DEFORD NEWS

Word comes from Pontiac that Mrs. Ella Ellsworth is improving in health rapidly now. When the weather is suitable, she will sleep on an open air diet.

Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Bruce, Mrs. H. D. Malcolm and Mrs. Jesse Sole spent Monday at Saginaw.

Mrs. Emory Patterson is spending a week visiting in Detroit.

Our aged, feeble ones are all able to be out in good weather except Peter Bell.

The oat plowing will be late. The late unfavorable weather halts seeding on level lands.

Elmer Bruce has taken contracts for sugar beet company this year amounting to over 400 acres. 'Tis hard to find homes for the workers.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Webster visited at Ame Webster's home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Woolman of Marystown Sundayed at Geo. and John McArthur's.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Case of Detroit spent Sunday with Mrs. Alice Curtis.

Tapety Curtis of Oxford was home over Sunday.

Home talent had Easter exercises at the M. E. church Sunday evening. Special meetings closed on Easter evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Lewis were visitors in Caro on 16th.

Mr. Bohms, former hardware man, has bought a lot near the thirteen mile road and is building a house thereon.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford went to Detroit on 16th and returned on the 17th.

Mrs. (Dr.) Merriman was a Detroit caller past week.

Sim Pratt of Pontiac is at home but in very poor health. He informs us that carrying a pail full of water from well to the house is too much for him now. His breath seems gone.

Mrs. Nellie Belle of Pontiac was a caller at Deford Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Pontiac were callers in this vicinity over Sunday. Mrs. Johnson will be better known as Katie Modrey.

Clark Day and Harry Squires of Pontiac visited over Sunday at Lester Day's.

R. D. Lewis and family spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Farvers of Unionville.

Mr. Spencer has moved into the Geo. Taylor house.

Wm. Bardhell assists Mr. Bohms, who is building a home near Royal Oak.

Mrs. Alva Stewart of Lansing spent a part of last week here visiting kindred and old friends.

Sim and Fred Pratt are at Ann Arbor in the interest of their health.

Benjamin Sharp is yet at Dr. Merriman's home and under treatment for his ailment.

Basil Curtis continues to improve in health.

Old Mr. Hillman, two miles east, is in very poor health.

Morley Palmateer and family of Imlay City are here for a time.

A white blanket covered the soil of the Thumb on Easter morn.

Norman Martin is fixing over his house in east part of town and will become a Defordite this season. Mr. Martin has spent his married life on the town line section 35, Ellington. But if correctly informed this will be his first and only move. Evidently he has regarded Franklin's wise sayings. "Three moves equals one fire."

Oscar D. Hill has been among us delivering his cards. He wishes to be judge of probate again.

We would be pleased to learn certain date of the "Old Folks" meeting in this locality. We think June 20 but not sure. Those with minutes of last meeting, elucidate the Chronicle.

News comes from Pontiac that son of Don McCaughey, formerly of Novesta, suffers with a broken leg.

A question was in our old speller of seventy years ago. Allow us to ask it now—"When doctors disagree who shall decide?"

Material is high. Don't feel like erecting new houses. Hard work to find abodes for the sugar beet tenders.

Received a sarcastic communication pitying so many old men in Deford. Would have the joker emphatically give better service generally.

understand that in some ways we are very fortunate. For instance—we have passed the "Jamboree Age" with mothers-in-law.

Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Daugherty went to Royal Oak Saturday for a two weeks' visit.

Lafayette Sargent has quit service at the elevator and will move to Owendale soon as he finds a house.

Do a little detective work and you will discover that those who buy the single coupe car are descendants of the old fellow that used the prescribed grace that runs as follows: "God bless me and my wife, my son John and his wife, us four and no more. Amen."

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gage of Oxford spent a part of last week in Deford and vicinity.

William and Joseph McCracken are working on the Morley Palmateer barn two miles east.

Every creature should be gifted with gray matter enough to last a hundred years—then if they stay on earth that long their last years won't be lost to all the world.

Yes, well I remember when at this time of the year I gathered decayed chips from the wood pile to place around the currant brush to smother grass and hold moisture, so mother might have the fruit by middle or last of June to make the green currant pie. Then a youth perhaps of seven we loved the green currant pie that required so much sugar to make it good. Now a boy of nearly eighty, I hanker for the same viands. But the currant worm plague fell upon us 45 years ago and destroyed our brush and we suffer. About that time the Hessian fly ruined our wheat now left us alone for years. Why have we not grounds to think the currant worm has left us also? I will seek for brush, try to raise the fruit that I may have a pie of the "Old time religion" and be fully young again. If I had the power I would fire all this canned stuff at the dogs.

WILMOT.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Gemmill and baby and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Schuהל of Cass City spent Easter at O. Woodruff's.

Oscar Berry of Flint and sister, Mrs. Nora Weadon, and family visited their brother, Irvine, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Moulton and children of Caro visited his parents on Sunday.

E. N. Hartt and son, Barton, were at Pontiac Sunday.

Mrs. F. W. Hopps and two children spent Easter vacation with her parents here, returning to Detroit Saturday.

Vere Warren and Mary Thorp were married at Caro Saturday afternoon.

An enjoyable time at Mrs. Ferguson's last Wednesday was spent by those who attended the ladies' aid there. Proceeds, $13.10.

I. Decker has returned from the city to his farm. Mrs. Decker will follow as soon as school is out.

Alex Graves' son, Ralph, wife and children are back from the city on their farm. Mrs. Graves is in Detroit with her daughter, Ms. K. Van Dyke.

Miss Allie Hartt is spending several weeks at the home of her parents here.

A large crowd was out to Easter services Sunday evening at F. M. church.

Mrs. Walter McArthur is able to be out again after quite a serious illness.

CASS CITY HAPPENINGS OF TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Items from Cass City Enterprise of April 25, 1899.

The marriage of Alfred J. Knapp and Miss Belle McKenzie took place Wednesday, April 26, at the home of the bride's parents, Main St. West, the ceremony being performed by Rev. B. J. Baxter.

The ninth annual meeting of the Tuscola Co. Association of Odd Fellows was held this year at Cass City on April 26. Two hundred enjoyed the banquet served at the town hall and at the conclusion of the feast toasts were given by Dr. S. F. Chase of Caro, G. W. Dickhout of Vassar, H. C. Wales of Elkton and F. E. Burton of Marlette. J. D. Brooker presided as toastmaster.

John H. Walmsley has moved to town and entered the employ of N. Bigelow and Sons.

At a meeting of the Cass City Summer Home Club on Monday evening, the following gentlemen were chosen as trustees: A. G. Berney, T. H. Fritz, O. K. James, W. J. Campbell and W. I. Frost. Further improvements are contemplated this year at Oak Bluff and the season promises to be a most enjoyable one.

Joel M. Jones of Detroit, has moved onto his stock farm near Holbrook and will manage it himself this year at least. Owing to Mrs. Jones' poor health, they have spent the last year in traveling, but she has so far recovered that they have decided to try the farm.

W. R. Olin, construction manager of Moore telephone system, was here last week making some repairs. He came to move the central office to F. Klump and Co.'s but as the building in which they are located is soon to be moved the change cannot be made until one of the new blocks is ready for occupancy. Miss Laura Klump has been engaged to manage the switchboard in the meantime. Mr. Olin has also placed a new switchboard at Gageton, whereby it is possible to pitying so many old men in Deford. Would have the joker emphatically give better service generally.

Michigan Happenings

Reports that the board of regents of the University of Michigan had voted to increase the salary of Dr. Marion Leroy Burton from $13,000 to $24,000 annually, confirmed by Dr. Burton. The action was taken at a meeting of the regents some time ago but was not announced. Salaries of several deans at the university were raised at the same meeting, it was reported. It is understood the increase to Dr. Burton was given because of the large amount of official entertaining he is required to do in connection with his work.

An increase of nearly $40,000,000 was recommended in the tentative valuations of telephone and telegraph companies, railroads and other public utilities operating in the state, fixed by the state tax commission. The new valuations, which are subject to review, total $352,747,100, as compared with assessed valuations of $313,097,750 last year. The final assessed valuations will be established about May 10. The money derived from the tax on these properties is diverted to the primary school fund.

Charging that one-half of the state's wealth is tied up in tax exempt holdings, Nathan F. Simpson, member of the state tax commission, told members of the Manistee County board of supervisors that one of the biggest problems of the day for people of Michigan is the correction of "certain inequities existing in the present tax laws." Simpson said he knew of one man in Michigan who holds more than $40,000,000 worth of tax exempt securities.

Attempts to poison sparrows which he declared were driving away the song birds he sought to attract to his yard, caused Game Warden Charles F. Merrifield to arrest John Devries, 18-year-old bird student of Grand Rapids, who was fined $40 and costs in police court. The complaint was based on a State law, which had never been invoked here previously, prohibiting the placing of poison to kill birds.

Lansing is experiencing one of the greatest building booms in its history. More homes and small business houses than ever before are being erected, figures in the city building inspection office indicate. One day 23 permits were issued for the construction of residences, and 10 permits were issued for other kinds of buildings, setting a record for one day.

Everett Lyon, residing on the Dexter road, about three miles west of Ann Arbor, was burned seriously about the arms and legs, when a five-gallon can of kerosene oil, with which he was going to start a fire in his chicken brooder, exploded. The explosion blew the bottom out of the can, sprinkling Lyon with flaming oil.

Homer Rutledge, state fire marshal, has modified his order prohibiting the sale of fire crackers or explosive toys to give dealers a chance to dispose of stocks on hand. The order, as it now stands, will allow the dealers to sell their stocks until July 5, but warns against replenishing stocks, as after that date the ban will be absolute.

Frank Waskevitch, 16 years old, a student in Midland Central High School, was seriously injured when a runaway team of horses knocked him from his bicycle a few miles north of Midland. The team passed over him and he suffered a broken jaw and it was thought that his skull was fractured.

When S. Steen, who conducts a novelty store on North Front street, Mt. Clemens, went down to the furnace room of the vacant building next door, from which he was getting heat, he found John Schkerofsky, 35 years old, the janitor, dead on the basement floor. He had been dead for some time.

Following a meeting of the executive board of Kalamazoo college C. M. Harmon, Detroit, chairman, announced work will be started within a fortnight on a $105,000 women's dormitory at the Baptist school.

Taking the places of 13 rural schools, the new $175,000 Lincoln school, six miles south of Ypsilanti, has been dedicated. The school has a capacity for 550 pupils.

The village of Kingsford will vote upon the question of a $200,000 bond issue for a waterworks system May 17 according to an announcement by the village council.

Over exertion resulting from preparations he had made for the funeral of Joseph McKorkel, 78 years old, a lifelong friend and comrade in Civil War days, caused the sudden death of Louis Bollinger, 73 years old, commander of the Allegan G. A. R. post.

Russell Moore, 6-year-old son of Roy Moore living near Lennon, suffered a fractured skull when a horse he was leading to water whirled and let his heels fly, one of his hoofs striking the boy in the forehead.

One hour after a jury, at Flint, had been given the case in the suit of Odessa Densmore, three-year-orphan, whose parents were killed in an automobile accident near Atlas three years ago when their machine was crushed by an on-rushing interurban, against the Detroit United railway for $10,000 damages, the foreman, William Edgecomb, announced the verdict of the jury awarding the entire amount to the girl, who, besides the loss of her parents, suffered a broken leg and may be permanently injured.

Twelve-year-old Violet Randall, of Grand Rapids, over whom physicians have labored for several weeks to conquer one of the strangest diseases known to medical science, is dead from hemorrhage of the brain. About two months ago the girl became afflicted with a slow seepage of blood which seemed to come from every pore in her body. She was removed to the municipal hospital, where relatives and nurses submitted to periodical blood transfusions in an attempt to save her life.

Because a 17-year-old girl at the wheel of an automobile became excited when she saw a car approaching, 4 persons lost their lives near Kalamazoo. The dead are: Miss Goldie Trombley, 17 years old, driver of the car. Mrs. Elizabeth Trombley, of Comstock, her mother. Charles Sitsworth, of Kalamazoo. Frank Trombley, 8 years old, son of Mrs. Trombley. The automobile stalled on the crossing and was buried with its occupants beneath the front truck of the interurban car.

The county plan of paying wolf bounties has been so successful in Delta county that the board of supervisors has decided to continue it through the summer. A better record was made than under the state trapping system. Since Oct. 1, when the county plan became effective, 62 wolves were slain. A bounty of $10 is paid.

Distributing companies of Grand Rapids have cut the wholesale milk prices by 1 cent, fixing the prices to the grocery stores at 9 cents a quart and 5 cents a pint. The price of milk delivered to residences continues at 12 cents a quart and 7 cents a pint. The chain store milk price war is said to be resorbible.

Edward Lyons, of Pontiac, expert driver for the Oakland Motor Car company, has returned from Los Angeles, where he has been in a hospital three weeks as the result of the bite of a spider. Lyons was making a 200-mile auto test in the mountains when he was bitten. Blood poisoning resulted.

Lawrence Dworek, Arenac county farmer, is dead as a result of a rifle wound. A few days ago while on the porch at the home of a relative he was wounded in the abdomen, and an investigation indicated the shot was fired by boys who were shooting at a target 40 rods away from the house.

In a report submitted to Gov. Groesbeck, Charles A. Peterson, deputy state fire warden, estimated the total damage done by forest fires north of the Arenac-Mason County line in 1923 at $534,811, exclusive of brush fires where no damage occurred except to young growth and the soil.

The formal dedication of the new $100,000 James W. Sheldon Memorial hospital in Albion will occur April 25, when many visiting dignitaries will be here. Patients will be received for the first time on May 1.

A recount of the votes in the recent Port Huron election on a proposed $100,000 water bond issue indicated that it had carried by three votes. Original returns showed it had been defeated by nine votes.

A dramatic institute, under sponsorship of the Albion Community Recreation Association, was begun at Albion April 14 and will last three weeks.

MODERN DUTCH COLONIAL HOUSE

Many Unusual Features Found in This Design of Home.

WOOD OR STUCCO EXTERIOR

This Type Can Be Built on Wide or Narrow Lot—Curving Portico Over Entrance Gives Pleasing Touch to the Whole.

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD
Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to the subject of building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as Editor, Author and Manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

The charm of the Dutch Colonial style of architecture is undeniable, and while in this case some liberties have been taken with the accepted form of door and window treatment, the result these serve are practically as large as though the walls had been carried straight up.

Downstairs the entrance lets us into the reception hall, with the staircase leading itself to decorative handling. One can secure authentic Colonial staircases, fitted for the carpenter's putting together, that permit a good choice of patterns, and one of these would make the reception hall a place of real distinction, with no unreasonable outlay.

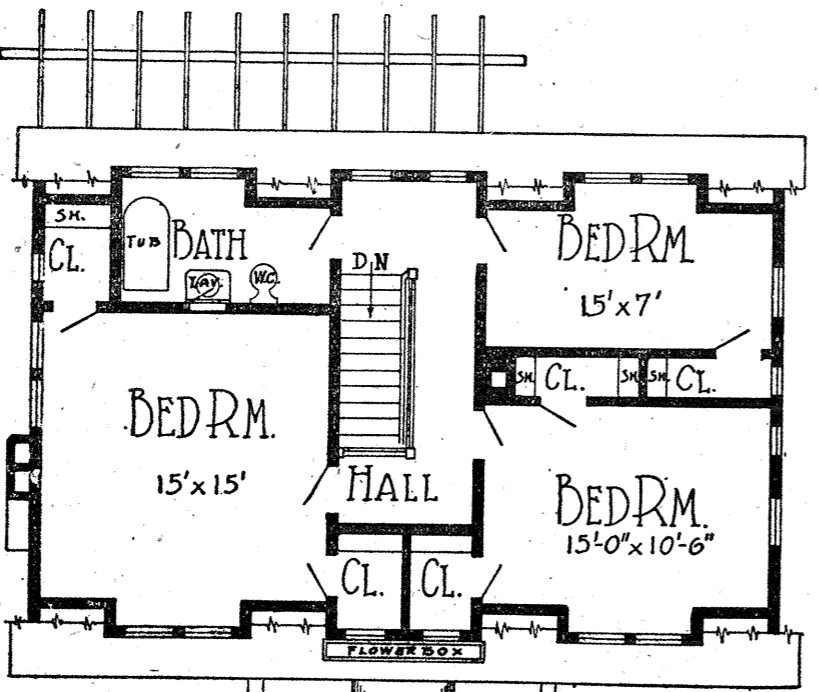

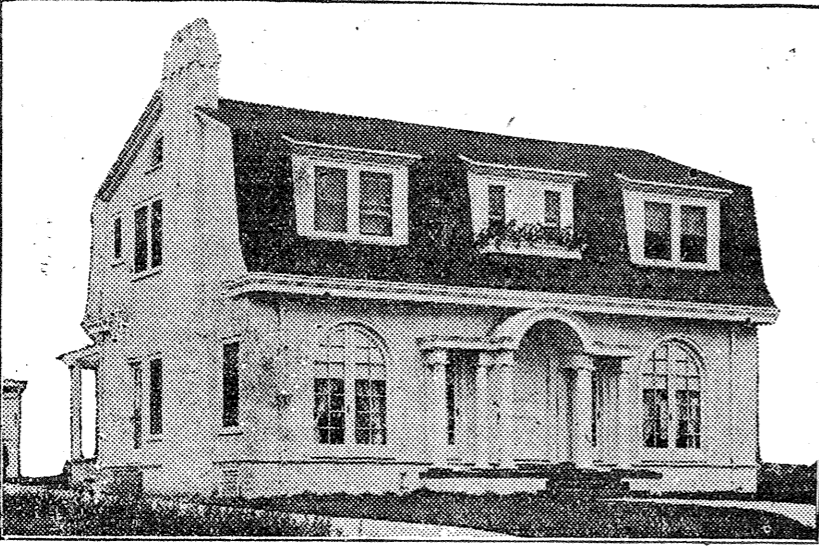

To the right of the reception hall is the living room, with fireplace, and good blank wall spacing for the placing of larger articles of furniture effectively, and for the proper hanging of pictures. Off the living room is a small room which could be used for den, office, library or sewing room. There is a downstairs lavatory adjoining its partition wall, and in the case of a large family a door could be opened into the lavatory from the den, permitting the latter to serve as an extra bedroom.

There is a rear entry, reached from the reception hall, through the house, and opening on a rear pergola porch. On the right side of the first floor the dining room and the kitchen are located, and we want you to note the fine, large pantry, with its provision for work-table right under the window, which will save the housewife many steps.

Upstairs we have three bedrooms and a bath. One could arrange the paris not disastrous to the good effect of the whole, as well might have happened without intelligent discrimination on the part of the designer. The curving portico over the entrance helps to justify an architectural handling which might otherwise be questioned on the score of fitness, and gives a pleasing modern touch to the whole.

Observe how this style of architecture adapts itself to the varying size of lots. You could use the Dutch Colonial style in the wide lot site shown; or it could be used on a narrow lot, and letting the narrow face the street.

The exterior is stucco; wood siding could be used, if desired. The finish should be preferably white. Red cedar shingles or prepared shingles or roofing, in any of the popular stains and colors, would make a combined exterior effect very pleasing.

tion walls to get four bedrooms on the second floor, if desired.

A louvered window helps ventilate the attic, and keeps the house cooler in summer.

A word about the interior furnishing of this house might be apropos; it should be in keeping with the simplicity of the design. One would not expect overstuffed, massively designed or carved furniture in this dwelling, however much its Dutch creators might have been inclined thereto. No, we ought to confine ourselves to the simple, dignified American Colonial patterns, such as Windsor chairs, Salem type dining furniture, and quiet, neutral tints for walls and drapes.

Sheraton and Chippendale reproductions would go well, also, as furniture for this home. After all, the simpler styles of furniture are better, and we grow to live more simply and dignified in the real neighborly way when our home is so furnished that it neither creates envy in the hearts of friends moving in our own circle, nor affronts those guests who may be less well favored with this world's goods.

Have You This Habit?

By Margaret Morison

A SPEAKING VOICE

"OTHER things being equal," said the great doctor that evening at dinner, "a good speaking voice is the greatest asset a man or a woman can have."

"Can a pleasing voice be acquired, doctor?" asked his host, "or is it just a golden spoon that some people are born with and others not?"

"Good voice production," answered the eminent specialist, putting down his fork and speaking emphatically, "good voice production is a habit and can be acquired."

The next morning at church the doctor's host heard a sermon that stayed in his memory for many days. The message of that sermon was fine, but he had heard the same thoughts many times before without consciously carrying them about with him afterward.

It is of the universal habit of running our words and sentences together into one confused jumble, or squeezing our throats until our voices must come forth through our noses, of hissing and spitting out our sounds, of bawling and distorting our faces that we must be aware.

Something to Think About

By F. A. WALKER

THE THOROUGH MAN.

WE WHO by habit are inclined to flitter away our time should give close attention to the thorough man and strive to emulate his worthy efforts.

Observe the decisive directness with which he makes his approach, equipped mentally and physically to drive ahead at a gait that is maintained until the close of the day.

He knows what he wants to do and does it without hesitation.

He is every inch a thorough man. He knows it and those about him know it. He untangles obstinate skeins, settles disputes and goes through stone walls without bluster.

About the only emotion he shows is his intensity of purpose, which in some subtle manner stirs the most phlegmatic soul within his presence to renewed activity.

He weighs his acts before he sends them out to do his bidding, having as a result no listless fear of the outcome.

Never disinclined to learn he is ever studying new ideas, getting new slants on old problems, shortening distances between starting points and the goal he visualizes in the distance.

At his first shot he may miss the mark, but he comes back with a larger quiver of arrows, a stronger bow and keeps shooting until he scores a clean hit.

He does not scold wrongdoers when they frankly repent, but rather praises the moral courage that admits the truth. This is the thorough man who knows his duty to himself and others, who achieves and attains while the irresolute look on abashed.

THE ROMANCE OF WORDS

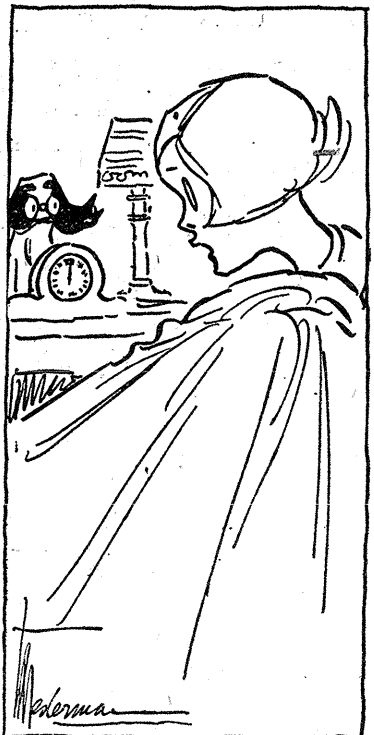

"FRANK"

WHEN we say that a person is "frank" we are understood as meaning that he is candid, open in his manner and straightforward in his dealings.

The Franks were the ruling people, honorably distinguished from the Gauls and the degenerate Romans of their time by their independence, their love of freedom and their scorn of duplicity.

REVIEW QUESTIONS IN AGRICULTURE

Suggest a plan for selecting the layers in a flock of hens.

What are broilers-pullets? What is the difference between a purebred and a thoroughbred in referring to live stock?

Of what value is a pedigree to an animal? How many animals in your vicinity are registered?

Why are cattle tested for tuberculosis? Name four essentials to be kept in mind in constructing a chicken house. How does a hot bed differ from a cold frame?

What do you understand by weathering? Give an argument for teaching agriculture in the public schools.

Windmills Supply Electricity. Eleven windmills have been constructed recently in East Prussia to supply electric power during the coal shortage.

To Save Natural Gas. An electrical method of producing lampblack has been devised. This will result in saving large quantities of natural gas formerly used to produce the lampblack.

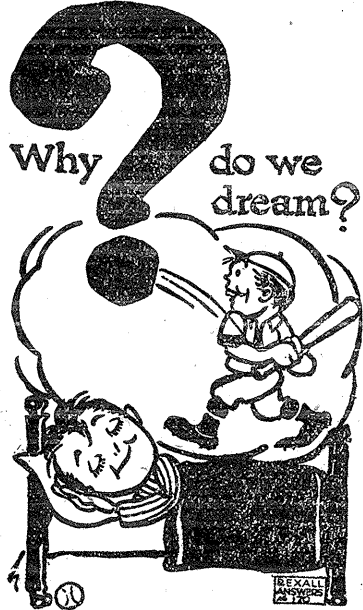

Both Provoking. People are apt to be provoked at one for not having read the big stories in the newspaper rather than pleased at the opportunity of telling him.

Her Mind Made Up. Hilda—"So you made up your quarrel with Tom?" Doris—"Yes, but only temporarily. We're getting married next month."

GOING 'EM ONE BETTER IN THE POST OFFICE

"I can do what anyone else can do," a small girl out in Arkansas took as her motto. Then she added to it, "If it's worth while I can even go 'em one better!"

Thereupon life "called her bluff" as the boys say. Lucy may Schaefer had started the family record by being the first of five small Schaefers. She was within an ace of winning a coveted school record at graduation, when—failure, an empty family purse, Lucy may landed a teacher's job.

Then the Hot Springs paper—did I say Lucy may lived in Arkansas down at the very end of a branch railroad?—carried a letter from Uncle Sam to Lucy may. Extra luck? Hardly. It was just an announcement of examinations for post office clerks. Lucy may felt a bit of a thrill when she went into a "first-class office" of the United States government.

Then, "women can't earn their salaries," she was informed, but she set herself to qualify for a special clerkship. The department rules that a clerk must handle letters at the rate of 16 per minute. Miss Schaefer averages 60 per minute, and has, on tests, climbed up to 72 without error. But she held no political "pull," and special clerkships were jobs handed to the faithful. She stuck to the job. Four years ago came the merit ruling: semi-annual examinations to determine those eligible for special clerkships. "When my winning day arrived," she says, "it was on merit alone."

Outside the office she has mothered two younger sisters, gone into the local Y. W. C. A. and learned team work by gaining members for the post office clerks' organization. When a new organization that seeks out successful women reached Hot Springs, it didn't require political pull to make Lucy may Schaefer successively local and state president of the business and professional women's club. She still holds, so far as she knows, the post office record. "Of post office work," she says, "I believe a good woman worker can succeed better than a man. Her hands are quicker and her brain travels faster." And as for living in the smaller place she suggests, "One must prepare herself for a special line to succeed."
