"THAT'S MY CHURCH"

Did you ever spend Sunday in a strange town where you knew almost no one?

Perhaps you looked over a page of church announcements and found a church of your faith. Whether you said it or not a little measure of pride of ownership thrilled you. "That's my church."

No home owner ever brings a guest to dinner and says, 'Here's where we live,' without a little thrill of pride. Even though the home be small, it is his. It is the center of his domestic life. There's no place like home.  $\mathbf{So}$ with the home church. The place where you and your family worship from Sunday to Sunday, the place where you first went to Sunday school, has a peculiar interest for you. You may move away, but always on your return, you have a little emoion at seeing again the old church where you first learned to worship God and memorized the golden texts which in later years come to you in odd minutes, like voices from the dim past.

you cannot say, "This is my h," start now to adopt one. Go If church," start now to adopt one. Go to the church nearest you, or the one in which you think you will be most at home. Go regularly.

FOOD VALUE OF SOUPS WILL VARY WITH VARIOUS INGREDIENTS USED

Milk Soups Are Especially Good for Everybody.

There is something unusually ap- | Meat stock may be a blend by cook petizing about a good, steaming soup, whether served as the first course of a meal or as a whole meal in itself. The South has its gumbos, and Maine its chowders, fulfilling the same pur-Ocean travelers expect pea pose. soup as a part of ship routine; they look for barley broth in Scotland, pot-au-feu in France, minnestrone soup in Italy, bean or lentil soup near the Rhine. In every household the extra cooking and dishwashing involved in serving soup course is compensated for by the enjoyment of the family, the economy of using materials often wasted, and the reduction possible in the amount of food served for other courses.

Value of Soups Varies. The food value of soups varies with the ingredients. The United States Department of Agriculture points out that the food value of a milk soup is higher than that of a water or clear soup. Milk soups are especially good for children at lunch time, for business people, and others who wish something warm, nutritious, but not too "hearty." Soups made with the water in which vegetables have been cooked contain substances which are too nutritious to be thrown away, though the amount of them is small. Soups made from meat stock contain meat extractives which are believed to stimulate digestion, but which do not wholly take the place of meat. Concentrated broths made for invalids from selected meat are more nutritious than ordinary stock, but not, as a rule, economical to serve at the family The soups served at dinner table. should be made from a different kind of meat from that in the main course. For example, chicken broth goes better with beef than with chicken cooked in some other way because the latter combination would overemphasize one flavor at a single meal.

TELEPHONE SERVICE WITHOUT MUCH COST

Operation of Switchboard Is One of Most Importance.

Where Regular Operator Is Required on Full Time It Is Well to Rent a Separate Room or Building With Living Quarters.

(Prepared by the United States Department One of the problems connected with getting telephone service in rural communities, where frequently a small mutual company must be formed to have such service at all, is the matter of switchboard service. #### Telephone Is Indispensable in the Rural Home.

States Department of Agriculture, the suggestion is made that rural line switchboards may be located in private homes or stores if the volume of business does not justify renting or owning offices or buildings. In the case of a switchboard in a private home, the owner of the house is paid a small rent, and some member of the family is made operator and paid for the service which can be done while carrying on regular housework. In case of an emergency a night call will always receive attention. When the switchboard is placed in a store instead of in a home, it costs but little, as someone has to be on duty in the store all day, but night calls cannot receive attention, except by special arrangement.

INVENTOR WITH NEW AUTO HEADLIGHT

Prof. R. C. Gowdy, professor of physics in the University of Cincinnati, claims his invention is the perfect automobile headlight. Nothing but a piece of window glass is necessary in connection with this new safe light, which came in for supper and Alex poured eliminates all glare no matter how strong a bulb is used. It lights up the roadway brilliantly for more than 150 feet ahead. All this is accomplished by modi- father. Timers of a foot race with splitsecond watches will frequently get different results for the time of the RESE race. The reaction time of some people is very slow and undoubtedly is the cause of many accidents. Does the public safety require that such people be denied drivers' licenses? The Bureau of Public Roads is not yet ready to advocate such a policy, but considers that it should be investigated COMI as a possible safety measure.

Steady Stream of Sparks.

An ordinary vibrating coil is substituted for the regular coil. Therefore, when the breaker points close, a steady stream of sparks passes between the spark plug points. The breaker mechanism is designed to gen erate a spark at the plug points when the breaker points open, but this device starts a stream of sparks when the breaker points close, previous to opening, and this stream continues as long as the points are closed. Sometimes retiming may be found necessary.

Improves Faulty Engine.

This expedient is particularly effective in improving the running of a faulty engine at low speed because the series of sparks occur when the engine is operating on practically a closed throttle.

The coil is mounted so that the bottom contact is grounded on the frame of the car or the engine and a wire is carried from the lower contact to the top of the distributor. The coil wire of the circuit breaker connects with the upper contact, and the other wiring from circuit breaker to switch and to battery remains unchanged.

Since a vibrating coil costs little, it is possible to try out this device without much expense. Installations that have been used have given such satisfactory results that it may be concluded that a used car fitted with a vibrating coil is given a new life not possible even by entirely renewing its unavoidable skids and accidents resultsingle spark type of ignition system .-- | ing from the unheralded breaking of A. The United States is now produc ing, more than three-fourths of the automobiles of the world.

If you have occasion to remove the magnets of a magneto be careful not to drop them, as they break easily.

* * * Be sure that all hose connections are changed once a year. Hot water rots the rubber, loosens up the fabric which gets in the way of the water, cutting down the efficiency of the cooling system.

* * * Do not change inflation pressure with change in atmospheric temperature. More damage results from trying to compensate for an increase in the tire temperature than is caused by the increase in temperature itself.

The hours of use of the automobile will total more than the hours of use of the piano, phonograph telephone and sewing machine. In point of value, the automobile will far exceed the total value of these other things.

With two possible exceptions all automobile accidents are avoidable. These two causes are the infrequent

Contemplation.

"What in the world are you staring at that married couple so intently for?" asked one young lady of another in the train. "Oh," said the other girl with a start and a sigh, "It's so natural for us girls to contemplate matrimony, you know."

Utilizing Talents.

There is no man so humble as not to have received some legacy, some talent, which, properly developed, will be valuable to himself and a blessing to his fellows. Every man owes it to himself and his fellows to make the most of his talent.

of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers---more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months---and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the mean time your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

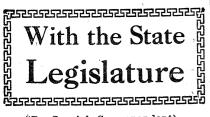

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it---father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

(By Special Correspondent) LANSING, MICH.

Bitterness developed by the battle over the 2-cent gasoline taxation bill of the balance after the sinking funds caused a wide variety of threats of other fights to be made on various kinds of legislation. When the sen- final form it was accepted by the senate vote showed the 2-cent tax advocates that they stood practically no ators Riopelle and Bahorski, of Deshow of being able to enact the bill over a veto by the governor, the feeling ran so strong that some were declaring they would stop the proposed new weight tax bill or any other measure that aimed to provide any finances at all for state road con-That this feeling would struction. not last after the first soreness wore away was the contention of the opponents of the 2-cent bill, but it caused some alarm to the state highway Commissioner Frank department. Rogers, who had been in favor of the gasoline tax, does not want to see his department crippled by being left without funds and was urged by his friends to bestir himself in combatting the feeling among his legislative acquaintances. The certainty that the gasoline tax would be made subject to a referendum vote of the people in November, 1924, by motorcar makers and allied interests, in the event that it could be put through over the veto by Gov. Groesbeck, was another thing that irritated the advocates of the tax. This feeling resulted in the introduction by Rep. Read, of Kalamazoo County, of a bill to amend the constitution so as to require a ten per cent signature of voters of the state in order to submit a legislative measure to a vote. This percentage is just double the one now called for.

Regardless of what action is taken by the governor or the legislature. on the gasoline tax bill, the highway department will be left without funds for perhaps one and a half years. Petitions for a referendum on the law are ready and will be put out under the leadership of the Detroit Automobile club. The referendum vote, with out a special statewide election being called, could not be taken until the time of the presidential election in November of next year and the enforcement of the law would be held up automatically until the people registered their approval of it at the The opponents of the law polls. have opened branches of their club in several other cities of the state and declare their intention to organize the more than half million motor car owners of the state to fight any form of gasoline tax. Since the agitation over the Warner bill started 5,000 members have been added to the club in Detroit, its leaders report, and they are ready to make a bitter fight. The motor car weight tax bill, drawn up as a proposed compromise measure, is marking time in committee while the battle rages over the gasoline tax. It is expected that if the Warner bill does finally fall that son buildings, an item approved in the senate will pass the weight tax the budget. Other amounts approved

The deadlock over the Warner two-cent gasoline tax bill in the legislature came to a climax last week. This week should tell the fate of the Michigan state road program for the coming two years. Senate amendments to the bill were approved by the house, which also added one more of its own and this was accepted by the senate. The bill as amended would permit counties to participate in the proceeds of the gasoline tax to the extent of twenty percent and interest funds for state highway bonds have been deducted. In its ate by a vote of thirty to two, Sentroit, being the only opponents. The situation created by the putting of the bill up to the governor is unique in legislative annals. Gov. Groesbeck has been opposed to the bill from the start, contending that it will tax the motor car owners to a much heavier extent than is necessary for road purposes. Both friends of the governor and opponents of the governor Statement of the Ownership, Manage predicted that he would veto the bill. Such a strong sentiment has been worked up in the legislature in favor of a gasoline tax that an outright stopping of the majority by a veto might result in failure of any compromise measure passing at all and this would leave the state highway department without funds for any work in the coming two year period for which the present legislature must provide. It is so doubtful that the measure could command a two thirds vote in each house to overcome a veto that the expectation is for no attempt in the senate to take such a vote.

A sequel to the gasoline tax bill vote was the introduction of a new road contract bill by Rep. Warner, of Ypsilanti, father of the 2-cent gas tax measure. His bill would require road commissions, if they desired to build roads themselves, to submit sealed bids in competition with the bids of contractors. The county bid, to be ranked as low, would have to be lower than the next lowest responsible bidder by an amount equal to the bond and insurance premiums. In the event of a municipality defaulting on a contract because of insufficient funds the work would have to be re-advertised and re-awarded. Wayne county members who had fought the gasoline tax in the house almost alone also attacked this bill of Rep. Warner's, declaring that it favored road contractors. Their attitude was taken following a warning by Gov. Groesbeck to Rep. Warner while the gasoline tax bill was pending in the senate that if it went through no more state road contracts would be allowed to go to legislators.

The senate finance committee and the house ways and means committee. which have the last say on appropriation bills before they go to the entire membership of either house for consideration, still have their pruning knives busy on building items. Following their recent slash on the University requests the house committee. has submitted more bills. It does not give approval to the request of $1,-500,000 asked for Jackson state pribill, but the house is apt to refuse to include $330,000 for the Newberry enact it, in reprisal for the failure of state hospital; $240,000 for the Mich-

COSTLY DELA THAT CAN BE AVOIDED

The loss of a day or two in your busy season may result in a tremendous loss in dollars at harvest time.

Do not get caught this spring with implements that cannot be operated because of a few needed repair parts. This is often mighty costly and can be avoided.

Here's our suggestion. Right now, while you have the time, go over every implement you plan to use this season and jot down every part that you think will need replacement.

Give us a list of the parts wanted. We will check over this list and if we haven't the parts in stock we will order them for you. Don't overlook this important matter.

Prompt action on your part now may save you the loss of valuable time and money later on.

Don't forget, too, that it pays to buy than inferior "bogus" parts.

Meanwhile a new bill has passed the senate and is pending in the house that aims to fix the city site anew as the legal place for the industrial school.

The house has adopted the Evans bill making the state responsible for the construction and maintenance of trunk line highways; the Ladd bill holding the Michigan Agricultural College mill tax total to $1,000,000; the Culver bill providing for a board of examiners for chiropractors; the Eldred bill amending the mothers' pension act; the Farrier bill making the name of the village of Rogers, in Presque Isle county, Rogers City; and the Rasmussen resolution to submit a constitutional amendment providing that all money raised from fines need not go to library funds.

Numerous requests before the legis. lature for the establishment of an other state normal school in the northwest section of the lower peninsula have resulted in Rep. Frank Smith, of Luther, submitting a bill that carries an appropriation of $1,000 to pay the expenses of a commission of two senators and three representatives to investigate the need of such a school and report on it to the next legislature.

Senator Brower, of Jackson, ad-H ministration leader, has put in a bill to reorganize the state securities commission and amend the blue sky law. It provides for the abolition of the present securities commission and its replacement by a commissioner with an advisory body of state offi-cers behind him. This is a purely administrative proposal and is one S. that is apt to invite the attack of all Ŵ those who feel disgruntled over a gasoline tax veto.

The senate has twice defeated a proposed constitutional amendment to limit legislative sessions to 90 days in future. It also has defeated once the bill to permit county treasurers to serve more than two consecutive terms. This proposal lost by only two votes and a reconsideration was granted while the effort is being made to convert two or more senators. In one sitting recently the senate adopted 23 bills, all of minor character.

A state bounty of $10 on wolves is proposed by Rep. Morrison. The crea-tion of county library boards would be authorized under the terms of a bill introduced by Rep. Bristow, of Wayne. Such boards would be authorized to make contracts with city libraries to take care of the needs of their patrons.

Michigan Happenings

Crawling on his hands and knees, with a watersoaked towel over his face, Boyd Blackall, of Grand Rapids, 16 years old, last week, rescued Leonard Van Singel, 4 years old, when the child was lost in the smokefilled home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Van Singel. Blackall called by Leonard's small brothers when they discovered their home had caught fire during their parents' absence, crept through three rooms before he found the unconscious child under a bed. He dragged him toward the door, but was overcome himself.

The investigating committee of the legislature arrived in Saginaw, last week, and began its probe of child labor conditions in the sugar beet fields in Saginaw and the Thumb. The commission is composed of Senators John W. Smith, Port Huron, and Godfried Gettel, Sebawaing, and Representatives Ray L. Hewitt, Jackson; Charles H. Culver, Detroit, and William C. Stanson, Caro. The investigation is believed to have strong support of the sugar beet industries.

The big runaway balloon, which broke away from two Army officers at Plano, Ill., last week, after they had descended to make repairs, dropped into Lake Michigan two miles off shore from Whitehall. The bag was towed to shore by the White Lake Coast Guards and a fishing tug. The balloon started on a trial trip Belleville, Ill., in charge of from Maj. Rush B. Lincoln and Maj. J D. Reardon.

A sweeping investigation by the county supervisors of Flint into the lowering of the water last week in Thread lake many feet, with the result that thousands of fish perished under the ice, was predicted by the State conservation commission. The lake has been used as propagation spot or breeding ground for many kinds of fish, including pike, black bass, blue gills and perch.

Zelon Lake, of Jackson, whose death occurred suddenly in Jonesville, Hillsdale County, last December, two hours after a dinner party at the home of Mrs. Lee McCarty, and whose body was exhumed at Marengo lsat month to allow a State chemist to analyze the stomach, died of poisoning, according to the chemist's analysis, G. M. Markle, coroner, announced last week.

Thomas Badger, of St. Joseph, convicted last month in circuit court of murdering Willis J. Handy, wealthy Benton Harbor potato dealer, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Marquette penitentiary, last week. by Judge Charles E. White. The murdered man's body was found in the St. Joseph river, with a 40-pound stone tied to one ankle by a length of fishing twine.

Strict compliance with State and Strict compliance with State and Federal laws regulating the percent-age of butter fat for various kinds of cream will be required by the Bureau of Dairying of the State Department of Agriculture, T. H. Broughton, di-rector of the Bureau of Dairying stated last week. Tests made by rep-resentatives of the department showed that coffee cream sold in Michigan ranged from 5 to 30 per cent butter fat, while whipping cream was found to vary from 10 to 50 per cent, according to Broughton. The standard for coffee cream set by the State law is 18 ner cent.

Officers and directors of the Michigan Potato Producers' Association, meeting at Petoskey with experts in the potato production and sales departments of the Michigan Agricultural College, representatives of the Michigan Bureau of Markets and officers of the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange, have worked out a marketing system for Michigan grown cer tified seed potatoes. The rules governing the certifying of seed potatoes were tightened considerably which will bring the seed product up to the highest standard.

The legislature is to have an opportunity to pass judgment on the bill introduced by Representative Robert B. MacDonald, of Houghton, to make the automobile license fee exacted of northern Michigan motorists commensurate with the length of the automobile season. The bill re-opens an old question as to whether the state can in fairness collect the full license fee from a motorist who cannot use his car during the winter months because of the snowdrifts.

George T. Campbell, president and general manager of the Argus-Press Publishing Co., past grand commander of the Grand Commandery. Knights Templar of Michigan, and grand warden of the Grand Encampment Knights Templar of the United States, died at his home at Owosso last week. Mr. Campbell suffered a stroke of paralysis Saturday morning three days after returning from Florida where he spent the winter.

Miss Sadie Harwick, of Detroif, senior literary student, was elected historian of the graduating class of the University of Michigan at the senior meeting last week. Merry Wagner, of Ionia, was elected class poet over Douglas Roby and William Van Orden, popular athletes. Paul Watzel, of Lansing, was elected class prophet and Ross McFarland, of Ypsilanti, class orator.

Paul A. Martin, of Battle Creek, former commander of the Michigan Department, American Legion, has been urged as a successor to Rep. J. M. C. Smith, of Charlotte, who died last week. It is expected that Gov. Groesbeck will either appoint a successor to Mr. Smith before the opening of the next session of Congress, or call a special election in the Third Dis trict.

Realizing what the automobile means to the average family in bringing them greater enjoyment of life, we have arranged to extend the facilities of our bank to those who desire to become owners of Ford cars through the new Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Under this plan, you can begin with an initial deposit as low as $5.00. Then select the type of Ford car you want---Touring Car, Runabout, Coupe, Sedan, etc.---and arrange to make weekly deposits on which interest will be computed at our regular savings rate.

Come in and let us further explain the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan to you, or, if you wish, go to the nearest Ford Dealer tor further details.

Start today, and before you realize it you will be driving your own car.

Home, Sweet Home

By ANNE WHITFIELD Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union

The Goodges had been to Pleasant Point, to spend the holiday with Mr. Goodge's old father. They all climbed into the crowded street car out of the wet street, Mrs. Goodge first, picking up her skirt, Marjorie in her best navy silk poplin coat trimmed with the silver braid, and Peter with his great parcel.

Mrs. Goodge, who had a strap, looked round to see if her children had seats, a smile lining her long, reddish face as she observed their success, so that she looked like a llama. Peter, who was thirteen, grasped his parcel, breathing hard, his eyes very bright. Marjorie swung her feet under the silver-braided coat and hoped the other passengers were noticing it.

Mr. Goodge caromed against his wife as the car started with a jerk, and 27, 1894, he was married to Kather-ine Devine at St. Mary's church, swore.

"I should think you might restrain your bad temper in the presence of the children !" snapped Mrs. Goodge.

"This is the last time I take you out," Mr. Goodge retorted, as he tendered a nickel for himself and then had to change a dollar bill for the others

Marjorie got out of her seat and leaned against her mother. "Dad's mad," she whispered.

"Mad?" snorted Mrs. Goodge. "He's always mad. I lament the day that man ever came into my life."

A violent jerk sent Marjorie staggering against a middle-aged lady seated near the door. She began to whimper. Peter grinned across the parcel that he was hugging. The car pulled up. Peter was out first, and waiting at the door of the paternal shop when Mr. Goodge arrived, followed by Mrs. Goodge with her head in the air, and Marjorie, still peevish, and scuffling her feet. Mr. Goodge pushed past them, opened the door, and stamped through his shop, followed by the rest of the family.

Tiers of oranges and barrels of Long Island potatoes were just visible in the darkness as the four Goodges felt their way into the sitting-room at the back. Mrs. Goodge sniffed to ascertain whether there had been an escape of gas. Mr. Goodge lit the gas, threw himself into the rockingchair and began angrily tearing his boots off.

"A nice finish to the day!" Mrs. Goodge said. "Swearing at your wife in a car!"

Disdaining to reply, Mr. Goodge stumped up to bed, carrying his boots in his hand. He was soon between the sheets, and Marjorie and Peter were whisked into their two cold little beds across the hall. Mrs. Goodge followed her husband's example, jumping into bed with a bounce that made to Pontiac where she has since had a the brasswork rattle.

Marjorie, in her little iron bed, with nobly and beautifully spent in the her little nose poking out of the bed-service of the Master, and as opporas she fell asleep. "What a time, going up to Grandpa's on that big boat, with its flat deck and velvet-lined cabin, on top her unfailing efforts. of which we sat! I hope Dad takes us again soon!"

That Word "Tandem."

The word "tandem," applied to two or more horses or other animals harnessed one after the other instead of abreast, originated in a college pun In the Latin language "tandem' means at length, or after a certain in terval of time.

When the method of tandem har nessing was first used in England it attracted the attention of Latinists in Oxford university and furnished them with an opening for a little aca demic humor.

There's a face that's haunting us ever There's a voice we are longing to hear There's a smile we'll remember forever

There's a sad but sweet remembrance There's a memory fond and true There's a token of affection Blanche And a heartache still for you.

Sadly missed by her husband and children and friends
