THE ONLY MOON

"I would never have to wear spectacles," said Mr. Moon, "I'm quite bright enough without them, and I can see the whole world—so you see I would never need them."
"You're right, we're sure," said the Stars, twinkling brightly.
"I shall tell you," said Mr. Moon, "about my beautiful portrait which you can see down in the water."

"I Shall Tell You," Said Mr. Moon. "Certainly," said Mr. Moon. "But first," he went on, "I must tell you what a portrait is. Now a portrait is a picture—a likeness of a person."
"But you're not a person, Mr. Moon," said the Stars.
"No, that's so, but I'm the Moon, and that's far finer. Not every one is the Moon. There is just one moon—ha, ha, ha!
"Here are plenty of people, plenty of children, plenty of animals.
"Here's no honor in being a person. Not the least scrap of honor.
"As for being the Moon—well, if you think of a higher honor, I'd like to know it.
"Who can't I have a portrait as well as a person?"
"Here is no reason why you can't," said the little Stars. They felt that they were being rather stupid and maybe in need of schooling in spite of their brightness.
But they knew there was no school in the sky unless Mr. Moon should become a professor, and as he had said, he did not need to wear spectacles.
Their idea of a professor was some one who wore spectacles.
"The portrait is down in the water, you say?" asked one of the Stars, so as to appear bright.
"Just what I said," answered Mr. Moon.
"And why don't you have it up in the sky, in your home?" asked another Star.
"Because," said Mr. Moon, "I'm too famous to keep my portrait in my home.
"I'm like a noble, important creature whose portrait they would put in a picture gallery for thousands and thousands to gaze upon.
"That's why my portrait is in the water. Here I am, up in the sky, and my portrait is down below.
"They can look at both—those people. They have a great treat."
"Yes," said another star, "that is so. But don't they call that thing that is down in the water a reflection?"
"I've heard it called that by some people, I'm sure. Or else, the Cloud Fairies have told me that."
"Some people," answered Mr. Moon slowly, "are apt to say anything. That's why you shouldn't pay attention to them.
"Now I say something. There is all the difference in the world between anything and something."
"Of course," said the Stars. "They are two different words and mean different things."
"That doesn't follow," said Mr. Moon. "Some words are different and mean the same.
"Oh, dear, how plainly I see that you are all very much in need of a schooling."
They all looked down at the reflection of the Moon in the water below, and then they looked at Mr. Moon.
"Whether that is a reflection or the portrait," said one of the Stars, "it looks very much like you, Mr. Moon."
"It certainly does."
"Of course it does," said Mr. Moon. "That's because I always go to the best photographer."
"Who do you go to?" asked the First Star of the Evening.
"The water is my photographer," said Mr. Moon, "and we always arrange for a portrait on a clear night."
"About My Beautiful Portrait."
"Has he taken me round—as I am now, and when I am in my various shapes he takes me in those various ways.
"It is something worth while to be the photographer of the Moon, the only Moon in the world.
"Yes, think of that, little Stars, I am the only, only, only Moon!"

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

M. Dennis left Thursday for Wyandotte where he will be employed. Miss Hilda O'dell spent Tuesday and Wednesday of last week in Caro. Ralph Hagadorn of Detroit was a week-end guest of Cass City friends. G. A. Tindale was a business caller in Detroit Wednesday and Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Kenney and son, Jack, were Saginaw visitors Sunday. Kenneth Wickware of Detroit was a week-end guest at the Dr. P. A. Schenk home. Miss Dorotha Wilson of Snover was the guest of Miss Dorothy Tindale Monday night. Born Tuesday morning, March 19, to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Arnot, of New Greenleaf, a son. John H. Bohnsack spent from Thursday until Saturday in Flint on business and pleasure. Miss Mary McIntyre of Columbiaville is spending the week with relatives and friends in Cass City. Mrs. Zuleika Stafford and Mrs. C. E. Hartzell were guests of Mrs. Eva Baskin at Detroit over the week-end. Mr. and Mrs. Clark Bixby were dinner guests Sunday at the home of their son, Wallace Laurie, at Gagetown.

Mrs. B. F. Benkelman, sr., who has spent several weeks with her daughter, Mrs. E. T. Ball, at Roselle, New Jersey, returned home Tuesday. She spent the week-end with friends near Buffalo. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steers of Detroit and Mrs. Bradley Mattoon of Pontiac were called to Cass City Friday morning by the serious illness of Mrs. Steer's mother, Mrs. Harvey Mattoon. Mrs. R. A. McNamee left Thursday to visit friends and relatives in Pontiac, Detroit and Ann Arbor. Mr. McNamee spent the week-end with his son at Ann Arbor and Mrs. McNamee returned home with him Monday. While in Detroit, she attended the flower show. Forty were present at the Young People's meeting at the Baptist church Sunday evening. Next Sunday at this meeting a debate will be held, "Resolved, That the Young People of Today Are Going to the Dogs." There are to be four speakers on each side. During the preaching service last Sunday evening, the Cass City high school girls' sextet gave three selections which were much enjoyed. The address by Rev. Curtis on "The Escape from Littleness" was very interesting. Among other remarks made Mr. Curtis said that the young people of today are too satisfied to occupy a small place in life while if they put their ideals higher, by a little more effort and determination, they would rise to places of higher usefulness. Next Sunday night, at 7:30, pictures of the Passion Week of Jesus will be shown. Revival services will be held during Passion Week each evening except Friday and Saturday.

Mrs. John Kitchin and daughter, Maxine, of Lansing, are spending a few weeks with relatives in and near Cass City. Mr. and Mrs. N. Mellick and daughter, Catherine, Mrs. Bay Crane and daughter, Miss Florence, were Saginaw callers Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hagadorn and children of Detroit spent Sunday and Monday morning with Mrs. Hagadorn's mother, Mrs. B. F. Gemmill. The next meeting of the Cass City Music Club will be held Wednesday, March 27, at the home of Mrs. Chas. Day. Chorus singing is the program. Miss Emily Clark of Caro was the guest of her cousin, Lucile Bailey, Sunday. Dr. C. W. Clark of Caro was a business caller in town the same day. Mrs. B. A. Elliott and son, Francis, and Mrs. Fred Jaus visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Best at Kingston. Mr. Best, who has been very ill for some time, is no better. Mrs. John Dillman entertained Mrs. Harriett Boyes and daughters, Misses Marjorie and Dorothy, and Frank Dillman at a birthday dinner Sunday in honor of the birthday of her daughter, Miss Esther. Mr. and Mrs. Warren O'Dell and Iva and Carson O'Dell spent Friday and Saturday in Saginaw. Miss Helen O'Dell returned with them and will remain here a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Edgerton spent from Thursday until Saturday with Mr. Edgerton's brother, Dr. A. C. Edgerton, at Chio and also attended the regional tournament at Flint.

CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST The Word of God This word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path.—Psalm 119: 105 BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

Christ the Light of the World. John 9:5. Jesus said: I am the light of the world. John 12:46, 47. I am come a light into the world, that whosoever believeth on me should not abide in darkness. 47. And if any man hear my words, and believe not, I judge him not: for I came not to judge the world, but to save the world. Prayer: We rejoice to know, O Lord, that in Thee there is no darkness at all.

EVERGREEN. William Kitchin came home from Pontiac on Saturday where he had been working for some time. Mr. Hudson is doing poorly at present. Farmers are busy buzzing wood these fine days. The robins and blue birds are in our midst again. Miss Olive Churchill is assisting Mrs. William Kitchin with household work. Glen Churchill moved his family to a farm near Capac last week.

Mythical Woods Hero Paul Bunyan is the mythical hero of a legend of the woods. He is a kind of super-lumberjack.
