HIGH SCHOOL STUDENT IS MISSING

Fred McEachin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McEachin of Greenleaf township and a sophomore in Cass City high school, has been missing since Thursday night, May 17, and his absence is causing his parents great concern. The lad, who is 14 years of age, boarded and lodged at the home of Mrs. Isabella Miller. He attended a class gathering Thursday evening and when he failed to show up Friday, Mrs. Miller telephoned his parents to find if he had gone home. Diligent inquiry since then has failed to locate the boy. From two of his chums, it has been learned that Fred returned to town safely Thursday night after the social gathering of his class and informed them that he intended to leave school and go to Detroit. He apparently left town on his bicycle as that is also missing.

Fred is 5 ft. 6 in. in height, weighs about 125 pounds, has a sandy complexion with a few freckles, and auburn hair. His figure is lean and lanky and he is boyish in appearance and action. He wore a black sweater, long trousers of dark color and a small black cap. His schoolwork has been satisfactory; he had no trouble with his parents and was on good terms with all his acquaintances. His friends are anxiously awaiting news of him.

SETTLED IN ELKLAND TOWNSHIP IN 1871

Henry Ball, Sr., Passed Away Tuesday Evening at the Age of 82 Years.

Henry Ball, sr., a resident of Elkland township since 1871, passed away at his home in Cass City Tuesday evening at 6:30, at the age of 82 years. Mr. Ball has been feeble for several months, but his illness did not develop into a serious nature until about a week before his death. Funeral services were held at the residence Thursday afternoon, conducted by Rev. A. G. Newberry.

Henry Ball was born in Wayne county, New York, on Dec. 22, 1840. He was married in New York state to Miss Harriet Ransom. They came to Elkland township in March 1871, settling four miles northeast of Cass City. Mrs. Ball died in January 1914.

Mr. Ball experienced the hardships of early settlers and witnessed the passing of the timber lands and the development of fine farms in this community. He helped cut the trees to make the corduroy road from Elkland cemetery east to the river which years later was improved into the first mile of state reward road in Michigan. In the fire of 1881, he lost his home in the flames. He took keen interest in politics and enjoyed, even in his later years, the sport of hunting.

He leaves four children, William, John W. and Henry Ball, jr., and Mrs. Lydia Starr, all of Cass City, and three brothers, James and Wallace Ball of Coldwater, Mich., and Fred Ball.

ISAAC WALKER VICTIM OF BUZZ SAW

Isaac Walker was so unfortunate as to have his right hand badly cut when it came in contact with a buzz saw while he was assisting in sawing wood at the J. E. Seed farm 1/2 mile north of Cass City Tuesday afternoon.

He was taken to Pleasant Home hospital where it was found necessary to amputate the thumb at the wrist joint and the index finger. Owing to the crowded condition of the hospital, Mr. Walker was taken to his home Wednesday morning.

Miss Mabel Brian, who underwent an operation for a ruptured appendix, and Mrs. Chas. Kilgore, who had a kidney removed recently, are local patients at the hospital. Both are doing nicely.

Hylp's court in Sandusky on a charge of disturbing the school. It appears that a young daughter of Mrs. Engel had been detained after school for coaching in her studies and that her mother had become incensed because of it and had sent an intimidating note to the teacher, forbidding a repetition. Monday afternoon just as school was being dismissed, Mrs. Engel was seen approaching and Miss Montgomery locked the door to prevent a personal encounter and any possible unpleasant scene. Failing to obtain admission Mrs. Engel is alleged to have sent a child for hammer and nails and, procuring them she nailed a board across the door and the teacher was forced to finally make her egress through a window. Mrs. Engel plead guilty to charges without trial and paid a fine of twenty-five dollars and costs of twenty dollars as an alternative to a jail sentence of thirty days.—Tribune.

E. A. M'GEORGE DIED AT GRAND RAPIDS

Was Widely Known in This Community Among Farmers and Business Men.

Word arrived here Friday of the death of E. A. McGeorge at Grand Rapids on Thursday, May 17, where he had recently established himself in the bean jobbing business.

Mr. McGeorge was for many years a grain dealer at Cass City and enjoyed a large acquaintance among the farmers and business men of the Thumb district. He commenced his business career in Cass City in 1890 as a partner of A. Frutchey in the wholesale egg business. A few years later, they purchased with A. H. Ale the grain elevator from A. G. McBurney. A year later, Mr. Ale sold his interest to his partners. The company was afterwards incorporated under the name of Cass City Grain Co. Mr. McGeorge, several years ago, sold his holdings in the company to the Frutchey family and entered a similar business at Gladwin. Not many years ago, he and his son, Lewis, purchased a sand and gravel plant at Marshfield, Ore. Mr. McGeorge recently moved to Grand Rapids leaving his son in charge of their Marshfield interests.

He leaves a widow and one son.

Harold McNamee, son of R. A. McNamee, has accepted a position as assistant engineer with Chas. H. Hurd, consulting sanitary engineer of Indianapolis, and is now making a survey and preparing estimates of the probable cost of laying sewers and erecting a garbage disposal plant at Seymour, Ind. Mr. McNamee until recently held a similar position with the Washington Suburban Sanitary Dist. at Hyattville, Md.

"The Stolen Flower Queen," a child's midsummer night's dream, is an operetta in one act to be given by the grade children of Cass City schools on Friday, June 1, at 7:00 p. m. on school lawn. Price, 25c. Children below 8th grade admitted free.—Adv.

CO. FEDERATION OF CLUBS ORGANIZED

CLUB WOMEN FROM CARO, CASS CITY, VASSAR, FAIRGROVE, UNIONVILLE AND KINGSTON ATTENDED MEETING MONDAY

Monday afternoon, club women from Caro, Cass City, Vassar, Fairgrove, Unionville and Kingston met at Odd Fellow hall in Caro to organize a county federation of clubs. Mrs. A. J. Knapp of Cass City, president of the East Central District of the Michigan Federation, called the meeting to order. After community singing led by Mrs. A. J. Calbeck of Caro, Mrs. F. E. Kelsey offered prayer. Mrs. G. A. Tindale read the constitution and by-laws which had been drawn up by a committee appointed for that purpose at a preliminary meeting. These were adopted with a few changes. The Vassar ladies' quartet, Mrs. A. J. Steller, Mrs. Fannie Stephen, Mrs. W. A. Wellemeyer, Mrs. Dan Atkins, with Mrs. H. W. Owen as pianist, gave two very pleasing selections. Mrs. J. M. Dodge gave an interesting talk on "Church Union" which contained many beautiful thoughts and ideas worthy of earnest consideration.

Officers elected for the ensuing year were:

President, Mrs. A. J. Calbeck, Caro.
Vice President, Mrs. David C. Evans, Jr., Millington.
Recording Secretary, Mrs. Dan Atkins, Vassar.
Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. F. L. Harrison, Fairgrove.
Treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Ricker, Cass City.

Mrs. W. R. Alvord of Detroit, chairman of Citizenship Committee of the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Past President of the Michigan Federation, gave a short interesting talk and answered questions in regard to the new organization.

A resolution was passed protesting against Sunday base ball. Mrs. Knapp closed the meeting with a short inspirational talk after which the Caro ladies served most delicious refreshments. Preceding the afternoon meeting, luncheon was enjoyed at Hotel Montague, fifty-five ladies being in attendance.

MAY CEASE OPERATING D. B. C. & W. RAILROAD

Judge Arthur J. Tuttle has issued an order for all persons interested in the operation of the Detroit, Bay City and Western railroad, to appear in federal court at Bay City June 1, and show cause why the court should not order a discontinuance of the operation of this road. The order is the result of a petition by the Detroit Trust company, receivers for the road, for instructions from the court regarding the operation of the road.

Copies of the order are to be sent to all creditors having filed claims the company; all stockholders, the mayor, president or other executive officers of all cities and villages served by the road, the Michigan public utilities commission, the auditor general of the state, and the Interstate Commerce commission.

The order followed the presentation of a petition by the Detroit Trust company, receiver for the road, for instructions as to what to do with the property.

The petition states that under the receivership, which began Sept. 29, the net operating loss of the road has been $25,000 and it is estimated that this will reach $100,000 by the first of the year. The receiver also stated that there are past due taxes amounting to $69,000 on which interest is accumulating at the rate of one per cent a month, other taxes, now due, of $16,000 and that the bondholders' committee is unwilling to take up the $125,000 of receivers' certificates authorized by the court and that they cannot be disposed of elsewhere.

The Woman's Study Club held their last meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. A. A. Ricker Tuesday, May 22. Annual reports were given by the officers. Mrs. G. A. Tindale gave a very interesting paper, "Things Essential for Every Woman to Know Regarding Business." Mrs. W. R. Alvord gave an informal talk on the General Federation of Women's Clubs which was held at Atlanta, Georgia, recently. This proved to be very interesting as well as instructive. Delicious refreshments were served. Guests from out of town were Mrs. A. E. Sleeper of Bad Axe, Mrs. Alvord of Detroit and Mrs. Frank Kinch of Grindstone City.

Michigan Happenings

An insane passion for firearms resulted in the death last week of Ewald Peters, 19-year-old Leland youth, victim of a mysterious shooting at the farm home of his uncle near Maple City, was the coroner's verdict. No weapon was found near the boy and there is no reason to suspect murder, but a bullet hole was discovered in the window. The finding of a piece of a file embedded in the youth's brain offered the theory that he had been firing a cartridge which had exploded with fatal results.

Governor Groesbeck last week vetoed the Thomas bill to permit boards of supervisors to suspend local highway improvements under the Covert act. In his veto message he asserted that if the bill became law, boards of supervisors might prevent the raising of money to meet, outstanding bonds, and that the measure proposes giving local officials power outside the districts in which they were chosen. He also held the measure unconstitutional.

Under the supervision of the state conservation department, J. A. Summerfield and S. A. Brown, of Saginaw, are in Newaygo for the purpose of stocking the lakes with wall-eyed pike, caught below the dam in the Muskegon river. Permission has been granted to use nets to catch the wall-eyed pike and the state will pay 20 cents for each pike more than 18 inches long. All under 16 inches go back in the river.

Farm labor shortage may decrease crop production materially in northern Michigan this year, it is feared. Applications for help from farmers throughout the region are piling up at labor agencies. W. W. Smith, in charge of the state employment office, stated last week. The Negro labor, reported pushing steadily northward, has not appeared in northern Michigan and apparently would not be welcome.

Prof. Allan A. Hoben, president of Kalamazoo College, in a talk to the students last week, urged that the pictures of Washington and Lincoln be placed in every home. Prof. Hoben also declared that the birthdays of Washington and Lincoln should be celebrated as are family birthdays, making these great men, in effect, honorary members of every family.

For the first time in Flint's history, the G. A. R. will not have charge of the Memorial day program, this year. They have stepped down for the more active Oakley Traynor post, American Legion. While the veterans of the World war will prepare the plans and look after all the details of the occasion, the "boys of '61" will occupy the place of honor on the program.

Governor Alex J. Groesbeck, vetoed the Wayne county superior court bill, planned to effect the reorganization of the city justice courts. The governor rejected the bill on the ground that when it passed the senate it had only 20 affirmative votes, whereas bills affecting the changing of courts must have a two-thirds approval, 22 votes.

A watchman now is on duty at the state fire tower in Selma township. Edward Thalman has been appointed for the fourth season as fire patrolman for Wexford county.

Boys' week was observed at Owosso last week, under the auspices of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, the program took in the church, school, factories and other institutions. A father and son banquet was held, when Thomas P. Johnson, superintendent of public instruction, acted as toastmaster.

Monday. LUSTS OF THE FLESH.—Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh. For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh: and these are contrary the one to the other.—Galatians 5:16, 17.

Tuesday. TO SEE THE LORD.—Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord.—Hebrews 12:14.

Friday. THE TEMPLE OF GOD.—Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?—I Corinthians 3:16.

"STAR" FEATURES OF A WINDMILL

We are unaware of any law whereby a farmer is taxed for the wind consumed by his windmill. Hence it is the most economic power for pumping.

One oiling a year—as required by the Star mill—appeals strongly to the farmer, especially to the man who has had experience with mills requiring frequent attention.

Hot-dipped galvanizing as applied to the wheel, rudder and tower gives the Star a weather proof finish and the strong, sturdy construction makes it dependable and durable.

WHY— The Humble Biddy Cackles After Laying an Egg.

The accepted explanation of the cackling in which a hen indulges after laying an egg is that she is so pleased that she wants everyone to know it.

The rooster answers the cackle with a crow, and this is taken as further indication that both are immensely proud of the achievement. This explanation is not tenable.

If the question is considered fairly, it is easy to see that instinct would teach the hen that to cackle is to call the attention of the enemy to both herself and her embryo offspring, which she would naturally avoid doing.

The cackle is a relic of bygone days when fowls were not domesticated and ran about wild. When the hen wished to lay she retired from the rest of the fowl community and performed that task.

By the time she was ready to rejoin the commonwealth the other members had wandered some distance, and she did not know where they were. She waited till she had gone some distance from the egg in order not to endanger it, and then cackled, after also having taken a good look round to assure herself that no enemies were near.

The rooster, hearing the cackle, answered it by a crow, and thus informed the hen of the whereabouts of the tribe. This sort of thing may be seen now among the ancestors of our domestic fowl in the Malay countries and India.

IS PROVISION OF NATURE

Why Average Human Being Breathes More Deeply When Asleep Than When Awake.

Many of us suffer permanently from a slight catarrh, and, while awake, we periodically clear our tubes, as is, by coughing or blowing our noses. When asleep, we cannot do this, and the passages have to be cleared of congestion by extra deep breathing.

When awake we naturally put ourselves into a position for easy breathing; but when asleep many of us, particularly if we are inclined to be stout, roll into a position which hinders easy breathing, and makes extra heavy breaths necessary.

A third cause concerns the very nature of breathing, which, put roughly, is to get rid of carbonic acid and replace it by oxygen.

During sleep, the whole machine of our body works more slowly than when awake, and we often accumulate more carbonic acid than our sleep breathing can pump out. When that happens we take a dozen or so extra deep breaths to get rid of the excess of carbonic acid gas.

Why Heat Passes Through Bottle.

Everybody knows that a match can be lighted by the spot of dazzling brightness which marks the focus point of a burning-glass. But can you imagine it catching fire under the influence of concentrated darkness?

Though heat is usually seen mixed with light, the two are quite different things. Even the greatest heat has really no light of its own, but is pitch dark.

It is easy to separate the heat from the light of a sunbeam by using a kind of filter. This consists of a flat bottle filled with a solution of two common chemicals, iodine and carbon disulphide.

Hold the bottle in a sunbeam and you will find that no light passes through it. But heat manages to do so. Place a burning glass a few inches away from the dark side of the bottle and hold a match under it as if you were focusing an unfilitered beam on its head. In a second or two it will flare up, ignited by invisible heat rays unmingled with light.

Why We Have Horns on Autos.

Bells have for centuries been used on horse traffic, and more recently on bicycles. To herald the approach of a motorcar with its greater speed, some distinctive sound was needed. Extra loud bells, it is true, such as are employed on fire engines, might have been used, but the pandemonium in a crowded street would be unbearable.

The horn, therefore, the perfected descendant of the old post boy's horn, was the obvious instrument, and possessed, in addition, the advantage of throwing its sound forward, instead of all round, as a bell does.

So by custom we came to accept the horn as the distinctive warning of a motor. In parts of Europe, indeed, it is illegal to affix a horn to any other kind of vehicle.

Why the Crust on Bread?

An expert baker gives the following explanation: "When a mass of dough is baked in the oven the water in it turns to steam at 212 degrees Fahrenheit. After this it cannot get any hotter. But the outside of the loaf is not limited by the presence of water, and both the pan and the air in the oven get much hotter. This extreme heat converts the starch in the outer layer of dough into sugar, part of which is burnt to caramel. The latter gives the outside of the loaf its crust and makes it quite different in appearance and flavor from the crumb inside."

Why Turkey?

History goes to show that the turkey was at one time confounded with the quinal fowl, originally known as the turkey. This name seems to have been given it as a result of its peculiar cry of "Turk, turk, turk!"

Uby has finally decided to be represented in the Huron County Baseball league this year. At a meeting of the community club the local business men decided to donate the funds for the entrance fee. Elkton also has decided to have a team in the league. For a time it looked as though that town would be out of baseball this year. With the announcement coming from Uby and Elkton, the county is assured a six-team league at least. The other towns which will be represented are Sebewaing, Bad Axe, Port Austin and Harbor Beach.

WHY

Proper Study of Insect Life Is Important.

How far can flies travel, and what determines the direction of their flight? They have occasionally been reported many miles offshore; but in such instances it may have been the winds rather than their wings that were responsible for the long-distance transport. In the course of a series of investigations of insects affecting the health of man and animals, the bureau of entomology of the United States Department of Agriculture has sought definite knowledge regarding the question just raised. Thousands upon thousands of marked flies, notably the common house fly, screw-worm fly and the black blow fly, have been liberated, so as to ascertain the direction and speed of their travel. The maximum distance or speed from the point of release as recorded for the common house fly was 13.1 miles. The dispersion was in all directions from the point of liberation.

Modern progress in medicine has shown again and again how important a knowledge of the habits of insects is for human welfare in general and many public health problems in particular.

It is obviously futile to plan anti-fly or anti-mosquito campaigns with reference to small localities if the insects concerned can readily be disseminated from far beyond the boundaries of the places under control. Efforts to eliminate insect breeding places in order to relieve a particular region may be entirely nullified if neighboring breeding grounds are near enough to keep up the supply of the offending insect.

GUIDE SEARCHERS FOR HONEY

Why Some Flowers Have Far Greater Attractions for Bees Than Others of Like Species.

Do flowers use rays not visible to the human eye to attract insects to them? Certain insects can spot ultra-violet light that cannot be seen by man, and some blossoms, in addition to their ordinary brilliant hues, vary in the kind of short light rays that they emit.

Prof. F. K. Richtemeyer of Cornell University told the Optical Society of America, meeting at the bureau of standards in Washington recently, that these invisible rays may guide pollen-bearing insects to the flowers in their search for honey. Giving signals in rays shorter than the deepest violet that we can see brings the flowers the pollen that is necessary to it in producing seed. Experiments made by Professor Richtemeyer on Colorado flowers show that flowers apparently differ in their reflection of ultra-violet as much as in their visible colors.—Cleveland News-Leader.

How Game Is Being Exterminated.

A Loucheux Indian, trapping east of Macpherson, on the Arctic coast, caught 120 white foxes last winter, besides other game, which he shot or found in his fox traps. The foxes alone netted him $4,200, while a white trapper, O. Norberg, trapping at Baillie Island in the Arctic, came out with a catch of white foxes valued at $15,000. Charles Klinckenberg, a Dane, who has lived in the Arctic for 40 years, takes in 1,000 white fox pelts at this trading post yearly, and as white foxes are fashionable, and have increased in value from $10 to $50 within three years, the Arctic fox will soon be as scarce as the sable and sea otter.

Why He Missed the Train.

A certain absent-minded Stanford professor lived in the country and each day he commuted to the university, riding to and from the railroad station on his bicycle. One afternoon, when his classes were finished, he started home, but being engrossed in deep thought, he forgot to mount his bicycle and walked to the station, a mile away, pushing it along at his side. Arriving at the station he saw his train just pulling away from the platform.

"How exasperating," he exclaimed. "Had I not been bothered with this confounded bicycle I could have caught that train!"—Judge.

Why They Sympathized.

"The American boy is all right, after all," remarked the man who Sunday tried his skates for the first time after a long illness. He had been a good skater, but now was slow and awkward. A half dozen boys tore down the pond and stopped in front of him. "Just learning, mister?" "Been sick," he replied. The boys held a consultation and offered to contribute their combined experience to help him learn to skate again. When the boys found out that his illness was caused by injuries suffered in France, in the World war, they held up instruction until they heard the story.—Detroit Free Press.

Files Ninety Miles Without Pilot.

The pilotless airplane, with which the army air service has been experimenting for some months, recently made a number of successful flights of more than 90 miles. The automatic control, consisting of a gyroscope and an arrangement of bellows similar to those used in piano players, is said to be more accurate and dependable than a human pilot. The tests proved it was possible to drop bombs from this plane, on targets on or off the ground, with great accuracy.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

HOW

YELLOWED PIANO KEYS MAY BE MADE SIGHTLY.

—There is nothing more unsightly than to have the white ivory keys on a piano turn yellow in spots, which is due to perspiration of the fingers in the summer time and to a slight oiliness of them in winter. An experimenter claims that he has found that the original whiteness can be restored by using a weak solution of nitric acid and water, says the New York World. Put one ounce of nitric acid and 12 ounces of soft or distilled water in a bottle having a rubber cork. If the latter is not handy, an ordinary cork dipped into melted paraffin wax will do.

Be sure to pour the acid very slowly into the water and stir it with a stick. Do not reverse this proceeding or the acid will fly up into your eyes. In using this solution, pour a little of it into a glass dish; then dip a brush into the liquid, wiping off the surplus on the edge of the dish.

If no brush is handy, tie a piece of cheesecloth on a stick and use that; in fact, cloth on a stick makes a very good brush for this work. Apply the solution sparingly to the stained keys, taking care that no acid get on the black keys or wood-work. Then rub the surface lightly with a piece of cheesecloth to remove the stain. Next wash off all acid with a piece of flannel dipped in clear water and wipe with a dry cloth.

CLING TO PRIMITIVE CUSTOM

How the Modern Arab Takes His Coffee, as Told by American Consular Official.

Coffee houses in Aden are crowded day and night, says Consul Raymond Davis in response to an inquiry from the Department of Commerce on the market for percolators, but they have shown no improvement in the methods of preparing cups that cheer but do not inebriate.

The Arabian method of coffee making, as described by the consul, requires the use of small clay mugs, made locally, which cost 6 to 12 annas each. In one corner of the shop a charcoal fire is kept burning and on it are placed the mugs containing water, powdered coffee and sometimes a little ginger and sugar to be brought to a boil. As soon as it comes to a boil the coffee is consumed, with or without sugar, and always without milk. The coffee-house price is one-half anna a mug. Patrons seem to be satisfied with this primitive method, and cafe proprietors say it would cause too much trouble and take too much time to familiarize the servants with the modern coffee machine.

How Temperature Affects Fish.

Fish are very quick to feel a change of temperature in their native element, and sudden cooling or heating of the water is very injurious to them.

A hot summer has been known to drive herring to find cooler waters at a distance. Some years ago a fearful storm raged along the eastern coast of North America. After it had subsided the sea was strewn with millions of tile, a fish like a cod, but attaining a weight of 50 pounds or more. A vessel was sent to discover the cause of the strange phenomenon. It plowed straight ahead for 150 miles and estimated that an area of 5,000 square miles was covered with dead fish. It was discovered that the storm had brought icebergs in its train, and the consequent great cold had proved too much for the fish, accustomed as they were to warmer waters. The cod has an objection to sudden changes of climate, and if put in colder water than that to which he is accustomed will be numbed. Experiments have been tried to acclimatize English salmon in Tasmania, but the difference in temperature has caused these experiments to fail.

How Fuel Supply May Be Increased.

Researches have been made in France with respect to the use of grape pomace as fuel. Moreover, attention has been invited to various kinds of material that might be used in this way to a good advantage, and the calorific power of which possesses considerable value. It has been found that grape pomace, when well dried, is an excellent fuel and has a good heating quality. In the researches mentioned, it was demonstrated that the substance dried at 115 degrees centigrade shows 4,400 calories.

It is also shown that as this substance has much resemblance to dried peat, it can be used in suitable producer gases, and it has an advantage over peat in that it can be dried rapidly. Combustion allows of recovering most of the phosphorus compounds and potash contained in the ash, and only the nitrogen is lost. A ton of well dried pomace has the same heat value as 0.4 ton of coal. By this estimate the annual wine production in France of 1,250,000,000 gallons represents at least 175,000 tons of coal, so that the interest of this application is considerable. Pomace of other fruits could no doubt be employed.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

IDLERS' ISLAND

IF YOU are resolved to continue your search for Idlers' Island, contrary to the advice of the experienced, and those disconcerted souls out at the elbow who have spent the best years of their lives in its quest, you may set it down as an unassailable fact that you are doomed to sorrowful disappointment.

The youth who dreams of this mystic place, forgetful of his duties to his parents and his employers, while he is fitting up his phantom ship to sail away in pursuit of perpetual pleasure, is heading straight to a land of sorrow and desolation, which he will find in the meridian of life, when his sky is turning gray and the icy winds of winter nip his shivering body and freeze up his last remaining energy.

There is only one event at this time of his existence which really astonishes and startles him out of his self-imposed impoverishment, and that is, he cannot build himself up again to hopeful manhood.

He is pushed and jostled on the streets and takes it as a matter of no consequence; he is shunned by old friends who pass him with a sneer, but there is not enough fire in his blood to kindle resentment; he is miserable and lonely, but so dull in sensibility that he is unconcerned.

He may sometimes try to brace himself up as a sudden ray of hope momentarily flashes across his darkened mind, but the effort proves too much for him.

The background of his subconscious self is still covered with dream pictures of Idlers' Island, blurred by cobwebs and out of harmony with the colorful scenes around him, and his present physical and mental lassitude.

When he was twenty-five he was lazy, careless, wasteful and improvident, with friends everywhere delighted to help him spend his inheritance; now that he is five and forty, he is destitute and alone, left to drift seaward with the ebbing tide.

Oh! that he could warn the hot-headed youths of today of their folly. But he cannot. He is despised and shunned; ragged, hungry, gaunt and cold, all because in his earlier days he refused to work, so that he might have time to search for Idler's Island, where now he is imprisoned for life! MEN YOU MAY MARRY

Has a Man Like This Proposed to You?

Symptoms: Always slumps in his chair—acts as if the back of it was meant for the top of his head. Hands always in his pockets and if possible his feet are almost on the level with head. You always are engaged in telling him, as you do Fido, to "sit up." He's always surprised at your not loving him to slouch and lounge in your simple presence. At the theater you can't see him, he falls so low in his seat.

BROWN SCHOOL NOTES.

Kent Parrott, Lloyd Delong, Leta O'Dell and Verna Jones wrote on the seventh grade exams at Cass City last week.

Visitors this month were Commissioner McComb of Caro, Miss Olive Van Horn of Detroit, the Misses Thressa Curtis, Myrtle Bruce and Lucile Fields of Deford and Bernice and Beatrice Quick and Genevieve Johnson.

The first, second and third grades enjoyed recalling all the stories and poems we have learned since last September. It was amazing to hear them retell, accurately, some of the stories that you would think they had forgotten.

The "Brownies" played ball with the "Quick's" last Monday and once more the Brownies failed to win the victory. We guess that the reason for our failure was that the opposing team were too "Quick" for us. The splendid feature of the game was the good-natured rivalry and the fairness which prevailed throughout the contest.

In history class one morning, we were discussing the different political parties when one of the pupils asked, "What party do we belong to?" It was then explained that all families do not belong to the same party. For a moment there was silence, then one of the girls spoke up quickly. "I know what party our folks belong to," Miss McConnell—"Well, what party do you belong to?" "Why my father is an Odd Fello," was the emphatic reply.

Thursday was our last day of school and we all enjoyed lots of ice cream and cake. We are glad that vacation is here at last, but we feel sure that when September rolls around again we will be only too glad to go back to our books again.

WHY

Historians Are Interested in Egyptian Excavations

An eminent British archeologist has expressed the hope that legends in the inner chamber of Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb may throw a new light on the origin of the narrative of the Flood.

The destruction of the world because of the wickedness of man, as told in Genesis, also is read in Babylonian records and is suggested in certain tomb inscriptions in ancient Egypt. It is believed the account originated in Egypt.

Historians and archeologists will have the keenest possible interest in the papyri that may be found in the tomb, hoping something will be discovered to give the Egyptian version of the Egyptians' relations with the Jews.

So far no reference has been found in all the early records of Egypt to the sojourn of the Jews in that country, to the seven years of famine and the seven years of plenty, to the seven plagues, or to the destruction of the army which Pharaoh sent to recall the Jews after permitting them to depart from Egypt.

One of the leading objects of searches for papyri in recent years has been to find corroboration from Egyptian sources of the stay in Egypt and the exodus, but these events which make so large a figure in Jewish history are a blank in the Egyptian records.

Egyptian history, tradition and literature were never consolidated and preserved.

The Jews are believed to have been a comparatively small tribe at the time Egypt was a highly populous country, so the Jewish contact with Egypt has been represented by some historians as a thing of slight consequence to the Egyptians. They would regard the Exodus as the deportation or withdrawal of a handful of aliens.

HEROINE OF COLONIAL DAYS

Why the Name of Hannah Dustin Has Been Honored in New England States.

Hannah Dustin was a British-American heroine. March 15 or 16, 1807, Indians attacked the house of Thomas and Hannah Dustin, at Haverhill, Mass., killing Hannah's week-old baby by dashing it against a tree, and making prisoners of Mrs. Dustin and her nurse, Mary Neff.

George Bancroft, in his "History of the United States, From the Discovery of the American Continent," says that Mrs. Dustin "achieved a startling revenge." The historian relates that after days of weary marches, Hannah Dustin and her nurse, with a boy from Worcester, found themselves on an island in the Merrimac, just above Concord, in a wigwam occupied by two Indian families. At night, while the household slumbered, the captives, each with a tomahawk, struck vigorously, and fleetly, and with wise division of labor—and of the twelve sleepers, ten lay dead. The gun and tomahawk of the murderer of her infant, and a bag heaped full with scalps, were choicely kept as the trophies of the heroine.

According to Lamb's Biographical Dictionary of the United States, Hannah presented the trophies to the governor of Massachusetts colony. The general court gave Mrs. Dustin and the Worcester lad each $250. A granite monument was erected at Haverhill by the states of New Hampshire and Massachusetts in 1874, on the tablets of which are inscribed the names of Hannah Dustin, Mary Neff and Samuel Leonardson.

Why Ozarks Were Popular.

Some think that the chief reason why prehistoric man settled in the Ozarks was because the housing was so good. The high hills are full of caves. Prehistoric man and prehistoric bears fought over their possession. No doubt some of these fights would make good historic literature, but being prehistoric, there was no history. Besides plenty of shelter, which the Ozarks furnished man 1,500 years ago, the food supply was superior. If he could not outrace and slay a bear with his club and turn it into bear steaks, the streams were full of fish and the hillsides full of blackberries. He and the bears fought over the blackberries, probably as furiously as they did over the caves. They were creatures of similar tastes.

Why Accuracy Is Greatest Asset.

The shorthand speed record is broken again, this time by Nathan Behrin, New York court stenographer. In the pencil sprint he takes down 350 words a minute with only two errors.

Few people can read that fast, or even think at a speed of 350 words a minute.

Best to go slower and avoid the two errors, in everyday life. Accuracy is a greater asset than speed. A small error upsets the whole thing, just as no chain is stronger than its weakest link. A platitude? Yes. All truths are platitudes.

Why Candles on Birthday Cakes.

The custom of placing candles on a birthday cake—one for each year—comes from Germany. The Germans placed a thick one in the center, called Lebenslicht, the light of life.

Only he or she who declares his or her birthday may put out the light of life; it is unlucky if done by any other member of the family.

The lights are symbols of life and its portions the years. For persons advanced in years one candle must do duty as, otherwise, too many would be required.

Floor Plan May Be Turned About to Give All Day Rooms Front Outlook—Lends Itself Nicely to Artistic Touches.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

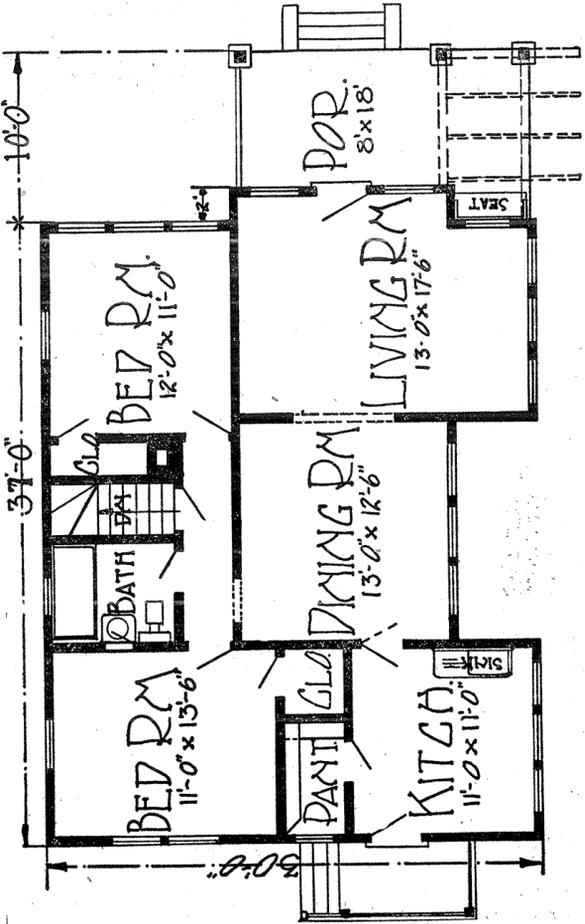

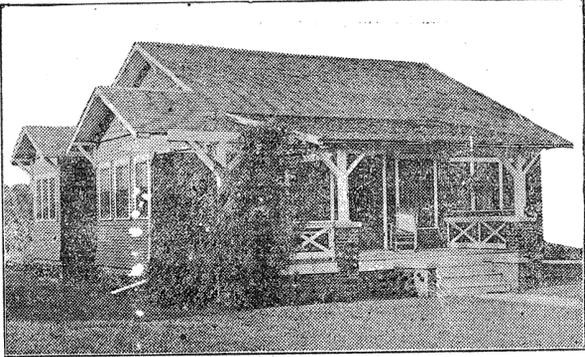

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1227 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

There are not many structural problems connected with the building of this bungalow. Even the decorative touch which is given the veranda by about; suppose we have the veranda that is now in the front turned to the side. The result is that we have the three day rooms, the living room, the dining room and the kitchen, facing the front yard and the road. Between these three rooms and the porches the housewife will live out the greater part of the working day, consequently no one will begrudge her the pleasant view of the front of the house. Neighbors will be passing and she can wave a pleasant greeting, and the occasional automobile or wagon go by, giving a welcome break to the monotony of the day. The rear porch could be made larger and thus serve for a washroom, and the front porch or veranda fitted with a side entrance instead of as shown in the illustration. This would mean no disarrangement of the plan, and the vines could be trained to leave an arch of greenery.

One touch which may not be noticed on first observation is the way character has been given to the brick foundation and column supports by stepping out the brick. This does not weaken the structure of the brick wall and in fact helps to throw off moisture.

A bungalow like this could be painted in light green, or brown, or cream yellow, or gray for the body color, and white paint used for the trimming. The shingles, if cedar, could be stained a weathered finish. The walls of the the vine-hung pergola is accomplished without much trouble, since the required lumber is simply ordinary stock from the mill. Hidden in the illustration, but shown on the plan of the veranda, is an arbor seat under the pergola. The porch or veranda is nicely dimensioned and roomy and leads directly into the living room, 13 feet by 17 feet 6 inches. The dining room is 13 feet by 12 feet 6 inches and opens off the living room. The dividing doorway suggests sliding French glass doors, and the dividing wall could have built-in bookcases on the living room side and built-in china closets on the dining room side, saving furniture outlay and improving each room greatly.

The kitchen is 11 feet by 11 feet and has three windows insuring fine light. It has a windowed pantry and space could be left under the pantry window for outside icing of the icebox. The two bedrooms are connected with the bathroom by a small corridor, and both have good closet space. Between the front bedroom and the bathroom provision has been made for a basement stairway. There might be an extra room in the attic, such as a storage room or playroom or additional sleeping quarters.

So far so good; but the man living on the farm may question the statement that this bungalow is suited for farm residence purposes, simply on the basis of what has been said of it so far.

But, suppose we turn the floor plan rooms inside could be finished in plain oatmeal wall paper tints, or kalsomined or painted in plain colors of gray, ecru, cream or the so-called "neutral" shades, with the furniture upholstery and the window draperies and portieres giving the brighter contrasting shades. Properly done, there is no reason why this simple dwelling should not only be pleasing exteriorly as well as within, but a real "home" as well.

Porto Rico Raising Less Sugar.

The Sugar Producers' association of Porto Rico announced its estimate of the sugar crop for 1923 as 392,782 short tons, as compared with 40,936 for 1922. The Guanica Centrale has started the season, and the Aguirre, the second largest mill, and several of the smaller centrals, are also operating.

HOW

MODEST ONION GETS ITS CHARACTERISTIC AROMA.—Onions of moderate size contain about 91 per cent water; they are succulent and tender, and as thoroughly digested and as easily absorbed by the stomach as are other similar vegetables. They are not only rich in vitamins, but have other nutritive and medicinal properties as well. There is in them, for instance, much food iron, good for those suffering from anemia, and very little starch or sugar, which makes them suitable for diabetics.

The sulphur compound which gives them their characteristic aroma, is believed to stimulate the flow of digestive juices, and also to act as a mild laxative. In cooking, much of this acid volatile oil, which is called allyl sulphid and has an effect on the eyes similar to that of tear gas, is lost. That is why cooked onions have so much less taste than raw ones, and also why a silver spoon, if used in stirring them sometimes acquires a black coating, which is silver sulphid.

As an article of trade, onions rank third among the truck crops of the United States, and, in addition to the large home-grown supply, considerably over a million bushels every year are imported, the majority now coming from Spain. Also there used to be heavy imports of this vegetable from Bermuda, but those islands have been losing out in the last few years, principally because so many onions are now grown in Texas. Other localities specializing in the succulent bulb are Ohio, western New York, Connecticut and Coahuila valley, in southern California, where a very sweet variety, closely resembling the Egyptian, is being raised.

EFFECTS OF VARIOUS FOODS

How Investigation Has Determined Value of Certain Forms of Nourishment—Some Best Uncooked.

A German investigator has conducted a series of experiments to determine the effects of various foods, beverages, condiments and spices, as well as the effect of cooking, chewing and digestion upon the pulse and cardiac (heart) activity, and found that all the foods, accessory foods and spices, with the exception of very acid substances, coffee, tea and cocoa, had a stimulating effect on the heart. Water inhibits the depressive effect of stimulants from heating.

The depressive substances become stimulating after they are heated and water increases the stimulating effect. If the substance tested is applied to the palate the effect is greater than when applied to the mucosa (lining) of the cheek.

Different portions of the same vegetables have different effects. Acids applied to the tongue cause depression of the pulse; applied to the mucosa of the cheek and palate, they cause an increase of the pulse, but applied to the whole oral (mouth) cavity, there is depression of the pulse.

All foods are more stimulating when eaten raw than when cooked. Cold and heat are repressive, and moderate heat has the most stimulating effect.

How Moon Affects Earthquakes.

Earthquakes are more frequent in those parts of the world where there is evidence that geological processes may be slowly shaping the major contours of the earth's surface and where the mountains may be reckoned, geologically, as comparative newcomers. In digging a trench or building an embankment, if the earth is left at too steep a slope it will find its natural one by falling toward its base. An analogous process is suggested by the tremendously steep descent from the Andes to the Pacific ocean. A glance at the map shows that that great range of mountains is almost standing with its feet in the water; as a matter of fact, the slope to the Pacific varies from 1 in 0 to 1 in 30. In calmer regions of the earth's surface the slope from the high land to the sea varies from 1 in 70 to 1 in 250. The simplest explanation of the constantly recurrent earthquakes along the Pacific coast would be the great thrust from a vast mountain range the "batter" of which has not yet reached an angle of repose.—Manchester Guardian.

How Some Insects Walk on Water.

What makes it possible for the long-legged water flea to run right over the surface of a sheet of water? If we observe it closely, says Science Siftings, we see that the end of each of its six long legs make a slight depression where it rests upon the surface. The surface is elastic in fact, and acts like a springy mattress.

The physical basis of this mode of action may be explained as follows: The separate molecules of water cohere with considerable firmness and therefore offer a certain degree of resistance to penetration by any solid matter—but this is true only in case the body cannot be wet, i. e., if it has a composition like that of the fats. The resistance is a result of the surface tension of the liquid, which acts like a stretched membrane. This is sufficient to support the weight of the water flea, though it would be practically negligible for ourselves.

MINISTERS AGAINST SUNDAY FUNERALS

Sanilac County Ministerial Association Passes Resolution on Practice.

The regular meeting of the Sanilac County Ministerial Association was held in the Deckerville Presbyterian church on Monday, May 14th, an exceptionally large number being present. The morning session was devoted to the usual business, followed by a very enjoyable noon luncheon provided by the ladies of the local churches.

In the afternoon program a very interesting address was given by Rev. H. G. Gaige, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Crosswell, on "Daily Vacation Bible Schools," which was very heartily enjoyed. A profitable discussion followed. One of the outstanding features of the business session was a lively discussion of Sunday funerals. The experiences of every preacher present showed that the Sunday funeral, which has become very prevalent of late, has broken into the services of Sunday in all the churches, very often unnecessarily.

The reason given for placing so many funerals on Sunday was because it insured a greater crowd in attendance, without any thought on the part of those who did so, of how it often disorganized the work of the church on the only day set apart for public worship. An instance was given where a recent funeral had interfered very materially with the services of three different denominations, both in town and country. We wish to emphasize that in the discussion of the situation there was no hostile attitude on the part of the ministers, and nothing unkind, unbrotherly or un-Christian was said. But in order to protect the interests of all who are loyal to the church, with every due consideration of the mourner, the association took the following action:

"In view of the fact that the custom of arranging for funerals to take place on Sunday is very prevalent in this county; and that such custom many times interferes with and disrupts the regular services of the churches, taking the respective ministers from their pulpits; be it

"Resolved, That the Ministerial Association request the people of the county to arrange to have funerals on some week day instead of Sunday whenever possible. Further that the minister to be employed be consulted as to day and hour before public announcement of the funeral is made."

The association recognizes the fact that in some cases, as for example where the remains are shipped in, and other very exceptional cases, some Sunday funerals cannot be avoided.

The next meeting of the association will be held at Harbor Beach in July, where the association has been invited as guests of the Huron County Ministerial Association.—W. Firth, Secretary.
