

FINE PROGRAM AT CASS CITY FAIR

Excellent Attractions, Good Races, Ten-inning Ball Games Featured Entertainment.

An excellent showing of live stock, beautiful fireworks, a splendid line of special attractions, closely contested ball games, fine weather, a big line-up of race horses and a talented concert band combined last week to give Cass City an excellent fair. On all sides one hears commendation and expressions of satisfaction over the fine program presented during the week.

The special attractions were among the best ever presented on the local grounds. Officers departed from the usual line of entertainment when they engaged Hoaglan's Hippodrome. The program opened with an impressive garland entry in which eight beautiful and well-trained horses were used. "High school" horses in interesting stunts, push ball with six horses and riders, auto polo, bucking mule, fancy roping and lasso throwing, Roman standing races and funny mule derbies were among the features on the program.

Ball games were closely contested and in two of these events it was necessary to go ten innings before a decision was reached. On Tuesday, Clifford lost to Cass City by a 7-6 score. On Wednesday, the Detroit White Star team won from Bad Axe by a 3-1 score in ten innings. One of the leading players for White Star of Detroit was their first baseman, Chas. McCollough, who has not played baseball for over two years, but was ever on the job during the entire game. Another ten inning contest was necessary Thursday for Cass City-Caro to win from the Gratiot Ave Street Car All Stars of Detroit 6-5, and on Friday Huron County All Stars won from the Colored Giants, 6-5. This game was a tie at the end of the eighth period.

Horse racing claimed the usual amount of attention and the events were well contested as the following results show.

Boomhower-Pangborn Wedding Aug. 20

A very pretty wedding took place Saturday, August 20, at four o'clock in the Boomhower gardens at Bad Axe, when Miss Florence Boomhower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. X. A. Boomhower of Bad Axe, was united in marriage to Willard Pangborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Pangborn of Verona.

Rev. C. C. Kemp, pastor of the St. Paul's Episcopal church of Bad Axe, officiated. The spacious garden was beautiful with floral decorations. The bride was dressed in white tulle and carried a corsage bouquet of white roses and her veil was of tulle with pearls and orange blossoms. The maid of honor, Miss Virginia Boomhower, a sister of the bride, wore a dress of pink tulle and carried pink roses. The bridesmaids were Miss Millicent Clarke of Saginaw and Miss Florence Pangborn. Mr. Pangborn was attended by Harry Wakefield of Monroe as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Josephine Rankin of Grosse Pointe. After the ceremony a reception was held in the garden and a dainty lunch served. About 200 guests were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn are taking a trip through the east and will be at home upon their return in Detroit, where Mr. Pangborn is employed by the Lourie Robinson Lumber Co.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn are graduates of Bad Axe high school. Mrs. Pangborn also graduated from the University of Michigan and has taught school in Bad Axe and Detroit.

The council has now decided that these streaks of mud are a nuisance and new lead water mains will be laid this fall and the excavations allowed to settle over winter. The new cement filling will be done in the spring.

Allot Last Supply of War Explosives

The final echoes of the motive power prepared for the engines of death in the World War will resound in Michigan during the next few months, according to the announcement of L. F. Livingston, specialist in agricultural engineering at Michigan State College.

The final allotment of war surplus explosives for Michigan has been received and will be distributed through the county agricultural agents of the state. The allotment is small and the early orders are expected to exhaust the available supply.

Farmers of Michigan have used 5,500,000 pounds of war surplus explosives. An equal amount of comparable commercial explosives would have added 750,000 dollars to the expenses of the farmers in blowing out stray stumps, in land clearing, and in blasting boulders, according to M. S. C. estimates.

Continued use of the explosives in the state has accustomed farmers to the employment of this concentrated power, and after the surplus it is expected that they will employ commercial explosives as a means of smoothing the path of the plow.

SICK SOILS TO GET M. S. C. FIRST AID

Special Truck to Carry Demonstrations Direct to Farmers from Aug. 31 to Oct. 5.

Remedies for sick soils will be displayed on a special truck fitted up by the soils department of Michigan State College for a tour of several Michigan counties, according to announcement just made by John Sims, soils specialist.

Special emphasis will be placed upon the use of lime and green manure crops in a soil building program. Results have proved that profitable crops depend to a large extent upon the humus content of soils, and the growth of green manure crops is the most economical means of increasing the humus in a soil.

In order to grow a large tonnage of humus to be plowed down, many Michigan soils need lime. Specialists who will accompany the truck will make tests of soils and marl at each stop. As many as 18 meetings will be held in some of the counties.

The schedule as now worked out is: Ingham county, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 and 2; Northeast Michigan, Sept. 5 to 10; Oakland county, Sept. 12 through 16; Tuscola, Sept. 19 through 21; Genesee, Sept. 22 and 23; Jackson, Sept. 29 through Oct. 1; and St. Clair, Oct. 3 through 5.

Local county agricultural agents along the route of the "Soils Special" are making arrangements for the various stops and are furnishing information to their local farmers on the itinerary for each locality.

"Air Derby" to Honolulu Is Won by Art Goebel in the Plane Woolaroc.

By Edward W. Pickard.

Something new under the sun—an "Air Derby" across the Pacific ocean from Oakland, Calif., to Honolulu—was the feature of the week's news. After a deal of preparation eight planes started in the race for the James Dole prize of $35,000, of which $10,000 was for the second to reach the goal. Four met with disaster at the take-off, but the other four winged their way over the waste of waters. The Woolaroc, piloted by Art Goebel, movie stunt flyer, and with Lieut. William Davis, U. S. N., as navigator, won the race. The Aloha, with Martin Jensen of Honolulu as pilot and Paul Schluter as navigator, was second.

At this writing the two other planes are missing, and are being sought by airplanes and naval ships. These are the Miss Doran, with Augie Pedlar as pilot, Lieut. V. R. Knope as navigator and Miss Mildred Doran of Detroit as passenger; and the Golden Eagle, of which Jack Frost was the pilot and Gordon Scott the navigator.

The Woolaroc made the flight in 26 hours, 19 minutes and 33 seconds. The Aloha took 28 hours, 17 minutes. Lieutenants Maitland and Hagenberger of the United States army made the trip in 25 hours and 50 minutes several weeks ago, while Ernie Smith and Emory Bronte, the first civilians to fly to Hawaii from California, landed at Molokai island 25 hours, 26 minutes after leaving the mainland.

Goebel's plane was equipped with a radio outfit that functioned well and he was in frequent communication with ships. The army navigation officers at Honolulu, who charted the Turn to page 2.

FARMING AND FINANCE

Average Cotton Prices Better.

Babson Park, Mass. (Special). The Department of Agriculture's estimate of the condition and probable production of this year's cotton crop was somewhat below the general expectation and prices advanced rapidly to the highest point reached since early in 1926.

The cotton acreage under cultivation was previously estimated at 42,683,000. The condition of the crop as of August 1 was estimated at 69.5 per cent of normal. Allowing for normal abandonment, the crop is estimated at 13,492,000 bales.

The condition of the crop on Aug. 1 last year was placed at 69.8 per cent of normal and the output was estimated at 15,621,000 bales, as compared with a harvest of 17,910,500 bales.

It is apparent that average prices for this year's crop will be substantially above the low prices prevailing last season. It is not unlikely, however, that the average price level will be below present quotations.

Hay and Butter Prices Attractive. Our latest scan of the wholesale markets shows two products that seem due for a rise in price—namely, hay and butter.

Hay—The hay crop this year is estimated at 102,000,000 tons as compared with last year's production of 86,378,000 tons. The prospects for the large crop have been reflected in declining prices. Present quotations are at the lowest point in five years. Hence one can understand the attentive attitude of some buyers, probably intending to accumulate needs for later in the season on any further weakness in hay prices.

Butter—The peak in the movement of this farm product to markets is usually reached in June. Good pastures this year have extended the period of heavy production, and storage stocks are considerably higher now than a year ago. The upward Turn to page 5

Concluded from first page. course of the aviators as the radio reports were received, agreed that the flight of the Woolaroc was almost perfect and was a triumph of the highest order for scientific practice in air navigation. The plane was kept in line constantly with the radio beam beacon at San Francisco. Pilot Jensen took the Aloha by the northern route and overshot his mark somewhat. He said he skimmed the surface of the sea nearly all the way, while the Woolaroc was kept at an altitude of between 600 and 800 feet. The successful aviators were given a warm welcome in Honolulu, but the celebration was marred by anxiety concerning the missing flyers.

DOWN at San Diego, Calif., the navy's PN-10 seaplane broke two world's records and established a third. The plane weighed at the time of take-off approximately 11 tons. It carried 1,100 pounds of sand, 1,222 gallons of gasoline and 120 gallons of lubricating oil. For a plane carrying this dead weight, these records were established: Duration—20 hours, 45 minutes, 40 seconds. Distance—1,568 miles. Speed—73.56 miles an hour. The plane was piloted by Lieut. Byron J. Connell. He was accompanied by Lieut. H. C. Rodd, radio engineer, and Comar Vincent, aviation chief machinist's mate.

EARLY in the week two big Junkers planes, the pride of Germany, started from Dessau to fly across the Atlantic. One, the Europa, had New York as its goal, and the other, the Bremen, was to fly as far as Chicago if its gasoline lasted. The Europa ran into stormy weather and after getting over the North sea it developed motor trouble and was forced to turn back, landing at Bremen. The Bremen kept on until it had crossed Ireland and out over the ocean some distance. Then the storm grew worse, the gasoline was being used up too fast, and the aviators gave it up and with great difficulty made their way back to Dessau. It was thought a third Junkers plane might attempt the Atlantic crossing, but on the other hand experts thought the time for such a flight had passed for this year.

THE full bench of the Massachusetts Supreme court overruled the exceptions by Sacco-Vanzetti defense counsel to decisions by Justice George A. Sanderson of that court and by Judge Webster Thayer of the Superior court and refused to grant a writ of error. This meant that the two men must be executed after the termination of their respite, midnight of August 22, unless some further means of saving their lives were found.

AMERICA'S greatest "captain of industry," who might better be termed a generalissimo, passed with the death in New York of Judge Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of the United States Steel corporation. Though almost eighty-one years of age, he was still in active control of the mighty concern which was the creation of his imagination and genius and whose destinies he directed from its beginning. Gary was one of the most important figures in modern finance and business, and his part in the affairs of the nation, in both peace and war, had much to do with present industrial conditions. Though long the advocate of the eight-hour day in the steel mills and fought for many years by labor leaders, he was held by many as a real friend of humanity, the masses in particular, and as a philanthropist and a benefactor of church and science. During the World war he was the indefatigable aid of the government. Judge Gary's body was taken to his old home in Wheaton, a suburb of Chicago, and the funeral was held in the beautiful memorial church which he built there. His successor as chairman of the steel corporation has not yet been announced. J. Ogden Armour of Chicago, another of America's leading business men, died in London after several months' illness. The son of P. D. Armour, famous pioneer meat packer, he succeeded his father as head of the business and expanded it into a world-wide organization, winning one of the country's great personal fortunes. In the period of post-war deflation this fortune dwindled with astonishing swiftness, and Mr. Armour withdrew from active participation in many of the concerns with which he was connected, these including banks and railroads.

John Oliver, premier of British Columbia, died in Victoria at the age of seventy-one years. He had been ill for some time and had been relieved of his official duties by the naming of J. D. McClean as acting premier and leader of the Liberal party. Other deaths worthy of note were those of James Oliver Curwood, popular American author, and Rhineland Waldo, well-known New Yorker.

FOLLOWING a conference with Mr. Coolidge in Rapid City, Director of the Budget Lord announced that the President had approved large increases in appropriations for both the army and the navy. Among the expenditures for national defense authorized by the President are: Funds for completion of the six cruisers authorized by congress in the last session; funds for completion of the remodeling of the battleships Oklahoma and Nevada; and funds for 1,800 first-class planes for the army and 1,000 planes for the navy. There was only one naval appropriation which the President did not approve. That was for three submarines, asked for in 1916, on which investigation work still is being done.

Pessimists at once began figuring that the increased defense estimates, together with the necessity of spending a lot for farm relief, would make impossible any extensive reduction in taxes by the next congress. But the official opinion in Washington was that taxes would certainly be cut at least $300,000,000 during the coming session. In order to bring this about the Democratic leaders and some Republicans will, if necessary, combat the practice of applying all receipts from foreign debts to national debt reduction. President Coolidge holds that tax reduction next year is feasible if congress does not indulge in excessive money spending.

GENERAL PERSHING called at the summer White House and discussed with Mr. Coolidge conditions of American cemeteries in France, also submitting to him the accepted designs for various memorials and chapels on the battlefields. The President went to the Pine Ridge reservation Wednesday and saw a pageant and parade in which some ten thousand Indians participated. He received from the Sioux national council a memorial reciting the loyalty and complaints of the Indians and in reply assured them of the government's sympathy and close study of their problems. Next day Mr. Coolidge, accompanied by Mrs. Coolidge and their son, John, inspected the government hospitals for World war veterans at Hot Springs, S. D. Plans were made for the Presidential family to spend a week in Yellowstone National park.

COLLAPSE of the Nanking Nationalist group in China seems imminent. After his armies, which were advancing on Peking met with severe defeats and were driven back to the south of the Yangtse, Gen. Chiang Kai-shek resigned his leadership and appealed for unity of action between the Nanking and Hankow factions. But the northern troops kept on going south and at last reports had occupied Pukow and were bombarding Nanking, across the Yangtse. Both foreign and native residents of that city were fleeing. Meanwhile the foreigners in Shanghai were preparing to defend the place against invasion by the disorganized hordes of fleeing Nationalist soldiers. American, British and French troops were placed in strategic positions, the British being in an advanced line about Shanghai's environs, outside the international settlement. The barricades between the French concession and Chinese territory were reconstructed. The situation there was complicated by a quarrel between the British authorities and the Chinese officials. An English airplane had been forced to land in Chinese territory and the native officials seized the wings and refused to comply with a British ultimatum that they give them up immediately. The Chinese contended that flying British planes over Chinese territory is a violation of international law as well as the international airplane convention, to which both Great Britain and China are signatories.

Japan, asserting its preferential claims in Manchuria and Mongolia, has served notice that it will not tolerate any opposition there to its policy. The Chinese, especially in Manchuria, are deeply resentful of the Japanese actions and plans, and the Mukden Chamber of Commerce stated an intention to boycott Japan.

WHAT is denominated an "economic Locarno" in the form of a commercial treaty was signed by France and Germany after three years of dickering. The pact provides for a mutual favored nation agreement on practically all products passing between the two countries and paves the way for intertrade such as the two nations have never experienced. French agriculture will receive the greatest benefit. Practically all the tariffs are lowered, while Germany agrees not to increase the existing ones on cotton, wool, silk, leather goods and metallurgical products, soap and perfumery.

PRESIDENT COSGRAVE'S government of the Irish Free State narrowly escaped overthrow at the hands of a combine of three parties after De Valera and his followers had taken the oath of fealty to the king and occupied their seats in the Dail. A resolution of lack of confidence was introduced and the vote was a tie which was broken when the speaker cast his vote in the negative. As a matter of fact, Cosgrave was saved by Alderman John Jinks of Sligo, a member of the Redmond party, who slipped away just before the vote was taken. He says he never had any intention of voting the government out. Cosgrave is expected to gain strength in the general elections in October.

BOLIVIA was greatly alarmed by a big uprising among the Indians, who largely outnumber the whites in that country. But quick action by the government troops isolated the disaffection in certain sections of three departments and gave assurance that the trouble would soon be quieted. Many chiefs were captured and heavy penalties were inflicted, and thereafter thousands of Indians returned to their work in the fields.

War "Tanks" Not New "Tanks" were perfected during the World war, but the idea is much older. Fighting vehicles are recorded as early as 1200 B. C., when the Chinese made use of protected vehicles propelled by man or horse. The so-called Tudor "war carts" were used during the Fifteenth century.

It requires cool weather and a great deal of moisture for growing. Experiments in the United States have shown that it will do fairly well in Florida, except during cool spells when it winter-kills.

Task for Science

If science is so wonderful as it claims, why doesn't it make some effort to cross the rubber plant with a steel plant and grow tires with metal rims?

"Blue as a Razor"

The word "razor" in this proverbial expression is probably a corruption of "azure," the original phrase, which is sometimes heard, being "blue as azure."

Grain Trade Periled by Railroad Rebates

Serious troubles were encountered by Chicago traders in the early nineties through the practice of accepting railroad rebates. The railroads of the time were keenly aggressive, and they inaugurated a war of cutthroat competition, giving rebates to heavy and regular shippers—a sort of bidding for business. At first the rebates were welcomed by shippers, who were flattered by the thought that they were getting something for nothing. The practice became such an abuse that more than one grain firm faced financial disaster because of it. No one ever knew just how great was the rebate that his competitor obtained and the whole situation added a trade hazard that was immeasurable. The rebates ran from 10 to 25 per cent of the published tariff. It was, of course, difficult for the concern that was able to obtain only 10 per cent rebate to compete with the one that got the 25 per cent reduction. Another phase of the rebate system was that the rebate was merely a sort of "gentlemen's agreement" between the trader and some high official of the railroad. Nothing ever was written about the rebate. The "gentlemen's agreement" sometimes became a disagreement and there was then no way to force the railroad to live up to the understanding.—James A. Patten, in Chicago Daily News.

Nature Provides Two Purposes for the Hair

Hair—woman's glory and man's despair—serves man as a preserver of heat and a protective covering and animals as an organ of touch, according to present belief, say Drs. F. W. Cregor and F. M. Gastineau in Hygeia Magazine.

The average adult has 120,000 hairs on the head, blondes having more than brunettes because of the finer texture of blond hair. Chemically, dark hair differs from blond in having more carbon and less oxygen and sulphur. The white hair of old age is rich in phosphate of lime. The degree of blondness depends on the color of the hair and eyes and pigmentation of the skin. The woolly appearance of the hair of the negro is due to the fact that the hair follicle is curved and the hair itself is flat. Asiatic peoples have straight hair, round in appearance and arising from straight hair follicles.

Shoes of Robert Burns

When Robert Burns, the Scottish plowboy, was breaking the soil on his father's farm, he probably did not think that the shoes he then wore would be objects of curiosity 3,000 miles away long after his death.

But the shoes that the great poet wore when a lad are owned by a gentleman who lives in Portland, Maine, and many of the boys of that city have inspected them.

The shoes have wooden soles, which in turn are shod with thin plates of iron. The uppers are tacked to the soles in a rude but strong manner, and the historic footwear is in a good state of preservation.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Brains and Beauty

Can genius be detected by facial expression? Is a question yet to be solved by science. Socrates and Lincoln are notable examples of geniuses whose looks were not in keeping with their brilliant minds. On the other hand, Byron and Shelley were both attractive in appearance, so there is no ground for assuming that mental "beauty" and facial are connected. One peculiarity of many great men is that their faces are not the same on both sides. This can be tested with a photograph. By covering half of it and then comparing the two parts, two distinct faces will sometimes be revealed.

The Smallest World

From time to time the earth approaches a very little world, one that might be walked around in two or three days, for it is only 85 miles round. This is Eros, the tiny planet whose existence was unknown until 1898, when the astronomer Witt of Berlin discovered it by means of photography.

At intervals of nearly two years our world and this Lilliputian one approaches one another, coming nearer and nearer each time, and last year Eros was nearer to us than it had been for 20 years.

Famous "Blacklist"

Publication of the names of debtors who paid in depreciated currency, during and after the Civil war period was known as the greenback "blacklist." The Pacific coast states conducted trade and other operations on the gold standard. It was considered a breach of faith to buy on a gold basis and pay in paper money, though it was legal tender. The boycott was unknown, but the blacklist was not illegal and the practice of publication was common.

His Deserts

A little girl returned from school proudly flourishing a paper.

"It's a composition about Soccra-tees," she said, handing it to mother with a grand air. "Teacher told us about him and then we wrote it. You can read it if you want to."

And mother read: "Socrates was a great man. He was a sort of tramp. He told everybody what to do and they gave him poison."

BOAT RACES AND STUNTS ON ALGONAC PROGRAM

On Saturday, August 27, Governor Fred W. Green will visit Algonac and the St. Clair Flats.

The citizens of Algonac are working on an entertaining program of boat races, airplane stunts and other features for his benefit on this occasion.

As the fastest boats in the world are built there, the Governor is assured of a thrilling boat ride and the spectators that come to Algonac on the 27th will see some exciting races.

Gar Wood will have the fast boats he took east out on the Algonac course as well as several Baby Gars, and Chris Smith is lining up a bunch of Chris-Crafts and Cadets, and when a dozen or more of these boats get into a race the spectators are sure of a thrill.

There will be a race of the speedy little outboards, and there is usually a spill or two for the amusement of the people when these little fellows get into action.

Major Lamphier, Commander at Selfridge Field, has promised those in charge a bunch of airplanes and the usual stunts that make an air circus so exciting.

These features are all free and everyone is invited to go to Algonac and enjoy them with the Governor on Saturday, August 27.

FARMING AND FINANCE

price tendency may, therefore, be delayed slightly longer than usual.

Stressing Values of Farm Lands.

Much stressing is going on these days of farm land values.

Only the other day, the chairman of the Federal Farm Loan Board pointed out the maximum acreage available to purchasers taken in conjunction with the great fall in value that farm lands have seen.

Possibly we are due for a rise in agricultural land values. Certainly there are bargains in this sort of real estate at the present time that are more attractive than in some other types of real estate—providing the buyer knows his business. But so does that buyer need to be on the alert and know his business—know what he is doing—in purchasing real estate anywhere else these days.

Land Values Affect Land Banks.

Not a few Joint Stock Land Banks would be one of the first to appreciate a rise in agricultural land values. The income of the farmers has been reduced, farm values have declined, and in a few cases the proceeds from recent foreclosure sales have not covered the amount of mortgages held by the banks. On account of these unfavorable conditions, some banks, particularly in the Middle West, have had to accept losses on mortgages and have had to tie up capital in real estate. As a consequence, earnings for a few of the banks have been severely curtailed.

Texas Agricultural Income Up.

While the damage from boll weevil is reported to be large in a few sections of Texas, the general outlook for the cotton crop is more favorable than in most of the other cotton states.

With a favorable corn crop and a relatively large cotton crop yield, as compared with other states, in prospect for Texas; and prices up nearly 65 per cent from the low for the year, or about 20 per cent higher than last year, the total agricultural income expected this season in Texas should average from 10 to 15 per cent higher than in 1926.

But the marked improvement in the corn and cotton crop that has occurred during the past few weeks bids fair to more than compensate for the reduced income from winter wheat. Even the lower yields on small grain that are probable this year will be largely offset by higher prices now in prospect.

MOSES WORDEN.

The death of Moses Worden occurred at his home, southeast of Cass City, Friday, August 19, at the age of 76 years, five months and 25 days. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. A. G. Newberry in the Baptist church at Novesta on Sunday afternoon.

Moses Worden was born in Norwich, Canada, Feb. 22, 1851, and united in marriage to Margaret Lindsay on Jan. 19, 1877. To this union seven children were born. One son, Wm. Worden, preceded the father in death 14 years.

The following are left to mourn their loss, his aged widow, six children, 30 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

All the children and great grandchildren, and 25 of the grandchildren were present at the funeral services. The children are John and Harry Worden, and Mrs. Asa Elwell, all of Pontiac; Mrs. Bert Montgomery of Jackson; Mrs. Orda Montgomery of Deford; and Mrs. Wm. Geoit of Wilmet.

Those from a distance who were in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. Orville Elwell, Mrs. W. E. Scribner and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Cline, all of Pontiac; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Elwell, Hattie and Henry Lindsay, Mrs. Robert Curtis and son, Bruce, and Mr. and Mrs. George Boyne, all of Marlette.

Honor Queen's Memory

Queen Louise of Prussia is buried in the garden of the palace at Charlottenburg in Germany. A mausoleum and a recumbent statue have been erected on the site. It is the custom among admirers of the queen to place wreaths on the grave on the anniversary of her birth or death.

Hard Situation

It's a wise father who knows what his own son is doing and can check the young man up without arousing suspicion as to how he got so wise.

Ducal Strawberries

The exact reason why the strawberry leaf is used as the insignia on the English ducal coronet is not known. Various decorative leaves were employed in heraldry and the ducal coronet in its present form was decided upon by Charles II.

They Do Not Wait

Much advice is given to young people contemplating marriage, but unfortunately many of them get married without any contemplating—Muncie Morning Star.

The salad course on the live stock menu is pretty well depleted as far as pastures are concerned. Feed a little Cow Chow during this dry spell and you will be agreeably surprised at the results.

A friend of ours says he has discovered that his old overcoat won't serve another winter; his car needs a new top; and his wife refuses to be seen on the street again without a new hat. There's trouble for you!

We will have another car of Cream of Wheat flour this week.

A salesman was telling us the other day about a farmer who went to a poultry house to sell some turkeys. "How many turkeys have you?" inquired the buyer. "Oh," replied the farmer, "I'd say on a guess, somewhere between forty-nine and fifty!"

The bigger the bankroll, the tighter the rubber band.

"If you must throw tomatoes," announced the show proprietor on amateur night, "I ask you if you won't please remove them from the cans first!"

"My husband calls a spade a spade."
"So does mine. But you ought to hear," what he calls the lawnmower!"

A very young attorney was trying a case. A farmer had suffered the loss of twenty-four hogs at a railroad crossing. "Twenty-four hogs, gentlemen!" shouted the attorney. "Think of it! Twenty-four hogs—just twice the number there is in the jury box!"

Cow Chow will make you money if fed according to directions. We know this to be true and so do those that are feeding it. Try it.

We've about decided that the way to get the best of an argument is not to take part in it.

For pastry we don't believe there is any flour that can compare with "Tuscola."

You can't argue with those hens! It does no good to call her aside and speak to her privately so as not to embarrass her before the other hens. But try giving her Chicken Chowder and notice the improvement in your egg crop and eggs are going up too.

STAGES ARE LATEST IN "HIGHWAY LINERS"

Here is a new "highway liner." It was built for service on stage routes to northern points out of Los Angeles. It differs radically from anything else ever built in stages, in that the driver sits in a pilot house high above his heretofore usual position. The palatial vehicle is complete with kitchen and dining service, lavatories, and every comfort for long distance travel. It is equipped with a radio and "observation car," conveniences that are afforded by a mezzanine deck.

SPARK PLUG IS TROUBLE MAKER

They Are So Well Constructed They Require Little Attention.

The lowly spark plug, seemingly such an innocent part of your car's mechanism, may sometimes be a trouble maker, even though spark plugs are so well constructed nowadays that they require little or no attention in thousands of miles of driving. Because of their efficiency, spark plugs are not likely to be suspected at first, when something goes wrong with the engine.

How a Spark Plug Works.

The function of a spark plug is simply to introduce into the combustion chamber of the cylinder two wires with a gap between them, across which gap an electrical spark jumps. This spark ignites the gas mixture in the cylinder to furnish the driving power of the car. If the current delivered to the spark plug does not have high enough voltage, of course no spark will jump across the gap of the two wires, and the mixture will not be ignited.

If the plug itself is defective, this is easily detected. All that is necessary is to lay the plug, with cable attached, on the cylinder head, and to start the engine. If a spark is seen jumping the gap between the wires, the plug is functioning, provided the spark is of sufficient intensity.

In this connection it is well to know how to set the gap between the wires. According to usual practice, this gap is .025 to .03 inches wide, but this sometimes varies with the kind of engine. To set the gap, a thickness gauge may be used, but if not available, a worn dime or a pasteboard card is used. Find the gap measurement that gives best results and set the gap to that distance.

Attacking Carbon.

Carbon often accumulates on plugs, causing a short circuit, which means that the current does not jump the gap and that no spark results. To remove carbon, take out the plug and soak it in gasoline for an hour and then scrape off the carbon.

Be sure that spark plugs are screwed tightly into the cylinder holes—otherwise, the plugs will become overheated because of the "compression leak" around them. A worn gasket may also cause such a leak, even if the plugs are screwed down tightly. To find out if there is leakage around the plug, squirt some oil around the joint, and if bubbles appear when the engine is running, the plug is leaking compression.

Cracks in the porcelain insulation of a plug will make it refuse to fire at the proper point. To discover a cracked plug, run the engine in a dark garage, and the cracked place will appear as a luminous line on the plug.

Bureau Discovers Plan to Eliminate Car Noises

From experiments with the sound-proofing qualities of partitions, to the field of automobile construction, would seem at first thought a far cry. Nevertheless, investigations at the United States bureau of standards have developed a fact which may prove of tremendous interest to automobilists, and in particular to that large proportion of automobilists who now ride in closed cars.

The greater extent to which motor and chassis noises are observable within closed cars of certain makes, often referred to as the "sounding board effect," seems to have a very definite explanation.

It was found at the bureau that partitions made with wood framing and covered with lath and plaster transmit less than one-hundredth as much sound as those of lath and plaster on metal framing. The motorist's deduction from this is quite obvious.

The more rigid the connection between the chassis and the material which forms the interior finish of the car the more easily sound is transmitted.

Carry Extra Spare Tire and Lock It Onto Auto

If your rims are made with the lugs welded onto them, you can carry an extra spare tire and lock it so it cannot be stolen, by making two bolts as shown in the illustration. Only one need be drilled for a padlock, however.

The iron rod should be as large as will pass through the holes in the lugs; and a piece of pipe, threaded, filed and drilled as shown, completes the job. As the bolts hold the extra tire tightly against the one that you regularly carry, there is little chance for chafing unless you are going on a long trip. In that case it would be worth while to slip a short piece of pipe over the bolt that is cut to act as a spacer, so as to hold the tires apart.—Popular Science Monthly.

Comfort and Utility Is Big Aim in Fixing Garb

What the man or woman will wear on the motor trails should be dictated not by the usual Dame Fashion but only by utility, comfort and neatness, according to an article in the Field and Stream Magazine.

"There are more comfortable things to travel in than silk hose and high-heeled shoes," remarks Field and Stream Magazine. "While loud costumes never quite fit into the scheme of nature's well ordered color harmonies, that doesn't mean that a fellow has to look like a tramp, either," warns the article. "He can be a full-fledged tin canner and still present a neat, respectable appearance so his friends don't pat their watch pockets when he comes about."

Although the day of the motor duster and voluminous veil is past, still there are clothes and clothes for motoring, in the opinion of Field and Stream Magazine. The most practical attire, it believes, is arranged somewhat along the following lines: B. V. D. underwear, leather puttees, flannel shirt, khaki riding breeches, army last shoes, and leather coat. Khaki is also recommended for the women either in the form of one-piece dresses, knickers, or riding pants. Cotton underwear, according to the Field and Stream article, is to be preferred to woolen because on hot days it is decidedly cooler, while on cool days it can easily be supplemented by extra outside wraps.

AUTOMOBILE ITEMS

Motor fuel is to be made from sweet potatoes and molasses in a plant now under construction in Queensland, Australia.

All motorists should securely lock their cars to avoid trouble, even though they leave them but for a minute or two.

Street cleaners in Portland, Ore., who work at night have been provided with headlights and tail-lights to protect them against being run down by motorists.

George Fernic, Rumanian speed car driver, is a dead "ringer" for the famous Barney Oldfield, except that he doesn't carry a cigar in the southwest corner of his mouth.

California motorists have a real menace to contend with in a roadside weed known as the puncture vine. It has a double spiked burr that spells holes for tires if run over.

Given Scientific Crown

Both philosophy and mathematics have been termed "the queen of sciences" by various writers.

Tree's Distinct Value

Longleaf pine is a particularly valuable tree for farm woodlands in many parts of the South because of its capacity to grow in the poorest and deepest sandy types of land. It will grow on the dryest soils as well as on wet lands, and with dual products of timber and turpentine often may convert such lands from an economic liability into an asset.

The Brand Is Your Insurance

THERE is an overproduction of crude oil. This has encouraged the opening of numerous small refineries. Many of these are operated by men unskilled in this work. The consequence is that in gasolines there is a wide variance in quality and performance.

Red Crown Ethyl is a new gasoline built upon an old, established brand. Red Crown Gasoline is the peer of any motor fuel made from pure petroleum. By adding Ethyl anti-knock compound to this splendid fuel, Red Crown Ethyl is produced.

Red Crown Ethyl does away with that annoying knock—the engine delivers a steady, smooth, flexible flow of power—it gives the car a snappy start, a quick pick-up, and enables it to attain any speed the machine is capable of developing.

It has made the high-compression engine possible—and it makes your engine perform better.

Take no chances with your car—fuel it with Red Crown Ethyl. The brand is your protection.

Remember carbon in your cylinders decreases the space in the firing chamber, and of course increases the compression. But to hold this compression, thus enabling the carbon to work for you, be sure that your valves are clean and are seated properly—then Red Crown Ethyl will sing you a song that will delight.

August Days and Petroleum Nights!

Out from the smouldering city nights and along the black curtained highway, stream myriad gleaming lights—a glowing rosary of fast moving crescents upon which are being said the night prayers pleading coolness and comfort.

Super heated days of toil must exact their toll of weariness. Smouldering hours at the tasks of the day wear threadbare all vitality.

Through these dreary torrid days there is always the longing for this cooling resting race into the open, with its healing air, along the night shrouded highway.

At last they are out—father, mother, sister and brothers, Johnny and Bud, the youngest addition to this happy family. The old buss seemed to tear down the concrete and far out onto the new gravel, which leads them out to the fields of new mown hay also acres covered with golden wheat which is at its best this time of the year.

Johnny mentioned to father, who is seated behind the wheel, the old buss has taken on a new lease of life, I don't believe we need a new car this summer, why the change. Father only smiled, snuggled down a little closer to the steering gear, took a few draws out of the half chewed cigar in his gold fills, and divulged the secret.

A brand new gas, my boy, makes all the difference in the world, I filled her up on INDIAN. The buss seems to take kindly to it. There is a DIFFERENCE in GAS and INDIAN is the DIFFERENCE.

FACTS FOR WHEAT FARMERS

30 BUSHELS IN SPIKE OF ICE

Vassar, Mich., August 16, 1926.

The American Agricultural Chemical Company, Detroit, Mich.

Sirs:

I fertilized my wheat with 200 pounds per acre of "AA QUALITY" Fertilizer (Horseshoe Brand, 2-12-2) and obtained 30 bushels to the acre. This is a very good yield, because weather conditions were most unsatisfactory. A large amount of my wheat was killed by ice. Notwithstanding this, I secured 30 bushels per acre.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers should surely receive a good share of the credit for this satisfactory crop. "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers always give me the best results.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) CLARENCE BOUGHNER

Such results as the above are not due to luck. Neither are they unusual. They were obtained on a farm very much like your own.

"AA QUALITY" Fertilizers assure a higher grade of wheat with the same seed, the same acreage, the same labor. Result, lower production cost for every bushel and a greater margin of profit for you. "AA QUALITY" Fertilizers pay you several times their cost in increased yield and quality.

THE AMERICAN AGRICULTURAL CHEMICAL COMPANY Sales Office and Works P. O. Box 814, Detroit

Look for the "AA QUALITY" seal on every bag of fertilizer. It stands for 60 years of manufacturing experience.

This seal guarantees more than correct chemical analysis—it assures you of proven crop-producing value.

Stucco Colonial Is Attractive Design for a Comfortable Home

First Floor Plan.

Second Floor Plan.

By W. A. RADFORD Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building...

The colonial style of architecture is popular among those who build homes both in the city and the smaller communities as well.

The home design shown is of a seven-room house, 35 by 24 feet, exclusive of the porches on either end.

The living room, as will be noted by the floor plans that accompany the exterior view, is 13 feet wide and 23 feet long.

The stairs to the second floor run out of the entrance hall and lead to a central hall above.

House Can Be Made Ugly by Use of Wrong Paint A house is lived in too long and under too many conditions of weather and season, to say nothing of other circumstances, to be extreme in any way.

It need not be so neutral as to forego all individuality, but it should, on the whole, be rather conservative than err on the other side.

If the old paint holds fast in spite of the scraper or torch, experienced painters generally soften it up a bit with benzol.

Outside paint work, subjected to the hard wear of the elements, should be renewed at least every three to five years, depending on its condition and appearance.

When the oil has decayed the pigments on the surface are no longer bound together and are easily blown away.

Each room has a closet adjoining it. A basement, the same size as the house proper, provides storage room and space for the heating plant and fuel.

The exterior walls of the house are covered with stucco, making an unusually attractive home.

HOW

MARCONI'S LOVE AFFAIR GAVE WORLD WIRELESS.—A boyhood love affair, and stern parents, who denied him communication with the girl, resulted in his gift to the world of wireless telegraphy.

Long-standing reports have said that Marconi, when only nineteen, fell desperately in love with a certain young woman.

Asked by guests at the luncheon to tell how his idea of wireless originated, Marconi said that his first experiments with it were made in 1893, when he was nineteen.

"I can only say that I thought of the wireless because I wanted to communicate with someone with whom I could not otherwise communicate," he said.

"I sought a means of communication that was not dependent on weather, fog or sun as are the ordinary visual signals.

Asked to elaborate on his statements, Marconi refused to say whether or not he referred to his boyhood love affair.

How Popularity of Dancing Has Grown

The great national pastime of America is not baseball, as many would carelessly suggest, but dancing.

Once dancing was only a social accomplishment. That was twenty years ago. The world has changed a good deal since then.

There is no longer any excuse for people not knowing how to dance, declares Ann S. Richardson, in the Woman's Home Companion.

The rules of the game have changed enormously in the last decade. When dancing was merely a social accomplishment, it was surrounded by conventions and tricky etiquette.

The chaperon is obsolete. The modern girl starts dancing at the hour her grandmother was leaving for home.
