Considering Its High Resale Value The PONTIAC SIX Actually Costs You Less To Own and Drive

Even if the Pontiac Six did not command the high resale prices that it does, it would still enjoy the reputation of being a "wonderful buy"... for it is the only car combining the advantages of superior six-cylinder per-formance and the luxuries of a Fisher body at a price of $745 . . . But with a high resale price which reduces the net cost of ownership, a Pontiac Six is actually more economical to own and drive . . . This is a direct result of definite planning to design a low-price six that would win approval on the sound principles of genuine, long lived, inexpensive owner satisfaction . . . That is why used car buyers are willing to pay more for the Pontiac Six when the original owner is ready to replace it ... Come in -get a ride - and let us give you the facts.

New lower prices on all body types (Effective July 15th): Coupe, $745; Sport Roadster $745; Sport Cabriolet, $795; Lundau Sedan, $845; De Luxe Landau Sedan, $825. The New Oakland All-American Six, $1045 to $1265. All prices at factory. Delivered prices include minimum handling charges. Easy to pay on the General Motors Time Payment Plan.

DRAMA OF GOLD RUSH REVEALED

President's Pardon of Vuco Perovich Bares Story of Strange Life.

Kansas City, Mo.-When President Coolidge granted absolute freedom to Vuco Perovich the other day he ended a drama of the gold rush which reads almost like fiction. Behind bars 21 years and in the shadow of the gallows, Perovich's spectacular battle for liberty was ended by the Executive pardon. He has not been bitter over the misfortune Fate has heaped upon him. And now, at forty years of age, owner of two barber shops in Rochester, he sees a happy future. Some day he will visit his fatherland, Montenegro, where his father was a nobleman.

He was released from the federal prison November 6, 1926, by Judge John C. Pullock, of the Kansas Federal court, on a writ of habeas corpus. His plea was unusual; he asked freedom or death. If his plea had been allowed he would have been taken back to Alaska and hanged according to a court decree there.

His argument was based on his declared innocence of a murder for which he was convicted. The murder was in 1904. At that time he could not speak English. It was his contention that death would be preferable to an innocent man than a cruel imprisonment.

Judge Pollock held with him, ruling the President of the United States in 1909, William Howard Taft, had no right to commute the death sentence imposed on Perovich by the Alaskan court without the consent of the accused. In his decision, however, Judge Pollock declared justice would not be served by sending Perovich to the gallows after he had served twenty-one years in jail and prison. That point was not decided.

President Taft was asked to commute sentence after Perovich had been in jail four years. He did this by Executive order. Perovich was taken to the federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., to pass the rest of his life. There the young nobleman studied American laws and customs, mastering both language and law. He came across the legal point which proved to be the sesame for his recent release.

He applied to the court and George McDermott, a Kansas lawyer, was appointed to represent him. Then came the presentation of facts in the case. Strangely, time had shifted characters in this drama so that former President Taft was now chief justice of the United States and was called upon to pass upon the legality of his own Executive order that saved Perovich from the gallows. Last May the court held against Judge Pollock, and Mc-Dermott and Perovich shaped their application for a pardon from President Early Life Was One of Ease. Few of the romantic novels ever written about imaginary principalities in Europe are dotted with stranger and more unusual circumstances than have entered into Perovich's life. His father was chief justice in Montenegro and a friend of King Nicholas. His mother was of the royal family.

As a child Perovich played with the royal children and no expense was spared in his education. At fifteen he could speak eight Slavic dialects and Spanish, French and Italian. A few years later Russia and Turkey became involved in one of the Balkan wars and he enlisted in the Russian army. The youngest officer in the army, he was decorated for bravery and commissioned a lieutenant. When war was over he desired to join a brother who had come to America. Reports of gold in Alaska also attracted him and finally he obtained permission to come.

In Alaska he met an American prospector named Sam. Perovich could only speak a few words of English. They found a claim from which they took $14,000 worth of gold. Then went to Fairbanks, Alaska, to buy machinery so they could take out gold in greater quantities.

One day while Perovich was standing in the door of a saloon in Fairbanks his partner came staggering to him, wounded and bleeding.

"Our claim has been jumped," Sam muttered.

Perovich said recently he hurried back to their cabin and found three men there. He asked for his clothes and other belongings. Answering, the men, drew knives and started to attack him. He was six feet tall, weighed 205 pounds and was toughened by months of hard labor. Seizing a huge board, he fought them off and finally obtained his clothes.

A few days later he was arrested on a charge of assault. He was given to understand an assault charge meant little in Alaska

Accused of a Murder.

While he was in jail pending the outcome of the assault charge, he declares the three men accused him of the murder of an old prospector at a wood chopper's camp to which Perowich had moved after the fight. These witnesses, he declared, produced clothing said to have belonged to the old man and accused Perovich of having threatened to kill the old prospector. The cabin in which the prospector lived was burned and the accusers charged Perovich had murdered him and had burned the cabin to conceal

all about he was charged with murder. The members of the jury were quick to believe the accusers. It was charged in the prosecution that Perovich's lack of knowledge of English was only a pretense and that accusation prejudiced the jury against him. He was convicted. Then the question arose in the minds of those who | Monument at Springfield reviewed the case that the testimony of the three men might have been prejudiced.

After President Taft commuted his sentence, Perovich became one of the lost legion in the Alaskan gold rush. He heard of his brother who had made a fortune in Alaska and was returning to Montenegro to be married. Perovich refused his brother's offer to forego his marriage and spend his fortune to obtain freedom. His brother went to Europe and never re- here. turned, abandoning the case as hopeless after receiving the decisions of the courts.

Released on the habeas corpus plea, Perovich went to Rochester and bought a barber shop with a small initial payment. Before long he had paid for it, and purchased another. Now he has the latter shop cleared and owns a motor car.

Besides his brother who amassed wealth in Alaska, Perovich had three other brothers. They were killed in the World war. Their widows, with eight children, are living in Minnesota. Virtually all the money Perovich earned from special work while he acted as prison interpreter was sent to the widows to support the children. His lawyer estimated that he had sent them almost $2,000.

Leaping Scribe Lures Bear to Death in Pit

Rock Springs, Wyo.-With an eye to detail acquired in a newspaper office, Robert S. Wilson, Rock Springs newsapper man, recently told a bear story that makes all other similar tales appear no more exciting than crop reports.

And since he had no eyewitnesses Wilson silenced scoffers with steak from the bear he caught inadvertently with the aid of his feet and one of Wyoming's canyons.

Wilson's bear epic started when he covered his typewriter and went to the nearby mountain for a day of peaceful fishing.

He hardly had cast his first fly, Wilson said, when the bear sauntered up. He looked hungry, Wilson added. So Wilson, remembering how he had evaded the left tackle when he was a football star at the University of Wyoming years ago, took to his heels. The bear gave chase. Wilson kent just ahead of the animal's teeth for about a mile, more or less. Ahead loomed a small canyon approximately 100 feet deep. Wilson couldn't stop. Momentum and the bear wouldn't let him. So he leaped and landed safely on the other side.

The bear couldn't stop either. But he wasn't so lucky as Wilson. He landed with a crash at the bottom of the chasm.

The bear's carcass, except for the steaks Wilson cut from its flanks, was left at the place where it fell.

Magpies Know When

Poison Is in Food

Del Norte, Colo.—It has been observed that after a spell of poisoning magpies there follows a period of robbing, death-dealing birds are killed. This has raised the question in the mind of Extension Agent T. G. Stewart of Rio Grande county: "Do magpies forget?

For a time at the beginning of the campaign, magpies take arsenic readily. Then there is a period of abstinence, followed by a renewal of results. Stewart believes that another flock of magpies coming from a new locality where news of the arsenic has not reached are responsible for the renewal of deaths. Those versed in bird lore, however, say the new victims probably are members of the old flock who have forgotten the fate of the other birds, and pay with their lives for this slip of memory. The United States biological survey has declared war on the devastating magpie family.

Tears Are Disinfectants London.-Dr. Alexander Fleming of St. Mary's hospital in London has discovered that tears are a splendid disinfectant. One single tear will at once kill millions of microbes if put together in a basin.

Bellefonte, Pa.-A chipmunk, weighing scarcely half a pound, thwarted the plans of foresters near here to witness a battle royal between a rattler and a black snake.

Capturing a rattlesnake 41/2 feet long the foresters decided to hold it until a black snaketraditional enemy of the rattler -could be found.

Unable to locate a black snake. the foresters placed a chipmunk in the rattler's den to provide the reptile with a meal. The chipmunk had other plans and, taking the aggressive, literally bit the snake in two. The chipmunk was bitten during the struggle and died of the poison from the rattler's fangs, but not until it had lived to see its enemy die.

with Beacon for Aviators Is Suggested

Springfield, Ill.—A Lincoln tomb and monument 500 feet high, to be surmounted with a powerful searchlight which would serve as a beacon for aviators in Illinois, has been suggested in a carefully worked out plan by Herbert Wells Fay, custodian of Harbor Beach were dinner guests at the Lincoln tomb and monument

Fay's plan would put to an end a charge that the state has been unappreciative of its great statesman as far as building a suitable memorial for him is concerned.

Fay asserts that the present memorial is sadly in need of repairs and visible for 20 miles, to serve as the in extension work. air traffic beacon. Statue 200 Feet High.

Fay's carefully worked out scheme calls for a competition between architects for a gigantic statue of the emancipator 200 feet in height mounted on a base 300 feet high. The structure would be surmounted by a powerful searchlight to make it visible, at night, especially to air pilots.

The grounds owned by the state, totaling nine acres, are adequate for such a monument, according to Fay, Around the base it would be possible to build a memorial hall to match the proportions of the monument and accommodate Lincoln memorials.

The present tomb and monument were erected in 1874 at a cost of $350,-000. The memorial at Washington completed a few years ago cost nearly Fay, in presenting his suggestion, declares that 400 people visit Lincoln's shrine daily whereas five years ago the number each week hardly equaled that. Last year 150,000 tourists signed the register at the tomb, whereas in 1920 but 30,000 signatures were attached. It is claimed that recent works on the life of Lincoln, coupled with a general increase in tourist travel in the Middle West, accounts for the increase. Outlines His Plan.

Fay, in describing his plan for the monument and memorial, says:

"Make three circles of rooms. On the outer wall arrange to record the principal events in Lincoln's life, especially from the cradle until he went to Washington. In frames on the walls and in show cases put pictures of every spot he ever visited, letters and speeches he wrote, things he said, day. stories he told, friends, documents and surveys he made. A systematic arrangement of all these would give a patriotic thrill to every visitor, American or foreign.

In this exhibit could be shown a copy of every letter, speech, survey or document he made in chronological order. Pictures of every person mentioned and place visited could be shown. There could be shown all publications about Lincoln, authors of books, photos of the scenes and everyabout three weeks when none of the thing. Make it answer every question asked about Lincoln. Have every county of the state represented.

"In the center circle reproduce his birthplace, probably exact size, showing its surroundings. Build in miniature the contour of the country and make it show all the places he frequented in Kentucky.

"Then in the next room faithfully reproduce the Indiana home and vicinity. In adjoining rooms of the center circle show a miniature of the Decatur home of Thomas Lincoln, the Coles county home, and reproduce the New Salem log cabin village. One room could be devoted to the Black Hawk war, showing the contour of each county traveled.

"Rooms could be set aside showing Vandalia, the campaign for congress, Lincoln-Douglas debates, battles of the Civil war, the assassination and funeral. Another room could be set aside to the Lincoln memorials erected in his honor.

"The inner circle of rooms next to the base of the statue could be devoted to a display of paintings of Lincoln, scenes of his life depicted in sculpture and photographs."

Blow Torch Enlisted

in War on Fruit Pest Lansing, Mich.-The state orchard and nursery inspection department has adopted a new method of roguing diseased raspberry plants. The inspectors are using a specially designed oil-burning blow torch to kill the plants.

Use of the torch has resulted from discoveries by Michigan State college entomologists that the germs of such virus diseases as mosaic, curl, streak and wilt are carried from diseased plants to healthy stock by aphids. Under the old method of roguing with grub hoes, it was observed that the aphids fell to the ground and migrated to healthy plants. By using the torch to kill the plant before removal the state inspectors also are killing the insects before they have an opportunity to migrate to healthy plants.

E. C. Manderberg, chief of the inspection service, advises growers to have their raspberry plantations inspected by the state, which employs trained men to do the work.

AS your new coat a touch of white fur somewhere about it? If not, why not, especially since the mode is giving every encouragement to the lavish use of white furs this season.

When Paris stylists decreed black for the fashionable coat, either fur, cloth or velvet, they also specified that it be collared and cuffed with white fox, ermine or some other equally as flattering fur.

A model which tallies to fashion's demand for black with white is a coat of black caracul with a shawl collar and matching cuffs of white fox. At the many fur shows held at the beginning of the season, a surprising number of sealskin coats were enhanced with either "Johnny" or "Queen Anne" or shawl collars of white ermine—which all goes to show the popularity of white furs for the coming months.

Now that the Parisienne is showing such preference for black-andwhite effects, we may be sure of its appearance on our own avenues and boulevards. At the moment great interest is being shown in the black velvet ensemble, the coat of which is collared with white fox or ermine. The newest caprice of the mode is for the collar which lengthens along

Quality Unchanged

White Star Passes to its Patrons Benefits of Reduced Production Costs of Staroline, the "Better" Gasoline

Economies in manufacture of Staroline, made possible by installation of improved equipment, coupled with tremendous increase in demand, are responsible for this substantial reduction.

Introduced eight years ago in response to an insistent cry for "better gasoline," winning instant favor as a result of its wonderful qualities, Staroline was sold initially at a premium of seven cents per gallon. As demand increased and manufacturing economies were effected, the price was reduced to five cents per gallon premium. Today the public are given the benefit of still further economies and are assured of the same high quality that has always characterized STAROLINE.

It is a basic policy with White Star Refining Company to make every White Star product the best of its type and sell it for the lowest possible price consistent with good business management.

In instituting the lowest price level at which STARO-LINE gasoline has ever been sold White Star gives its solemn pledge to the public that quality has not been sacrificed in order to reach a low selling cost.

5,6.20,000 MEMBERS GOAL OF RED CROSS ANNUAL ROLL CALL

Need of Expansion Due to Excessive Demands for Disaster Relief and Other Services.

A Red Cross membership of 5,000, 000 in the United States will be sought this year during the Eleventh Annual Roll Call, November 11 to 24, Chairman John Barton Payne announced following completion of a study of the demands which the past year made on all branches of the Red Cross organization.

He stressed particularly the increasing demands of disaster relief as pointing to the need for an increased membership to aid in carrying the growing responsibility in this field.

"For several years our membership has remained at a little more than 3,000,000 adults," he said. "We are proud of this membership. It is a body of our choice spirits, but there are many more of like spirit who should be counted in this Roll Call. We need at least 5,000,000 adult members. We are obliged to draw annually upon our reserves, and the demands upon u~ increase each year. Our Roll Call funds should meet our our reserves for the great disasters. We must have a large reserve. No one can tell when a situation may arise when this reserve will be essential to the lives of thousands.

"The Red Cross cannot wait to raise funds," Judge Payne declared. "Action prompt, instant, is its life. Instant action means the lives of many. It must be strong, it must be ready; this means a large reserve."

Total expenditures of the American Red Cross in the fiscal year to June 30 last in all fields amounted to $16,-139,348.60, of which $11,360,348.60 represented the National Organization's appropriations and $4,779,000 the cost to the Red Cross local chapters. Included in this total was a disaster relief, for which $8,216,893.31 had actually been expended to the close of the year. This does not cover expenditures which continued to be made in the Mississippi Valley flood, or in other disasters originating during the fiscal year but whose operations extended over into the current period.

Service to disabled veterans, an other outstanding demand on the organization, called for $2,930,223.86, and service to men of the Regular Army and Navy, $507,832.30. Maintenance of an enrolled Nurses' Reserve, from which the needs of disaster service and other emergencies are met, and which numbers more than 45,000 nurses totalled $45,248.83. For the Public Health Nursing program, a nation-wide activity of the Red Cross, $801,068.99 was expended. Other services contributing to health and wellbeing included instruction in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick, for which $165,380.16 was spent; Nutrition Instruction, which teaches thousands annually correct food principles in relation to health, $171,370.73 First Aid and Life Saving, a service which is actually curtailing accident and water casualties, $354,780.06; Junior Red Cross, the children's branch of Red Cross activity, and one of the most unique organizations in the world, $582,434.23,

Other Red Cross Chapter activities. including Home Service to civilians amounted to $1,220,000; while other national domestic operations required $236,147.17.

An outstanding American contribution to the rest of the world is Red Cross assistance in foreign disasters which the report shows, called for $256,962 to the end of the fiscal year Activities under the League of Red Cross Societies, Junior Red Cross foreign projects, assistance to American insular chapters, and other for eign and insular work completed the demands on the total appropriation for the year.

These expenditures were cited by Chairman Payne as emphasizing the, need for a growing membership and increased income.

Red Cross Nurses Aid In Every Great Disaster

Two major disasters, the Florida hurricane and the Mississippi flood, required the services of Red Cross nurses in large numbers over a long period of time in the past year.

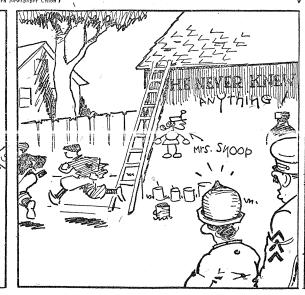

In the Florida storm, service of 350 nurses is recorded. It is estimated that about 100 others assisted in the first few days as volunteers. The total number of nurses in the Mississippi valley flood was approximately 200. In every major disaster the services of Red Cross nurses are needed, lending added importance to the enrolled reserve which now numbers more than 45,000 Red Cross nurses. These nurses are available for any emergency, though they are on duty in hospitals and in private practice. They constitute the reserve of the Army and Navy nurse corps in time of war. Besides emergency duty, Red Cross nurses assisted materially in many local services, Chapter reports to National Headquarters indicate. The Eleventh Annual Roll Call of the Red Cross, from November 11 to 24, it is pointed out, is an opportunity for everyone to become identified with the Red Cross.
