

CLUB EXHIBITORS WIN MANY PRIZES

EXCEPTIONAL SHOWING MADE IN CLUB AND OPEN CLASSES AT STATE FAIR.

James McTavish's Holstein Heifer Placed as Grand Champion for Second Time.

Willis Campbell and his club team have made good their boasts of "doing something" at the state fair by some exceptional showings in club work and open class.

One of the outstanding animals shown was James McTavish's Holstein heifer which was awarded 1925 grand champion female. For this, it was necessary to compete with the winners from all of the classes, approximately one hundred entries. The same heifer was also 1924 grand champion.

In the Holstein division, the Tuscola county entries placed as follows: Heifer, 2 years old or over, first James McTavish.

Senior yearling heifer, first, Norman Carpenter.

Junior yearling heifer, second, Arthur Battel.

All the above are from Cass City.

Senior heifer calf, first, Wiley Kirk, Fairgrove.

Herd of 4 females from one club, first, Cass City.

Herd of 7 females from one county, second, Tuscola.

Junior heifer calf, fifth, C. Kirk, Fairgrove.

Herd of 4 females, fourth, Cass City-Fairgrove.

Several of the boys also showed in open class, placing in the various classes as follows: Fourth, James McTavish, fourth, Delos Parrish, fifth, Norman Carpenter, seventh, Arthur Battel. While there must be good material to win in club work, the open class competition is necessarily much greater. The showings made by the boys, are further proof of the excellent quality of the local club boys' calves.

A second outstanding winning was made in the Chester White division when Clarence Dodge's gilt was awarded Reserved Junior Champion in the open class. This is the first time that a club pig has received this award. The other winnings in this class were as follows:

Junior boar, first, Harold McGrath; Junior sow, first, Harry Reagh; second, Clarence Dodge; third, Harold McGrath; fourth, Raymond Wallace; fifth, Lorene McGrath; sixth, Donald Schenk; eighth, Allen Kiri; ninth, C. C. Blades. Seventh place went to a Washtenaw county entry.

Junior pig herd, first, second, Cass City.

In the open class, Clarence Dodge's pig took first place, Harry Reagh's second and Harold McGrath's fifth. Cass City boys took first in breeder's young herd and third in boar.

In spite of the many winnings, there was considerable competition in this class. For this reason, the winnings of the local team is all the more significant.

In the Duroc class the gilt owned by Raymond Wallace surprised everyone by winning as Reserved Junior Champion in the open class over pigs from Hillsdale county which had placed above the Wallace entry in the club class. The entry of four gilts in the club class from Tuscola county placed fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth, and in the Junior pig herd the Durocs from Tuscola county placed second.

Mr. Campbell is much pleased with the Tuscola county showings inasmuch as Hillsdale county had seven carloads of club stock for exhibition in all classes as compared with one and one-half carloads from Tuscola.

In the Holstein division, Tuscola county's prizes amounted to $234, and in the Chester White pig division, the prizes totaled $245.50. Practically all of this amount goes to the Cass City entries, as but two or three of the entries placing were from other points in the county.

In the boys' milking contest held Thursday evening, contestants finished with the following percentages: Coe Emmons, Hillsdale, 98%; J. C. Blade, Cass City, 93.7%; Arthur Graham, Hillsdale, 93.3%; James McTavish, Cass City, 90.3%; Keith McConkey, Cass City, 83%; M. Austin, Washtenaw county, 82.1%.

The Cass City team finished with the best team score. Hillsdale was second and Washtenaw third.

In the elimination Friday evening in which the three highest contestants in both the boys' and girls' classes were entered, Arthur Graham of Hillsdale finished in first place with a score of 98.2 and J. C. Blade second with 98.

The milking contest was decided on three counts—time, quantity milked and the amount of strippings. J. C. Blades milked 11.2 pounds in three minutes and 45 seconds. The strippings weighed 2-10 pound.

LAKE LEVELS ARE SURE TO RAISE

RECORDS SHOW THAT APPEARANCE OF ROCKS ON SHORES IS PERIODICAL.

Will the level of Lake Huron come back to make Huron county shores attractive as they were a few years ago? This question which is being asked by property owners, resorters and real estate dealers is probably answered by the graphical sheet issued by the U. S. Lake Survey showing that the lake levels have had a natural fluctuation varying from a few inches to several feet in a year.

Thirty years ago Lake Huron was practically as low as it is now, the difference noted in the record being less than a foot, the level of Dec. 1895 being 579 feet above sea level, the lowest up to that time. From that point the lake gradually raised, with its seasonal fluctuations, until in 1908 and again in 1918 it was three feet above the level of 1895. In 1920 the line lowers again, the summer gain registering less than in previous years. The downward tendency was much the same as during the few years previous to 1895.

If the waters follow the cycle of previous years they will gradually begin to raise this year or next, the general level going up until in four or five years it will be back to a point where it will cover the rocks that have been left high and dry during the last two years.

Old time residents state that the same distress over the lowering of the lake level has been the topic of discussion at different times in the country's history, the present condition being temporary, according to their opinion. The fact that the level of the lakes is always varying and has always recovered from previous drops makes the present situation more optimistic than the general impression given by most of stories in print during 1925.—Bad Axe Tribune.

Removing Rust Stains

Rust stains that do not yield to the action of ordinary household scouring powders, should be rubbed with a piece of cloth moistened with a weak solution of oxalic acid. Make the solution by dissolving one teaspoonful of oxalic crystals in a half glass of hot water. If the rust spot is not removed by this treatment the iron is probably combined with the enamel in such a way as to stain it permanently.

South African Boer

The word "Boer" is merely Dutch for farmer. Most of the South Africans of Dutch descent being farmers, the name came to be applied to all of them, regardless of occupation. Incidentally it is a near relative of the English word "boor," which originally meant simply a peasant.

Hog House, Corn Crib and Granary, and Poultry House to Save Labor

By WILLIAM A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all problems pertaining to the subject of building work on the farm, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on the subject. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

When big business executives plan new factory buildings they spend large amounts of money employing high-priced experts to study their manufacturing requirements in order that their buildings shall be properly grouped and the machinery within the buildings properly grouped to save time and labor in the progress of the manufacturing process. Experience has taught these men that money so spent is a good investment and will come back to them many times over in the reduced manufacturing costs which result.

In one sense the farm may be said to be simply a manufacturing plant. It is true that nature is one of the chief factors in turning out farm products but labor, machinery, raw materials and storage space and working plants are also involved, and in many respects the process is similar to the manufacturing process. And the same methods which have proved profitable in manufacturing can often be applied to farm production. One of these is the grouping of farm buildings and the arrangement of these buildings.

In the photograph reproduced here we see three farm buildings which have been well grouped for profitable production. At the left is the hog house, at the right the poultry house while between is the corn crib and granary serving both with equal facility.

These three buildings are of similar construction all being frame construction with shingled roofs, and in addition to their practical utility they are built in the same style, which adds an air of neatness and efficiency to the whole group. This is an item not to be overlooked. It has a real value in creating the same sort of an air in the morale of farm employees. There is not a man, not even the farm owner himself, but that will work harder and better in an atmosphere of neatness and efficiency.

The hog house is of the gable-roof type and contains 12 farrowing pens, six along each side of the building, which are separated by a feed alley. The feed alley has a concrete floor and trough but the pens are all floored with planks. This building is 46 feet long and 24 feet wide and there is a concrete feeding floor, outside the walls, on each side of the building. Wire fencing at each side provides tight hog yards.

The corn crib and granary is 46 feet long and 26 feet wide, and is so constructed that it will house a power elevator. There is a central driveway through this building and at one side three corn cribs occupy the entire space. At the other side there are two corn cribs, of a little larger size and between is the stairway and the elevator space. The stairway leads up to the grain bins which are located above the cribs.

The poultry house is of the saw-tooth-roof type and measures 20 feet by 28 feet. It is large enough to house more than 100 chicks. There is an entrance at the front, at each end, which gives access through a passage to four separate rooms in which are provided roosts and nests. These are shut off from each other by doors. At the back, each of these rooms opens into a separate scratch floor which in turn opens onto an outside runway. The openings onto the runways are closed when desired by means of canvas curtains.

Use of Short Lumber

Would Cut House Cost

Through their failure to buy short lengths of lumber for the construction of small houses, many builders are losing money, both in the waste of materials and loss of time by carpenters, according to a report issued by the Department of Commerce.

These builders, who constantly buy the regular lengths for the construction of the house, lose money because their carpenters must spend time in cutting the lumber into smaller lengths, and that which is left over goes to waste because the builder has no new operation on which to use it.

Such a plan, it can easily be seen, is not only expensive to the builder, but must necessarily be saddled onto the prospective purchaser of the house, the report says.

A survey of the construction uses of short lengths of lumber was made by the Department of Commerce and the Central Committee on Lumber Standards to determine the practicability of buying short lengths of softwood yard lumber for use in the building of small and medium-size houses of lumber construction.

The study shows that in 20 houses, taking 46,842 pieces of lumber, nearly 33 per cent of the lumber used was under 8 feet in length. Nearly 11 per cent was of lumber from 8 to 9 feet, while more than 56 per cent was more than 9 feet in length. That is to say, one-third of all the lumber delivered to the operation in long lengths was cut into lengths of less than 8 feet during the process of construction, while an additional 11 per cent was cut into 8 to 9 foot-lengths.

Four districts were selected in which this survey was conducted—Washington, Philadelphia, Chicago and Kansas City. The houses in the Philadelphia district were at South Ardmore, Pa., and Haddonfield, N. J., while the houses in Kansas City and Washington districts were within the city limits. In the Chicago district they were located at Hammond and Gary, Ind.

The survey showed that in the Eastern district the lumber house was virtually of one size, consisting of six rooms and bath, and that when a larger or more pretentious house was desired, brick, stone, stucco or tile was used. The largest lumber houses were found in Kansas City.

Data and charts prepared by the National Lumber Manufacturers' association and presented at the May 1, 1925, lumber conference, show that 5.3 per cent, or about 1,350,000,000 feet of the total softwood yard lumber produced, is under 8 feet, and that 5.5 per cent, of 1,690,000,000 feet, is from 8 to 9 feet.

The lengths less than 8 feet can be purchased at an average reduction of about $9 per thousand feet for common lumber and about $12.50 for select lumber, these prices being f. o. b. mill. It can be seen, therefore, that the purchase of short lengths of lumber would result in national economy through closer lumber utilization as well as a saving in price.

Thoughts

Everything may be learned—even virtue. We should do everything to let good people have their own way. To be always occupied with the duties of others never with our own—alas! There are those who have only fragments; they have not enough of the material to make a coat. Without duty, life is soft and boneless; it can no longer sustain itself.—Joseph Joubert.

Getting to a Point

Father and son were having, so father imagined, a heart-to-heart talk. Said father: "And what do you plan to be when you graduate from college?" The son lighted a fresh cigarette and strolled to the window. "Do you know," said he, turning at length, "soon that will no longer be an academic question?"

Law's Defects

Laws are like cobwebs; if anything small or weak falls into them they hold it fast; if of any size, it breaks the meshes and escapes.—Solon.

Magellan's Travels

Magellan was killed in the Philippine islands on his voyage around the world. The trip started in 1519 and was completed in 1522, but without its leader. However, on this voyage he had sailed westward to longitude 124 degrees east of Greenwich, while on an earlier trip he had sailed eastward to 130 degrees east of Greenwich, so it can truthfully be said that Magellan circumnavigated the globe.

Michigan Happenings

Dr. William O. Hotchkiss, chairman of the Wisconsin state highway commission, has accepted the presidency of the Michigan College of Mines at Houghton, according to an announcement by the college board. He has returned to his home in Madison to wind up his business, preparatory to returning here to assume his new duties when the college fall term opens. Dr. Hotchkiss succeeds Dr. F. W. McNair, who was killed in a railroad accident in Illinois a year ago. Dr. Hotchkiss conferred with the board of control.

Passenger travel through the Keweenaw waterway reached its peak for the 1925 season in August, according to the monthly statement by George H. Banks, engineer in charge of freight and passengers carried. A total of 8,160 passengers were carried through the waterway in August compared with 6,378 in July this year, and 7,283 in August last year. Freight shipments through the waterway in August this year amounted to 183,363 tons against 124,656 tons in July, 1924, and 142,621 in August last year.

Wilmot Jones, 23 years old, son of a broker, held in connection with the death of John (Blackie) Vieltkoft, cook for a Grand Trunk Railway construction crew at Battle Creek, was freed by Justice Paschal Hughes after preliminary examination at Marshall. Vieltkoft's body, pierced with six bullets, was found on a lonely road between Bellevue and Marshall August 19.

The new Ecorse road in Washtenaw County, built at a cost of $146,000 by the State highway construction department with prison forces, was opened to traffic Sept. 12. The new highway connects with the Ecorse road in Wayne County at the county line and will provide a direct paved route from Ypsilanti to Detroit only nine-tenths of a mile longer than the Michigan avenue route.

Altering of the entrance requirements of the University of Michigan continuation of the elaborate building program outlined by the late President Marion L. Burton and encouragement of college athletics will be sponsored by Dr. Clarence Cook Little, new president of the university, when he takes over his office on September 20, he stated in an interview.

Injuries received in a silo filler explosion were fatal to Walter Paulson, 29 years old, of Fruitport, who died at Hackley hospital. Paulson was directing the work between the engine and filler when pieces of steel let go, striking his back and arms. Farmers believe the explosion resulted from an accumulation of gas that wrecked the filler.

At a meeting of the county road commission at Monroe the Thompson Paving Construction company, of Toledo, was awarded the contract for the construction of Saline street in the village of Petersburg, bidding $13,696.45. Carl Kiburtz, of Monroe, was awarded the contract for the purchase of $105,000 bonds on the Heisse road, and $57,000 on the town line road.

Mrs. Florence Prince, 21 years old, Grand Rapids balloonist, narrowly escaped death at Muskegon, when she substituted for Mrs. Frank Stewart, a local balloonist, killed in a fight at White Cloud recently. The balloon became entangled when it left the ground and Mrs. Prince fell 50 feet to the ground. The woman suffered painful, but not serious injuries.

"I had a headache and was just taking the air," Harry Uptegraft, 23, of Detroit, Michigan State Prison inmate, told guards when he returned to the barracks at the west farm after a posse had searched several hours for him. Uptegraft was sentenced from Detroit for from 2 to 14 years for forgery.

Plans have been drawn for a children's ward to be added to Memorial hospital at Owosso at a cost of between $6,000 and $8,000. It will be one of the most modern in the United States. Private donations will finance it. A contagious disease building, just completed, will be opened September 17.

Chased by a bull she was endeavoring to drive out of her orchard, knocked down and gored, Mrs. William Good, 59, of Harris escaped death only as the result of presence of mind. She crawled under the fence as the bull charged for the second time and escaped with a dislocated shoulder and severe bruise about the face and body.

Dr. Lynn Harold Hough, pastor of the Central M. E. church of Detroit, won an indirect approval of his belief and utterances on evolution when a committee investigating similar beliefs of Rev. William H. Phelps, editor of the Michigan Christian Advocate, cleared him of heresy charges. The clearing of Phelps, who printed Rev. Mr. Hough's sermons in his publication, is taken generally by Methodist Episcopal churchmen as assurance that Hough also will be cleared when Detroit conference meets.

The Packard Motor company has filed suit against the city of Detroit in circuit court seeking the return of $74,497.87, declared to be due because of excess taxes levied against the company. The motor concern paid a tax of $265,609.83 under protest, alleging that the law under which the assessment was levied is unconstitutional, and that the difference, $74,497.87, between the old tax rate and the present one, should be returned. Under 1915 tax regulations the company would have been taxed a total of $191,113.96.

After all the testimony had been introduced in the circuit court at Monroe in the case of J. J. Corcoran, of that city, against Fred M. Longnecker, asking for an alleged partnership accounting and for the appointment of a receiver, an amicable adjustment was reached whereby Mr. Corcoran sold out his interest in the business to Mr. Longnecker, who will continue the business. The business was established six years ago for the manufacture of paper dishes and it was asserted that the concern had prospered the daily output was 400,00.

Two new offices are planned for Detroit by Secretary of State, Charles J. DeLand, in order to handle the increasing business of his department. For the sale of auto licenses next January an office will be opened in Convention hall, which will have sufficient capacity to take care of the bulk of the licensing transactions. Mrs. George Stewart, 40 years old, of Muskegon, who has thrilled thousands of Michigan folk, during the several years she has piloted her trade of balloonist and parachute jumper, provided her last thrill at White Cloud when she dropped more than 1500 feet to her death before a throng of 1,200 villagers and farmers, gathered for the annual soldiers' reunion and homecoming. The Methodists of Albion settled to the satisfaction of all concerned the question of lay representation in the annual conference when four prominent churchmen debated the issue before a large crowd. Drs. D. D. Martin and R. T. Baldwin defended the affirmative and Drs. Samuel Dickie and W. W. Diehl, upheld the negative. Dr. John L. Seaton, president of Albion college, presided. The audience acted as judges and gave their decision in favor of the negative.

Light, noiseless street cars which can be operated at half the cost of regular equipment and have the same carrying capacity are being experimented with at Grand Rapids in an effort to meet motor bus competition. The experiments are closely followed by the American Electric Railway association. It is contended that if the cars prove practical, street railways will be able to operate more profitably than buses and will provide more rapid and comfortable transportation.

Hubert, former warden, and now superintendent of construction, explained will be the new dye plant and the towering concrete wall that will surround the 64 acres within the prison.

MODERN EDUCATION

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

THINGS are done better in the schools now, so those who ought to know assert at least, than they ever were. Psychologists, and pedagogues, and architects, and trained nurses have worked hard to look after the child, to tell how to house him in school, what and how to teach him, and how to make him play systematically whether he wants to or not.

We teach him something about almost everything in these days. He can draw cartoons of his teachers, and design and make his own pajamas, and play the saxophone, and bake biscuits, besides knowing something of journalism, and stenography, and basket ball. The extent of the knowledge with which the high school graduate has at least had mental or physical contact is amazing.

As I look back upon the conditions under which I was taught as a boy and consider the educational training of those who acted as my teachers, and compare these things with the conditions of today, I marvel that I ever learned anything. Until I entered college I had but two teachers who had been farther than the eighth grade in their own education. I had one teacher who had had a year or two of high school and another who had graduated from a second-rate college.

We learned only a few things in those illiterate days, but what we learned we learned very well. We could spell and we enjoyed doing it, and learning to spell as we did standing upon our feet, we learned to pronounce common words correctly. Only a small per cent of the young people who come to college today can spell "accommodate" or "sophomore" or "transferred" or "athletics" or "received" or a score of other words which we use almost daily. Not 10 per cent of the young people in college whom I know can pronounce "discharge" or "penalize" even if they were members of the A. E. F. or played upon the village football team, or "illustrate" or "data."

We learned to manage figures pretty easily even "in our heads," to reason and to work out difficult problems. I asked a college freshman a few days ago to give me the square root of 169, and after spending ten minutes with pencil and paper, he gave it up as too much for him. I could have done it at ten in my head and so could any other normal boy in my class.

We learned to parse words and to diagram and to analyze sentences, and to determine the various relationships between them. These are almost unknown accomplishments today, and words and phrases and clauses in present-day compositions go wandering off by themselves, as does the modern young person, without any regard for their parents or other linguistic relatives.

We were taught to read aloud intelligently, and I personally was made in some way to like reading. A few days ago, I asked a college sophomore, who was getting along badly, to read a paragraph aloud from his textbook and it might have been in a foreign tongue for all the sense he made of it.

I am not criticizing modern education, I'm just saying that forty years ago children were taught some things accurately that the child today doesn't usually know.

To Renovate Brush

Turpentine will clean paint brushes if they have not become too hardened. After that stage they can be made soft and clean by boiling in water in which a little lye has been added. Washing powder or soap can be used in place of the lye but the process will take longer. Do not let brush handles touch the lye solution.

Another thing we have noticed, a dairyman doesn't get very many vacations.

Business is good. Sometimes we think a miller doesn't get many vacations either.

"We saw a lady on the street the other day with a line on her neck where the makeup left off," remarks Chas. Wood.

"I like Cream of Wheat Flour better than any flour that I ever used," says Mrs. Erwein Zemke. She has been using Cream of Wheat Flour for two or three years.

Horrors! A Cass City lady has suddenly discovered that she has lost her marriage certificate. She shouldn't fret. Do you know where yours is?

To those of our customers that prefer "Ben Hur Flour" will say that we will have a car in a few weeks and will appreciate any orders for this excellent flour.

We heard a man say the other day that he knew a fellow with a disposition like a wildcat with a carbuncle. We think that's the limit in dispositions.

Mr. M. J. Lorenzen of North Branch says: "I can buy flour cheaper than yours, but I want the best." He has handled our flour for two years and bought 150 barrels last week. Quality counts with Mr. Lorenzen and he gets it when he buys "Tuscola Flour."

Boys, here's a little idea on how to make money. Buy up a lot of all-day suckers and then rent 'em out by the hour.

Balsam Pillow

To make a balsam pillow first dry out the balsam and then strip the needles from the twigs. Wear old gloves for this work. Use thick material such as linen crash for the pillow cover, as the needles will pierce through this material. Be sure to get genuine balsam, as hemlock and spruce closely resemble balsam, but do not have the refreshing odor which is the chief value of the balsam.

COMMERCIAL GRADES FOR MARKET EGGS

William H. Lapp, of the Iowa Agricultural college, in a circular gives the following description of the ordinary commercial egg grades:

Extras—These are eggs weighing from 24 to 28 ounces to the dozen and are uniform in size and fairly uniform in shape and color. They must be free from heat or germ development. The air cell must not be larger than the size of a dime.

Firsts—These are eggs weighing from 22 to 24 ounces to the dozen, uniform in size, and fairly uniform in shape and color. They must be free from heat, with an air cell not much larger than that of an extra. The shell must be sound and clean.

Seconds—These are made up of light stains and dirties, heated and stale eggs, also small eggs or any others not classified above but edible.

Checks—These are slightly broken eggs.

Cracks—These are generally classed with checks.

Leakers—Leakers are broken eggs where the liquid is escaping.

Rejects—These are the eggs unfit for food.

In securing eggs that will class as "extras" or "firsts," Professor Lapp suggests that the following points be kept in mind:

1. Take pride in the eggs you sell.
2. Keep a flock of good standard bred stock. Hatch only large, select eggs.
3. Keep nests clean and plenty of them.
4. Do not keep eggs in a place above 80 degrees temperature.
5. Keep litter in house clean.
6. Separate males from flock as soon as hatching season is over.
7. Do not market small, inferior eggs. Use them at home.
8. Do not wash dirty eggs if they are intended for market.
9. Keep eggs covered when taking them to market.
10. An egg is generally good quality when it is produced. Don't help to deteriorate the quality. Market eggs often.

One difficulty in the way of the Iowa farmer in working for higher grades on eggs is that in a great many cases higher grades are not rewarded by proportionately higher prices, due to the undiscriminating attitude of some local buyers. The co-operative egg selling associations of Minnesota and Missouri have found that the quality of the eggs handled goes up very promptly after the returns for the first lots have been received. As soon as farmers are sure that they are going to get premiums for their high quality, their percentage of "extras" and "firsts" goes up markedly.

Necessary to Have Eggs Clean in Fowls' Nests

It is necessary to have the eggs clean in the nests, because washing eggs takes time and also removes the natural bloom. One common cause of dirty eggs is the habit of pullets roosting in the nests. This can soon be broken up by going through the houses just after roosting time and removing such birds to the roosts. Spending a few minutes in the houses just at sundown to frighten the pullets from the nests will teach them to select another roosting place themselves. Then they are most apt to go back to the regular roosts each night.

Walking on dirty dropping boards is another cause of dirty eggs. Some poultrymen nail strips of two-inch mesh wire under each roosting section. This permits the droppings to fall through to the boards but keeps the hens from walking on the boards. They have to hop from perch to perch and then down into the litter and will have cleaner feet when going on the nests in the morning. The mesh of the wire may be fine enough to catch any eggs laid during the night and save them from breaking.

Poultry Facts

Provide plenty of oyster shell in addition to grit.

Sunshine keeps chicks growing rapidly. Give them plenty.

A chicken doesn't drink very much at a time, but that's no sign that it doesn't need any water.

Tuberculosis in poultry causes an unthrifty condition, especially in the older birds. They get poor and thin, lose flesh rapidly in most cases, and many of them get lame.

If one is not careful on mash feeding, there is danger of getting the chicks off feed by giving too much.

The first six weeks of a chick's life is the most critical period. The largest per cent of losses occurs during this time.

Plenty of shade should be provided for growing chicks. When allowed to range in an orchard or cornfield, they will not only find ample shade and green feed, but will benefit the trees or corn by destroying bugs and worms.

Are Still Chasing the Rainbow

There are untold millions of dollars worth of oil deposits in Michigan, says R. A. Smith, state geologist, but though people have been drilling money for half a century to drill for oil in Michigan, a 10-barrel a day well is the best that has been found. A group of Tuscola county citizens are the latest to invest in an oil well.

Prof. Smith adds that some day a well may be located that will make big money. But the chances are remote, he believes, for this reason: The geological structure of Michigan is an upright bowl. At the edges of the bowl there are no traps to retain the oil and so it seeps into the earth. This accounts for traces of oil being found in all sections of the state. The water of many wells and ponds is so strongly impregnated that cattle will not drink it. But there are wrinkles in the bowl, which are about 500 miles across, and a mile and a half at its deepest point near Mt. Pleasant.

Wells driven into these wrinkles have produced oil but never in very large quantities or for any considerable period. Somewhere there may be wrinkles in which fairly rich deposits of oil have risen above the water, but a 100-to-1 shot on a horse race is a better chance than finding one of these wrinkles, according to Mr. Smith. The geological formation of oil districts like Pennsylvania, Texas, Oklahoma and southern California is a bowl upside down and in the wrinkles and at the apex is where millions of barrels of oil have accumulated. Michigan missed having one of these bonanza apices by less than 30 miles. Michigan Oil Development Company of Ludington will sink a third test well for oil. The next well will be sunk on section nine, Logan township, Mason county.—Michigan Investor.

Two Boys Drowned at Harbor Beach

Lake Huron claimed two more victims last Thursday afternoon when Edward and Frank, sons of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Spitz, drowned in the harbor at Harbor Beach.

The two boys, 10 and 12 years of age, were playing around the end of the dock, throwing stones into the water. The younger boy slipped and started to fall off the dock. In his efforts to balance himself he grabbed his brother and both went below the surface. The accident happened at the end of the dock where only about a foot of passageway is had around the coal bin.

Men of the Coast Guard saw the boys as they fell and grappled for them as soon as they could respond. The boys were pulled out of the water in a few minutes and medical aid called. Capt. Forner and his men worked for over two hours trying to bring the lads back to life, but without success.

Funeral services for the boys were held in Our Lady of Lake Huron church Saturday morning, Fr. Melvin officiating. Burial took place at Rock Falls.—Harbor Beach Times.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT PIONEER MEET

Concluded from first page.

Bad Axe; sec-treas., Richard Gwinn, Pigeon. An invitation to meet in Caseville next year was accepted.

It is a gratifying fact to know that so many of the real old pioneers are yet living in the county. In the audience that day there were fifteen persons who were in the county in the eighties, ten who were here in the seventies, eight in the sixties and three who were here before the sixties. The meeting was very enjoyable. One of the oldest pioneers present said this was the best meeting ever held. Sheridan was proud to entertain the society. All honor to the pioneers.

Origin of "Infantry"

The word "infantry" owes its origin to an Infanta, or princess royal of Spain. Once when a king of Spain was conducting a war against the Moors his cavalry got badly beaten. Thereupon the princess immediately raised a regiment of foot soldiers to go to their aid. Foot soldiers were ever after known in Spain as the Infanta's men, and from this we get our term "infantry."

Experts say:

"Fall Painting Pays!"

ALTHOUGH the tendency among many property owners is to delay painting until Spring, paint experts agree that Fall is the best time of the year for outdoor painting.

Wood surfaces are drier now than in Spring and paint penetrates deeper into the pores; fewer bugs and insects are flying about to stick to the paint and thus mar the finished job; the services of an expert painter are easier to obtain because painters, generally, are not so rushed with work now. Fall painting pays in greater satisfaction all around.

Put U. S. N. DECK PAINT on your home this Fall and then forget about re-painting for years. U. S. N. DECK PAINT gives longer service than any other paint we know of.

Bigger Poultry Profits

No hen ever made an egg record in a damp, drafty hen house. To yield greatest profits, she needs proper shelter—a dry rat-proof, sunny, sanitary hennery.

Modern construction calls for concrete, at least for foundation, floor and lower walls to keep out moisture, rats and weasels, and to make the poultry house easy to clean and keep clean.

We'll be glad to talk over your building problems with you, to estimate the cost of modern improvements, and to recommend the most economical materials to use. Your inquiry incurs no obligation.

Fall Modes Endorse a Graceful Fullness

Pliant wool and silk fabrics, in plain and in novel figured weaves, sustain the new departures in styles which came in with the fall season. Greater fullness in skirts has been generally accepted and is so adroitly managed that it flatters both the slender and the stout woman. Higher neck lines, novel neck finishings and long sleeves all contribute flattering details to fall frocks. A representative model pictured here is unusually well adapted to slender figures. It is made of navy twill with vestee and undersleeves of ecru lace. Very long ties, of the material, a continuation of the narrow collar, are knotted at the waistline.
