BETHEL METHODISTS' "BIG TIME" PICNIC

All Entered Heartily into Athletic Program which Featured the Day.

One hundred sixty attended the annual picnic of the Bethel M. E. Sunday school held at Bay Port on July 20 and the opinion prevails that it was the best event of its kind in the history of the school.

The school arrived at the scene of the festivity at 11:00 a. m. and the tables were at once made ready for the picnic dinner. One hundred eight were busy at the first sitting at the tables.

Sports for little tots, youth and adults were on the afternoon's program and results of the "feature events" follow. Two teams of four ladies each engaged in a balloon blowing contest. Mrs. I. W. Cargo's team defeated the quartet captained by Mrs. James Day. A. E. Boulton won first place in the race for those over 60 years of age. Mrs. James Day was second. Mrs. Stein and Mrs. Herman Charter won the ladies' three-legged race, while Lester Karr and Wm. Cargo were successful in the boys' three-legged race. In the young ladies' race, Vera McCallum was first, Beatrice Martin second, and Iva Profit third. In the ladies' tug of war, Mrs. Joseph Crawford's team won from that captained by Mrs. Herb Maharg.

The tug of war for men proved a real contest in which the two teams pulled 1 1/2 minutes without moving over six inches. Ray Briggs' side finally won from the strong men on the side of Joseph Crawford.

Wm. Profit was the "Babe Ruth" of the day, hitting over the fence. The score of 16-17 would indicate that there were other heavy sluggers on the diamond that day also. The married men were victors over the singles in the seven inning game.

Ice cream and lemonade were served free to young and old. With such a happy day as this picnic day was, members of the school are anticipating another "big time" when the date of the 1928 picnic rolls around next July.

Country Life Week Opening at M. S. C.

A score of special associations and groups interested in rural life and its problems began gathering on the Michigan State College campus this week for the Country Life Week, July 27-Aug. 6.

That the various meetings will make up the largest and most representative gathering of its kind ever held is the opinion of country life authorities who have studied the advance program. Practically every group which is at all active in a study of country life problems will be represented.

An international touch will be given to the conference by the presence of many delegates from European countries, attending the meetings of the International Country Life Association. These distinguished visitors will take part in the discussion at many of the other group meetings.

A conference of college students interested in rural life will bring delegates from 16 different colleges and universities in one of the interesting new groups. Master Farmers from mid-western states will make up another new section, bringing intensely practical farm viewpoints to the general discussion.

The American Country Life Association, the American Farm Economics Association, the World Agricultural Society, the Michigan Farm Woman's Institute, a citizenship conference, a national Catholic Rural Life conference, and many other important sessions are included in the program.

Michigan farmers and their families have been given a special invitation to attend the various Country Life meetings. Copies of the detailed program are being mailed out from the office of President Kenyon L. Butterfield, of M. S. C., general chairman for the conference.

EVANGELICAL ASSEMBLY AT SEBEWAING AUGUST 8-21.

The 17th annual Evangelical Assembly convenes at Bay Shore Park at Sebewaing Aug. 8. The assembly opens with a Bible conference which continues to Aug. 11, followed by the camp meeting and Christian workers' section.

The principal speakers for the Bible conference and camp meeting programs will be Prof. F. S. Goodrich of the department of Biblical literature and history at Albion College, and C. J. Attig, professor of history at North Central College at Naperville, Ill. Other speakers include Rev. Edmond M. Kerlin, pastor of the First Evangelical church at Indianapolis, Ind., and Rev. C. H. Stauffacher, field secretary of the Evangelical Missionary Society. On August 20 and 21, the last two days of the assembly, Bishop M. T. Maze of Harrisburg, Pa., will deliver four sermons, two on each day. Rev. A. C. DeVries of Caro will have charge of the singing and Miss Eleanor Cook of Bay City will serve as pianist.

ERSKINE HOME COMING PICNIC AUGUST 4.

The Erskine home coming and picnic will be held Thursday, August 4, in the McTaggart grove, opposite the Erskine church in Sheridan township. Games and amusements are on the afternoon program. Supper will be served beginning at 4:30 and continue until all are served.

STAGE IS SET FOR SUMMER FARM DAY

Number of Visitors Expected to Total Several Thousand for Annual Conference.

Michigan farmers and their families, to the number of several thousand, will gather at Mich. State College Thursday, August 4, for the annual summer Farmers Day. This meeting has come to be the largest annual gathering of its kind in the state, more than 8,000 attending last year.

The program will combine entertainment and educational features with the state championship plowing contest, the horseshow pitching and milk can throwing contests, and the usual inspection of the college experiment station and farms, showing the results of the latest experiments with livestock and crops, during the morning; the big picnic dinner and band concert at noon; and a brilliant list of speakers for the afternoon.

Michigan's best rural choirs will compete in the annual singing contest, and the Grange baseball tournament finals will be played off during the day.

The leading Farmers' Day speaker this year will be C. W. Pugsley, of Brookings, South Dakota, president of the South Dakota State College and former assistant U. S. Secretary of Agriculture.

Particular interest will be added by the presence of hundreds of delegates to the Country Life Week conference, July 31 to August 6, from all parts of the United States and from many foreign countries.

Dad is urged to bring mother and the children, as the program has been planned in such a way as to furnish something of interest for every member of the family.

Sky Pilots to Visit the Skies

(Northville Record).

Northville's three famous sky pilots, Eddie Stinson, Rev. William Richards and Rev. Frank P. Knowles met Monday morning for the first time—and the three talked of matters higher up.

The meeting was purely accidental. The two pastors had business that took them to the busy aircraft factory operated by Eddie Stinson and his associate, Wm. A. Mara. Mara had conducted the pastors through the institution and finally they met the famous of all American flyers, Eddie Stinson, back in the work shop where he was directing the assembling of a new craft.

"Glad to take you up, any time" said Eddie.

Rev. Richards hesitated about accepting the invitation to visit the sky he so often has talked about.

The aviator looked at the popular Methodist parson a minute.

"That makes me think of a story I once heard," said Eddie.

"I'm game, what is it?" said the Methodist preacher.

"I once heard a colored pastor say," said Eddie, "that if a man was afraid to die he wasn't fit to live. But of course, pastor, that story just doesn't apply to this occasion. I am simply giving you a little philosophy of the colored."

And that is how most aviators look upon life. The good pastor didn't quite dare agree with the sentiment, but declared that he wouldn't be afraid to sail along the clouds providing Eddie Stinson was doing the piloting instead of himself.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks and family of Elizabeth Lake brought Phyllis Brooks to her home in Cass City Sunday. She had been a guest of the Brooks family and of friends in Pontiac, Elaine and Emma Brooks of Elizabeth Lake, cousins of Phyllis, are spending this week here.

FARMING AND FINANCE

Babson Park, Mass. (Special)—There has been so much talk concerning the poorer financial condition of the farming districts in the recent past that apparently a number of business men have more or less disregarded the farming districts of our country when it has come to sending out their salesmen or selling literature.

This is a mistake. It is true that the larger cities have shown up better in recent selling campaigns but that does not signify that farming district sales are dead. There is business to be had this summer in such places, but the average salesman will have to choose both his product and his place of operation with considerable care.

The sales outlook for July and August is more favorable in the northern wheat crop belt—particularly in Nebraska, North and South Dakota, Washington and Minnesota.

Estimates of the total wheat crop expected in 1927 allow for a decline of 75,000,000 bushels, as compared with last year; and with a smaller crop, prices for wheat may be expected to turn to page 2.

Cletus Parker and Miss Wolf Marry

Cletus A. Parker and Miss Edna May Wolf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Karl Wolf, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents in Grant township on Wednesday afternoon, July 27. The bride appeared charming in a white satin gown with beautiful silk overlace and the bridesmaid was attired in a delicate green crepe de Chine. Wilma Wolf, a sister of the bride, was ring bearer and wore pink crepe de Chine. The wedding dinner was served immediately after the ceremony.

Both bride and groomsmen graduated from the Owendale high school in the same class. Mr. Parker graduated from North Central College at Naperville, Ill., two years ago, and last year was engaged as an instructor in the Cass City high school. Mrs. Parker has just returned from Chicago where she finished a course at the Deaconess Hospital as a graduate nurse.

SUMMER READING REFERENCE BOOKS

Year Books of Woman's Study Club Are Out This Week.

The reference and reading list of state library books for members of the Study Club are ready for use at the Woman's Study Club library. Much of the new fiction is included and will be splendid for vacation and summer reading. These books will be discussed by the entire club during the year and those who read them now will find the discussion much more interesting and helpful.

The program for the year is entirely one of study and is planned to be of real educational value for the members. Much of the interest and helpfulness of the year's work will depend upon the outside reading and study done by the members. A little reading spread over the summer months will not only be of great value to members but will not make such a rush for the material during the club year. The average woman owes it to her family to be well read and have something more to talk at her dining table than simply the community gossip and small events of the day.

The book reviews of the year will be entirely separate from the discussions of the reference books and will be some of the latest and best books, both fiction and non-fiction. The list of reference material will be found on the last page of the club program and also appears below. There have been some substitutions as it was not possible to get all the desired books from the state library, and effort is being made to supply the complete list from other libraries. The state library books are available to club members only.

ANNUAL TUSCOLA CO. TOUR TO STATE COLLEGE

The annual Tuscola county tour to the Michigan State College at East Lansing will take place August 3. Because some of the members must be at East Lansing before August 3rd, there will be no special attempt to go in groups. The Tuscola farmers and their families are requested to meet at the picnic grounds of the college at twelve o'clock on Wednesday noon for the picnic dinner. Former county agent, John W. Sims, has promised to be present.

At that time those wishing rooms will be assisted in locating same. Those who wish may take tents and camp. Rooms will cost $1.00 per person per night. The afternoon will be spent in visiting college plots or attending the session of the Country Life Association. It will be appreciated if those who plan to attend will notify County Agricultural Agent, D. B. Jewell, not later than Saturday evening, July 30.

FARMING AND FINANCE

ed to average higher than 1926 and to yield a substantial increase in income to farmers in these favored areas.

While crop conditions may change considerably during the next 60 days, the more optimistic attitude of buyers in these five states warrants additional sales pressure during July and August.

Liquid Country Bank Loans Essential.

During the past six years or so there have been a large number of unfortunate embarrassments among banks in the farming districts of the country. To a large extent such incidents have brought a realization among country bankers now that a more frequent liquidation of credits is advisable.

At best the country banker generally has his hands full when he sits down with pencil and paper and tries to figure out just how much of a loan he can grant his average farmer customer. Yet loan to him he must as an important part of the work of the bank.

He probably will be safer if he loans in smaller amounts, if only for the fact that such a type is easier to both satisfactorily safe-guard and collect when due.

The main difficulty of the country banker with his farmer-borrower, of course, is always the same—the question of whether or not the latter will have a good year. This is always difficult to determine because it always involves both crop production and prices.

Some Minor Crops Poorer.

The Department of Agriculture, in its forecast of recent date, would seem to be rather pessimistic about some of the minor crops. Particularly is this true in the case of several fruits such as apples and peaches.

Among the bigger crops there is found probably the biggest uncertainty in corn. Of course the bad weather this spring had much to do with this situation and its remains for the rest of the summer to extend longer in order to have corn catch up.

Both winter and spring wheat are not so bad, particularly the former. Rye will be somewhat more than last year and oats about the average crop.

Unsatisfactory growing conditions in June have been the cause of the persistent strength in the prices of farm product. Extraordinary weather and late plantings in many sections have made any attempts to estimate crop results more difficult than ever.

Farm Electrification Progress.

There seems little doubt now even among farmers themselves but that the installation of electricity on the farms has a vast future before it. There is little question now as to its usefulness in such a place but there is still much question as to the cost. That is a matter which must work itself out in the course of time.

Before long there ought to be some million farm homes enjoying the advantages of electric power and light. Then will come a problem of selling the farmer the best sort of electrical equipment suitable for his condition.

The farmer's wife cannot be disregarded in the matter, and here is where the household electric appliance salesman will have his shot. Certainly there is no reason to suppose that the steady gain in sales of such as electric washing machines, refrigerators and irons have ceased. They have their uses even on the farm.

"Friendly" Flower Names

A scientific man who indulges in an amateur way his taste for gardening says that he likes to know the scientific names of flowers, of course, but that in gardening the names he cares most for are the common names. These, he says, are like the nicknames and pet diminutives one keeps for intimate friends—not formal, not businesslike nor dignified, but just friendly.

1—Japanese troops marching to their camp in Shantung province, China, their presence causing official protest from Chinese governments. 2—Mrs. Clarence W. Smith of New York, new chairman of national council of National Women's party. 3—Air view of Vienna, Austria, scene of bloody riots started by communists.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Mr. Hoover Offers Flood Relief and Control Plan to President.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

FLOOD relief and control work by congress, covering a period of ten years and costing more than $150,000,000 is recommended by Secretary of Commerce Hoover in the comprehensive report on the Mississippi valley disaster of this year which he laid before President Coolidge at the summer White House. His control project, besides providing for taking over and improving the levee system, embraces a plan for completion of the navigation program of the Mississippi and its main tributaries which he says can be carried out at an additional cost of fifteen to twenty millions a year.

Mr. Hoover declared that the flood control program must embrace the following principles:

1. Higher and consequently wider levees and the extension of federal responsibility for levees in some of the tributaries.

2. A safety valve upon the levee system by the provision of a spillway or by-pass to the gulf to protect New Orleans and southern Louisiana—most probably the Atchafalaya river for this purpose.

3. For further safety measures the engineers are examining the possible extension of the by-pass to the northward from the Atchafalaya toward the Arkansas, the possible erection of emergency flood basins, and the possibility of store in the tributaries. Concerning the relief work Mr. Hoover said in part:

"The financial situation on relief is that we can complete all these programs—seed, food, feed, furniture, animals, house construction, sanitation. By the first of November we estimate we shall have spent $13,400,000 Red Cross funds, $7,000,000 equipment and supplies from the federal government, $3,000,000 free railway transportation, and provided $1,100,000 for county health cleanup units. We should have left $3,000,000 from the $16,500,000 subscribed to the Red Cross with which to face continued necessities after November 1. It is impossible to determine what the necessities will be after that date."

A NOTHER caller on the President was Senator Smoot, chairman of the senate finance committee, who presented his plan for tax reduction. This program is based on a tax cut of $300,000,000 and includes the following items:

Reduction of the corporation tax from 13½ to 12 per cent, lopping off $150,000,000 annual revenue.

Elimination of taxes on admissions and club dues, cutting the nation's income $37,000,000 yearly.

Reduction of tax on passenger automobiles from 3 per cent to 1½ per cent, costing $50,000,000.

Graduated scale reduction on incomes between $15,000, and $60,000.

MICHAEL, a golden-haired child not yet six years old, is now king of Rumania, for the picturesque King Ferdinand succumbed on July 20 to the malady that made his death imminent for many months. Until the new monarch reaches his eighteenth year the country will be ruled by a regency comprised of his uncle, Prince Nicholas, Miron Cristea, patriarch of the Rumanian orthodox church, and Judge Buzdugan of the supreme court.

In announcing the death of Ferdinand the government issued an official statement saying it will not waver from the decision of the crown council on January 4, 1926, at which Prince Carol was disinherited and Prince Michael, his son, proclaimed crown prince, and that the government will support the regency, and "if necessary, resort to arms to prevent the reinstatement of Carol."

The commander of the Second army corps, stationed in Bucharest, issued a statement informing the country that the state of siege continues, and warning newspaper men that if they spread false alarms they will be liable to court-martial.

Prince Carol, at his home of exile in Neuilly, near Paris, received word of his father's demise and at once secluded himself, sending word to the press that he expected to be recalled to Rumania and calling himself "king." Ferdinand's last words, as he died in the arms of Queen Marie, were: "I am feeling tired." His body lay in state in Cotroceni palace outside Bucharest until Saturday, when the state funeral was held. Then the casket was placed in the family vaults at the monastery of Curtea Arges.

Premier Bratianu took strong measures to prevent any uprising, public buildings and strategic points being occupied by troops and meetings being forbidden. Queen Marie received messages of condolence from all over the world, including one from President and Mrs. Coolidge, and the British and Belgian courts went into mourning.

TAKING advantage of a strike of protest ordered by Vienna Socialists because of the acquittal of some Fascist slayers, the communist agitators there tried to get control of the city and set up a soviet government.

Mobs, stirred to riot, marched through the city, looting public buildings and burning the palace of justice, and fighting the police fiercely. The local contingents of troops were disinclined to fire on the crowds, so the Seipel government called in troops from provincial garrisons. These, with the help of the Social Democrats, soon gained control of the situation, and the civil war which the communists were trying to stir up was averted.

The strike had stopped all transportation, and threats were received from Italy that if Italian trains were not permitted to pass through the country, troops would be sent into the Austrian Tyrol, occupying the railroad line up to the German border.

The government of Austria threatened to take radical steps to end the strike, and the nationalist villages, the anti-socialist peasantry and the loyal Helmswehr or home guards gave Premier Seipel full support. So the labor unions and Socialists of Vienna yielded and the strike was called off.

The flurry, however, was costly to Austria in several ways. During the rioting scores of persons were killed and hundreds wounded; the destruction of property was great, and in the burning of the palace of justice all the nation's financial records were lost. The government was fearful lest the disturbances might keep many tourists away from Vienna.

DOWN in Nicaragua one rebel leader, General Sandino, refused to submit to the peace terms imposed by the United States, and last week he led his brigand band of 500 in attacking a small detachment of American marines and native constabulary at Ocotal. Capt. G. D. Hatfield was in command and his little force fought back desperately. Marine scouting planes carried word of the battle to Managua and five bombing planes commanded by Maj. Ross E. Rowell flew to the rescue through a severe tropical storm. With bombs and machine guns they speedily routed the rebels, of whom about 300 were killed. The marines lost only one man. Sandino, still defiant, fled to the mountains and a column of troops was sent out with orders to get him.

Delegates to the fifth congress of the Pan-American Federation of Labor, in session in Washington, denounced this killing of Nicaraguan citizens, and President William Green of the American Federation of Labor, who presided at the opening of the congress, sharply denounced American intervention in the domestic affairs of Latin American countries and wrote a letter of protest to Secretary of State Kellogg. In reply Mr. Kellogg warmly defended the action of the marines, and set forth clearly the conditions in Nicaragua which had resulted in the outlawing of Sandino, who had neither the support nor the approval of any of the leaders of the political parties in Nicaragua. The resolutions committee of the Pan-American labor congress adopted a resolution asking the immediate withdrawal of American forces from Nicaragua.

Brigadier General Feland, commanding the marines in Nicaragua, has recommended that the distinguished service medal be awarded Major Rowell, who, he says, saved the little garrison at Ocotal from great loss of life and almost certain destruction.

GREAT BRITAIN and Japan reached some sort of accord on the cruiser question in the conference at Geneva and the plan was presented to the Americans, who did not seem especially pleased with it. Then the British government called Viscount Cecil and W. C. Bridgeman to London for consultation with the cabinet, and at once there were reports that the conference was on the verge of a breakdown. This was strongly denied in London, where a foreign office spokesman asserted that the hope for an agreement was stronger than at any time since the conference began. The Japanese delegates in Geneva also were optimistic, predicting that an agreement would be reached by the middle of August. The British before leaving Geneva had consented to reduce their demands for cruisers and destroyers from 800,000 tons to 500,000 tons, as insisted upon by the Japanese, and hoped this would induce the Americans to agree to bar eight-inch guns on all but 10,000-ton cruisers; but Mr. Gibson would not surrender this point.

FIVE transatlantic flyers—Byrd, Noville, Acosta, Balchen and Chamberlin—returned to the United States by steamer and were given New York's usual noisy reception, with parade, paper confetti, banquets and medals. The two first were awarded the navy's distinguished flying cross. Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger, who flew to Honolulu, had a triumphant trip across the country on their way to Washington, where Secretary of State Kellogg and other government officials greeted them warmly. They, too, will receive the distinguished flying cross when President Coolidge returns to the capital.

Colonel Lindbergh picked up his "Spirit of St. Louis" at Mitchell field, New York, and started on a tour of the country to tell the people of the advance of aviation and the needs of more and larger airports. His first stop was at Hartford, Conn., where he spoke at the Hartford club.

Capt. F. T. Courtney, British aviator, was all ready for his attempted flight from England to America, with a stop at Valencia, Ireland, but was delayed by unfavorable weather. He was to carry a crew of two men and intended to fly from the Irish town direct to Newfoundland.

JACK DEMPSEY, former heavyweight champion, "came back" in the fight with Jack Sharkey in New York and won the right to challenge Gene Tunney for the title. He knocked out the Boston lad in the seventh round with a hard left hook to the jaw. The battle was lively and aroused the enthusiasm of $3,000 persons who were present. Sharkey claimed that he was fouled in the final round, but this was denied by Dempsey and by Referee O'Sullivan.

IOWA's Lowden-for-President club announces that more than 100,000 persons in that state have signed the petition asking Frank O. Lowden to seek the Republican Presidential nomination and pledging him their support. Among the signers are Gov. John Hammill and more than 90 per cent of the employees in the Iowa state capitol building. Action of the governor in signing the petition nullified the hopes of his friends that Mr. Hammill, who, like Mr. Lowden, has been a leader in the farm relief fight, might become a vice presidential candidate next year on a Coolidge ticket.

MINOR items of news: Aaron Sapiro has dismissed his million-dollar libel suit against Henry Ford, accepting the automobile manufacturer's apology and a "substantial sum" of money.

Standard Oil Company of New Jersey announces it will have no business relations with the soviet government of Russia so long as that government declines to recognize private property rights.

Hankow and Hanyang, China, were occupied by Gen. Ho Chien, a Conservative southern leader. Mme. Sun Yat-sen, widow of China's first President, retired from political life.

49 BUSHEL

Where 38 Grew Before

Denver, Indiana
October 29, 1926

The American Agricultural Chemical Company,
Detroit, Mich.

Sirs:

My wheat crop this year surpassed all others in my community. I used 250 lbs. of "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer per acre. It yielded 49 bushels per acre testing 63 lbs. per bushel.

I have used many brands of fertilizer in past years. "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer is in a better mechanical condition, sows more evenly and produces a far better yield.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) LEE LONG

An exception? Not at all. 1739 such cases have been reported to us. In this instance, the increased yield meant an added profit of $11.86 per acre. To say nothing of higher quality and consequent better price for the entire crop. Proof that it pays to select fertilizer on its crop-producing record.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers assure a higher grade of wheat with the same seed, the same acreage, the same labor. Result, lower production cost for every bushel and a greater margin of profit for you. "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers pay you several times their cost in increased yield and quality.

WORLD'S OLDEST TRIPLETS STAGE BIG CELEBRATION

Knoxville, Tenn.—Abraham, Isaac and Jacob Wagner, of Maynardville, near here, celebrated their seventy-first birthday in Knoxville recently. They claim to be the world's oldest triplets. Each is a farmer with a family. All have children and all are happy.

While here they spun yarns about their early days. They said that until they were 40 there wasn't two pounds difference in their weights. "That made the scraps interesting," observed Abe.

Their love affairs were also exciting and often complicated. Like Ike and Mike, they looked alike.

Jake told this one:

"Abe had a date with a girl and, it seems, offered her $1 for a kiss. He didn't have the money to pay her and the next week, when I went to see her, she dunned me for the dollar."

Abe grinned. "Yes, and you had to pay the $1 because you had stolen my date and didn't want the girl to know it was you and not me," he retorted.

"Yes," answered Jake, "and you still owe me the $1."

NO TROUBLE TO DESCEND GRADE

Cause of More Worry to Motorist Than Any Other Car Ailment.

The bugaboo of descending steep grades probably worries more motorists than any other problem of automobile operation. This is especially true in the eastern and western parts of the United States, where there are hilly or mountainous sections.

Descending a steep grade need not be a hazardous adventure, provided a few simple rules are observed.

Rules for Descending Hills.

If the grade is exceedingly steep, always throw the car into low gear. This offers resistance to the downward pull, because the rear wheels have to "turn the engine over." Always keep the throttle closed, but do not shut off the ignition, as this is not necessary. Driving down a steep grade in this way not only keeps the car under control, but makes excessive use of the brakes unnecessary, thus diminishing brake wear.

To stop the car while descending a grade, apply both the brake and the clutch. But if you want to stop suddenly, apply both brakes and do not touch the clutch until the car is nearly at a standstill. If the rear wheels start to slide, release the brakes for an instant and then apply them again.

When you stop on a grade in the city, not only apply the hand brake and leave the lever in reverse gear, but go further than this to be absolutely safe and turn the front wheels so that one of them rests against the curb.

When You Roll Backwards.

The experience of having your car stall on a grade and start rolling backwards need not be nerve-racking. If this happens when you are on a country road, let the car back towards the side of the road and partly across the road. Of course, you cannot do this if there are ditches. If you cannot steer the car to the side of the road, and the hand and foot brakes are both necessary to keep the car from rolling, shift into neutral and then try to start your engine. Open the throttle about one quarter, shift into first, and then, just as you let in the clutch, release the hand brake and the foot brake at the same time. Brakes that work as efficiently in reverse as forward, do much to prevent "that panicky feeling" when you are forced to stop on a steep grade.

Big Increase in Autos Predicted for America

That 40,000,000 automobiles will be running about in America by 1940, if the percentage of increase of the past several years is maintained, is the opinion of H. C. Crowell, assistant chief engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad, according to a statement recently before the annual convention of the American Railway Engineering Association at Chicago.

"At present the automobile is taking a prodigious amount of business, both freight and passenger, from the railroads," he said. "In fact, motor competition, along with the additional hundreds of miles of paved roads every year, have cut railroad receipts to the extent that many lines have abandoned formerly profitable suburban schedules.

"Every railroad in America is seeking ways and means of making up this loss, but little progress has been made."

One-Armed Auto Driver Displays His Dexterity

Outstanding among the 10,000-odd taxi drivers of Paris, France, is Victor Coubard, crippled French war veteran who, though he lost his left arm at Verdun, has since driven 500,000 miles through the streets of Paris without causing a single accident of any kind.

With extraordinary dexterity Coubard manages to make his remaining arm do the work of two. His taxi running at full speed, Coubard is free of the steering wheel for a fraction of a second so as to enable his only hand to blow the horn at street crossings or apply the emergency brakes, according to circumstances.

LATEST IN NAVIGATION IS SEA FLIVVER

This sea-going flivver, made by Arthur H. Smith of Winthrop, Mass., is made from a discarded auto, a pair of paddle wheels astern and mounted on two pontoons. It works.

Lukewarm Water Should Be Used to Wash Auto

No automobile owner should forget that unusual care should be taken in washing a new car during the first few months of use.

The best varnish requires considerable time to harden. Even though the car has been out of the factory several months, the paint is soft, and until it hardens, the varnish is easily scratched. Only castile soap or non-alkali soaps should be used for the removal of grease. The castile soap can be obtained in powdered form, and is not of the finest and purest grade. Gasoline is out of the question because it tends to cut and scar the varnish.

Lukewarm water should be used. Hot water will dull the finish, and cold water will not serve well with the soap. Accumulation of mud and dust should be carried off by means of a six-inch stream of water from the hose instead of being washed with a sponge. This point should be watched carefully. It is very easy to scratch the varnish with a sponge, because of the grit collecting underneath it.

After a good rinsing, the varnish should be dried by means of a chamois skin. The chamois skin for this use can be obtained in large sizes. To keep the skin clean, wring it out very often in clear water. A long, straight, sweeping movement of the chamois produces better results than a rotary motion.

Clamp to Hold Inner Tubes Is Very Handy

When repairing inner tubes on the road, a clamp of the kind shown in the drawing will be found convenient. It consists of a base of one-inch wood and a length of three-fourth inch strap iron, bent to a U-shape to fit snugly around three sides of the wooden base. The ends of the iron clamp are drilled and it is then attached to pivot on one end of the base, as indicated. In use, the tube is placed on the base, with the place to be patched in the center, and the clamp is then brought down to hold the tube securely while it is patched. —Vincent J. McMurty, Chicago, in Popular Mechanics Magazine.

In summer, hens don't always seem at first glance to be very profitable. Egg prices aren't high. Pullets haven't started to lay. It's easy to forget that fall and winter eggs depend upon reserve strength and vigor built in flocks during summer. We sometimes neglect them like tools in the rain—to rust.

Extra care now will repay you over and over again. Give them shade to keep them cool. Give them green feed. It's full of minerals and vitamins. Feed less grain. It is heating. Above all, give them plenty of Chicken Chowder! It's the cooling mash that makes extra eggs.

Growth is materially cut down and egg-production greatly delayed if pullets are left to shift for themselves. Green stuff and insects are not enough. Purina Growena and Intermediate Hen Chow, perfectly balanced growing feeds, supply exactly the growth materials needed by the young birds to bring them into early maturity fully developed in flesh and frame.

Keep the hoppers filled with Growena. They should be within a reasonable distance of the poultry house and on the range. Always arrange to have water near the hoppers. This will encourage proper eating for rapid growth and early maturity.

Frank A. Brown
Died in Kansas

Although not wholly unexpected, yet when the final summons came and the announcement was made Wednesday, July 20, that Frank A. Brown had passed away at the home of his brother, Wm. T. Brown, at Wichita, Kansas, there were many expressions of regret which showed the warm place he had occupied in the hearts of his friends and acquaintances.

Mr. Brown was born in Austin township, Sanilac county, March 3, 1878, and spent his early life in the vicinity of Cumber. He was married June 26, 1901 to Miss Jennie McKay of Minden City. To this union was born one son, Clayton, who passed away at the age of 14 months. In 1907, Mr. and Mrs. Brown moved from their farm home to Uby where Mr. Brown was engaged in the implement business for several years. Ten years ago he moved to Detroit, going to Kansas four years later and had spent the time since in Kansas and Texas. At the time of his death, Mr. Brown was a member of Ninde M. E. church at Detroit; also Uby Lodge, No. 384, F. & A. M., and Uby Chapter, No. 214, O. E. S.

The remains were brought to the home of Mr. Brown's brother-in-law, H. J. McKay, at Cass City Saturday and the funeral services were held in the Presbyterian church at Cass City that afternoon conducted by Rev. P. J. Allured. At Elkland cemetery, Uby Lodge, F. & A. M., gave their beautiful and impressive ceremony. Uby Chapter, O. E. S., attended the funeral in a body.

Deceased leaves to mourn their loss, his widow, Mrs. Jennie Brown, one sister, Mrs. A. C. Graham, and three brothers, J. K. Brown, Wm. T. Brown, and Stanley A. Brown, besides a host of other relatives and friends.

Relatives from a distance attending the funeral were: W. T. Brown, Wichita, Kansas; Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Graham, Louisville, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis A. Graham, Misses Frances and Majessa Graham, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Brown, Miss Marion Brown, Rochester; Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Gardner, Middleville; Mr. and Mrs. C. Thormorton, Memphis, Tenn.; J. Stanley Brown, Durand; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Miller, Dr. and Mrs. Wallace J. Tripp, Mrs. Mary Brush, Fred Brush, Detroit.

The high regard in which the deceased was held was evidenced by the large number from Cass City, Uby and surrounding country who attended the funeral.

Mrs. Amos Martin
Died Saturday

Mrs. Sophronia Martin, wife of the late Amos Martin, passed peacefully from this life Saturday morning, July 23, nearly nine months from the time her husband passed away on Oct. 30, 1926. Although her health was failing rapidly the past two years, it was not considered serious until a year ago, when the nature of the malady was diagnosed sarcoma and her life was despaired of.

During the winter months she remained at her old home three miles west of town with her daughter, Miss Della Martin, caring for her, but as spring came, thinking it more convenient to be near her doctor, she came to Cass City to the home of another daughter, Mrs. M. D. Hartt, where she remained until her death.

Mrs. Martin was one of the pioneer mothers of this section. Her ideals were the highest and early in life, she accepted the Christian faith which was her comfort and stay through her long life and sickness and death. She had been feeling as well as usual during the day preceding her death when about ten o'clock of that evening the first warning came of her fast approaching death. The two absent daughters were hastily summoned together with her doctor who remained with the children at the mother's bedside until in the quiet hush of the early morning she slipped peacefully into the great beyond with a smile on her lips, breathing the blessed assurance to her loved ones that she did not have to go on alone.

The funeral was held from the Hartt home on North Seeger St. on Monday at 2:00 p. m. and many and beautiful were the floral tributes that were heaped upon her casket and filled the room where she laid, as her many friends and neighbors came to pay their last respects to one who had been in their midst so long.

Sophronia Cornelia Hamilton was born in Oakland Co., Mich., July 4, 1856, residing there during her young life until 1874, when she was united in marriage to Amos Martin of the same place. Shortly after they came to Cass City where they bought their present pleasant home which was then a dense wilderness. To this union six children were born, two preceding the father and mother in death. The four surviving children, who are left to mourn her loss, are Mrs. Rieder of Niles, Mich., Mrs. F. H. Morgan, Miss Della Martin and Mrs. M. D. Hartt of Cass City. She also leaves six grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Those attending the funeral from out of town were Mrs. William Rieder of Niles, Mrs. Cora Hamilton and daughter, Marion, and Mrs. Marchon, all of Saginaw, Floyd Morgan of Pontiac, Mrs. M. E. Hartt of Tampa, Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Claud Upper and son, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hartt and children, all of Detroit, and Mrs. Z. Upper of Marlette.—Contributed.

OBITUARY—MRS. CHAS. RONDO.

To this union eight children were born who survive her, Mrs. Fred Parrell of Elmer Twp., John G. Rondo of Saginaw, Lloyd of Caro, Floyd, William, Ray, Mrs. Frank Wright and Mrs. Jay Hartley of Elmwood Twp. Taxation Made Easy

Were the superfluities of a nation valued, and made a perpetual tax on benevolence, there would be more almshouses than poor, schools than scholars, and enough to spare for government besides.—William Penn.

Meaning of "Alaska"

The territory ceded by Russia in 1867 had been known up to that time as Russian America. It was called Alaska by William H. Seward, our secretary of state, this being a corruption of the Aleut word alakshak or alayeska, meaning a great country or continent.

SPEAKING OF BEING HARD-UP—AN EMPTY STOMACH IS BETTER THAN AN EMPTY HEAD!

HOW

"NOSE PRINTS" ARE USED TO IDENTIFY ANIMALS.—The loss of some valuable pedigreed live stock caused the owner to work out a plan of identification that has since been adopted by insurance companies as a measure of protection. It is the system of taking nose prints.

On several occasions thieves have made away with cattle, and have later tried brazenly to resell them in the vicinity of their original homes. And it has been found impossible to prove the correct ownership by ordinary methods of identification. With nose prints, however, positive proof of identity can now be given. For it has been found that the designs on the nose of a cow or bull do not change, but merely increase in size. And it has been proved that no two animals have the same markings.

In order to obtain a nose print, it is necessary to hold the animal's head firmly under one arm. Then wipe the nose well with a soft piece of flannel or rag. Then take an ordinary office stamping pad, rubbing it over the nose until the ridges are well inked. Next take a piece of nonenameled paper that has been securely fastened to a board and press it firmly against the nose, beginning with the lower part, and press it in a rolling fashion gradually upwards.

An insurance company recently used this method with success in connection with a claim.

How Temperature Is Affected by Trees

In a discussion of the effect of trees on temperature, Mr. W. B. Leach, city forester of New York, points out that if American streets and parks are well supplied with vigorous trees the summers would be cooler and the winters warmer. He gives as his chief reason for this theory the fact that the temperature of a tree never varies, in summer or in winter, from 54 degrees Fahrenheit. "If we cross one of the avenues on a hot day," states Mr. Leach, "when the temperature is 100 degrees Fahrenheit, and pass under the shade of a tree, we are refreshed by the cool air that meets us. What makes the change? Not the shade alone, but chiefly the fact that we are in the presence of a body that has a fixed temperature of 54 degrees Fahrenheit, or 46 degrees cooler than the street temperature." Likewise, on a cold winter day, in passing from the zero temperature of the street into a group of trees, the warmth experienced is due not only to the shelter afforded by the trees but to the warmth of the trees themselves.

How Sawmill Men "Talk"

To make themselves heard above the noise of the saws, workers at the mills have developed a curious sign language, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. Rubbing the stomach signifies approval, "go ahead" or O. K. If the boss is about, stroking the chin or combing an imaginary mustache gives warning. "Stop" is indicated by holding up one hand, palm forward; "sleepy" head to one side with hand against ear; "help wanted," right hand on muscle of left arm, which is bent to indicate strength; "it's raining" or "going to rain," hands spread out, palms down, while the fingers are worked to indicate falling drops; "talking too much," moving the hands to signify a wagging jaw; "disgust," holding the nose and waving the other hand at the offending object as if to say, "go away." The language changes very little except as modifications of machinery necessitate new "words," and the system is used with few variations in most large sawmills.

How Muskrat Acts as Host

Naturalists find frequent evidences of the habits of many water birds and other animals in using in one way or another the houses built by muskrats.

Such water birds as the black tern, the mallard, canvasback and ruddy ducks, wild geese and green heron utilize muskrat houses as nesting places. But the most interesting encroachments of these numerous squatters upon the domiciles are those of water snakes and turtles, which sometimes may be said to make their homes in the houses of the muskrat.

How Russians Use Sugar

Sugar is costly and difficult to obtain in many isolated Russian villages. The usual way of employing it at parties is for No. 1 to take a piece of sugar, place it between his teeth, and then suck his tea through it. No. 1 quickly passes the piece of sugar to his neighbor who uses it in the same way and then transfers it to the next guest, and so on until the sugar is all dissolved. A gift of a pound of sugar is always welcomed as the highest expression of regard.

How Motor Coaches "Turn"

Motor coaches used at a railroad terminal in Jersey City are turned around on a turntable, which eliminates the difficulty of backing up and reversing direction in crowded quarters. The unit, much like those employed at railway shops, is easily turned by hand.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

State News in Brief

Marquette—Hurling himself under a street car when it was but a few feet from him, Einar Palmgren, 40 years old, ended his life here.

Lansing—The State Welfare Commission at a meeting here decided to make a personal inspection of the Jackson County Jail and Infirmary and the Lenawee County Infirmary. The commission will visit the institutions to determine whether conditions are acceptable to the state.

Detroit—Empty champagne bottles, provided they bear the proper label, are valuable in the United States. The Veuve Cluquot company of Rheims, France, received an offer from a Detroit bootlegger of $30,000 for 10,000 "empties" to be shipped to Montreal. The firm refused the offer.

Saginaw—Condemnation proceedings against several property owners living on the west side of Bay City road, which was recently paved, will be started. The state highway department plans to extend the right of way on the road from 66 to 80 feet. All but eight or 10 property owners have signed the releases.

Lansing—Collections of automobile license fees for the second quarter of 1927 total $3,649,473, according to a report compiled by John S. Haggerty, secretary of state. Wayne county paid $926,617; Oakland, $146,712; Genesee, $181,560; Ingham, $72,865; Jackson, $78,228; Macomb, $50,100; Monroe, $29,068, and Washtenaw, $61,303.

Lansing—Probably the most disappointed man in Michigan over the Dempsey-Sharkey fight was the governor, Fred W. Green. He had nine tickets in a choice section and had completed plans for a little "vacation" sneak into New York to witness the battle. However, he admitted with lamentation, that all nine tickets had been given to friends because press of business forced him to "stick at the desk."

Lansing—The State Administrative Board has ordered connections installed so the Pontiac State Hospital may discontinue the use of its power house except for heating purposes. Power will be purchased. Gov. Fred W. Green said the hospital commission believes the Pontiac institution should be enlarged to accommodate 2,500 patients, and another hospital should be established capable of caring for 5,000 patients.

Grand Rapids—A shirt bearing the imprint of a horse's hoof on the left sleeve between the elbow and shoulder has cleared up the mystery in the death of Dirk Tanis, 70-year-old grocer, who was thought to have been clubbed to death. The imprint of the hoof on the left sleeve was at the point where Tanis' arm had been broken. Detectives believe that the kick of the horse threw him back against the wall fracturing his skull.

Lapeer—Fire believed of incendiary origin, destroyed three old landmarks in Lapeer. The block on Park street between Pine and Court streets, was destroyed with a loss of more than $15,000. All the buildings were frame and had stood there for the past 60 years. While the fire was in progress an elevator owned by E. L. Paddison caught fire. Investigators found paper stuffed in a grain chute. The loss was more than $200.

Sault Ste Marie—Tossing what he declared to be his last half dollar to a man who was lying on the park grass nearby, Andrew Whelton, 35 years old, of South Boston, Mass., threw his coat off and jumped into the St. Marys river just above the Government locks recently. He sank at once before the astonished eyes of his beneficiary without any attempt to swim. Books left in his coat pocket established his identity. He was a fireman on one of the lake steamers.

Ypsilanti—The Detroit Edison Co. has been given permission by the city council to remove the 100-foot steel electric light towers which have been a landmark of Ypsilanti for many years. The company reported the towers are in a dangerous condition and in need of extensive repairs. The towers were erected years ago with the idea that they would light up a large expanse of territory by reason of their height, but the growth of the city shade trees has made them of little value during the summer months.

Lansing—Lansing's final step toward the acquisition of an up-to-date flying field has been taken when the State Administrative Board on the recommendation of Frank D. McKay, state treasurer, voted to spend $2,500 to level the knolls and other rough spots on State ground, northwest of Lansing, so it will be fit for an airport and furnish a runway for the largest airplanes. This will give Lansing an airport as well as a golf course as the result of the beneficence of the State.

Lansing—Faced with the necessity of closing the Chelsea cement plant or sustaining an operating loss for the present year, Governor Fred W. Green has cancelled orders for 110,000 barrels of cement given to independent manufacturers by the last administration. The business will be given to the state-owned plant. This move is expected to cause protests from the independents, but the governor has pointed out to them that as long as the state is manufacturing cement, it should use its own product.

Pontiac—Earl Topping, 28 years old, died from injuries received when he was buried in an excavation in which he was working at the Knollwood Country Club, west of Franklin. He was buried to his neck in sand as the result of a cave-in and was injured internally.

Saginaw—Charlotte Elaine Bowman, a 20-year-old brunette, has been selected as "Miss Saginaw" to represent this city in the national beauty pageant at Atlantic City this fall. Miss Bowman was selected from a group of five girls who had survived the tests in which approximately 60 girls entered.

Lansing—The cost-plus plan, prohibited by law on contracts involving more than $20,000, will not be employed by the State in improving the Soldiers' Home in Grand Rapids. The Administrative Board decided the procedure would be illegal. The state building department probably will supervise the construction work.

Lansing—George Lord, chairman of the State Tax Commission, announced here he has advanced the date of his resignation from Aug. 15 to Aug. 1, in compliance with a request of Gov. Fred W. Green that he get out of office in time to let a new chairman become familiar with the work before the meeting of the State Board of Equalization.

Lansing—The State Public Utilities Commission has indicated it will permit the abandonment of the Au Sable branch of the Detroit & Mackinac Railroad, but will insist upon continuance of the Rose City and Lincoln branches. The road sought permission to abandon all the branches, claiming further operation would be unprofitable.

Grand Rapids—Exhibitors who have failed to obtain their premiums for the 1926 West Michigan state fair will be paid, according to Miss Olive G. Jones, secretary of the fair association. About $7,000 is due. Acting under authority of the circuit court, Miss Jones and Attorney C. Sophus Johnson, joint receivers, have borrowed $10,000 to prepare for this year's fair.

Owosso—Mrs. Jennie Loranger, of Perry has started suit in circuit court here for $25,000 for burns alleged she sustained on January 27, when she claims a kerosene stove exploded. The defendants are the Perry Gas & Oil company and Ira Hempsted, Perry merchant, from whom she says she bought oil, which she alleges, contained gasoline. She claims to have been permanently disabled.

Flint—Mildred A. Doran, diminutive and comely "flying school m'am," of Flint, will take off in her Buhl biplane from the municipal airport at Long Beach, Calif., where she is making preparations now, August 11 in the air race to Hawaii in a dual attempt to capture the $25,000 prize hung up by James Dole, Honolulu pineapple king, and to be the first woman to fly across the Pacific ocean.

Lansing—Petitions for re-equalization of county assessments have been received from Monroe, Lenawee, Muskegon, Bay and Jackson counties. The cities of Monroe, Adrian, Hudson and Muskegon, and Gibson township in Bay county and eight townships in Jackson county are the complainants. The cities contend the local board has placed more than a fair share of the burden upon them, while the townships named insist the cities are not paying enough of the county tax.

Manistee—After willing virtually all of his estate to local charities, Frederick H. Kytte, 81 years old, ended his life by hanging himself in his home here. The body was found by neighbors. The Social Welfare League is given securities worth $10,000. Real estate valued at $5,000 is willed to John Fredricksen, Hans Olsen and Thorwald Jacobsen, aged bachelors. Kytte was a native of Denmark, but has lived in Manistee for 50 years. He once owned a jewelry store here.

Lansing—Michigan's export of merchandise jumped 12 per cent in the first three months of this year from $17,765,828 to $80,696,172, according to the department of commerce at Washington. The amount represents a 51 per cent increase over exports of the same period two years ago. The $8,930,344 increase compares favorably with the rest of the country. The average increase for the nation was only 7 per cent, and its total was somewhat lower than the exports of the same period in 1925.

Traverse City—Nature is compensating for the hard frosts that almost ruined the cherry crop of northern Michigan by bringing on a wonderful growth of field crops, according to a survey of farms in the Grand Traverse region. Potatoes are in excellent shape and growers say the tubers have never been better. While cherries are almost wiped out in many sections there are some excellent sweets, the growers say, and here and there an orchardist will have a fair crop of sour.

Kalamazoo—Thirteen farmers furnished the $1,000 bail necessary for the release of Charles R. Tuttle, of Lawrence, charged with having posed as a federal engineer. Tuttle's arrest grew out of his alleged claim that he could find oil sites, by certain chemicals and photographic processes, at $25 a test. Between 25 and 35 farmers sought his services, it is claimed. The federal government in a warning recently, asserted that no such method of finding oil was known to the government geologists.

"The McNaughton System" of Curing Beans

This System Lessens Weather Damages, Permits Sowing Bean Fields to Grain.

H. R. Pettigrove, Farm Crops Section.

Bean growing in many northern communities has been rendered very hazardous during seasons of adverse weather. The past two falls furnished very good examples of the effect of bad weather on beans. In the fall of 1926, many bean crops were ready to haul into the barn or to thresh from the field when a shower prevented the handling of the crop. Such spasmodic rains make necessary the frequent turning of beans which have been pulled. This is expensive in terms of dollars and cents for labor, to say nothing of the loss caused by actual damage to the beans.

Many farmers plan to plant their bean fields to wheat if the beans are harvested in time. Frequent rains usually delay getting the beans off the ground until it becomes too late to sow the wheat, or cause the wheat to be sown at such a late date that loss in yield due to winter killing may result.

"The McNaughton System" of curing beans makes it possible to successfully harvest beans even during adverse seasons at a moderate additional expense per acre. This system will make bean growing in Michigan more secure.

This method of curing beans is called "The McNaughton System" because Mr. O. J. McNaughton of Mulliken, Michigan, was the first to use the method on a field scale in Michigan. A similar method is employed in southern states to cure peanuts, soybeans and cowpeas.

In employing "The McNaughton System," the beans are pulled, when ripe, with the bean puller and thrown into a windrow with the side-delivery rake, there being two pulled rows or four bean rows in a small windrow. Two of these windrows are generally thrown together, making eight bean rows in one large windrow.

After the beans are in windrows they are stacked four windrows at a time. A wagon loaded with straw and carrying steel fence posts or poles is driven across the field between two of the large windrows. The first post is set about two and one-half rods in from the end, the rest being set at intervals of four or five rods.

A steel fence post seven feet long is a good type to use. It makes a very substantial post and is the right height for a stack. Poles can be used but they must be strong. Whatever type of post is used, it must be well set to prevent leaning.

The post having been driven into the ground, a fork full of straw is placed around it. The straw should form a pad about four feet in diameter and four to six inches thick when settled.

The beans in the four windrows are collected with pitchforks and piled about the steel post. The bottom formed by the beans should not be over three or three and one-half feet in diameter. The stack is built up straight for two to two and one-half feet and then bulged a little. From this bulge the stack is drawn in slightly until it is capped well above the post. This will give a good sized stack when it settles.

The stacks may be built with vertical sides, using a large well placed cap over the top of the post. Care should be exercised in building a uniform well capped stack. For the average bean crop, about ten of these stacks are necessary per acre. Very little of the land area is thus occupied by the bean stacks.

The steel fence posts are being recommended at present because they are substantial, available at reasonable expense, easily set, and make good posts to build around. They can also be used for a long period of time and still have value.

There are a few precautions which should be emphasized:

- 1—Get the beans into these stacks as soon as they are ready in the fall.
- 2—Build the bottoms narrow, not over three or three and one-half feet in diameter.
- 3—Do not have any part of the stack over three and one-half to four feet in diameter.
- 4—Keep the beans about the bottom of the stack picked up and have the straw protrude beyond the beans.
- 5—Make straight or very slightly bulging stacks with well made caps.

By getting the beans up early, damage which might result from rains is prevented and the pick is greatly reduced. The beans can remain in the stacks until some good day later on in the fall when everything has been cared for and it is convenient to thresh.

The beans should be pulled and stacked the same day if weather is threatening. If fair weather prevails leaving the beans in windrows over night compacts the vines and makes them more easily handled.

The cost estimates on putting up beans by "The McNaughton System" average much alike. The range is from two to five acres per man per day, depending upon the cleanliness of the bean field. The posts cost $3.70 per acre on the average.

Preliminary experiments carried on at the Michigan State College during the fall of 1926 affirm the method. Beans that were stacked late in September, after considerable damage had been done, and threshed the middle of October, picked four pounds less of damaged and stained beans than those pulled and threshed the first of October. These beans should have been poled two weeks earlier for best results but it was shown that the damage was more severe in the beans left standing in the field and threshed the first of October than those that were stacked.

The beans from the stacks threshed out in excellent condition. The moisture content was low. Beans from the stacks, threshed the middle of October, could have been stored in large quantities without any danger of heating. Those threshed the first of October carried more moisture and could not have been stored in quantity.

The stacks offer greater opportunity for the winds to dry the beans. It takes but a short time after a shower for a light breeze to dry the beans sufficiently for threshing. This feature alone aids very materially in the preparation of a bean crop for market.

"The McNaughton System" will:

- 1—Eliminate most of the hazards of bean harvest at a very low cost.
- 2—Produce beans with a small pick instead of large pick or a lost crop.
- 3—Permit fall grains to be seeded earlier and reduce possible losses.
- 4—Greatly aid the curing of weedy beans with no risk from the weather.
- 5—Secure the beans until a machine can be obtained for threshing.
- 6—Get the beans taken care of so that other crops may be harvested at the proper time.
- 7—Do away with a lot of work and worry.
- 8—Reduce the pick below that of beans left standing in the field a few days after the other beans are stacked as shown by the preliminary experiments.

DAIRY FACTS

FAULTY FEEDING LESSENS PROFITS

Faulty feeding is one of the chief causes of unprofitable dairying, says Dr. W. B. Nevens, assistant chief in dairy cattle feeding at the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, in "Feeding the Dairy Herd," a revised handbook which is now being distributed by the college to interested farmers and dairymen.

At the same time proper feeding alone does not guarantee the greatest milk production, he points out. Care and management and breeding and selection that will build up the capacity of the herd also must get attention.

"It has been demonstrated, for instance, that poorly kept cows will give 50 per cent more milk with improved feeding and care, but after the level has been raised in this way, little more can be done except through a program of good breeding. Using sires of the best blood lines and replacing the poorest cows in the herd with heifers from the best cows usually will bring continued improvement in production year after year."

Doctor Nevens explains that a cow may use feed for five different purposes: Growth, maintenance, milk production, increase in weight and production of offspring. It is evident, then, that when cows are fed for milk production, these various functions must be considered with regard to the future development of the cow as well as to her immediate needs, he points out.

Liberal feeding, when intelligently done, usually pays more in the long run than scanty feeding. Although other things besides feeding has a bearing on the milk production of a herd, there is no doubt but that many dairy herds which make little or no profit could be put on a paying basis simply by giving more attention to this one factor—more generous feeding, he says.

He then points out that feeds are divided into two classes: concentrates and roughages. Concentrates—the farm grains and mill by-products—are heavy and contain little fiber or woody material. Roughages, such as hay, straw, silage, grass and roots, are bulky and contain lots of fiber, and in some cases water. Roughages with lots of water, such as fresh green grass, roots and silage, are known as succulent feeds.

Substances found in feeds are grouped into six classes: Protein, carbohydrates, fats, mineral matter or ash, vitamins and water. "Every dairyman should know these classes, should know what part they play in the nourishment of the animal and what common feeds will best supply them in the most economical and desirable form," Doctor Nevens says.

Young, tender pasture grass is more highly digestible than matured grass. From 85 to 90 per cent of the dry matter of farm grains and their best by-products are digestible, while only 50 to 75 per cent of the dry matter of the better kinds of roughage is digestible. Some of the poorer roughages, such as cereal straws and the hulls of various seeds, which contain lots of coarse fiber, are low in digestibility and have little place in the ration of the dairy cow in milk.

Succulence, physiological effect, bulk, balance and cost are discussed as some of the other characteristics of spring grass which the dairyman should try to duplicate in rations used for barn feeding.

Under most conditions a dairy herd can be fed more economically on feeds that are raised on the farm where they are used than it can on purchased feeds, Doctor Nevens says in the handbook. It must be remembered, however, that cereal grains and nongrass roughages are low in protein, he cautions.

Dried Beet Pulp Often Used in Testing Cows

Dried beet pulp is a bulky, carbonaceous concentrate that has a slightly laxative effect on dairy cows, and is used quite often by dairymen when they are feeding cows on test. It is not worth quite as much as corn or barley in feeding value in the ordinary ration, and as it usually sells for more than corn it rarely pays to buy it as a substitute for corn merely as a source of nutrients. However, where a maximum yield is desired regardless of cost, such as cows on official test, it can be used to make the concentrate more bulky, and as such will be worth more than corn. Where a succulent feed such as silage is not available it makes a very satisfactory substitute, though usually more expensive. Where much is used it is better to moisten it before feeding.

Cow's Producing Value

A cow's value as a producer depends upon her inherited ability to secrete milk, and her environment, or the feed and care. If a cow has not inherited the ability to produce milk abundant feeding will not actuate her milk glands to secrete milk. On the other hand, a good dairy cow without feed and care is like a first class boiler without fuel. It is important to obtain a good dairy cow, but it is just as important to feed and care for the cow properly.
