The story of a farm, the story of a city and eventually the story of a farm within a city. Even in its most sophisticated dealings with city life, Miss Ferber's story—the most successful American novel of 1924—is redolent of the soil, and alive with the beauty of green fields and the charm of fair landscapes.

The most vivid story of the Middle West during the last quarter of the Nineteenth and the first quarter of the Twentieth centuries that can be found in American literature.

Neckwear Tones Up Spring's Plain Frocks

Once again spring blithely presents us with plain and simple frocks and blouses for daytime wear, leaving it to resourceful women to make them interesting somehow. And the feminine world manages very well by means of neckwear, collar and cuff sets, and belt that ring changes on the theme of simple styles.

The picture above shows how plain and plain taffeta ribbon make colorful neckwear that will add chic to the most unpretentious of gowns. Narrow plain ribbon is set on to wider plaid with a little gold braid, and they are laid in fine plaits. The narrow ribbon is used for binding and for the ties.

Pretty Furbelows of Metallic Ribbons

There are a lot of pretty new furbelows made of ribbons with the glint of gold or silver in them. Hair ornaments, dress trimmings, corsage flowers, boutonnières and bags, place as much emphasis on shimmer as on color—they go together.

Narrow silver ribbon is a favored medium just now for hair ornaments, in bands or braided strands or folds. One of these is shown here, finished with a little ostrich fancy in orchid color. A dress trimming is made of shaded yellow ribbon with gold edge, forming a rosette set in yellow ostrich fues. The small boutonniere is of silver ribbon and silver foliage and the bags of wide, metallic brocades—shown in many colors and patterns.

"GIANT DESPAIR"

At one time or another most of us are taken prisoner by Giant Despair. Giant Despair I is described in Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" as the Lord of Doubting Castle. When he discovered Christian and Hopeful sleeping on his grounds he promptly clapped them both into his subdungeon. Only the unwary ever trespass on his territory.

Roman Chair of State

The curule chair was a chair of state, equivalent to a throne, in use among the early Romans. The chair was usually ornamented with ivory or gold, had curved legs, but no back, and could be folded as a camp stool is folded. It was used by curule magistrates, dictators, consuls, praetors and curule aediles on formal occasions. The right to sit in the presence of others was one of the precious privileges of certain officers.

Michigan Happenings

Mrs. Dolly Hill, an animal trainer, who was attacked at Bay City by a leopard she was training, is dead of her injuries. Her windpipe was pierced and her shoulders and chest were lacerated. Mrs. Hill was known in the circus world as Dolly's Tail-dead. Mrs. Hill bought the leopard a few months ago, planning to exhibit it in a circus next spring with two other leopards she owned. The new beast was untrained, and she had been spending several hours each day in an effort to subdue it, preparatory to exhibition.

Harry W. Hagaman, of Port Huron, district state highway engineer, has made the announcement that with Federal aid his department expected to build 23 miles of concrete pavement on M-21, running west from Port Huron to Flint. The stretch of trunk line between the two cities is at present largely gravel. About six miles of concrete extends from Flint to Davison. It is expected that the road will be made concrete as far east as Lapeer in 1925 and extended to Port Huron in 1926, if government aid is forthcoming.

One of the largest programs for extension of mains ever carried out in any one year is planned by the Battle Creek Gas company. This program will include four miles of large feeder mains to the north and south ends of the city. Battle Creek already leads the nation in gas main mileage as compared with total length of streets. There are 138 miles of streets in this city. The gas main mileage exceeds the water main mileage and is nearly double the sewer mileage.

Head of Caesar From the Hudson

This ancient and battered bit of sculpture, thought by the foremost art critics to be a head of Augustus Caesar, sculptured by some Roman artist in the first century A. D., was drawn from the bed of the Hudson river by a War department suction dredge and has just been placed on public view in New York city. It had been embedded ten feet deep in the hard clay. The head is of fine Carrara marble and weighs 30 pounds.

The DAIRY

DAIRY SIRE SPECIAL MEETS WITH SUCCESS

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
 Crowds estimated at over 65,000 witnessed the educational program and exhibits of the dairy sire special train which recently visited 31 towns in Nebraska.
 One of the novel attractions of the exhibit was a "mystery" cow. Visitors were given an opportunity to guess how much milk the displayed cow had given in one year. A milk scale was awarded to the winner of the guessing contest in each town.
 A comparison of the characteristics of a scrub and pure bred bull as explained by one of the demonstrators was another popular feature. Three exhibits showed the progeny of (1) a scrub bull and scrub cows, (2) a pure bred sire and scrub cows, and (3) a pure bred sire and pure bred cows.
 Among those who delivered short, instructive talks at the train were editors, business men, agricultural extension workers, a prominent banker, and the agricultural agent of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway Co., over whose lines the train was run.
 Dr. A. L. Faunce, of the bureau of animal industry, represented the department in co-operating with the sponsors of the train in their program at Franklin, Neb. In support of the nationwide "better sires—better stock" campaign he had charge of a booth where the public obtained bulletins, posters, and other educational matter.
 A special feature of the program at Franklin, Neb., was the speech of a local farmer. He told his plans for the building up of a herd of high-grade cows with the aid of the pure bred bull which he had received from those in charge of the train in exchange for a scrub bull.

Overfeeding Calves Is One Cause of Mortality

Calves from the modern, highly domesticated dairy cow get too much nourishment in the first two weeks of their lives. That, as much as any one factor, explains why mortality rates are higher for calves, comparatively, than for other classes of stock. Veterinarians at both the Ohio State university and the New York State College of Agriculture unite in making this statement. They continue:
 "We have sought by every means to increase the quality and quantity of milk in our dairy cows, but have given little thought to the production of healthy offspring."
 "Sickness and mortality are more frequent with calves than with lambs, goats and swine because of carelessness in feeding and breeding.
 "Improvement in the digestive ability of the calf has not kept pace with the increasing richness of the milk. As a result a calf, if allowed free access to the cow for the first two weeks, will often overeat."
 "The best way to control this is to reduce the amount of milk given to the calf at first. Increase the milk ration gradually as the calf grows older, and add a little alkali, such as sodium bicarbonate, to neutralize the fatty acids formed by the excess of fat in the milk."

Drinking Cups Found to Be Excellent for Cows

Drinking cups for cows pay for themselves in three to four months, according to sixteen members of the Pine county (Minnesota) testing association. Harold Roth, the tester for this association, has the figures to show that five cows which freshened about the same time made an increase in production amounting to $1.68 a cow per month after the cups were installed.
 During the cold weather of last January cows held up their production where cups were used. Others showed a decrease and never came back. Cold water taken into a cow's stomach demands energy and heat. Energy and heat come from feed. Furthermore, the cow that is obliged to go outdoors to drink, perhaps in a bitter wind, will not take as much water as her body requires to produce milk in large quantities.

To Prevent Ropy Milk

Ropy milk is due to bacteria gaining entrance to the milk. The bacteria which cause the trouble are usually found in stale water. Such water used in washing or rinsing the milk utensils may infect them and, through them, the milk. Cows may be made in such water and the udders and flanks may be coated with mud or otherwise carry the organisms. It is easily seen now that they can drop into the pail at milking time. The remedy is obvious. Rinse all pails and utensils with clean, fresh water.

Value of Sorghum Hay

According to analysis, ordinary sorghum cane hay should be worth about the same or slightly less than timothy hay for dairy cows. Actually, it is really a better roughage for dairy cows than timothy hay. At any rate, the cows seem to find it more palatable. Like timothy hay, sorghum fodder is somewhat lacking in protein and, on that account, it is necessary to feed just a little more in the way of bran and oil meal with it than with such roughages as clover or alfalfa.

THUMB NOTES.

The official board of the Bad Axe M. E. church has approved plans for a church house submitted by a Port Huron architect. The plans call for a building costing $31,000. Of this amount Mrs. Hanley has contributed $25,000.

Unanimous agreement to send a committee to Washington to protest against the establishment of a standard federal grade for beans shipped in interstate commerce, and to take up with the public utilities commission in Lansing provision for relief of bean elevators at Decker, Shover, Peck, Rosebush and Watertown, were the outstanding features of the annual mid-winter meeting of the Michigan Bean Jobbers' association, held at Saginaw Thursday. The discontinuance of trains on the Detroit, Bay City and Western railroad on Saturday is given as the reason for the elevators at Shover, Decker, Peck, Watertown and Rosebush being in distress. The association voted unanimously to give its support when the elevator owners appear before the public utilities commission in Lansing on February 4 to ask for relief.

Marriage licenses issued in Tuscola county during 1924 by former County Clerk Guy G. Hill totaled 203. Leap year may have had something to do with it for this number represents an increase over the previous year. In 1923 there were 199 issued. Divorces for 1924 showed a decline over those of 1923. In 1923 there were granted 30 divorces, while but 13 were separated during last year in circuit court. At the third annual meeting of the Sandusky National Farm Loan association held Jan. 13 the following officers were elected: Pres., Geo. Black; Sandusky; vice presidents, D. T. Knight, Marlette; Hugh Willer, Sandusky; William Meyers, Carsonville; Wm. Malloy, Palms. John D. Martin, county agent, was appointed secretary.

STANDARD SPELLING TESTS RANKED HIGH

Concluded from first page.
 Rural Economics will be offered for the first time next semester. The main interest of this week is centered around the final examinations which were held Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Kindergarten—Deibert Henry entertained the members of the Kindergarten and Mrs. Day at a party at his home Friday afternoon. A most delightful time was enjoyed by all. We are illustrating the Peter Rabbit story with pictures. We are talking about the Eskimo, and his habits, clothing, etc. Floyd Campbell entered our room Tuesday. Fifth Grade—Marguerite McKay, Bernita Taylor, and Harry Crandell are absent this week because of illness. We are still working on practical problems which we find when shopping for mother.

Argentine Santa Claus
 The American consul general to Argentina says that "they do not have a Santa Claus in this country as we see it in the United States, but on each 23d of January they dress up to a very limited extent what they call 'Los Reyes' (the Kings), wearing a Santa Claus beard and a red or gold coat, but the performance is very tame and lot at all general."
A Quick-Eyed Quality
 Men of cold passions have quick eyes.—Hawthorne.

Puns on Fussy
 The boys had been told to write an essay on cats and this is the effort of the class comedian: "There are lots of kinds of cats. Cats that are made to maul and tease and are called Maltese. Some cats are known by their queer purr—these are called Purrsian cats. Bad-tempered cats are known as Angorrie cats. Cats with deep feelings are feline cats."

Odd Form of Marriage
 Marriage is celebrated in a strange fashion in parts of India. The woman puts a pot of water in her prospective husband's house, and on his lifting it up the marriage is ratified.

The Ministry of Song

by O. Lawrence Hawthorne

Do not deny your little ones
 The blessed ministry of song,
 The days of childhood are so brief
 And after years are often long
 But music in the twilight brings
 Sweet memories of long ago,
 And in our hearts we live again
 Those happy times we used to know.

The songs my mother sang to me,
 The songs I sang in later years,
 So closely bind me to my youth
 I find it hard to check the tears
 When now I hear their soft refrain.
 How fine that sentiment that clings
 In wistful loyalty to home
 And memories that music brings!

By EDNA FERBER
 Upon her first view of a field of cabbages, Selina DeJong exclaimed, "How beautiful!"
 The remark was long a standing joke, one of the few jokes of the stolid Dutch vegetable gardeners among whom she had come to live.
 But it was an insight to the character and perception of this unusual woman, the chief figure in Edna Ferber's remarkable book.
 The greatest story from the pen of Edna Ferber, a writer who has been voted unanimously, "the female O. Henry."
