Parrott Creamery and Doerr's Bakery Were Sold Within the Past Week.

Changes in the proprietorships of two business houses, engaged in both wholesale and retail lines, were made within the past week in Cass City.

Herman Doerr sold the equipment and business of the Doerr Bakery to Carl Almer of Detroit, who takes possession this week. Mr. Almer has had 28 years of experience in both city and country bake shops and has been engaged in business for himself a portion of that time. He intends to put in some new equipment in himself to put in some new equipment in his plant here. Mr. and Mrs. Almer and three children have moved into the rooms over the bakery which have been remodeled for their use.

The Parrott Creamery was sold on Saturday by John Lorentzen and Joseph Tesho to John Wentworth and M. C. Wentworth. The residence of John Wentworth on East Pine St. was traded in on the deal and becomes the property of Mr. Tesho.

John Wentworth has secured a valuable experience in the manufacturing end of the creamery business in the four years he has been employed in local plants. His partner and cousin, M. C. Wentworth, expects to move to Cass City from his farm in Kingston township in the near future.

The football squad were the guests of the Michigan State College athletic department Saturday. In the forenoon they saw the M. S. C. freshman team play Ferris Institute, winning from Ferris by 34-0 score. The big game of the day was played in the afternoon between the M. S. C. team and Center College "Praying Colonels." The Michigan team won with a 42-14 score. Some of the boys visited the barns and the livestock herds of the college and the agricultural building. The fellows were accompanied by Paul Smarks, athletic coach, and Willis Campbell, vocational director. The art classes in the second and third grades are continuing in paper cutting. In the fifth grade, Thanksgiving booklets are helping us to remember that Thanksgiving will soon be here. The fourth grade class is doing some splendid work in interpretive drawing. There are some very good ideas and good execution.

The grade children are much interested in their music classes. The singing is eager and whole-hearted, and shows much improvement. Songs pertaining to Patriotism Day and Armistice Day were learned.

An interesting chorus was held in the high school music department Monday afternoon. Education Week was stressed by singing patriotic songs, old and new. We hope to show some real community singing in chapel on Thursday.

REQUIRED BY BULL

When the dairyman has become interested enough in improving his herd to buy a good bull, he is interested in giving that bull care and attention to keep him in good breeding condition and prolong his usefulness. Careless handling will cause the average bull to become restless and vicious, he will not present a good appearance to prospective buyers who wish to see the herd sire, and a maximum amount of service cannot be secured from him. If the bull is purchased as a calf or raised on the farm where he is to be kept for service, he should be grown out as rapidly as possible in order to insure his attaining his full size, for an undersize bull is never an attraction in the herd. As a supplement to grass or legume hay, a grain mixture of two parts corn, one part oats and one part bran will prove a good growing ration. "The bull should never be allowed to run with the cows," said A. C. Ragsdale, head of the dairy department of the Missouri College of Agriculture. "Doing so results in getting heifers in calf too young and the bull will exhaust himself. Besides, it is impossible to keep accurate breeding records and there is always danger to persons and property when the bull is running loose.'

Ragsdale considers most bulls sufficiently mature for light service when they are a year old, but service should be limited to one or two cows a week until they are fifteen months old. More than twice the service can be secured from the bull that is kept away from the cows, and a sire properly handled can take care of a herd of fifty cows after he is two years old. By all means, the bull should have a ring in his nose, and this should be put in when he is about a year old. A trocar may be used in making the hole and the ring inserted as the instru-ment is pulled out. Ragsdale consid-ers it best to wait until the bull is about two years old before dehorning, for at this stage dehorning has a marked effect in subduing him and he does not learn to use his head as well as he would if his horns were cut off at an earlier age. Unless the bull is to be exhibited in the show ring, he should be dehorned.

Dairying Is Profitable

if Good Cows Are Kept 🕉 Dairying is profitable when good cows are maintained. The kind that are capable of producing no more than the average cow in Iowa-140 pounds of fat a year-is not the kind to buy. The man who owns a herd of that sort really owns nothing better than a manure factory. If he feels that it is worth while to milk a bunch of cows and get nothing better out of it than the manure they produce, he is justified in buying that kind, but if he really wants to get paid for the feed he puts into them and get wages for the time spent in caring for them, he

Beauty Always Within

Reach of Small Town Several Kansas towns are feeling the urge of spring in a new-born desire to be beautiful. In fairness to Kansas it should be said that several Kansas towns are already pleasant to look upon and visit. But there is more to the urge than that, and something the Emporia Gazette said recently on the subject ought to set other towns in other states to thinking about themselves.

"We can be nice, decent, agricultural towns, with each town having some small industry, some specialty in schools or local development like oil or coal and the products of the soil. But big plants-no! We are doomed by our geography to be small towns. Then why not be beautiful towns? Why not get the best out of our towns, and our lives? Why not apple blossoms in Arkansas City, roses in Eldorado, cannas in Fredonia, redbuds in Emporia? Surely if Japan can grow famous over the world for beauty of its cherry blossoms, we can make something out of the beauty that lies in our hands."

There is more to being a popular and thriving town than having the largest population or the biggest manufacturing plants or the most money. And the sooner a lot of small towns all over the country realize this, the sooner they will begin to create charm and distinction for themselves. Even the towns that are already beautiful have something to do in maintaining their high standard. And the others should start right in making the most out of the beauty that lies in their hands .-- Kokomo (Ind.) Dispatch.

Distinction Given to Grounds by Shrubbery Shrubbery about a dwelling is of equal, if not greater, importance than trees. For, while trees give shade and add to the general attractiveness of a place, shrubbery "ties the house to the ground," as it has been expressed: outlines boundaries and provides that seclusion now considered both desirable and necessary.

In small cities and suburban towns, where the custom often prevails of having the front yards in a block like one big lawn, it might break the general scheme to put in a front hedge, but shrubbery should be so massed in foundation planting as to single out that house as beautiful beyond all the others left unplanted, regardless of size or cost. And, where the back yards also have been thrown into one, or separated by almost invisible wire fences, that shrubbery following the house foundation could be carried around to the rear and extended onto the lawn far enough to make a se cluded outdoor room.

Taller shrubs, with a few of the smaller trees, might be used in executing this idea without interfering with the whole block scheme, but

An opportunity to help Cass City churches Zemke's Fall Church Festival Now On

If you have been unable thus far to have a part in this Great Church Benefit event, come next Saturday, or come any day next week. Here is a great opportunity for you to help the churches of Cass City without digging down into your own jeans for it.

We are living in the greatest country on earth, but what a dreary place it would be without this great institution, the American Church.

Whether we are affiliated with any church in this group, or perhaps no church affiliation at all, we all will have to admit that we owe our present high state of civilization to the great influence of the church and its activities.
