DEFORD.

Dougald McLarty, who died at his home Mar. 29, spent his life in the locality since boyhood, three miles south of Cass City. He was born in Canada 76 years ago. His daughter, Mrs. Robt. Jacoby, of this place has brought the aged widow and a granddaughter home where they will stay for a time. The widow, Mrs. Jacoby's mother, is 62 years of age.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Danks of Bay Port spent Sunday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Jas. Matthews, who is slowly recovering from a late illness.

The diary of Fred Ball of Novesta reads: "Apr. 1—Drew two sleigh loads of logs to saw mill of Jack Irwin. Distance 2½ miles."

About a year ago there came from Detroit, two foreigners to the farm ½ mile east of here known as the Vance or Lambkin place. They failed to live in harmony and called for an administrator. The personal and real estate were sold. One partner vacated but the other still holds the farm and it looks as if it would require an able bodied Irishman to move the Teuton out on a wheelbarrow.

How long does it take to get a man out of a house and off a farm after he once has possession is a point in law that the foreigners will have down pat after this spring.

Price of hen fruit went up to 22 cents per dozen on the first day of April. Only town in the Thumb to pay the price.

Mrs. James Matthews wishes us to say that she extends heartfelt thanks to all who gave cheer and kindness to her while ill with pneumonia and grip.

Let us remember a doctor is a man who must take the bitter with the sweet. Regardless of roads or time of the day or night, he must heed the call and go.

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Daugherty are spending a few days at Royal Oak.

Joseph McCracken spent Apr. at Novesta Corners.

Word comes from Town Line that Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Funk will leave the farm and become Cass Cityites.

Lester Day is drilling a rock well for John Moshier on the farm lately purchased from Geo. Boughton.

Morley Palmateer of Imlay City is here to make some improvements on his farm among them being a new garage. He intends to seed the entire 80 acres.

The ice storm broke some posts even where there was but one wire on a telephone line.

Sleighting on Apr. 1, 1922, can be read 25 years hence by those who peruse the Cass City Chronicle.

There is water in many cellars. Sheriff Holcomb lives on the banks of a moving stream. Owned five plump geese that disappeared about a week ago. First he thought they had wandered up the river; now quite sure they have gone up "Salt Creek." Three ice storms; some winter of note.

Word comes from Pontiac of the death of Edward Deneen. He was among the first settlers of Novesta We think about 1868. He was 82 years of age.

Mrs. Balch received a letter from Maude Quinn at Ypsilanti which stated that she is some better, being able to write the letter herself.

Mrs. Peter Daugherty is sick abed at this writing.

Some storm we had. Lots of telephone poles down between here and Cass City.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Danks of Bay Port spent Sunday at the James Matthews home.

Mrs. James Matthews is able to be up after her recent illness.

H. R. Silverthorn left last Wednesday for Pontiac where he will do a little inside decorating for his sister.

Mrs. Geo. Riker and little daughter left on Monday for her home in Detroit after spending the last two weeks with her mother, Mrs. D. Croop.

Mrs. Varga of Detroit visited over the week end with her friend, Mrs. James Varga.

In the absence of our pastor, Mr. Turnbull of Deckerville will fill the pulpit.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Franklin of Wilmet spent Sunday with Mrs. Parks.

Mrs. Joseph Hack spent from Saturday till Sunday with her daughter, Alta, at Kingston.

N. R. Kennedy and wife and N. B. Daugherty made a trip to Cass City on Saturday.

Deford is blessed with helpful little maidens who are of great help to the mothers in times of illness. We have in mind a little Deford miss of eight years who made a fine little nurse and helped greatly in the care of her mother who was recently ill.

There were quite a few people around Deford who were unable to attend the funeral of Mr. McLarty which was held on Thursday at the Church of Christ. The condition of the roads and the storm kept several from attending from the service, but the relatives have the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Mrs. Phoebe Spencer is confined to her bed by illness at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Colwell of Lum are spending three or four days with the family of Geo. Spencer.

Ransom Spencer of Imlay City is staying out east on the Morley Palmateer farm for a short time.

Mrs. Peter Daugherty is gaining slowly after her sickness.

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Daugherty expect to make a trip to Pontiac in the near future.

Mrs. C. L. McCain is expected home in the near future.

Miss Evelyn Ross of Brown City is staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bentley, and attending school.

Geo. Taylor expects to work on a farm this summer.

CANBORO.

James Brackenbury of Cass City called on Wm. Parker, sr., Monday. Earl Parker and Miss Minnie Apple, both of Canboro, were married in Bad Axe Wednesday, Mar. 29. Congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Lew Jarvis and Mrs. Richard Jarvis visited Mrs. Dan Haley and her mother, Mrs. Geo. Jarvis, at Bad Axe Friday. Mrs. Jarvis is improving very slowly.

Many around here have been sick with the flu.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Goetz and children of Chandler township visited at the Lew Jarvis home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Thompson and daughter of Chandler visited at Henry Hartsell's Sunday.

Mrs. Herbert Hinton, who is in Bad Axe hospital, is improving. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Wanner from near Cass City visited at the William Parker home Friday. Mrs. Wanner was formerly Miss Florence Parker of this place. We extend congratulations.

KINGSTON-NOVESTA TOWN LINE.

The ice storm of last week did considerable damage to the telephone lines.

Ted Coleman of Detroit spent the week end at his home.

J. D. Funk was a business caller at Caro Monday.

Howard Retherford was at Caro Saturday on business.

Morley Palmateer of Imlay City is here with a crew of men building and repairing fence on his farm.

Mrs. Ben Bowman of Pontiac is spending the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Coleman.

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Courliss visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Collins at Novesta Corners.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Evo visited friends at Wilmet Saturday.

Lloyd Osborn and family have moved on the farm of J. D. Funk. Mr. and Mrs. Funk expect to move to Cass City soon.

NOVESTA.

Ice, snow, rain and mud. Our telephone service is badly crippled by the ice storm of last time.

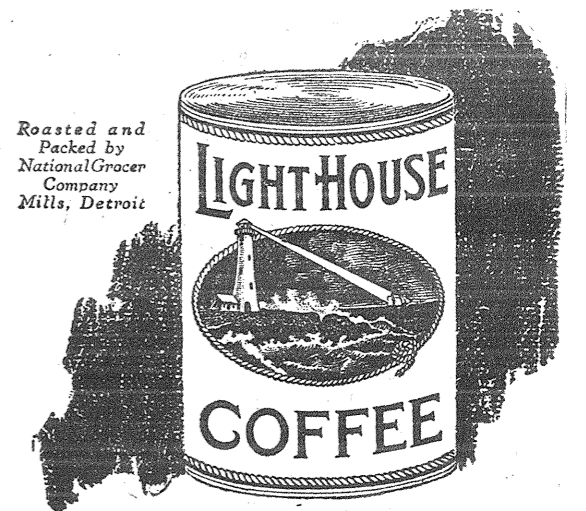

week.

Harvey Palmateer sold a fine four year old colt to Cass City parties.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheriff Holcomb and family returned Friday from Snover after a short visit with Mrs. Holcomb's people.

The League of Neighbors meeting on Friday evening at Mr. Wagg's had a small attendance owing to the unfavorable condition of roads and weather. There were plenty of young people there to have a good time.

E. E. Kinley has resigned the superintendency of the Kingston schools for the remainder of the year on account of illness. Mrs. H. G. Schwaderer of Cass City is teaching in his place until a new superintendent can be secured.

James A. Menzies established the Expositor at Yale 40 years ago and is still its editor and publisher. As "Jim" Menzies grows older, his paper grows better. It has long been a welcomed sheet on the Chronicle's exchange table.

Mrs. Lulu Robinson of Carsonville superintendent of the Port Huron district of Evangelistic work, who gave an address at the M. E. Missionary Circle last Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. E. W. Jones, and Miss Olga Bird of Millington, were guests of Mrs. Ella Smith Thursday.

Mrs. C. L. Graham was hostess of the Mothers' Club Tuesday afternoon when the members met at her home for their April meeting. The time was spent in sewing after which Mrs. Graham, assisted by Mrs. J. A. Sandham and Mrs. H. R. Wager, served a delicious supper. Mrs. Taylor will entertain the ladies at the May meeting.

Eight little boy friends of Donald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reid, were delightfully entertained at his home Friday afternoon, Mar. 31, in celebration of his sixth birthday. The affair was in the form of an Easter party, hunting for hidden nests being among the games which amused the little fellows. Donald's mother served dainty refreshments and each guest received a chocolate rabbit as a favor.

The contract for digging the Wait improvement drain located in Elkland and Greenleaf townships was awarded recently to Milton Sugden of Cass City, the price being $2.35 per rod for the three and one-fourth miles of the ditch. The price is 50 per cent less than would have been charged by contractors two or three years ago for a similar job, is the opinion of W. B. Hicks, drain commissioner of Tuscola county. Four bridges were let for this drain, the prices of these showing about the same reduction over those prevailing a few years ago as was evidenced in letting the excavation work on the drain. Three bridges went to Daniel Haley of Bad Axe for $1,800. The fourth, which will be built where the ditch crosses State Trunk line 81 east of town, will cost $1,095 and was let to A. N. Callery of Sandusky.

MARY MARIE

But I was firm and dignified—but very polite and pleasant—and I said that I didn't see why she should act like that, for of course they were prospective suitors, the unmarried ones, anyway, and even some of the married ones, maybe, like Mr. Harlow, for of course they could get divorces, and—

"Of when I was a child and played dolls before this very fireplace? Well, yes, perhaps I do," laughed Mother. "And I could see she drew away a little." "There was one doll with a broken head that—"

"Madge, it seems so strange that we should both have had to trail through the tragedy of broken hearts and lives before we came to our real happiness. For we shall be happy, Madge. You know I'm to be free, too, soon, dear, and then we—"

"I don't believe Mother'll choose Mr. Harlow, anyway, even when the time comes. As for any of the others—I can't tell. She treats them all just exactly alike, as far as I can see. Polite and pleasant, but not at all lovable. I was talking to Peter one day about it, and I asked him. But he didn't seem to know, either, which one she will be likely to take, if any."

"I was in the window-seat around the corner of the chimney, reading; and I don't know as she knew I was there. But I was, and I heard. And I've heard other things, too, all this week. I'm to go next Monday, and as it comes nearer the time Mother's getting worse and worse. She's so unhappy over it. And of course that makes me unhappy, too. But I try not to show it. Only yesterday, when she was crying and hugging me, and telling me how awful it was that her little girl should have to suffer, too, I told her not to worry a bit about me; that I wasn't suffering at all. I liked it. It was ever so much more exciting to have two homes instead of one. But she only cried all the more, and sobbed, "Oh, my baby, my baby!"—so nothing I could say seemed to do one mite of good."

"I am excited. And I can't help wondering how it's all going to be at Father's. Oh, of course, I know it won't be so much fun, and I'll have to be "Mary," and all that; but it'll be something different, and I always did like different things. Besides, there's Father's love story to watch. Maybe he didn't wait a year. Anyway, if he did find somebody I'm sure he wouldn't be so willing to wait as Mother would. You know Nurse Sarah said Father never wanted to wait for anything. That's why he married Mother so quick, in the first place. But if there is somebody, of course I'll find out when I'm there. So that'll be interesting. And, anyway, there'll be the girls. I shall have them. I'll close now, and make this the end of the chapter. It'll be Andersonville next time."

"I don't see as I'm any nearer finding out who Mother's lover will be than I was four months ago. I suppose it's still too soon. Peter said one day he thought widows ought to wait at least a year, and he guessed grass-widows were just the same. My, how mad I was at him for using that name about my mother! Oh, I knew what he meant. I'd heard it at school. (I know now what it was that made those girls act so queer and horrid.) There was a girl—I never liked her, and I suspect she didn't like me, either. Well, she found out Mother had a divorce. (You see, I hadn't told it. I remembered how those girls out West bragged.) And she told a lot of the others. But it didn't work at all as it had in the West. None of the girls in this school here had a divorce in their families; and, if you'll believe it, they acted—some of them—as if it was a disgrace, even after I told them good and plain that ours was a perfectly respectable and genteel divorce. Nothing I could say made a mite of difference, with some of the girls, and then is when I first heard that perfectly horrid word, "grass-widow." So I knew what Peter meant, though I was furious at him for using it. And I let him see it good and plain. Of course I changed schools. I knew Mother'd want me to, when she knew, and so I told her right away. I thought she'd be superb and haughty and disdainful sure this time. But she wasn't. First she grew so white I thought she was going to faint away. Then she began to cry and kiss and hug me. And that night I heard her talking to Aunt Hattie and saying, "To think that that poor innocent child has to suffer, too!" and some more which I couldn't hear, because her voice was all choked up and shaky. Mother is crying now quite a lot. You see, her six months are 'most up, and I've got to go back to Father. And I'm afraid Mother is awfully unhappy about it. She had a letter last week from Aunt Jane, Father's sister. I heard her read it out loud to Aunt Hattie and Grandpa in the library. It was very stiff and cold and dignified, and ran something like this:

CHAPTER V When I Am Mary.

"Well, here I am. I've been here two days now, and I guess I'd better write down what's happened so far, before I forget it. First, about my leaving Boston. Poor, dear Mother did take on dreadfully, and I thought she just wouldn't let me go. She went with me to the junction where I had to change, and asked the conductor to look out for me. (As if I needed that—a young lady like me! I'm fourteen now. I had a birthday last week.) But I thought at the last she just wouldn't let me go, she clung to me so, and begged me to forgive her for all she'd brought upon me; and said it was a cruel, cruel shame, when there were children, and people ought to stop and think and remember, and be willing to stand anything. And then, in the next breath, she'd beg me not to forget her, and not to love Father better than I did her. (As if there was any danger of that!) And to write to her every few minutes."

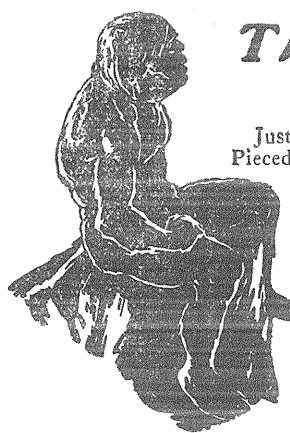

"Then the conductor cried, "All aboard!" and the bell rang, and she had to go and leave me. But the last

I saw of her she was waving her handkerchief, and smiling the kind of a smile that's worse than crying right out loud. Mother's always like that. No matter how bad she feels, at the last minute she comes up bright and smiling, and just as brave as can be. I had a wonderful trip to Andersonville. Everybody was very kind to me, and there were lovely things to see out of the window. The conductor came in and spoke to me several times—not the way you would look after a child, but the way a gentleman would tend to a lady. I liked him very much.

"There was a young gentleman in the seat in front, too, who was very nice. He loaned me a magazine, and bought some candy for me; but I didn't see much more of him, for the second time the conductor came in he told me he'd found a nice seat back in the car on the shady side. He noticed the sun came in where I sat, he said. (I hadn't noticed it specially.) But he picked up my bag and magazine—but I guess he forgot the candy box the nice young gentleman in front had just put on my window-sill, for when I got into my new seat the candy wasn't anywhere; and of course I didn't like to go back for it. But the conductor was very nice and kind, and came in twice again to see if I liked my new seat; and of course I said I did. It was very nice and shady, and there was a lady and a baby in the next seat, and I played with the baby quite a lot. It was heaps of fun to be grown up and traveling alone! I sat back in my seat and wondered and wondered what the next six months were going to be like. And I wondered, too, if I'd forgotten how to be "Mary."

"Dear me! How shall I ever remember not to run and skip and laugh loud or sing, or ask questions, or do anything that Marie wants to do?" I thought to myself. And I wondered if Aunt Jane would meet me, and what she would be like. She came once when I was a little girl, Mother said; but I didn't remember her. Continued on page eight.

The Oldest Man in the World

Just part of a skull, two molar teeth and a thigh bone! Pieced together they made—what? One of the most perplexing mysteries in the study of human history. Were these the remains of an ape-like man who lived 500,000 years ago? Scientists believe that they were; they call him the "Dawn Man," and out of the record embedded in the rocks they have reconstructed the conditions of his life. How he killed his food and tore the raw flesh from the bones; how he married and fought and died! How little by little he clawed and clubbed his way up to mastery over the beasts. It is a fascinating, gripping story, but it is only one of a thousand stories that stir your blood in this greatest book of modern times.

H. G. WELLS' "Outline of History"

Now Offered You at One-Third the Original Price A history that goes back 100,000,000 years—that traces man's rude beginnings 500,000 years ago—that follows him down through the ages to the Babylon of Nebuchadnezzar, the Egypt of Cleopatra, the France of Napoleon, the America of today, through the Great War and on into the future United States of the World—that gives ALL history as one story—that is Wells'. Not only the history of the world, but the science of the world; the outstanding literature of the world; the philosophy of the world—a vast panorama unveiled before your eyes by the most graphic word painter of modern times. And THE REVIEW OF REVIEWS TOO Wells begins with the dawn of time; before there were men; before there were even reptiles. In broad, magnificent strokes he paints the picture, bringing you straight down to 1922. Alexander passes on the scene; and Nero; and Charlemagne and Napoleon; Pericles and Genghis Khan; Constantine and Akbar; Galileo and Marco Polo. Never a dull moment. Never a paragraph that is not crystal clear. And where Wells stops the Review of Reviews takes up the story. His is the history of the past; the Review of Reviews records and interprets the history of the world today. It is fitting that these two should be yoked together. By yoking them we are able to offer you an educational course such as you get at no school in the land. Send No Money Merely clip and mail the coupon below. Your copy of Wells' will go forward immediately on approval. But do it now! You may never have another chance! Review of Reviews Co., 30 Irving Pl.

IN buying a motor car, you either buy satisfaction—or wish you had. You buy positive satisfaction when you select the Studebaker SPECIAL-SIX. Here's why: Its 50-horsepower motor gives you ample power and speed. Its roomy body is as handsome as it is well built. It is made complete in Studebaker's own shops where fine coach work has been in progress for 70 years. Its 119-inch wheelbase insures utmost comfort for five passengers because it provides room enough for the passengers to relax, without crowding, in deep, restful, genuine leather upholstery. Its dependability has been proved in the hands of thousands of owners. And when you compare it with other cars, keep in mind these features of equipment and remember the price of the SPECIAL-SIX is $1475 f.o.b. factory: Jeweled eight-day clock on instrument board. Cow ventilator controlled from instrument board. Tonneau lamp with extension cord. Parking lights in lower corners of windshield base. One-piece rain-proof windshield and windshield wiper. Large rectangular plate glass rear window 75 x 23 in. Tool compartment in left hand front door with lock. Transmission lock which reduces cost of insurance to owner 15% to 20%. One key operates the Yale lock on ignition switch, transmission and tool compartment. We shall be glad to tell you of many other important points of superiority of the SPECIAL-SIX. You owe it to yourself to see a Studebaker before you buy any car.

Strange Flower.

One of the strangest flowers, and one that is not often seen, because it only blossoms after night has fallen, and then withers before dawn comes, is the cereus. Except in bloom this plant, one of the few turning night into day, is unattractive.

Hours instead of Days

On Fordson farms, hours instead of days are required for the plowing. Late Spring with the usual rush of field work does not make the Fordson farmer wonder whether he can get all the crops in, and still do the work in the way that will insure a fair chance for the crop to mature.

And on the Fordson farm, the Oliver No. 7—the special plow for the Fordson—is as dependable a part of the equipment, as the red Oliver horse drawn plow has been for over sixty-five years.

Built to meet the exact requirements of the Fordson, the No. 7 operates at greatest efficiency with the tractor. On thousands of Fordson farms since the first tractors went into the service of agriculture, the Oliver No. 7 has proved its value.

For conditions making desirable a sulky, the No. 3 sulky with either turning or brush base is supplied.

The price at which complete Fordson farming equipment can be purchased is surprisingly low.

For practical demonstration and full information, see the nearest Fordson dealer.

Oliver No. 7, two bottom gang, chilled, combined rolling cutters and jointers, $72.00
Oliver No. 7, two bottom gang, steel or combination, combined rolling cutters and jointers, $75.00

For plain jointers taken instead of the combined rolling cutters and jointers, a reduction in price is made.
