POLITICAL ADVERTISING. Of Interest to Voters of Tuscola County

Michigan voters will select at the primaries, Tuesday, Sept. 9, their candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Tuscola county voters should be vitally interested in the campaign this year. Probably no governor in the history of Michigan has done more for Tuscola county than has Governor Groesbeck. In previous issues of this paper attention has been called to the greatly reduced tax on real there was a deficit in the general fund of the State treasury of approximately $6,000,000.00. The High-Grade Gasoline

For Perfect Motor Response

The willing start, the leap ahead, the noiseless regularity of the piston stroke. the steady purr of a satisfied engineall these lie in Red Crown, the BETTER motor fuel.

The finer shades of Red Crown performance are due to its perfect chain of boiling point fractions. Red Crown begins to vaporize at a very low temperature, with consequent prompt and easy starting, summer or winter. Red Crown vaporizes steadily throughout the entire stroke of the piston, thus yielding smooth and rapid acceleration and maximum mileage.

Red Crown service lies in this wide flexibility. It is an ideal fuel—it not only moves the car, but it gives the driver a sense of perfect control—a thrill of power-an exhilaration due to instant and eager response.

Red Crown service represents the ideals of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) carried into performance. It yields more power-greater economy-more mileage—manifesting in all these the aim of the Company to provide a better motor fuel.

It is available everywhere — and everywhere the same — to the man who buys 1 gallon or 1,000 gallons.

CANDIDATE FOR MICHIGAN UNITED STATES SENATOR

DANIEL W. TUSSING (Photographed April 24, 1924)

Successful as Laborer, Farmer, Teacher, Supt. of Public Schools, College President and Business

A farmer in youth. Eighteen years Trustee of a Farm Estate. Placed his daughter and her husband on farm at marriage in 1917. The young man raised fine crops, but gave up the farm because each year brought more debt.

On April 24th, 1924, Mr. Tussing wrote a public letter on the farm problem and its neglect by the national congress.

April 30, 1924, he wrote his views in his campaign platform, which Michigan politicians criticised.

August 20, 1924, his committee published in the Grange Patron his assertion that the farmer is discriminated against by our national policy of economics.

Up to that time farm relief met no encouragement at Washington, and the keynoter at the Michigan State Convention denied that there is a serious farm problem.

Is it significant that President Coolidge is now saying the same things in his statements that Mr. Tussing wrote earlier, and declares there is urgent need of a changed national policy for the farmers?

Conclusion: The president, also reared a farmer, whose father is still a farmer, knows more of the farm problems than some Michigan politicians.

Mr. Tussing Not Merely An Aimless Candidate Seeking Promotion.

He has an ideal to which his life has been dedicated for many years. He has a message for the farmer. He believes this question invites the study of men who are capable of bringing things to pass. He resolved long before his candidacy to make this problem an issue in his life.

Mr. Tussing has succeeded along several lines far beyond his original hopes. He can be trusted with national problems that involve the common people. He has fought for the people's interests in his home city, where he has been tested by the offer of money and honor, but couldn't be tempted. He stands firmly for all other Republican issues set forth in his plat-

CANDIDATE FOR

of Sanilac County

ON THE REPUBLICAN TICKET

CHAS. W. SMITH.

Vote Tuesday for CHAS. W. SMITH For State Senator

Dear Friends:

During the last five weeks we have told you something about Charles W. Smith, whom Lapeer offers as its candidate for the State Senate.

This advertising has been written and paid for by the friends of Mr. Smith. The material has been prepared without his assistance. Not one article has been submitted to him for approval. To know what these articles contained he had to read them in the newspapers just as you have done. Not one cent of the cost of this advertising has been paid for or will be paid by Mr. Smith.

"But why," you may ask, "do the people of Lapeer go to this trouble and expense to promote Mr. Smith's candidacy?"

The answer is simple: He has done much for Lapeer city and county, but the community has never had a chance to reciprocate. When he announced himself as a candidate for the State Senate, the opportunity came for his friends to show their appreciation of the many services he has rendered his home community.

These advertisements are a tribute to Mr. Smith. We want him to know that we value him as a citizen, that we appreciate all that he has done for his community. We hope our efforts will not have been in vain, but if they are, our tribute will nevertheless have been paid, and Charlie Smith will at least know the high regard in which he is held in his home community.

In presenting these articles to the voters of the 21st district, we have tried diligently to stick to facts and present them in a clean and dignified way. Though political advantage is often gained by besmirching an opponent, we have scrupulously avoided any reflections upon any other candidate. In harmony with the character of our candidate we have made our appeal in a clean and sincere way and strictly upon the merits of our candidate.

We hope you have read our articles, and found in them sufficient reasons for casting your ballot for Mr. Smith. We have tried to show you that his experience as a member of three sessions of the legislature, his business training and his sympathies with agriculture, fit him best of all to represent this district at Lansing.

Most sincerely yours,

SMITH FOR SENATOR CLUB.

FEEDING DAIRY COWS FOR PRODUCING MILK

A cow weighing 1,000 bounds needs each day, for the maintenance of her body, an amount of food equivalent to that supplied in 8 pounds of clover hay and 20 pounds of good corn silage. She must have this food regardless of whether or not she produces any milk. Food used for milk production must be in addition to that required to keep the cow's body.

A 1-000-pound cow producing 20 pounds of 4 per cent milk a day, if properly fed, devotes about half of her feed to maintenance and half to milk production. Obviously when a dairyman has gone to the expense of supplying that half of the food required for maintaining the cow's body, it is poor economy to withhold any of the other half, all of which goes to produce milk. A cow then requires feed in accordance to the amount of milk she is able to produce. The heavy producer needs the most feed.

Farm-grown roughages (silage, hay, etc.) furnish the cheapest food nutrients. However, a good dairy cow cannot eat enough roughage to supply her needs for milk production. She must have some grain. Therefore, to feed with the most economy the following rules must be observed, says the University of Missouri college of agricul-

1. Feed all the roughage a cow will eat. She will eat more if fed three times a day instead of twice. 2. Feed grain in proportion to the pounds of milk produced. To a Jersey or Guernsey cow feed 1 pound of grain for each 3 to 31/2 pounds of milk produced.

To a Holstein, Ayrshire or Shorthorn feed 1 pound of grain for each 4 to 41/2 pounds of milk produced.

Hollanders Breed Cows

for Higher Production

"Weed, feed and breed" should be the slogan of every dairyman who has an eye to the future. Weed out the poor producer, feed well according to the amount of milk produced, and breed only to good, pure bred sires whose dams have records of better than 400 pounds of butterfat. If you follow these suggestions, your herd's average yield will be doubled, and more than doubled, in a few years.

In the United States 4,000 pounds of milk containing 160 pounds of butterfat is the production of the average cow. In Holland the average is just about double that figure. Why? Merely because the Hollanders have for many years fed and bred their cattle for high production.

A study of the records of more than 18,000 cow-testing associations in this country reveals two significant facts: First, in all cases the high-producing groups were the most profitable—they returned the greatest income over cost of feed. Second, the highest producers were also the groups that produced milk and butterfat most economically -that is, they showed the lowest feed cost a pound of butterfat or to the 100 pounds of milk.

Sudan Grass Makes Good

Supplemental Pastures

In the handling of a herd of, good milk cows, it seems to be imperative that farmers generally make provision for having supplemental pastures for their cows along in July and August when normally the native pastures give mighty little good feed. Probably the outstanding annual feed crop which we have for that purpose is sudan grass and the planting of that crop on thousands of acres simply for the pasture it would give when the other pastures were at best inferior would mean normally a higher return an acre than now is obtained.

Pastures provide cheap milk because pasture is a cheap feed and gives an excellent yield of milk. Plan to put in a few acres of sudan grass to use for pasturing your milk cows along next summer. The return will be higher an acre than if handled in any other way.

Butter scoring 92 per cent brings from seven to nine cents more a pound than butter scoring 89 per cent. Why not make better butter?

The beginning of a balanced ration for dairy cattle is to give the cow all the roughage she will eat-and nothing is better than alfalfa, or some of the other legumes.

Our Business Policy

To greet the public as they enter our doors, secure in the conviction, that, whether they may purchase a spool of thread for five cents or plan and purchase the entire furnishings of a living room to cost a thousand dollars, they will receive from us all that it is humanely possible to put behind that purchase.

They will receive our best in judgment and taste in selection, knowledge of quality and value, and of sincere desire on our part to warrant their future patronage.

After sixty odd years of business life, we feel that our ideals have been successful in no small sense. Our business has grown from a small unpretentious onestory frame building into an institution in Saginaw covering four stories and displaying for your inspection a wide selection of merchandise. Everything is being done to make every customer leave the store in a satisfactory frame-of-mind, both as to the merchandise purchased and as to the service rendered.
