BLUE RIBBON FAIR COMES NEXT WEEK

OFFICERS LEAVING NOTHING
UNDONE TO MAKE IT A SUCCESS.

Exhibitors Should Make Entries Early; Fine Entertainment Program.

The Cass City Fair will officially open its thirty-sixth annual exhibition next Tuesday, August 18, and from present indications one of the best displays of exhibits will be presented and an unsurpassed entertainment program given.

The fair association has done everything possible to make this year's exposition one of the largest and best in its history and its success now depends on the support of the general public. A great number of educational and amusement features will be found this season and a fine array of grandstand acts and exhibits have been arranged. Officers anticipate the largest exhibit of live stock in years. Of special interest will be the exhibits of registered cattle and swine by 50 boys and girls in the club departments.

The acts in front of the grandstand every afternoon and evening will consist of the following high class features: Lohse & Sterling, trapeze artists; "Willie" and his famous accordion; Frank Silvas, in a dare devil act; and DeLiberto Bros. & Co., human popcorn acrobats.

Secretary Willis Campbell has just secured the Pt. Huron Colored Giants to contest for baseball honors with Cass City on Wednesday afternoon. This is the first colored team to invade the Thumb territory in several years and it is expected that they will prove a strong drawing card with lovers of the national game. Caro and Vassar league teams play here Tuesday afternoon.

James Brooker, all American athlete, will appear in exhibition pole vaulting on Thursday afternoon.

Arthur Amsden's Famous Saginaw band will give concerts every afternoon and evening. The band features Bruce Richardson, the comedian.

Angus McPhail, superintendent of the speed department, predicts a large number of entries in both harness and running events. The racing program opens Wednesday afternoon with the following events: 2:16 trot or pace, 2:25 trot or pace, and farmers' running race. On Thursday comes a named trotting race, 2:35 named race and a farmers' run. On Friday, the free for all, the consolation race and the named running race.

The fireworks display at the night show will be more gorgeous than ever, according to the announcement by the Thearle-Duffield company, the largest dispensers of pyrotechnics in the country. The homecoming of the popular comic stars, appearing in life-like form and painted in fire instead of printer's ink, is sure to create an abundance of amazement and amusement with the evening crowds.

The secretary's office at the fair grounds will be open next Monday for those who desire to make entries for exhibits, and officers will be glad if entry clerks are kept busy on that day as it helps greatly to have entries made as early as possible.

Local business houses are supplied with season tickets for the fair and officers wish to make a good showing this week in advance ticket sales. Your merchant will be glad to fill your wants in season tickets for the entire family.

Pastor for 40 Years at Pigeon

Rev. Praetorius for nearly forty years pastor of the Lutheran church at Pigeon has requested his congregation to relieve him of his duties as pastor.

Rev. Praetorius, who is a sincere Christian gentleman, has seen the church grow during the many years of his pastorate, from a weak congregation to one of the strongest in this part of the county.

Rev. Praetorius will continue as pastor of the church until a successor has been engaged after which he expects to spend a quiet life on his little farm west of Pigeon.—Progress.

Ford Garage Adds New Equipment

Extensive alterations are being made in the stock room of the Ford Garage. Nineteen steel cases will replace the wooden bins which have heretofore held Ford parts and repairs. The new cases are constructed with divisions just the right size to handle the auto parts in series, enabling the salesman to secure the part desired in quick time and making it easier to keep tab on the stock.

A re-arrangement of stockroom partitions is also contemplated.

CO. HOLSTEIN BREEDERS TO PICNIC AUGUST 20

The Tuscola County Holstein-Friesian breeders are planning to hold a picnic and county breeders get-together on August 20 at the public park in Vassar.

J. G. Hays, fieldman and secretary of the state organization, will be present to give a talk. Those who have heard Mr. Hays know he always has a message worth hearing.

R. J. McWilliams, manager of the Detroit Creamery Farms at Mt. Clemens, will also be present to deliver an address. Another feature of the day will be a judging contest in which all breeders may participate. Judging contest will start at ten o'clock sharp. Breeders are urged to come early and not miss an opportunity to learn how to pick good cows from poor ones on their type and dairy qualities.

A basket dinner will be held at 12 o'clock and everyone is welcome.

Soon Be Time for School to Open

In less than three weeks the welcome sound of the school bell will be heard in Cass City and local citizens will see the young folks and the little folks headed towards the city's biggest asset, the public school.

Not only will the young people and children of this village be interested in the opening of the school, but to many young people in the country thoughts will be turned toward Cass City and its high school. Local citizens are glad, notwithstanding increasing costs of school, no increase has been made in the price of tuition of non-resident students in the Cass City schools. The figures remain just where they were, at $70.00. As is well known the school district from which the pupil comes pays $60.00 of this $70.00, leaving only $10.00 to be paid by the pupil or his parents.

Many are of the opinion that it is wise for the local schools to hold to the present limit of price for tuition of non-resident students. The fine class of young folks who are drawn to the schools of this city are a real asset to them and a real help in the work of public education in Cass City. They come because they want an education and for most of them and for their parents it means a sacrifice for them to come. They appreciate that fact, and so give themselves most devotedly to school work and this helps the school spirit.

Blight Causes Bean Plant Breaking

A great many people have been inquiring concerning a trouble with beans which are breaking over at the surface of the ground and wilting. The stem looks as though it might have been girdled by some sort of insect. Samples of this were sent to the State College of Agriculture and they report that it is an infection of the nodal type of bacterial blight, that is, the plants are infected at a certain joint by the bacteria and are then broken over by the winds or rain.

Much of this undoubtedly has been promoted by the high winds that have prevailed this summer.

The only control measures that are known at present are to rotate the crops so that beans will not follow beans and to secure seed as near free from the infection as possible.

Predicts Horses at Pre-war Prices

The Tuscola County Stallion Owners' association held a meeting Saturday evening at the Farm Bureau office at Caro, at which C. R. Oviatt of Bay City gave a talk on the outlook for horse production. Mr. Oviatt is a breeder of Belgian horses living just north of Bay City, and feels that horses are just now on the verge of returning to pre-war prices and thinks that people who have good stock should again begin raising colts.

However, Mr. Oviatt was very careful in stating that he believed the stuff that would bring the highest prices would be heavy horses of good breeding and good quality and cautioned the men against using inferior breeding stock.

This association will hold another meeting Wednesday evening of the Caro fair, August 26, at which time they hope to have both Prof. Brown and Prof. Hudson of the Michigan State College present.

CHAMBERS REUNION.

The seventh annual reunion of the Chambers family was held at the home of Lawrence Hoffarth at Decker Saturday, Aug. 8. Chicken dinner was served to 50 members of the family. A great aunt of the family, a lady 80 years old, of Woodstock, Ontario, was an honored guest at the gathering. Other guests were present from Orion, Saginaw, Pontiac, Flint, Detroit and Cass City, Wilmot and Marlette. The reunion will be held at the home of John Paul of Cass City the coming year.

Paragraphs Concerning Michigan

By Ed A. Nowack.

Lansing—Fred B. Wells, state representative from Cass county, and speaker of the 1925 House of Representatives, has resided for about 60 years on the farm he now occupies near Cassopolis.

Publication of a picture of Rep. Fred Ming of Cheboygan, the VonHindenburg of the 1925 Legislature, brought about a reunion with a cousin he never had seen. The cousin resides in Centerville and the meeting between the two was arranged by Senator Frank S. Cummings who lives there.

Ninety-eight vessels are "locked" through the St. Mary's locks at Sault Ste. Marie every 24 hours. That means about 100 million pounds of tonnage annually. One hundred fourteen men are employed at the locks. If necessary a vessel can be locked through in nine minutes.

Railroad trains, trolley and lighting and such little disturbing elements do not bother Rep. Wilbur Snow when he goes to sleep. Eighty trains—steam and electric—and thousands of autos pass right by his bedroom daily. He lives on M-17 near Kalamazoo at a point where a network of tracks are laid.

Crows and hawks, so tourists report, have taken to following autos and haunting the trunk line highways, even in thickly settled part of the state. They feast on the chickens, cats, dogs, skunks and birds that meet death under cars.

A private deer park, with eight dandy specimens of deer, is one of the features of the "close to nature" retreat that lures Dr. J. T. Upjohn from his Kalamazoo home. Dr. Upjohn is one of the representatives in the legislature.

The monument of General Custer that for years has stood in the middle of a fine street in Monroe, where that street intersects with another street and a railroad, has been removed and taken to the Soldiers' and Sailors' park. It was necessary as a safety first measure to move the monument which obstructed the view of motorists and resulted in many accidents.

On the trunk line road near White Pigeon is a bronze tablet in memory of Chief White Pigeon who in 1832 ran 20 miles to warn his paleface friends of an impending massacre. The tablet marks the spot where the loyal Indian dropped dead from fatigue, breathing a warning with his last breath.

For the first six months of this year the Grand Rapids Realty Board handled $1,982,000 worth of real estate. Wexford county, so Tom E. Johnson, superintendent of public instruction reports, has a school enrollment of 32 children per each $100,000 valuation with an average school tax rate of $15.14 per thousand and an average local tax per enrolled child of $47.33.

The state park at East Tawas on July 3 registered 2,600 tourists. Those figures are a good indication of the increase in tourist business throughout the state generally.

Hankow, China, is a wonderful market for Michigan canned fruits and vegetables.

Mackinac Island is an autoless Eden, one of the very few spots in America where autos are not permitted. The horse and buggy still are to be found on the island in all their primitive glory and the tired business man can find the very essence of quietness on that island.

The Hall Lamp Co. of Detroit produces most of the auto lamps used by Michigan automobile makers and half the motorcycle lamps used in this country.

It is estimated that 955,000 autos will be registered in the state of Michigan in 1925.

Contest Hens Begin Egg Production Again

After a drop for the previous three weeks, the trend of production showed some increase during the week ending July 31 in the international egg laying contest which is being conducted by the poultry department at Michigan State College.

The 1,000 birds during the last seven days produced a total of 4,019 eggs. White Leghorns continued to lead other groups with an average production of 60.4 per cent. Rhode Island Reds and Barred Rocks hit 53 per cent each, which is an improvement for both groups over the previous week. The miscellaneous group moved from 43.3 to 48.5 per cent.

Due to the cooler weather and too frequent showers, there has been considerably less broodiness during the week of this test, consequently greatly assisting in maintaining the production.

Five high pens of the week consisting of ten hens each were the Gravel Ridge Poultry Farms, Mears, with 58 eggs, E. G. Stephenson, Erlanger, Ken, 56; L. W. Aseltine, Grand Rapids, 55; Lakeview Poultry Farm, Holland, Michigan, 54; and Bangor High School, 54.

West Neck Poultry Farm, Huntington, L. L. is leading the contest with a total of 1,935 eggs. Next in line is the Royal Hatchery, Zeeland, Michigan, with 1,928 eggs.

Hasty Marriages to Pass into History

Hasty marriage in Michigan will pass into history after August 26. It was dealt a death blow when the governor signed the bill providing that application for a marriage license be filed with the county clerk five days before the license is granted. Under the new law the couple that runs away to get married will be obliged to wait nearly a week for legal permission and by that time they might both change their minds.

County clerks are expecting a rush for marriage licenses between now and August 27, the date on which the Quinlan law, passed by the last legislature, goes into effect. It stipulates that an application for a marriage license shall remain on file in the county clerk's office five days before the license can be issued.

There were no other changes in the marriage law. The five-day proviso was inserted to prevent hasty marriages.

Under the law as it will stand August 27, either party can make the application for the license, supplying the required information.

The new Michigan law is expected to put a stop to thousands of couples coming into Michigan each year from adjoining states to enact hasty marriages.

Have Many Chances To Make Errors

If you feel critical about the occasional typographical errors that appear in your newspaper remember this:

A printing expert figures that in the ordinary news column there are 10,000 pieces of type and in each line seven possible wrong positions for each piece. Then 70,000 chances for error or transposition alone. Consider the column is set, corrected and published in minutes not hours.

You'll agree that the printer is as near perfect in his job as any one in an imperfect world.

Saginaw Wholesalers Here Next Wednesday

Saginaw wholesalers and bankers, about fifty in number, will visit Cass City next Wednesday morning, Aug. 19, to meet local retailers. The party will arrive at eleven o'clock, accompanied by a Scotch kiltie band. Souvenirs will be distributed to the children.

This is the second annual tour of Saginaw wholesalers in the Thumb district, the object of the trips being to form a better acquaintance with their customers in this territory.

Farm Produce Co. Re-elects Directors

At the annual meeting of the stockholders of The Farm Produce Co. on Tuesday afternoon, the following directors were elected: John A. Benkelman, Smith Hutchinson, C. J. Striffler, N. A. Perry, W. J. Schwieger, Hugh Cooper and I. W. Hall. The first six were elected to succeed themselves, while Mr. Hall was chosen as director in the place of the late J. M. Dodge.

The business of the company reached $387,499.72 during the past year, the sales in the elevator department amounting to $288,666.84 and those of the lumber department $48,832.88. Although the volume of business was large, the very erratic conditions of both the elevator and lumber industries the past year made the profits realized by the company too light to warrant declaring any dividends to stockholders.

June Townsend Passed Away Monday

The community was greatly saddened when the death of June Townsend was learned Monday forenoon. During the past several weeks that she had been critically ill, her many friends anxiously awaited each day's report of her condition.

Death came Monday, Aug. 10, following a long illness of chronic heart disease, an after effect of an attack of influenza which she suffered seven years ago. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. I. W. Cargo of the Methodist Episcopal church at the residence Wednesday afternoon. Interment was in Elkland cemetery, where her father, C. R. Townsend, who preceded her in death on October 2, 1920, is buried.

June Almyra Townsend was born in Cass City June 29, 1913. She attended the Cass City schools until her health failed. She is the only child of Mrs. A. H. Kinnaird. Those left to mourn their loss are Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Kinnaird and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Proctor.

June was a child of beautiful character and disposition. She was a great favorite with all who knew her, and will be greatly missed by her many friends and playmates. The un-falling cheerfulness which she maintained during the months that she suffered, endeared her even more to those with her. With her ready smile, June has won her way into every heart. Those whom she left have the sincere sympathy of the community.

Friends and relatives from out-of-town in attendance at the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. James A. Proctor and family of Flint, Mr. and Mrs. John Proctor and son, John, of Ferris, Leslie Townsend of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rourke and Mrs. Wm. Kraft of Sandusky, Miss Mae Beckman of Bad Axe, Miss Minnie Kinnaird of Ann Arbor, and Wesley and Raymond Richards of Wyandotte.

Decided Improvement in Crop Conditions

There has been a decided improvement in the condition of nearly all crops during the month of July, and the cultivated crops are now generally above the ten-year average. Wheat and rye are yielding much better than expected and, while oats and barley are short in straw, they are more promising than estimated earlier in the season, according to the August 1 report issued by L. Whitney Watkins, Commissioner of Agriculture, and Verne H. Church, U. S. Agricultural Statistician.

Corn: The present condition of 85 per cent is four per cent better than one month ago, four per cent above the ten-year average, and 17 per cent better than one year ago. The present outlook is for a production of 58,757,000 bushels as compared with 43,836,000 in 1924. Stands are generally good throughout the main production counties.

The United States crop is estimated at 2,950,340,000 bushels against 2,436,513,000 last year.

Wheat: The average yield per acre as reported in the August 1 inquiry is 16.5 bushels, a marked increase over earlier predictions. This increases the state's production to 15,576,000 bushels which is nearly up to the 10-year average, although over four million less than last year's bumper crop. The quality is excellent, being rated at 90 per cent. Spring wheat shows a condition of 79 per cent, equivalent to a production of 126,000 bushels.

For the United States, the estimate for winter wheat is 415,697,000 bushels and for spring wheat, 262,749,000 bushels. Last year, the count turned to page 4.

Interesting Tour in the Home State

The Misses Emma and Gladys Lenzner, Frank and Grey Lenzner spent the past week on a motor tour around the coast of Michigan. They left here Sunday, August 2, and spent two days in Ann Arbor, guests at the McKim home. While there, they visited the university buildings, and the state hospital, which is now under construction, and will accommodate about 20,000 patients at one time. While in Lansing, the capitol buildings were inspected and some time spent with Stanley Bien. At Battle Creek they visited in the homes of Samuel Striffler and George Brown, and went through the Sanitarium and Kellogg's factory.

Wednesday was spent in Benton Harbor, where Mr. Lenzner met Frank DeLisle, a former business man of Cass City. Mr. DeLisle will be remembered by the older residents as conducting a store here about 35 years ago near the present McGillivray building. Visitors in Benton Harbor always include in their sight-seeing trip around the city, a visit to the community known as "The House of David". This sect proves rather amusing with their luxuriant growth of hair on head and face. A small train, with a 16-inch track, carries visitors to the "Eden" depot and around the grounds, which include a glimpse of "Jerusalem" and "Bethlehem" homes. There are about 750 inhabitants and they own 1,000 acres. The evening programs consist of a musical entertainment and vaudeville show, and the grounds remind one of a small town fair.

Thursday they continued the tour to Grand Rapids, the heart of the furniture industry, and the home of the Cheney Talking Machine Company, which was also visited. Then on to Muskegon, Ludington, Manistee, and Arcadia, where they called on

LEGION STATE MEET FIRST OF SEPTEMBER

CONVENTION PLANS GET UNDER WAY IN BAY CITY.

State Appropriates $3,000 to Aid Officials in Financing the Convention.

Plans are progressing nicely for the state Legion convention in Bay City, Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, September 6, 7, and 8. This will be the first time Bay City has entertained the World War veterans of Michigan.

I. D. McCoy, commander of the Adam-Seeger Post of Cass City announces that the post is planning on a creditable representation at the big meeting.

Col. A. H. Gansser appeared before the state administrative board at Lansing, as the representative of the Bay City Legion post and the Legion of Michigan recently, and requested official recognition and support. As a result, the state administrative board instructed its finance committee to appropriate $3,000 for the Bay City Legion convention. Hon. Chas. J. DeLand, secretary of state, is chairman of the finance committee, and he will have the $3,000 sent to Edwin O. List, treasurer of the convention committee. Bay City is matching dollars with the state for the entertainment fund.

Governor Groesbeck will be one of the guests of honor at the convention, together with members of the state administrative board. Every day brings word of special Legion attractions coming to Bay City for Labor Day. Jackson post plans to bring its famous company of zouaves. Sault Ste. Marie, through its chamber of commerce and Legion post, will invite the Legion of Michigan to come there in 1926, according to Max Harris, post adjutant. The "So" delegation will come to Bay City September 5, prepared to make a real fight for next year's convention.

Mrs. Eber Coleman Died in Detroit

From Kingston-Novesta Town Line Correspondent.

Mrs. Eber C. Coleman of Detroit passed away early Sunday afternoon, Aug. 9, at Harper Hospital, after an illness of only a few hours and the birth of a baby daughter, little Shirley, who was born Saturday morning, Aug. 8.

Vera Retherford, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford, was born Sept. 23, 1898, in Novesta township. When a child, she attended the Kingston-Novesta Town Line school and graduated from the Marlette high school in June, 1918. She attended school at Ypsilanti the same year and taught school one year in Arbel township, Tuscola county.

The summer of 1919, she went to Detroit where she was employed at the Gleaner Temple and the Thomas Training school and then by a construction company.

June 24, 1922, she was united in marriage to Eber C. Coleman of Kingston township, a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Coleman. Since their marriage, they have lived in Detroit. This union was a very happy one, although all too short, for in the midst of this happiness and while still in her youth, Vera was called to a higher and better home, leaving her grief-stricken husband and parents, one sister, Mrs. Mark Smith of Detroit, and a little brother, Arleon, at home. One brother, Keith, preceded her in death about 14 months ago, being a victim of smallpox. He died at a hospital in Detroit in May, 1924. A large number of other relatives are left to mourn their loss, besides a host of friends, as Vera was well known and will be greatly missed by all relatives and friends who sympathize with the sorrowing family and heartbroken husband with his darling baby daughter.

The remains were brought to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Retherford, on Monday afternoon and the funeral took place at the Deford church Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock in charge of Rev. Norman Karr of Lapeer, who officiated at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Coleman. He was assisted by Rev. C. Scott of Deford. Burial was made in Novesta cemetery. The floral offerings surpassed in profusion and beauty anything ever seen here before.

EVERYONE KNOWS BILL, TOO.

When local merchants say to a certain Ohio publisher, "We don't need to advertise; everyone knows us," he calls their attention to an old character in the town and replies, "Everyone knows Old Bill, too, but no one goes near his store." That settles the argument every time.

WORK

"WHEN I am dead," John M. Siddell once said, "I want you to carve on my tombstone this line: 'Here lies a man who lived a number of years and found out one thing—that there is no substitute for work.'"

It has been generally conceded, I believe, that our first parents, before they transgressed the regulations of the Garden, had nothing to do but enjoy themselves—to snip off a shoot occasionally from some over-ambitious vine or flowering shrub and to watch things grow. If such a condition of affairs had continued long they would have left the Garden of their own accord from utter weariness and dissatisfaction, and would not have had to be driven out as they were.

When the Lord said to Adam, "In the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread," it was not a curse he was pronouncing but the greatest blessing he could have conceived. The happiest people in the world are those who work—and the most useful ones—no matter how hard and common the work may seem; and the most unhappy are those who have nothing to do but to think about themselves.

A great deal of the energy of the world has gone into the invention of "labor-saving" devices, and yet the operation of every such device involves a new kind of labor, and the total amount of work demanded is about the same as it was before. The people whom I have known who have tried the hardest to devise some way to get out of work have expended more physical energy in their attempts to evade work than would have been necessary to accomplish the task they were attempting to sidetrack.

Siddell was right. There is no substitute in the world for work, and it's just as well there isn't, for nothing induces more peaceful, more genuine satisfaction, more real happiness than work well conceived and well performed.

Shaft Would Have Value

It is strange that an expedition into the earth's interior has never been seriously attempted. If we could sink a shaft only twelve miles into the ground we might strike all the coal and oil that would be needed in millions of years. In all likelihood we should find radium, gold, silver, diamonds, and other gems of untold wealth, as well as wonderful new metals and fresh sources of energy.—Exchange.

His Accidental End

There are all sorts of ways of putting things, and some sound much better than others. For example, there is the case of the man of whom Lord Coleridge used to tell, whose father was hanged for highway robbery. Some one asked him how his father died. "Sir," said he "he fell from a scaffolding outside Newgate while he was talking to a clergyman."—Youth's Companion.

Lucy Stone League

Lucy Stone was a suffragist who achieved considerable notoriety by declining to change her name upon marriage to the one borne by her husband, in accordance with common custom. A league was founded of women who preferred to retain their maiden names and was named in her honor, the Lucy Stone League.

Removing Vitropane

To entirely remove vitropane from glass, take one-half pint of boiling water and a piece of soap sufficient to make a good lather. Saturate a cloth and place cloth on the window. Let stand for a few moments. Take a clean cloth saturated with ammonia (double strength) place on glass for a few moments. The vitropane will begin to loosen and can easily be removed with a thin knife blade.

Most Ancient Building

The world's oldest building is believed to be a little temple more than 6,000 years old, located at Tell-el-Obaid on the Euphrates, about four miles from Ur.

Michigan Happenings

The purchase by the Jackson county board of supervisors of five parcels of land as lake sites for parks, adds to the chain of county parks planned, a total area of 311.2 acres with a shore line of more than 2,000 feet. A site at Clark lake, purchased several weeks ago, was the first step made in the plan for a chain of lake parks. A 12-acre tract on Vineyard lake, six acres at Clear lake, eight acres at Pleasant lake, two and one-half acres on Big Wolf lake, and three acres on Gillett's lake will be the new park sites. The total price of purchase is $17,800.

Fred B. Perry, secretary of the State Administrative Board has been sent to Washington to negotiate with the United States Shipping Board for the purchase of a Government steamer of a type suitable for reconstruction into an automobile ferry like the two vessels which the state is now operating between Mackinaw City and St. Ignace. Traffic across the Straits has grown so fast during the past month, it was reported that the two units of the State's ferry squadron have been unable to meet the demands.

Affidavits said to contain damaging evidence against several Jackson city officials were in possession of James Frank, former newspaper publisher, for presentation to the grand jury. Prosecuting Attorney John Simpson demanded the affidavits from Frank. He says he is the proper person to present them but Frank refused to surrender them. Malfeasance and misconduct in office and several other serious charges are to be brought against officials and private individuals, it was reported.

Department of Justice investigations in the district of Western Michigan now are being handled entirely out of Chicago, it was disclosed by District Attorney Edward J. Bowman. So far as local government authorities are aware this means the abolition of the bureau of the Department of Justice maintained in Grand Rapids for years. Under the new arrangements Bowman is obliged to appeal to the Chicago office each time he desires an investigation in connection with a Federal case.

J. N. Hemphill, of Kansas City, Mo., who had been driving continuously for 60 hours on his way to attend a convention in Detroit, accompanied by his wife and baby, went to sleep at the wheel of his car on M-17, east of Jackson, and the car plunged through a guard rail and into a six-foot ditch. Mrs. Hemphill and the baby were hurled through the windshield and were cut and bruised, but were not seriously injured and the driver escaped injury entirely.

Police of Jackson have arrested 18 boys ranging in age from 11 to 15 years, alleging that in the last several months the boys have caused damage amounting to hundreds of dollars to the property of the New York Central Railway and the Cincinnati Northern. It is alleged that the boys have been shooting insulators from telegraph and telephone poles, breaking lights, and attempting to wreck trains by placing ties, chains and iron bars on the tracks.

Reports of 21 automobile accidents in Grand Rapids in one day, together with the fact that there have been 18 fatalities in automobile accidents since Jan. 1, and more than 3,000 accidents recorded during that time, caused City Manager Fred H. Locke, to issue orders to Superintendent of Police A. A. Carroll to strictly enforce the speed laws in the loop district.

J. A. MacTaggart and Newton company, accountants and auditors, who just have completed the audit of Port Huron's accounts, report that there would have been a deficit in the fiscal year if current bills and temporary loans amounting to more than $60,000 had been paid.

The village of Hubbell, with its principal street almost on the banks of Portage Lake, has an acute water shortage. The village gets its drinking water from wells which were discovered to be almost dry.

Dr. P. M. Olin, state health commissioner, has notified Grand Rapids officials he will object to any delay in completion of the municipal sewage disposal project now under way.

A woman's auxiliary to the Michigan Rural Carriers' Association, with Mrs. Fannie Coons, of Lowell, as president, was formed at Cadillac during the carriers' annual convention.

Theodore VanWert, 18, was killed instantly, his brother Arthur, 15, was paralyzed and sister, Loretta, 17, was temporarily blinded by a bolt of lightning that struck them while they were working in a potato field at Bay City.

It took nearly five years for the Postoffice Department to deliver to William Tisdale, now county clerk of Allegan county, a letter that was mailed from Kalamazoo to his home in Saugatuck, Dec. 21, 1921.

The purchase of the Stout Metal Airplane company of Detroit by the Ford Motor company has been officially announced. The action is in harmony with the company's policy of playing a lone hand. The way is now opened for the Fords to push their aeronautical research as they see fit, without being retarded by a variety of opinions on the necessity of explaining their point of view to committees or stockholders. The financial consideration was not made known, but it is estimated that the amount involved will reach $1,000,000.

Intimation that Battle Creek has in mind an expansion program that will make the school "second only to the University of Michigan," was given the community by Dr. Paul F. Voelker, president of the college, in a talk to the Rotary club. At present the school is a combination of the Kellogg School of Physical Education, the Santarum School for Nurses and the School of Home Economics. Dr. Voelker suggested that it would become one of the finest schools of liberal arts in the country.

Michigan's new university hospital at Ann Arbor will be opened officially August 10, when the "out patient" service will be moved from the old building into the new structures, according to an announcement by Dr. Harley A. Patients also will be admitted from the "out patient" service to the wards beginning on that date, Dr. Haynes said, and other patients will be moved within the following few days, at which time operating room service will be established.

The Otisville State Bank which was closed by the State Banking Commission following a discovery of a shortage of $52,000 in the accounts of Arthur Prosser, cashier, has re-opened its doors for business again. G. Knickerbrocker, state bank examiner, and W. W. Lyons, of Armada, a stockholder, were in charge when the bank re-opened. No successor has yet been named to succeed Prosser, who is now serving a term in Jackson prison.

Immediately after having been informed that a Port Huron relative had bequeathed him a gasoline station as a legacy, Earl Brooks, a Flint traffic policeman, drove his machine to police headquarters and there left a note to Inspector John MacDonald, head of the traffic bureau, informing the latter he had resigned. The ex-officer then hurried from the station to go to Port Huron to take charge of his new business.

Having discovered some of the property of her late husband, as well as $1,500 which he had deposited in a Pittsburgh, Pa., bank, Mrs. Christian Nelson of Jackson awaited information from Iowa, where she believes her husband had vast estates. According to stories that her husband told her, he had property valued at from $300,000 to $500,000 in Iowa, Nebraska and South Dakota.

The city of Port Huron has protested officially to the federal sanitary authorities at Chicago against the government dredges, at work in the channel near the lighthouse, of dumping earth into the river channel above the intake pipe of the city water works. The practice has rolled the city water and has made it necessary to use an unusual amount of chlorine, it is claimed.

Indorsement by military authorities of the mail airways as models of efficiency was forecast here by Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, commander of Selfridge Field and leader of the five pilots of the First Pursuit Group, who returned here after the successful completion of the 6,000-mile pioneering flight from Selfridge to San Francisco and return.

Arrests in Lansing for the month of July showed a large increase over the same month last year, the monthly report revealed. During the month just closed 567 arrests were made, as against only 382 last year. More than 200 of the arrests were for traffic violations, and of these 159 were made in one night, when a surprise drive was launched.

ANCIENT COURT MAY SIT AGAIN

Oxford University Urged to Reopen Tribunal.

Oxford, England.—An Oxford undergraduate is to be tried in the ordinary courts of assize on a charge of manslaughter arising out of a motor accident.

The frequency of motor smashes in which undergraduates are concerned has led a famous law don to suggest that the court of the lord high steward should try and punish the offenders.

This university court has been in existence, since 1404, and although it has not tried a case in hundreds of years, belief still prevails that it still has jurisdiction to try members of the university on charges of treason, felony or mayhem.

Its powers are not original, as a true bill must be found against the accused by the ordinary grand jury.

When this court is sitting at least its jury must be composed of half members of the university. Apparently, the chancellor has power to make townsmen members for this purpose, as is done in the case of the so-called "Holy Pokers," who are matriculated to serve on the jury of the university coroner.

The university possesses two other courts as well. The court of the chancellor, founded in 1331, is familiar to all thrifless undergraduates as the strong arm protecting Oxford tradesmen. When a bad debt is reported to this court, a notice is sent out to the debtor ordering him to pay at once or lose his degree and his bedroom furniture.

The vice chancellor's court is formed by the vice chancellor of the university assuming the privileges of his position as a justice of the city of Oxford and the counties of Oxford and Berkshire. As the powers of a justice sitting alone are very limited, it is the custom to make several heads of colleges justices in order that they may sit with the vice chancellor and increase his powers.

Didn't Raise His Cotton to Soften Flyer's Fall

Washington.—O. P. Shell, a North Carolina farmer, has notified the War department that his cotton field cannot be used for landing airplanes. He demands $50 for damage done to his crop May 14 when Pilot Brown, driving an army airplane from Langley field, Virginia, found it necessary to make a forced landing.

Mr. Shell has reported to Senator Simmons that he and Pilot Brown had some hot words over the injury to his cotton. He said Brown lost his temper, and told him he didn't give a d—n if he destroyed his entire cotton crop, and he would not recommend more than $1.50 damages.

Mr. Brown, according to Mr. Shell, asserted that he would like to see the picture of the dollar and a half when he received it.

Senator Simmons' office notified the War department that "Mr. Shell is burning with righteous wrath and wants to lay the whole matter before it."

Mr. Shell has been engrossing clerk of the North Carolina legislature for many years.

Take $2,000,000 in U. S. Gold to Australia

Honolulu.—The cargo of $2,000,000 in gold which the United States fleet is taking to Australia, to pay the men and defray some of the expenses of refueling and re-provisioning, will be exchanged for Australian gold coinage at an ounce-for-ounce rate.

The American government will pay a mintage fee of three pence an ounce, but will save $30,000 in exchange on the deal, naval officers estimate.

The gold arrived from the mainland aboard the transport Chaumont, and $1,200,000 was transferred to the flagship California of the battle fleet, the remaining $800,000 going to the U. S. S. Omaha, flagship of the destroyer squadrons.

Six Divide $12,000,000

Detroit, Mich.—Six men, who were practically "broke" in 1909, sat around a dinner table recently at the Detroit Golf club and divided $12,000,000. The dinner was in celebration of the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner company which Fred Wardell founded in 1909. The money divided represented accumulated profits of the company.

"Static" Figures in Man's House-Hunting

Spokane, Wash.—Frank Stoop recently purchased a residence here, which he has pronounced "the ideal radio home."

Mr. Stoop passed several weeks in his search for a good radio location. After inspecting a house by daylight, if he found it otherwise acceptable, he would return at night with his radio set and "tune in." If the reception was poor, his search was continued next day.

"I found one house that sure did take my eye," he said. "I wanted to buy that house, but the static was so thick that I couldn't think of carrying the deal through. I tested out more than a dozen neighborhoods by radio before I found the right place. But, oh boy, I get it pretty now."

BUFFALO TAKEN BACK TO CANADA

Indians See Prophecies Fulfilled—800 Head Loosed in Alberta.

Calgary, Alberta.—The buffalo have returned to the north country. The prophecy of the oldest Indians, repeated from generation to generation, has been fulfilled. A legend has materialized.

Samuel Hearne reported that the northland of Canada was full of buffalo 160 years ago. Then they disappeared, and for many decades the Indians awaited in vain for fulfillment of the promise made by their medicine men that they would return.

That the buffalo, when they did come back, arrived in modern steel scows, towed by a snorting river steamboat, mattered not a whit to the new generation of Indians who have clung to the truth of the old medicine men's legend.

As the rays of a setting sun slanted out across the waters of the Slave river, in northern Alberta, bathing aspen bluffs and wild meadow in pink splendor, 200 young prairie buffalo from the federal government reserve at Wainwright were unloaded from river scows and were turned loose in the woods and grassland of the sub-arctic.

2,000 Head to Be Shipped.

These animals are the vanguard of 2,000 head which will be shipped during the summer and autumn from Wainwright, where the government herd has outgrown the preserve originally set apart for it. They are being sent to mingle with the wood bison, a different animal altogether, but a species with which it is hoped that the erstwhile "monarchs of the plains" will mingle in amity.

None of the wood bison was in sight, when the young buffalo, with massive heads lowered and bellowing furiously, charged into their new domain as they were liberated from the scows.

One of the moot points in connection with the shipment of buffalo to the north and one upon which the success of the experiment depends is whether the smaller prairie animals will be able to fraternize with the wood bison or whether they will be forced to fight for existence against large numbers of larger and stronger animals.

It had been hoped that one or more herds of the wood bison would be in the offing when the prairie habitants arrived, in order that their reactions might be noted at once and data supplied to the federal department of the interior. Failing this rangers of the wood bison patrol will follow the buffalo inland until they come into contact with the original denizens of the northland.

800 Miles From Their Home.

The first shipment of buffalo are now more than 800 miles from their home, having traveled north by rail, penned in special steel cars, and up the Slave river by boat. Although to all intents and purposes as wild as they were in the days of the Indian and fenceless range, little difficulty was experienced in branding the young animals, or in loading them on train and boat. The first shipment was carried out without accident or incident.

Hopes that great herds of a new species will be evolved in the north have resulted from experimental breeding operations at Wainwright, where crosses between the buffalo and domestic cattle have produced a sturdy animal, called, for want of a better name, the "cattalo."

At the same time the buffalo have been interbred successfully with the northern yak, a smaller, but not less sturdy animal, and one animal on the Wainwright reserve, the only one of its kind in the world, is a cross between a buffalo-yak and a domestic animal.

If the prairie buffalo mingle equally well with the wood bison it is probable that the whole prairie herd, the largest in the world, numbering about 10,000 animals, will be shipped to the hinterland of Alberta in the near future.

Louisiana Planter Uses Speedboat in Business

Plaquemine, La.—Miss Plaquemine, a hydrospeed boat constructed by Henry N. Sherburne of Plaquemine, is capable of making a mile in 58 seconds.

Miss Plaquemine with the eight other members of the fleet, is the result of the need of Mr. Sherburne for a rapid means of transportation over the bayous of Louisiana in visiting his business enterprises scattered along these channels. It has no underwater propeller, being driven by a 90-horsepower airplane motor mounted on the stern, using a propeller of the type mounted on planes. The boat is 20 feet long and 7 feet wide, and, when traveling at full speed, draws only two inches of water, while at slow speed it draws six inches.

Miss Plaquemine accommodates three passengers and a pilot, who controls the boat from a steering post similar to an automobile.

Its inventor claims that it will maintain an average speed of 50 miles an hour throughout a day without injury to the motor.

Bigelow and daughter, Miss Elymore, and Mrs. J. W. Fenn were callers in Port Austin Thursday afternoon. While there, they visited the Boy Scout camp which Rev. I. W. Cargo and several Cass City boys are attending. They found everyone feeling at his very best, learning many things in campcraft, and having a fine time in general. Several users of city water in Sandusky have been trying to "put one over" on the city. An extra amount of water was used during the month of June, forcing the city pumping plant to work almost continuously to keep up with the demand. City officials, quietly investigating the cause, found that many who had no lawn taps, have been hooking garden hose to kitchen and cellar taps and using water on lawns and garden without paying $3.75 a season for sprinkling purposes. A number of people were called on to pay the lawn tap tax and immediately complained that they had no lawn tap. It was pointed out that as they had used the water for sprinkling purposes they were subject to the tax. Cass City has found the metering of water very satisfactory and Sandusky would probably reach the same conclusion if they were to install meters as every man then pays in proportion to the amount of water used. Quite a number of the members of the local Evangelical church attended the closing sessions of the state convention of the Woman's Missionary society at Bay Shore Park at Sebawaing Sunday afternoon and evening. The choir and men's chorus of the Cass City church contributed musical numbers to the program. This week the Sunday school and Evangelical League of Christian Endeavor are holding conventions at the park, the closing sessions of which will be held next Sunday when Dr. W. T. Teel, president of Schuykill College at Reading, Pa., and Prof. E. N. Himmel of North-Western College at Naperville, Ill., will give addresses. Officers hope to have 1,000 present at the Sunday school session on the morning of Aug. 16. The camp meeting section of the assembly commences on Monday, Aug. 17, and closes Sunday, Aug. 23. Rev. Berger, former general secretary of the Evangelical League of Christian Endeavor, will give addresses at day sessions of Aug. 19 to 23. Rev. H. W. Link of Owosso will preach at all the evening meetings of the week.

Oats: There was a gain of 11 per cent in condition since one month ago, the present figure being 70 per cent, equivalent to a production of 46,267,000 bushels in comparison with 67,200,000 last year. Eight per cent of the old crop is still on farms as compared with six per cent one year ago. The country's crop totals 1,387,349,000 bushels while that of last year amounted to 1,541,900,000 bushels. Potatoes: The stand varies greatly in different localities and in individual fields, but, on the whole, the outlook is for a normal crop, the condition being 81 per cent. This condition, if maintained to the end of the season, will result in a crop of 26,629,000 bushels against a production of 35,252,000 in 1924, 35,796,000 in 1923, and 37,842,000 in 1922. The total for the country is estimated at 353,266,000, which is 101,518,000 bushels less than last year's crop. Beans: While there are some thin and uneven stands, the greater part of the fields are in excellent condition. The present outlook is for 88 per cent of a crop, a gain of six points over last month and five per cent above the ten-year average, and equivalent to a crop of 7,282,000 bushels. If this volume is realized it will be the largest on record for the state. The 1924 crop totaled 5,848,000 bushels. Sugar Beets: Sugar beets have also made a decided gain over the July 1 report, the condition being 82 per cent. While there are some more or less irregular stands, the majority of making an excellent growth. Dis-the acreage has a normal stand and eases common to the plant have caused but little damage to date. Fruits: Apples are of excellent quality and show a prospective total crop of 3,356,000 bushels of which 1,448,000 barrels are rated as commercial. These figures are a little higher than last year. The crop is lightest in the southwest counties and the percentage generally increases northward through the state. Winter varieties are relatively better than summer and fall. INTERESTING TOUR IN THE HOME STATE Concluded from first page. Miss Alvina Lang, a former Cass City teacher. Next came Charlevoix, Petoskey and Harbor Springs. From this place there is a beautiful one-way drive through the woods for 23 miles, to Cross Village, an Indian town. At Mackinac City they took a boat across the Straits of Mackinac to St. Ignace. This town had staged a celebration, and the evergreen decorations and beautiful floats were still in evidence. Next came a drive through 60 miles of burnt-over woods to Sault Ste. Marie. This trail was brightened by a few log cabins and Indian wigwams; one place having a natural boulevard, consisting of a huge stone in the center of the road. This part of the country is not particularly interesting to those accustomed to good roads and a bounteous crop production, as many fields of corn were not as high as potato vines. However, the Soo has one enticing feature, the government locks. These are the longest in the world—1350 feet in length and 80 feet wide. Returning to Mackinac City, the Lenzner family continued along the eastern coast, visiting Editor Ferguson of the Alpena News, and Mrs. A. A. Parker in Bay City. While traveling a "woody" trail from Traverse City to Petoskey late Friday night, the occupants of a large sedan attempted to "hold up" the tourists, but due to a good stretch of road and plenty of gas, their attempt was foiled. The total distance covered on the trip was 1250 miles. THE GOLDEN IDOL BEING TORN DOWN It is not many years since a man's wealth was the measure of his success. His dollars told the story. Today, educators, philosophers, scientists and the world's economists believe that achievement is rapidly taking the place of money as the emblem of success. People marvel at Henry Ford rather because of the millions of motor cars he has produced than on account of his enormous fortune. Stinmetz, of his own choosing, left a very small estate when he died. What people admired and what he leaves as his epitaph was his accomplishment. Rockefeller, senior, used to be famous mainly as the world's richest man. In time his dollars will be eclipsed by his organizing genius and his wisdom in spending millions for medical research and education. The golden idol is being torn down. In its place is the idol of accomplishment, which is just another name for service to humanity. Then the public recognizes as great successes men who never create a fortune, men who overcome heredity handicaps, men who, by hard work and determination make a fair and honest living and educate their children. All these are successes—great successes—in the eyes of Americans today. Success is not so much a matter of result, but in character and doing the best we can with limited abilities and opportunities. Life is a spiritual gymnasium, not a Klondike or prize fight. —Charlotte Tribune. EVERYBODY WORKS FATHER. "How is your harvesting coming along?" queried one farmer of another on the street the other day. "Oh pretty well," replied the party of the second part, "we work in shifts over at our place, all the he members of the family shifting the responsibilities on the old man, as far as possible."—Exchange. FOR THE FAMILY TABLE When salad materials are low, scrape and grind enough uncooked carrots to make a cupful or two, adding a bit of onion juice and a stalk or two of minced celery. Mix with a good mayonnaise and serve on a tender leaf of lettuce. A sprinkle of nuts, even coarsely rolled peanuts adds to this salad. Stewed Pig's Knuckles. —Wash three pounds of fresh pig's knuckles and score the skin. Rub them with a tablespoonful of salt and dust with pepper. Place in a kettle with enough water to cover them, cover closely and simmer two and one-half hours. Add six sweet potatoes, pared and cut into strips and cook three-quarters of an hour longer. Take out the meat, remove the skin and bones, lay the meat on a platter with a border of potatoes. To every cupful of the liquid in which the meat was cooked add two tablespoonfuls of flour mixed to a paste with one tablespoonful of water, one tablespoonful of horseradish and one-half teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Cook until thickened. Serve with fried apples or jellied cranberries. Baked Fish.—Fish would be so much better enjoyed if the bones were removed. This is not a difficult task and baking a fish that is stuffed increases its attractiveness. After cutting the fish down the center, remove the bone by cutting with a sharp knife, beginning at the tail. Most of the bones will be removed with the back bone. Lay in the well-seasoned stuffing, sew up and bake as usual. Vegetarian Gravy.—Chop one small onion and carrot and brown in two tablespoonfuls of butter. Dissolve a bouillon cube in one cupful of hot water, add to vegetables and simmer for 20 minutes. Strain, thicken with flour and butter, adding a dash of Worcestershire sauce and kitchen bouquet. Ginger Sandwiches.—Mince very fine preserved ginger, moisten with enough of the sirup to spread easily, add a few saited almonds finely chopped and use as filling. Prepare and cut as usual. Baker Business University Excels in Efficiency Efficiency depends upon methods of instruction, kinds of text books used, the mental and moral qualities of the teachers with whom the student associates, and, in addition to all this, the inspiration for thorough work, for high standards of attainment, and for earnest endeavor—these intangible things are as much a part of what this school has to offer as is the course of study itself. Baker Business University has for its sole purpose the promotion of efficiency in the young men and young women who follow its courses of study. Students may enroll any time now for Fall opening, September 2. For information, ELDON E. BAKER, Pres., Flint, Michigan.

SAFETY IN TRAFFIC RULES IF OBEYED

Never pass a street car that has stopped to take on or let off passengers. Automobiles should come to a stop at a distance of fifteen feet behind the street car, starting again only after the car has started.

FILLED RADIATOR IS BIG CONCERN

Water Circulation Is Essential Feature of Most Gasoline Engines.

Frequently, the most serious engine malady, leading to overheating, may have such a simple origin that it seems scarcely necessary to call it to the attention of either experienced or inexperienced motorists. Such is the mere neglect to fill the radiator with water.

Discover Trouble. How many times has the careless motorist started on an automobile trip and, after proceeding a short distance, observed steam emanating from the radiator? A great many, of course, with consequent picturesque language and vilification of the manufacturers of the car. The usual sequence of events is as follows: The motorist gets out of his car, raises the hood and looks suspiciously at the engine. The engine looks all right. He then studies the rear axle, and finding nothing wrong there, feverishly examines the running board. After a half hour or so of such investigation, it occurs to him to remove the radiator cap, and he makes the astounding discovery that there is no water in the radiator.

Cure Is Simple. The cure, of course, is very simple—but the danger is that the cure, applied too late, may not be a complete one. For, deprived of the circulation of the water, which is an essential feature of the design of most gasoline engines, a considerable injury may happen to the motor. Low water means a rapid rise in engine temperature, and the only sure way to prevent this, short of remembering to fill the radiator, is to keep an eye on the heat indicator on the radiator cap and to stop and examine when this indicator registers above the danger line.

Simple Test Indicating Suitability of Gasoline

Comprehensive tests of gasoline quality cannot be made without laboratory equipment, and then only by experienced men. There is a simple test, however, that can be taken as directly indicating the suitability of any gasoline for use in an internal combustion engine. This test can be made in a few minutes by any motorist without expense. It is conducted as follows: Into a small porcelain crucible pour about 80 c. c. of the fuel to be tested. Light it and allow it to burn freely till the fuel is entirely consumed. If only a small amount of carbon is left on the side walls of the crucible, and the bottom remains practically clean, the quality of the fuel is good. If the deposit of carbon on the side walls of the crucible is heavy and black, and if there is a thick black residue at the bottom, the gasoline is poor. There, are, of course, any number of degrees of variation between these two extremes.

Primary consideration for judging the quality of gasoline and its suitability for motor vehicle fuel are the relative ease of starting in cool weather, mileage per gallon in ordinary use, heaviness or slowness of carbon deposits in the combustion chamber, and degree of adulteration of the lubricating oil in the crankcase.

Don't "Ride the Clutch" The clutch collar will wear and become noisy if the feet of a motorist are kept on the clutch and brake pedals all the time he is driving. This is a very bad habit, as it also tempts the driver to slip the clutch when slowing down instead of changing to a lower gear. If the clutch is constantly slipping in this way, the clutch plates or faces wear very rapidly and soon are liable to cause the brakes to drag. Keep the feet off these pedals, but have them in such a position that the pedals can be reached instantly.

To Keep Carbon Down To encounter the least amount of trouble from carbon formation, the following rules should be observed: First, keep the piston rings in proper condition. Second, use only the best quality of oil. Third, employ the leanest possible fuel mixture at all times, and fourth, give the engine a dose of carbon-removing compound occasionally.

Lock Emergency Brake When leaving the car in gear as a means of holding it securely, always lock the emergency brake. This serves as a two-way precaution. The main feature of it is that should you forget to put the gears in neutral when cranking, the starter motor would not, or could not, move the car if the emergency brake were set.

Genius Budded Early Douglas Jerrold achieved success on the stage with a farce written when he was fourteen, and William Henry Ireland produced his famous Shakespeare forgeries, and for a time deceived the most learned men in the country, when he was only seventeen.

ANCIENT SUMERIANS' VERSION OF CREATION

Six Tablets Give Their 4,000-Year-Old Story.

Philadelphia.—Man in his early stages propelled himself along the ground with all four limbs, "ate grass with his mouth, like a sheep," and drank from the ditches, according to a translation of six Sumerian tablets, written about 2000 B. C.

A story of the early history of the human race has been pieced together by Dr. Edward Chiera, assistant professor of Assyriology at the University of Pennsylvania.

The presence of the six tablets bearing different copies of the same text proves that the story they tell was considered quite important by the ancient Sumerians, according to Doctor Chiera, who believes that a wide difference of opinion regarding the origin of mankind existed as early as 4,000 years ago.

Story Staged in Seat of the Gods. The story told by the tablets is staged in the Mountain of Heaven and Earth, the seat of the gods and close parallel to the Olympus of Greek mythology. In fact, the Sumerian mountain and Olympus might prove to be one and the same because of the likelihood of finding Sumerian influence in Greek religion, according to Doctor Chiera.

Geographically the Mountain of Heaven and Earth cannot be placed, although the old Babylonians may have thought it was somewhere to the north near Kurdistan or even on the Caucasus range. Close to the mountain may be placed the Garden of Eden.

The Sumerian tale begins with a description of conditions following the creation by the great god Anu of a lower order of deities called the Anunna. At that time there had not yet come into existence the god representing cereals, the story declares. Hence there were no grains to eat. Likewise the god representing the flocks and herds had not yet been made, and so there were no animals and meat to eat. Even the semi-divine being more or less corresponding to the Biblical Eve had not yet appeared, according to the Sumerian chroniclers, who apparently summed up their conception of conditions on earth with the following six lines:

Mankind, in the day of their appearance, Bred for eating, they knew not, Garments for wearing they knew not, The people walked with the (four) limbs upon the ground, They ate grass with their mouth like sheep, They drank water from the ditches.

Patrons of Foods Provided. Then followed the creation by the gods of the two patrons of cereals and flocks, interesting figures because they resemble the Ceres and Pan of the Roman and Greek religions. With the creation of these two patrons, conditions changed, and the Anunna had plenty of food.

Next there appears in the story the god Enki, who is always represented as being a good friend of mankind, and who intercedes with the god Enlil in behalf of his friends by pointing out that the flocks and grains had multiplied in the Mountain of Heaven and Earth and suggesting that they now be permitted to leave the mountain and spread over the rest of the earth.

The desired permission is granted and the cereals and flocks then replenish the earth for the benefit of mankind. With their coming, the land experiences abundance, and mankind, according to the version on the Sumerian tablets, gets its first start toward civilization.

Irrigation machines and the yoke appear, granaries are built and filled with food, living creatures come into existence, laws are established, and wherever the cereals and flocks, as exemplified by the two patrons, appear prosperity reigns.

Japs Take Measures to Increase Food Supply

Tokyo.—The food and population problem still continues the most serious one confronting Japan. At a recent meeting of high officials of the department of agriculture and forestry, it was decided the government should revise the regulations for opening up and bringing land under cultivation. The officials were of the opinion that there are considerable areas in Hokkaido and Korea which might be tilled if proper encouragement were offered settlers.

It was stated that, while the area of land in Japan and the volume of food-stuffs have been materially increased, the rate of increase has begun to fall off lately and is not keeping pace with the increase of population. Consequently, additional inducements are to be offered newcomers in districts still open to settlement.

Bandit Plies Trade While Studying to Become Cop

Los Angeles, Cal.—Before receiving his diploma from the Los Angeles police training school, George A. Mollet, twenty-four, was a pay-roll bandit, detectives said when they arrested the man as he walked his patrolman's beat in the Hollywood district.

After acquiring his diploma and police uniform, Mollet is alleged to have spent his spare evenings robbing romantic couples who parked their automobiles beside a shaded highway in the Hollywood hills.

He was booked at the city jail as a robbery suspect.

Peck.—E. C. Jefferies, chief clerk R. M. S. conferred with F. D. Gouldberg, general manager D. C. S. railroad, on July 29th in connection with petitions relative to establishment of mail service on Detroit, Caro & Sandusky railroad. Under interstate commerce commission order of Dec. 25, 1919, the maximum pay allowed would only amount to about $3,000.00 on 48 miles of road. Mr. Gouldberg stated that this amount of revenue did not warrant regular train operation of any kind, therefore no further action can be taken in the matter at this time. Mr. Jefferies suggested that Star route service be established from Snover via Decker and Hemans to Kingston and discontinue the Star route from Marlette via Snover and Decker to Hemans.—Times.

Snover.—A dairy meeting and picnic sponsored by the Thumb Jersey Breeders' association will be held at the Andrew Tyrell farm, 1/2 mile south of Snover on Aug. 21. H. E. Dennison of the American Jersey Cattle club and Mr. Booth of Chicago will give addresses.

WHAT THIS GRADE-MARK TRADE-MARK MEANS TO YOU

It means responsible manufacture and uniform grading at the mill—every piece plainly identified and in accordance with the rigid grading rules adopted by this association. It saves you money and takes the guesswork out of your lumber utilization, Northern Hemlock grades being based upon the broad economic ground of their relative usefulness to you. On your Hemlock load-bearing dimension—studding, rafters and joists, it guarantees they are extra standard size (more wood and strength to the piece) insuring greater strength and rigidity to your framing.

Add to this the facts that native Hemlock is immune to dry-rot, that it takes and holds paints perfectly and you'll appreciate the many advantages and investment value in Northern Hemlock construction—framing, underflooring, sheathing, siding and exterior trim.

Yes, it pays to use good lumber of known quality and full standard size. BUY BY THE GRADE-MARK. Save money. Your Lumber Dealer will gladly assist you in selecting the right grade for the right purpose.

LETTER ON WAY FOR 37 YEARS

Eventually Reaches Addressee at Tacoma, Wash.

Tacoma, Wash.—Haakon Bader, who left Norway in 1888, recently received a letter mailed from his birthplace shortly afterward. During its 37 years' wanderings, the missive had been handled by the postal services in five different nations.

The letter written by Bader's father, long since dead, expressed his love and good wishes for his sailor son and contained photographs of Bader's parents.

When Bader, a lad of eighteen, went to sea from his native village of Kragero, Norway, the letter followed him to Cardiff, Wales, but arrived shortly after he had sailed for Buenos Aires. He had also left Buenos Aires when it reached that city, and it was turned over to the Danish consul there.

There it lay in the consular files, while Bader pursued his seafaring life over most of the world, including a visit to his home village. Later he joined the gold rush to Alaska and then came to Tacoma, where he opened a cigar store.

Some two months ago someone discovered the ancient letter in the consular files at Buenos Aires, and it was returned to its place of origin. There friends gave postal authorities Bader's last known address in Tacoma.

War Vet, Picture Bride, Must Wed in Bermuda

New York.—Red tape was so tightly bound around John Alexizakes, war veteran, of Billings, Mont., and his picture bride, Theodora Giataganas, recently arrived from Greece, that they had to leave the United States to marry.

The two sailed on a steamer for Hamilton, Bermuda, where government officials have arranged for their marriage. Then they will go to Mr. Alexizakes' home in Billings.

Theodora came to Canada to become John's bride. John had fallen in love with Theodora's picture, sent from his old home in Greece. A marriage was arranged.

The bride-to-be inadvertently informed Canadian officials that the two were planning to make their home in the States. So she was sent to Ellis island for deportation.

The government wouldn't allow the two to be married on American soil. In order to overcome the technicalities of the law, the government informed Alexizakes and his picture bride that they could wed in Bermuda, and the girl then could return to this country as the wife of an American citizen.

Boss Bans Nude Colors; Girl Employees Protest

Cardiff.—The manager of a large business house has created consternation among his women employees and those of other concerns, by issuing instructions that his staff must not wear champagne-colored or flesh-colored stockings during business hours.

This has developed into quite a controversy and the great question of the day is "Are light stockings and abbreviated skirts permissible for business girls?"

One girl has revolted and resigned rather than wear the orthodox black stockings. She says: "My stockings do not interfere with my efficiency, and there is no reason why, because I am a business girl, I should not be smart. Besides, in this hot weather light stockings make one feel cooler. Anyhow, they look cooler."

Resents Slur

Fresno, Cal.—John W. Benton, thirty-eight, World war veteran and itinerant automobile tourist, shot and killed an unidentified youth on the state highway near here. Beautiful Chinese Glass

Excelling in all branches of the ceramic art, China does not seem to have given the same amount of attention to the making of glass. It was mentioned by a Chinese writer in 627 A. D., but little is known of the manufacture before the Eighteenth century.

The Chinese are making today glass of extreme beauty of color and of graceful shapes, flat bowls, vases, small dishes. The colors are greens, blues, soft yellow and a glowing ruby, all of them translucent and showing to wonderful advantage against the light.

Well Ventilated Poultry House Adapted for Use in Cold Climates

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all problems pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on the subject. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1837 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

A new type of poultry house which utilizes the lath baffle for providing fresh air and the straw loft to absorb the moisture, has been built, tried, and found to give very satisfactory results in meeting the problem of ventilation. This is an important development because the ventilating of poultry houses has always been very difficult. Inability to properly ventilate such a house always results in having an excessive amount of moisture which is very detrimental in the raising of poultry.

This type of house is one in which observations have been made in various parts of Wisconsin for three years, and it can be recommended for cold climates. It is relatively cheap and besides giving good results in the winter, it is cooler during the summer by ten degrees than the poultry house with a shed type of roof such as is ordinarily built.

Since a uniform temperature is desirable it is necessary to increase the insulation over the roosting sections. A false ceiling of 2 by 6-inch rafters is provided, upon which are placed 1 by 4s spaced 3 inches apart. Over this false ceiling is placed a heavy layer of straw. The rear of the false ceiling drops to within 5 feet of the floor. With the drop at the rear, 3 feet additional insulation is secured over the roosts, which, conserves warmth for the flock while roosting. The straw loft not only absorbs the moisture but acts as an insulator as well.

Ventilating doors are placed on both ends of the house. On mild days the doors should be opened. This will create a draft over the straw pack and remove the moisture and promote dryness.

An objection to the straw pack which many will make is that it will harbor mites. No fear need be had of this if the roosts and nests are properly treated once a year. A yearly change of straw is not even necessary when the ventilating doors are properly operated.

There are three sets of windows each made up of three sash six 8 by 10-inch lights. With such long windows an abundance of sunlight is assured over the entire floor. The upper sash should be hinged at the top, so that it may be opened to allow direct sunlight. During the summer both the windows and bafflers should be removed. One-inch mesh wire over the outside of the frames will prevent entrance of sparrows.

In addition to the windows on the south side three windows, each of four 8 by 10-inch lights, may be placed on the north side under the dropping boards. This will prevent the litter collecting in this section and will give a more even distribution, as hens face the light when scratching. This arrangement will also help in summer ventilation. If windows are placed on the north side they should be covered with storm sash during the winter months.

The lath baffle for admitting fresh air is constructed of ordinary building lath. For the house illustrated, two lath bafflers are required, each 2 by 4 feet, or an allowance of 1 square foot of baffle to 25 square feet of floor area. In making the lath bafflers the lath are nailed on both sides of a 3/4-inch frame, 3/8 of an inch apart. The lath on one side are nailed so as to break the openings between the lath on the other side. This will prevent rain, snow and wind from entering the house. This type of baffle admits fresh air without drafts.

Care should be taken in the construction of the baffle that spacing is not made greater than that given, as it has been found that with greater spacing the house will cool too rapidly and allow drafts during sudden outside temperature and wind conditions.

The plan illustrated is a 20 by 20-foot house accommodating a flock of 125 hens. This type of house may be built in units to suit the needs of the individual poultryman, and has been built as long as 100 feet.

Underwear for House Is Important Problem

Houses are getting prouder. Until recently they were satisfied with an overcoat of wood or stone to keep the rain and snow out, but now they have to have underwear to keep the heat in when it is cold and the heat out when it is hot.

Formerly houses were built of strong weatherproof material and little thought was given to building material with relation to heating. The heating plant was expected to do that; but now, according to Prof. A. C. Willard, head of the department of mechanical engineering at the University of Illinois, builders are clothing the inside walls and ceilings of houses to prevent the dissipation of heat.

The rising price of fuel has forced builders to study underwear for houses and today there are literally dozens of materials, cheap and easy to apply, that will serve as a lining to houses. Experiments have shown that a covering at least twice as heavy on the ceiling as that on the walls is justified on top floor rooms, as the passage of heat through the ceiling is enormous compared with the walls.

According to a recent report of the United States bureau of standards, if the heat loss through exterior walls and ceilings could be reduced even 10 per cent, the annual saving of coal to the nation would be about eight million short tons. According to Professor Willard, twice this saving could be made with properly lined walls.

As it is seldom possible to take the present standard building materials and modify them, it is necessary to use special linings which serve as insulation for the homes.

In addition to the lining for the walls, it is advisable to use metal weather strips to keep out the wind with its dust, smoke and soot which leaks in through windows and doors. Every pound of cold air which comes in through windows and doors supposed to be air-tight has to be heated and to no effect.

The cost of wall and ceiling insulation, including weather stripping, is no longer prohibitive. The house of the future will not only be more comfortable in winter and summer, but the size and operating cost of its heating plant will be, in general, far less than in our present houses. The actual money saving in the operation of the heating plant alone will pay for the underwear and weather strips in a few years.

High Cow in B. F. Has Record of 72.9

A.R. Knowles of Kingston, a breeder of Guernsey cattle, has high cow in butterfat for the month of June, with a record of 1488 pounds of milk and 72.9 pounds fat. Fred Adams of Fairgrove comes a close second with a Jersey with a record of 72.4 pounds fat. Mr. Adams again has high herd in butterfat with six purebred Jerseys averaging 793.5 pounds of milk and 45.3 pounds fat. This makes three months that Mr. Adams has had high herd.

Fourteen cows produced over 50 pounds fat for the month and 22 from 40 to 50 pounds fat. Twenty-six produced over 1250 pounds of milk and 46 from 1000 to 1200 pounds. Twenty-six cows were dry from a total of 314 and the average production was 739.3 pounds milk and 26.8 pounds fat. Three new cows were entered during the month and three unprofitable cows were sent to the block. Howard Fenner of Fairgrove has installed a new electric separator to replace the one that was losing fat and two members are considering installation of milking machines.

Twenty-two members out of thirty-one fed grain during the month. Several herds of cattle in the vicinity of Cass City are to be tested for tuberculosis in the near future in preparation for the local fair.
