

DEFORD NEWS

Jacoby family were at Caro Sunday. Early strawberries reported injured by frost. Our school will finish its term this year June 13. Our gardens must be called "Weather-sick" at close of May. June, July and August, if corn weather gives us a crop. Amos Webster is having his front porch beautified by Wm. Randall. Wm. Barthell home has been silent for many days. Family in Detroit. Our teacher at Cass City 27th to be vaccinated as smallpox preventative. The Mexican beet tenders are in evidence here above all other nationalities. Keep the feline from the bird's nest. The song of the bird is worth more than the purr of the cat. Friday afternoon our town was as quiet as a charnal ship. Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCain of Oxford were here Decoration Day. Amos Webster has a foot bridge across the village creek to his garden. Rumor says Mr. Stewart, former pedagogue of this school, will teach again. Roderick still looks on the pipe as a menace to health. Howard Malcolm needed his new car. He has held his job longer than any man in the locality. We can raise onions and peas and smile at the frost. If you would the ways of wisdom seek, these things observe with care. To whom you speak, of whom you speak, how, and when and where. Mrs. Shaw's sister of Pontiac visits with her for the week. Put items in box 17 at P. O., and they will reach the Chronicle. Mrs. Alice Curtis returned Saturday from a week's visit in Detroit. Mr. and Mrs. Herb Case of Detroit were in Deford Saturday and Sunday. Specialists pronounce Mrs. Ella Ellsworth's trouble diabetes. Our school teacher and family were Mayville callers Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ted O'Kelly of Caro visited at R. D. Lewis' home Sunday. The Cones family spent Sunday at Rose Island. R. D. Lewis family called on Robert Horner's Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lewis attended the funeral of Mrs. Orr of Caro on Monday afternoon. Deceased was the wife of Attorney Orr of Caro and kindred of Mrs. Lewis by marriage. A number of our people attended the funeral of Mrs. Orr of Caro Monday afternoon, among which were the Cones and Jacoby families. There seems to be a painting craze in town this spring. Mr. and Mrs. Gage returned to Detroit on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCain returned to Oxford Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Wilson of Saginaw are spending a week here. Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Locke of Imlay City and Mr. and Mrs. Perry Hill and two children of Detroit visited Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Patterson over the week-end. Louis Locke, Bernard Hunger, and the Misses Laura York and Edythe Locke visited Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Patterson over Sunday. Roderick Kennedy was taken with a bad spell Saturday. The doctor was called and he is better now. Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Wilson of Saginaw are spending a week in this locality. Mrs. Wilson appears as young as in days gone by. Hiram called on us for social chat and his 74 years seem to rest lightly on his shoulders. Were not for his shortened limb, he would pass with the middle aged yet. There are people so constituted that they enjoy telling the mistakes of others. The way to quiet such is by showing them that the grand mistake was made when they were born. No, John Wesley never was a member of the so-called M. E. church. He lived and died an Episcopalian. He did not design to build up a new denomination but to make the people of his church have better habits. Howard and Carrie Retherford brought the remains of their son, Keith, who was a victim of smallpox from Detroit on the 27th by transfer hearse in metallic casket and buried remains in Novesta cemetery. When a very small boy, an aged man told us to beware and not believe all we heard. There is a class he said that likes to tell something out of the ordinary. Chief among such yarns is "The preacher getting drunk" The old gent told us he heard it since boyhood. I have heard it. You have heard it. But we have not seen it. There may have been instances where the preacher got drunk—but they are so few we cannot put them down among the wise sayings. "Our Lotus Flower" show went to

Kingston on evening of the 28th. We call it our show—the leading principals breathe our sweet air and mingle with us daily. Robert Jacoby made a business trip to Imlay City Thursday. The Kennedy home is receiving a new coat of paint. "Men may die without any opinions and yet be carried into Abraham's bosom. But if we be without love what will knowledge avail?"—John Wesley. That jumble mentioned in last issue and located southeast of Deford was near Hemans on county line. If the sheriff came among us we would treat him so kindly he would go away feeling he had found a people with their hearts in the right place. Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Gage of Detroit were here on Decoration Day. If it were possible to engage the archangel from the Heavenly regions to take charge of a country school, at last one-half of the district would pick flaws. An observing Canadian had been looking us over for a month and concluded that our living stuff was about same as on the other side with two exceptions—Good whiskey and dill pickles, and they were out of the reach of the plain people. You all know what kind of weather we have been having—dry one day, wet the next. We don't charge it to the weather, but there are would-be candidates just like it. A passing train set fire to the roof of the hay barn close to the track on Saturday. It was discovered before the blaze was large and willing hands with use of buckets soon quenched all danger. Miss Fern Roberts is driving a new tudor Ford car, which is a gift from her grandfather, Peter Daugherty. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Quick and family motored to Brown City Sunday to visit Wm. J. Clark, who was a former resident of this vicinity. Miss Lorena Quick remained for a week's visit. The contests of skilled men in the boxing ring today are but passing events to the young and middle aged; but to people of 75 or more it recalls when the Yankee blood boiled over a prize fight. In the early 50's John C. Heenan of the United States of America went to England to battle Thomas Sayers of England, and if possible bring the belt to the land of the "Free and the Home of the Brave." There was a real world's belt then supposed to be held by the country whose pugilistic champion honestly gained the prize. Heenan was a powerful youth of 21 years, weighing 200 lbs. when hardened down for the ring. Sayers was a 170 lb. man, but acknowledged to be the most skilled boxer of his time. In those days there were no frills over a prize fight. They fought with bare fists on the principle of toughest hide last longest. Battles were fought to finish and sometimes it required forty rounds to find the finish. Sayers was by all odds the most skillful ring general of the two contenders. Heenan was the younger and stronger. Perhaps they were equal in courage and determination. They battled long and well—skill evened up against superior strength—but at length Heenan's youth and strength began to tell and Sayers weakened. It was evident to all that England would lose the belt. Then the English resorted to a ruse. They raised the cry "police" and broke down the ropes—not allowing the engagement a finish. The few Americans there were helpless, but when they came home with complete evidence that they were robbed our nation was more than angered. Good old Christian men who were opposed to prize fighting on general terms were exasperated over the trick, and it was freely talked to raise an army, go over to home of Johnny Bull and bring the belt here where it belonged by force, if necessary. As blood cooled better council prevailed, and the belt studded with diamonds we are told, is offered no more—we only use it as figure of speech.

Obituary. Keith, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford of Deford, passed away Monday evening, May 26, in Herman Keifer Hospital, Detroit, Michigan, at the age of twenty years, six months and thirteen days. He suffered but eleven days with black smallpox. Having attended school in Deford where he graduated, he made a host of friends. Later, at the age of nineteen, he came to Detroit where he was in the employ of the Monroe Calculating Co. for eighteen months, up to the time of his death. Here he proved himself a very efficient, trustworthy and ambitious youth. He was the life of every gathering in his circle of friends, as well as in his home. All who knew him, loved him. A beautiful, clean and intelligent life has gone. He leaves to mourn, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford of Deford, two sisters, and a brother, Mrs. Mark Smith of Ferry, Mrs. E. C. Coleman of Detroit, with whom he made his home and Arleon, who lives with his parents beside a host of friends. Interment was made in Novesta cemetery Tuesday, May 27th, at 2:00 p. m.

Dry Cows Need as Much Care as When Producing The old practice of turning cows into the stalk field in winter after they go dry is no longer followed by the wise farmer or dairyman. Stockmen have learned dry cows need as much care in winter as they do when they are producing. The end of the lactation period is when cows need good feed and extra care to build up the body in preparation for another season. Give them good warm shelter at night, at least. Get Many Views. Frequent consideration of a thing wears off the strangeness of it and shows it in its several lights and various ways of appearance, to the view of the mind. MORE MILK USED IF OF HIGHEST GRADE

The dairyman is interested in the greater consumption of milk and he is also interested in the production of high-grade milk, as it is a contribution to increased sales of his product. In the production of high-grade milk it is necessary for us to take every precaution because milk very readily absorbs odors from the barn and elsewhere and is quite easily contaminated by bacteria. If milk were consumed within a few hours after production, we would not have a very difficult problem. The fact is, however, that our milk is often transported long distances and is not consumed until twenty-four to forty-eight hours after production. This necessitates great care in handling the product.

The usual methods employed of checking on the sanitary condition of a milk supply are the sediment test and the bacteria count. Marked sediment in the milk indicates that it was produced and cared for under unclean conditions. When a high bacteria count is found, it is taken as an indication of either old milk or milk produced under unclean conditions. A low bacteria count is desired because it denotes sanitary conditions all along the way from the cow to the consumer's table.

It is wrong to believe that high quality milk cannot be produced unless expensive barns and equipment are employed. High quality milk can be produced under average farm conditions, but it requires precautions each and every day.

The final bacteria count in milk is the sum of the bacteria coming from the udder of the cow, plus the number gaining admission after the milk is drawn from the udder and the natural increase that has taken place before the count is made.

The means for the dairyman then to employ is to cut down to the very minimum the number of bacteria gaining admission to the milk after it is drawn. This is simplified if the cows are clean and kept in a sanitary barn. Also, this count is reduced by handling the milk only in sterilized containers and exposing it to the air the shortest possible time. To cut down the natural increase of bacteria, we should keep the milk under conditions of low temperature. This has a controlling effect upon the multiplication of the bacteria.—B. W. Fairbanks, Colorado Agricultural College.

Feeding Dairy Calf Is Important Bit of Work

Always weigh the feed. Avoid overfeeding, overfeeding is sure to result in scours.

Be scrupulously clean. Clean pens, clean bedding and clean feed fed in vessels that are washed and sterilized daily are absolutely necessary. Give them plenty of clean water to drink.

In feeding milk or gruel use a thermometer; don't guess at the temperature. Between 90 and 100 degrees is about right.

Watch the condition of the calf's bowels. At first appearance of scouring or offensive odor, reduce the feed and treat for scours.

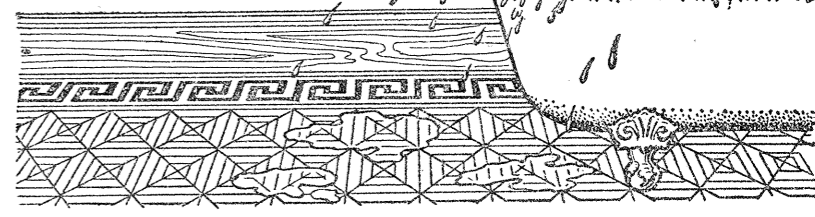

Be regular in the various operations performed in caring for the calves. Tie the calves up so they can be fed separately.

Give them as much exercise as possible.

FRIDAY, SATURDAY, SUNDAY, JUNE 6, 7, 8.

"Scars of Jealousy"

Featuring Marguerite De LaMotte, Lloyd Hughes and Frank Keenan.

The story of an uncouth boy taken from his Kentucky hills and given the place of a rich man's son because the real son is a waster. Then the brotherhood of hate between them—a hate fanned to death dealing fury when both love one girl—from climax to climax—the story sweeps to its final dramatic arena where in the raging inferno of a forest fire the brotherhood of hate finds its battleground amid the hiss and crash of blazing trees.

Also see a good comedy. Children 10c. Adults 30c.

TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY, JUNE 10 AND 11.

CLARA KIMBALL YOUNG IN

Don't Ruin Your Battery

How long has it been since you had your battery tested and refilled with water? Remember, more batteries are ruined by abuse and neglect than by actual use.

Careful attention to this detail will be the means of lengthening the life and service of your battery.
