Second Number of Lecture Course

Opera House, Cass City

Monday Evening, Nov. 30

Picture a group of gallant lovers, beneath a latticed window, accompanying instrumentally their tribute of song, and you have visualized the theme of the DuMond Serenaders. In the company are four men and a girl—Irene DuMond. The director is Joe DuMond, tenor, composer, pianist and accordionist. His associates likewise are gifted instrumentally as well as vocally, and present a striking picture, whether in period costumes or in full evening dress.

In addition to piano and accordion, the instrumentation includes banjos, saxophones and clarinet. There is endless variety in the program of the Serenaders, including quintet ensembles, male quartets, duets, solos and dramatic interpretations.

The success and popularity of this company was assured when Mr. DuMond was designated as director. His qualifications include not only long experience in Lyceum and Chautauqua, but also a native combination of vocal, instrumental and dramatic ability. He has made the most of his opportunities for training under such authorities as Charles Dalmore, for many years leading tenor of the Chicago Grand Opera Company; L. A. Torrens, veteran voice coach in New York City, and Lowell M. Wells, concert baritone.

Associated with Mr. DuMond are Ferdinand Nelson, tenor and saxophonist; Earl Smith, baritone and banoist; Lester Guyer, basso, saxophonist and clarinetist, and Irene DuMond, contralto, banoist and pianist.

This Newspaper is Your Market Place

THE old-fashioned market place that our grandfathers knew has just about become a matter of history. But the market idea is more effective today than ever before.

This newspaper is your market place; it is the modern means of displaying goods before the whole community. With your paper spread before you, all the necessities and luxuries of life are ready for your selection.

Newspaper ads have entirely changed our habits of living. How they have simplified and improved the system of buying and selling! Today it is not necessary for the buyer to go to market; rather, the seller—yes, the market itself!—comes to you, in the comfort and privacy of your home.

Form the habit of reading the ads and discussing them. Include the children in these important meetings. Let them "go to market" with you, and learn the business of selection and purchase. It will mean money saved—and more happiness gained in exchange for what you decide to invest.

More per Cow Rather than More Cows Says U. S. Bureau Chief

© Underwood & Underwood
In a Chicago address, recently, Dr. C. W. Larson, Chief of the United States Bureau of Dairying, made a plea for greater production per cow rather than an increase in the number of cows.

The average cow in the United States yields annually only about 4,000 pounds of milk of which 2.7% is butterfat.

Careful breeding and elimination by test in the milk herd makes an increase to 8,000 pounds of milk annually per cow not impossible with the average dairyman. This would net the milk producer $75.00 above feed cost per cow as compared with the present average of only $26.00.

Membership in a cow-testing association and the maintenance of herd records are extremely desirable. The system of records should at least include an identification record, an account of production for each cow—the amount of feed given and breeding dates. For a grade dairy herd, the record system may be quite simple.

Dr. C. W. Larson keeps track of milk cows on farms of the country, and how much milk they give.

Cow-testing associations promote a more faithful follow-through of the rudiments of dairying. Among them are intelligent feeding, proper stabling, regular milking, thorough grooming, periodical clipping of the long hair from flanks, udder and underline and other attendant precautions against the presence of bacteria in the milk.

In cow-testing associations, records of the milk and butterfat production of pure bred cows are made under the supervision of the association and are given official recognition.

Fashion Rediscovered Virtues of Velveteen

Since velveteens have blossomed out with the sheen of silk (and this luster is permanent) they have become a very important factor in the modes for both dresses and coats. Fashionables appear to have rediscovered the beauty of this dependable material and the season's new colors are very effective in it. Wine, vivid blues, bottle green, maroon and golden browns are added to black, navy and brown in the staple shades and are at their best in pile fabrics. Any one of them might be used to make the handsome afternoon frock shown here, with fine ecru lace to finish the scallops on the bodice and the collar and cuffs of ecru batiste.

Long Legs—Best Brain

A British scientist now says that the size of a man's head doesn't have anything to do with his brain capacity. Long-legged men, as a rule, are more intelligent than those with short legs.

Jap Musical Instrument

The koto is a Japanese zither-harp. It has a large number of strings, but the most general number is 13. These are stretched over an oblong soundboard, each string having a movable bridge, and the strings are turned by moving this bridge back and forward. The instrument has a compass of about two octaves, but it varies slightly, some being greater, other less.

Tell The World

Your Proud to Live in the Cass City Community

Surely, you have all the reason in the world to be thankful you live in this community. Your commercial interests are here. Your social interests are here. Your prospects here are far more promising than they would be anywhere else. Nary a cloud hovers on the horizon of your future. Could things look any brighter?

Compare Cass City with New York, Chicago, or any of the larger centers of the country. There it is—"Everybody for himself. Get what you can and the best o'luck." It's hustle, hustle every minute with never a thought or a kind deed for a neighbor's welfare.

How different the spirit is here. Your neighbor's interests are your own. He thinks—"What can I do to please others? What can I do to help improve the community, help it grow and make it a better place in which to live?" Your thoughts are the same. And through your actions, and his actions, Cass City has become the best place in the world.

Population doesn't make a great community. It's the spirit of those who live in it.

So, do a little "Oral Boosting." Tell the world you're mighty happy to be here.

We, the undersigned business interests, are doing our share by advertising the fact.

Do yours, by "WORD OF MOUTH."

DAIRY FACTS

WATER FOR COWS IN WINTER IMPORTANT

Many cows fall off in production in the winter time either because they do not receive enough water, or because that which they do receive is too cold. A big, high-producing cow needs eight to fifteen gallons of water daily, depending on her feed; and if she does not get it her milk will drop. In the winter time, if the cow has to suck water out of a hole in the ice or drink out of a trough which is ice-cold, she will not take enough to supply her needs. Particularly this is true if she has to go far to get it in cold, stormy weather. Further, this ice-cold water cools down her body so that she has to use a lot of her feed to produce heat to restore her temperature. Thus, too cold water wastes feeds, and this is true for all dairy animals as well as the cow in milk. If the animal shivers after drinking, the water is too cold.

Automatic drinking buckets in the stable assure the animal of plenty of water which will not be too cold and are ideal equipment for the dairy barn. However, it is entirely possible to provide water satisfactorily with less expensive equipment. A trough of water in the barn to which the cows have access twice a day will assure ample water which will not be too cold.

On many farms where the well or brook is close to the barn, the water can be pumped inside with an ordinary pitcher pump. Cows should be let out a little while every day for exercise, but if possible they should be watered in the barn. They will drink more and eat more.

Get Rid of Separators That Rob Dairy Farmer

There are a number of separators that are robbing the farmers of cream. This was brought to light recently when A. J. Cramer, director of Wisconsin cow testing associations, Wisconsin College of Agriculture, received a letter from one of the testers out in the field.

"I have tested skim milk frequently and found many separators that were sadly worn out of adjustment to the extent that they were wasting many dollars each month for the farmer who sells cream," reports one tester.

"During August we had a new member join our association, and when I made my first visit to his farm he told me that he was trying the tester on the suggestion of one of his neighbors. I took samples of milk from all the cows, and also of the skim milk. To my surprise, there was more fat in the skim milk than could be tested in the skim milk test bottles. So I ran the samples in whole milk test bottles and discovered that they tested 2 per cent of butterfat.

"The following month I again tested the skim milk, and this time it tested 1 1/2 per cent butterfat. That resulted in the buying of a new separator before I left the farm the following day.

"It might be interesting to know that the new separator represented the saving of 92 cents per day, or $276 a year for that farmer."

Liberal Feeding Is Big Secret With Dairy Cows

Liberal feeding is the secret of success in handling animals. Given dairy cows of the right type, success is sure to attend the man who feeds with a free hand. It is impossible to get something for nothing, at least in the dairy business. How long will it be before all the farmers in this country learn that a poorly fed calf means a small, undeveloped cow, and that a runt cow poorly fed means no profit?

What we need are cows that have been well fed and well developed, and that are able to make good use of large quantities of feed. We do not need to look for the cow that can subsist on a small ration. We need a machine that is capable of turning a large amount of food into milk every day. Find the cow, or the type of cow, that turns feed into milk, then give her lots of feed to work on.

Dairy Facts

Discover the star boarders in your herd and remove all doubt as to their ultimate fate by selling them to the butcher.

The sire of all the calves in a dairy herd has too much influence on the owner's pocketbook to take any chances on its health.

Remember that clean milk, properly cared for, is one of the best foods obtainable. It is nourishing, digestible, and usually economical.

The average composition of cow's milk is as follows: Water 87.17 per cent, butterfat 3.69 per cent, casein 3.02 per cent, albumen .53 per cent, milk sugar 4.88 per cent, ash .71 per cent; total 100 per cent.

Grain is usually best fed just after the calves have had their milk. Two good calf rations are as follows: 1. Corn, three pounds; bran, three pounds; oats, three pounds; oilmeal, one pound. 2. Corn, five pounds; oats or bran, three pounds; oilmeal, one pound.

Presence of Mind.

A few minutes after an alarm of fire was given in a hotel, one of the guests joined the group that were watching the fire, and chaffed them on their apparent excitement. "There was nothing to be excited about," he said. "I took my time about dressing, lighted a cigarette, didn't like the knot in my necktie, so tied it over again—that's how cool I was."
