XMAS OPENING SATURDAY

Such pleasant weather has prevailed this month that few have realized the nearness of the holiday season. That Christmas is only a few weeks away is brought to the attention of Chronicle readers today in the announcement of a Christmas opening at the E. W. Jones store tomorrow. Succeeding issues of this paper will bring many valuable suggestions for holiday shoppers by local business houses. Watch for them.

CARO.

Married at Caro by Justice Brown on Saturday, Nov. 18:

Elton Peet of Kent County, and Sophia Kelsey of Caro; Walter Carl Krechenmeister of Cleveland, Ohio and Goldie Mildred Huffman of Caro.

Observation Worth Considering.

A sage of old observed: "He who makes others happy makes possible happiness for himself." This observation reversed is also pertinent. "He who makes others unhappy makes possible unhappiness for himself." Apply this to business and industrial conditions today.—Grit.

Appropriate.

A couple married at Highgate, England, recently were named Willing and Wise.

Fresh Air Camps Put Tb. To Rout

Five weeks at the fresh air camp maintained by the Tuberculosis Society of her county brought Dorothy ten pounds increase in weight and changed her listless pallor to rosy, joyous vigor. With continued care and wholesome living, TB. will no longer be a spectre in Dorothy's path. Christmas seals won this victory.

BEFORE JEFFERSON HAD A SAN

(Names of places and persons, for obvious reasons, have been changed in this story; but the incident happened as narrated.)

Dr. Merrit, fresh from the U and new to Jeffersonville, answered his telephone promptly. It was Burroughs, the hotel-keeper, a vast, jovial fellow whom the doctor saw on the hotel porch daily, who was calling.

"Gosh, doc," said Burroughs, "I wish you'd come over. Fellow from twenty miles out in the jack-pines just drove in here and left his boy on the steps, and asked me to send for the doctor, and before I could say 'Boo,' he hit the horse a crack and he was gone. And the boy—he ain't much more'n a kid—looks as if he was dying now."

Dr. Merrit's patient was still waiting for him on the hotel porch when the young doctor ran up the steps: a good-looking lad, if he had not been so wasted with fever. He was in the most advanced stage of tuberculosis, dying as Burroughs had said; but since TB. kills its victims by tortured inches, Dr. Merrit foresaw that it might be weeks before death came.

"Edgar Robinson," the young man whispered in reply to the doctor's inquiry as to his name.

"How long have you been sick, Robinson?" inquired the doctor, cheerfully as he could.

"Why, I've been in the house since January; but Dad can't pay doctor's bills, and 'twasn't much but a bad cold, I thought, anyhow. So I just stayed in and kept warm; haven't had much appetite, you know, but I haven't been really sick. There's eight of us in the family, though, and Dad couldn't keep a loafer, any longer, I didn't think, and so I told him, if he'd bring me into town, maybe somebody—" Edgar's eyes glistened hopefully.

Burroughs beckoned the doctor to the end of the porch: "Gosh, I wish I could keep him," he rumbled regretfully. "But I got a duty to the public."

"If there was a hospital—" began the doctor.

"Ain't any within thirty miles," answered Burroughs. "And that's all ways full. If there was one of these TB. sanatoriums in Jefferson county now—"

"If there was a sanatorium," said the young doctor fiercely, "this never would have happened. That boy could have been saved, six months ago. As it is, I suppose it's the poor farm."

In the end it was not even the poor farm, for the poor commissioner held that he couldn't take care of contagious diseases. So young Merrit and the kind-hearted hotel-keeper built a little shack out in the woods back of the hotel, and between them cared for the forlorn young patient, until, three weeks later, he died.

"And I'll stay here," vowed Merrit, the night Robinson went, "till I see Jefferson county with a san, or they run me out."

Jefferson—or whatever its real name is—has a "san" now; already it has done good work, and a field of unbounded usefulness is before it. But in all Michigan there are for its 33,000 consumptives only 2,000 beds. A proportion of the Christmas seal money will be used by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in the campaign for more of the life-giving sanatoria that save incipient cases of tuberculosis from drifting into the plight of Edgar Robinson.

To Induce Sleep.

If you are habitually a long time in going to sleep, try drinking slowly a glass of warm milk and eating a few crackers before retiring for the night. The cause may be the lapse of time between bedtime and your last meal. A glass of water and a tin of crackers should always be kept at the bedside.

Dumdum Bullet Prohibited.

The dumdum bullet is a soft-nosed or expanding bullet so named after Dumdum arsenal, the place near Calcutta, India, where it was first made. Its use was prohibited in warfare by The Hague conference.

New Idea for Road Building.

Certain English engineers are advocating the general installation of roads which are concave, and drain to the center instead of toward the sides, as is usually found under ordinary conditions.

Uneven hangs Hems

The uneven hem line features this new Poiret coat. It is buckled on the side, tied from the back and is embroidered with red and black. It is stylishly conservative.

In the Middle Ages it was customary to put the family "saler" (salt cellar) in the middle of the table. Nobles and guests of distinction sat "above the salt," or at the head of the table, while dependents and inferior guests sat below this line of distinction.

Hongkong an Island.
Contrary to popular belief, there is no city of Hongkong. That well-known name belongs to an island of 32 square miles extent which lies off the south coast of China. It is also commonly applied to the port. The British-owned city of 600,000 inhabitants on the island is officially "Victoria."

Smoking in Church.
Smoking is common in South American churches. A visitor to Peru records that at a church in Lima he noticed one of the congregation enjoying a cigar during a service, while through an open door he caught a glimpse of a bishop, in full episcopal robes, indulging in the same luxury.

Easy Winner.
English Paper—A novel feature of the fancy dress competition was that no costume should cost over 2 shillings. The prize winner was Miss Phyllis Bare.

Usually.
The real trouble with life is just the same as with the time table—by the time a man has it figured out the train is gone.

Wisdom in Goldsmith's Maxim.
As I am never forward in giving my opinion, especially when I have reason to believe that it will not be agreeable, so when I am obliged to give it I always hold it for a maxim to speak my real sentiments.—Goldsmith.

But Strength is Always Given.
In old age we understand better how to avert troubles; in youth how to endure them.—Schopenhauer.

Beasley's Christmas Party

By BOOTH TARKINGTON

"It looked like a house where there were a grandfather and a grandmother; where holidays were warmly kept; where there were boisterous family reunions to which uncles and aunts who had been born there would return from no matter what distances; a house where big turkeys would be on the table often; where 'the hired man' (named either Abner or Ole) would crack walnuts on a flatiron clutched between his knees on the back porch; it looked like a house where they played charades; where there would be long streamers of evergreen and dozens of wreaths of holly at Christmas time; where there were tearful, happy weddings and great throwings of rice after little brides from the front steps; in a word, it was the sort of a house to make the hearts of spinsters and bachelors very lonely and wistful — — —"

Instead of the above, it was the abode of a single, lonely man. Within its walls occurred the strangest Christmas party ever held; recorded by America's great and many-sided story-teller with the singular magic which he alone knows how to employ.

Michigan Happenings

A total of 2,398 voters were disfranchised in Ottawa county as a result of the recount obtained through the efforts of Del Fortney, Republican candidate for sheriff, at the recent election. Fred Kamferbeck, Democratic candidate, was elected by 148 votes, but Mr. Fortney, the defeated candidate, demanded a recount on the grounds that the election officials in several precincts had initialed the ballots with pencil, instead of ink. As a result Mr. Fortney is now sheriff, by a majority 308 votes instead of Kamferbeck, considered victorious before the recount.

The government of the United States must attack the land-clearing problem on as large a scale as it has irrigation if the millions of acres of good agricultural land now uncleared in various sections of the country are to be available for food production within the next few decades. This is the opinion of L. F. Livingston, Michigan Agricultural College extension specialist, who recently returned to his headquarters at Marquette following the end of the tour of the land-clearing demonstration train in the Lower Peninsula.
