DIPLOMAS TO 29 n a muanra ing. TUSCOLA DAIRYMEN

These Men Have Herds that Averaged More Than 300 lbs. in Butterfat in Year.

Twenty-nine Tuscola county dairymen have just been honored by the National Dairy Ass'n by being awarded a diploma which places them on the national honor roll of this association because of these men having had herds in cow testing association work that averaged more than 300 lbs. of butterfat in the year. The National Dairy Ass'n consider this an achievement well worth while and the 29 diplomas have just been received by the County Agr'l Agent John W. Sims and will be handed out to the herd owners in the near future. These diplomas are given for records which were completed in cow testing work nearly a year ago but ASK BANKRUPTOV FOR has taken quite a long time to have the results investigated and checked so that the diplomas could be awarded. It is a real achievement to have dairymen possessing herds, produce more than 300 lbs. of butterfat. This Petition Filed in Federal Court is evidenced by the fact that the average cow in the state of Michigan produced less than 200 lbs. of butterfat per year.

Tuscola had at the time only approximately 60 farmers in cow testing work and to have 29 of the 60, or nearly 50%, come through the year Co. banks of the Thumb territory and with such comparatively high records the individual partners of the partgive some indication of the quality of nership banks be thrown into bankcows which the dairymen are now ruptcy was filed in federal court at using and which are being improved Bay City Friday by Attorneys H. Mr. Clarke's statement is as follows:

"The question whether the present receivership would be better or worse than bankruptcy proceedings, has been puzzling the minds of the depositors and their attorneys for some time. There are strong arguments both ways. FEW THINGS HIDDEN FROM ONE'S BANKER

A banker knows a good many other things you would not suspect him of knowing, writes Ellis Parker Butler in Hearst's International-Cosmopolitan.

He knows, almost before you know it, when you have bought a new automobile, and he knows whether you can afford it or not. He knows whether your wife is extravagant. He knows whether your children are costing you too much money.

He knows whether your "hooch" bill is beyond your means or not. You can hardly have an old shingle pulled out of your roof and a new one stuck in without the banker knowing it before the carpenter climbs down off the roof.

And if you are a married man or woman and stray from the straight and narrow path, you might just as day. well write out the whole details of your illicit love affair and file it at the ited friends in town over the weekbank, because the banker will know | end. the complete details anyway. Frequently he will know a great deal more about it than you know.

SWISS ALARMED AT PEAK'S SUBSIDENCE

Mount Arbino, a 5,550-foot peak in Switzerland, is moving slightly, if observations recorded by the Swiss topographical bureau since 1888 can be relied on, says the Pathfinder Magazine. home at Greenleaf. It is believed that the plateau on the summit has become dangerously undermined. Forty years ago the summit of the mountain was shifting horizontally at the rate of one inch a year. Since then it has gradually speeded up until it is now moving nearly four inches annually.

The mountain is also subsiding. During the first fourteen months of observation it settled about an inch and a half a year, but during the last twelve months it has sunk six inches. Geologists say that when the underlying mass of rock gives way, which may be any time, the whole plateau will crash into the valley below.

"Balloon" Tires for

Giant Aerial Liners When "balloon" tires first began to make their appearance on the roads, much comment was excited by their size. But they are midgets compared with the huge rubber tires which are now being manufactured for use on the new giant aerial liners.

These tires are seven and a half feet in diameter, and weigh nearly two hundredweight each. They are of the "wired" type, and a breaking load of 18 tons on each bead can be withstood by their bead wires.

The inner tubes are about 38 pounds each in weight, whereas the ordinary inner tube of a light car tire only weighs about one pound and threequarters. The wheels of the air liners to which they are to be fitted have hubs 20 inches long and weigh nearly a quarter of a ton apiece.

Burns' "Last Poem" Found

What is supposed to have been Bobby Burns' last poem has been found in Waiko Maiti, Otago, a remote settlement in New Zealand. It is addressed to "Miss Jessie Lewars," the girl who nursed him in his illness just before he died, and who later married and went to New Zealand to live.

Telephones and Autos

Latest figures show there are now more automobiles than telephones. There are approximately 20,000,000 autos and 17,000,000 telephones. Every sixth person has an automobile, says Good Hardware, and every seventh person a telephone.

‰CHRISTMAS EVE HOME-COMING by MARY GRAHAM BONNER

day and now it was dark and the lamps on the little branch line train were lighted and all the home-comers from all directions had met. Everyone knew everyone else on this train and the conductor knew them all. The stove at the end of the train was burning almost too warmly. The train in the cities. To everyone he wished a merry Christmas.

They had hurried so to make connections, they had scrambled and pushed through the great holiday crowds. But now they were all sure they would get home on Christmas Eve. After they got on this train there could be no missing of connections and the conductor had promised them they would be on time.

Out of the windows occasional lights could be seen in the farmhouses they passed and in the streets of very small villages. But every house, no matter how separated and alone, was decorated. Christmas reached everywhere. It penetrated the traffic of cities and reached out to the most remote places.

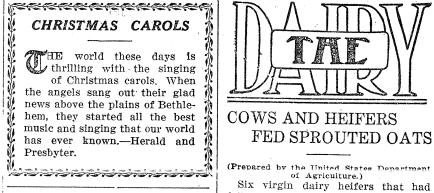

There was a general chatter going on, a renewing of friendships, a talk between some who only saw each other at this time of the year, who had different interests and occupations and lived in different places but who enjoyed this annual little talk.

And then the engine gave a long, to the highest possible expression of long, long whistle. It was not the or-Christmastide, tolerance, unselfishness, dinary whistle of an engine. It was liberality, peace and good will toward the way the engine always whistled on Christmas Eye, so as to carry word to the waiting families and friends at the little station at the end of the line that the train was doing its part to wish them a merry Christmas by bringing its load of people.

Dexter was out on the station platform. Oh, such greetings as there were. And then a rush to the different homes where hot suppers were spread out upon candle-lit tables and where ruddy fires radiated their glow of cheer.

Dexter was surrounded by his family. And besides-there was Nancy. That made the home-coming perfect. For it gave him the hope, the unspoken promise that he would have his own, own home-coming before long.

Don't say "High Test"—say "Staroline." The result will please you

STAROLINE

Gasoline is better for Instant Starting, Maximum Power, Minimum Heat, Better Acceleration

When you drive up to a filling station do not ask for "High Test" Gasoline-ask the attendant for STAROLINE.

STAROLINE is more than "high test." It is true that STAROLINE tests 68 degrees to 70 degrees Baume; possibly the highest gravity gasoline on the market, but STAROLINE has much more than a high gravity test to recommend it.

It is better. Better for your engine; for your disposition; for your pocket-book. Three places that need and will appreciate the best treatment you can give them.

Potency of Deadly

Sound Waves Shown A "death-noise" instead of a "deathray," was the phenomenon discussed recently before the National Academy of Science, by Prof. R. A. Wood and Alfred L. Loomis of the Johns Hopkins university. The "death-noise" would have been inaudible to human ears, but it consisted of sound waves, just the same, and it killed small fishes and other aquatic animals in vessels of water, in less than a minute. The two researchers generated exceedingly high-frequency sound waves by means of electrical apparatus. The waves were produced at a rate of from 100,000 to 400,000 to the second. The upper limit of audibility to human ears is between 20,000 and 30,000. If a beam of these sound waves is directed toward the surface of the water, Professor Wood said. the surface is heaped up in a mound. The vibrations heat the water, a rise of nearly 10 degrees Fahrenheit in one minute having been recorded.

Practical Joke Didn't Work

Their practical joke miscarried, and two Johannesburg young men were arrested and heavily fined. A mutual friend was believed to be snug in bed in a city hotel. They uncoiled fire hose, hoisted the nozzle to the transom over the door, directed the stream toward the bed, turned on the water and ran. Two floors were practically swamped as some mechanism of the hydrant broke and the water could not be turned off for over an hour. The perpetrators were assessed damages in addition to the fine, and the joke was-their friend was

"Of course you know," said the other, "when we're wild and free we are very strong. "At first zoo life never agrees with US. "When we're free we can travel very far and climb over enormous mountains. "We are good, well-behaved and smart sheep at home in the mountains, but we can't get used to the zoo very quickly. "It takes time. "Well, I heard a creature say that it was a pity that they did not bring us here before we were more than a year old. She said she should think we could get used to this climate sooner than we do." "The very idea !" said Frankie.

"Yes, she didn't appreciate how thoughtful the zoo people are in waiting to bring us here when we are old enough to stand the change. "She was sorry she couldn't see what we looked like when we were younger. "And everyone, who has any sense about Big-Horn Mountain Sheep matters, knows we must be at home until we are over a year old.

"But a child with whom she was walking, said that our big curved horns were wonderful, which was the only thing that saved the day as far as speeches were concerned."
