RESPONSIBILITY OF PARENT TO CHILD

Rev. Braby Says Example Is Better than Precept in Child Rearing.

Rev. N. D. Braby of Caro addressed the members of the Parent Teachers' Association Monday evening on the "Responsibility of the Parent to the Child."

"Not only is the parent responsible for the physical well being of the child," he said, "but for his mental well being in that his mind be trained so that he may have an equal opportunity in life with other boys and girls. Taxpayers in the Cass City district have demonstrated that they fully realize this duty by the modern facilities now being installed. The responsibility regarding the imparting of the realities of life by the parent to the child is a matter neglected in too many homes today."

Better by example than by precept can the parent prepare the child to live socially with others, said Mr. Braby. Not by what we say but by what we do are we most judged by the younger generation. Are we patriotic in law observance and how do we act in matters of public interest are matters which should greatly concern the parent.

Spiritual illiteracy is the greatest peril to organized society today, said the speaker, who stressed the importance of Sabbath observance and of Christian service to others. None of us would want to live or have our children live in a churchless community, and that being true, parents have the responsibility to maintain that institution and insure its continuance. Here again, the speaker emphasized, is example better than precept.

H. W. Holmes, who introduced the speaker, complimented the association on the attendance Monday evening and expressed his appreciation that the people are taking more interest in educational matters.

Mrs. L. Bailey, president of the P. T. A., announced that no December meeting would be held because of the busy holiday season, and that the lady teachers of the Cass City schools, with Miss DeYoung as chairman, would serve as a program committee for the next meeting which will be held Monday, Jan. 31.

Musical numbers at Monday evening's meeting included a selection by the Boys' Glee Club, a cornet solo by Clare Bailey, harmonica solo by Harold Tuckey and a vocal solo by G. W. Landon. Harry Bohnsack served as accompanist for the glee club, Miss Katherine Bailey for Mr. Bailey and Mrs. I. D. McCoy for Mr. Landon. All numbers were well received and the musicians all responded to encores.

200 at Wedding Reception near Argyle

Miss Eva Travis and Andrew Hoagg were quietly married at the M. E. parsonage in Cass City, on Wednesday, Nov. 24, at 2:30 o'clock, by Rev. I. W. Cargio. A reception was given that evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Travis, four miles west of Argyle. Two hundred guests were present.

Those who attended from out of town were Mrs. Mary J. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bradwood and two daughters of Lakeville, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Moore and two sons of Lapeer, Charles Travis of Memphis, Mrs. Anders of Port Huron, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoagg of Saginaw, and Mrs. B. Hoagg of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoagg will make their home with the bride's parents, until March 1, when their own home will be vacated.

Obtain Winter Eggs with Cod Liver Oil

Results obtained by the ration fed to the contest birds in the last egg-laying contest held at Michigan State College indicate that cod liver oil is a profitable addition to the feed given to birds for winter egg production. Cod liver oil contains vitamin which the hens are unable to get from other sources during the winter months. This vitamin is necessary to enable the hen to assimilate the mineral elements in its food.

The winter production of the hens in the contest was fourteen eggs per bird greater than for a similar period in any previous contest held at the college. The only change made in the ration last year was the addition of the oil. The eggs produced in the winter sell for a much higher price than those sold at any other time so an increase in production in cold weather has a marked influence on the profits received from the flock.

Hens which are fed cod liver oil appear to have a greater resistance to disease, they lay fewer soft shelled eggs, and the eggs produced hatch better than those from birds which receive no oil.

Two pints of cod liver oil should be fed every week to adult birds. If semi-solid butter milk is fed, add one pint to every 16 pounds of the buttermilk. The oil can be mixed with cottage cheese when the buttermilk is not available. Baby chicks should be given one pint of oil to every 20 pounds of feed during the first month. After that, they should get one pint to every 30 pounds of feed until they are placed on outdoor range.

Commercial cod liver oil can be obtained for approximately $1.25 a gallon in five gallon lots. The oil should be stored in an air tight container kept in a cool dark place.

THUMB DISTRICT NEWS PARAGRAPHS

Items Gleaned from Newspaper Exchanges and Other Sources.

Fairgrove—Application has been made to the banking department for authority to organize a state bank in Fairgrove. The signers of the petition include W. H. Wallace and Lloyd Crane of Saginaw, W. H. Wallace, Jr. and John H. Fahrner of Bay Port, and U. G. Spehn of Fairgrove.

Millington—Indications are that there will be another oil station here in Millington in the near future. Stock is being sold, principally to farmers, to finance the deal, and is meeting with great success, practically all the stock was sold at noon on Tuesday. Stock to the amount of $10,000 is being offered at $10 a share. Not more than 10 shares to any one person.—Herald.

Harbor Beach—Laurence J. Lincoln, son of Mr. and Mrs. Burr B. Lincoln, Sand Beach township, has won the right to represent the state of Michigan in the National Good Roads contest. His essay on "Good Roads" now goes to the National society in Washington, D. C., and the essay will be entered against the essay winners in the 47 other states. The winner of this national contest will win the Harvey Firestone four year university scholarship, good for tuition, room, board, books, and the other fees to any college or university in the United States. The winner in each state will receive an engraved certificate of honor.—Times.

Kingston—The pupils of Jeffery school, north and west of here, enjoyed a rare treat Tuesday morning when a deer was discovered eating frozen apples in an orchard across from the school house.

Brown City—A new and unusual feature is to be introduced at the Chamber of Commerce meeting here on Dec. 6, in the nature of an open debate, the subject of which is "Resolved, that a doctor is a greater benefit to the community than a preacher." No judges' decision will be given and no hard feelings created.

CHANGE OF DATE OF LYCEUM NUMBER

It has been necessary to change the date of the appearance of Jack Wood's Male Quartet and Bell Ringers, a lyceum number at Cass City. They will appear here on Wednesday, Jan. 26, instead of Jan. 20 as first announced.

Pretty Wedding Thanksgiving Day

An interesting event of Thanksgiving was the marriage of Miss Ethel Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Robinson to Robert B. McConkey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McConkey of Cass City. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents Thursday noon. Rev. I. W. Cargio, pastor of the M. E. church, officiated. The couple were attended by Miss Edna Robinson, sister of the bride, and Keith McConkey, brother of the groom.

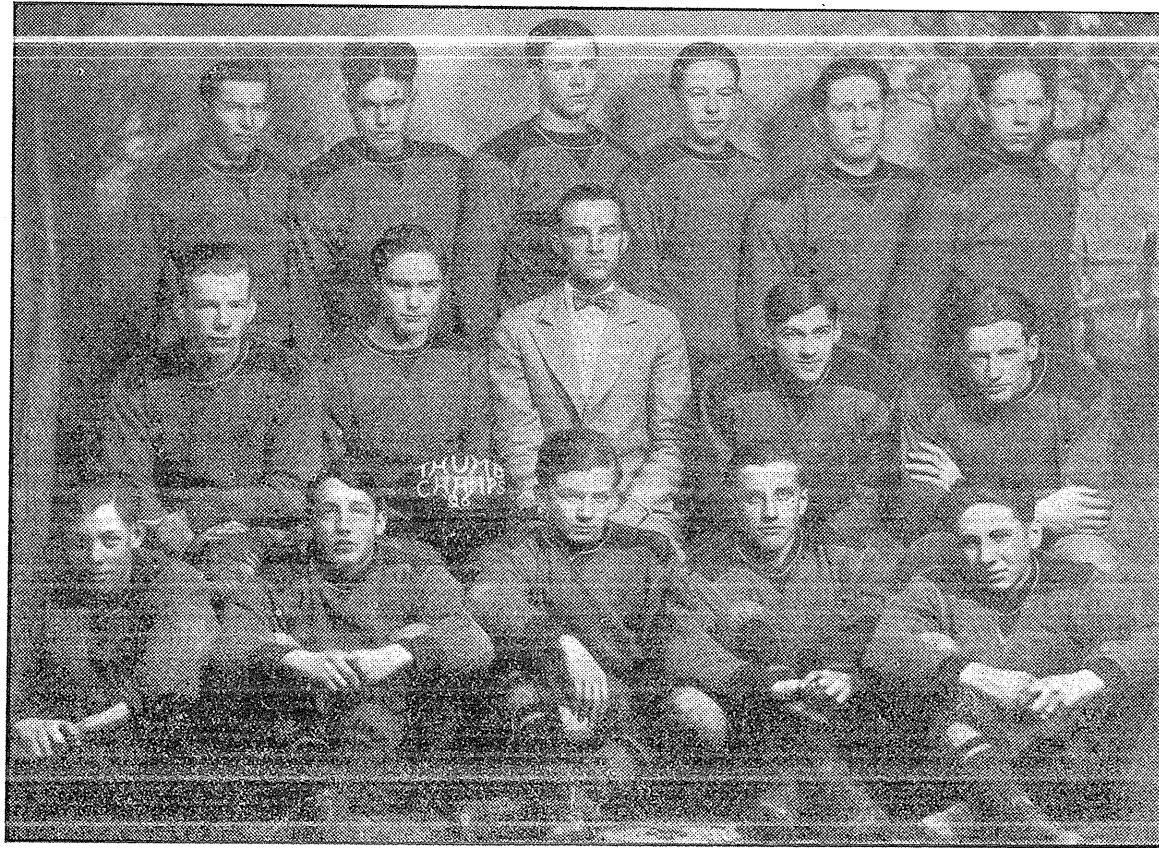

The bride was charming in a gown of Nile green crepe trimmed in silver lace and pearl beads. The bridesmaid was dressed in burgundy crepe trimmed in nude crepe. The home was beautifully decorated, throughout, in Nile green and pink. A three-course turkey dinner was served to the 37 guests present.

Mr. and Mrs. McConkey left the same afternoon for Niagara Falls and other points in Canada.

Both young people are graduates of the Cass City high school. Mr. McConkey graduated with the class of 1921 and Mrs. McConkey with the class of 1922. The groom is employed at the Farmers' Elevator and the bride is teaching the Wright school for her second year.

Mr. and Mrs. McConkey will be at home to their friends at the Mrs. Anna Patterson home on South Seeger Street.

Cass City High School Football Team, Champions of the Thumb

With the closing of the 1926 football season, Cass City found itself the undisputed 1926 Thumb champions, being the only unbeaten team in the Thumb when the season ended. Last year the team tied Pigeon for the honor but this year Cass City stands alone at the top. The boys accomplished almost a miracle, for there were only three regulars back from last year's team and none of the newcomers were hailed as being stars.

But they soon picked up the fine points of the game, and coupled with their determination to win, they readily filled the vacant places and when the season ended they were members of the greatest football machine that represented Cass City in recent years.

In the brief review of the season, one finds Cass City improved with every game, playing their best in the last game of the year against Mar-lette. Cass City gave Sebewaing, the "Wonder Team of the Thumb," their worst beating of the year. They also defeated Bad Axe by the largest score that was ever made against them this year. Both of these teams were strong, Sebewaing beating Pigeon and Bad Axe holding them (Pigeon) to a 9 to 10 score. In both of these games the dope favored Cass City's opponents. But it was an instant turn to page 2.

Sings on Way to Hospital after Losing Hand in Corn Shredder.

William, sixteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. English, lost his left hand in a corn shredder Saturday evening while helping his father at their home near Kingston. His left leg was also badly torn by being caught in the cogs of the machine.

The young man was brought at once to Pleasant Home Hospital at Cass City. He sang all the way to calm his mother who accompanied him and who thought that her son had lost a finger instead of his entire hand in the accident.

William English is a junior student in the Kingston High School. He is getting along nicely, it is reported.

SEBEWAING SUGAR FACTORY SHUT DOWN

The Sebewaing plant of the Michigan Sugar Company has been closed down since last Sunday morning on account of a shortage of beets. Present indications are that the plant will not reopen until the last of this week or the fore part of next. There are still about 350 acres of beets in the ground, and the harvesting has been a slow process. If the weather remains clear it will be only a matter of a few days until these beets are pulled and the factory will be allowed to finish its season's run uninterrupted.—Blade.

COMING AUCTION.

William Slack has decided to move on a smaller farm and will sell 23 head of Jersey cattle, farm implements, feed, etc., at auction, at his farm 4 miles north and 1/2 mile east of Caro on Tuesday, Dec. 7, commencing at nine o'clock. L. S. McEldowney and Worthy Tait are the auctioneers and full particulars are printed on page 7.

NEW TRUANT OFFICER APPOINTED IN SANILAC

Geo. McCauley has been appointed Sanilac truant officer by County School Commissioner Musselman. Mr. McCauley takes the place of Jas. O. Sams, who resigned a short time ago.

Cuts made by the board of supervisors in bills presented by Mr. Sams are said to have been the cause of his resignation.

Portable Victrola for Rural Schools

The Cass City Music Study Club has purchased a portable victrola to be used in the nearby country schools. A number of good records donated by members of the club, with a short story of the author and composition, will also be loaned. Each school may have the machine for two weeks.

So many country schools are without any musical instrument and some schools have very little musical training, that it is thought this might give the children a taste for good music and bring to them some real pleasure.

The schools desiring this treat may write or phone Mrs. Pinney, Mrs. McNamee or Mrs. Cargo, and some member of the club will bring out the machine and give a talk on the selections rendered.

Cass City Schools

Members of the football squad, Supt. H. W. Holmes, H. E. Duke, Willis Campbell and Cletus Parker were guests of Coach Paul Smarks at a 6:30 dinner at Hotel Gordon Monday evening. The thirteen football men were presented with tickets to that evening's show at the Pastime theater by F. A. Bliss.

The ninth grade English classes are practicing paragraph writing, an important phase in English composition work. Some very promising themes have been handed in, showing real thought on the matter of Thanksgiving spirit.

Following a vocabulary spellopp in Latin in the first year Latin class, the losers entertained with a fifteen minute program. It was composed of a short original Latin play, a talk on Roman schools, and singing of a Latin round.

November Honor List.

Following are the honor lists for the month of November: High School—Special Honor (All A's) Fern Benkelman, Louis Chaffee, Magdalena Just, Mildred Karr, Barter. Turn to page 2.

CROSWELL HAS A BIG POSTAL SHIPMENT

(Croswell Staff)

A few days ago when Wm. Hartman, field man of the W. R. Roach company, made an address before the "mike" of the Lansing broadcasting station, he took as his subject, "Canned Food Week," and in his talk told those listening in if they would send their names and addresses to the Roach Co. at Croswell each of them would receive a can of the quality peas put up at the factory there. The next day brought in over 500 letters and the next few days almost twice that number were registered. The cans of peas were packed in cartons and on Tuesday taken to the local postoffice. It took two trucks to handle the lot and the postoffice building was literally filled with cartons. The names came from every state east of the Rocky mountains and the cans had to go to almost every zone of the postal department.

SEEK TO DECLARE BANK A BANKRUPT

Creditors of Ealy, Davis Co. of Millington File Petition at Bay City.

From Bay City Times-Tribune.

A petition was filed here in the district court Saturday by William Lowell, Lamont Dixon, Delos Reynolds, James Sales, all residents of the village of Millington, asking that the firm of Ealy-Davis Co., having their principal place of business at Millington be declared bankrupt.

The petition alleged that the firm of Ealy-Davis Co., composed of the co-partners, J. McNair Ealy of California, David J. Davis, Peter Pardee, Amos Kinney, Charles Stacey, and Wm. P. Campbell owed debts to the petitioner that amounted to $6,668, alleging on this basis that the company is insolvent and seek that it be adjudicated bankrupt.

It declares further that it should be declared bankrupt on the grounds that a claim has been filed in the circuit court of Tuscola county by the Ealy-Davis Co. asking that a receiver be appointed for the co-partnership, charging that depressed conditions and lack of current funds have made it impossible to continue their business except at a loss. A receiver was appointed in chancery at the Tuscola county circuit court on Nov. 5. Alleging further, the petition states that the co-partnership, while insolvent four months preceding the filing of the petition, conveyed part of its property for the purpose of defrauding the creditors, and also transferred part of the firm property and assets to certain of the creditors for the purpose of preferring those creditors to certain of the other creditors.

According to the petition, service was made on every member of the firm by U. S. Marshal Richard LaBelle, Monday afternoon. Each member of the firm, with the exception of Ealy, who is in California and Pardee, who has absconded, was served with a chancery subpoena.

Series of Fertilizer Meetings in Tuscola

The farmers of Tuscola Co. annually spend approximately one hundred seventy-five thousand dollars for commercial fertilizers. Such an expenditure is warranted only as such fertilizers are used which are needed by the crops for which they are purchased. Complete fertilizers contain three different elements of plant food namely nitrogen, phosphate and potash. Different crops need these elements in different quantities and the various types of soils are supplied with these elements in different amounts thereby making their needs much varied.

The tendency has been the last few years to increase the amount of commercial fertilizers used per acre. This probably is a good move, yet undoubtedly a great deal of money is now being spent for fertilizers which are not needed. That is, many purchasers are buying a different type of fertilizer than their soil and crop conditions require.

A meeting of the fertilizer salesmen of the county was held last Wednesday at the court house at Caro to further acquaint them with the soil and crop needs of the county and to secure their co-operation in somewhat standardizing the type of fertilizer sold. Eight farmers meetings are scheduled for next week in various sections of the county for the purpose of considering the fertilizer needs of the various districts. These are public meetings and not only farmers but anyone else interested is invited to be present. It is estimated that $30,000.00 could be saved annually by the farmers of the county if they would purchase the type of fertilizer.

TWO INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Ralph Maharg Was Badly Cut and J. A. Cole Had Narrow Escape.

Ralph, eight year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Maharg, was badly cut about the face and one arm when the Buick coach in which he was riding with his father, tipped over into a ditch, six miles north of North Branch. He was taken to a near-by farm house where first aid was given and was then brought to the hospital at Cass City where it was found necessary to take several stitches. He was able to be taken home Monday.

John A. Cole had a fortunate escape in an accident Wednesday night, Nov. 24, in which he might easily have been fatally injured. As it was, he received a gash in his forehead which required four stitches to close, received injuries in his shoulder and one leg.

The accident happened about 3/4 of a mile south of Colwood. Mr. Cole had trouble with the motor of his gasoline truck and was being towed home from Bay City by Manley Asher.

The truck's brakes failed to work, and as Mr. Asher slowed up in nearing the corner nine miles west of Cass City, the truck's front wheel ran over the tow chain. It became entangled and upset the truck, breaking the cab and pinning Mr. Cole under the machine and dragging both man and truck a short distance. Mr. Cole did not regain consciousness until he reached the local hospital.

Roads To Be Kept Open in Tuscola Co.

Tuscola county roads will be kept open this winter with two caterpillar-driven snow plows and a steam truck plow, the same equipment as used last year. The following trunk lines are to be kept clear: All of M-81 from Reese to Cass City; the federal aid road from Unionville to Bay City; M-38 from Frankemuth to Silverwood, and M-31. The county roads will include the Millington road, Cass City to Huron county, then to Gagetown to M-81, and M-48 from Saginaw to Vassar, and Caro to M-81.

Lounsbury Sons Hurt in Accidents

Lyle, the ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Lounsbury, living 1 1/2 miles west of Cass City, had the misfortune to run one of the tines of a pitchfork through his leg Thursday morning. He was in the mow of his father's barn and threw the fork up onto the hay. Failing to catch, the fork came back striking the boy just above the ankle, scraping the bone. He was brought at once to Pleasant Home Hospital and last reports are that he is getting along nicely.

Leslie Lounsbury, 13, another son of Mr. and Mrs. Lounsbury, was also the victim of an accident. He fell from a car and broke his left arm Sunday. The young man happens to be left handed. The car was standing still and in some way he caught his foot in a robe and stumbled, landing on his elbow.

Prizes for the Best Window Displays

At the meeting of the Woman's Study Club at the home of Mrs. Frank Reid Tuesday afternoon, it was voted to present prizes for the best window displays in Cass City during the holiday season. Particulars will be announced later. The committee in charge are Mrs. C. L. Robinson, Mrs. Alice Nettleton and Mrs. Chester Graham.

1927 LICENSE PLATES TIME EXTENDED

Motorists of the state will be given until January 15 to purchase their 1927 automobile license plates this year, Secretary of State Chas. DeLand has announced. The extension of time is possible under a law passed at the last session of the state legislature giving the secretary of state authority to allow the use of old plates until February. The plates were placed on sale by one hundred branch managers over the state on December 1 as in other years. During the past year new managers have been appointed in fifty of the branch offices but these will not take over the supervision of sales until January 1, when the terms of the present managers expire, according to DeLand.

CHAMPIONS OF THE THUMB.

spirited Cass City team that they had to face and it would have taken a real team to beat them.

The following players were the members of the championship team and a brief review of their work is given here.

Capt. Urquhart proved to be a fine leader, fighting the hardest when going was the toughest, thus setting a fine example for the remainder to follow throughout the year. He was by far the best center in the Thumb this year. He was the backbone of the line and his encouragement during the game, to his teammates, was invaluable.

Capt.-elect Bailey, although playing his first year of football, was a real scrapper. Very few gains were made around his end during the year and on offense he was equally effective. The boys appreciated his work by electing him captain for next year, an honor that is received by very few and it is hoped that Clare may lead next year's team to as successful a season as this one was.

Harry Keenoy was a tower of strength on offense and defense throughout the year, performing his greatest feat in the last game against Marlette when he practically alone carried the ball almost the full length of the field for a touchdown, a victory, and the Thumb championship.

Glen Hartwick, playing his third year, had his share in team's success, playing his best games against Sandusky, Sebawaing and Bad Axe. Injury to his foot prevented him from showing his best in the closing contests.

Lewis Hunt kept right guard position well filled for the last three years. Seldom any ground was made through there and his ability in making holes was uncanny.

Stuart Wilsey graduated from last year's reserves to a regular job in the line. He improved as the season progressed and had a good share in the team's success.

Gordon Bliss is also a graduate from last year's reserves. Given about the hardest job with a great deal of responsibility, he filled it well and as the season advanced he ran the team well and got the most possible out of the boys. To him the team owes a lot of its success.

Harry Severance, playing his first year of football, proved to be the outstanding end, not only around here, but in the whole Thumb. He scored most of the team's points and whenever he got loose with that ball, it resulted in the score. Harry was all so an expert at place kicking. It will be a long time before there will be an end that can do all the things Harry could do and do them so well.

Elmer Flint won his fame by his punting. Even though it was his first year, he was about the best punter in this section. He is only a sophomore and Cass City will hear more about him before he graduates.

Ed Schwieger is another newcomer who proved his worth and who held a tackle position during the year. A real fighter and a player who improved with every game. Ed has one more year and should develop into a star.

Jack Blades was the only freshman on the team. He was the season's real find. If J. C. improves as much in the next three years as he did this year he will be the greatest tackle that Cass City ever had.

Charles McKenzie proved his worth to the team when he was put into the game due to an injury to Clare. He played a great game against Bad Axe and did equally as well against Marlette.

Ed Greenleaf, George Bohnsack and Fred Brown were the other members of the team. Each one of them was a good man and any time one of the regulars was forced out of the game any one could be put in and they would fill the position well. All of them should be regulars next year.

Seven of the players, namely Urquhart, Wilsey, Keenoy, Bliss, Severance, Hunt and Hartwick will be lost to the team next year. They have done their share in bringing victories and honor to Cass City, and if they play the game of life like they played the game of football, Cass City will hear of them in later years. But there will be eight of them coming back next year and to them falls the task of keeping up the reputation of Cass City High and defending the championship that was won this year.

First Grade—This week we are studying the squirrel. We speak of its covering, quality of fur, and explain why it is short, thick and coarse. A study is made of the parts of his body: head, neck, tail, legs and feet. We see how he uses his feet and his bushy tail. Study his habits, his manner of climbing, sitting, eating, burying of nuts, and keeping himself clean. Edna Whale won our last spellover. The Buick car won over the Nash in the Number Auto Race.

Second Grade—Our spelling chart tells us that Shirley Lenzner, Myrtle Greenleaf and Delbert Henry had the greatest number of perfect lessons in spelling for the past month. Shirley missed but one word during the month. The children are much interested in learning to do subtraction problems this week.

Third Grade—Clarence Boulton, Jr. has moved to town and entered our grade.

Fourth Grade—Fern Boulton and Harold Young are new pupils in our grade. We won the attendance ball for this month with a per cent of 98.1. In reading we have the story of Beowulf.

Fifth Grade—We find our study of Alaska very interesting. After all, it is not a bad place to live and it has wonderful resources. Our scope pictures help to make it more enjoyable. We are glad to report a perfect attendance this week.

Sixth Grade—Marie Vader and Florence Schenck won ten gold stars in spelling for the month of November. This means ten 100% spelling papers. In reading, the A class is reading some very interesting stories written by Theodore Roosevelt.

ITEMS FROM THE SCHOOL COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE

By W. J. Musselman, County School Commissioner.

Commissioner W. J. Musselman announces that the first semester questions for the rural schools are now being prepared in the office. The results of this examination together with the one given at the end of the second semester will be recorded by the teacher on the Individual Cumulative Record from CA-9. These examinations are for the purpose of unifying the work and also to apply to a more closer application of The Course of Study and The State Bulletin furnished by the state.

We are pleased to inform you that we received word from the department that we will be granted a county institute in the near future.

Due to the numerous automobile accidents that have occurred recently in the county, I urge the teachers to instill the principles of caution and care in the minds of the pupils. Two simple rules that will prevent hundreds of accidents are: 1—Always walk on the left side of the road. This permits you to face the approaching car. 2—When crossing a road, look first to the left and then to the right.

This year we are going to allow the seventh grade pupils fifteen per cent credit for the project on the subject of Geography as covered by Book Two, Iroquois Geography Note Book, published by the Iroquois Publishing Co., Syracuse, N. Y.

The eighth grade students will be allowed fifteen per cent for project work in the subject of American History as covered by American History Note Book, Number Two, published by the Hall & McCreary Co., Chicago, Ill.

The notebooks are to be sent to our office. Have the students keep them for reference. The teacher is to notify us as to pupils doing satisfactory work in each.

To encourage project work in the schools of the county, the board of examiners are authorized to grant credit to the pupils on the seventh and eighth grade examination in May, for historical project and pageant and nature project and seasonal pageant. It is expected that the neighboring schools will unite in the exhibit.

Last year the historical project and pageant was worked out by Elk and Custer townships. This year the townships selected are Evergreen and Watertown and the exhibit is to be nature study project and seasonal pageant.

Arrangements have been made by Commissioner W. J. Musselman for a series of community meetings. The next place assigned is Minden City, to be held Saturday, Dec. 4, at 2:00 p. m. There will be speakers from outside and some local talent. These gatherings are to bring closer relationship of the home and school that they may cooperate intelligently in the education of the child. We will greatly appreciate your co-operation by being present.

PEOPLE who call on the inmates of furnished rooms either wait in the hall while the footstons that brought the means of ingress go upstairs and become responsible for knocks somewhere in the darkness, or go downstairs into oblivion, leaving the caller to a personally conducted tour of exploration for the discovery of "two flights up;—th door."

The top floor at Mrs. Cawthorn's was an exception to furnished room rules, for two of the doors stood wide open all day. The one in front, facing north, disclosed a tiny, desolate room containing a narrow iron bed, a chair, a bureau furnished with meager toilet fittings, a trunk, and a corner curtained off for a wardrobe.

The door opposite disclosed an entirely different interior. In one window a bird in a brass cage sang above blooming plants and in the other an old lady sat in a rocking chair, when she was not peering into the hall, or leaning over the banisters, or trotting about on visits.

Every morning precisely at 7:45 the door of the north room opened and a little, weazened shabby old man pulled the corner of the trunk forward to keep it so. Then he hung a very small empty aluminum milk can on his wrist, put its cover in his pocket, took up a neatly tied package of refuse and went away.

Mrs. Bascomb got his story from the servant the morning she arrived and found him a case after her own heart. He was Amos Binks; he had lived in that room for ten years.

Christmas drew near and she was very busy making presents and planning surprises and treats among her multitudinous friends, but every time she passed Binks' door her heart ached for him, and so the days passed and it was Christmas Eve.

She had been out shopping all morning; her arms were full of bundles and her heart of plans; but she glanced, as she always did, at Binks' door, and what she saw there brought her to an abrupt stop with tears running down her cheeks. Poor old man, poor old man! On the miserable bureau, among the meager toilet things there stood a Christmas tree, a very small one, and as desolate and bare as the room. The poor, proud old creature had Christmas in his heart. She would give him a surprise.

She selected the choicest of her purchases and laid them, gaily tied with red ribbons and bits of holly, on the foot of his bed. She hung the stark little tree with bags of candy and all sorts of jolly trifles, chuckling over his surprise and delight as she departed to replenish her stock for tomorrow's festivities. He would never know. Bless him.

That morning as he was going out the little woman with three children had popped her head out of the front parlor door and asked if she might leave her Christmas tree in his room so the children would not see it.

"It's the last place in the world anyone would look to find a Christmas tree," she said.

Binks had borrowed three lumps of sugar from her when he had a cold and he had worried about having to buy a whole half pound to return it. This would cancel the obligation.

"If you don't make any mess," he said sourly and went out.

He had forgotten all about the tree when he returned that evening and he was even more than usually dour and bitter, for he could not avoid giving presents to the children of his partner and the janitor of the office building. It was one of the penalties of wealth. Thank goodness, no one at the rooming house had the ghost of an idea that he wasn't poor Amos Binks, although he was Amos Binks, the millionaire.

He stopped in the doorway of his room in a paralysis of amazement when he saw the tree and the presents, and then a smile infinitely shy and sneering broke over his face. He glanced at Mrs. Bascomb's door; it was closed, but he understood and chuckled. He heard steps coming stealthily upstairs, the little woman coming for the tree! He stripped it of its decorations with hasty fingers and carried it out to her.

"It's in my way," he said testily.

The day after Christmas he deposited to his own credit at the bank $3.50 which he had intended to spend on Christmas presents until Mrs. Bascomb gave him enough to go round, and keep a nice warm pair of socks for himself.

Zero Hours of Automobile Accidents, 4, 5 and 8 P. M.

5:00 P. M. 4:00 P. M. 8:00 P. M.

ONE thousand and thirty of Chicago's 11,785 auto accidents last year, according to the Stewart-Warner Safety Council for the prevention of automobile accidents, occurred between five and six o'clock, just when congestion is at its worst in the home-going rush. Only 47 of these 1,030 accidents were fatal.

Four o'clock is the children's zero hero. Thirty-three of the 182 children killed by autos in Chicago last year came to grief at four o'clock, playing in the streets after school.

Seven to nine is the dangerous time for adult auto fatalities, according to Chicago's 1924 record. Eighty-six of 353 such deaths occurred around the theater-going hours.

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

AUTHORITIES agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

E. A. Corpron, Hardware

AFTER a continuous fall of snow for over forty hours, the small town of Bethel was covered with a pure white mantle on the day before Christmas.

Over the hills the tinkling sound of sleigh bells was music upon the frosty air of the early winter morning as Judge John Wainwright looked out of the chamber window of his farmhouse. As he peered out of the little panes of glass with their tiny draperies of snow he saw Jasper Collins with his two-hitch plow breaking a way through the narrow Main street of the town, while an occasional salute of "Good mornin', Jasper!" came from neighbors as they shoveled paths from their gateposts.

"Reckon we'll have a real Christmas—snow nearly two feet deep—came down pretty heavy!" remarked Jasper.

The words "a real Christmas," with the sound of sleigh bells, rang all day long in the ears of Judge Wainwright, even after he had finished his supper in company with his wife and son Roland. "Rolley" and his wife, Marion, lived with Judge and Mrs. Wainwright. Marion, being somewhat ill in her room, was unable to join in the evening meal.

After supper Judge Wainwright climbed the handsomely carved old colonial staircase, and when he had reached the seat on the landing he sat for a moment on the red velvet cushion to glance down at the hall with the tall clock ticking merrily and the log fire snapping happily, its rosy glow painting the white walls and their decorations of greenery—such a picture! And the Christmas joy of the olden days came to him. He had romped on these same stairs with a happy heart, with his sister Lucy at his heels. Yes, Lucy—there was the one shadow on the joys of Christmas Eve. Lucy had married against the wishes of her family, and as a result none of the family were on speaking terms with her. Lucy, a widow, feeble, but graceful in her age of seventy-five years, lived in the little cottage on the Wainwright estate, cut off with a very slight income by the will of her father, John Wainwright.

Judge Wainwright went up to his study and looked out of the dormer window upon the night. The sky was clear and a large star shone brightly above the distant hill of pine trees and all the other stars seemed to twinkle happily about it. The loveliness of the landscape charmed him, and, relaxing from any other thoughts, he turned the light very low and lay upon a couch near the window.

When a loud knock upon the door startled him he realized he had fallen asleep and the excited voice of Sarah, the colored maid, called to him that "Missus Marion done took very sick."

It was the midnight hour when Judge Wainwright again stood by his study window and glanced out again into the night. The big star was high and luminous and long beams seemed to stream from it as it hung aloft, over the little town of Bethel. A new joy had come into the Judge's heart, for a new-born babe had come into the home. And as he turned from the window he glanced at a pictured motto on the wall, placed there by his own mother. It read: "Blessed Are the Peacemakers, for They Shall Be Called the Children of God." Speedily the bitterness toward poor Lucy which had been in his heart for so many years had departed and the tears came to his eyes. He determined then to make the grandest peace upon the Christmas day. He would call upon Lucy himself, ask for her forgiveness and announce the glad tidings of a son—a most glorious gift bestowed by God in the old Wainwright homestead. It was a day of real Christmas rejoicing, upon which the spirit of the man who said "Peace upon earth" rested and the little town of Bethel had its share in the advent of a new citizen—John Wainwright, III.

American Santa Claus
The American Santa Claus is a corruption of the Dutch San Nicholas. G. H. McHughes says: "Santa Claus, the name derived from Saint Nicholas through the familiar use of children in Teutonic countries, crossed to America. The direct route followed by him is somewhat open to question. On the way he traded his gray horse for a reindeer and made changes in his appearance."

Christmas Problem Solved
by H. LUCIUS COOK

IT WAS his first Christmas in the city. He could not afford to go home, nor could he have gone if he had had the money. He was clerk in a store, and had to work Christmas Eve till ten o'clock. The last train for his home town left at three in the afternoon. And there was no use going up on Christmas day for just an hour; five hours each way on the train, total fare over ten dollars, for one hour at home; one-third of a week's pay! No, that would be extravagant. So he had sent his mother two pink silk nightgowns as a solace for his first absence from home on Christmas day. He thought the nightgowns would delight her; she had never had a silk one, and from the way that silk ones were displayed in the city shops, he was sure they were the thing to wear. The night gowns he had sent her, the hankies he had sent his sisters, and the ties for his brothers, had completely emptied his pockets. He always had been generous, but he enjoyed depriving himself for the happiness of others. His generosity this time, however, had gone too far, for he had nothing left with which to buy a gift for Mrs. Addison.

Mrs. Addison was a young widow whom he had met recently in the city. She was a very beautiful woman, and had been most kind to him. He had already been to her small apartment several times to have supper with her and her jolly, foreign-acting father, and sometimes they had all gone to a "movie" together afterwards. But she had never let him pay for their tickets, and he had never done anything to recompense her for her kindness to him. "Your companionship is all we want, dad and I," is what she always said, and he believed her. But he really wanted to take her something nice for Christmas. If only he had kept one of the nightgowns he had sent his mother. But no, that would have been too pretentious and too personal. He must give her something very beautiful, to be sure, but nothing extravagant, even if he could. She wouldn't like that. What was he to do?

For lunch the day before Christmas he had a sandwich and a soda at a drug store. That left him 20 minutes to gaze longingly in the shop windows on the avenue. Such pretty things, he thought he had never seen before—jewelry, clothing, novelties for the delight of women. They seemed just made for Mrs. Addison. But a dollar was all the money he could spare, and what could you get for that? The boudoir lamp he wanted cost five dollars, the desk set eight; and even a decent box of candy would be two dollars and a half.

The jeweler's clock warned him he must get back to work, so wearily he turned the corner and hurried to his own store to so grudgingly dole out to others the things he could not buy himself—for her.

That night he returned to his room empty-handed and mournful. But his fatigue was so great, sleep soon quieted his sorrow.

It was late Christmas morning when he awoke, but there was still time to slick himself up and get to Mrs. Addison's for breakfast at eleven. How original of her to invite him for Christmas breakfast, and at eleven, too! He appreciated those extra hours of sleep. She certainly was a dear.

Breakfast at eleven! Why, that meant he would not have to eat again till night, and then just a simple supper. And THAT meant he saved the price of a Christmas dinner—another dollar! But two dollars—what could he do with that, and all the stores closed? His enthusiasm waned as quickly as it came. And then, suddenly, his eyes saw the beautiful flowers he was watering. They were paper white narcissus he had bought a few weeks before at the "five and ten." The four bulbs and the bowl had cost only a quarter, and here they were with two beautiful sprays of fragrant bloom and one fat bud just ready to break its covering. Their fragrance filled the room. Their beauty would grace any home; yes, even hers. His Christmas shopping problem was solved. He would buy some candy at the corner drug store, and give it with the flowers he had grown himself. Oh, what a jolly breakfast party they would have!

An Ill Omen
In the Balkans it is believed that to die on Christmas Day is of ill omen as regards one's place in the after-death life.

A Christmas Dish
Eels baked and rolled in laurel leaf are a favorite Christmas dish in Italy.

Buick Thermostatic Control provides smooth Engine Performance at 0° or 90° in the shade

Thermostatic Circulation Control is a new reason why the Buick engine is so easy to start and so pleasant to drive, in all kinds of weather.

Summer conditions prevail all year, under the Buick hood. At 90°, or at zero this valuable Buick improvement reduces the warming-up period to less than three minutes!

For this, and many other vital reasons, the 1927 Buick is the Greatest Ever Built. The engine is vibrationless beyond belief. Drive it and see what that means.

Death of Mrs. Albert Vogel The Angel of Death visited the home of Albert Vogel early Thursday morning, calling the spirit of the beloved wife and mother home to partake of the Thanksgiving feast with the King of Kings. Elizabeth Sophia Vogt was born Nov. 2, 1864, in Ontario, Canada, and departed this life at her home near Cass City, Mich., Nov. 25, 1926, aged 62 years and 23 days. She was united in marriage to Albert Vogel Dec. 13, 1887. She was the mother of one son and seven daughters, also three step-children. One daughter, Lillian and two step children, Tillie and Willie, preceded her in death. At about the age of 13 she gave her heart to God which through all these years of sunshine and storms has been an anchor to her soul. At that time she united with the Evangelical church of which she remained a faithful member to the end. She was a faithful wife and all that a loving mother could be to her children and will be greatly missed

An Hour Is Enough

"No man can be expected to live at the level of a woman's ideal of him; it is enough for her happiness if there has been an hour when he fulfilled it. . . . Among the burdens bound on women none is harder to bear than the kindness of unimaginative men. One cannot argue with an attitude of mind!"—From "A Son of the House," by A. R. Weeks.

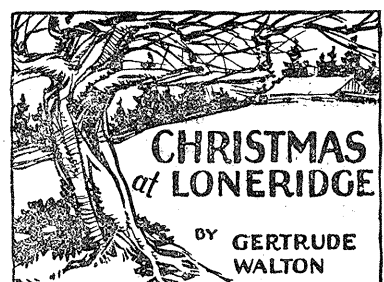

"Seein' Things at Night"

Taking man's night vision as a standard for purposes of comparison, it has been found that a lion is slightly better able to see at night, a bear still better equipped for night vision, while an owl is the best equipped of all. Closely rivaling the latter are two representatives of the

THIS man says we are here for the night, and no way out of it. We're twenty-five miles from John's, too. Repairs will have to be brought four miles from Coaltown. Those huts down the hill belong to the Loneridge coal mines. The miners will have guests tonight," Mr. Long announced as he drew some tools from his automobile. The mine mechanic who had been procured when Mr. Long had walked to one of the shanties down the long winding hill when his car had refused to go, smiled and informed Mr. and Mrs. Long that he would find a place for them to stay for the night. It was the afternoon before Christmas, when they were on their way to Mrs. Long's brother John's country home, where the Long children had gone the day before with Mrs. Long's sister's family, to be present at the family Christmas Eve festivities, with a large tree by the fireplace for the families of five brothers and sisters with parents of both Mr. and Mrs. Long. In the car were gifts not only for the Long children but for most of the other relatives. After telephoning from the mine-foreman's office to John's family that they must spend the night at Loneridge, the packages were carried to one of the better looking huts of the foreign-speaking folks who received them hospitably. During the evening, while the hostess was preparing the meal, the woman by means of signs and unintelligible English made Mrs. Long understand that there was little Christmas festivity in the mining town. "This woman has shown me courtesy and kindness; here is an opportunity to prove some Christmas courage and character," Mrs. Long whispered to her husband as plans began percolating through her mind. Soon the children were helping decorate the small tree which Mrs. Long had brought from her husband's store for younger members of the relatives' families, as well as her own children. Mrs. Schalska popped corn, Christmas-tree trimmings, oranges, nuts, candy and candles were produced from among the packages in the car, and a hurried trip to a small store enlarged the stock of goodies. The children, taking turns in carrying the tree, with Mr. and Mrs. Schalska, Mr. and Mrs. Long started out. Every house with boys and girls, aged or sick ones, was visited. The tree was placed on a table or chair, candles lighted for a moment while some goodies were distributed. After a visit to each place, the family was invited to accompany this Christmas Cheer company while carols were sung outside and inside until everyone was so happy that some shouted while others cried for joy. One dear woman after listening to the story of the significance of the Yuletide season which some had made Mr. Long understand they wished to learn, drying her eyes on the corner of a faded apron, called Mrs. Long an "H-angel." The glad notes of the Christmas caroling soon reached the farther ends of Loneridge, whose inhabitants joined in a community Christmas as they made their way to the large engine house where the tree was placed in the center while they sang patriotic songs. Then, while sacred quietness reigned, Mrs. Long repeated the Christmas story, after which Mr. Long led softly in singing, "All is calm, all is bright," when some one touched Mrs. Long on the sleeve. It was her brother, John, who was waiting in his big car to take them to his home. After their own festivities he had slipped away to bring the stranded travelers as a surprise next morning to all but his wife. As Mrs. Long arranged the packages around the small tree on the table, possibly there were visions of happy faces of Loneridge boys and girls with their note discordant in tone but full of love-harmony while they sang, "All is bright." Perhaps she wondered at the "peace that passed understanding" which she had that Christmas. She may have understood that the Loneridge Christmas Eve would be one of the happiest memories of her life because wherever and whenever the message "Inasmuch" is lived out, there will be "Peace and Good Will Among Men."

A Christmas Carol
A bright and blessed Christmas Day,
With echoes of the angels' song,
And peace that cannot pass away,
And holy gladness calm and strong,
And sweet heart-carols flowing free:
This is my Christmas wish to thee!
—Havergal.

Erskine United Presbyterian—Next Sabbath by arrangement of the ministerial association is Rally Day for all the churches in Huron County. Would it not be a fine thing if all the churches were full. They could be. Let us all be in our places next Sabbath. Let us invite all our neighbors who are non-attenders, to come with us. Then observe the effect upon the church services. The sermon theme for morning service will be "The Church and the Community." We will look for you.

Opportunity for Science
Nets have been designed so that aviators may capture for entomologists strange insects which infest the upper strata of the atmosphere. What a debt will be owed to science if experiments in inter-breeding with earth-bound pests produce a hybrid that inherits an instinct for the rarified altitudes.

Popularity
We think more of Louis Pasteur than we do of Napoleon. Pasteur was a great benefactor of mankind but Napoleon never brought anything but misery to most of Europe and some of Africa. Yet, if those two met in New York and one walked north and the other south Pasteur would probably be lonesome and Napoleon would be suffocated by the mob.—The Third Link.
Society's Handicap
"I guess we may as well give up," sighed the president of the anti-fog society. "What's the trouble now?" asked his secretary. "I just read they are making more fountain pens than ever," he explained.—Cincinnati Enquirer.
Bamboo Grows Fast
The record for speedy growth among trees belongs to the bamboo which, during the rainy season, can almost be seen to grow. New shoots will rise at the rate of nine inches in each 24 hours.

John McGrath, Sr., Answers Call

John McGrath, sr., a respected retired farmer, passed away at his home on Woodland Ave. on the afternoon of Thanksgiving Day. Mr. McGrath was born August 22, 1854, at Waterside, Scotland, and was married to Amanda A. Karr Oct. 31, 1878, in Canada. The following year they came to Michigan, locating 3 miles west and 1 1/2 miles north of Cass City where they lived until 17 years ago when they moved to Cass City. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the home, at two o'clock. Rev. I. W. Cargo officiated. Burial was in Elkland cemetery. Four grandsons and two granddaughters acted as pall bearers. Besides his wife, he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Charles Randall and Mrs. T. W. Spaven, and one son, John McGrath, all living on farms near Cass City; also one sister, living in Ireland, and ten grandchildren.

Here Comes the Bride!

WHAT a joyful moment it is, when the organ sounds the first chords of a wedding march! Every heart is filled with tenderness, as the bride and groom take their place before love's altar

It is the right of every girl to have her wedding beautiful and "correct" in every detail. The young lady in your family is expecting that kind of a ceremony—some day. Until she wishes to make it known, the date must be a secret most precious.

But when it is announced, she will be just as particular about having that done properly as about the flowers in her bridal bouquet.

When Wedding Invitations and Announcements are entrusted to this office, you may rest assured of three things: Whether printed or engraved, they will be quite in harmony with what you consider best. Their cost will both surprise and please you. And as for keeping a secret—why, even "the lucky man" himself could not bribe us to tell him when it will happen!

THE CHRONICLE CASS CITY

EDDIE GUEST'S RELIGION.

(American Magazine).

The sooner any young man discovers that belief in God and belief in his own divine purpose are vital to his character, the better it will be for him. I would rather die leaving nothing to my boy but his religion, than to die leaving him a fortune with no religion. If I can but impress him, as my mother impressed upon me, the fact that God has given him a soul to be his for all eternity, that he has been blessed with divine power to beautify and glorify that soul, if I can give him the sure belief in a Supreme Being, I shall not have to worry about his future. The boy who has faith in God will have faith in himself. You can keep faith in God and follow any profession you choose. It will not restrict your opportunity or become an obstacle to your ambition. It will not deprive you of a single decent pleasure or rob you of a single manly friend.
