The third year results of a special test in feeding baby beef for market will be given out on Feeders Day. Many of the state's livestock feeders have been following this work closely, and the "baby beef" section is expected to prove about the most valuable among the various experiments.

One lot in this feeding test has been on a self-feeder of grain, with two other lots on a limited grain ration. Each of the lots has been getting alfalfa hay and silage. One of the limited ration lots has been on a 'home grown" ration-corn, alfalfa, and silage. The other two lots to camp Friday by a 10 to 0 score. have been getting linseed meal as McConnell allowed only one hit during protein supplement. The results of this experiment for all three years will be announced.

The first step in the manufacturing of paper from spruce logs is the complete removal of the brown bark. Science has found a way to use almost every waste produce in industry but thus far no use has been found for spruce bark for it will not mix.

Small chips or bits of bark left with the wood will resist every effort of the machinery, acids and other processes and appear in the finished paper as brown spots. Nothing can persuade the bark to mix. It starts out bark and remains bark to the

Explore Your Own Middle West

Pleasure places, wonderful scenery and unusual sights are within a short distance of your home -wherever you may happen to live in the Middle West. This great, rich section of our country has been unexploited, but no part of the world offers more to see and do.

Leave dull care behind and start out tomorrow in your car to explore your own country. Time? It doesn't matter. A day, a week, or a whole summer—it will be packed with pleasure. Money? It's not important. Camp beneath the stars, stop atrusticlodges, put up at smarthotels—as you wish.

Look over this short list. Check the things you've seen, and those you'd like to:

- 1-Wyandotte Cave, Crawford County, Indiana, the second largest cavern in the country. Eleven levels and a passage-way thirteen miles long. Near Corydon on State High-
- 2-Redwood Falls, a magnificent spectacle, in Ramsey State Park, Minnesota. Itasca Park Highway and State Highway No. 14.
- 3—Starved Rock, visited by Marquette and Joliet in 1673, the scene of the last stand of the Illinois Indians. A few miles from Ottawa, Illinois. State Highway No. 7.
- 4-Gorge of the Mississippi in Wisconsin with castellated heights of weathered limestone bearing a fantastic resemblance to fortresses of old, State Highway No. 35.
- 5-Mark Twain State Park in Monroe County, Missouri, on beautiful bluffs overlooking Salt River, where Samuel Clemens was born. Near Paris, State Highways No. 10 and 15. 6-Hutchinson, Kansas-a center of the salt industry and an extensive strata of pure
- rock salt which is probably the largest in the world. Highways No. 59 and No. 32. 7—The Kildeer Mountains, the most beautiful
- of the scenic spots of North Dakota. Near the town of Kildeer on the Mandan-Kildeer and Denver-Esteven Highways.
- 8—Miles of shaded shoreline along the Lake in Michigan. State Highways No. 11 and
- 9—Spearfish Canyon, with its sheer walls and tumbling waters, forty miles of exquisite beauty in South Dakota. Custer Battlefield Highway from Rapid City.
- 10-Effigy Indian mounds built in the shape of various animals. Several bird mounds that measure 150 feet from tip to tip of wing North of McGregor, Iowa, on State Highways No. 13 and No. 19.

These are mere suggestions. Isn't the list an incentive to find out what is near you?

Motoring in the Middle West is an unalloyed pleasure. There are fine roads wherever you go-and Red Crown Gasoline all along the way.

Fill your tank with Red Crown Gasoline, get a good road map, and start out tomorrow. Rediscover your own Middle West.

Petting Trouble

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

SOAMES FORSYTE had been a very busy and energetic business man vho retired to live on his income when he was getting on toward old age. He ad always worried a good deal even when he was busy with important natters. Now Galsworthy says of

"Lacking the professional issues to inchor the faculty for worrying he and inherited from James Forsyte, Soames was inclined to pet any trouole that came along."

There are few things more engrossng than this petting of trouble. Most roubles will die of inanition if alowed to fend for themselves. They vaste away or disappear or are forrotten unless they are coddled a little -nursed and fed and encouraged as he woes of a fretful child are inreased through sympathy.

Prather had been out the night beore without a topcoat and in a lriving rain. He had been pretty well lrenched and had sat with his feet coaking wet for two or three hours. ittle wonder that when he wakened n the morning his throat was sore and he felt feverish.

"You'd better go to the hospital," he doctor advised him, "and I think it's wiser to isolate you for a day or wo. There's probably nothing the natter with you, but we've had a good deal of infectious disease this vinter, and it's better to take no

Prather's imagination began to work overtime; he started in at once to pet his little worries.

"What are the symptoms of scarlet fever?" he asked the nurse as she was of her sister, Mrs. B. Gage, visiting stowing him comfortably into bed a ittle later at the hospital.

"Oh, headache," she replied, "sore hroat, fever, aching back; nausea Prather's back began to ache once and he felt sick at his stomach. "One can't tell at the outset, however," the nurse explained. "Scarlet fever, smallpox, diphtheria, measles, chickenpox, and a number of diseases start in about the same way. One has to wait until the disease develops before making an accurate diagnosis. I shouldn't worry."

One might as well have suggested to Niagara not to shoot over the recipice. Before night Prather in his own mind had every disease known to the human race and in addition was on the verge of a nervous' breakdown.

"Do you think I'll have scarlet fever?" he asked the doctor the second day of his being in the hospital. The quarantine for that disease, he had learned, was ordinarily longer than for any of the others.

"Scarlet fever!" the doctor replied. "Of course not. You haven't anything the matter with you. You'd better get up and put on your clothes and go back to work."

"But I'm really sick, doctor; my back aches terribly."

back doesn't ache. The trouble with roubles until they're as big as ele phants. Forget them." Anyone with careful and regular attention to the matter can soon pet the smallest mole hill of trouble into a mountain.

Beauty Is Stressed in All Negligees

There are negligees-and negligees, many of them useful and substantial, designed to make our hours of leisure comfortable, others filmy and frivolous, to the end of leing picturesque. But, whatever its destiny, women demand that the negligee be prettythey cannot be entirely comfortable, it seems, in a garment that lacks the quality of prettiness. It is easy to fulfil this call, because nearly all negligees, whether simple or splendid, are cut on the same graceful lines and employ lovely colors and attractive materials, and these materials are mostly inexpensive.

The pretty negligee pictured belongs to the lounging-robe class and may be effectively made in gay-colored rayon fabrics or in printed crepe or quilted

"The American cemeteries are beauty spots in Europe and will be hallowed grounds to Americans for centuries to come," Mr. Hardy said. "I have seen hundreds of cemeteries where millions of the soldiers of the World war are buried. The English cemeteries are fairly well kept up. The French and German cemeteries have a sadly neglected appearance. The American cemeteries are in tip-top condition and the best cared for of all.

"We have in Europe now eight American cemeteries-six in France, one in Belgium and one in England,"

One thing that impressed me as I walked around reading the names on the crosses was the fact that there is no distinction given to rank or prominence. I found a brigadier general laid in an inconspicuous spot with a private on each of the four sides.

"The most important, so far as number of graves goes, is the Meuse-Argonne cemetery. In it are 14,026 graves. The name indicates the battle in which those buried there lost their lives. It covers 1281/2 acres. The graves are on a sloping hillside and the arrangement is in the shape of a great shield. Down at the bottom of the slope is a fountain and a lily pond. I encountered a sentence the other day that really seemed important, after days of reading without finding much. It was written by Thomas Carlyle, an old bear I do not greatly admiré, largely because he is not an agreeable writer; but there are many diamonds in the great mass of blue dirt he works over. One of his gems in particular should have the thoughtful consideration of everyone. He said:

"Stupidity is the chief instrument of the devil." And there you have the naked truth There is no other crime than stupidity, he often said, for morality is largely a matter of intelligence. The mind which cannot or will not perceive the obvious, or unflattering, is not only hopeless but vicious. Preferring to credit their prejudices or their desires, instead of the lesson of events, was the chief crime he ascribed to the men he held responsible for the worst catastrophes of history. If you are stupid, it is not only a crime against society, but against yourself. All the great punishments are meted out because of stupidity. And most of this punishment is unnecessary; all of us have a certain animal smartness sufficient for our needs. Stupidity is usually cultivated, and stubbornly persisted in, spite of hourly warning of its dangers. Why do the stupid so persistently insist on stupidity? Every day they meet people who conduct their affairs with reasonable intelligence: they never read a book or a newspaper without finding condemnation.

Am I stupid? "Show me," and I'll endeavor to do better. But you cannot "show me" with stupidity greater than my own.

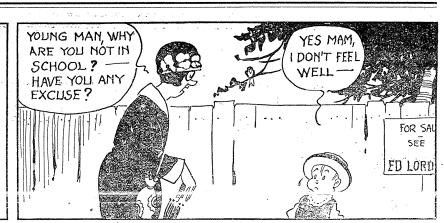

A noted 'Englishman once said: "The only way materialism can be explained away is to explain it away." . . Another old fellow covered the ground pretty well when he said that if a thing is true, it will persist in spite of all, and if it is not true, Father Time will finally dispose of it.

When I lose my temper around home, and violently charge that something I have put away carefully has been moved, I not only suffer the penalty of impatience: in nine cases out of ten. Hannah, the colored woman, or Adelaide, my niece, come in quietly, and point out that what I have lost is exactly where I put it. So I suffer from humiliation, also.

CASS CITYS AMBITIONS

Cass City wants more population, more industry, more capital, more trade, more prosperity.

And the unfailing formula for accomplishing these ambitions is to make Cass City attractive—then, keep it so. There is plenty of room in our town for citizens of the right sort. They will come, if Cass City broadcasts an inviting message beyond the borders of this community.

For years, country populations have gone cityward. But the peak has been reached. The tide has turned. City folks are flocking out to the small and medium-sized towns---where they find more joy in living.

Cass City can reap its share of this vast number of home seekers. But ambitions have got to be backed up by performance. We must be receptive to the coming of good citizens. We must stimulate pride and patriotism within the community. We must make certain that we can provide all the essentials that make for moral and physical well-being of all who would come among us.

Good government, thriving industries, good schools and churches, pure water, clean streets, better roads, opportunities for the rising generation, a progressive community spirit and true co-operation---all make for a splendid inducement to folks looking for a real home town.

Let each one do his part toward making Cass City a better place to live in and then---spread the good word to every corner of the globe.

In the Kitchen with 6 Famous Cooks

SIX TRADITIONAL NEW ENGLAND DISHES

(Ed. Note: This is one of a special series of articles contributed by 6 Famous Cooks. Their recipes are "different." Gut them out and paste them in your cook

Probably no section of the country is as famous for its traditional dishes as New England. The eating of beans and brown bread has become almost a rite in many of those old homes.

Miss Lucy G. Allen, head of the well-known Boston School of Cookery, has spent all her life in New England. She has taught hundreds of women cooking in her classes, and has written many cook books, among them "Choice Dishes for Clever Cooks," and "Table Service."

She has contributed to this unusual cooking series recipes for six typically New England dishes.

Boston Baked Beans It's the preparation and the slow cooking which makes Boston Baked Beans superior to all others.

Pick over one quart of pea or kidney beans, cover with cold water and soak over night. In the morning, drain, cover with fresh water and summer until the skins begin to break. Drain again. Wash and score a three-inch cube of fat salt pork. Put the beans in a big, earthenware beanpot. Bury the pork in the beans, leaving the rind exposed.

Mix one tablespoon of salt, one tablespoon of molasses, three tablespoons of sugar, and one-half teaspoons of sugar, and one-half teaspoon of dry mustard; add these seasonings to one cup of boiling water and pour over the beans. Then add enough boiling water to cover the beans. Cover the beanpot, put in hot oven and bake six or eight hours, uncovering the last hour of cooking.

Steamed Brown Bread

For a most delectable meal, serve steaming hot brown bread with the beans. It's a prime combination. Many folks like to eat catsup with the beans. Here's the original New England Brown Bread:

England Brown Bread:

Mix two cups cornmeal, one cup of rye meal, two teaspoons of soda, two teaspoons of salt, one-half cup of molasses and about three and one-half cups of milk. Let stand for one hour, stirring occasionally. The bread is better, if the meal swells before the mixture is put into the tins. Butter baking-powder tins, fill a little over one-half full, cover and steam several hours.

And Chowder

A hearty dish, liked especially by men, is fish chowder. It's economical too. Buy a four pound haddock, skinned with the head left on. Remove the fish from the backbone, cut into two inch pieces and set aside. Put the backbone broken in pieces Put the backbone broken in pieces and the head into a stewpan, add two cups of cold water, bring slowly to the boiling point and cook twenty minutes. Put into the chowder kettle an inch and a half cube of fat salt pork cut into small bits, and fry out.

Add one sliced onion and fry for five minutes. Add three or four medium sized potatoes cut in thin slices. Strain the stock from the fish bones over the potatoes and cook until they are soft.

Add the fish and simmer ten minutes, then add one quart of milk, one tablespoon of salt, one-eighth teaspoon of pepper, three tablespoons of butter and either three or four pieces of pilot bread or six or seven cooking crackers. The longer a chowder can simmer or stand before serving the better it will be.

Codfish Ealls

Wash one-half pound of salt cod-fish and cut into small pieces using kitchen scissors to make one cupful. Wash and pare potatoes and cut into pieces the size of an English walnut to make one and one-half pints. Cook the fish and potatoes together in boiling water until potatoes are soft.

Drain thoroughly through a strainer, return to kettle and shake over the fire until the moisture is evaporated. Mash thoroughly, add one-half tablespoonful of butter, one egg wel beaten and one-fourth teaspoon of pepper. Beat well with a fork to make fluffy and add salt if necessary. Drop by spoonfuls into deep fat and fry.

Pumpkin Pie Pumpkin pie when made right is a real delicacy. And this recipe for it is especially good. For a more elaborate dish it may be served with whipped cream.

For the pastry, measure two cups of flour unsifted and sift with one-half teaspoon of salt. Cut in, using two knives, three-fourths cup of lard. Add three-fourths cup of medium cream mixing with a knife. Chill before using.

For the filling, mix one and one-half cups of cooked and sifted pumpkin, with two-thirds cup of white sugar, one teaspoon of grated nutmeg, one-half teaspoon of salt, two eggs slightly beaten and two cups of milk or if liked rich, use part cream.

Nice Brown Doughnuts Try frying sour milk doughnuts according to this good New England recipe of Miss Allen's. The kitchen will be a most attractive place to all members of the family when they smell these tempting doughnuts.

Beat until light one whole egg and one egg yolk, add gradually three-fourths cup of sugar, beating all the time. Mix three-fourths teaspoon of salt, one teaspoon of grated nutmeg and two cups of flour.

Mix one half teaspoon of soda with one half cup of sour milk having the milk rather rich. Add milk and flour alternately to the egg mixture, roll and pat out, handling as little as possible, then cut and fry in deep fat. (Be sure to read the special cooking article on this page next week.)

BOSTON SCHOOL of COOKERY Tests and Approves

ISS LUCY ALLEN, director of the conservative Boston School of Cookery, is one of six famous cooks who recently put the Perfection Stove to a rigorous, practical cooking test. Like the other five famous cooks, Miss Allen cooked by every cooking process, and gave us her opinion of the Perfection.

Uniformly Good Results

"I cooked many meals on the Perfection Stove," says Miss Allen. "The results, whether using the top of the stove, the oven, the broiler, or the toaster were uniformly good. There were several features sufficiently pronounced to recommend the stove to the most particular people.

Easy to Work on work on. There is no reaching across several hot plates, as there is with a gas or coal range.

"The flame never varied from the point at which it was set, whether it was low for stewing down pumpkin or high for baking beans several hours.

Clean Kettles

"There was no black deposit on the cooking utensils, even when the high, yellow tipped flame was used for "The long chimneys burn every drop of oil completely before the heat reaches the utensils.

"We were so well pleased with the 1926 Perfection Stove, both as to results and operation, that after completing the test we kept it to use for auxiliary work in our classes," she concluded.

Tested and approved by the Boston School of Cookery! That means that the Perfection was used under all possible cooking conditions—for slow cooking, for fast cooking; for baking, for frying, and for broiling. In every case it was found efficient.

Six Cooks Agree

The other five famous cooks who tested the Perfection were enthusiastic, too, about the results obtained. And, every day 4,500,000 women get real cooking satisfaction from their Perfections.

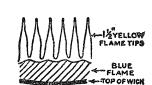

See these 1926 Perfections at any dealer's. All sizes from a one-burner stove at $7.25 to a five-burner range at $130.00. When you cook on a 1926 Perfection, you, too, will be well pleased with it.
