EXCEPTIONAL SUCCESS IN T. B. SEAL SALES

Three Schools in Tuscola County Were Awarded Special Service Certificates.

Three schools in Tuscola county, which made the highest records for the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals in 1922, were awarded special service certificates by the Michigan Tuberculosis association this week. The schools so honored were: Indianfields, Dist. No. 3, Miss Irene Bardwell, teacher, average sale per pupil, 35 plus cents; Gunnell, Dist. No. 4, frl., Candace Hyslop teacher, average sale per pupil 26 plus cents; Whitney No. 1, Miss Theo Henderson, teacher, average sale per pupil 27 plus cents.

Excellent work in the seal sale was done in the schools throughout the county. The certificates are a recognition of exceptional success, but the general average of sales in the schools speaks well for the enthusiasm and energy of teachers and pupils, according to association officials.

The award of certificates was necessarily based on complete reports sent to the Tuberculosis Association. In some cases only incomplete reports of the sale were sent in, and these could not be considered in determining the award of certificates.

KOEFGEN WILL HEAD AERONAUTICS BODY

FORMER PILOT TO BE CHAIR- MAN OF CHAMBER OF COM- MERCE AERONAUTICS COM- MITTEE AT BAY CITY.

The name of Leslie P. Koepfgen of the Northern Automotive Supply company and former pilot in the U. S. forces in France, was presented to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of Bay City at its weekly meeting Wednesday, for approval as chairman of the aeronautics committee. Mr. Koepfgen is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Koepfgen and a graduate of the Cass City high school.

"Believing that Bay City, with its woodworking plants and excellent factory facilities, has a wonderful opportunity in the aeroplane field," F. W. Atkins, president of the Bay City Chamber of Commerce, is quoted in the Bay City Times as saying that "we are going into the study of the problem first from two angles outside of the industrial one."

The aeronautics committee, to be built by Mr. Koepfgen, of men who are interested and have had some experience in flying, will first go into the matter of a landing field.

Commercial flying, in the opinion of the chamber's president as well as the chairman of the new committee, is destined to become just as big a transportation feature in a few years, as the automobile is today and the city without an adequate landing field, meeting the requirements of the federal specifications, will be like a town without a railroad station.

If adequate interest grows in the flying subject within the next couple of months, it is possible that a branch of the National Aeronautic association will be launched at Bay City and sponsored by the chamber committee.

T. L. Munger, executive secretary of the sixth district of the association, including the states of Michigan, Wisconsin and Illinois, was in Bay City over the week-end in conference with chamber officials.

Asked the question of Bay City's chance in the field from the industrial viewpoint, Mr. Munger answered, "It is going to be scores of years before the aeroplane is built completely of metal. Those cities with the best woodworking facilities have the best chance to take a lead in the production of ships which will be needed by the hundreds before many months."

FATS WIN VICTORY OVER LIGHT-WEIGHTS

American Legion Benefit Game Proved to Be Big Amusement Feature.

As an exhibition of efficient and well-played basket ball, the game between the Fats and Leans Wednesday proved a failure, but as an entertainment feature the two extremes in human proportions put it across big. The extra weight and muscle of the Fats gave them an advantage and they won the contest. The Thins gave their opponents a race, however, and allowed them only one point in the lead. The game ended 11-10.

It was not the lack of knowledge of basket ball, but rather the lack of authority that led both players and fans to ask that Chas. Day be retired from his position as referee after the first quarter. "Coach Brooks of the high school took his place and the contest from that time on looked less like foot ball, though occasionally the resemblance was noticeable."

The Fat line-up included A. J. Knapp, R. D. Keating, Lloyd Stafford, J. H. Holcomb, Louis Krahling, Jacob Spencer and Roy Bricker. The Leans were represented by J. L. Cathcart, A. H. Kinnaird, G. W. Landon, S. H. Brown, I. D. McCoy and H. F. Lenzner. The preliminary game between teams of high school girls showed considerably more class and knowledge of basket ball.

WORLD MARKETS OPEN FOR MICHIGAN CROPS

Certified Seed Grown by Crop Im- provement Association Members Wins Wide Favor.

Recent shipments of Michigan seed grain to England and other European countries have definitely established the state crops on the world market for high quality seed stocks.

Certified seed of leading Michigan varieties has been in demand in neighboring states for several years, the value of the local strains being demonstrated over an ever widening area. Rye, oats, potatoes, beans and other crops are included in the list of prominent Michigan stock which is winning a high place in the world's list of approved crops.

Chief among the other states which have taken large shipments of certified seed this year are Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, New Hampshire, Minnesota, and California. Growers in these states have found from past experience that the high quality Michigan seed pays well.

The certified seed is produced by members of cooperative organizations of farmers, under inspection by members of the extension staff at the Michigan Crop Improvement Association sponsors increases of corn, beans, oats, rye and other grains, while the Michigan Potato Producers Association raises certified seed potatoes.

AFFIRMATIVE WINS IN SCHOOL DEBATE

Audience Asked to Express Their Views, Vote 59-6 Favoring Consolidation.

Judges in the debate at the high school building Tuesday evening on the subject, "Resolved, that Cass City and Near-by School Districts Should Consolidate," rendered a verdict of 4 to 1 in favor of the affirmative.

Debaters covered many angles of the consolidated schools question, pointing out the advantages and disadvantages as their positions warranted. The tax and transportation features were brought out most forcibly. Considerable forensic eloquence heretofore mostly hidden was brought into prominence by the debaters.

The affirmative side was represented by I. D. McCoy, Earl Heller and E. W. Jones and the negative by B. J. Dailey, W. G. S. Miller and M. B. Auten.

The audience was asked to express their position on the consolidated school by ballot. Fifty-nine of those voting said they favored the proposition and six expressed themselves as opposed to it.

The debate has done much to develop new interest in this community on the subject and the audience is indebted to the participants for considerable time and effort in preparing and presenting their arguments. An audience of approximately 100 persons enjoyed the evening's program.

E. E. Gallup of Lansing, state supervisor of agriculture, was present at the meeting and gave an address, speaking at considerable length on "Consolidated Schools." He congratulated the community on the excellent school at Cass City considering the crowded conditions and was well pleased with the remarkably fine spirit of the teachers and the wonderful spirit of the pupils.

Mr. Gallup spoke of a few consolidated schools in the state. He told of their advantages and pointed out conditions to be avoided in communities desiring these larger schools. Consolidated schools are coming, said the speaker, nothing can stop them. Every big business enterprise today is a consolidation.

Mr. Gallup pointed out the superiority of the city and village schools over the one-room rural school and stated that the country boys and girls are not getting a square deal along educational lines. Those most benefited in the change to consolidated schools are the farmer's children. The cost may be greater, but you get more for your money.

G. W. Landon contributed a fine number to the program by giving a vocal solo.

RURAL HEALTH RECORDS FALL BELOW CITY AVERAGE

Health Inspection, School Nurse Efficient Health Teaching, Sanitary Buildings Featured in City.

Faith in the farm as the source of "most of our best human material for leadership in city and country," and a warning as to the present and future of rural health, are the outstanding points in a recent series of reports on health in rural schools, prepared by Dr. Thomas Wood, chairman of the joint committee on health problems in education of the National Educational Association and the American Medical Association.

During the last decade, Dr. Wood finds health averages over the nation have been better in the cities than in the country and urban death rates have been lower than those of rural districts.

Official health statistics of school children which the committee gathered from all parts of the country showed that fourteen serious health defects were more frequent in country than among city school children. Among them were breathing defects and malnutrition, both of which were more than twice as frequent among rural children, and lung defects, which occurred almost four times as frequently in the rural schools examined as in the city schools.

Daily health inspection by teachers, general health examination by a physician once a year, adequate means for provision of physical defects, the services of a school nurse, efficient health teaching, attractive and sanitary school buildings, and special provision for play and recreation are among the recommendations of the committee. Such measures have become the rule in city schools, but many of them are still infrequent in rural schools.

Among the methods of health education considered by the committee is the Modern Health Crusade which is conducted in this state by the Michigan Tuberculosis association. During this school year a Crusade course in practical hygiene has been carried on by the association in about 700 schools of the state.

Is it justice, is it in keeping with scripture to weigh up the two vehicles at 70 cents per one hundred pounds and make A with the large family dig down for double the amount of silver that is taxed to B, who has only two kids? Law makers of Michigan, will such laws encourage propagation. Governor of our state have you a head on your shoulders? MUTTON SAUSAGE SUGGESTED TO DISPOSE OF SURPLUS MATERIAL

Combine all the ingredients and put them through a sausage grinder. This sausage may be made into cakes and cooked at once or packed in skins or bags, about 2 1/2 inches in diameter, and stored like pork sausage. It is often convenient, particularly in the warmer months, to make only small quantities for immediate use.

PLAN FOR CLEANING SILVER

Common Table Salt and Boiling Water
Are Useful—Rub With Good
Abrasive Polish.

A satisfactory method for cleaning household silver, according to the United States Department of Agriculture, is as follows: An enamel or agate ware dish should be partly filled with a cleaning solution of one teaspoonful of common table salt to each quart of water and placed directly on the stove to boil. A sheet of aluminum or clean zinc should then be dropped into the dish and the tarnished silver placed in contact with this metal. It is best that the silver be entirely covered with the cleaning solution and that the solution remain at the boiling temperature. As soon as the tarnish has been removed the silver should be removed, rinsed in clean water, and wiped with a soft cloth.

Aluminum corrodes quickly in the cleaning solution, so that aluminum dishes of any value for culinary purposes should never be used. Aluminum ware, that would otherwise be thrown away, or any inexpensive piece of the metal, will serve very satisfactorily for cleaning silver. Zinc may be used in place of aluminum, but it becomes corroded and inactive in a much shorter time. The electrolytic method may be used as frequently as is necessary to remove the tarnish, but it is necessary to rub the silver with some good abrasive polish only as often as may be desirable to restore the polished appearance.

PRUNES GOOD IN EMERGENCY

Addition of Few Chopped Nut Meats and Decorated With Whipped Cream Is Attractive.

Unexpected company—and nothing in the house for dessert! Of course, one wouldn't think of offering guests who have come from a distance the plain old prunes the children had for lunch—and there isn't time to cook anything. In one way or another almost every housekeeper has been in this dilemma. What one ingenious woman did was to pit and mash the luncheon prunes, and add to them a few chopped nut meats—half a cupful to a pint of prune pulp. She stirred in a tablespoonful of lemon juice and two tablespoonfuls of sugar and served the result with cream from the top of the milk bottle. This dessert became so popular she was called on to prepare it frequently, and when she wanted to make it look very attractive—and was not bridging an emergency—she put it into individual pastry shells and decorated it with whipped cream. When she couldn't get whipped cream she made a meringue of egg-white and sugar and browned it delicately before serving.

The children liked this prune and nut mixture in their school lunches instead of preserves, occasionally, and served on plain crackers or between two crackers, it was appetizing with a cup of tea. The United States Department of Agriculture indorses this prune and nut mixture for these uses.

CODDLED EGGS ARE FAVORED

Plan Suggested for Cooking in Such a Way That Whites Will Not Be Overcooked.

Many means have been suggested for cooking eggs in such a way that the yolks will be cooked and the whites will not be overcooked. One of the most satisfactory is by coddling, which is done as follows: Allow a cupful of water to each egg, bring the water to the boiling point, remove it from the fire, put in the eggs, cover the dish closely, and leave the eggs in the water for about seven minutes. There is some uncertainty about this method, for eggs differ in weight and also in temperature at the time the cooking begins. On the whole, however, this result can be obtained by pouring hot water over eggs, if the same dish with the same amount of water is always used, but each cook must make her own rules.

CLUB GIRLS WEAR UNIFORMS

Rolldale Organization in Meade County, Kansas, First to Complete Dresses for Meetings.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
The first girls' club in the state of Kansas in 1922 in which 100 per cent of the members completed the making of club uniforms to be worn at their meetings, was the Rolldale club in Meade county. Although these girls live on farms and are very busy with the regular work of the farm home, they always find time for their club work. One girl reported to the extension agent of the United States Department of Agriculture and the state college of agriculture that between one meeting and the next she had sledged 20 acres of kafir corn. Another had harrowed and sledged 12 acres of corn; a third had helped can 12 quarts of beans, besides assisting with the general house work and chores; while a fourth girl, not to be left out, reported that she had caught eight rats in a trap.

Club work has resulted in giving to girls who have left school something worth while to work toward, some knowledge of how to do the ordinary things about the farm home in the best and easiest way.

Onion juice will remove rust from knives.

Cold tea is excellent for cleaning varnished paper.

Remember that the boiler fire will burn rubbish and dried garden refuse quite as well as it will coal.

Have a box of matches near the stove. Don't walk across the kitchen 16 times a day for them.

Rain spots on cloth will not become permanent if immediately wiped off in the direction of the nap, using a piece of soft silk.

When boiling a pudding in a cloth put an old plate at the bottom of the saucepan to prevent the pudding from sticking to the pan.

Drain your dishes after wiping the silver. When dry, they are ready for the next meal. Saves endless steps to china cupboard and back again. Saves dish towels, too.

To remove iron rust from lace, use lemon juice and salt and expose to the sunshine. If stains will not yield to treatment, a white lace that is spotted may be given an ecru tint by rinsing in coffee.

DAIRY POINTS

GIVE PUREBREDS MORE CARE

Dairymen Often Takes More Interest in High Class Stock Because of Possibilities.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

There is no good reason why it should cost more to care for a good herd of purebred dairy cows than it costs to care for the same number of good grades, although farmers sometimes believe that the purebreds are more expensive to keep. However, says the United States Department of Agriculture, the dairymen often does spend more on purebreds because he sees greater possibilities in them, and consequently takes more interest in them, feeding them better and building better barns to house them. He does not need to do this, but usually he finds that it pays him in gross returns and in net returns.

The results would have been the same, though possibly not in the same degree, if better care and feed had been given to a good grade herd. But it sometimes takes the stimulation supplied by the ownership of a few purebreds to induce a man to improve his practices.

TREATING STERILITY IN COW

Most Cases Become Chronic or Permanent Unless Properly Handled by Veterinarian.

In many herds where abortion disease is present, from five to ten per cent of the cows become sterile or barren, and most cases become chronic or permanent unless they are treated by a qualified veterinarian. Dr. W. L. Williams of the New York State Veterinary college is to be given credit for the plan of procedure in handling these cows. The treatment should not be neglected too long after the cows manifest this symptom.

A thorough examination of the patient is necessary to locate the trouble either in the uterus, ovaries or fallopian tubes, and treated accordingly. It is not uncommon for a skilled operator to restore five out of six cases to a reproductive state under favorable conditions.

Cases of long standing should be sold to the butcher, as the treatment fails to help them. A case of more than eight months' to one year's standing is very discouraging to the operator, for he realizes that functional changes have taken place in the reproductive organs that will be difficult to correct by treatment. Therefore do not delay having an animal examined and treated in the beginning of the trouble instead of waiting until it is too late. The annual loss caused by sterility would be surprisingly high if survey could be made and accurate data obtained from the cattle breeders.

RATION MUST BE ATTRACTIVE

Dairy Cow to Do Well Requires Feed Containing Proper Elements for Milk Flow.

Cows won't do well on food that isn't palatable, say the feeding men at the New York College of Agriculture at Ithaca. Not only must the dairy cow's ration contain the proper elements if she is to be "worth her keep," but it must be so attractive to her that she will eat plenty and keep up a good flow of milk.

On the other hand, say the dairymen, it isn't wise to change a ration suddenly even to make it better. A cow is a delicate milk-producing machine, and sudden changes in her food are quite likely to upset some part of the machinery, with a resulting loss of milk.

The condition of the food probably has most to do with its palatability; moldy grains or roughage don't appeal to any self-respecting cow.

COWS ON PASTURE TOO SOON

Many Owners Expect Animals to Thrive on Thin Grass—Grain Must Be Supplied.

Owners of cows usually put them out on pasture too soon, expecting the cows to get all feed necessary from scant early pastures. Until the pastures have made a good growth, cows will need about a pound of grain for every six pounds of milk as well as some dry hay.

WHY

Nature Has Arranged for Sap to Rise in Trees.

The very interesting results obtained by Sir J. C. Bose, at the Bose Institute, Calcutta, in the investigation of the phenomenon of the ascent of sap are summarized in Nature Magazine. It is shown that the ascent of sap is a process of physiological activity dependent on the pulsation of living cells. This process is arrested by the action of poison, either in entire plants or in cut shoots. The active pulsating cells are not confined to the root, but are continued throughout the stem. It has been ascertained that in the stem of dicotyledons these cells constitute the cortical layer which abuts upon the endodermis.

The velocity of the ascent has been determined by three independent methods which give concordant results. The ascent takes place in plants even in the complete absence of transpiration. In "varnished" plants this velocity has been found sometimes to be as high as 70 meters per hour.

The cellular pulsations have been investigated and their characteristics determined from automatic records; they consist of alternate contractions and expansions. The direction of propulsion is determined by the phase difference of the adjacent cells. The velocity increases with the wave length of the propagated impulse. This wave length is determined experimentally from definite points of electric maxima and minima. Enhancement of velocity is associated with corresponding increase in the wave length. The enhanced rate of ascent is also attended by the increase of amplitude and frequency of cellular pulsations.

Ascent of sap depends upon cellular pulsation in tall trees as well as in herbaceous plants. There is, however, in the former the special adaptation of the woody tissue which serves as a reservoir to meet the excessive demand for water in the season of active transpiration. When this reservoir is more or less depleted, the phenomenon of "negative pressure" is manifest.

GASES ARE MOTIVE POWER

Why Rockets Rise When Light Is Applied Is a Simple Matter When Understood.

If you would see inside a rocket you would find the lower part of the case filled with powder, a chemical mixture that will burn at an enormous rate, and in doing so will produce a very large quantity of gas. The great heat generated by this burning mixture expands the gas and still further increases its volume, till it is bursting to get out of the rocket.

At the bottom end of the rocket is a hole through which the gas rushes into the air. Now the air at the mouth of the rocket strongly resents being kicked out of the way by this rushing stream of gas; it takes a moment to "get a move on," so to speak. But the gas in the case hasn't got a moment to spare; it simply must get out, so it kicks—hard.

If you had on a pair of roller skates, and held an open umbrella in front of you, you could push it away from you slowly without feeling any resistance; but if you thrust hard at the umbrella the air would resist the sudden movement so strongly that you would be rolled backward on your skates. Science shows that is just what happens to the rocket; the stream of gas spreads out at the mouth of the case and thrusts hard at the air below it and at the rocket above. As the air won't move quickly enough, the rocket must get out of the way. And it does—quickly.

Why Women Fail as Spies.

"Women do not make good spies," said Sir Basil Thompson, former head of the British secret service, speaking at the Brooklyn Academy of Music. "The real reason is that the woman spy gets compunction at just the wrong moment. She has obtained information from some one who should not have given it to her, and then when she should pass it along she feels it would be unfair to her informant and withholds it."

The speaker said that there is the greatest difference between the patriotic spy and the hiring spy. None of the former type was executed by the British during the war, he said, but 11 of the latter, all men, forfeited their lives.—New York Herald.

Why Do We Keep Pets?

Many pets are of direct use to us. A dog, for instance, protects our house, a cat catches mice, and so on. There are, however, two far deeper motives.

A pet satisfies our instinct of ownership and mastery—one of the most profound desires at the back of our minds is to be absolute lord and master, arbiter of life and death. We gratify this wish most thoroughly by possessing a pet animal.

Why We Stop Growing.

We stop growing because certain body cells lose their power to increase in size and to produce other cells. It is one of the marvels of physiology that this is so and a wise provision of nature.

Why Snow Is White.

Snow is white because it is formed of an infinite number of very minute crystals and prisms, which reflect all the component rays of which white light consists.

With a smile of satisfaction he replied: "Why, my dear, when it stopped raining and I went to shut it."

COSTLY DELAYS THAT CAN BE AVOIDED

The loss of a day or two in your busy season may result in a tremendous loss in dollars at harvest time.

Do not get caught this spring with implements that cannot be operated because of a few needed repair parts. This is often mighty costly and can be avoided.

Here's our suggestion. Right now, while you have the time, go over every implement you plan to use this season and jot down every part that you think will need replacement.

Give us a list of the parts wanted. We will check over this list and if we haven't the parts in stock we will order them for you. Don't overlook this important matter.

Prompt action on your part now may save you the loss of valuable time and money later on.

Don't forget, too, that it pays to buy genuine repair parts irrespective of the make of implements you use. Genuine repair parts are made to maintain the good working qualities of the implement, and they cost much less, in the long run, than inferior "bogus" parts.

If you are in need of new equipment come in and look over our stock. We believe we have the best line of labor-saving farm machinery ever offered.

Important Navigation Device.
A French transatlantic steamship company was the first to experiment with the radiogoniometer, invented by Bellini and Tosi. By means of this apparatus the direction of an invisible vessel, sailing along a coast and emitting wireless signals, can be determined from two stations on the shore, and its course can be accurately mapped.

Mark Is Ancient Coin.
Mark was an old English term for a money of account, originating in the Twelfth century and being valued at $3.33. The Scotch mark or merk of the Nineteenth century was worth $3.42. The mark was also used as a weight in several parts of Europe, being divided into 24 carats.

BACKACHE IS A WARNING
Cass City People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys.

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To cure the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from weakened kidneys, you must reach the cause—the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, urinary disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.
Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 50 years. Read Cass City testimony.
Mrs. D. Tyo, Fourth St., Cass City, says: "Several years ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they relieved me of a distressing backache and put my kidneys in good shape. I was troubled with a dull ache in the small of my back and with my kidneys being weak and acting irregularly, but after I had used Doan's Kidney Pills, those symptoms were gone and they haven't returned."

With the State Legislature

(By Special Correspondent)

LANSING, MICH.

The corporation tax amendment bill introduced early in the session by Senator Sligh, of Grand Rapids, has been adopted by the senate, but without the supporting vote of its introducer. He wanted the bill passed without a maximum tax amount specified in it and when the senators agreed to establish a maximum of $50,000, Senator Sligh remained silent on the final roll call. The vote was 29 to 0. The present corporation tax which has been in effect the past two years, calls for three and a half mills tax on corporation earnings, with $50 set as a minimum and $10,000 as a maximum. As adopted by the senate the amending bill sets the tax rate at two and a half mills, with a minimum of $10 and a maximum of $50,000. The senate refused either to place no limit on the maximum or to set the limit at $100,000. In committee the tax rate had been set at a flat three mills. Senator Wood, of Detroit, failed in committee of the whole to get this lowered a half mill, but before the final vote on third reading enough senators lined up in his support to bring the rate down. The bill have gone to the house.

With tax matters claiming the greater part of the attention of the lawmakers much interest has been caused by a measure introduced in the house by Rep. Baxter, of Kent county. It calls for the compulsory listing of personal property by each owner, thereby transferring from the assessing officers to the individual citizen the responsibility of making the return. The Baxter idea is to compel each person to list his personal property, under penalty for falsifying it or failing to return it. Laws of this kind are reported here to have been tried out successfully in Indiana and Ohio, where the burden of making a true return has been placed on the taxpayer just as the federal government places it in the income tax.

Pending action on the form of providing the highway funds out of motor car or gasoline taxes, the senate has adopted the Connelly bill suspending the operation of the state highway reward act for two years and resuming it at the end of that period on a basis of ten percent participation by the state. Up to the present the state has been paying 25 percent and nearly five million dollars is owing to counties by the state right now on this basis. It is expected that the Connelly bill will give the state time to catch up on payments and that retrenchment in highway work by counties also will have economical results.

An industrial manager for Michigan prisons, in addition to a sales manager, would be provided under the terms of a bill introduced by Rep. Jolly, of Houghton, and reported to have the support of Gov. Groesbeck. It would empower the state penal commission to supervise prison industries, including the purchase of raw materials and supplies, as well as the sale of the finished product. The commission, with the consent of the administrative board, could employ an industrial manager and a sales director.

By a vote of 23 to 7 the senate has adopted the Brower bill to appropriate $30,000 as the state's share of a $60,000 fund to put in operation the federal maternity aid act known as the Sheppard-Townsend act. Senator Johnson, a physician, opposed the bill, declaring its results along the lines of maternity and infant hygiene savored of the soviet system of Russia, where women are nationalized. Senator Brower defended the bill and declared the opposition to it is confined to the medical profession.

Favorable action has been recommended to the house by the committee on amendments to the constitution in regard to two proposed amendments. One of them would make the pay of members of the legislature $800 a year instead of $800 for the two-year term and would prohibit any extra compensation for attendance at special sessions. The other would fix the terms of all elective state officers at four years instead of two years. In the case of the governor only one term would be allowed.

The house has adopted the bill of Rep. Thomas to remove objectionable features of the Covert act. It permits suspension of the act for a year by boards of supervisors; calls for 75 percent of abutting property owners to be represented on petition instead of 60 percent; reduces the percentage of cost levied against a special assessment district; provides that the new Covert roads must connect with or be a part of established road systems; and provides for suspension of state rewards.

The house of representatives, by a vote of 55 to 37, rejected the proposal to make Eastern standard time the official time of the entire state. It adopted a resolution of Rep. Green, of Alpena, to establish a Clara Barton arbor day on which trees be planted in every courtyard in the state and on the state capitol grounds in honor of the founder of the Red Cross.

Protests to the legislature against the tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline, as provided in the Warner bill adopted by both senate and house, have grown to such volume as to make it the biggest issue of the session, for the present at least. Nearly every motor car maker in the state has gone on record against the measure and joined in an appeal to the senate not to pass it. The manufacturers declare that such a law would be a blow to the automobile industry if adopted in Michigan, leader in the motor car industry. Petitions to have the law made subject to a referendum vote in November, 1924, if it is put through over a proposed veto by Gov. Groesbeck, already are being circulated in and from Detroit. It will be some time this week before the measure, which was amended in the senate committee of the whole Wednesday, can be passed back through the house for concurrence and presented to the governor for his signature. A weight tax bill supported by the governor provides for a straight tax of 70 cents per hundredweight for pleasure cars and a graduated tax on commercial trucks, ranging from 65 cents per hundredweight on trucks up to 4,000 pounds to 80 cents on those over 4,000 pounds. Trailers would pay a tax of from 50 cents to one dollar per hundredweight, the scale being graduated on them from 500 pounds up to those of 4,000 pounds and over. Motorcycles would be taxed $4 each and motor bicycles $2.50 each. The backers of the weight tax idea declare that it will provide all the funds needed for state highways, whereas the gasoline tax will provide nothing for the next year and a half at least, as it will be held up by the referendum petitions. This latter fact has done much to cause wavering in the ranks of the gasoline tax supporters.

Former Gov. W. L. Harding, of Iowa, afforded the house of representatives a variation from its legislative program when he appeared on invitation in the speaker's rostrum and addressed the house on the work of the tidewater commission, of which he is a member. He urged on the members the support of an appropriation to continue the commission's labors. He told the legislators that conditions internationally in regard to the St. Lawrence waterway are brighter than ever before, New Englanders formerly opposed to it having been won over to the plan, among others.

The Evans bill in the house to establish new restrictions in regard to bond issues by municipalities is keeping the general taxation committee of the house busy. Detroit city officials have raised objections that the proposed restrictions are so different from what the Detroit charter provides under the home rule act that the charter will have to be revised if the Evans bill becomes law. Rep. Evans has declared that as Detroit has $140,000,000 of bonds outstanding and about $50,000,000 more authorized, it is about time the city was bound by restrictions that rule elsewhere in the state.

As a result of charges of the national child labor commission that children were being overworked and underpaid, as well as poorly housed, in the sugar beet section of Michigan, Senator Gettel, of Huron county, obtained the passage of a resolution in the senate for a commission of two senators and three representatives to make an investigation in the Thumb. The commission will be qualified to swear witnesses.

The $7,000,000 requested by the University of Michigan for its building program was reduced $2,100,000 by the university committee before it reported out the bill. It now is in the hands of the ways and means committee and predictions are being made that it will be reduced to a total of $3,500,000 or perhaps $3,000,000 by that committee before the whole house receives it for consideration.

The senate adopted under suspension of the rules the bill to empower townships to issue bonds for the purchase of fire fighting equipment. This action enabled certain townships to place the question on the ballot at the April election. The senate also adopted the bill to prevent city firemen from being kept at work more than 12 out of any 24 hours except in cases of emergency.

By one vote a bill of Senator Condon's to incorporate the Michigan State Bar Association failed of passage in the senate and was tabled for possible further consideration in case an additional vote for it can be located. It would make the bar association self-governing, with all lawyers as members, and have power to dictate rules and regulations.

Rep. Towne, of Jackson, has put in a bill to amend the present tax law so as to strike out the clause which provides that the state tax commission shall not increase the amount of the assessment of any ward or township above the values determined by the commission's field men.

"The giving or furnishing of intoxicating liquor, where death results from the drinking thereof" is defined as manslaughter in a bill introduced by Senator Case, of Benzie, and adopted by the senate. It was the first prohibition measure to come to a vote this session in either house of the legislature.

THE GREAT EVENT

By DOUGLAS MALLOCH

INTO each life shall come some great Event,
Obliterating all that was before
And making all that comes inconsequent,
The measure of our life forevermore.
Some episode our whole career inclines,
Some hour of sweetness so surpassing all
It is the truth in all life's faulty lines,
In all the songs of birds the perfect call.

And so that song has summoned even me;
I, who had been busy with so many things,
The small concerns that seemed so great to be.
I have been lifted up on sudden wings.
The night is fair that once was dark and drear,
The day is joyous that was full of care;
The clouds are gone, the sun, the stars, appear,
And now the world is beauty everywhere.

Some alchemy transfigures all the earth,
Toil now is pleasure, once a weary round;
New friends draw near, the old have greater worth,
The wealth of human hearts my heart has found.
Now merrily I climb the hard ascent,
But now the grass is green, the sky is blue;
Into each life shall come some great Event.
And, in my own, that great Event was You.

"What's in a Name?"

By MILDRED MARSHALL

Facts about your name; its history; meaning; whence it was derived; significance; your lucky day and lucky jewel.

BEATRICE

SCORES of lovely women have answered to the name of Beatrice. It comes from the old verb beo, meaning to make happy or bless, but because the Beatrices of history have invariably been extraordinarily beautiful does not signify that they have been happy, nor that their loveliness has given pleasure to beholders, for some of them have been the wickedest women of their time and brought suffering and destruction wherever they went. So it seems rather curious that the name should have such an auspicious and indeed ecclesiastical beginning.

The church first used the word beo to apply to her departed members who were gathered together somewhere on the Isle of the Blessed, and in time it was bestowed on living members. There was even a St. Beatus of Beato, who was an anchorite near Vendome in the Fifth century. The original Beatrice, called then Beatrix, is said to have been borne by a Christian maiden who in Diocletian's persecution drew the murdered bodies of her brothers from the Tiber and buried them. She afterward shared their fate and her relics were enshrined in a church in Rome.

But lovely and estimable as this maiden was, it is not she who is remembered so vividly as the exquisite Beatrice Portinari, love of Dante's youth, whom he immortalized in verse and who represents, with him, one of the famous loves of history. Dante has set a standard for feminine beauty in all subsequent Beatrices when he says:

One charm remark, peculiarly hers—
An elegance unmatched with modesty combined;
"And would you see it in a living proof,"
Says Thought to me, "attend well to thy mind.
When, with a lady elegant and fair
Harmoniously conjoined, she moves
Then as the brilliant stars seem chased away,
By greater brightness of the advancing sun,
So vanish other charms when hers are viewed."

Unfortunately for the world, the "habits of virtue and of loyalty" of which, Dante also sings are not to be found in some of the Beatrices of early centuries. Beatrice de Cenci, for instance, had a heart as black as her face was lovely.

The French have adopted Beatrix and added to it Benoitte, deriving the latter from benus, an adjective taken from the same root and meaning good. From the same source comes the Italian Benditta, Betta, and Bettina, which is usually and erroneously considered a diminutive of Elizabeth. Spain has contributed Benta and Germany gives us Benedikta and Benedictine. It remained for America to evolve the good old chorus favorite, "Trixie."

It is impossible to overestimate the effect of color in determining the supposed influence of gems upon the fortunes and health of their wearers. For that reason, every Beatrice should include a bit of basalt among her jewels to insure the immunity from evil which the talisman promises. While she wears it, Saturday should be her lucky day and 4 her potent number.
