THE CREDIT SITUATION.

The experience of the farmers with the sensational drop in the prices of grain and other products, should convince all country business men that means must be found for making food production independent of the speculative markets.

No doubt an entirely new system of marketing commodities should be created, to shorten the gap between producer and consumer. When speculators can put the price of wheat down $1.20 a bushel in four months, it shows something radically wrong.

It would seem the natural step for all rural interests to band together for self protection, and for financing their own needs. A great deal of the money made in country towns and in farming, is invested in securities a long distance away.

As long as farmers have to sell their crops at the lowest prices prevailing during the year, they are going to get low prices. The share of the country's wealth that comes into the country town will be a very meager one.

The thing to do is to finance the farmer so that he can hold his product until it is needed for consumption. He should not be assisted to force unreasonable prices, but simply to get the profit from holding that the speculator now draws. If all the money made in country communities were kept at home it would go a long way toward accomplishing this purpose.

IRREGULAR SCHOOL ATTENDANCE

The school commissioner of New Jersey estimates that it costs his state $1,500,000 annually because of failure of children to attend school.

A poorly attended school costs as much as a good one, and it takes longer to put the pupils through. Many parents don't seem to realize that the future of their children depends upon the precious training of the soon ended school days.

In private schools where parents pay heavily for education, the faculty insists that the pupils must be present at every recitation. In the public schools where education is free, many parents do not realize that the golden opportunity is slipping away every time a pupil is absent.

FIFTEEN YEARS OF RURAL PROGRESS

Fifteen years ago President Theodore Roosevelt was calling attention to the need of rural advance and appointing his Country Life Commission. Notable changes have taken place since that time. The scattered populations found in sparsely settled territories still constitute a problem.

In former years the people of a rural community had a rustic aspect. Today the crowd looks much the same as that on a big city street. The country crowd has a keen, intelligent, thoughtful look, and you feel they are better folks to live with.

There are fewer people in country towns to do things, and those few are called on for more work in order to develop community life. To provide scattered populations with good schools and hard roads, means either burdensome taxation, or else generous state assistance for many localities.

The cities must help generously or fail to get the service they need from the country.

But country life develops resourcefulness. It gets people in the habit of doing things for themselves, instead of sitting back and letting others do the work. This spirit is revolutionizing rural conditions.

The White House.

John Adams was the first president to occupy the White House, in 1800. In those days it was gray, having been built of Virginia free stone. After the British burned it in 1814, white paint was used to cover the marks of the fire, and since that time this paint has been renewed regularly. The White House grounds within the iron fence contain 18 acres, while the adjoining White House lot has 70 acres.

One Christmas Eve

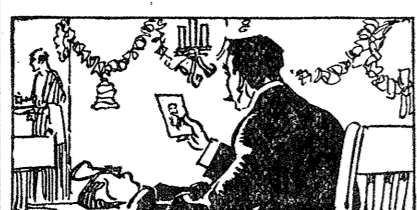

By Alvah Jordan Garth

(© 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

HE girl with sad memories sat gazing mournfully out upon the brightly illuminated street, abstractedly taking in the Christmas trooping crowds. The man, sombre as well, who had just stepped upon the front platform of the car remained there, crisp and biting as was the yuletide air. There came the call of an intersection and Ada Wilton at the last moment caught the name and hurried to the rear. As she alighted Randall Petrie started, stared, made a movement as if to hasten after her, but the door clanged close and he saw the figure of the only woman he had ever loved swallowed up in the fast receding waves of alternate light and darkness.

"Of what avail—she would scarcely welcome me," he spoke under his breath. "We are parted by her will—she must have meant it to be final."

He entered the car and sat down in the seat the girl had just vacated. It was an old story to his weary soul, the one love romance of his life. He had met Ada Wilton at her mother's home in the quiet little village of Brocton, had all but confessed his love. A decisive understanding to his proposal was stayed by an interruption. The next morning Petrie was suddenly summoned by a relative in another town. He had expected to be gone only a few days but his sojourn ran into months. Twice he wrote Ada. There came no reply. A third letter was returned to him marked, "Refused." He had later made inquiries regarding her to learn that she and her mother had removed to the city, and he gave her up as lost to him. As the car stopped for new passengers Petrie moved to make room for one of them. He jostled something in his seat. A small hand bag. His quick senses discerned its ownership. He left the car at the first stop. Like some miser greedy of a treasure inestimable Randall Petrie hurried into a public restaurant and sought its remotest corner. He held something that had belonged to Ada! A fitting excuse was given to return it to her. Its contents would surely give some clue to her place of work, her residence. He opened the hand bag. A purse showed the edge of a card in a little pocket. Petrie drew it out.

"She remembered—she has kept that all this time!" he exulted. "Then—"

Words failed him. His heart beat mightily. He had brought to light a photograph of himself he had once given to Ada. He fingered over several little packages and Christmas cards, then an envelope, unstamped and unsealed, addressed to "Miss Laura Deane, Brocton." Instantly Petrie recalled a close friend of Ada. It was no prying instinct that caused him to withdraw the enclosure. One line perused, his dazzled eyes refused to leave the written pages.

"Your discovery that it was not Randall Petrie, but a relative of his name who led such a wild, evil life, the report of which caused me to strive to forget, comes too late to bridge the mistaken past, but, oh! Lanra! how can I ever repair the injustice done?"

Some way, some way, he must know of my fateful error, for I love him more than ever, because of the cruel wrong I have done him."

"I had hoped to be able to save up enough to make mamma a present of a victrola this Christmas," ran one paragraph, "but I find I must wait until her birthday. You know how she loves the old songs."

Randall Petrie pressed his lips to the signature, to him the dearest name on earth, memorized the address written below it and left the restaurant in a glow of hopeful purpose and faith. "Two twenty-three Rossiter street"—he covered the distance as if borne on wings. A new meaning to Christmas Eve had come to him.

"I have brought a lost hand bag," she spoke as his summons at the door of the house he sought was opened. And then he paused. There stood before him Ada. She wavered, overcome by the unexpected encounter. Impulsively his hand steadied her. She did not draw from its protecting touch.

In a torrent of words he could not control, without evasion or attempted apology, Randall Petrie told of the contents in the handbag that had led him back to her. Was he welcome? With a low, tender cry like that of a tired child finding a sure haven of rest at last, Ada's head sank to his shoulder.

"And the surprise for mother!" whispered Randall ardently. "It shall be here the first thing Christmas morning, all the sweet old songs she loves, and oh, my treasure, may I include the Wedding March?"

CARO—Even a whiskey still used for strictly family purposes is unlawful, Joseph Wilski of Juniata township learned when he was arrested Saturday by sheriff's officers. He was arraigned before Justice Arnold Tuesday and bound over to the circuit court. His case will come up during the present term.

MINDEN—Petitions are being circulated among farmers living on the Minden City—Forestville road, seeking to have a state reward road built between those towns. The road is a county highway and will be maintained by Sanilac county after it becomes a state reward road.

NORTH BRANCH—Daniel Orr, one of North Branch's most prominent and highly respected citizens and a pioneer in business here, died at his home in this village Saturday morning, Dec. 11, after an illness of but a few days of pneumonia.

KINDE—Glenn Fehner, 18 year old son of Joseph Fehner, of Hume township, was accidentally shot through the eye while hunting Sunday and has been removed to a Detroit hospital. One eye was pierced by the bullet and other injuries are so serious that attending physicians advised against any delay in removing him to Detroit.

AKRON—Vigorous applications of a rubber boot upon the person of his wife landed John Monseo of Akron in the county jail for 30 days on the charge of wife beating. Neighbors complained to Deputy Sheriff Jall that Monseo was in the habit of administering discipline upon his wife in a none too gentle manner. He was brought to Caro Saturday, and arraigned before Justice Brown who imposed the sentence.

SANDUSKY—The Educational Association of Sanilac county held their annual meeting at Sandusky, December 11. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Harry B. Swarzenraub; secretary, Howard T. Mills. Members of Executive Committee, Carrie E. Klaus, John Wengert, Burton Hewett, Lew F. Cook, P. O. Decker. DON'T NEGLECT A COLD

If a cold is not treated when the first symptoms show themselves it will frequently develop into more serious complications. A cold in the head or throat is no longer considered a condition that will correct itself without medication. If nature is properly assisted, this ailment can be corrected without bad after effects.

It is unnecessary to take unpleasant or obnoxious preparations for this purpose. There is a simple, safe, sure, efficient and pleasant combination for treating a cold. It is known as Rexall Laxative Aspirin (U. D. Co.) Cold Tablets, which contain Aspirin (U. D. Co.) and when combined with Acetanilide, Aloin and Capsicum is widely acknowledged as being of great value in the treatment of colds.

These ingredients are most valuable in relieving pain, reducing fever, drying up coryza, lessening inflammation, eliminating poisonous secretions, warming up the stomach and shortening duration of the disease.

Get a box of these Cold Tablets of us today. Take them according to directions the moment the first symptoms appear and you will obtain quick relief.

OH MY STOMACH

"I had stomach trouble so badly that nothing I ate would digest as it should," said Sadie E. Hamilton, Portland, Me., as she began a remarkable story of the relief she has secured from Argo-Phosphate, the new reconstructive, stomach tonic and system purifier.

"Everything that I ate would lie in my stomach like a lump," she explained. "Gas would form and I would suffer distress all the time. I got so I could hardly keep anything down. Trying to get relief, I had my stomach pumped out, but even this did not help me as I continued just as bad.

"I kept hearing so much about Argo-Phosphate that I thought maybe it might help me and I decided to try it. I have taken two bottles and to my surprise I am already feeling fine. I can eat anything and I am not troubled at all.

"I am completely rid of my old stomach trouble that I had for three years. I have not felt so well for years and I am certainly glad to endorse Argo-Phosphate because I want others to be helped by this wonderful medicine."

"The spirit of wanting to help others is what makes suffering men and women give these splendid public endorsements of Argo-Phosphate," said a local druggist. Dispensed by Burke's Drug Store.—Adv. A-5

BROWN CITY—The State Police while in town last Saturday night made a raid on slot machines and punch boards, putting a lot of them out of business. At Hotel Jackson—now run by Guy Boner, they found three machines that had been stored by Mrs. Jackson, and these they broke up; also a penny machine which they took with them, and a nickle machine which they broke up. They took Pat Delaney's machine, and caused many punch boards to disappear from their usual places about town. It was quite a cleanup. Mr. Boner says: "It's all right; it was their duty."—Banner.

BAD AXE—Several families of Bad Axe may be prosecuted for violating the quarantine law. There are numerous cases of scarlet fever at the county seat, and some parents whose homes have been placarded have persisted in sending those of their children who were not down with the disease to school.

CROSWELL—James Maxwell, for the past year a resident of Crosswell and lately an employe of the Michigan Sugar Co., took his own life Sunday evening at his home on South Howard avenue, blowing his breast open with a shot gun. It seems that Maxwell worked at the factory until 7 o'clock Sunday evening and then drove up near Applegate and called on his mother for a few minutes. Coming home he went into his bed room leaving his wife in the living room, and commenced to prepare for bed. Mrs. Maxwell was horrified to hear the explosion of a gun in the bedroom and running to the door found her husband lying in a pool of blood. She at once summoned some of the neighbors and it was found that Maxwell had removed his shoes and coat and vest. He had then apparently taken the gun and held the muzzle close to his breast and pulled the trigger either with his toe or the other hand. One hand was badly burned by the powder, showing that it had been near the muzzle of the gun when it was discharged. The charge of shot tore the greater portion of his breast away, cut off one side of the heart and some of the shot went clear through the body. He lived about fifteen minutes after the shot but did not recover consciousness. When found he was lying on the floor just in front of the bed and the indications are that he was about to go to bed when the idea of killing himself resulted in his grabbing the gun and committing the rash act.—Jeff.

Dreaming of Hats.

If you have on one that is torn or mud-spattered it means there is trouble for you that reflects on your honor. A straw hat points to an increase of knowledge on your part; a hat of velvet or velour to an increase of fortune.—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

The head of the firm had secretly called in an expert accountant to check up the cashier. "Have you discovered any evidence of dishonesty?" asked the expert accountant. "Well, I've noticed that he carries a different umbrella every time it rains," explained the head of the firm.

One hundred members of Cass City Lodge, I. O. O. F., and several visiting Odd Fellows attended the local lodge meeting Tuesday evening and witnessed the conferring of the third degree upon eight candidates. Following the degree work, the company enjoyed an oyster supper. All were served generously and some especially so, among the latter being "Al" Knapp, who was favored with a service exclusive and unique. Odd Fellow lodge has made a rapid growth during the past year and Secretary Champion on Tuesday suggested the slogan, "Three hundred by next April." At the rate the lodge has been gaining members of late, 300 by next April is a possibility. Officers recently elected are: N. G. A. H. Higgins; V. G. Wm. Day; Financial Sec., P. A. C. L. Graham, Wm. Hurley, Alex Henry, R. D. Keating, Glen Moore and Ernest Croft have entered into a solemn compact to grow moustaches and the first one who allows his upper lip to be shaved clean within the specified time must buy new hats for the whole bunch. None of the sextette poses as a matinee idol; in fact, there is plenty of opportunity for an improvement in beauty among the bunch, especially among the married ones, and the women folks are hoping that the hirsute appendage may result in a betterment of the facial landscape.

Edwin Boyne and Albert Gallagher attended the annual meeting of the County Athletic Association Board composed of two representatives from each school, the one a faculty member, the other a student. Just a word of caution to you folks who are sending out last year's Christmas presents. Open up a double entry system to make sure no present is going back to the original purchaser. Last year the mother-in-law gave us one of those beautiful fifty cent neckties, handsomely boxed. Friend wife promptly gave it to a third party and he turned about and gave it to our brother-in-law, who brought it back home that night. This Christmas we are shipping this troublesome tie out to California in the hope the distance will guarantee safety, for the present season, at least.—Exchange.

Just thinking Monday morning while turning the wringer, how little we have to kick about in this country after all. In spite of the profiteers, the strikes, the high cost of print paper, and the thousand and one things we can find every day to kick about, most of us have enough to eat and enough to wear and comfortable house to live in, and our choice of half a dozen different churches to attend, and a whole lot of good friends whose society we enjoy, and blessings without number. And while it's all right in every way to use our most earnest endeavors to straightening up the things that are wrong and to make the world brighter and better, let us at the same time welcome the new year with our most gracious smile and firmly resolve that we will do our best to make everybody around us happier than they have ever been before, and in that we will find that we have done ourselves the greatest favor.

DEFORD.

Now we note the short days of the year. All scarlet fever patients are recovering. Mrs. Robert Jacoby suffers with sore gums. N. B. (Boney) Daugherty is in fair health again. John McArthur has been sick—better at present. Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo Gage visits at Port Huron. Wm. Cooper is now a full fledged citizen of Deford. Frank Benedict of Orion was a caller the past week. Clarence Chadwick is spending a few days in Detroit. Frank O'Rourke of Caro was a caller here over Sunday. R. E. Johnson spent Sunday in Pontiac where Mrs. J. is sick. Time this is before the public—all our dump beets will be in Caro. One-half of the burg have a frog in the throat. We don't call it flu. 'Tis proved that charred posts will rot in soil as quickly as any other. Everett Holcomb brought a 20 lb. turkey to market. A spring bird. There is candy enough in town to make all sweet. Hope for victory. Our postmaster and wife attended a female aid party in Ellington the 16th. Howard Malcolm's little girl not fully recovered from scarlet fever yet. Drummers are more than plenty in town. Want to get rid of the stuff piled. A. Webster and Ed. Patterson were business callers at Saginaw on the 16th. Our school district will pay a double header on indebtedness this year. Mrs. R. D. Lewis has been at her father's home several days since his death. Wm. Cooper has sold his bay work horse to a Polander on the Ed. Dewey place. There is fear our bean picking will cease. Farmers hold the fruit for better price. Jay Crittenden of Pains, Mont., visits his grandparents, John and Julia McCracken. If you don't drink sugar in coffee, put in a little salt. See if it doesn't improve the taste. Word comes from Pontiac that Mrs. R. E. Johnson is on the gain as much as can be expected. Mrs. Stewart of the John Reed place has been for past week very sick. We are informed her trouble is from a goitre that must be removed. Twenty tons of beets from the dump to the car by one man in one day. Looks big, but 'tis done here. The man must shovel 40 tons as he handles them twice. There is tracking snow now, but no wild hares to track. But boys, don't go near the Edgar Pelton settlement for there the "grue" meets a fierce introduction. Word comes from South Dakota that old Mrs. Perkins, who lived near Novesta Corners years ago and well known in this locality, is yet well and lively in her ninety-ninth year, enjoying this earthly journey still. Since our childhood we all have heard that a "green Christmas forbodes a fat church yard." And as a child can be taught that wrong is right and vice versa. We can hear so oft, we believe because we are only children grown. Let us hope our snow will remain. If you are giving to the needy at this time of gifts, our idea does not touch you, but a card of remembrance is all that should pass between us. A gift that obligates us is wrong. Perhaps we don't need it, yet feel as if it should be paid back. Further, other friends or kindred will feel they are entitled to a gift just as fine. They may not say so out loud but feel it inwardly. And harm is done, not good. Our custom is wrong and we declare it without fear of successful contradiction.

ed at Chas. McConnell's last week. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Palmateer of Cass City spent Sunday at T. Little's. Mrs. Wm. Little and Mrs. Wm. Jackson were callers in Pigeon Friday. Miss Geraldine Gingrich went to Detroit Thursday to visit relatives over the holidays. Mrs. John Clark of Deford and Mrs. Claud Asher were guests of A. Martin's Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Collins and children of Flint are guests of Ed. Flint's for the holidays. Miss Florence Wanner having spent two weeks in Detroit, returned home Friday. Mr. and Mrs. George Kirton and son, Mansford, of Wickware were guests of H. Stein's Sunday. The new sugar beet weigh station near the Cass City Sand and Gravel Co. plant finished loading beets Dec. 15, having loaded about a 1,000 tons. The Quick school gave a program and Xmas tree Thursday evening. We have no authentic information but we think they had a date with Santa Claus. Mrs. Katherine McArthur was the victim of a stroke Sunday evening and is very low at this writing. Mrs. Harry Hittle and children and Miss Alta McArthur, of Manistee came here Monday night. Mrs. Hittle and Miss McArthur are daughters of Mrs. McArthur.

SANILAC CO. FARM BUREAU

No one can doubt the enthusiasm and loyalty of the Sanilac County Farm Bureau Executive Committee. No matter how bad the weather is or how rough and muddy the roads they are always found to have a quorum when it comes time to open the regular monthly meeting for business. On Monday, Dec. 13, the roads were practically impassable for an automobile except on gravel roads. But such conditions could not stop the committee from meeting at the regular time. Three members came by automobile, over fairly good roads most of the way; one member came by way of the railroad; one member stated that it was impossible to get over the roads in his section so he walked in, a distance of about six miles; another member drove twelve miles over terrible roads with a horse and buggy. He stated that he was ready for his dinner just as soon as he reached town; another brave member came on horse back, and stated that if he knew anything about a rocky road to some place, he thought he was on his way. If all farm bureau members were as enthusiastic as the members that represent them at the county executive meeting the progress of the work would be speeded up so that the expectations of two years could almost be realized in one. All farmers who wish to obtain seed such as won so many prizes at Chicago, my obtain full information relative to the purchase of same from the County Farm Bureau office. At Snover, Gifford Patch, jr., of the Marketing Department of M. A. C., talked on marketing problems and the Elevator Exchange in relation to the several locals. Lively discussions followed and the meeting was very interesting to all present.

His Reason. Speaking of politics and elections, we knew a man once who announced that he would vote for a certain candidate for office. When asked for his reason, he replied that the candidate was his friend. And when they asked him if he had no other reasons he said no; he said he didn't need any other reason. We have liked this man ever since.

Put Ear to Odd Uses. Burmese men and women delight in ear ornaments. The lobe of the ear is bored with a hole of astonishing size, and in it various articles are worn—pieces of wood, jewels, or rolls of solid gold or silver. When no ornaments are in the ears, the men often put their cigars, or any other small article in frequent use, through them, and the women use the holes for bouquet holders.

The Cletrac for Your Roads The powerful, fast-working Cletrac gets the road work done quickly. Handy and husky—it speeds up scraping, dragging, ditching, plowing and leveling. Hot weather may stop your horses and bad footing or hilly ground slows up most power units. But the steady-going Cletrac stands the gaff. It travels easily on its broad metal tracks over any ground, in any weather. The Cletrac works longer hours every day and more days in the year than the four to eight horses it replaces and it saves their care and feed bills, too. Come in and look this tractor over. See for yourself its sturdy construction. Let us show you what it will do for you on your own farm.
