Locals Meet Vassar Eleven Here Today

Cass City high school opened its official season for the 1927 foot ball year with a 6-0 defeat at the hands of the veteran Croswell combination. Failure to accept three scoring chances in the first quarter of play cost Cass City the victory. In the opening quarter, Cass City held the ball three times on Croswell's 10-yard line, but lacked the punch to get the ball over for the score. A place kick by Brown from the 20-yard line failed by inches because of the strong wind.

The unsuccessful three tries in the first quarter appeared to dishearten the green Cass City crew and they failed to threaten again during the afternoon.

Croswell scored in the last two minutes of play on a blocked punt Bros. 13-4-1. that left the ball on the locals oneyard line. The line held for two downs and Croswell plunged through for the necessary yard on the third attempt. The kick for point after touchdown was blocked.

The locals open the home season Friday (today) with the unbeaten Vassar eleven.

Permanent streets are a good investment—not an expense

Don't Let Your Community Make the Same Mistake

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their highways at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars.

In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for saving, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new streets—of permanent construction.

There are communities, however, which know the cheapest is always the best. Many of these also lailt streets several years ago. And they built for permanence with concrete.

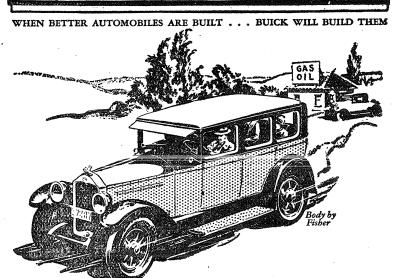

Those concrete streets, built in accordance with approved standards of highway construction, are in as good condition today as when they were built.

Which of these communities will yours be?

You Need Never Change Your Oil if You Own a Buick-

Last year Buick said: "Change your oil only four times a year." Buick tests at that time had shown that oil changes would never be necessary, with the Oil Filter to remove impurities, and the Crankcase Ventilator to prevent oil dilution.

Now, more than a year has passed, and Buick owners in every section of the world-under every climatic condition—have also proved that you never need change your oil if you own a Buick —replenishment and inspection of the Buick Oil Filter only are required.

Will you, Mr. Consumer, be on Easy Street with your coal in your cellar, or, when it is time to start the furnace, will you have to hustle around and get what coal Think over these reasons why it is to your advantage to buy your coal now.

1. Price is lower now—may be higher during the winter. 2. Easy to secure now—may be hard to get later on.

Enough coal cannot be mined each month in winter to supply each month's demand and the Union coal miners' strike has cut down the usual surplus stock.

"Think it over seriously."

Standards for Honey Attracting Attention

Will Aid the Beekeepers in Grading Their Product.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
All exhibits of honey at the Ohio state fair this year will be judged according to the United States standards for honey as given in the United States Department of Agriculture Circular 410-C, "U. S. Standards for Such demonstrations of the use of the United States standards for honey, says James I. Hambleton of the division of bee culture investigations, will not only aid beekeepers in the work of grading their honey but will also give the public an opportunity to learn something of the work that is being done in standardizing food products. Only through grading to uniform standards is it possible for the constant. sion of bee culture investigations, will standards is it possible for the consumer to know, when he buys honey or any other food product supposed to be of a certain quality, that he is getting that quality.

In addition to the grading rules, the circular contains much other information on grading and packing honey. The circular will be sent free on request to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. Members of the Pan-American Conerence on Standardization, which met at Washington during the Third Pan-American Commercial conference early in May, visited the exhibit and ference on Standardization, which met at Washington during the Third Pan-American Commercial conference early in May, visited the exhibit and demonstration of the United States standard grades for honey prepared by the division of bee culture investigations, in collaboration with the bureau of agricultural economics, of the United States Department of Agriculture. This work was shown in connection with the exhibit of the bureau of agricultural economics in the new standardization building.

Much interest was manifested in this exhibit as a means of facilitating export and import trade in honey and as a basis for international standardization, as standard honey graders used in this work are now located in Berlin and London as well as in the export ports of the United States. Standard graders are also in use in New Zealand.

Killing Potato Beetles

by Using Poison Spray Potato beetles multiply with such rapidity that the loss of a few days' time in getting at them with a spray may mean thousands to kill instead of tens. In view of this every grower should be prepared with spray materials to hold this pest in check. The following are well known and approved fermulas for this purpose:

Arsenate of lead one pound to 50 gallons water. Powdered arsenate of lead one pound, paris green one pound, hydrated lime one pound, and 50 gallons water. Calcium arsenate one pound, to 50 gallons water. Paris pound, and 50 gallons water.

The difference between sprayed and unsprayed potatoes is generally the difference between a good crop and no crop.

Good Pasture Grass to Help Milk Production Good pasture grass holds a place in the list of delicacies for dairy cows which no other feed can quite fill. It does have a wonderfully stimulating effect on milk production after a cow has gone through the winter on dry feed alone. However, the ability of grass to produce milk is generally overestimated, and a cow cannot maintain a heavy flow of milk on grass alone. Grass, and especially early grass, contains a high per cent of water and it is a physical impossibility for a cow to eat enough to supply nutrients for more than 25 to 30 pounds of milk a day. Our Anniversary

We've been in the grocery business in Cass City just one year. The time has passed quickly and pleasantly with us. We have endeavored to stock our shelves with goods that give satisfaction in every particular and within the reach of the average man's pocketbook. Our efforts have been rewarded by a patronage that we appreciate and we take this opportunity to express our thanks to our friends and customers.

A few pennies in themselves don't make much of a saving, but when you multiply them by the number of grocery items needed for your table-h-m-m, that's worth thinking about isn't it? Here are some thought provokers for in millinery this season. Which assures the return of the handmade hat. In responding to this "something different" challenge an amazing resourcefulness of cunning handcraft is being displayed by the creator of the "hat beautiful." Not only is the modern designer expected to qualify as expert in needlecraft, but the cunning of such unique crafts as scissor-art, hand-painting, pyrography and a thousand and one other "tricks of the trade" are being brought into

Concerning this new and fascinating scissor-art, few are the felt hats which escape its fascination. Instead of waning in popularity, cut-out designing is constantly recording new tri-

Together with cut-out patterning, one associates the new decorative applique trimmings, for they are closely allied. The newest hats show either contrasting colors of felt used together or else felt and velvet in unison. In the collection of fall models in this picture both felt-with-felt and velvet-with-felt are glorified with the intricacies of scissor artistry. Motifs cut from velvet are applied to a black felt toque in the instance of the first model shown. Which brings to mind the fact of the importance of the small black hat this season. Both cut-out and applique are resorted to in the creation of the blackwith-white felt hat shown at the top

The hat of beige felt centered in the group introduces an elaborate cutout band underfaced with brown satin. To the left is a model distinguished with a conspicuous tiara flange, which also emphasizes the new scissor-art treatment. It is characteristic of the mode for tight-fitting toques to adopt novel flanges such as this.

A clever combination of black and white felt is registered in the concluding number in the illustration. It seems that black and white effects are receiving continued indorsement by both modistes and couturiers in JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

John Wanamaker Said:

"It semes to me that retail advertising is a very simple matter in these times, when the newspaper goes into every home in the land. I believe that the retail merchant who fails to advertise, fails in his duty to his customers. The public has a right to know what a merchant is doing: it has a right to know what sort of goods he has in his establishment, and what kind of service he renders, and what the conditions of his service are. It has a right to know when he receives new goods, and has a right to know what the new goods are like.

"No merchant nowadays ought to expect the public to give him its patronage unless he comes out frankly and tells the public what reasons he has to expect its patronage. And he ought to do this in the daily newspapers—or the weekly newspaper if there is no daily in his town. That's the way for him to stand fair and square with the people whom he expects to come in and buy his goods.

"Let his advertisement be the truthful news of what he is doing and let him print it in the newspaper, where news belongs, and then he will be playing fair with the public and deserving of its confidence."
