NO IMMEDIATE R. R. RELIEF IN SIGHT

PRESENT RAILWAY AND COAL SITUATIONS OFFER LITTLE HOPE FOR EXTENSION OF PRESENT SERVICE ON G. T.

There is little hope now in sight that the present tri-weekly train service on the Grand Trunk will be extended within the immediate future. Nor are there any indications that the present service will be discontinued or curtailed in any respect. No instructions whatever regarding the train service have come to the local railway headquarters. The only cause for fear that has thus far appeared is the walkout of the shopmen in the railway shops and the threats of the men in the other departments to follow their example.

Postmaster J. M. Dodge has as yet received no reply to his application for truck service between Cass City and the D. B. C. & W. He said, however, that the plan is scarcely a feasible one since the D. B. C. & W. carries no mail clerks and the mail goes through in closed pouches. The present service, although presenting some inconveniences, is tolerated, on the whole, quite cheerfully by the postal patrons. According to several of the daily papers numerous applications have been made for truck transportation of mails but very few have been allowed and these only where it would be feasible to have truck service at all times.

The coal strike situation remains practically unchanged. It is hoped that the convocation of mine operators and miners which will meet in Cleveland on Monday will bring matters to a final adjustment. But even if the miners were to return to work immediately the situation would not be completely relieved since the available supply of mined coal was at its lowest ebb at the time of the walkout and the movement will be hampered by the railway tieup and inadequate rail facilities.

The appointment of W. W. Potter of the Public Utilities Commission as state fuel administrator was made on Tuesday night. This will undoubtedly radically change the present movement and distribution of coal. The farmers of the state are looking to this administration for help in securing threshing coal.

Local industries are continuing to run at normal capacity. The plant of the Nestle's Food Co. will undoubtedly be placed on the priority list of the new fuel administration since they are engaged in the manufacture of a food product and will thus not be affected in any manner.

STOCKHOLDERS OF GO-OP STORE ELECT OFFICERS

Large Percentage of Stockholders Attend Annual Meeting of Company.

An unusually large percentage of the stockholders of the Cass City Co-operative Mercantile company attended the annual meeting which was held on Thursday, July 27, in the opera house. The meeting was also characterized by a general feeling of satisfaction and unanimity on the part of all present.

Hugh Cooper was elected president of the company for the coming year with H. L. Hunt as secretary and Bert Knight as treasurer. Charles Bond and James Maharg were elected to serve on the board of directors. Emmet Philips was elected to succeed himself as manager for a term of one year. In all elections there was a general unanimity of opinion.

Mr. Twing of the Bad Axe Farm Bureau was present at this meeting and gave a splendid address to the stockholders on the value and position of co-operative enterprises such as they had organized. His talk was listened to with considerable interest.

NINETY MEMBERS OF KELLEY FAMILY MEET IN REUNION

About ninety members of the ancient and honorable clan of Kelley met in a family reunion at the William Kelley farm four miles south of Cass City on Saturday, July 22. Kelleys from Detroit, Saginaw, Marquette, Mayville, Cass City, and Deford were present and added their genial smiles to the occasion.

An abundant dinner was served on the lawn at noon with ice cream coming later. After dinner a baseball game and a variety of athletic contests were enjoyed by all. A short program of music and speeches was given. At a brief business session, Wm. Johnson of Detroit was chosen president of the group and Walter Kelley secretary-treasurer. The company dispersed shortly before six o'clock determined to make this an annual affair.

DRIVER INJURED WHEN MACHINE TURNS OVER

Aaron Watson of Port Huron was injured Sunday when the car in which he was riding turned turtle about four miles west of Cass City.

Mr. Watson's car was being towed by an auto which his son-in-law was driving when his car began to sway and then turned completely over. Nobody knows exactly what happened or why the accident should have happened.

Mr. Watson was held beneath the steering wheel and the fact that the wheel was not broken although the top of the car was crushed in and the car was resting on the wheel probably saved him from very serious injuries. Mr. Watson had no broken bones but was badly bruised especially around the back and the legs. He was brought to the home of his brother, Guy Watson, in Cass City and then later that night taken to his home in Port Huron.

When Mr. Watson was up north huckleberrying about two weeks ago his auto broke at Bay City, and he left it there until last Sunday when he and his son-in-law went to that city in order to take it home.

LOCAL TEAM WINS FROM UNIONVILLE BY 2-0 SCORE

Good Pitching, Steady Support from Field, and Heavy Hitting Win Hard Game.

Unionville, strong contenders for the county league pennant, tasted defeat at the hands of the local diamond stars with the final count standing 2-0. The game was played on the Akron diamond and was the third game of the Akron tournament which was played on Tuesday. In the first game Caro trimmed Vassar 6-1; in the second game Fostoria handed a defeat to Fairgrove with a score of 8-1. Undoubtedly the big game of the day was the hard fought contest in which the local diamond stars were the victors.

Benkelman started things off for the locals when he reached the first sack on an error by the Unionville third baseman. He reached second on a wild pitch and was brought home for the first tally on Champion's two base hit. The locals connected frequently throughout the game for hits but they were too scattered to be of scoring value. In the eighth frame with two men out, Flannery drove out a two base hit and was brought safely home when Smith repeated the act.

Unionville connected frequently but were caught out on pop flies or thrown out at first by steady fielding. Cass City pulled a double in the fourth when Flannery caught Prime's fly and put out G. Kappen at second. Cass City amassed a total of seven hits against two by Unionville.

NOVESTA FARMERS' CLUB ENTERTAINED AT OAK BLUFF

South Novesta Farmers' Club enjoyed a rare treat on July 28, when they were entertained at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Knapp at Oak Bluff.

About 75 partook of a bountiful dinner, after which the men enjoyed a ball game. About four o'clock the president called the meeting to order. Prayer was offered by Rev. Hubbard of Deford. There was a short business meeting, the program being omitted as much time had been taken up with the ball game and bathing. The club voted not to have an August meeting on account of the county fairs. The September meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Retherford in Caro.

HUNAN, CHINA, FAMINE BECOMING LESS SEVERE

A letter recently received from Rev. A. H. Butzbach, missionary to China, states that the terrible famine which has been raging in the southern provinces has become less acute and that the new crop promises sure relief. He says in part:

"I have just finished recruiting and sending on their nine days' journey a second batch of 240 men who are famine victims and who are to be employed in road building work in the eastern part of Hunan province with some thousands of others sent from various parts of Hunan. A motor road is to be constructed. This sounds rather modern for this place of ancient sounds and smells. There is considerable red tape with this labor recruiting as the family of every laborer has a home allowance of rice which is handed out once a week under my direction, so there is the work of issuing rice tickets and inventing a system of safeguarding against fraud—for, believe me, conscience does not bother the conduct of these non-Christian people.

"The wheat harvest and large shipments of relief grain have taken the keenest edge off the famine right around here; but farther to the southwest the conditions are still extremely distressing. We have distributed some seed grain among the stranded farmers and the growing crops give promise of better things—if only we do not have another drought this summer. My summer address is: No. 977, Kuling, China."

E. W. Jones, for fourteen years known as "The Grocer," has extended his business further by adding to his stock of groceries, crockery and notions a complete line of dry goods. The new stock has already been shipped and will be on the shelves for inspection in a week or ten days.

Mr. Jones has had experience in the dry goods line before his coming to Cass City and so he is not entering the business as a novice but as one who knows the dry goods trade and the people's needs.

FIRE DESTROYS NINE FARM BUILDINGS AT COLLING.

An exploding oil stove was the cause of a fire that completely destroyed nine buildings on the farm of Marvin Hyde, 1¼ miles east of Colling on Friday, July 21. The house and eight of the smaller farm buildings were completely demolished. Only the heroic efforts of the neighbors saved the large barn which caught fire several times but was immediately extinguished. The total loss is estimated at $5,000 on which about $1,600 insurance was carried.

EVANGELICAL S. S. HAS PICNIC AT BAY PORT

The second attraction was an exciting ball game between the single men and the married men in which the bachelors, assisted by the umpire (or so the married men say), humbled their elder brethren by a score of 13 to 8. Aquatic sports were enjoyed by all.

EVANGELICALS OF STATE TO MEET IN ASSEMBLY

Annual Evangelical Church Meetings Start at Bay Shore Park Wednesday, Aug. 9.

Evangelicals of this state will meet in their annual summer assembly at Bay Shore Park, Sebewaing, on Aug. 9 to 20. The first five days will be given over to a joint Young Peoples' Alliance and Sunday school convention. The principal speakers at these meetings will be Rev. J. S. Stamm, professor of exegetical theology at the Evangelical Theological Seminary, Naperville, Ill., and Rev. C. L. Allen of Marion, Ohio, who is the successful pastor of one of the largest churches of that city. Thomas Miller of Niles, Mich., will again serve as song leader and Miss Hilda Liesemer of Detroit will serve as pianist.

The last week of the assembly will be given to a ministerial and Christian workers' conference. The principal speakers at this will be Bishop L. H. Seager, who has recently made a tour of the Orient, and Rev. B. R. Wiener, field secretary of the missionary board who has recently returned from a tour of several months in central Europe and will speak on his observations and experiences.

Numerous improvements have been made at Bay Shore Park in anticipation of this year's assembly, chief among which has been the building of a new hotel which is 28x100 feet in size with a kitchen 28x30 feet in size. The lower floor of the main structure will be used as a dining hall and the second story contains 27 sleeping rooms. A number of new cottages have been built and more are now in the process of construction.

PLANS SET FOR BIG M. A. C. FARMERS DAY

Hundreds of Michigan Agriculturists Will Be Entertained on East Lansing Campus Aug. 4.

With final plans made for the reception of hundreds of Michigan farmers and their families, the campus of the Michigan Agricultural College is being groomed this week in preparation for the fifth annual summer Farmers' Day, Friday, Aug. 4.

Hundreds of acres of interesting and valuable experimental work in farm crops and soils will be ready for inspection on the college farm. Livestock herds including representatives of the finest blood of the various breeds will be "dressed up" for visitors in the barns, and the college laboratories and buildings will be open for guests.

A special livestock parade, which has been called a modern "livestock style review," will feature a big afternoon meeting under the campus trees. Band music, speeches by prominent state agricultural leaders, including President David Friday, of M. A. C., and L. Whitney Watkins, chairman of the State Board of Agriculture, are listed on the afternoon program.

Condensed outdoor agricultural exhibits, each bearing some timely farm topic, will be erected near the meeting ground. Wireless outfits for the home, farm conveniences, control of diseases and pests, and best farm practices in general will be illustrated in these exhibits.

Women and children are to make their headquarters in the college woman's building, joining the "men folk" in the day's program of entertainment and business.

THE NEW BAD AXE FAIR.

The new and bigger Bad Axe Fair will open August 29 with $10,000 worth of new buildings, six acres added to the auto parking place and a midway double the size of the old one. A train load of midway attractions have been contracted for.

A better babies show for the entire Thumb will feature the first day. For this six costly prizes will be up and the judging will be done by three state experts.

No effort will be spared to make this year's show of thoroughbred livestock at least the equal of last year, when it was the best among the state's county fairs.

MIDWAY AND FREE ACTS FAIR FEATURES

STRONG PROGRAM OF RACES AND LEAGUE BALL GAMES WILL HELP TO MAKE CASS CITY FAIR THE BEST EVER.

With only one more week in which to whip the details of what promises to be the "best ever" Cass City Fair into shape, Secretary Crandell and the superintendents of the various departments are some of the busiest men of the town during these days. An exceptionally strong program of free acts, horse races, league ball games, and midway features has already been lined up. There still remain quite a number of minor details to be arranged but present indications point to a successful staging of this annual gala time.

A number of free platform acts have been secured among which are the Thomas Family, the Cleos, and the Flying Melzers. The Thomas Family is a troupe of seven people presenting a big circus tumbling act featuring Babe Thomas, the youngest circus tumbler. They will present many bewildering formations in which human builders are the materials. The Cleos present a speedy double trapeze act combining speed, accuracy and strength in a flashy act. The Flying Melzers present a troupe of six people who were formerly one of the big feature acts with the Robinson circus. A big special rigging, 35 feet in the air and 85 feet long is used in the act in which the performers pass each other in mid-air in their wonderful flying leaps and catches.

Superintendent of races, Angus McPhail, has arranged the following race program offering $1200 in purses and presenting an unusual variety:

Wednesday, August 16.
2:16 Pace or Trot.....$200.00
2:30 Pace or Trot..... 160.00

Thursday, August 17.
2:19 Trot200.00
Named Pace or Trot..... 160.00

Friday, August 18.
Free for All Trot or Pace.... 250.00
Consolation Race for horses not having won better than 4th money at meeting..... 170.00
Farmers' Run, ½ mile, best two in three heats..... 60.00

Another splendid feature will be a three game baseball tournament of the Tuscola county league. On Tuesday, Fairgrove and Vassar will clash in the initial contest of the tournament. Present league standings have these two teams rated about equally and the game promises to be a good one. On Wednesday, Caro will play Unionville in one of the deciding games for the league pennant. This will undoubtedly be the big game of the tournament. On Friday Akron will meet Fostoria in a game that will not be lacking in entertainment for followers of the sport although the contestants may be far down in the league standings.

The carnival features of the fair will be provided by Ackley's Independent Shows of Saginaw and will include the various riding devices and side shows.

This is the biggest time of the entire year for the community and no one can afford to miss the opportunity to enjoy this time of recreation. Keep the dates open and plan to spend them at the Cass City Fair, August 15, 16, 17 and 18.

PAVEMENT NOT POSSIBLE FOR VILLAGE THIS SUMMER

What appears to be the conclusion of the paving proposition was reached Wednesday in a special meeting of the Council.

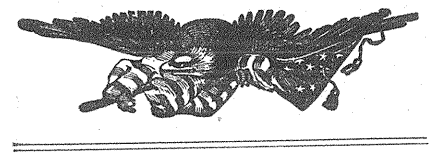

At a recent meeting a vote was taken to award the contract for paving to Harold M. Schmidt of Saginaw but the vote was declared lost as it lacked the support of two-thirds of the trustees. Giving as their reason for a negative vote, the opposing members stated that they were dubious about the contract of co-operation which the village had entered into with the State Highway Department and if it could be modified or cancelled that they would then consider the matter favorable to proceeding with the paving.

Arrangements were accordingly made by President Bigelow for Wednesday's special meeting at which C. F. Boehler, municipal engineer of the state highway office of Lansing, and R. W. Roberts, district engineer of Saginaw were present. None of the trustees who desired modification of the contract were present to disclose their viewpoint or advance arguments so that little was accomplished.

The state representatives, however, advocated further effort to complete the legal step necessary for readiness to begin the work next spring, stating that it would now be too late to begin a job of the extent of that contemplated here.

LARGE POTATOES MAKE BEST CHIP

New Tubers in Spring and Summer Should Not Be Used Before the Skin Sets.

BIG ESSENTIALS FOR SUCCESS

No Apparent Advantage in Salt Water Bath Sometimes Recommended—High-Grade Cottonseed Oil Most Satisfactory.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Any woman can prepare excellent potato chips at home if she will observe a few fundamental rules, says the United States Department of Agriculture. To make a good crisp chip she must first select mature potatoes, high in starch. Large or medium-sized round, smooth potatoes with shallow eyes are least wasteful to prepare and make the best-looking chips. Varieties of the Irish Cobbler and Green Mountain groups, according to locality, have given satisfactory results in respect to the quality and quantity of chips produced.

New potatoes in the spring and summer do not make good chips. They should not be used before the skin sets. Manufacturers who use notatoes in large quantities prefer old stock. A waxy or soggy potato is also undesirable for making chips. A variety should be selected that is known to be meaty when baked or boiled. The raw flesh should be firm and crisp when sliced. The size and shape of the potato do not affect the cooking quality, but they influence the quantity and appearance of the chips.

Essentials for Success.

When a mechanical vegetable peeler is used, round potatoes are less wasteful than long ones. Deep eyes cause waste, difficulty in paring, and make ragged-looking slices. A mechanical slicer is preferable to knife slicing because it is important to have the chips of uniform thickness, and each slice evenly cut. Otherwise the chips cook unevenly.

After a study of various practices with regard to preparing and cooking the sliced potatoes, it was found that there was no apparent advantage in the saltwater bath sometimes recommended, nor in the extra work involved in a hot-water bath followed by drying between towels. Cutting the potatoes into even thin slices with an accurately adjusted vegetable slicer, soaking them thoroughly in clear water after an initial bath of cold running water, draining, and frying them in a clean, high-grade fat at a high temperature were found to be essentials in producing crisp, high-quality chips.

Cottonseed Oil is Best.

Many fats, including lard, lard and suet mixture, lard-like vegetable fats, cottonseed, corn, peanut and coconut oils, were experimented with for frying the chips. Olive oil was considered too expensive for ordinary use and was not tried. The most satisfactory medium was found to be a high-grade cottonseed oil, which was clear, bland, and practically flavorless. Its initial cost was lowest and there was a minimum of waste in cooking. A comparison of chips fried in different fats demonstrated its superiority in behavior during cooking and in the flavor of the finished product.

The lard and the lard-suet mixture imparted a flavor or after-taste that was unpleasant to some people and left a cloudy coating on the chips that made them less attractive than chips with the clear yellow-brown gloss resulting from frying in oil. All the vegetable oils and compounds were more satisfactory than the animal fats. The liquids were more convenient than the semi-plastic compounds for use in quantities. They were also less expensive and less wasteful. No fat with a smoking point of less than 220 degrees C. (428 degrees F.) is desirable for frying potato chips. Overheated fat is unwholesome and imparts a scorched flavor to food cooked in it. Approximately one-half pound of oil is necessary for each pound of chips produced.

How to Fry Potato Chips.

The best results are obtained when the sliced potato chips are washed in running cold water under a faucet for at least an hour and soaked in cold water several hours longer. The water in the pans should be changed until the last wash water is practically free of starch. The slices need not be dried before immersion, but as much water as possible should be shaken off. When the oil reaches 210 degrees C. (410 degrees F.) a basket of raw sliced potatoes is lowered into the fat, and stirred constantly with a long-handled spoon. The object of the hot water bath sometimes recommended is chiefly to coagulate the protein in the potatoes, and this result can be obtained equally well by heating the fat to a point just below smoking before the slices are put in.

When the slices are crisp and brown, in from three to five minutes, the frying basket is raised and drained, and the chips spread on brown paper to dry. While still warm they should be sprinkled lightly with salt. Chips prepared in this way should keep sweet for weeks in moderate temperatures.

The oil should be reheated to 410 degrees F. after each batch of chips is removed. The best way to determine the temperature is by means of a thermometer. If chips are made frequently the oil should be renewed from time to time. The frying pan and basket should be deep rather than wide and made of iron or steel which is not affected by high cooking temperatures. Tin or enamel-ware pans are not safe to use.

BISCUIT DOUGH USED IN VARIETY OF WAYS

Can Be Modified in Baking Cookies or Tea-Cakes.

Three Good Variations of Recipe as Recommended by the Department of Agriculture—Many Fruits Are Useful.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The ingenious housekeeper will find that plain biscuit dough, which is cheap and filling, can be modified in a variety of appetizing ways for use like cookies or tea-cakes. The standard recipe for biscuits calls for the following ingredients:

- 2 cupfuls sifted flour. 2 table spoonfuls shortening. 1/2 teaspoonful salt. 1/2 cupful liquid (milk, water, or equal parts of each).

Here are three good variations of this recipe, recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture:

Pin Wheels. Add 2 tablespoonfuls sugar to plain biscuit dough and an extra tablespoonful of flour if needed. Roll to 1/4-inch thickness. Brush over with melted butter and sprinkle with fruit (currants, raisins, dates, or citron), or with cinnamon and sugar alone. Roll like a jelly roll and cut off pieces 1/2 inch in thickness. Bake same as biscuits.

Coffee Cake. In the recipe for plain biscuits add 2 tablespoonfuls of sugar to the dry ingredients and one egg, well-beaten, to the liquid and mix as usual. Roll or pat into a sheet 1/2 inch thick and place in greased pan. Dot top with bits of butter and strewn with sugar and a little cinnamon. Bake in rather hot oven. This dough may be baked in two sheets and used for shortcake.

Dutch Apple Cake. Prepare dough same as for coffee cake. After placing in pan, cover top with tart apples sliced 1/4 inch thick, set close together and slightly overlapping. Strew generously with sugar, dust with cinnamon and dot with bits of butter. Bake in a moderate oven until apples are very tender.

Other fruits, such as sliced peaches, plums, raspberries, cherries, and stewed dried fruits may be used in place of the apples in this recipe.

After-dinner coffee should be made double strength.
A teaspoonful of baking powder will make fudge more creamy.
A cabbage leaf is an excellent medium for cleaning greasy tinware.
Grease spots on wallpaper should be rubbed with camphorated chalk.
Never cook stews too fast or the meat will become hard and tough.
Boil a new clothesline. This will prevent it from stretching and make it last longer.
Let potatoes lie in cold water for a while before paring them if you wish them to be white.
A good remedy for a cut is raw starch. It should be wetted and applied thickly as soon as possible.
Add vinegar to the water in which table glasses are rinsed; it will give an extra brilliancy to the polish.

Volume Savings Permit Greater Value

There are hundreds of parts in a motor car. Many companies buy all, some makers build a few, of the parts that go to make up a complete motor car. For every part they buy, a partsmaker's profit must be included in the final price.

Studebaker builds every vital part. Motors, bodies, axles, transmissions, frames, tops and other parts are designed and manufactured completely from raw material to finished product in Studebaker plants, under Studebaker control and inspection.

The savings, because of tremendous volume, give the buyer extraordinary value.

Complete manufacture also explains the uniform high quality that you get in a Studebaker car, whether it is a Light-Six, a Special-Six or a Big-Six.

And uniform high quality has made Studebaker cars known everywhere for their dependable performance in owners' use.

FELT TIRES FOR THE ROCKER

Housewife Need No Longer Worry Over Possible Injury to Her Cherished Polished Floors.

It is aggravating to the housekeeper when the varnished surface of a floor becomes worn by the rockers of a chair. This annoyance can be prevented and longer life given the floor finish by gluing a strip of felt to the underside of each chair rocker. Liquid glue or linoleum cement can be used for holding the felt strip to the wood. In order to bring the felt into contact with the wood at all points, the method of clamping shown in the drawing should be used, and the board and clamps allowed to remain overnight.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

OLIN DECLARES MALARIA WAR

A fight to prevent an increase of malaria which attacked more than 150 persons in Michigan last year has been instituted by Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner. It is feared that the dreaded anopheles mosquito, the female of which is the only medium transferring the malaria parasite, has survived the comparatively mild winter and will appear in large numbers again this year. Dr. Olin advises that immediate steps be taken to destroy breeding places. The anopheles mosquito is most conspicuous during August. Thus far two cases of malaria have been reported to the health department laboratory. The mosquito transfers the malaria parasite from infected persons to healthy individuals and according to authorities can spread many cases in a day.

"Jerry Builders."

Jerry built may be derived from the jury mast, a temporary mast erected on ships in time of emergency. Another derivation is from the gypsy expression, jery, meaning anything contemptible.

Monday.
SIN SEPARATES:—Your iniquities have separated between you and your God, and your sins have hid his face from you, that he will not hear.—Isaiah 59: 2.

Tuesday.
LAW OF LOVE:—Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.—Romans 13: 10.

Wednesday.

Thursday.

STATES GET WAR MATERIALS FOR USE IN ROAD BUILDING

Surplus war material valued at $139,773,986 was delivered to the states for use in road construction up to July 1, reports the Bureau of Public Roads, United States Department of Agriculture. The material, which consisted of all sorts of supplies and equipment suitable for road building for which the War Department had no further need, was distributed on the same basis as monetary Federal aid.

In value of material delivered, Texas and New York lead with nearly $8,000,000 worth of material, and every state with the exception of five of the smaller ones received supplies valued at over $1,000,000.

This material has been of great value in road construction, and there is hardly a county in the United States in which some of it has not been used. Probably of greatest value has been the 29,325 motor vehicles distributed, consisting of 24,752 trucks and 4,573 automobiles, and in addition a large number of tractors.

The system of distribution has been so arranged that the states requisition only material useful to them. In some cases they fall behind in allotments in order to wait for material particularly desired. Many of the states have shown great ingenuity in conditioning worn equipment, using war material to equip shops in which other war material is made suitable for use.

There is still a large quantity of material in this country for distribution. This will be further increased by material used by the army of occupation in Germany soon to be brought back.

Let any sufferer doubt this evidence of merit, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Cass City people who again endorse Doan's Kidney Pills—confirm their former testimony. Here's a Cass City case: Mrs. J. Walmsley, S. Pine St., Cass City, says: "I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills off and on whenever necessary during the past years and they have never failed to do me good. For backache and other trouble I couldn't recommend anything their equal. I get Doan's at Burke & Co.'s Drug Store." Doan's Always Helped Her Three years later, Mrs. Walmsley added: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills now and then since recommending them and I have always received the same good results." Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Walmsley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Advertisement

XXVII.
THIS WAS YOUR MONEY

Consider for a moment, if you will, some further figures. This is your money I am talking about.

For every fiscal year from 1866 to 1893, inclusive, there was a surplus of receipts over expenditures. During this period of 28 years the surplus of receipts over expenditures totaled $1, 920,205,013.41.

For the fiscal years 1894 to 1899, inclusive, the expenditures exceeded the receipts in the aggregate of $283,022, 991.14. For the fiscal years 1900 to 1904, inclusive, the surplus of receipts over expenditures aggregated $310, 319,165.04. For 1905 the expenditures exceeded the receipts by $78,776, 622.30.

For the years 1910 to 1914, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $149,024,404.27. For 1915 the expenditures exceeded the receipts by $93,488,931.53. For 1916 the receipts exceeded the expenditures by $55,171,553.59, and for 1917 there was a deficit of $29,724,864.73.

From 1866 to 1917, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures for each year with the exception of 1894, 1895, 1896, 1897, 1898, 1899, 1900, 1905, 1909, 1915 and 1917. The total amount by which the expenditures exceeded the receipts for these 11 years just named, is $443,766,744.70. For the 52 fiscal years, 1866 to 1917, inclusive, the receipts exceeded the expenditures in 41 years, the total of such excess for that period being $2,591,453,184.16.

For the fiscal years 1866 to 1910, the revenues were raised through an indirect system of taxation. Beginning with the fiscal year ending June 30, 1910, the receipts from direct methods of taxation have usually grown each fiscal year, as will be seen by the following table:

1910—Corporation tax	$ 2,951,780.97
1911—Corporation tax	33,516,976.59
1912—Corporation tax	28,583,308.73
1913—Corporation tax	35,006,299.84
1914—Corporation excise tax	39,671,077.22
1914—Corporation income tax	67,945,594.03
1914—Individual income tax	23,253,534.55
1915—Emergency revenue	52,069,126.29
1915—Corporation income tax	39,156,596.77
1915—Individual income tax	41,046,162.09
1916—Emergency revenue	84,278,302.13
1916—Corporation income tax	56,393,657.38
1916—Individual income tax	67,945,594.03
1917—Emergency revenue	95,297,553.53
1917—Corporation income tax	179,572,857.86
1917—Individual income tax	180,108,340.10
1918—Income and excess prof- its tax	2,838,999,894.28
1919—Income and excess prof- its tax	2,596,008,702.70

The number of corporations making income tax returns showing taxable income, aggregated 52,498 in the calendar year 1909, and that number increased to 232,079 for the calendar year 1917. The number of individuals making personal income tax returns aggregated 357,598 for the calendar year 1913, and that number increased to 3,472,890 for the calendar year 1917.

For the fiscal year 1909 the total ordinary receipts aggregated $908,589, 489.84, of which $300,711,933.95 came from customs duties, $246,212,643.59 came from internal revenue, and the balance was received from the sale of public lands and other miscellaneous items; whereas, for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1919, the total receipts from customs amounted to $184, 457,867.39, while the internal revenue, including income taxes and corporation and excess profits taxes, amounted to $3,839,950,612.05.

So you will see that until 1910 the money you paid toward the support of the government was slipped away from you so easily that you hardly knew anything about it. You did not know that you were paying taxes to the national government.

Indirect taxation is the most seductive form of raising public revenue. You never came in contact with the federal government except when you bought a postage stamp. But now you know it every time you buy a drink at a soda fountain, or a bottle of medicine, or send a telegram, or make a long-distance telephone call, or perform any one of a score of other normal activities of daily life. Something must be put in the kitty for the government. Its annual rakeoff runs into the billions. You pay it and the government spends it.

But all that part of the party is about over now. The oysters have been eaten and put in the bill. They must be paid for. It is perfectly clear that in the future by far the greater part of the revenue required for conducting the public business must come from direct taxes. It is also clear that the ordinary expenses for running the government will in future probably exceed four billion dollars a year. That is, a lot of money to take out of your pockets, and mine. Hadn't we better see what is done with it, and whether we can save any of it? Congress, which is very far-sighted, and able, when its own skin is concerned, to distinguish a hawk from a hand saw at a very great distance, is beginning to take notice.

WHERE THE HENS LAY ALL WINTER

Colony Poultry House Will Keep Flock Productive.

MORE EGGS FROM WARM HOME

Design Illustrated Here Will Keep Out the Winds and at Same Time Permit Plenty of Fresh Air and Light.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD
Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Owners of poultry flocks may gain some worth while ideas about flock housing and management from the professionals who are about the only ones who succeed in making poultry pay a profit. To the average person who owns chickens they are a source of pleasure and fresh eggs, with but little actual knowledge of whether or not they are an asset or a liability.

In the first place, it is a pretty well recognized fact that a flock of less than 100 birds cannot be made to pay their feed bills and have anything left for the labor of caring for them. Next, the average poultry owner pays little attention to the house the flock occupies in winter—any old building that has four walls and a roof is looked upon as sufficient. The wind and snow sweep through the cracks in the poultry house and the feed the birds consume is used up to keep them from freezing rather than to produce eggs. And this, too, when everyone knows that the time when eggs are worth gathering is the time when the hens, or a majority of them, are not laying.

The common, everyday hen of the American farm and backyard flocks are natives of tropical countries. True, she has been acclimated to the colder northern climate, but to do her best work she must be kept warm and comfortable in winter. That's why successful poultrymen pay a great deal of attention to the house for the flock in winter, and farm building architects have designed houses that will keep out the winds, and at the same time permit a supply of fresh air and plenty of light.

For convenience in handling good-size flocks, there has come into general use what is known as a colony poultry house. Almost invariably these houses are 20 feet wide and as long as the size of the flock requires. This size is gauged by providing four square feet of floor space for each bird. The colony house shown in the accompanying illustration is 20 feet wide and 64 feet long, giving a total of 1,280 square feet of floor space, or sufficient for 320 birds.

As will be seen by the floor plan of the house, the interior is divided into four sections, each 16 feet by 20 feet. In each of these sections 80 birds are kept, although doors permit the owner to throw the whole of the interior together. But, as success with poultry requires that the young pullets that are just beginning to lay should be kept separate from the older hens, or breeding stock, few poultrymen allow the whole flock to run together.

This house is what is known as the saw-tooth roof type. It is of frame construction, set on a concrete foundation. The open, or saw-tooth roof front faces the south so as to get advantage of the winter sun and the warmth it provides. The front of the lower half of the building is open to provide good ventilation, but inside are burlap curtains that are lowered at night and on extremely cold days. In the upright section of the roof are large windows, one over each section of the house. These allow light to get to the back part of the interior. How the nests and roosts are arranged is shown on the plan.

There is a great deal more to insure success with a flock of poultry than a house, of course. This includes feeding, which is most important. But with every care the poultryman may take, he will have little success in bringing on layers during the cold months unless a proper house is provided.

Experiments by poultry specialists at the state agricultural colleges with artificial lighting to promote egg production during the short days have been most interesting. It now has been proven that artificial lights, principally electric, that are turned on early in the morning, will double winter egg production, providing, of course, the hens do not utilize all their feed to promote warmth. After the hens have gone to roost at night, their morning feed is scattered in the litter. Then when the lights are turned on, usually about 4 a. m., they get off the perch, are forced to take exercise to get their breakfasts and are kept in an active, healthy condition, and produce a comparatively large number of eggs.

Handling a flock of poultry is interesting work and can be made very profitable now that poultry products are high and feed costs low. With the proper sort of a house and careful feeding and handling, the owner will find their flock a cash-producing asset.

HAD CRUDE IDEA OF WORLD

In the Thirteenth Century People Had Very Simple Notions Concerning Geographical Facts.

Geography in the Thirteenth century was a very simple affair, which could be completely mastered by a schoolboy with a few minutes' study. The most reliable map pictured a little flat world of three continents, Europe, Asia and Africa. On its face appears the various kinds of creatures, human, animal and semi-human, which were believed to inhabit the remote regions of the earth. The holy city of Jerusalem is placed in the exact center, and at the extreme east is the Garden of Paradise, represented by an apple tree, Adam and Eve and the serpent.

The earth itself is bounded on the four quarters by the "jumping-off place." In the southern part of Africa appears the figure of a strange man whose face appears to be on his chest. Elsewhere are griffins, unicorns and several creatures which completely defy classification. This map is interesting to contrast with that studied in ancient China, which represented the known world as resting on the back of a cow. Some of the old Chinese declared that, after an earthquake they had found some of the cow's hairs in the fissures of the earth.

Chestnuts.

An old writer says that horse-chestnuts are so-called because "people in the East countries do with the fruit thereof cure their horses of the cough, shortness of breath, and such-like diseases." It is always a temptation to seek for an ingenious explanation when there is a simple one at hand, but the fact is that the horse-chestnut has no connection whatever with the horse. The word "horse," as used not only in horse-chestnut, but also in horse-laugh, horse-play, horse-radish, and horse-mint, is the same word as "goose," the common name of the rough, prickly shrub of our commons. The horse-chestnut deserves its prefix doubly, for when inclosed in its burr it is a prickly thing to handle, and its kernel is acid and unpleasant to the taste. Similarly, the horse-radish is a pungent tuber and the horse-mint is a pungent mint. Horse-play is rough, uncouth play, and a horse-laugh is a vulgar, boisterous guffaw.

And It Is Called Food.

A Malayan diet includes, besides any amount of canned foods, an occasional fresh piece of tough goat meat or beef, oranges, always eaten green, bananas of all flavors and sizes limes, and an unusual fruit called the durian, which is described as a huge, green, round, spiky fruit which smells worse than a combination of limberger cheese, the mephitic (our notorious musteline mammal) and a garbage and sewage plant, and tastes like a blend of strawberries, onions, chocolate creams, rotten eggs, and cheese. Whether you like it depends entirely upon yourself. Then there are some five thousand other fruits and an occasional fresh fish.—Cleveland Plain Dealer

8,000 HIKING CLUBS IN GREATER NEW YORK

They Swing Along Highways and Through Woods in Groups of Varying Size.

New York.—One must walk nowadays to be in the swim. Statistics gleaned from the out-door departments of the newspapers, from the Boy Scout and Campfire Girls' organizations, from the Y. M. C. A. branches and kindred bodies, from scores of amateur athletic clubs and from the leading dealers in sporting goods, indicate that today there are no less than 8,000 hiking clubs in Greater New York, with a total membership of more than a quarter of a million men and women, who are keeping themselves in the pink of condition and experiencing the real joy of living by getting regularly out into the open country with no other means of locomotion than their God-given legs.

"Best Walkers Make Best Citizens," Says Mayor of New York.

The city of New York has taken official notice of the movement. On three occasions recently Mayor Hylan has congratulated the boys and girls of the public schools upon their enthusiasm in taking up the new sport of hiking. In his dedication of the great new public playground in the Bronx the other day Mayor Hylan extolled the athletic tendencies of the boys and girls and impressed upon them that there was no better or more profitable way in which they could pass their vacations and utilize their holidays than by the excursions into field and forest of their walking clubs. He gave the same message to the Amateur Athletic Union of Brooklyn a few days later, and when a club of East Side boys and girls visited him at city hall preparatory to a hike to the tomb of Roosevelt at Oyster Bay he assured them that the best walkers among them would make the best citizens.

Walk and Be Well

No less enthusiastic a champion of the walking game is Dr. Royal S. Copeland, city health commissioner. "The benefit to health and the safeguard to morals to be found in long walks," said Dr. Copeland in an interview, "are too apparent to speak of them. If one takes long walks alone it is well, for he walks the road of health, but if he takes long walks in company it is better for he adds the tonic of companionship to his exercise. Walking is the one form of exercise in which there is the minimum risk of overdoing it. In short, I consider walking the most beneficial of all exercises and it is never out of season." "Never in my life-time," said Edward R. Wilbur, manager of a nationally known sporting goods store, "have I known such a demand as now for outdoor garments and shoes and stockings and appliances for the tourist's luncheon box. The rapid spread and tremendous popularity of the walking-club idea has no parallel in our experience."

"The hiker can make his requisite just what he feels like spending. Really, there are only two or three articles indispensable to hiking—thick walking shoes that allow lots of room, thick woolen socks and clothing that will give freedom of limb. He should have a canvas or leather musette bag, such as the soldiers used in France.

The Cow in the Knapsack

"To get the real benefit and joy out of hiking luncheon should be carried and prepared and eaten in the open. Bread and cheese, a few slices of bacon, some coffee, a can of condensed milk, and a cake of chocolate furnish high-powered fuel for the hiker and are readily and happily assimilated even by those who in their pre-hiking days were afflicted with digestive apparatus so feeble as to balk at crackers and milk. Fortunately for the hiker, he can replenish his simple larder at any cross-roads store and provide himself with the most nutritious and appetizing food in a form that can be conveniently carried.

"No single development in the problem of food transportation for the hunter, fisherman, hiker and all lovers of the out-of-doors can compare with the gift bestowed by the man who first found the way to make condensed milk, thereby putting a dairy in every man's knapsack. Before long there will be a national association of hikers, and Gail Borden will be its patron saint. Such an association could do much to encourage the spread of the most beneficial and universal of all outdoor pastimes, map out interesting routes, secure the establishment of shelters, rest-stations, and camp sites at suitable locations, and insure the rights of pedestrians on country roads."

RUGGLES

---the product of Experience

Never in the history of the motor truck industry has there been introduced a truck with such a wealth of manufacturing experience behind it as is embodied in the Ruggles Motor Truck, made in Saginaw.

In every step of its construction, from the engineering staff who designed it to the sales and distribution, it is being produced and sold by an organization of experienced men who developed the world's largest motor truck plant, and in the Ruggles Truck they have eliminated that very costly experimental stage through which most every other truck has had to go.

That's why simultaneous with its first announcement, there sprang up all over the United States a tremendous demand for Ruggles Trucks and the remarkable production attained by the Ruggles factory in its first year has astonished the motor truck industry.

In the hands of owners everywhere, the Ruggles is establishing new records for dependability, steady performance and extremely low operating cost.
