ON WIDE STREETS

FIRMNESS OF ENGINEER RE-SULTED IN SPACIOUS THORO-FARES IN CASS CITY.

To Travis Leach, More than Anyone Else, Is Cass City Indebted for Splendidly Planned Plats.

When you look down the newly paved Main street which has just been completed at a cost of over $56,-000.00 do you wonder why Cass City has one of the widest business streets of any village in the state? Was it so wisely planned by early officials of the town or did the landowner simply I. S. CITIZENSHIP tell the surveyor to "make her wide and handsome" when that engineer started on his work in laying out the town?

G. A. Striffler, local business man, grew reminiscent the other day and related a little history regarding Cass City's Main Street which appears to be the most reasonable explanation that has been advanced. Now, G. A., we are not insinuating, is so old that he remembers this incident of the long ago. He has the tale from the early settlers and simply told of the incident as it was related to him.

The American Legion, the National John C. Seeger was the owner of the

HOLDING BACK

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK Dean of Men, University of ullinois.

MRS. DAYTON was looking over her discarded clothing, and her husband's, to see what might with safety be disposed of without loss or sacrifice to herself or to her family. She had listened recently to an appeal and she wanted to seem charitable and generous and vet not yield entirely to her emotional impulses.

"Here are a couple of vests of your pa's and an old brown skirt of mine," she said to her daughter, Minerva. "I think I'll send them to the committee. They are of no possible use for anything else, and I hate to give away anything that I could use."

"Why don't you put in that gray suit of father's?" Maggie asked, "and your last winter's coat? You'll never wear them again, and they would give some needy person good service."

"They seem too good to give away,"

Mrs. Dayton forgot that she had a trunk full of braided rugs already that she had no place for. It was just the old habit of holding back, of never being quite able to make the surrender. The suit would hang in the closet until it was moth-eaten, the coat would pass, from one closet to another, or they would be made into rugs for cutting his trunk in two lengthwise. which she had no use, while down the street there were men and women and children with hardly a rag to hide their shivering, naked bodies.

When Gifford reported to the city official the amount of his assessable property he could not quite bring himself to make a clean breast of it.

"I don't believe the other fellows tell the truth," he explained to an intimate friend, "and I can't afford to be skinned." He wasn't quite honest.

It is a custom many of us follow. this holding back. We do not give ourselves over to a principle with complete abandon. When we give over we do it grudgingly. When we tell our wives we love them we say so, too often, with reservations. We are afraid to be overenthusiastic, overgenerous, overkind.

HIS MISTAKE.

"We made a mistake in last week's issue," says the editor of a Connecticut paper. "A good subscriber told us about it. The same day there was a letter in our postoffice box that didn't belong to us. We called for 98 over the telephone and got 198. We asked for a spool of No. 50 thread and when we got home we found it was No. 60. The train was reported 30 minutes late. We arrived at the depot 20 minutes after train time and the train was gone. We got our milk bill. There was a mistake of 10c in our favor. We felt sick and the doctor said we were eating too much meat. We hadn't tasted meat for two months. The garage man said the jitney was missing because it needed a new timer. Soft Woolly Coats for Small Girls

The steadfastness of Marv's little lamb reappears in her new winter coat—perhaps he contributed his fleece toward making it. At any rate, everywhere that Mary goes the coat is sure to go, and particularly to school.

Many soft, woolly fabrics are used this fall, in the cozy, all-round service coats for little girls—as camel's-hair, flamingo and chinchilla cloths. The always reliable tweeds play their usual and commendable part and there are certain fabric-furs, among pile fabrics, that excel in warmth and durability. A fine model appears in the picture, with muffler collar and front fastening that will convert it into a double-breasted coat, when winter comes. It is smart and pretty in tan flamingo cloth. If Mary acquires this coat she will need no other.

COMUS IN COLUMBIA

Columbia, Mo., claims Athens, not Gopher Prairie, as its model. To live a half block from the University of Missouri is a very different thing from living 'round the corner from Main Street, Miss Gladys Wheat assures me with healthy scorn for my ignorance.

Such students and faculty folk, "experts in many realms," as work with her, writing her plays and acting in them, are not to be found in quantity certainly-on any happenstance Main Street. Yet it is significant for other arts as well as that of the theater, so thoughtful artists tell me, that Miss Wheat's Theater studios should be on Missouri avenue, rather than on Broadway. To many mature women, themselves happily busy in some small town, I've put the question; "Do you advise the average girl, just starting to work, to go to a big city?" And over and over they reply: "No, indeed, if she is the average girl. But, if she is entering an art.or profession, she will have to go." Yet here is Miss Wheat pursuing a profession that calls on the arts of acting, dramatic writing, and costume and scenic design, a thousand miles from the center of theatrical produc-

She is not merely copying others' successes, either. "My aim," she says, "is to interpret and reflect the child's world in drama as the drama of grown people reflects their world. My personal contribution is the visualization of plays written by others. I direct, design and make the costumes, the sets, and the properties. Up to the present time we have produced only plays written for children, and for production in this theater."

She is frank enough to say that financial support does not as yet equal the intellectual, histrionic and 'literary aid she has received. Even so, her conclusion carries a message for others artistically inclined, who wonder if they must become needles in the haystacks of New York in order to attain. Here is an enterprise, she declares, "carried on in a little community, but carried with ease and pleasure by big people."

Since I'm anything but an expert in the arts of the theater I can't decide whether such experiments as this at Columbia have, geographically speaking, a fair chance of success. But Miss Wheat has set me wondering. Wasn't Comus an Athenian god of drama? And were Comus and his followers worried by the population statistics of Athens? Or were they, like Gladys Wheat, content to build for big people?

CAREFULLY SELECT DAIRY HERD SIRES

Ninety-five per cent of the men who buy herd sires wait until they need one, then rush out to buy one ready for service. They don't know it, but they are following beaten paths. The successful breeder selects his herd sire when the general demand is lightest. As a result he gets a better bull at a lower price, says J. P. LaMaster, chief of the dairy division at Clemson

Some people have potatoes to sell in the seasons when potatoes are high in price. Some people have real estate to sell when the demand is greatest. But the ordinary man has potatoes to sell when prices are low, and is burdened with real estate because he can't sell it. The reason is that the ordinary man follows the beaten path. The other fellow finds out what people are doing generally and he does something else. He puts in more potatoes after a year when they don't sell, simply because he knows most of the others won't do that. He buys real estate just when almost everybody else wants to get rid of his; and he buys a herd sire during the season when demand is lowest.

This is practically all the difference between "just ordinary existing" and getting ahead. You can find out to which class you belong by asking yourself this set of questions:

When will I need a new herd sire? Let us suppose you will need a new one before next March.

When will I look up a herd sire? (If your answer is, "Oh, next fall when I'm not so busy," you belong to the "beaten-path gang." You will start out just when 95 per cent of the breeders start, you will buy one of the "left over" bulls and you will pay all the bull is worth.)

Now you have your choice between a great many good bulls. All these will be gone before fall to the successful 5 per cent. If you say, "I'm too busy now," you are following beaten paths. If you sit down this very day and line up your next herd sire, you can depend upon it, you will buy a better one than the luckiest member of the "beaten-path gang" will ever

Care and Attention Is Essential for Ringworm The following is reported as a good cure for calves with ringworm: Wash the parts with strong soap and water to remove as much as possible of the crusts or scabs and, when dry, rub the spots with some of the following oint- mot Sunday. ment: Flowers of sulphur, two ounces; oil of creosote, two drams; prepared lard, four ounces. This ointment Funk home Sunday afternoon. should be applied each morning and evening. Painting the affected parts walls of the shed in which these calves are housed should be painted with hot limewash, to which has been added a couple of ounces of crude carbolic acid. With a little care and attention one should soon get rid of the trouble.

Easiest Way to Dehorn

Is by Applying Caustic The easiest and most really painless way to dehorn is to use caustic potash on the young calves. This caustic, should be applied on the buttons where the horns come out by the time the calves are a week old. The hair should be cut around the buttons and the skin around the horns rubbed with vaseline to prevent the caustic from burning. The stick of caustic is wrapped with paper to prevent it from eating the fingers, one end of the stick is moistened in water and rubbed on the horns until they become white. The caustic should not be wet enough so it will run down on the calf's head or into its eyes. This further growth.

Clean Vessels and Warm

Milk of Big Importance

A good rule to go by is never to feed a calf out of a pail you would not drink out of yourself or feed her any milk you would not be willing to drink. Feed the milk as warm as fresh milk from a cow. Keep the pens dry after calf has had her milk. After the heifer is weaned then it is well to put some oil meal into the grain mixture. A good mixture much

Cause of Bad Flavors

Bad flavors in cream and dairy products are usually caused by carelessness in the care of the milk. If a little dirt falls in the milk it becomes contaminated with bacteria which gives it bad flavors and if the milk is allowed to stand around the barn awhile before taken to the house and cooled it will often take on a bad flavor. The feeding of some sort of succulent feed will often help to overcome this; roots, cabbage, and silage are good.

stance the creator of a now famous ly. book. So say the girls who try to escape from humdrum lives by escaping to the city, each from her particular gray corner of her especially hateful Main Street sort of town.

Down in Kentucky there are some folk who reverse this process. Humdrum gray lives there? Yes, indeed! Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Patch, Jr. Escape both wise and necessary if the Kentucky mountain folk are to grow into Americans with their fair chance at life, liberty and pursuit of happiness? Absolutely. Urge 'em all to move to Louisville, St. Louis or Chicago? By no means! Let's bring instead, the best that Any Place has discovered to these mountains and mountain people! So say the interested folks down there in Kentucky.

This story is of a gracious woman at what she calls her "life's sunset period, with wonderful feal lights out over the mountains to the east and the blue grass of the north. There are equally high colors in the lives of 225 mountain boys, who range from fifteen to thirty-five years of age, and Kinietz and Cyrus Lown were callers from the A B C to the eighth grade certificate. It is pioneer work. No woman has ever lived with these boys, and I live a very thrilling life at old

What every woman may know, Miss Gill feels, is that no Main Street is too isolated for the joie de vivre, as the French gallantly phrase the joy of living, to come in, that many of the good community organizations are eager to be of service, and that all they lack is a hearty invitation from some one who wants more of the beauty of life imported into her town and who will get her fellow citizens to help distribute it.

IMPORTANCE OF THE

PUREBRED BULL

Better breeding has resulted in the development of the modern dairy cow from the original cow which gave only enough milk to suckle her young. In order to maintain the purity of blood in the various recognized breeds that have been carefully developed for centuries the various breed associations were started. By selecting a purebred sire one is much more likely to improve the production of one's herd tahn by using a grade sire about whose ancestors little is known. The chief reason why one should use a purebred bull rather than a grade or scrub is that it pays. As production increases, the profits increase in inverse ration to the production. According to the United States Department of Agriculture, when the production is doubled the profits increase three times and when the production is trebled the profit increases six times. Thus we see that we should strive for heavy producing cows. Information prepared from the results of a dairy survey conducted on 577 farms by the University of Illinois, plainly shows that the longer one uses a scrub bull the less money one will make. On the other hand the longer a purebred bull is used the more money one will make.

Those farmers who used a scrub bull from one to five years had a labor income of only $198, less than a hired man's wage. When they used scrub bulls from 5 to 10 years they were actually $243 in the hole. They paid $243 per year for the privilege of her operation.

Now a study of the results of those Sunday. farmers who used purebred bulls shows that when purebred ited his parents, Rev. and Mrs. Tam- were used 1 to 5 years the farm labor income was $799, and when purebred Johnson preach should be there. This same survey also shed lady friends at a theater party at the some light on this subject. It was found that the net stock receipts per farm where purebred bulls were used was $370. Where grade bulls were used it was $86 and where scrub pulls were used it was $1.00.

The "Punch" When You Need It

Not just how many miles will it last, but also how will it perform while it's on the job? That's the thing to think about when you're buying a battery.

A battery on which you can rely—a battery which will have the "punch" when you need it—is a mighty good investment.

SUDAN GRASS MAKES VALUABLE COW FEED

That sudan grass makes an acceptable substitute for alfalfa when the latter cannot be had is shown by the results of a recent feeding test with dairy cows at the Fort Hayes branch of the Kansas experiment station. Two lots of four Holstein cows each were fed through three twenty-day periods with ten-day transition periods between each of the experimental periods. During the first twenty-day period one lot was fed alfalfa hay and the other sudan grass hay. The hays were reversed for the two lots during the second twenty-day period and again during the third period. In addition the cows received thirty pounds of kafir silage daily and a grain mixture in proportion to their production.

When the cows were fed alfalfa hay they produced 2.8 pounds or about 13 per cent more milk than when they were fed the sudan hay. The weights of the cows showed no significant changes as a result of the change in rations. The cows seemed to prefer alfalfa to sudan as there was less waste of the alfalfa hay. Their production, however, did not fall a great deal when sudan hay was substituted for alfalfa.

Sudan grass is used a great deal as a hay and pasture crop in Kansas and the southwest. It withstands a dry summer much better than most forage crops. It is a very useful emergency hay crop in the corn belt. Under Iowa conditions fifteen to twenty pounds of seed per acre are used and the crop is seeded in early June. Farmers who have no hay ground this year can make very good use of sudan grass. Yields are from one to two tons per

Flies in Summer Cause

Considerable Annoyance Flies cause considerable annoyance to dairy cows during the summer and not only does the irritation caused by these flies tend to lower milk production, but the restlessness of the animals is a frequent cause of inefficient milking. A good fly spray can be made from 41/2 quarts of coal tar dip, 4½ quarts fish oil, 3 quarts coal oil, 3 quarts whale oil and 11/2 quarts oil of tar. Dissolve 3 pounds laundry soap in water, add ingredients of the spray and bring the whole up to 30 gallons with lukewarm soft water. This spray is guaranteed to keep off the flies and prevent the coats of the animals from becoming harsh, according to agricultural extension department specialists at Iowa State college.

Spray twice a day, in the morning after milking and in the afternoon when in the barn for silage or green With a portable cart, made from a half barrel with wheels attached, and a spray pump and nozzle, two men can spray 40 cows in five minutes. Thirty gallons of this mixture will spray 40 cows twice a day for ten days at a cost of one cent a cow a day.

Watch Cream Separator

to Save All Butterfat Cream separators that have not been tested for some time may be cheating their owners out of considerable butterfat every time they are used, warns C. A. Iverson, of the dairy department at Iowa State college. This is an avoidable loss which can be prevented by testing the skim milk and then regulating the separator to skim more closely.

Farmers who have the apparatus for the Babcock test can test the skim milk at home. A double-necked test bottle should be used and 20 cubic centimeters of skim milk used instead of 17.5 cubic centimeters as in the case of whole milk. Farmers who cannot do their own testing can have it done by their local creamery or can send a four-ounce sample to the dairy section at Iowa State college. A charge of 10 cents for the testing is made by the college.

Lose to Saginaw.

Cass City high school was defeated in the first foot ball game of the season which was played with Arried on a courtship of long duration thur Hill high gridders at Saginaw Saturday.

The Hills were unable to score in the first quarter and put over only one touchdown in the second. But they counted twice in the third period and again early in the fourth; then, with a team of substitutes, they I get a dozen I'm goin' to ask ye the were scored on in the closing minutes of the game principally because of the inexperience of the reserves.

Considering that they had never scrimmaged before this season, Earl Brooks' Cass City team gave a splendid account of itself. Outweighed and outclassed in the matter of an offensive, the local boys gave a splendid exhibition of fight all the way. Unable to do anything on the offensive, they were waging a dis-China's newest department store in heartening struggle, for the best Hankow is to have a theater, a con-they could hope to do was to keep
