UNKNOWN UNCLE WILLS MILLIONS

Fortune From Africa Goes to Australia.

Sydney.—David White, middle-aged Sydney business man, awoke one morning to find himself heir to over $1,250,000 in cash and $10,000,000 worth of real estate, a fortune amassed by his uncle in diamond dealing in South Africa. Behind the inheritance is a story revealing bleak depths of human bitterness and suffering. It goes back to the middle of the last century, when Solomon Wheinsky was a fur dealer at Nishni-Novgorod in Russia.

Solomon revolted against the exorbitant demands of the czarist taxgatherer. His brother, a partner in the business, disappeared mysteriously into the mines of Siberia.

Solomon Wheinsky and two sisters fled. They suffered bitterly from cold and hunger before they reached Riga, whence they got aboard a smuggler's schooner and were taken to Amsterdam, whence Solomon went to London and his two sisters to the United Solomon Wheinsky settled in Whitechapel in 1852 and became a "kosher" butcher. He married a Russian girl and changed his name to White. He had two sons, Abel and Aaron.

Aaron married outside his faith, and so long was the continuance of bitterness that Abel's son, David, decided to start life afresh in Australia.

Meantime Aaron White had gone to South Africa, where he joined the group of men about Cecil Rhodes, the uncrowned king of South Africa for the last fifteen years of the last century. It was there that the fortune which has fallen to David White was amassed. Aaron White traded in diamonds, and he emerged from the welter of those frightful days a wealthy man. He employed his money in speculation and grew richer.

Submarine Detector

to Be Used on Yeggs New York .- A new barrier has been placed between the bank robber and his swag as a result of research by the engineers of the Bell laboratories

Already learned in the ways of cops, night watchmen and the miles of wire incidental to the usual electric alarm system, the robber may now find himself up against a new signal device invisible from the outside yet capable of calling a squad of armed guards upon him as he works. In fact, the safe-blower now works under war-time conditions for the new alarm is founded on the Type H inertia microphone developed in the laboratories during the war for submarine detection. This alarm consists of a microphone capable of detecting the most minute vibrations of the walls of a safe. It has already been installed in several banks here and in Philadelphia. The microphone will not pick up sound waves. The stimulus is received mechanically rather than acoustically. But the slightest jar will be sufficient to set in motion an electric current to the main office where both audible and visible signals will be received. Such devices have been conceived before. But heretofore they have transmitted vibrations and even sounds from outside. Thus, guards have been summoned when merely a heavy truck was rumbling by or when street conversation grew sufficiently

Smoke Blight in

Paris Brings Action Paris.—The smoke and fumes of this industrial age are putting blemishes on the face of Paris. Smoke has not only begun to blacken the once gray wall of Notre Dame, but the poisonous particles from factories and automobile exhaust pipes are gnawing at the delicately carved stonework. Already several pieces have fallen from Notre Dame, from the palace of justice and from other celebrated buildings. Even the Madeleine, the classic Nineteenth century church at the head of the Rue Royale, had to be repaired and cleaned from steps to roof this year. The city of Paris has appointed a commission to see what can be done about it.

Mother Quail Lures Brood Away From Hen

Midldetown, Conn.—Arthur B. Meeks, who has a bungalow on the shores of Lake Pocotopaug in East Hampton, is sponsor for this story:

A mother quail was sitting on seventeen eggs in a hay field when the mowers drove her away. John Saltus, the mower, gave the eggs to Mr. Meeks, who divided them and set them under two brooding hens. A skunk invaded one nest, but the other hen hatched eight of the eggs. Meeks says the mother quail kept an eye on the proceedings and, when the foster mother was scratching worms for the hungry brood, flew to the nest and lured the baby quail away. There is now one bewildered and puzzled hen in East

WARNING ISSUED ON HOG CHOLERA

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Frequent reports of hog-cholera outbreaks just received by the United States Department of Agriculture are the occasion for official warnings urging swine owners to be on the alert against this disease. The reports are from scattered areas, but thus far the disease has appeared chiefly in the

As previously pointed out in government publications and addresses by veterinary officials, the fall months are the time of the year when hog cholera is most prevalent.

This year the control of hog cholera is hampered somewhat by a temporary shortage of serum for immunizing susceptible animals. The situation is made more serious by the fact that a large proportion of swine in the .United States have not been immunized owing to the low ebb of cholera in recent years. More than that, hogs at this season of the year are of good size and a great many are being fattened for market. Large hogs require more serum for proper immunization than small pigs, the dosage being governed by the weight of the animal. Serum companies are now increasing their production, but as the process of serum manufacture requires several weeks, stock owners are urged to take special precautions in the meantime. When serum for immunizing cannot be obtained, selfquarantine measures are imposed highly desirable. These include the exclusion from hog lots and hog pastures of stock buyers, neighbors, stray dogs, and other possible carriers of hog-cholera infection.

Sanitation of hog lots and houses should receive attention also, with a view of destroying possible lurking places for the virus. The use of disinfectants and also direct sunlight are effective against hog-cholera infection. Outbreaks of hog cholera should be reported immediately by the most direct means to federal and state sanitary officials who will make investigations, diagnoses, and render such further aid as their field forces can handle.

Highest Prices Brought

by Early Spring Lambs The good market prices usually brought by early lambs, have turned the attention of many sheep men to breeding early.

Ewes bred between November 1 and 25 will have their lambs between March 25 and April 15.

The early lamb properly grown is a profitable lamb. By the time he is ninety days old, he should weigh 70 pounds.

The best market for lambs usually comes in May. To reach the best possible development by that time, the lambs should be provided with a "creep," so that they may get abundent food and the sheen kent out. Plenty of grain should be fed, as well as good alfalfa.

"Stick by your sheep," is the word that is being passed among sheep men and traders in live stock.

****** Live Stock Hints

Calves that are full fed from six to eight weeks make the choicest veal.

The ewe lambs should be fed for bone and flesh growth, but not to become overfleshed.

Buttermilk is an excellent feed for pigs. It contains a suitable protein, lime or calcium, and also phosphorus, which are required by pigs for the growth of bone and tissues.

Corn at the rate of one pound to three pounds of buttermilk, plus a pasture, makes pigs grow rapidly. If no pasture is available a little alfalfa meal or tankage should be added.

Whole oats are highly esteemed as a feed for ewes, while corn is considered too fattening by many shepherds to be used as the principal con-

Not only the amount of concentrates required for breeding ewes, but also the kind which should be supplied will depend upon the kind of roughages fed.

Keep steers full. The feed eaten over and above maintenance is what puts on flesh. Nervousness, excitement, mud, discomfort and injuries from horns of other steers all increase maintenance requirements and

See that the ewe lambs have plenty of room at the feed rack and grain troughs. Otherwise, they are likely to go undernourished.

Wool, unlike mutton, can be transported long distances at low cost, and can be held in storage over long peri-

Adopting a modern system of swine sanitation helped 600 Illinois farmers raise as many pigs as usual from a third as many sows, the federal Department of Agriculture reports.

U.S. MARKET SERVICE COVERS GREAT AREA

Million Dollar Bureau Gives Free Aid to Farmers

Washington .- Every farmer in the United States has access to a milliondollar information bureau.

It is Uncle Sam's market news service operated by congressional appropriation. Daily, throughout the country, it correlates the radio, ocean cables and miles of telephone and telegraph wires in distributing quotations.

Allied with the titanic system, cooperative "listening posts," clearing ouses of information, are supervised by the bureau of agriculture economics. The newest such institution has been established in San Francisco, at request of the California Vinyardist association. It will gather data on prices, supply and distribution of grapes.

Lists Number of Carloads. The information will show the number of carloads of each variety and grade sold at different prices. Railroads will supply figures on the number of cars of each variety of grapes moved to the market. Eastern points will send supplemental reports every 25 hours on shipments received and distributed.

Similar plans for the citrus industry were discussed at a conference here between Secretary of Agriculture Jardine and Florida representatives. Georgia peach growers, and producers of other material crops in all parts of the United States may likewise avail themselves of governmental co-operation during the market season.

"These clearing houses for market nformation," economists say, "insure an even distribution of products and an even tenor in prices. By knowing where his produce is needed, the shipner is not faced with the probability of a flooded market one day and a skimped one the next. Steady flow to the market solves the problem of individual overproduction and works to a better average price for each

"Through the market news service any part of the country may know exactly how many barrels, bushels or gers. pounds of farm products are rolling to market every hour in the day and the prices offered at all terminal

The Network of Wires. "Compilation of such vast knowledge is made possible through uniform operation of 7,351 miles of government-leased telegraph wires, working 12 hours a day. More than 2,000 market reporters supply detailed information from all principal centers in the United States and abroad. Cabled information is obtained from the International institute at Rome, to which 90 countries subscribe.

"By telephone at 38 relay points and through more than 100 radio stations every individual or institution in the land interested in any manner of produce market reports has constant access to the most complete quotations in the world."

CASS CITY HIGH SCHOOL

Every boy and girl who has passed the county eighth grade examination is cordially invited to attend the Cass City High School this coming year.

Courses are offered as follows: Agriculture course, Academic course, Commercial course and Home Economics course. The Cass City High School offers extra credit in the following work: Art, Chorus, Orchestra, Debating, Public Speaking, Bible, Girls' Glee Club, Boys' Glee Club, Agricultural Project. Numerous school societies provide valuable training. Added advantages are to be had in splendid churches, the various lectures and gatherings which center in the community of Cass City.

The Cass City High School is on the University list and students graduating from here are admitted to the various colleges, universities and normal schools without examination. The Class of 1927 numbered 32, the Freshman class 75, and the Sophomore class about 70.

The total enrollment of the Cass City Schools is over 500. The high school alone has an enrollment of 210, over half of whom are non-resident pupils. Greater interest is being shown each year by the non-resident students. The number of non-resident high school pupils has been steadily increasing from about 55 in 1921 to 131 in 1926. Careful attention is given each pupil in planning his course of study and in his work throughout the year. We have a physical director for students and a dean for girls to look after their social welfare while attending school here.

Good roads make it possible for students to come long distances. Many drive to and from the school to their homes each day. Others living much farther away have been at home week ends. Provision is made at the school cafeteria for high school students to purchase lunches at cost during the winter months.

Tuition is $75.00 per year. The home district must pay $60.00 of this amount per year if application for tuition has been made to the director of the home district.

The principal and superintendent will be in the high school office Saturday, Sept. 3, to aid those who wish to arrange their course of study. School opens Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Ann Arbor-Not a single permit has been issued to a student of the University of Michigan to operate an automobile during the coming school year, administrative officials announced here. The majority of applicants for permission to drive a car, after stating their reasons verbally, have not even been permitted to fill out an application blank. A comparatively few have been allowed to file written applications.

Lansing-The department of state refused to accept a second group of petitions seeking to force the threecent gasoline tax law to a referendum in November, 1928. The precedent the Detroit Automobile club filed more than 40,000 signatures some time ago was followed. The secre tary of state simply acknowledged the arrival of the petitions. Most of the signatures on the new petitions, which were in excess of 32,000 were from Detroit. Others were from Jackson, Kalamazoo, Flint and Hillsdale

Over a period of two years Duvall has experimented with different methods and has found that buckwheat, planted as a cover crop, has driven the cutworm from his peach orchard.

Kalamazoo-A living chess game with human chessmen will be a feature of the National Chess tournament which will be held in this city August 25 to September 6. Thirtytwo people each attired in a dress typical of a chess piece will take their place on a huge chess board. They will be moved under instruction from Samuel Rexhevsky, 16-year-old chess prodigy, and Samuel Factor, champion of Illinois.

Port Huron-One hundred and five years old, Jeremiah King, of this city, believes he has seen enough of the world and does not care especially to live any longer. He is able to walk about his home here with the aid of a pair of canes. Following a custom She was the forty-fifth person to die for a young feller," he said. "The radio is an invention of the devil." he asserts, and he has no use for it. Holland-William Stellema, a fruit dealer, made a novel investment in a local bank, by which his male descendents will benefit 500 years hence. He deposited $1.00 accompanied with instructions that the accumulative compound interest cannot be distributed until the year 2427. Then those of his descendents who are living in Michigan will receive 75 per cent and 25 per cent will go to those living in other states. fore any distribution is made $50,000 is to go to hospital work.

Lansing—The Michigan conservation department has found out how to tell the age of fish—something that even experienced anglers have not known. Fish of the same family and age are invariably the same size, and thus statisticians have been able to fix fish age upon fish length. Trout are the same size during the first year, be they brook, brown or rainbow. At three months they are an inch and a half long. At six months they are three inches long. At a year they are again doubled in length.

Alba-Rather than join the Michigan Crop Improvement Association against its wishes, the Michigan Potato Producers' Association, pioneer of the certified seed potato industry, has broken off relations with the inspection department of Michigan State College and has set up its own inspection service. Dr. John Bushnell, plant pathologist at Ohio State University, is supervising field inspections. Strained relations developed two years ago following the transfer of the inspection and certification services to the Michigan Crop Improvement Association. Mt. Clemens-Recently more than 100 persons saw the newly-drilled oil well on the Mary Roset farm five miles northeast of the city "shot" with 60 quarts of nitroglycerine send ing a stream of oil, rock and water more than 85 feet in the air. The shooting marked the St. Clair Oi company's first effort to establish a producing oil well in Macomb county and was a marked success, petroleum experts said. The well will produce between 40 and 50 barrels a day they said. Oil was reported standing in the hole to a depth of 250 feet.

FIND INDIAN GRAVES UNDER LARGE MOUND

Archeologists Study Burial Pyramid in Ohio.

Columbus, Ohio.—A large Indian mound near Bainbridge, Ohio, is being sliced like a loaf of bread by ex-30 Indian burials and a complicated internal structure. What appears to be an elongate earthen pyramid is buried under the external surface of the so-called Seip mound. Seen from the outside the mound looked merely like a great rounded heap of earth, 240 feet long, 150 feet wide and 30 feet high.

Covers Indian Burials.

The basis of the mound is a lower mound, shorter and narrower than the covering structure, rounded on top and covered with a layer of gravel. Presumably this lower mound was for ceremonial purposes, for under it are found the Indian burials. Covering this inner mound is a mass of earth with steeply sloping sides, like the roof of a house or a long pyramid, and over this in turn there is another mass of earth noticeably different from the "pyramid" in color and texture, which gives the outer mound its final rounded shape.

Over this again is a layer of river gravel, thin at the top and thicker at the sides and held in place at the bottom by a wall of large stone slabs. All this great hill of earth was toilsomely built, many centuries ago, by Indians whose only way of carrying materials was in baskets on their backs or heads.

Research Students at Work.

The peculiar and puzzling structure of this mound has been disclosed only by the methodical system pursued in opening it. The work is being done under the direction of Dr. H. C. Shetrone of the Ohio State Archeological and Historical society. He has a gang of workmen and dirt-handling machinery at his disposal, in addition to a group of research students to do the more exact work.

Every cubic foot of earth in the mound is being moved. He is cutting off the mound slice by slice, examining everything he finds as he goes. Before snow flies he expects to cut his last slice. Then he will put the mound back into as nearly its original form as is practicable.

To date he has sliced off a little more than half the mound, and has uncovered about 30 Indian burials. Almost all of them are just above ground level, under the inner mound. A few are three or four feet higher. These were important chiefs, judging by the burial gifts found with them, which included great strings of rivermussel pearls in addition to the usual stone, bone and pottery offerings, and ornaments and weapons of copper.

Mr. Hood has found in his experiments longer, and that after a summer of rains a considerable percentage of the arsenic will still be there, ready to do business with any caterpillar foolish enough to chew up the leaf to which it adheres.

Linseed oil is even more efficient in this way than is fish oil, but it costs so much more that the fish oil is recommended as the economic happy

An Adjustable Steering Column to Suit Your Convenience

Buick for 1928 is extremely thoughtful of feminine comfort. One indication of this consideration is Buick's new steering column, which may be adjusted to the most comfortable position for women, as well as men.

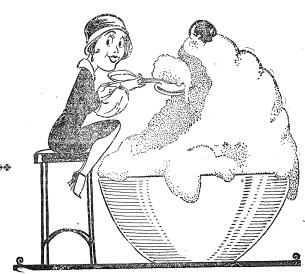

And in addition, Buick for 1928 has a new steering wheel —slender to fit feminine fingers—yet deep and solid to provide the firm grip men demand.

Buick for 1928 pleases women because it is easier to drive -because it is more comfortable to ride in-and because it is the acknowledged style-leader among motor cars. That's why you see so many Buicks at fashionable gatherings and on the smartest boulevards.

Sacco and Vanzetti Execution Marked by Many Riots by Radicals.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

E VERY means of saving their lives having failed, Sacco and Vanzetti, the Massachusetts anarchists convicted of murder, were executed in the state prison at Charlestown. Madeiros, the Portuguese murderer, went to his death in the electric chair at the same time. Thus, so far as the agencies of justice are concerned, ends this sevenyear incident that has caused such a rumpus in America and throughout the world. But the radicals and sentimentalists who assert that the execution was a judicial murder propose to keep the case alive indefinitely. They announce plans for raising a fund to create a memorial to the two men and to endow Mrs. Sacco and her children, and an organization that will undertake to establish the innocence of the "victims" and to expose the alleged conspiracy that sent them to their death. The bodies of the men were cremated, and the ashes of Vanzetti, it is planned, will be exhibited in various European cities.

Immediately before and after the execution there were violent demonstrations in many cities here and abroad, though those in the United States were efficiently handled by the police. The radicals in Paris were especially active, staging several riots in which they fought the police and shops. Scores were injured and the besieged the American embassy but it was adequately guarded. Leaders of the French Reds loudly proclaimed that the meeting of the American Legion in Paris would be ruined, but these threats are in the main disregarded. Other riots, carefully prepared in advance, were put on in London. Leipzig, Amsterdam, Lisbon, Warsaw, Brussels, and Geneva. In Johannesburg, South Africa, an American flag was burned on the steps of the town hall. Peaceful demonstrations were made in Berlin and Sydney.

It is probable that a vast majority of Americans, convinced that justice, long delayed, was done in the Sacco-Vanzetti case, are tired of reading about it.

PAUL R. REDFERN started in the plane "Port of Brunswick" from Brunswick, Ga., for a nonstop flight to Rio De Janeiro, Brazil. If he makes the 4,600-mile trip successfully, he will have established a new record for nonstop flights.

H OPE of finding the five lost transpacific aviators and their two would-be rescuers, Captain Erwin and A. H. Eichwaldt, who went out in the plane Dallas Spirit to aid in the was virtually abandoned, though the vessels of the navy may keep up the hunt for some time yet. The sea between San Francisco and Hawaii was scoured for any sign of the missing flyers but no trace was found. During the week there was a report that a flare had been seen on the slopes of Mauna Kea and it was considered possible that either the plane carrying Pedlar, Knope and Miss Doran or that carrying Frost and Scott had swung south of its course and crashed on the mountain. Therefore, searching parties were started out, but at this writing no word of their success has come. As for Erwin and Eichwaldt, their location at the time they sent their SOS as they went into a tailspin is known approximately, and boats that were hurried there found not even an oil spot.

DRESIDENT AND MRS. COOLIDGE spent the week in the Yellowstone National park, viewing its many wonders and thoroughly enjoying themselves despite the swarms of tourists that made the trip too much of a public event to suit the Chief Executive. Both Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge tried the trout fishing on Lake Yellowstone, and both were eminently successful in hooking the speckled beauties.

SECRETARY OF COMMERCE HOOVER, returning to Washington, declined to comment on his reported Presidential candidacy. On his behalf it was stated that he was giving thought only to the duties of his office. His friends denied that he had authorized anyone to form an organization to campaign for delegates to the Republican national convention. It was specifically denied that W. Ward Smith, former secretary to Nathan L. Miller, former governor of New York and now counsel for the United States Steel corporation, was authorized to do anything in Mr. Hoover's behalf. Mr. Smith and Mr. Miller were both active in promoting a boom for Mr. Hoover for President at the time of the 1920 Republican convention. Vice President Dawes, in a letter to Douglas T. Atkinson of Cincinnati, judge advocate of the Young America Union, secret nonsectarian political organization, relating to the possibility that he might run for President, said: "I am not a candidate for the nomination."

Minneapolis has notified the Republican national committee that it is a contender for the 1928 convention, and that it has a fine new auditorium and ample hotel accommodations. Whether or not Minneapolis is ready to make a financial guarantee was not indicated. San Francisco thus far is the only city which has come forward with the necessary $250,000 guarantee.

D URING Japanese naval maneuvers of the port of Maizura the cruiser Jintzo collided with and sank the destroyer Warabi in the night. Ninety troops, barricaded streets and looted | men and petty officers and 12 officers of the destroyer's company were property damage was large. The mob drowned. About the same time the cruiser Naka collided with the destroyer Ashi, cutting through her afterpart, which resulted in the loss of 27 other men. The Naka was not seriously damaged and proceeded to port after temporary repairs, but the Ashi was towed in.

This was the second disaster in the Japanese navy in August. On the first day of the month 38 men were killed and 47 wounded when a mine exploded on the deck of the minelayer Tokiwa. The explosion occurred while the vessel was engaged in maneuvers off Kiushiu island.

A CCORDING to the Washington Post, the State department has learned from trustworthy sources that Great Britain and Japan came to a mutually satisfactory secret understanding regarding future naval supremacy when it finally became apparent the United States would not accept the British program at the recent Geneva conference. The gist of the secret understanding has not been divulged, the newspaper adds, declaring that it is doubtful if much definite information on its contents is available to the officials of the American government.

 $M_{
m AYOR}$  "JIMMY" WALKER of New York, touring European countries, was something of a joke in Great Britain, but when he reached Germany there were complications. These developed from the refusal of the hotel where he was stopping in Berlin to fly the German republic flag alongside the American flag when a banquet was given him, as he had requested. The owners and managers of all the big hotels had promised the American club that they would show the flag of the German republic and then reneged because they feared their established clientele, made up largely of monarchists, would object. The city administration immediately declared that all officials must boycott those hotels, and republicans throughout the country took up the issue.

CHARLIE CHAPLIN'S divorce case is ended, so far as the film comedian is concerned. After the long months of bickering and recrimination, an agreement was reached and Mrs. Chaplin was granted a divorce decree and the custody of the children. The grounds were "mental cruelty," and Chaplin put on no defense, though four of his attorneys addressed the court in his behalf, for the apparent purpose of winning public sympathy. Chaplin agreed to pay to his wife $625,000, and to establish a trust fund of $200,000 for the children, the principal to go to them when the youngest is thirty-five years old. W. I. Gilbert and Herman Spitzel, receivers, who handled the property of Chaplin and defendant movie corporations during the divorce negotiations presented a bill for services to the court and were awarded $45,000. Counsel for both Chaplins protested and Lita's lawyers obtained a 15-day stay on the order for payment of fees.

It was most beautifully situated. It was just off the woods, and the trees skirted the shore.

The Fairy Queen had suggested that, as it/had grown so much warmer and as the lake looked so absolutely lovely, there could be nothing nicer than to take a sail on it.

All of the fairies thought that it would be delightful, too.

The Fairy Queen said they would start on their trip at three o'clock, for it would be so much nicer to go when it was sunny.

Then they could see the beautiful reflections on the water and the At three all the fairies were ready.

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to pracical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Comfort and rest are to be found on a wide, screened front porch, such as is shown on the home building plan illustrated here, that make the home a most attractive place. This porch extends the width of the building and is about 10 feet deep, large enough to accommodate the whole family and

Use of Short-Length

Lumber Is Advocated ers would result if quantity surveyors, around the lake, then up and down architects, engineers and other specifying consumers would take advantage of the recommendations of the nasaid Axel H. Oxholm, director of the committee, at the annual convention of the National Association of Quantity Surveyors in Washington. These professional groups, Mr. Oxholm said, should carry into practice the use of short lengths of lumber less than eight feet, now offered at a discount of from 10 to 40 per cent compared with the cost of longer lengths and may be used in many instances without sacrificing good construction.

The committee, of which Secretary Hoover is chairman, is composed of 100 leading producers, distributors and consumers of forest products. A series of reports in regard to efficient utilization of wood has been published by the committee for the purpose of enabling a closer utilization of the standing timber. At present, Mr. Oxholm explained, only about one-third of the tree is converted into marketable products. This low utilization percentage is the greatest obstacle to the perpetuation of our forest resources on a commercial scale.

Good Lumber Necessary

for Good Construction When building a home it is more secure and more economical to buy a trade-marked brand of lumber manufactured by a reliable firm. No matter how good the workmanship, if an inferior brand of material is used the result will be disappointing.

There are many frame homes standing today that were built when the United States was confined to the East coast.

This, with the fact that lumber now is prepared much more scientifically than formerly, indicates the homes built soundly today will last much longer than those of the past.

We decorate the four sides of our cooms with colorful papers, paints and fabrics. We put care and thought into the selection of our rugs, but we never cast a single idea toward the cetting! Why shouldn't the ceiling be attrac-

Build Garage Large

Enough for Big Car Automobile owners find frequently when they dispose of their first cars and secure new and larger ones that the garage space available is inadequate: in such case either an addition must be built to the old garage or an entirely new building erected at considerable expense.

For a single-car garage a minimum inside width of 12 feet is desirable and a two-car garage 20 or 22 feet. For garages of the multi-car or community types, a width of not less than 10 feet should be allowed for each car. If permanent partitions are erected between stalls, a width of 12 feet is recommended.

A length of less than 20 feet is seldom advisable, and for larger cars 22 to 24 feet is not too much. These dimensions allow plenty of working space around the car and provide a room for a small workbench, closets and shelves for car accessories. The convenience of the extra space is worth many times the slight additional cost of building the garage 2 or 4 feet longer.

The overall length of various types and makes of automobiles varies greatly from the Ford, which measures about 12 feet 3 inches with front and rear bumpers, to the Pierce-Arrow seven-passenger touring model, which measures 17 feet 4 inches, and the Cadillac seven-passenger touring model with an extreme length of 17 feet 6 inches, bumper-equipped.

About Floors

Flooring of imperfect manufacture is likely to warp or develop cracks; it does not give the dependable service you expect from your floor and the very best workman cannot make its appearance all that is desired by the builder. Home builders should be sure that the lumber they buy will require a minimum of carpenter work of plan ing, sawing and sorting.

Built-In Garage

A built-in garage should have a floor of concrete. Nothing in the way of substitute should be considered and it should be so laid that every portion will drain readily. This will prevent the accumulation of oil deposits which might catch fire. Walls and ceiling should be of materials which will stand the "one-hour fire test."
