

STOP SIGNS PLACED ON LOCAL STREETS

AUTO CLUB HAS PUT IN PLACE 600 SIGNS IN NORTHEASTERN MICHIGAN.

Signs Help the Motorist to Steer a Straight Course to His Destination without Straying.

Back in the days when the old Saginaw trail from Detroit to the little village on the Saginaw river was the only road in Michigan, there wasn't much need for road signs. You couldn't get on the wrong road, because there wasn't any.

But today, with every county in Michigan and the state itself working overtime on the construction of the vast network of splendid highways which is coming into being, the motorist's life isn't altogether one of ease. Sometimes he knows where he is—and sometimes he doesn't.

It is to help the motorist to steer a straight course to his destination without straying far from his path that the Automobile Club of Northern Michigan is directing its attention toward the posting of signs of various sorts. Nor are they all for the purpose of guiding the motorist, for many of them are intended to guard his safety as well. Some warn him of dangerous crossings and other things of which he should beware.

Already this year the club has posted city limit signs on the principal roads leading out of Bay City and plans to extend them to other towns in the near future as well. Danger signs have been erected, stop signs, and other varieties. Besides Bay City the club has already been working in Cass City, Sebawaing and Caro and other towns are on the list for attention soon.

One thing that the club has in mind is the extension to other counties of the county road marking system which has been carried out with marked success in Saginaw county. In Saginaw county the club and the county road commission have co-operated in placing a direction sign at every intersection of two improved county roads in the county. The commission bought the signs and the club placed them.

Already the road commissions of Bay, Huron and Tuscola counties have been invited by the club to co-operate in working out similar systems for their respective counties and while no formal action has been taken, informal assurances have been given the club that the plan will be adopted in all three counties. Within a reasonably short time it is expected that the club's sign system will be extended so that it will cover the entire northeastern part of Michigan, as well as the Thumb district, this part of the state comprising the club's territory.

So far this year the club's sign truck, given to it a year ago by the automobile dealers of Saginaw, has covered 2,400 miles and has put in place more than 600 signs. The work is to continue all summer.

The work already done by the club and that which it plans to do has received the enthusiastic approval of the motorists of the territory in which it is operating, and they are showing this approval in the most forceful manner possible by their action in joining the club. During the month of June the club added 224 members to its rolls, raising its total membership to more than 2,400. The membership work is continuing and further marked increases in the membership are expected as the summer advances.

Nineteen stop signs have been placed on streets of Cass City that intersect with Main street within the past week by the automobile club. This was made possible by the membership secured in this community. An increased number of members would make possible an increased number of signs for local streets and highways. Roy Bricker is the club's local representative and he will be pleased to explain the club's work to anyone interested.

Announce Speakers for Farmers' Day

Announcement of speakers for Farmers' Day at Michigan State College on July 31, includes the names of Samuel R. McKelvin, twice governor of Nebraska, and Dr. Kenyon L. Butterfield, president of Michigan State College.

Governor McKelvin is today editor and publisher of "The Nebraska Farmer," a successful stockman, and a president of Standard Farm Papers, a group of state and local farm papers having a combined circulation of nearly 2,000,000 farm readers. At the age of thirty-seven, he was Nebraska's youngest governor.

Those who have heard the governor speak, refer to him as a speaker of power, sincerity and inspiration. He is expected to treat some vital phase of modern farming in his address. President Butterfield will make his first appearance before a summer Farmers' Day meeting. As president of his alma mater, he is building up an enviable institution. As president of the American Country Life association, he is one of the nation's outstanding leaders in rural and community building.

Chairman of the general program is Dean Robert S. Shaw, of agriculture. Mr. Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse Association of America will assist in putting on the novel horse pulling contest.

With combined features of choir singing, horse pulling contests, special machinery demonstrations, and detailed inspection of livestock and farm crops, the 1925 Farmers' Day is being planned as the big summer gathering of Michigan farmers and their families.

LOCAL SHOWERS WERE BENEFICIAL

MICH. CORN PROMISES TO BE GOOD CROP; LARGE ACREAGE OF BEANS.

Drought Over Lower Michigan on July 1 Was Severest in 30-year Period.

Michigan crop prospects have continued to decline during June, with the exception of grapes which maintained the June 1 condition figure. Every crop is below the ten-year average and all except corn were below the July 1 condition of last year, according to the monthly statement issued July 10 by L. Whitney Watkins, Commissioner of Agriculture and Verne H. Church, U. S. Agricultural Statistician. General rains in northern Michigan and local showers in other sections were beneficial, but they came too late to materially help grain, hay and pastures except in a few northern counties. The drought over much of Lower Michigan on July 1 was the severest in more than thirty years.

Corn—The acreage remains the same as that of last year, 1,686,000. While a slightly larger acreage was intended, adverse weather conditions and poor germination in late planted fields offset the increase. Early planted fields on good soils are showing good stands, excellent color, and a normal growth. The condition of 81 per cent is four per cent below normal and ten per cent better than one year ago. This outlook, if followed by average weather to the end of the season, would result in a production of 53,261,000 bushels, nearly ten millions more than the 1924 crop.

Wheat—Winter wheat lost ten points in condition during the month, the percentage being 65 equivalent to a production of 12,579,000 bushels as compared with 19,888,000 last year. Harvest began during the closing days of June, a little earlier than usual. The straw is short, many fields have quite thin stands and a considerable proportion of small heads. Indications point to the lowest yield per acre recorded since 1912. The condition of spring wheat is 80 per cent, or a forecasted production of 112,000 bushels against 126,000 in 1924. It is estimated that six per cent of all wheat produced in 1924 is still on farms.

Oats—The straw is extremely short and many fields will be difficult to harvest with the usual machinery. The outlook is for 59 per cent of a crop as compared with a condition of 78 per cent one month ago, 84 per cent one year ago, and 84 per cent the ten-year average. This indicates a crop of 38,997,000 bushels, more than 28 million less than last year, and the smallest production since 1921.

Barley—The straw is short and the condition of 60 per cent is 17 per cent lower than on June 1 and 26 per cent below the ten-year average. The forecasted production is 3,078,000 bushels as compared with 4,743,000 last year, although the present acreage is 12 per cent greater.

Rye—Rye is showing the best of any of the small grains although the straw is somewhat shorter than usual and the condition percentage of 72 is 17 per cent under the ten-year average.

Glad Tidings From Abroad

Over 100 at Dillman School Reunion

The first reunion of the former patrons, teachers and pupils of the Dillman school was held Tuesday afternoon and evening, and was a marked success. Before three o'clock, the people began to assemble and by eight o'clock the schoolhouse was crowded to capacity. The afternoon was spent in talking over old times and relating anecdotes of the old days and in the playing of games, including base ball and pitching of horseshoes.

The base ball game was the outstanding event of the afternoon. In this event gray-haired matrons and just ordinary men demonstrated to the gay maidens and boys of today that they had lost none of their former powers. The ball game was between the "Folks," captained by Jessie Allen-Dilman, and another team of which Jennie Martin-Hart was manager. The pitchers were hard hit, and the score bade fair to go down in history, as a record breaker for its size. Fortunately Al Knapp, a one time league player and husband of one of the former teachers, was prevailed upon to field for both sides, and at the end of five innings, the game ended with the modest score of 24 to 8, in favor of the "Folks." The features of the game were stealing home by Ella Dillman-Reid, and the successful use of a ball club of fish pole dimensions, by Hattie Dillman-Boyer.

A bountiful supper was served at seven to all present, which reflected much credit on the ladies and to which all did justice. After the supper was served, a program of singing and speaking by former teachers and pupils was much enjoyed by all. Willard Wells of Ellington was the chairman. He was amusing as usual. W. J. Nash of Saginaw was the first speaker. Mrs. Knapp, Miss Martha McArthur, Mrs. Robert Horner of Deford, all contributed to the joy of the occasion by their reminiscences. At the close of the exercises an organization was formed to make it an annual event. Nelson Perry, one of the former teachers, was also present. Those present from a distance were Mrs. Robert Griswold (formerly Miss Alice Predmore) of Falls City, Oregon, who gave a talk; Mrs. F. W. Topping of Black Diamond, Alberta, Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Nash and daughter, Maurine, of Bad Axe.

Willard Wells was elected president, Mrs. May Evans, secretary; Mrs. Jessie Dillman, treasurer. The meeting was closed with a word of prayer by Mrs. Knapp.

Third Annual County Farmers' Picnic

The third annual Tuscola County farmers picnic will be held at Caro fair grounds on Wednesday, July 22. This is a co-operative picnic sponsored by all farmers organizations of the county—Grange, Gleaners, Farmer's Clubs and Farm Bureau. The aim in holding the gathering is in order that the farmers of the county may become better acquainted, exchange ideas, and hear one or two educational addresses.

This year Prof. J. F. Cox of the Michigan State College and Hon. David Butler of Fostoria will be the speakers. Prof. Cox has recently spent four months in intensive study of small seed marketing. He will discuss "What We Sow." There is probably no one in the country better qualified to discuss this subject.

The county horse shoe pitching contest will begin at 10 a. m. This contest was won last year by Haske Brothers of Gilford township, although they were closely pressed by a number of other teams. This will be in charge of Jas. Arnold, one of the committeemen.

Grain Company Is Equipping New Office

Plans for a new office have been under way for some time at the local Cass City Grain Company plant. Work of excavating for the basement has been commenced. The old boiler house is to be completely remodeled into a strictly modern office, the present office building being converted into a warehouse. The cement block building furnishes an excellent foundation with which to work. The old heating plant has been taken out and a new steam heating plant of the upright boiler type will be installed.

The plan shows a splendidly equipped, modern elevator office. A conveniently arranged general office will occupy the south half of the building. Greatly increased service will be made possible by a 10-ton Fairbanks-Morse truck scale which replaces the 5-ton wagon scale now in use. It will be placed at the east side of the office. The north end of the building will be devoted to a private office. Large windows will be placed as needed. The I. W. Hall carpenter crew will have charge of the work.

The central location between the bean and the grain elevators will add considerably to the value of making the change, greatly increasing and improving the service rendered to patrons.

Club Workers View Live Stock in Tour

Nevel Pearson of Lansing, assistant state club leader, was in Cass City Wednesday to meet members of local boys' and girls' clubs and demonstrate how to fit cattle for exhibition at the fairs.

The members of the clubs raising calves, gilts and sows made a motor trip during the afternoon to view live stock included in the clubs' projects. The tour was scheduled to see the stock of Chas. Bigelow, Grant Ball, Florence Ware, J. C. Blades, Loyal Boulton, Norman and Clare Carpenter, Orville Karr, James Milligan, Harold McGrath, LomaReagh, Harry Reagh, Ernest Goodall and Irma Russell.

The day's program included a pot luck supper at the Lloyd Reagh home and a ball game between the "Red and Whites" and the "Black and Whites." The regular business meeting of the clubs was held in the evening.

TWO DIE AS RESULT OF AUTO ACCIDENT

MRS. DORA ASHCROFT AND MRS. DAVID FRANKLIN FATALLY INJURED.

Accident Occurred at Sucker Creek Bridge in Wells Early Sunday Evening.

Mrs. Dora Ashcroft, 71, of Wilmot and Mrs. David Franklin, 69, of Kingston township died early this week from injuries received in an automobile accident early Sunday evening at the Sucker creek bridge at Foster dam, in Wells township.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin, their 10-year-old granddaughter, and Mrs. Ashcroft were returning home from the Nazarene camp meeting near Caro when the accident occurred. The car started to sway from side to side as the party was ascending the approach to the creek bridge. Mr. Franklin was unable to control it and the car went through the fence into the creek where it overturned, pinning some of the occupants underneath the vehicle.

Mrs. Ashcroft died ten minutes after the accident. Mrs. Franklin's death came Monday evening at the Caro hospital.

Mr. Franklin suffered slight bruises as a result of the accident and his granddaughter escaped without injury.

The funeral of Mrs. Ashcroft was held at the Wilmot M. E. church on Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Willerton. Burial was in Novesta cemetery. Mrs. Ashcroft leaves her husband, three sons, one sister and two brothers.

The funeral of Mrs. Franklin was held Wednesday morning at the Wilmot Free Methodist church, Rev. Davis officiating. Interment was made in the Moshier cemetery. Mrs. Franklin is survived by her husband, three sons and one daughter.

Members of the Baptist Sunday school motored to Forester Friday (today) for the annual school picnic.

SEE THE HOME STATE FIRST

By Jason Kitchin.

We have often wished to see North Michigan, but never before were able to leave the cows and farmwork long enough for the trip. This year, however, we were fortunate in having the privilege.

Our chief objective was to attend the north camp meeting of the M. B. C. church which was held at Pellston. At 4:00 a. m., on July 1, we left home. Our load consisted of my wife's mother (Mrs. Emma Cook), Mrs. Bruce Ryder, my wife, our two children, myself and camping equipment. A real Ford load of at least half a ton. We ate breakfast at a schoolhouse west of Bay City, then went on through Midland to Clare, and next north to Houghton Lake where we ate dinner. Jack Frost had visited this region on Sunday night and many patches of corn and potatoes were frozen to the ground. I used the word patches purposely as that describes the appearance of the farms; just small clearings among the brush and sand hills. Houghton Lake is a beautiful resort with miles of shoreline dotted with the cottages of summer resorters.

During the afternoon we passed through Roscommon, Grayling, Gaylord and Wolverine. The scenery we enjoyed much but seems to me it would grow tiresome if prolonged. Not much of value growing now but only reminders of the forests of the past. High hills, valleys, sand, stumps, brush, trees, old lumber trails and more of the same. However good roads take the tourist quickly to most any part of the north and every lake has its cottages, boats, etc., and free tourist camps every few miles help to make the trip a pleasant one.

About a mile from Indian River, we reached Burt's Lake which is about as large as Houghton Lake, at least ten miles across. Here we left M 14 and followed around the lake to Alanson on M 13. This was the most beautiful part of the northward trip. Another eight miles and we were in Pellston and on the camp ground at just six o'clock. We had some supper, made our beds and were ready to sleep.

The week in the camp meeting we thoroughly enjoyed. Freedom from chores was a welcome change. Four good services each day and a chance to meet and make friends with our church people of the north. They are a whole hearted, friendly folk.

Two afternoons we spent off the camp grounds. One of them we drove up to Mackinac, visited the State Park and took the trip across to Mackinac Island on the ferry. No trip to the north would be complete without a visit to this historic spot of Michigan and the white walls of the old fort as they rise 133 feet above the water with its towers and block houses stand out against the blue of the water, the green of the well kept lawns and the darker green of the forests on the higher hills back of the fort in a way never to be forgotten.

Another afternoon was spent visiting Cross Village, an Indian town, on the shore of Lake Michigan, and in climbing the Blue Hill near Bliss from which one gets a splendid view of the lake and the surrounding country. Ripe huckleberries were picked on the sides and top of this hill.

Pellston, itself, is a town with one industry, its saw mills. Formerly they got all their lumber from around Pellston. Some is still cut there but it is getting scarce and most of it now comes from above the Straits where the company own enough timber to keep the mill running for perhaps fifteen years. The trip through the mill was very interesting to one who had never visited a real mill. They cut from eight to twelve car-

KEEPING WELL

HAY FEVER AND ASTHMA FROM PLANTAIN
DR. FREDERICK H. GREEN
Editor of "HEALTH"

IT'S a queer fact that, when man once begins to look for knowledge, he generally finds more than he expects. Evidence has been accumulating for years past to show that both hay fever and asthma are due to irritation to the nose, throat and lungs from breathing air that is strongly charged with the pollen or seeds of a number of wild plants. Ragweed, thistle, golden rod, the grasses such as blue grass, timothy and many other plants have all been tried and found guilty of producing these two plagues to man.

Now comes another offender, hitherto unsuspected. Dr. H. S. Bernton of Washington finds that one of the most common plants of the District of Columbia, plantain or rib grass, as it is commonly called, is the cause of early hay fever and asthma, and that some persons are unusually susceptible to it.

Plantain or rib grass is found all over the United States. Like the English sparrow, it prefers towns to country. It is found along streets and roadsides, on vacant lots and on dump heaps. It ripens and gives off pollen freely from about May tenth to August first. The pollen grains are very small and easily carried by the wind. The greatest production of seeds takes place during the night, especially on quiet nights. When the breeze begins to blow in the morning, the pollen is carried by the wind. If it rains early in the morning, the pollen is dampened and carried to the ground, so purifying the air.

This explains the curious fact, often noted, that hay fever and asthma sufferers always feel better after a rain and a change in the direction of the wind.

Hay fever and asthma are the results of irritation of the lining membranes of the nose in one case, and of the bronchial tubes in the other. This irritation is caused by something in the air which the patient breathes. It may be the pollen from any of a dozen or more plants, as in one form of the disease. It may be due to the dust given off by animals, as in cases due to horse dander in which the patient cannot come near horses without being affected. Or it may be caused by some chemical irritant, as formalin, bromine, or chlorine gas.

Generally speaking, a hay fever or asthma patient is only sensitive to one form of irritation. If horse dander causes an attack, chlorine gas will not affect him. If ragweed pollen makes him sneeze and wheeze, other plants will not bother him.

So if you have hay fever or asthma, find out what particular kind of irritation causes it, and then stay away from it.

United States Dinosaurs

Great animals as well as great men sometimes "leave behind them foot-prints on the sands of time." Experts of Uncle Sam's Department of the Interior have discovered that tracks found in the rock on the Navajo Indian reservation in Arizona are the foot-prints of dinosaurs made about 10,000,000 years ago. The prints are 18 inches long.

Michigan Happenings

Pouring of concrete has started on Michigan's single building of the present year, the structure to house the Thomas H. Simpson memorial institute. Plans call for the completion of the building in 1926. The structure, which will house the first distinctly research unit connected with the medical school of the University of Michigan, will be 71 by 40 feet, four stories and a sub-basement. The original plans called for a brick structure but final plans call for an Indiana lime stone building, similar to the administration unit of the new hospital.

The Port Huron city commission has a problem in public utility service, which appears difficult to settle, in connection with the request of the Detroit Edison company, owners of the Port Huron gas works, for permission to reduce the standard of gas from 600 B.T.U. to 530. The city charter gives the commission the right to grant an increase in rates but the right to change the standard, which in this case will be a practical increase in price, will likely be referred to the public utilities commission or to a general city election.

Pennies and nickels saved through the schools savings system by pupils of Manistee public schools during the past four years now total $3,975, according to an announcement at the close of the school year. Though eighth graders, upon graduation, separate their accounts from the school system, the total amount of savings is growing annually and is becoming a real course in thrift for the city's children. The greatest individual account totals $137.05, but most of them are much smaller as there are almost 300 individual accounts.

About $70,000 damage was done to the Detroit Edison power plant at Superior, a few miles from Ypsilanti, when lightning struck the building. Light service in Ypsilanti, Ann Arbor and neighboring towns was cut off for two hours until an emergency crew of 50 men were able to establish temporary cutovers. Although the building was partially demolished, no one was hurt, as the two men in charge of the plant at the time, had just started outside to watch the storm.

One hundred students short of the enrollment of the summer session of a year ago has been reported by President Charles McKenney, of the Michigan State Normal College. The falling off is due, the president states, to the fact that only 200 students are enrolled in the six weeks course, which is the minimum required by state law of teachers in rural schools. This is the last year that the six weeks minimum is permitted.

Because he mistook Kalamazoo for Detroit, Joseph Jakerboske, of Hamtramck, spent several hours in the Kalamazoo County jail. He was arrested by an officer wandering about the streets looking for a "Michigan car." He told Sheriff Borden that he had fallen asleep on a train from Chicago and awakening here believed he was in Detroit. He was put on an eastbound train and sent to his destination.

Charles J. DeLand, secretary of state, has ordered the sale of automobile licenses from the office of Arnold T. Graves, missing Manistee County treasurer, discontinued indefinitely. In the meantime, state officials and county officers are making a check of the books in Graves' office to determine whether or not there is a shortage.

Port Huron faces a suspension of street car service as the result of an ultimatum delivered by the receivers of the Detroit United Railway, which owns and operates the city electric railway company. The ultimatum states that unless the company is permitted to increase its fares from five to seven cents a ride it will suspend.

A 30-foot power dam will be constructed on the Muskegon River, about one mile north of Paris, it is announced by W. H. Allswede, of Hersey. The new dam will supply farmers and towns in that territory with power. A corporation will be formed with a capital of $1,000,000, according to present plans.

Another state police post for the upper peninsula is to be established in Iron Mountain, according to a plan under consideration by the state department of public safety. Captain Downing said this county would serve as a central point for policing four other counties.

"Krip," a bull dog, gave his life in protecting Miss Mable Hill, its owner, at the Hill summer camp near Grand Haven. A big rattlesnake entered the camp and while Charles Hill, a brother of Mable, ran for a club, the dog gave battle and killed the snake. The dog was bitten, however, and died a few hours later.

Damage estimated by the owner at between $150,000 and $175,000, was caused by fire in a furniture store at Bay City.

A new trial is in prospect for Mrs. Alice Dudgeon, once convicted of the murder of her son-in-law, Romie Hodell, and once the victim of a jury disagreement in a second trial. William J. Branstrom, former Newaygo county prosecutor, who prosecuted both cases against Mrs. Dudgeon, said that he could not consent to an order of nolle prosequi, dismissing the charges against Mrs. Dudgeon, in the light of her first conviction and the fact that the jury in the second trial stood eight to four for conviction again.

Whitehall and Montague merchants have tons of food on their hands and are wondering what to do with it. At the same time the White Lake Chamber of Commerce and Mississippi Valley Power Boat Association Regatta are figuring their losses. From the attendance standpoint the regatta was a failure. The big grandstand was practically empty during the three days of racing, while merchants who stocked up with supplies of food were asking people to eat more to aid in relieving the surplus.

Both state and federal supreme court decisions will be sought on the validity of the Michigan statute of 1923 prohibiting an owner from fishing on posted property where other persons are barred, according to John Baird, director of the state conservation. Baird's department obtained a warrant for the arrest of Frank Collins, Toledo sportsman, who fished on his land in Lake county after he had posted it to keep other persons from enjoying similar privileges.

Within two or three years a large fleet of trans-Atlantic freighters may be plying between Detroit and foreign ports. The maiden ship arrived in Detroit bringing a cargo of steel rails from Antwerp. Grand river, especially that stretch of it which crosses the entire width of Ionia county, is just now about as near a dusty stream as it ever was with the rainfall for the year showing a shortage of seven inches. Many of the feeding creeks and rivulets have dried up entirely, wells and cisterns have gone dry and the year has proven one of disastrous aridness.

Washington Inside Out

Concluded from first page. Norris of Nebraska to take up the reins of leadership of the Third Party have failed. Norris has advised his friends here that he does not want to be identified with any party and wants to pursue an independent course in the Senate and in national politics. Norris is a close friend, however, of Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., son of the late Wisconsin Senator, and is expected to take an active part in the young man's campaign for the Senate to succeed his father.

Col. Clarence Sherill, who is in charge of public grounds in the capital, is said to be in for an official reprimand for trying to pass the ball to President Coolidge on the Ku Klux Klan demonstration to be held here in August. The Klan had been given authority by Sherill to gather in the park back of the White House. Against this action, Sherill wrote to the President asking him what he thought of it, and made the letter public here before it reached Mr. Coolidge in Massachusetts. Officially, the letter was lost in the mail. At least, there have been no indications that the President ever got it. He succeeded during the last campaign in sidestepping the Ku Klux Klan issue and doesn't want to get mixed up in it now, according to friends here.

The Debt Funding Commission is facing a program which will keep it busy with the representatives of foreign nations during most of the summer and almost until Congress meets in December. The Administration hopes to make some collections on the war debts this fall so that the money can be applied on promised tax reduction in addition to the cuts already promised.

LOCAL SHOWERS

WERE BENEFICIAL

Concluded from first page. The crop is estimated at 4,014,000 bushels which is approximately only two-thirds as much as harvested in 1924.

Potatoes—According to correspondents' reports, the acreage planted is ten per cent less than last year. Most of the early planted fields have good stands but dry weather has affected the germination of the later plantings and the fields are uneven. The preliminary estimate is 263,000 acres, and present condition figure of 83 per cent is equivalent to a crop of 22,920,000 bushels, the smallest production since 1916. Last year's crop was 38,252,000 bushels.

Beans—An increase of 12 per cent over last year in the acreage planted is indicated by the reports from correspondents. A greater increase would undoubtedly have resulted if drought had not prevented some planting and germination of some that were planted. The early fields have good stands but the later planted ones are more or less uneven. High winds did some local damage in certain sections. The condition of 82 per cent is five per cent below the average and is equivalent to a production of 6,296,000 bushels from the 624,000 acres devoted to the crop.

Hay—The condition of tame hay dropped from 71 per cent on June 1, to 45 per cent at the end of the month. On this basis, the production indicated is 2,328,000 tons as compared with 5,010,000 last year. Many old meadows were a failure and some of last year's seedings were but little better. Alfalfa is demonstrating its high value to Michigan farmers through its greater ability to withstand drought. Its condition is 73 per cent against 41 per cent for clover and timothy.

Sugar Beets—Some stands are good and others poor. Considerable replanting was necessary but thinning operations are well advanced. Many fields are withstanding the drought very well. The condition is 75 per cent as compared with 84 one year ago and 88 the ten-year average.

Apples show fairly good prospects in many northern orchards but conditions elsewhere are quite spotted. Baldwins are generally light but Spices are promising in most sections. The prospective crop is 49 per cent of a full one, or 7,433,000 bushels. The commercial portion is estimated at 1,288,000 barrels, or slightly more than last year's. Early apples are light in southwestern counties and in other local areas due to freezing weather around the blooming period. The quality of the crop is exceptionally good.

The peach crop is estimated at 640,000 bushels as compared with 464,000 last year. Conditions are very spotted, the crop being confined mainly to orchards on favored locations.

Pears have dropped heavily during June, and now show only 32 per cent of a crop, or 463,000 bushels as compared with 810,000 last year.

The grape crop continues to show a prospect of 35 per cent of normal. While the condition has declined in some localities it has improved in others. The outlook is for a production of 28,184 tons, the low indicated yield being the result of severe freezes in May.

Religion

I've seen pretty clear ever since I was a young un, as religion's something else besides doctrines and notions. I look at it as if the doctrines was like finding names for your feelings, so as you can talk 'em when you've never known 'em, just as a man may talk 'o' tools when he knows their names, though he's never so much as seen 'em, still less handled 'em.—George Elliot.

No Life in Dead Sea

The Dead sea has been navigated. Strabo and Diodorus tell of floats from which men fished for bitumen. There have also been several scientific expeditions on the sea for purposes of investigation. The sea contains no life of any kind with exception of a few microbes. This is due to its extreme salinity.

DAIRY FACTS

SURFACE COOLER IS BEST FOR COOLING

Prompt cooling to 50 degrees Fahrenheit is absolutely essential for producing milk of low bacteria count, warns F. C. Burton, professor of dairying at the New Jersey College of Agriculture in New Brunswick.

The quickest and therefore best way of cooling milk is to run it over a surface cooler. On such a cooler the milk passes over the outside surface in a thin layer. Cold water is circulated through the inside and thus chills the milk. By this means the temperature of the milk can be brought within two or three degrees of the temperature of the water. Ice water will be needed in hot weather to bring milk to 50 degrees Fahrenheit.

Morning's milk should be cooled to at least 50 degrees Fahrenheit. Night's milk may, however, be cooled within two or three degrees of the temperature of spring or well water, since it is afterward placed in the cooling tank where further chilling can take place. The water in this vat should not be above 45 degrees.

After milk has been cooled by a surface cooler it can be held at 50 degrees Fahrenheit by placing in the vat two to two and a half pounds of ice for every gallon of milk. If the milk is not pre-cooled before being placed in the vat, four pounds or more of ice are needed to cool each gallon of milk. This pre-cooling will cut in half the amount of ice required in the tank. The use of small-top milk pails and clean, sterilized utensils, and the milking of clean, healthy cows help to keep bacteria out of milk. Some always get in, however, and unless the milk is cooled quickly they multiply rapidly. In warm milk bacteria double their number every half-hour. At 50 degrees they reproduce very slowly.

Cows Swallow All Sorts of Dangerous Objects

Cows swallow all sorts of strange things, including clothes of the fence, rags, bones, leather, crockery, bits of metal, pebbles, bark, wood and, unfortunately, sharp objects, such as nails, wires, pins, needles, tacks, hairpins and staples. A swallowed sharp object is extremely dangerous. It lodges in the second stomach, is churned about there, at length may work through the stomach wall, pierce the diaphragm and then the sac to the heart. If that happens incurable and often fatal inflammation of the sac results, causing a disease of the heart called traumatic pericarditis.

Wires that fasten labels to feed sacks are a real menace. Shingle nails have caused many losses. The practical farmer makes it a habit to dispose of every sharp object he sees where it can do no harm. Punctures of the hoof often end in fatal lock-jaw, horses being the commonest sufferers. People may contract the disease in the same way. A dairyman of my acquaintance used a wire brush to scrub the cow mangers. Wires fell out and got into the feed. Seven fine cows died.—Dr. A. S. Alexander, Wisconsin.

Various Roots Are Good Feed for the Dairy Cow

Roots of all kinds are good feed for dairy cows. Beets are especially valuable, for they not only supply nutrients in a good form, but they do not in any way affect the quality of milk. Rutabagas and turnips do affect the quality of milk, and especially if fed just before milking. If they are fed after milking, it is difficult to discern any flavor in the milk, but butter made from it will, upon standing a few weeks or months, develop an objectionable flavor. This has led some creameries producing high-quality butter to request their patrons not to feed turnips or rutabagas.

Dairy Notes

Cows do not enjoy moldy silage, and it makes horses sick.

Feeding minerals to dairy cows is relatively new, and we have not learned about it yet.

Clean the barn lots and dairy premises and haul off litter in order to destroy breeding places for flies.

The choice of a herd sire may make or break a man in the dairy business, say dairy specialists of the Pennsylvania State college. The future herd is dependent upon influences in operation now.

Remove the cows from pastures infested with wild onions and bitter weeds three hours before milking, to prevent bad odors and flavors to milk and cream.

Seed or sod the pastures with Bermuda, lespedeza or other desirable grasses. Native pasture grasses cannot be depended on.

The good cow shows femininity in conduct, in disposition and in expression.

The National Gleaner Forum, in its July issue, has a large half-tone picture of Dr. M. M. Wickware, supreme medical examiner of the Gleaner order, on its first cover page. Joining the picture is Edgar A. Guest's poem, "The Family Doctor." We can't see that our old friend the doctor has changed any since his appointment to this important position with the Gleaners. He still looks "natural-like" and friendly same as he did years ago when he administered powders and pills for our "rheumatiz" and other aches and pains. May he live long and happily without being obliged to take any of his own medicine is our worst wish for him.

VASSAR LOSES PROMINENT CITIZEN

George D. Clark, cashier and founder of the Vassar National Bank, died Monday at the Woman's Hospital in Saginaw, where he had been taken for treatment of anemia.

He had been a resident of Vassar for about 32 years and at various times had been village president, township treasurer and school board trustee. He was an extensive agriculturist and owned one of the finest herds of Holstein cattle in Michigan. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Metta Gage Clark, and one child, Gage Clark.

DEATH OF MRS. MARSH

Mrs. Leonard Marsh passed away at her home in Cass City on Wednesday, July 8, at the age of 85 years. Mrs. Marsh had been in failing health for about five years, and was seriously ill for five weeks previous to her death. Funeral services were held at the home Friday afternoon, Rev. A. G. Newberry officiating.

Eliza Hilliker was born in Ontario, June 11, 1840. About fifty years ago, she moved to Michigan, and for the past 15 years, she has been a resident of Cass City. Mr. Marsh preceded her in death several years ago. Mrs. Marsh is survived by one daughter, Mrs. R. E. Sage of Pople, and by two sons, Burt Gowen of Cass City, and Samuel Gowen of Detroit.

Convention of Religious Educators

A state-wide three-days convention on the "State of the Commonwealth," in so far as it involves moral and religious education, is now announced for Detroit, November 4, 5 and 6, under the auspices of the Michigan Sunday School Council of Religious Education. The dominate note running thruout the whole three days program will be "Week Day Religious Instruction," and pains are being taken to bring to the platform an ample number of men and women who from the various angles of experience will present for discussion their own points of view. The entire field of the Sunday school including its extension features will be covered by special group meetings.

Plans are being laid, according to Executive Secretary J. H. Engle, to make a strong appeal to the public school leaders of the state and to the most influential ministers. It is hoped that out of all the discussion there will be a precipitation that shall crystallize as a sort of norm for the procedure. "Week Day Religious Instruction," says Mr. Engle, "is the most vital subject of the hour, requiring the most careful consideration in order to avoid foolish excess or unwise procedure." The continent is being searched for pioneers in this new field in order that this unusual event may be made worth while to the two thousand or more persons expected to register.

For Patronage of Local Stores

Believing that national prosperity depends upon local prosperity and that every town's progress rests on the development of its civic and commercial interests, the Local Loyalty League of America, with headquarters at Chicago, has inaugurated a movement to stimulate a hearty trade-at-home community spirit throughout the country.

Twenty nationally known manufacturers, constituting some of the largest newspaper advertisers, have pledged their co-operation.

Material for the program includes newspaper editorials and newspaper advertising, a motion picture production entitled, "My Home Town," featuring a popular juvenile movie star, essay contests, billboard posters and radio-casting.

"A community is only as good as its citizens make it, and business is the cornerstone on which the community structure stands," said a statement. "Business depression, brought about by buying from mail order catalogues and peddlers and frequent shopping visits to big city stores, by the people of any town, make 'dead towns.' We desire to combat that and develop a trade-at-home spirit."

The DAIRY

PROPER FEEDING OF BULL IS IMPORTANT

Proper feeding of the herd bull is just as important as the proper feeding of the milk cows. Too often the spoiled or musty hay is put to one side to be fed to the bull. Again we find dairymen giving the waste feed, left by other animals, to the herd sire. All of which is a very poor practice, writes R. D. Cannan in the Indiana Farmer's Guide.

The herd bull old enough for service should be fed enough to keep him in a vigorous, healthy condition, free from any excess fat. Most breeders feed their regular grain mixture to the bull at the rate of four to ten pounds daily depending upon the size and condition of the animal and the variety of roughage. A good grain mixture to use consists of three parts ground corn, three parts ground oats, three parts wheat bran, and one part linseed oil meal. Ground oats are especially good for bulls. Cottonseed meal is generally looked upon with disfavour, since it may cause impotency.

Legume hay, whenever available, should be fed at the rate of ten to twenty pounds a day. Legumes are high in protein and mineral matter, and will keep the heavily used bull in excellent condition. When nonlegume roughages, such as timothy hay, foder or straw are fed, it is necessary to feed more linseed oil meal than with the legume roughages. Breeders differ as to the breeding powers of the bull when silage is fed. Silage fed in large amounts will have a tendency to distend the paunch, which is very undesirable. However, ten to fifteen pounds of silage daily may be safely fed along with other roughages.

It is essential that the herd bull receive plenty of water, and where it has been found necessary to keep the bull in a stall or pen, he should be watered at least twice a day. The value and importance of using good bulls is essential to the economical development of the dairy industry. The present use of good bulls is entirely too limited, and when a good bull is once in service his usefulness may be prolonged for an indefinite period through proper feeding and plenty of exercise.

It is essential that the herd bull receive plenty of water, and where it has been found necessary to keep the bull in a stall or pen, he should be watered at least twice a day.

Rural Life Conference at M. S. C. on July 20

With the purpose of laying a foundation for active work in the rural communities of Michigan, authorities on rural and community life will meet at Michigan State College from July 20 to 31.

Staff of speakers at the conference include Dr. Warren H. Wilson, New York, director of town and country work, Presbyterian church, Dr. Malcolm Dana, director of rural work, Congregational church, also from New York; Dr. C. J. Galpin, former professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin, Prof. R. E. Hieronymus, University of Illinois, and director of one of the first attempts at systematic community building in the United States; Rev. K. C. MacArthur, Cambridge, Mass.; Prof. M. A. Dawber, Philadelphia; Pres. K. L. Butterfield, of M. S. C., and a host of prominent state denomination leaders.

Among the subjects to be discussed are "A Country Life Clinic," "A Christian Program for the Rural Community," "The Art of Community Building," "Scientific Approach to Religion," "The Country Church and a New Day."

Each lecture is to be followed by discussion. The meeting is planned to treat the question of community life, first generally, and then with reference to concrete methods of putting into effect the best practices.

Besides the national ministers and social workers, members of the Michigan State College faculty will participate, according to Dean E. H. Ryder, professor of history. The meeting is open to all ministers, teachers, farm leaders, extension workers, and to others interested in rural life.

For the Rifleman The bullet from an ordinary .22-caliber rifle will carry three-quarters of a mile. Don't forget that when you miss your target. And remember also that water and rocks will often deflect the bullet and you are likely to meet it coming back.

SEE THE HOME STATE FIRST

Concluded from first page. Loads of logs per day. The smaller number of course in hardwood. Most everything is done by machinery and every move is made to count. They make use of most everything. The slabs are cut into proper lengths and carried by an endless belt across the road to the handle factory where thousands of broom handles, hoe handles, chair legs, etc., are turned out daily.

On our homeward trip, we took the shore drive on M 11 from Petoskey around Little Traverse Bay to Charlevoix on Lake Michigan. Here we had breakfast, having left Pellston at 4:45 a. m. Then along the shore of Grand Traverse Bay to Traverse City. This is a splendid drive with the water in sight nearly all the time and for miles you look out over the east arm of the bay and see the peninsula with its woods and hills. Hills! yes sir, I didn't suppose Michigan had so many. If the rest of the state averaged up with what we passed through it's mostly hills. There were lots of cherry orchards and berries along here and the country had a more prosperous appearance.

At Traverse City, we saw the asylum buildings. Their high, grey, stone walls rising above the hills on which they are built were anything but attractive.

Leaving Traverse City, we came south through Buckley to Manton where we ate dinner. Then through Cadillac whose welcome sign reads, "Cadillac, Busy, Beautiful, Cordially Invites You." Here they have nice wide streets like our own in Cass City and they use the center parking system. Just south of the city the road follows close to the shore of Lake Mitchell and near the end of the lake crosses it on a long wooden bridge.

Then on down through Reed City and Paris where we stopped to visit the State Fish Hatchery and the fine grounds around it. Next through the famous town of Big Rapids and across the Muskegon River whose waters are being used to generate electric power for the Consumers Power Co. The next town of importance was Greenville. From here on most of the trip was through good farming country. However, we did not see one real good crop of hay on the trip. Saw the most and best alfalfa around Cass City.

Thursday night we spent in Belding with an old friend, Elmer Harrington. Friday morning, he took us through the silk mills which was very interesting to us.

Then through Ionia, St. Johns and Owosso to Flint. There were lots of wheat fields here and most of them being cut. At one place we counted 13 old strawstacks, one silo and four or five head of cattle. Too much grain farming!

At Flint, we spent a few hours with Eld. J. A. Avery, a former pastor here. On to Lapeer where we drove down through the Home of the Feeble Minded. They didn't keep us there, however, so we came on to Imlay City and took M 53 home.

On the trip we traveled 751 miles by the speedometer, at a cost of $11.00 for gas and oil. R. R. fares for our load would have cost us over $100.00 for the same mileage. We traveled through 23 counties and on 13 different trunk lines. The only trunk road we found unfinished was our own M 53. Other than that we had gravel or pavement all the way. Of towns and cities we passed through 89, none of which looks better to us than Cass City and no farm looked so good as home. Why? Because our friends are here and all the memories of youth are of this place.

But if you have time and money with which to roam, see Michigan first. It has many beauty spots as people of other states are finding out. We counted licenses on cars from 15 different states beside Michigan.

Washington Inside Out

A Weekly Panorama of Events in the National Capital. (By Peter Keegan.)

The Coolidges will hardly know the old homestead when they get back to Washington from Swampscott. The White House is being given a complete overhauling inside to carry out plans to refurbish it in early American style instead of the French colonial style which was adopted during the Roosevelt Administration at a cost of half a million dollars. Only $50,000 has been appropriated thus far to make the changes, but this amount will be added to later. The American Institute of Architecture opposed the change, but backed down when it was learned that the President thought that the overhauling would improve the appearance of the Mansion.

Prohibition Commissioner Haynes plans to stick on the job for another year at least, although he has been divested of nearly all his previous authority in enforcing the Volstead Act. The crowning blow was the Treasury order abolishing the propaganda bureau which Haynes organized during the Harding Administration and which spent hundreds of thousands of dollars in attempting to create sentiment in favor of prohibition enforcement. This was one of the items which always drew an attack from wets in Congress, especially when it was revealed one time that the expense account of one of the Haynes dry crusaders included $10 for a pair of white flannel trousers, purchased while "selling prohibition" in south Florida.

Two hearings will get under way at the Capitol this month, both of them in the Senate. The Senate Privileges and Elections Committee will begin the re-count of the ballots in the last Senatorial election in Iowa to find out whether the winner was Senator Smith Brookhart, the independent Republican incumbent, or Dan Steck, his Democratic opponent. Steck received considerable support from regular Republicans in Iowa and for this reason the Republicans in the Senate would be pleased to see him win out rather than Brookhart, who has been read out of the Republican party for supporting LaFollette in the last campaign. The other hearing involves postal rates.

Metal Track's Advantage

It has been shown that a horse can draw one and two-thirds times as much of a load on a metal track as on a good asphalt surface, five times as much as on cobblestone paving and about twenty times the load it can pull on an ordinary mud road.

Milk Flow Falls Off in Fly Weather in Summer

Flies on the cows on hot days often cause an actual decrease in milk production. A good fly spray, correctly applied, will not only quiet the cows and help the milk run freely, but will also save the temper of the milker.

A good spray for this purpose can easily be made at home, according to the cow men of the New York State College of Agriculture at Ithaca. The ingredients are 4 1/2 quarts coal tar dip; 4 1/2 quarts fish oil; 3 quarts coal oil; 3 quarts whale oil; 1 1/2 quarts oil of tar.

Dissolve three pounds of laundry soap in water, add the ingredients of the spray, and bring up to 30 gallons with lukewarm soft water.

This spray, applied twice a day—in the morning after milking and in the afternoon while the cows are in the barn for silage or other green feed—will keep the flies away and keep the hair coats of the cows soft.

Thirty gallons of this mixture will spray forty cows twice a day for six days, at a cost of one cent a cow a day. Two men with a portable half-barrel cart carrying a spray pump and nozzle can spray forty cows in five minutes.

Danger in Cross-Breeding

Cross-breeding in reality is a two-edged sword. One cannot mate a Holstein cow with a Guernsey bull and expect the female progeny to take on a type or evidence a function or produce milk with the quality of the Guernsey and the quantity of the Holstein. Actually, straight crossed animals of this mating are quite as apt to inherit the quality of the Holstein and the quantity of the Guernsey. It is difficult, indeed, to establish a type under such circumstances.

Feeding Cows Minerals

A dairy cow giving a large flow of milk will need some added minerals if she is to be properly nourished. Especially is this true if she does not get legume hay, wheat bran, wheat middlings, cottonseed meal or linseed meal in her ration. Milk contains a large amount of lime and phosphorus which makes it necessary for the cow to get a liberal supply in her ration if she is to continue to produce milk very long.

Treat Warts on Teats

Bathe warts on cows' teats several times daily with warm water containing a tablespoonful of washing soda per pint, or immerse the teats in the solution for five minutes or more, night and morning. After the evening immersion cover the affected parts with a thick paste of cold-pressed castor oil, salt, and flowers of sulphur. Warts that have slim necks may be snipped off with blunt scissors, a few at a time, and tincture of iodine applied.

House Your Machinery

Farmers lose large sums of money each year because farm machinery is not properly cared for. Rust and rot cause rapid deterioration of implements. They shorten their period of service and thus reduce your profits. These losses can be decreased by housing your machinery when not in use in a modern machine shed. Your increased profits, due to the longer life and greater efficiency of your tools, will soon pay the cost of constructing such a shelter. Besides protecting your implements, the building can also provide you with room for a machine shop or tractor garage in which you can do necessary repair work on rainy days. The space upstairs can be used for storage purposes. Drop in today and let us show you how inexpensive such a profit-making improvement on your farm really is.

Happenings of a Quarter Century Ago

Taken from the Tri-County Chronicle, July 20, 1900. The fourteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cooper was accidentally shot by her brother Friday. The gun, with which the boy intended to shoot a cat, was accidentally discharged while being loaded. Death was instantaneous. The Caro House will be opened to the public next Monday. Landlord Montague has had the entire building completely renovated, many improvements having been made.

The village of Shabbona was named after an Indian chief by Postmaster Jones. The first store was opened in 1853. Later, a postoffice, another store, a blacksmith shop, a saw mill, and a grist mill were built. There now are also a Macabee hall and an M. E. church in the town. Mrs. (Dr.) Morris and Keith Morris left Thursday for Petoskey where they will spend the summer. Elkland and Vigilant Arborers, A. O. O. G., will have a picnic in Bingham's grove on Wednesday. A program has been arranged. D. H. Graman received slight injuries Tuesday when a piece of falling timber struck him, throwing him from the roof of the rink where he was working. Dr. A. N. Treadgold of Kilmanagh has bought in Cass City and intends to locate here.

Use Red Crown for Power

Red Crown Gasoline demonstrates its worth preeminently when only a steady, tugging pull will bring your car through—when a lapse of power, no matter how brief, means you must send for a tow. But, there are no lapses of power in Red Crown for it has a perfect, unbroken chain of boiling point fractions. From the initial fraction to the heavy ends of the chain, Red Crown imparts a steady steam-engine-like pressure on the piston, producing a steady rhythmic flow of sustained pulling power—tremendous power. Fill your tank with Red Crown and you are ready for any stretch that an automobile can go through or over.

Tailor's Hell The tailor's "hell" is the name of the large box tailors keep under the board on which they sat while at work. The word is thought to be a corruption of the French word "oeil" (pronounced ull).

Here and Now

by O. Lawrence Hawthorne

I hear men talk so much about Some great, uncertain day When happiness at last will drive Their miseries away, When peace will shelter them from care And fate will guide their feet Along the endless paths of rest, And joy will be complete.

They live in hope of better things Tomorrow, in a land Where all is rapturous and gay And comforting and grand, Where freedom opens wide the gates To ecstasy supreme, And leisure makes of days and nights One long delightful dream.

But oh, how foolish is the plan, How tragic is the fate Of those who so delude themselves Until it is too late! Contentment sets no future time To bless the lives of men, For happiness is here and now And never there and then!

TRAFFIC RECORDS ARE SHATTERED.

All previous traffic records were broken on M-10 just outside of Bay City recently when a count of passing autos at intervals covering a three-day period showed that an average of 1,000 cars an hour passed a given point.

A count kept by a resident of Midland for three hours showed that 1836 passed through Midland, bound for the north. This resident estimated that during eight hours 20,000 people journeyed through the city.

The Bay City division of the Automobile club of Northern Michigan has been aiding between 150 and 200 tourists daily with information regarding resorts to the north. Tourists from virtually every state in the union are seeking information, according to the manager. Recently tourists from Nevada, Maine, Texas, Louisiana and Florida were among those seeking information.

Toad's Great Value

Some form of toad can be found in each state. Toads were formerly more numerous. They are now becoming rare, for they are destroyed by all classes of vertebrates and by drought in summer and severe cold in winter. Their value to man lies in the number of insects and other invertebrates which they eat.

Songs of Troubadours

There were several kinds of songs sung by the troubadours—the canzonet, or love song; serenade, or evening song; aubade, or morning song; servante in praise of patrons, roundelay, or song with refrain or chorus; dance song accompanying the round dance, and the pastourelle, treating of Arcadian love.

POULTRY

MOTHER HEN DOES BEST WHEN COOPED

It is not good poultry management to allow the mother hen to range unrestricted with her chicks. With such freedom the hen frequently takes her brood through wet grass and, as a result, some are chilled and die, especially the weaker ones which are likely to be left behind. The loss of young chicks which follows such a practice is large and mainly preventable. Furthermore, the food which a brood allowed to range with the hen obtains goes very largely to keep up the heat of the body and the chicks do not make as good growth as they otherwise would.

Chick losses of this nature can be largely prevented by shutting the hen in a coop. Any style of coop which is dry, ventilated, and can be closed at night to protect the brood against cats, rats and other animals, and which, while confining the hen, will allow the chicks to pass in and out freely after they are a few days old, will be satisfactory. The hen should be confined until the chicks are weaned, though a small yard may be attached to the coop, if desired, to allow the hen to exercise. The fence can be raised from the ground far enough to allow the chicks to go in or out, but not high enough for the hen to escape. By using the coop the chicks can find shelter and warmth under the hen at any time and the weaklings, after a few days, may develop into strong, healthy chicks.

When chicks are raised with hens, they are likely to become infested with lice. If the lice get very numerous, they greatly retard the chicks' growth and may even cause their death. The hen should be powdered thoroughly with some good insect powder before she is put in the coop with the chicks, and at intervals of several days or a week thereafter. The baby chicks should be examined for lice, particularly on the head, under the wings and about the vent. If any are found, a little grease, such as lard, should be rubbed in those places. Apply grease moderately, as too much will injure the chicks. The chicks should be examined frequently and the treatment repeated if lice are found on them.

Young Chicks Need More of Mineral Constituents

Young chicks need more of the mineral constituents found in wheat bran than do mature fowls, and the mash fed them are accordingly, usually made to contain more of it. With this change and due regard to the size of the particles of food that baby chicks can eat, there need be little or no difference between a growing chick mash and one fed to laying hens. The chick mash recommended by the New Jersey experiment station consists of three parts of wheat bran to one each of sifted ground oats, cornmeal, flour and middlings and finely ground meat scrap. With one part of bran, instead of three, and no necessity for sifting the ground oats or finely grinding the meat scrap, this would make as good a laying mash as could be compounded. The above would make a very good mash to be fed with equal parts of cracked corn and wheat. After four to six weeks chicks will eat coarser cracked corn and whole wheat and do not need to have the hulls sifted from ground oats. An excess of meat scrap or of green food might cause some looseness of the bowels. Whatever the cause, it should be corrected; added amount of wheat middlings would not avail.

Green Feeds for Fowls During the Entire Year

Fowls need green feed of some kind all the year round. It should be supplied to hens confined in small yards and to all hens during the winter when no natural green feed is available in the yards. Free range or large yards will furnish ideal conditions for green feed, and this factor is one of the most important in raising poultry profitably on farms where the birds are supplied from cheap, natural sources.

Where smaller yards have to be used, they should be divided into two parts and used alternately, planting the vacant section two or three times yearly with quick-growing green crops of rape, oats, wheat, rye, or barley. This furnishes green feed and also helps to keep the yards sweet, clean and sanitary, which is perhaps the most important consideration in making poultry pay.

Good kinds of green feeds are sprouted oats, alfalfa, meal, chopped alfalfa and clover hay, cabbages, and mangel beets. In ordinary cellars cabbages do not keep so well as mangel beets, so they should be used up first.

Why Little Chicks Die

Chicks die in the shell because of lack of vigor in the breeding stock, lack of moisture, overheating or chilling of the eggs and other causes which are hard to explain. It is a fact that most poultrymen find the eggs running close to 90 per cent in fertility, and even then have to be satisfied with 50 per cent hatches on the average for the season. A lot of chicks seem to die in the shell during artificial incubation in spite of the best of management.

Her Recognition

Small Elizabeth and her mother were walking down the street when they saw an urchin approaching them Elizabeth stuck out her tongue. When they had gone on, her mother inquired "Why did you stick out your tongue at that little boy we just passed." There was a pause while Elizabeth considered. "Why?" she replied, at length.
