EACH SECTION OF COUNTRY URGED TO HELP END FREIGHT CONGESTION.

CHIEFS ADMIT INCREASE JUST

Demands Are Made Necessary By High Cost of Living, Executives Assert.

Washington.—The interstate commerce commission took its first step toward breaking the freight blockade. Telegraphic appeals were sent to all state railway and public service commissions, urging them to join hands with the government in lifting the burden, while the commission's force of inspectors was put to work to help get accurate data respecting conditions at critical points.

Virtually all the several hundred inspectors were assigned to aid in surveying traffic conditions at important gateways where the flow of freight traffic was clogged. The commission also expected to be fully informed on the terminal situation at all cities within a few days.

Members of the commission recognized that the present crisis would provide a real test for the new transportation act and likewise that the emergency clauses must measure up to the claims of their staunchest supporters if freight is again set to moving smoothly throughout the country.

With increasing complaints from shippers and requests for assistance from the railroads themselves, the commission is understood to have determined to go into the freight tie-up with hammer and tongs. Officials, however, urged patience on the part of those watching for immediate results, since it may require days, and even weeks, to start anything like a resumption of normal transportation service.

In its first attempts at freeing the maze of rail equipment, the commission probably will deal with local situations in the various cities through individual roads. This was expected to last, however, only until a general scheme can be worked out by which priorities and embargoes can be employed to restrain the onrushing stream of commodities waiting at every station.

Further suggestions of the railroads were given the commission at conferences with representatives of the railroads and shippers' organization officials. The fuel situation has slowly developed to the danger point, representatives said, and they proposed that the commission establish a general, although temporary, order for the movement of grain cars westward and counter movement of coal cars eastward.

Roads Urge Pay Boosts.

Chicago.—Wage advances should be granted to many railroad workers to enable them to meet the high cost of living, the Association of Railway Executives declared in its opening statement before the railroad labor board.

E. T. Whiter, chairman of the conference committee of rail managers of the executive's association, told the board that some part of the wage demands being made by 2,000,000 railway employes probably would be found to be justified by the rise in the cost of living.

Agreement of the railroads themselves that at least a part of the men should have more money is expected to go far toward expediting early settlement of the controversy which culminated last month in strikes by disgruntled employes.

POLES MASSING FOR NEW DRIVE

Trotsky Calls on All Russia to Rise Against Odessa Advance.

Coblentz.—Authentic information received by the American command from Warsaw shows that the Poles are concentrating on the front south of Kiev, in Podolia, and are pointing in the direction of Odessa. Leon Trotsky, the Russian bolshevik war minister, has called upon all Russia to rise against Poland. New bolshevik forces, including a Bashkir brigade, are attacking Kiev, and the casualties are reported to be fairly heavy. Other bolshevik reinforcements are arriving between the Dnieper and the Dniester.

Between April 25 and May 10 the Poles took 30,000 prisoners and 150 guns and 500 machine guns, exclusive of the material found in depots. The Polish losses to May 10 are reported to have been 100 killed and 300 wounded, but the losses to the troops holding Kiev were proportionately heavier.

No Negotiations With Strikers.

Detroit.—Railways here affected by the walkout of switchmen will not treat with the Detroit Yardmen's association for the purpose of adjusting differences. This was made clear by Frank H. Alfred, head of the Pere Marquette railroad, in a letter to William Look, attorney for the association. Under the Transportation Laws of 1920, Mr. Alfred writes, provision was made for conferences between employes and railroads, but, he says the men are no longer employes.

were that the farming sections of Michigan lack 24,900 farm hands this year; that there are approximately 11,537 farms in the state that will not be worked this summer; that the percentage of decrease in cultivated lands in 1920 from 1919 is 15.8.

And in addition to the loss in production these idle lands will cause, there will be depreciated production on farms that are being operated, the survey showed. Many cases are being seeded down, and in practically every section crops are being planted that entail the least amount of work to harvest. Farmers are not gambling, as in years gone by, that the needed labor will appear at harvest time.

Wages are reported everywhere as being higher than ever paid before, but the farmers are making it manifest that they will not compete with city factory wages.

From only two or three counties in the state have any suggestions come that the cultivated acreage this year will correspond to that of last. They were all in the Upper Peninsula and their conditions were explained by the fact that the bulk of the farms in that section are small, additional acreage being cleared of timber and stumps every year, and are mainly operated by owners without extra labor.

In particular the dairy industry of the state is being affected by the acute labor problem the Farm Bureau asserts. Not a county reported any increase in dairy cows, and the reports from all were practically unanimous in that dairymen were reducing size of herds, and dairy production in Michigan in that year has decreased to the extent of 11.3 per cent.

While farmers need labor badly, it is not city vacationists who will solve the problem. The Farm Bureau insists in most cases these vacationists are inexperienced in farming, and as in any other business, they cannot learn "how" in the two weeks off that most of them have in the summer-time, and two weeks assistance, also, would not meet the average farmer's needs. The farmers have made this plain, the Farm Bureau asserts, despite the considerable agitation by well meaning folks to send vacationists to the rural districts.

CASS CITY, MICH.

Let us cultivate our latent Diamond Fields and continue our progress and prosperity. Cass City should take no backward steps in this day of her opportunity. No worthy business should be driven from our midst. New ones should be encouraged to come here.

How proud we should feel of our Condensary that today is helping feed starving Europe; our Elevators are opening the world's markets to our products; Crandall's hogs are grunting our praises in 48 states and in foreign lands; soon our gravel pits will be paving Michigan!

If we have capital available let us use it to create new wealth and to cause other of the world's golden streams to head our way. IF IT IS A SUGAR FACTORY let us get busy today, tomorrow may be too late. Smaller towns are active. Awake Farmers! Awake Merchants! Let's go!

Good Thing to Keep in Mind. When you are talking with other people, even in the strictest confidence, always keep this in mind: "Am I revealing business or family secrets, or private affairs, which I may regret some day?"

For Every Farm Home

there is a HOOSIER SYSTEM of just the right size to care for all water supply requirements

EVERY farm home-owner may enjoy the benefits which are derived from a supply of running water—under pressure. Water is needed so often throughout the day for so many household needs, and to be obliged to depend upon a hand pump is inconvenient. With a HOOSIER SYSTEM installed in your home you can have a supply of running water in the kitchen, a modern bathroom, on the lawn for sprinkling, and at the barn for watering stock and washing vehicles.

A HOOSIER SYSTEM is easily installed, simple to operate, and the upkeep is negligible. It also requires but the least amount of personal attention.

The HOOSIER SYSTEM is for shallow well pumping, and electrically operated. The automatic controller maintains ample working pressure in tank at all times without the need for personal attention. Pump has a capacity of 250 gallons of water an hour, pumping against a pressure of 50 lbs. The tank is coated inside with Hoosier Anti-Rust Enamel, which prevents rust and corrosion. No chance for water contamination where the Hoosier Tank is used, and for this reason it is to your interest to see that your water supply system is a Hoosier.

This is a compact and serviceable water supply system of sufficient capacity to care for almost any home.

The Caro Advertiser, in commenting on the success of Earl Gowen, James Brooker and Fowler Hutchinson at the track meet at Kalamazoo a few weeks ago, says: "Cass City boys 'go after the bacon' in track events and have enviable records extending over many years. They are enough in earnest to go into training early in the season, cut out hurtful food and drinks, and smokes, and when they appear on the field they are in the pink of condition. It is a matter of pride to the whole county that it was represented by such talent and the town, school and individuals are fit subjects for congratulation over their success."

Warts Are Contagious.

Warts are contagious, as is proved by experiments on their own fingers made by Drs. Udo J. Wile and Lyle B. Kingery of the University of Michigan Medical school. These physicians seem to have proved that the warts are caused by some sort of a virus that passes easily through a filter and therefore through the sound human skin.

Blame Nightmare on Demon.

In some portions of the continent of Europe nightmare is believed to be a spectral creature that comes and takes a seat on the breast of the unconscious sleeper, half smothering him and not permitting him to breathe. As those who have suffered therefrom say they cannot so much as bend the little finger during those moments of anguish. It is not surprising that the superstitious explained the condition as a malicious demon crushing his victim.

Cork trees grow in Sardinia. A tree is stripped of its bark only once in nine years.

CLASS OF 1920 WILL PRESENT PLAY MAY 25

Popp, the chairman of the discipline committee, and kisses his tyrannical wife, who answers the bell. He escapes, but loses his fraternity pin. Mrs. Popp finds this and sees Jimmie's name on the back. The play opens the next morning at Jimmie's boarding house. "Ma" Baggsby, the mother of all her college boarders, is expecting her niece from Carolina to spend Thanksgiving with her. The young lady arrives and at once captivates the fancy of Jimmie. Matters are complicated by the arrival of the discipline committee hot on his trail. He manages to get out of the scrape by stating that he was with his aunt the night before. His Aunt Jane is thinking about endowing a chair at the college and Jimmie "works" the discipline committee. They insist on seeing the aunt, however, and Jimmie's two chums, Tad and Shorty, each unknown to the other agree to impersonate Jimmie's aunt.

Mrs. Popp gives a faculty dinner party in honor of Jimmie's aunt and Tad goes disguised as a giddy old maid. Mrs. Popp's brother, the head of the military department, proposes to Tad in a ludicrous love scene. The real Aunt Jane arrives from New York and goes to the dinner party. She is met by Tad and hustled away before she meets the faculty. Things are beginning to get very exciting for Tad as the Major insists on making love and the dinner party is full of comic interruptions.

The college glee club, after serenading the guests of Mrs. Popp, are treated rather shabbily and, out of revenge, they "spike" the punch. The innocent, hen-pecked Popp thinks the punch is better than usual and takes too much. In his exhilarated state he proceeds to lay down the law to his domineering spouse, but is rebuffed and led by the ear back to the dinner party. Jimmie's admiration for Mrs. Baggsby's niece deepens and he obtains her permission to escort her to the Thanksgiving football game.

The third act depicts the excited college crowd on the sidelines of the Thanksgiving football game. It is nearly the end of the first half and the rival team is winning. The Bexley rooters are all blue. Tad, still disguised as the aunt, amazes Leviticus by smoking a pipe and rooting for Bexley. Mrs. Baggsby and the real Aunt Jane arrive at the game. The Major, mistaking Aunt Jane for Tad, renews his love making, much to the lady's surprise. Tad arrives and explains the whole joke to the Major. The Major is indignant and threatens to expel Jimmie, but is finally pacified by Tad's threat to tell all about the Major's love making. The football men need Tad in the game, as he is a substitute player. They mistake Aunt Jane for Tad and rush her out on the field. She is rescued by Jimmie and, because of his heroism, forgives all the deception. After a thrilling football description the game is won for Bexley by Jimmie and all ends well.

THUMB NOTES.

A man who is here to work in the beet fields for one of our farmers called at the postoffice the other day with a letter he wanted to mail to a brother in Detroit or to one in Lincoln, Nebraska. The letter was undressed, and when Postmaster Heenan inquired which place he wished it to go, the man asked which would cost the most postage, and when told there would be no difference in the cost, he replied: "Well, send him to Nebraska, sure."—North Branch Gazette.

A Bad Axe firm of stock raisers recently sold a five weeks old short-horn calf for $1,400. They claim this is the largest figure received for a single head of stock by local breeders. According to County Clerk Utley, the bounty laws passed at recent sessions of the state legislature is costing the taxpayers of Sanilac county about $200 per week and entailing a large amount of clerical work on the county officials. Rats are a big item in making up this large sum, the bounty being 10 cents a head.

The thirty or more members of the Bad Axe Woman's club were guests of Governor and Mrs. A. E. Sleeper at Lansing this week. The ladies made the trip in motor cars, leaving Bad Axe Wednesday morning. Governor and Mrs. Sleeper gave a dinner for them Wednesday evening and Thursday was devoted to seeing places of interest in the Capitol City. They will leave Lansing Friday morning for the return trip, which will also be made by motor. Mrs. Sleeper has been a member of the club ever since coming to Bad Axe and has always been actively interested in the club work and several times served as its president.

John Mater, his daughter-in-law and baby narrowly escaped injury at Carsonville Friday night when the Ford car in which they were riding crashed into a telephone pole on south Main street. The front of the machine was wrecked. Mater lost control of the machine when his attention was detracted by the splashing of an oil can at his feet. When he stooped to pick it up, the car swerved quickly into the pole.

The 15 months old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. John Sternberg of Bad Axe met with a painful accident Tuesday afternoon, when its finger was caught in the door and so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

A man was arrested for speeding his motor in Youngstown, Ohio. He admitted speeding and said it was because he had just heard of a house for rent and he wanted to get there first.

OWN YOUR OWN HOME.

"The other day
A fellow came into our office
And he said
I wish I had done
Like Jim Brown did
He bought a lot, Jim did, and
He built himself a little home
The first year
And he planned it so he could
Build more onto his home
The next year
And he did, and
Now he's got a fine big home
Worth a lot of money
And he owns it
And it's his.
And I
Came to town about
The same time
Jim did
And I rented a house
Like a lot of other fellows
And the landlord sold the house
And I had to move
And I did
And I rented another house
And the landlord sold that
And I had to move again
And all I got now is
Some rent receipts
And I've got to move again
Ain't that luck?"

They used to call a man a "sport"
when he bought an automobile

THAT was before the days when pretty nearly everybody owned one—or could, if he wanted to.

There was a lot of waste about motoring in those days. A man spent a lot of money on his car and never thought very much about what he was getting in return.

II

When a man buys a tire nowadays he has a pretty definite idea of what he expects to get out of it.

The dealer who sells him one that gives him less than he expects isn't likely to get any more of his business.

That's one of the reasons why we handle U. S. Tires—and recommend them to the motorists of this community.

III

The U. S. reputation for quality is not built on any one tire.

There is not one standard for large U. S. Tires and another standard for small ones.

Every tire that bears the name "U. S." is built the best way its makers know how to build it. The oldest and largest rubber concern in the world cannot afford to play favorites in seeking its public.

IV

Come in and tell us what you are looking for in tires.

We can probably tell you whether you need a U. S. Nobby, Chain, Usco, Plain, or a Royal Cord.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

ROYAL CORD - NOBBY - CHAIN - USCO - PLAIN

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.

CITATION OF PROBATE COURT TO BE SERVED ON RESIDENT OWNERS OF LAND

Citation of Probate Court to be served on resident owners of land. In the Probate Court for Tuscola County.

State of Michigan, County of Tuscola, ss. At a session of the Probate Court for the said County of Tuscola, held at the Probate Office in the Village of Caro, on Thursday the sixth day of May A. D. 1920.

Present, Hon. O. D. Hill, Judge of Probate. In the matter of the application of the County Drain Commissioner of the County of Tuscola, in said State, for the appointment of three disinterested Special Commissioners to determine the necessity for a Drain, known as the "Center B Drain," through certain lands in the Townships of Novesta and Elkland and for the taking of private property for the use and benefit of the public for the purpose thereof, and the just compensation to be made therefor.

And Whereas, On the 30th day of April A. D. 1920, an application in writing was made to this Court by said County Drain Commissioner for the appointment of three disinterested Special Commissioners to determine the necessity for said Drain, and for the taking of private property for the use and benefit for the purpose thereof, and the just compensation to be made therefor.

And Whereas, This Court did on the first day of May A. D. 1920, upon a due examination of such application and of all the proceedings theretofore taken in the premises, find and declare the same to be in accordance with the statute in such case made and provided, and did thereupon, by an order entered therein, appoint Wednesday, the second day of June A. D. 1920, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, as the time, and the office of the Judge of Probate in the village of Caro in said County, as the place when and where a hearing upon such application would be had, and did then and there order that all persons whose lands were to be traversed by such proposed Drain, and who had not released the right of way, and all damages on account thereof, to appear at the time and place designated and to be heard with respect to such application if they so desire, and to show cause, if any there be, why said application should not be granted.

And Whereas, There is now on file with this Court a description and survey of such lands, and from which said description and survey it appears that the lands to be traversed by such Drain, and the commencement, general course and terminus of such drain are as follows, to-wit:

CONDENSED CLASSICS

QUO VADIS

By HENRY SIENKIEWICZ

Condensed by Prof. William Fenwick Harris of Cambridge Mass.

Henry Sienkiewicz, so great a name in Poland that he has been coupled with Copernicus and Kosciuszko as the three Poles whom Americans are most indebted, was born in Opole in Russian Poland in 1846. He studied philosophy at Warsaw university and soon afterwards, in company with Helen Modjeska and other radical Poles, established a socialistic community in California. It was somewhat like the earlier Brook Farm experiment made by Hawthorne and his friends. It was no more successful and Sienkiewicz returned to Poland where he wrote a series of articles for a Warsaw newspaper about his American experiences. Then he turned to novel writing. He wrote brilliantly and rapidly, turning with the utmost ease from realistic pictures of contemporary life to stories of romance and to historical novels. "Children of the Soil," which he called his best book, is a simple story of Polish life which won more favor with his own countrymen than it did abroad. In the 80s he completed his tremendous trilogy, "With Fire and Sword," "The Deluge" and "Pan Michael." There was an epic quality about these historical novels that made many people in many lands hail him as a new Scott or a new Dumas.

His international reputation, however, came with "Quo Vadis," his masterpiece of ancient Roman life. It was quickly translated into English and into nearly every tongue. Then it passed to the stage, not only in America and England, but also in France and Germany. Since that success Sienkiewicz had traveled widely, visiting England, France, Italy, Spain, Greece, Africa and the Far East. He received the Nobel prize for literature in 1905. From the outbreak of the war to his death in November, 1916, he devoted himself to the relief of Polish war victims.

"I DO not know of a certainty her name even—Lygia or Callina? They call her Lygia in the house, for she comes of the Lygian nation; but she has her own barbarian name—Callina. It is a wonderful house—that of those Plautuses. There are many people in it; but it is as quiet there as in the groves of Subiaco. For a number of days I did not know that a divinity dwelt in the house. Once about daybreak I saw her bathing in the garden fountain; and I swear to thee by that foam from which Aphrodite rose, that the rays of dawn passed right through her body. I thought that when the sun rose she would vanish before me in the light, as the twilight of morning does. Since then I have seen her twice; and since then, too, I know not what rest is, I know not what other desires are, I have no wish to know what the city can give me. I want not women, nor gold, nor Corinthian bronze, nor amber, nor pearls, nor wine, nor feasts; I want only Lygia."

Thus did Vinicius, young Roman patrician of the time of Nero, announce his love for Lygia, daughter of a king, beautiful hostage from her nation, forgotten in the turmoil of the world empire and brought up as a Roman girl.

Vinicius was speaking to his uncle Petronius, known to his own time as Arbiter Elegantiarum, trained in all the art and antiur of Greece, wise, witty, and learned, gayly staking his life in his daily battle of wits with Tigellinus, who provided for the grosser desires of the tyrant Nero as Petronius did for his finer and more artistic ones.

It was a time when the conflicting tides of a pagan age, sadly degenerate from the sturdy days of pristine Roman virtues, mingled with those of a new era in the world, only recently heralded from Judea. In the complicated threads of the picture of Rome, capital of the world, appear the figures of Peter and Paul on their mission of spreading the new religion of Christ; Poppaea, wife of Nero, beautiful as a dream, but wicked as a nightmare; Eunice, the charming slave of Petronius; Chilo, wily Greek who can be Christian or pagan as profit leads him; Ursus, prodigious in his strength, simple as a child in his faith in Christ and his devotion to Lygia (from whom G. B. S. may have drawn a suggestion in "Androcles and the Lion"), and many minor folk who help to make the story stand out as unusually human among the numerous tales of Greco-Roman times.

When Vinicius told his uncle Petronius of his passion for Lygia, the latter thought nothing was easier than to provide his nephew with what he regarded as a new plaything; a word to Nero, who as emperor had all hostages in his care—summon the maiden to the palace, hand her over to the young patrician as her guardian—what more could be needed to satisfy any one's desires, especially as the maiden manifestly was pleased with Vinicius? But Petronius and his nephew reckoned without a new force that had entered into this Roman world. They could not understand a girl who fled from Nero's court and all its magnificence, fled even from the lover whom she loved. But "finally he understood this, which he and Petronius had not understood, that the new religion, engrained into the soul something unknown to that world in which he lived, and that Lygia, ever if she loved him, would not sacrifice any of her Christian truths for his sake, and that, if pleasure existed for her, it was a pleasure different altogether from that which he and Petronius and Caesar's court, and all Rome were pursuing. Every other woman whom he knew might become his mistress, but that Christian would only become his victim. And when he thought of this, he felt anger and burning pain, for he felt that his anger was powerless. To carry off Lygia seemed to him possible; he was even sure that he could do so, but he was equally sure that, in view of her religion, he himself, with his bravery, was nothing, that his power was nothing, and that through it he could effect nothing. That Roman military tribune, convinced that the power of the sword and the fist, which had conquered the world, would command it forever, said for the first time in his life that beyond that power there might be something else; hence he asked himself with amazement what it was."

It is a definite and concrete way that the author has chosen to show the power of the new religion over human lives. Struggle as he would, backed by birth, by wealth and all the beauty, charm and allurements that wealth could bring, by the ingenuity and wit of Petronius, by the strong-arm methods of Croton, champion bruiser of his time, even by the force of the known world in Nero's sway, Vinicius could accomplish nothing if all he could win to himself was a mere unwilling body, while soul and spirit were beyond his grasp. And the maddening part to him was that he owed all his troubles to the teachings of a parcel of Jewish fishermen or their likes, or slaves or humble folk who had never before entered into serious consideration in the thoughts of a patrician like himself. It was a long struggle with him, and as the reader follows the various people of the story through their part in the action, he gets an admirable picture of Rome—Nero, tyrant, actor and artist, with all his magnificence and all his debaucheries; the poor and humble in their crowded quarters of the great city; the delight of all the senses in the life led by Petronius; the lawless streets of Rome by night; the pursuit of Lygia by Vinicius and his hirelings, resulting in the death of his professional bruiser Croton at the hands of the faithful Ursus, and the disaster to health by the Christians; his meeting with Peter and Paul; the gradual opening of his eyes, physical and spiritual; his discovery of Christians everywhere, among the people, among his own slaves, among soldiers and officers, even in the very court of Nero. And the growing worry and astonishment of Petronius:

"Vinicius, thou art losing sense, judgment, moderation," exclaimed Petronius.

"I love only her in the world," responded Vinicius.

"What of that?"

"This, that I wish no other love. I have no wish for your life, your feasts, your shamelessness, your crimes."

"What is taking place in thee? Art thou a Christian?"

And then the great fire of Rome, set by Tigellinus that Nero might not lack the experience of Priam, who had seen Troy burn; of rescuing Lygia from the flames; the persecution of the Christians with the thought of throwing on them the rage of the people at the burning of the city; the singing out of Lygia by the hate of Poppaea because Vinicius had spurned the empress' proffered charms; the final rescue by a miracle of strength on the part of the ever-faithful Ursus, and the words of Vinicius to Peter:

"What thou commandest I will do."

"Love men as thy own brothers," answered the apostle, "for only with love mayest thou serve Him."

BROOMS FROM PINE NEEDLES

Said to Be an Excellent Substitute for the Bristles Now Used, and Will Last Longer.

One of the latest discoveries is a new use for pine needles. It has been found that the needles of the pine make a fair substitute for bristles in brushes and brooms. They are found in great quantities on the ground in fir forests, and, owing to the large amount of silica in them, they are hard, and do not decay rapidly.

The pine needles are dealt with in two ways. Where they are long they are simply bunched together and tied firmly, and a stick is pushed down the center as a handle.

The other plan is to insert clusters of smaller needles in holes in a thickish piece of wood. These holes are filled with hot pitch, and when this material has set hard and dry the pine needles are held firmly in place.

Elaborate tests have shown that pine needles wear well. They are not more easily broken than much of the material which has been commonly used in broom-making, and, owing to their hardness, they can withstand a great deal of friction.

FARM POULTRY

VENTILATION OF HEN HOUSE

For Success With Poultry There Must Be an Abundance of Fresh Air Without Drafts.

Poultry raisers have come to realize that the ventilation of the poultry house is a very important matter. There must be an abundance of fresh air without extreme heat or cold, and without dampness and draft. Proper conditions cannot be had with the makeshift, wrongly used ventilators frequently employed.

One method, which has proved successful is to use the straw air strainer. A second ceiling is built about six inches below the regular ceiling, in the form of a latticed framework. A trapdoor in the center of this makes it possible to change the straw which is packed between the lattice and the original ceiling. Vents, or wide, low openings, must be cut in the side of the house as close under the eaves as possible. The air, entering at these vents, filters through the straw, and thus into the poultry house. No drafts are possible, and the temperature is kept very nearly constant. The straw also absorbs a great deal of moisture.

Another method, in rather wide use, is to cover an ordinary window frame with muslin, instead of using glass. An improvement on this type of ventilator is shown at the right of the drawing. A light wooden frame covered with muslin is hung from a wire, which serves as a track. The frame can thus be moved sideways over or away from the window opening. Screw eyes on the frame allow it to slide easily over the wire. The wire itself may be fastened either to screw eyes or over blocks at either end. To the left is shown a similar frame, moving up and down. In this case it will be necessary to arrange some means of holding the frame at the height desired. Either the pegs that fit into holes in the wall, or a hook fitting into screw eyes, placed at various heights in the wall, may be used for this purpose.

The advantage of the air strainers over muslin-covered frames is that the latter have to be adjusted accurately to the weather, while the air strainer requires no attention whatever.—J. T. Bartlett, Fort Collins, Colo., in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

COVER WINDOW WITH BURLAP

Most Excellent Plan to Keep Out Wind at Night While Fowls Are Roosting.

If the poultry house is narrow so that the wind blows in through the open windows on the fowls on the roost, put a piece of burlap over the open space at night, but do not close the windows until the weather gets cold.

FATTEN FOWLS FOR MARKET

Poultry Will Sell for Higher Price Per Pound Because of Increase in Weight.

If any stock is to be sent to market be sure that it is fattened well before it is shipped. It will pay to do this because the poultry will sell for a higher price per pound and it will weigh more.

DOULTRY NOTES

Cull out weak or slow growing chicks.

A larger flock of hens could be kept on many farms at a profit.

Water fowls do not receive the consideration they deserve on many farms.

Leghorns produce eggs more cheaply than hens of the general purpose breeds.

Don't forget to give the fowls a little salt, in some form every day. They like their food seasoned as well as we do. Pepper as well as salt.

Boarders in the shape of lice and mites on fowls are unnecessary. The energy absorbed by these parasites will never go into eggs and meat.

HOW SALE OF STONES

WORKS OUT IN ENGLAND.

—Visitors to the pretty county of Buckinghamshire are much interested in certain women working in the fields, who appear to be exceedingly busy picking up some objects which they place in a large square wooden box, says London Answers.

These women are engaged in picking up flints, which are used for repairing the roads, Buckinghamshire having no quarries from which it can obtain road material. The square wooden box into which the women pitch the stones is a measure called a "yard." This name is probably given to it because it is a measure a yard square by a yard deep, there being no bottom to the boxlike structure.

The farmer pays the women for gathering the stones and sells them later to the district council. Now comes the truly Bucks spirit for saving the ratepayer's money. Instead of counting the "yards," as they stand in the fields, the road authorities have them all heaped into a cart and removed to where they are needed on the roads. Here they are dumped down by the roadside in immense mounds. Before the farmers are paid these heaps of flints have to be again measured into "yards" by old roadmen.

These roadmen are deserving fellows and it is up to the authorities to see that they are kept employed. Perhaps that is the reason why the "yards" are not counted on the field.

How Leprosy Has Dwindled.

Most of the leprosy of the world is in Asia and Africa, though it is found in South and Central America, in South Russia, Greece, Turkey and Spain and on the shores of the Baltic. The disease still lingers in Norway and Iceland, and is not uncommon in Australia and Hawaii, where it was supposedly carried by the Chinese. It was anciently prevalent in all the known world, and in the middle ages was extensively diffused in Europe. Every considerable city on the continent had its leper house, and in England at one time there were 95 religious hospitals for people thus afflicted. In the fifteenth century, however, it underwent a sudden and remarkable diminution and has now virtually disappeared from civilized lands. Most of the cases in this country are of Norwegian origin and are found in the northern tier of our western states.

How Sand Dunes Were Stepped.

On the coast of Gascony there are points where the dunes push forward more than four yards annually. In 1780 the advance of sand upon the land of Bordeaux was the occasion of despair to horticulturists and crop growers, and the engineer, Brémontier, made himself famous by converting the movable dunes into stationary ones. The task was undertaken to form a wall against the sand invasion by making a palisade of the dunes a little more than a meter high and putting planks between each pair. When the sand swept over the boards it had to break up its volume in the effort, and little by little a stationary dune would form with an inclination of from 7 to 12 degrees in the direction of the sea. Behind this palisade was conveniently disposed a wide zone of the hardier shrubs.

How to Avoid Influenza.

There is one point regarding influenza on which the medical profession is in agreement. This is stated by the Journal of the American Medical Association as follows:

"The pulmonary complications of influenza, which make it so serious a disease, may be avoided to a large extent by rest in bed at the onset of the illness. Influenza itself is not usually fatal, and general insistence on the importance of rest and warmth at the onset of the illness will accomplish more than all else in preventing complications and reducing fatalities from the disease."

Why He Was Answering.

At a marriage service performed in a little country church, when the minister said, in solemn tones, "Will thou have this man to be thy wedded husband?" instead of the woman answering for herself, a gruff man's voice answered "I will!" The minister looked up, very much perplexed, and paused. He repeated the sentence and again the same gruff voice answered "I will!" Again the minister looked up, when a man seated at the end of the first row said, "She's deaf, parson, an' I'm answerin' for her!"

How Walk Shows Character.

The rolling gait in walking shows gentility and jollity; the stiff, upright carriage, firmness, love of convention and lack of sympathy. The former is common to sailors and people who live a very free, out-of-door kind of life, and "do themselves well;" the latter to ministers, people with the legal turn of mind, and particularly the blue stocking type of women.

How to Check Flying Dust.

The dust that flies through the house every time the furnace is shaken and which causes such annoyance to the neat housewife, can be allayed if you lay a cloth wrung out of water over the registers.

SHOPPING WISDOM

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Go shopping with a definite purpose; do not be lured into purchases which you have not planned.

Choose slowly and thoughtfully. Learn to recognize quality. A reliable salesman will help you in this.

Do not expect great savings from the bargain counter unless you are a good judge of materials.

Choose good materials for things that will get hard wear.

Avoid novelties and fads in design and color. They soon become tiresome and the price usually protects the merchant against loss from left-over stock.

Reckon in advance how much material you need.

In buying ready-made clothing, insist on good materials, style and workmanship. If you always do this the dealers will be encouraged to supply them.

Be sure that the thing you choose is becoming to you and appropriate to its purpose.

Buy the thing that will serve for more than one sort of occasion or time of year.

Look for simplicity of line and decoration. Garments extreme in style are never economical and rarely becoming.

PIE NEEDS NO SUGAR

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Pumpkins and squash are in season. This pumpkin pie is up to date at this time of sugar scarcity because it uses no sugar:

Pumpkin Pie.

2 cups squash or 1 teaspoon ginger pumpkin (steved 1/2 teaspoon salt and strained) 2 eggs
1/2 cup molasses 2 cups rich milk
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Mix the pumpkin, molasses, cinnamon, ginger and salt. Beat the eggs slightly and add them and the milk to the mixture. Bake the mixture in one crust until it is firm.

OF INTEREST TO THE HOUSEWIFE

Never leave onions in the refrigerator.

Cinnamon toast is an agreeable luncheon dish.

A little potato may be added to mashed turnip.

Stale bread is always to be preferred for sandwiches.

Raw young cabbage makes one of the best salads.

Cabbage salad, raw, goes very well with lima beans.

Life at Its Best.

To work, to help and to be helped, to learn sympathy through suffering, to learn faith by perplexity, to reach truth through wonder; behold this is what it is to prosper; this is what it is to live.—Phillips Brooks.

Profited by Ghost's Visit.

Pierre Gastron, a tradesman of Montmartre, which is a part of old Paris, had for a neighbor an old miser, who died suddenly. Gastron had been kind to the old man. On the night after his death the ghost of the miser appeared to Gastron, and said: "I left you my money. Go and look under the third board from the wall in my bedroom, and you will find my will with a bag of coins." Gastron hurried off at once, and in the place mentioned discovered the will mentioned by the ghost and 750 francs in silver.

Field meet at Kazoo attended by Brooker and Gowen Saturday bore big results. Brooker broke a record in the discus by throwing it 110 feet and Gowen broke a record in the 440, making it in 52 2-5 seconds. In all, the two men took enough points to make Cass City sixth place, meaning quite a bit for a meet of this kind.

RUNNING FOR OFFICE.

Don't let your husband run for office. Away down in Georgia a candidate for county commissioner filled his statement of campaign expenditures as by law required, which contained among other things the following items: Lost 1,349 hours of sleep thinking about the election. Lost two front teeth and a whole lot of hair in a personal encounter with an opponent. Donated one beef, four shoats and five sheep to a county barbecue. Gave away two pairs of suspenders, four calico dresses, $5 cash and thirteen baby rattles. Kissed 126 babies. Kindled fourteen kitchen fires. Put up four stoves. Walked 4,076 miles. Shook hands with 9,508 persons. Told 10,101 lies and talked enough to make in print 1,000 volumes. Attended sixteen revival meetings and was baptised four different times by immersion and twice some other way. Contributed $50 to foreign missions and made love to nine grass widows. Hugged forty-nine old maids. Got dog-bit thirty-nine times and was defeated.

DEFORD.

School will close this week.

Eggs go up as buyers become numerous in this burg.

Mrs. Leo Benedict of Royal Oak spent the past week in this vicinity.

Mr. Kelly of Caro came to visit his daughter, Mrs. R. D. Lewis, the past week.

Mrs. Balch who has been confined to the house for some time past, is out again.

Mrs. Alice Curtis has returned to her home. We cannot say whether for the summer season or no.

Mrs. Geo. McArthur is at Pontiac caring for her mother, who is very ill. Mrs. Mc's father is fairly well.

Mrs. Russel Bettis went to her new home at Lowell on the 14th. Mr. Bettis has been there for two weeks.

From looks of mixture in our citizens when we mingle in daily throng, Deford has a treaty with Mexico.

We notice material near the barber shop preparatory for an addition. E. A. Cones is a hustler for building.

Mrs. Myres moved to Saginaw last week. Bert Lambkin wheeled her effect overland with his two-ton truck.

Clyde Quick's horse ran, threw out occupants, broke crossbar, went on westward. Nobody hurt; just a little cost.

John W. Metcalf has his cream house completed and now cries aloud at all points of the compass, "Come on with oil of cow."

Our new R. R. agent has bought the Retherford property just south of D. Croop's residence and is fitting it up for a residence. R. D. Lewis does the work.

We are a burg of 67 families. It requires four business houses to furnish us bread, and some times they are unable to meet the demand. Let us supplicate for more "spuds."

The gypsies came and like the Queen of Sheba with dazzling array made us stare with wonder. Some had fortunes told but we will not give names of victims for fear of storms.

Those who came to these parts from Royal Oak and Troy townships, Oakland county, will remember Henry Moore who moved from there to Gilford many years ago. Henry has just gone on to the better land a week ago. He never married.

Robert White, who lived just south of Seth Roberts' home two decades in the past, came here to see Deford and sing the song of "Twenty Years Ago." Mr. White's companion and children have passed on before, and he is alone in the world.

On the night that the "Uncle Tom Cabin" company exhibited two gigantic canines, there was a clash of vehicles in which "Lew" Retherford's car was damaged, Cockealines being the machine under motion. The parties showed wisdom and settled out of court, where in all such cases the air is full of interrogation points.

Didn't Get Anywhere.

The Zig-Zag Tread

Mechanically and scientifically correct for greatest security under all road conditions. The Δ and ∇ shaped cuts alternate on both sides of the extra wide, heavy tread. Sliding is minimized. Parallel Bar Base of the "Pine Trees" and straight Center Line of tread are thick rubber studs that assist in keeping the wheels "head on."

Lee Cords—Economy Tires

PUT a Lee Cord on your car. Forget about it for five, six or seven thousand miles. Then watch it closely. Note how it continues to roll up mileage—how it stays young and keeps postponing the need of a new shoe—how it outlives and outlives any tire you ever had.

Keep close count on the mileage delivered. Divide the price of the tire by the miles of service. Let the tire-cost-per-mile be your guide for future tire buying.

Lee Cord construction, the high quality of materials and the hand work of skilled cord tire specialists practically eliminate blowouts, blisters, tread separation, sidewalls breaking, internal friction and the other usual tire troubles.

When you begin using Lee Cords you end tire waste. Every mile brings a saving; you'll see the difference in a year. But don't wait to have me show you their advantages.
