If he was caring for someone else there was iittle use in trying to win him back. She had always thought that. When John Lester left the house that morning he did not take the subway, as he usually did for his downtown office, but he boarded a surface car, and left it at one of the fine cross streets about a mile from his home.

Phyllis Bert met him delightedly. She was dark-eyed, dark-haired, with a large full mouth, and very red cheeks. She was handsome in a highcolored, rather coarse-grained way,

LEGION BUSY WITH CIVIC ACTIVITIES

Citations for outstanding service to their communities have started going out from national headquarters of the American Legion at Indianapolis to local posts of the Legion in many parts of the country as a result of work done in the Legion's nationwide community service movement for 1927. The national citations have been won by the posts by a wide variety of civic activities.

"The men of the Legion are proving that they can be equally valuable to their country in peace as in war," declared James F. Barton, national adjutant, discussing the community service work. "They are coming forward to meet long-standing civic needs in many cities and towns, and in others they are springing into action to meet emergency situations. They are really not ex-service menthey still are service men." The posts winning citations are scattered throughout many states. Among the first to receive national mention was the Fred L. Stilton post at Cobleskill, N. Y., which dug the business district of its city out from under heavy snowdrifts and volunteered to keep the streets cleared the rest of the winter after the city council found it had no funds to hire the work done.

Another post which has been cited is the Francis E. Self post of Cheyenne, Wyo., which mobilized an army of volunteer workers and removed dangerous ridges from the Cheyenne air mail field, an important point on the transcontinental air route. Contractors had asked $15,000 for the work which the post accomplished without cost to the city. Fernald Millas post of Tarpon Springs, Fla., has been cited for its work in promoting scholastic and ath letic achievement among the school pupils of its city. George Edwin Kirk post of Bar Harbor, Maine, has been cited for organizing an emergency relief corps which which marks the intelligent man from is ready to give immediate relief in the savage. case a serious fire, storm or other disaster should strike the community.

Atlantic post of Atlantic, Iowa, has won a citation for furnishing a group of 30 picked men who co-operated with the city police in suppressing a wave of robbery.

Attleboro post of Attleboro, Mass. has received the recognition for purchasing an ambulance for the Attleboro hospital and sponsoring an extensive program of juvenile athletics. Herbert K. Kellam post of Heron Lake, Minn., has been cited for build ing and supervising a skating rink for school children and raising funds tc equip a public playground.

Paint Is Advisable It is estimated that the American people pay the huge sum of $1,500,-000,000 a year in replacing building materials ruined by rot and rust. This is a big bill, especially when it is appreciated that most of it could be saved with a paint brush. This sum is several times greater than our annual fire loss, about which so much is written. This matter of depreciation is not given the dramatic attention which is accorded a fire loss because its slow accumulation leads people

Ink Balls on Oaks

Ink balls are caused by a certain species of gadfly. The insect punctures the bark of the tree and lays its eggs. After the egg hatches the young insect lives in the gall or ink ball. Such galls appear only on certain species of trees, particularly the oak, because the insect seems to prefer those trees.

In this great era of industrial precision, Oakland manufacturing processes stand out as a marvel of the day and age. Not in the entire history of the automobile has any car of its price embodied so many super-precision processes—so many prac-tices previously used only in the manufacture of the costliest cars.

Oakland is going to unheard-of lengths to make certain that the Greater Oakland Six continues to be the finest built car of its price in the world. Yet today's Oakland Six is winning an entirely new measure of popularity, offering all the advantages of Oakland super-precision construction, plus the rich beauty of new colors in Duco.

These original color combinations were developed in cooperation with Dupont, the world's leading automotive color authorities. They lend refreshing smartness to every Oakland body. They introduce into their price field a new note of modishness and luxury-one that you will instantly mark the moment you see the car.

A. H. HIGGINS Jeweler and Optometrist Win and Lose Trophy in Membership Race

The predicament of winning a silver loving cup and at the same time losing it occurred to the Montana department of the American Legion in a membership race with the Idaho department. The two states entered the race, which closed at midnight, December 31, with the agreement that the membership cards which would count would be in the hands of the national treasurer in Indianapolis. A letter received at national head quarters from William L. Jones, state adjutant of Montana, says their total was more than 100 larger than the total reported by Idaho. But the Montana finance officer and state commander, who must sign the membership check to accompany the cards, live in opposite ends of the state, 600 miles apart, and the adjutant was unable to get the cards to Indianapolis on time.

People Are Learning the Value of Occa-sional Use.

EVERYONE knows that a lax-ative stimulates the bowels. A diuretic performs a similar function to the kidneys. Under the strain of our modern life, our organs are apt to become sluggish and require assistance. More and more people are learning to use Doan's Pills, occasionally, to insure good elimination which is so essential to good health. More than 50,000 grateful users have given Doan's signed recommendations. Scarcely a community but has its representation. Ask your neighbor!

Rations Fed to Layers Are Lacking in Protein

During recent experiments at the Nebraska Agricultural college, it was found that rations fed to laying hens were commonly lacking in some form of complete protein like meat meal, skim milk, tankage, dried buttermilk, or liquid buttermilk. An addition of six pounds of high-grade tankage to a typical corn-belt ration increased the egg production from 59 in the check pen to 183 eggs per hen in the tankage-fed lot. Skim milk or buttermilk, when available at all times, may take the place of meat meal or tankage in the mash mixture, but it is necessary that each hen consume about 110 pounds of milk in a year in order to get the equivalent protein furnished by six pounds of tankage.

Separate Breeding Pen Many seem to have acquired the idea that keeping a separate breeding pen means a considerable expense and much extra labor for the farmer. This is not the case or if there are such cases it is unnecessary. Maintaining a breeding pen simply means that the best birds in the flock are selected and placed by themselves during the breed ing season. The breeding pen furnishes eggs for hatching during the hatching season. This means that the chicks will be much improved.

Importance of Rooster The male is as important in poultry

as in dairying. Be sure that he is out whether or not he is a cockerel, or an old cock, as long as he has a good physical make-up, plenty of fight, and fully matured. Males show a preference for certain hens, and there should be plenty of males in the flock The number of females and males, and the relation between them, depends upon breed characteristic, size of flock and time of season.
