Mrs. M. Rose Died at Caro

Mrs. Martha Rose, widow of George W. Rose, died at the home of her son at Caro on December 16. The funeral services were held from the M. E. church at Cass City on Friday afternoon, Dec. 18, and were conducted by Rev. J. Willerton, assisted by Rev. I. W. Cargo and Rev. A. G. Newberry. Interment was made in Elkland cemetery.

The deceased was born in Simco, Ontario, Nov. 24, 1854, and was united in marriage with George W. Rose on June 17, 1874. In 1881, Mr. and Mrs. Rose moved from Delhi, Ont., to their farm near Argyle, Mich, Funeral of Leland where they resided until Mr. Rose's death on March 21st last. Since that time, Mrs. Rose has made her home with her daughters at Cass City. She was a true Christian, always doing good wherever she could. Two children preceded her in death.

PLANS STARTED FOR BIGGER THUMB OF MICHIGAN SHOW NEXT YEAR.

The annual meeting of the Thumb of Michigan Potato show was held Monday at Mayville. David Woodman, county agricultural agent of Huron county, gave an interesting talk on Boys' and Girls' Potato Clubs. Mr. Woodman has a number of such clubs in Huron county which are doing very good work. Co. Agr'l Agent, John W. Sims, of Tuscola acted as chairman in the absence of President E. A. Cart wright, who was called away.

Plans were started for a bigger and better Thumb of Michigan Show next year and the several county agricultural agents of the Thumb district were elected to manage the show. Many of the growers present pooled their orders for certified seed and it is hoped that enough orders will be pooled to get a car load of certified seed in order that better potatoes may be produced.

Officers and directors elected were as follows:

Vice Pres., Leo Blackburn, Mayville. Sec., Ernest Haas, Mayville.

CHRISTMAS

1925 =HERE is more wealth in the world than ever before and conditions for most of us are easier. There are large numbers of men and women living in this greatly blessed land who can well remember Christmas times when there was devout thanksgiving for enough to keep the wolf from the door. Is the world growing better? The answer is to be found in our own hearts and in the manner in which we have treated our fellow men.

We have no claim on happiness, on prosperity, on comfort, except as we earn it by well-doing.

However proud we may feel of our achievements, it is for us to reflect that all blessings are merely granted to us and not created by us. Possibly they are only loaned to us, our reward here or hereafter, depending upon the way we have used them. The daylight, the sunshine, the beauties of nature, the pleasures of the seasons, the comforting rains, the crops and practically everything else that contributes to our welfare, come as gifts from Nature under the dispensation of an Authority we may not question and can but imperfectly conceive. There was One, however, who greatly cleared that conception and held up a light to guide us on the way. Under the constantly extending influence of His example and teaching, it is not possible to think of a time when His birthday will not mean an anniversary of joy.

Christmas delightfully excites one's imagination and films one's tenderest emotions. On this day we seem to see Father Time with a face less grim and leaning less heavily on his scythe. The merry laughter of children extends our faith and recreates our spirit. Love, peace, good will crowd out hate, suspicion, strife and gloom. So, bring forth the yule log or whatever serves as a substitute for it. Hang the holly and the evergreen. And, lest romance suffer from want of fostering, hang also the mistletoe, that sprig which times innumerable has worked magic in backward affairs of the heart. Our wish is that the day may be a completely happy one for all

KEEPING WELL TUBERCULOSIS AMONG OFFICE WORKERS DR. FREDERICK R. GREEN Editor of "HEALTH"

THE mortality from tuberculosis is generally high among office workers. Confined, sedentary work, lack of fresh air and, too often, crowded quarters make this a particularly dangerous disease to indoor employees. A striking illustration of the reduction in the tuberculosis death rate among office workers is shown in the report recently issued by one of the large life insurance companies for the year 1924. But one office employee out of 6,000 died from the disease, tarium care. While the employees of this com pany must be regarded as a selected group, the almost negligible tuberculosis death rate stands as an example of what may be done in public health through the medical departments of

while only ten cases were discovered

during the year which needed sani-

large business plants. This reduction is due to the effective medical care and advice given the workers, to the attention paid to the matter of wholesome luncheons and rest periods and to the friendly relationship existing between the department heads and the office force. Particular attention is given to any employee who has been absent and a weekly visit to the infirmary is insisted upon until all danger from further complications has disappeared. Convalescents from serious illnesses and persons underweight are given milk twice a day by the company.

Should a person show evidence of having contracted the disease despite these precautions, he is immediately excused from work in the office. Sanitarium care is advised, the company paying all expenses and in addition placing the patient on a disability allowance, based on his salary and years of service. In this way, he is freed from all worry about his family during his illness.

Each employee is given a careful examination at regular periods. The periodic health examination is one of the first essentials in the fight against tuberculosis. The public is being educated to the value of this and each year finds an increasing number of persons voluntarily submitting themselves to this health inventory.

CRIPPLE SELLS GAS AND OIL FOR LIVING

Although Charles Beber has been a cripple since childhood, be is not dependent upon anybody. He manages to earn a living selling gas and oil from his filling station at 118 Fifth street, Woodside, Long island. He uses a hand-propelled truck to get around. Photograph shows him filling the gas

FOR OLL STATION

Accumulated Oil Drippings From Cars Often Become an Eyesore.

Oil station driveways frequently become an eyesore because of the accumulated oil drippings from cars being serviced. And because many of these stations occupy prominent locations and are designed for attractiveness, smutty driveways lower the general appearance of the station.

Applied to Hard Surface. Standard Oil stations in New Jersey have adopted a successful and simple means of keeping their driveways spotless which may be applied equally well to paved surfaces.

All excess oil is piped off the surface or is scrubbed quite clean with kerosene or gasoline to cut the oily deposits. A little vigorous scrubbing with a stiff brush will remove most of this oil. The surface is then flushed with a hose stream of clean water and while the pavement is still moist a little portland cement is dusted over it. Keep Surface Spotless.

In the New Jersey stations, the men in charge report that two applications each week are sufficient to keep the surface spotless. If dry cement is applied to the moist surface of the pavement, it is swept over the surface with a broom. On drying this leaves the surface white and covers up the stains left by the oil drippings. One Middle West station reports that the best results are obtained by dusing the pavement just after closing time at night. In this case the cement hardens before opening time the next morning.

Whatever the particular method of application may be, the use of portland cement keeps the surface in neat shape with a desirable light color.

Owners of private driveways, garage floors and automobile showrooms having hard floors also report the method simple and effective.

Replace Brake Linings Is Not Difficult Task

To replace a brake lining, the bands or shoes are taken off, the axle is placed in a vise, while the rivets are knocked off with a cold chisel or hammer. New strips of the lining fabric are cut to size. Beginning then at one end of the strip, two or three rivet holes are located with a blue pencil and cut, with a punch, after which the fabric is put in position on the shoe.

Medium hard rivets, to prevent scoring of the drums, are passed through the holes and are then headed down securely at the back of the band. They must be sunk well into the fabric lining, so that no projections are left. With the strip held tightly to prevent wrinkling, and with the band at its original curvature, the next hole is marked, punched and riveted in the same way.

The operator simply keeps on around until the entire strip of lining is riveted down into place on the shoe. The braking systems of our modern cars are efficient enough under ordinary circumstances, but they are not powerful enough to allow a margin for slack maintenance. They must be kept right up to the mark, and systematic inspections and repairs when needed are dictated by common sense.

When Putting in Tubes Tighten the Bridge Nut

Many cases of tire trouble are due simply to the fact that the tube has not been properly inserted. The first thing to do when putting in a tube is to give the bridge nut at the base of the valve stem above the metal plate a tightening twist with a pair of pliers. When the tube is inside the casing, jar the tire a few times to seat it firmly. After the tire is mounted and fully inflated, fasten securely the rim nut. which works around the valve stem above the rim. Care in fitting the tube will save many a pinch and flat later on.

Lubricating Oil Pumped Into Combustion Space

Complaints are often heard that the action of the piston in an automobile cylinder tends to pump the lubricating oil up into the combustion space. A simple remedy for this condition, which is said to be satisfactory, is to round off very slightly the upper outside corner of the upper piston ring, and the lower corner of the lower ring. This does not affect the compression in the least, and the action is to permit the upper ring to pass the oil on the cylinder walls on the up stroke. instead of scraping it up to the top of the cylinder; while on the down stroke the surplus oil is scraped back. On Oliver last Tuesday. the other hand, the up stroke of the lower ring tends to carry the necessary oil for lubrication up the cylinder wall, while on the down stroke the rounded lower corner of the ring would pass over the oil thus distributed and leave it behind. The intermediate rings should have both upper and lower corners eased so as to disturb the oil as little as possible, allowing it to remain and perform its function as a lubricant.

Veteran Inventor Kiser Sees Success in Sight

Louis C. Kiser, seventy-seven, veteran inventor of Decatur, Ill., has for many years been experimenting with an automobile driven by compressed air. Apparently he has succeeded as he has already received an offer of $10 royalty from one automobile company for every car equipped with the | in. new type of power.

Bent Rims Are Given as

Bent rims are a direct cause of rim cuts, of tires blowing from the rim and of the breaking of the tire cables at the base of the tire. Oftentimes motorists cannot understand why tires should blow out when they are driving slowly. The facts of the case are that the overstrained carcass has reached the limit of its endurance from previous abuse and has given way,

Many motorists, were they to examine the wheels on their cars, would be surprised to notice that their rims are bent along the edges. These bent rim flanges are ordinarily little thought of, yet they are responsible for a goodly percentage of tire grief. When the wheel hits a frog or a switch of a street car track, or a hole in the road, there is a tendency to flatten the rim, especially if the tire is underinflated. The rim's support, however, is essential to the life of a tire. If it is bent so that it does not fit the tire and allows the sidewalls to bulge, the driver may know that trouble is to be expected unless be takes immediate precautions.

The Girl Scouts had a very interesting and novel Christmas party at the home of Phyllis Lenzner, their president, on Friday afternoon. At their party, the girls of the seventh grade were guests of the Scouts. A short program was enjoyed and then 'Santa" came. After everyone had received a present, we sat around while each read aloud the verse attached to her gift. Then came two good things. We were given fruit and Christmas cheer. And so these little gifts of ours became joy carriers for the second time.
