

TWO UNION SERVICES OF LOCAL CHURCHES

Good Friday Service at Baptist Church; Mrs. Butzbach Will Speak on Sunday Evening.

Local churches will meet in two union services—one on Good Friday afternoon and the second on Sunday evening.

This (Friday) afternoon, beginning at 1:30 o'clock, short addresses will be given by pastors, using the seven sayings on the cross, at the Good Friday service at the Baptist church.

The first two which are "Father forgive them for they know not what they do" and "This day shall thou be with me in paradise" will be taken up by Rev. Paul J. Allured. The third and fourth "Woman behold thy son and "My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" by Elder Mudge. The fifth, sixth and seventh, "I thirst," "It is finished," and "Father into thy hands I commend my spirit," Rev. George Hill.

Following the addresses Rev. William Curtis will conduct open communion. Choirs from each church will furnish music.

Local stores will close from twelve until three o'clock this afternoon.

Church services on Sunday morning will feature Easter music and exercises.

On Sunday evening, Mrs. A. H. Butzbach, who has just returned from the Holy Land, will give an address at a union service at the Evangelical church. She will speak on her experiences on the trip and her impressions of the Holy Land. Musical numbers will be given by the High School Girls Sextet.

HORSESHOE PITCHERS TO ORGANIZE MONDAY

Horseshoe pitchers of Cass City and Gageton, who had barrels of enjoyment at the courts at the City Park here last season, will meet at the May & Douglas store next Monday at 7:00 p. m. to make preliminary arrangements for this spring's series of games.

John May, who is one of the promoters of the sport and an expert in hanging ringers around the peg, says that several new faces will appear to contend with the "old timers of 1928." Everyone is invited to join the ranks.

EXPRESS OFFICE GOES TO G. T. DEPOT

Commencing next month, the express business in Cass City will be transferred from its uptown office to headquarters in the Grand Trunk depot and will be under the supervision of R. A. McNamee, station agent here. This becomes effective because of the purchase of express companies' business by the railroad companies on March 1.

For several years, the express business in nearly all towns on the P., O. & N. R. R. has been handled by station masters, Cass City being one of a very few towns on this railroad branch where the express company maintained an up-town office.

Mrs. Mary M. Moore, who has been the manager of the American Express Co.'s office here for 19 years, will lose her position through this sale. G. G. Hives, superintendent, in notifying Mrs. Moore of the change says: "I take this occasion to express my appreciation of the able manner in which you have handled the express agency and it is with regret that I am obliged to make this change."

EVANGELICALS HONOR MRS. BUTZBACH TUESDAY

A social event of unusual interest in the history of the Evangelical church was the informal reception given Tuesday evening by members of that society in honor of Mrs. A. H. Butzbach of Placencia, California, who is visiting friends in Cass City this week.

The church basement had been given a home-like touch with rugs, floor lamps and potted plants and presented a pleasant scene for the occasion. Mrs. C. J. Striffler, president of the Woman's Missionary Society, presided and announced the numbers of the evening's program. Mrs. W. J. Schwelger extended the welcome to the guest of the evening with appropriate remarks and readings were given by Katherine Bailey, Gerald Kercher and Phyllis Lenzner. Musical numbers included a girls' quartet, vocal duet by Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Ricker, boys' quartet, Hawaiian guitar duo by B. A. and Leonard Elliott, piano duet by Miss Laura Jaus and Mrs. S. A. Striffler, and selections by the Sunday school orchestra.

Mrs. Butzbach, in her remarks, recalled the days of her residence in Cass City over eight years ago and sketched briefly the activities of Mr. Butzbach and herself in their missionary work in China. Rev. Butzbach resigned as pastor of the Evangelical church here on Oct. 25, 1920, to re-enter mission work. They sailed for China from Seattle, Wash., on Dec. 10 of that year.

At the conclusion of her talk, Mrs. Butzbach was presented with a beautiful bouquet of cut flowers. Pot luck refreshments were served at the close of the program which was followed by an hour of sociability.

P. T. A. PROGRAM ON MONDAY, APRIL 8

Because of the Easter vacation period, the April meeting of the Parent Teachers' Association has been postponed until Monday evening, Apr. 8.

LOCAL STUDENTS PLACE IN COMMERCIAL CONTEST

Seven Schools Enter Pupils in Typewriting and Short-hand Events.

Several commercial students of the Cass City high school were entered in three events in typewriting and shorthand at a contest for pupils of Thumb of Michigan schools held at Caro Saturday. Local students placed among the winners in all three events.

Caro students, in five events, scored 27; Sandusky, in five events, 17; Cass City, in three events, 11. Mayville's score was 7, Sebawaing 7, Unionville 3, and Vassar 3.

Because of the bad condition of the roads, Bad Axe and Crosswell schools were not represented.

The contest Saturday was of a preliminary nature and has no bearing on entries at the district contest which will be held at Midland soon. This practice contest in 1930 will be held at Cass City. It is planned to hold it in the early part of April rather than in March next spring, with the expectation that road conditions will be better at that time.

The following is a list of the winners in Saturday's events at Caro:

Event No. 1, First Year Typewriting—Marjorie Babcock, 51, Caro; Esther Tubbs, 42, Sandusky; Minnie Sutton, 36, Cass City.

Event No. 2, Second Year Typewriting—Gertrude Robinson, 50, Caro; Bernice Miller, 36, Sandusky; Beatrice Gerstein, 30, Vassar.

Event No. 4, Team Typewriting—According to Individuals—Gertrude Robinson, 49, Caro; Olga Styer, 44, Sandusky; Margaret Uhl, 38, Unionville.

According to Teams—Caro, 39.5; Cass City, 27.1; Sandusky, 26.1.

Event No. 5, First Year Shorthand—Ella Englehart, 99.4, Sebawaing; Phyllis Lenzner, 98.8, Cass City; Grace Wylie, 98.2, Cass City.

Event No. 6, Second Year Shorthand—Maud Smith, Caro; Olive Wedge, Sandusky; Arzola Haas, Mayville.

PICTURES EXPLAINED POWER FARMING

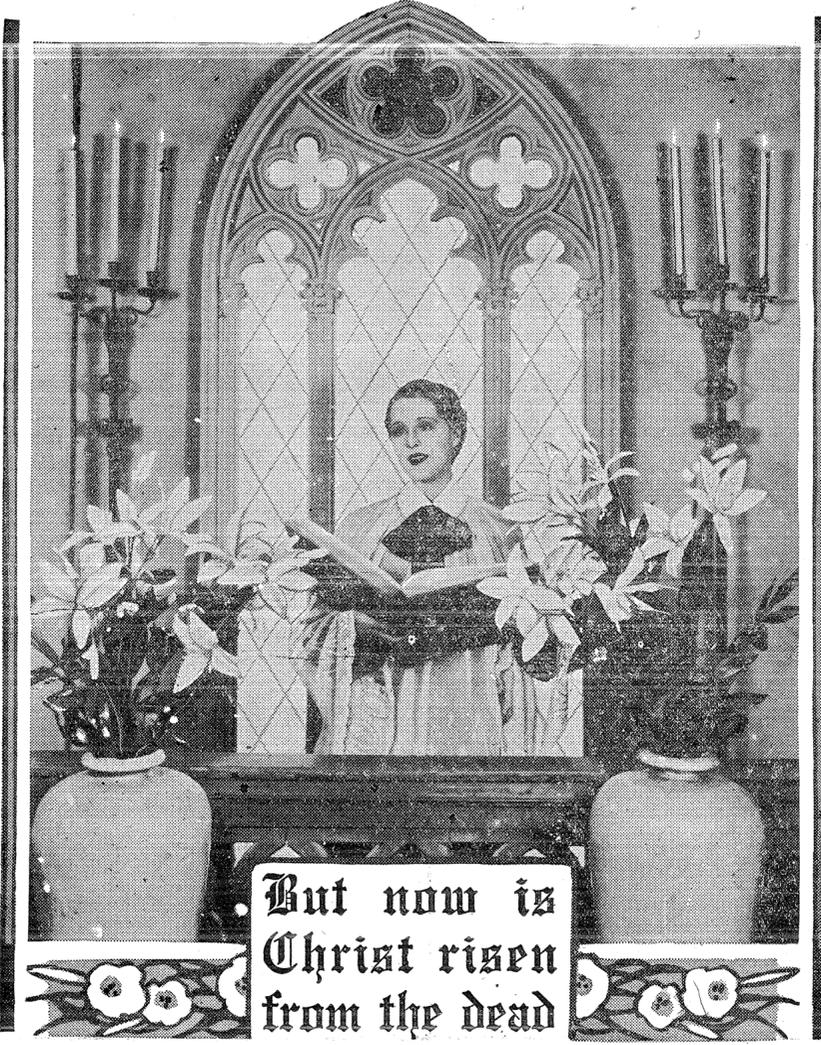

Farmers surrounding Cass City enjoyed a rare treat Thursday when they attended the John Deere demonstration at the G. A. Striffler implement store. Over 200 attended the meeting. E. E. Filkins and Lloyd Enslay of Lansing and Alan Smith of Port Huron, representatives of the John Deere Co., explained details of power farming by means of pictures. One hundred fifty were served lunch at noon consisting of sandwiches, coffee, doughnuts and maple syrup.

The east room at the store was cleared and tables, nicely decorated with flowers, were set the length of the room. Rev. P. J. Allured, a boyhood friend of one of the representatives, offered prayer. Forty were served at supper. Mrs. Striffler was assisted in the serving by Mrs. Oscar Ashe and Mrs. Leonard Bierlein of Vassar, Mrs. Lloyd Hall of Colwood, Mrs. Wm. Paul and Miss Martha Striffler of Cass City.

Notice to the Voters of Novesta Township.

The following letter from H. H. Billany, 4th Assistant Postmaster General, is to correct recent reports that acting as substitute rural carrier would disqualify Hazen Warner for the office of Township Clerk. In this letter Mr. Billany states that, "Inasmuch as a substitute rural carrier has no civil service status, the Department has no jurisdiction over his political activities. There will be no objection, therefore, to your holding a township office."—Advertisement.

THE WEEK IN THE STATE LEGISLATURE

A Resume of the Matters Which Are Claiming Attention of Solons.

Michigan Press Association,
Lansing Bureau,
March 22, 1929.

There are encouraging features this week, in that more bills are going through the legislative mill than are being introduced and that legislators are working with a more grim determination to get things done than hitherto, which augurs well for the immediate future.

Nothing very definite has as yet been done toward getting taxation and financial matters threshed out, but the committees are gradually eliminating plans which are more or less visionary. Sentiment is apparently crystallizing in both branches toward settling the vexed matter either by straight taxation or by the making of a mill tax for the hospital program, and there is little doubt that either method, if decided upon by the taxation committees and brought before the legislators would find its way to the governor's desk with the utmost possible dispatch.

The amendment and passage of the Cuthbertson bill by the Senate Thursday was marked by bitter attack on the anti-saloon league by Senator Herbert J. Rushton, who asserted vociferously that the anti-saloon league is in the same class with the bootleggers, for both are profiting by prohibition. He claimed that while the rank and file of the members of the anti-saloon league are not fanatics, its leaders are and that they are a menace to good legislation. That they have tried to intimidate the courts by threats of placing members on guard in the court rooms to pass on the rulings of judges. That they have held up and impeded legislation during the present and past sessions and that it is time their methods were frowned upon. The Senate by unanimous vote passed the Cuthbertson bill as amended, which takes liquor violations out of the mandatory life sentence class, but does not put even more teeth in other ways into liquor laws. Whether the House will concur in the Senate amendments to the bill is an open question, as the bill when it left the House still carried the mandatory life sentence for bootleggers, moonshiners and rum runners.

W. C. T. U. IS THINKING BIG TODAY

Local Union Hears Reasons for the Drive for Membership in 48 States.

A most enjoyable meeting was held Friday afternoon when the regular session of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held with Mrs. Stanley Warner. The program was in charge of Mrs. Wm. Curtis. Several very interesting talks were given.

Mrs. C. McRae, in her paper, said "We have nine magic words to help us to success—love, courage, cheerfulness, activity, compassion, friendliness, generosity, tolerance and romance."

Mrs. Proctor's paper was on "Dry Up America." She also gave some interesting facts on the life of Mabel Walker Willebrandt. Mrs. Stanley Warner's reading "Are You Holding Fast?" and Mrs. Milligan's "Continuing Need of Membership" were helpful.

Mrs. Martin McKenzie, in her reading "Selling Membership," said: "Sometimes people ask why does the W. C. T. U. keep on getting new members? Why do people keep right on buying cars? Because auto cars wear out, and some don't function very well, and some have to be turned back and traded for a new car. It is just as reasonable to keep right on selling membership in the W. C. T. U. Some members wear out, some never function very well, and some have to be turned back because they are not willing to sacrifice. If we did not keep up a membership campaign right along, the organization would soon die."

"Think Big" was the subject taken up by Mrs. Curtis. Mr. Ford was asked one time what advice he would give to a young man who wished to know how to succeed. The characteristic reply of Mr. Ford was this: "It pays to think big. It is just as easy to plow 1,000 acres as one—with a machine, and that's the way to do it nowadays. Nothing is particularly hard if you subdivide it in small jobs. That's the way we do our work and that is the easy way to do it." The Woman's Christian Temperance Union is thinking big today. A great membership drive is on in 48 states and they are thinking big as they count on many thousands of new members.

The meeting closed by singing "Till We Meet Again."

JEWELS AND PRECIOUS STONES WILL BE STUDIED

At the next meeting of the Woman's Study Club, jewels and precious stones will be studied. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. F. E. Kelsey with the following program: Hand-made Jewelry—Mrs. Wood. Precious Stones—Mrs. Hart. English Quiz—Mrs. S. G. Benkelman. Critic—Mrs. Wilsey.

"THE ADVENTURES OF GRANDPA" NEXT

Proceeds of Home Talent Play to Be Applied on Stage Equipment and Curtain.

On Friday evening, April 5, at 8:15 o'clock, the curtain will go up on what promises to be a very entertaining comedy. Under the auspices of the alumni of the Cass City schools, work has been going on for the past two weeks in preparation for it, and "The Adventures of Grandpa" has every prospect of playing before a full auditorium, from the reports of the advance sale of tickets. The proceeds of the production are to go towards completing payment on the curtain and stage equipment which were installed in the high school auditorium as a gift of the alumni.

The various persons composing the cast are:

Otis Hammerhead, "Grandpa"
M. B. Auten
"Monty" Ray, Grandpa's grandson
Morley Smith
Tod Hunter, a young dancing master
Warren Wood
Lucy Hunter, our little wife
Margaret Wallace
Dorothy May, just out of college
Kathryn Hunt
Mrs. Pansy Hopscotch, fair, fat and forty
Helen Kelly
Marie Ribeau, the girl from Paris
Barbara Taylor
McCormack, who sees his duty and does it
Andrew Bigelow
Kloomy, 12 days from Copenhagen
Bertha West

All of the cast were picked because of their talent and success in previous plays or because of their adaptability for certain parts.

Many will recall M. B. Auten when he starred in the "Flapper Grandmother" last year. Morley Smith, Kathryn Hunt, Helen Kelly and Barbara Taylor have appeared in high school plays and have gone over big.

One should see Andrew Bigelow strut his stuff as the policeman and Bertha West walk and talk like a "Copenhagener." Margaret Wallace fills her part very well as a sweet, demure, little wife. Perhaps her training at home has helped her a great deal. Warren Wood, acting as a young married man, fills the bill so well that one would not hesitate to give him a splendid recommendation.

Tickets are on sale at several of the business places in town, and are also being sold by individuals in the surrounding community outside of town, as well as by the school children. Reserved seats will go on sale Monday morning, April 1st, at Wood's Drug Store.

By winning the championship Frances McGregor, 12, a student of the McGregor school No. 4 fractional of Bridgehampton township is the champion speller of Sanilac county, and Marie Bisnack, 12, a student of the Linwood school, Delaware No. 8 is runner up as the result of the county-wide spelling contest sponsored by Harry C. Smith, school commissioner, at the court house last Friday.

Both girls won honors in the hard contest, which revolved itself into an endurance contest, with the contestants writing over 1,400 words with few rest periods during nine hours of writing.

By winning the championship Frances McGregor, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William McGregor, won $5 in gold, and a silver cup trophy awarded by the school commissioner. Marie Bisnack won $2.50 in gold.

It was a disheartening defeat for the runner up. After writing continuously for over eight hours, the strain proved too much for Marie. As contestant after contestant was eliminated finally only the two winners remained. The pronouncer gave the word "humor." Marie misunderstood it to be "human," and spelled that word. Thus she failed, but with glory.

Little Marion Walker, 10 years old of the McLeish school in Marlette township was among the last to go down. Marion was 10 years old the day of the contest, and she was nine years old when she won the right to compete in the final contest by winning the township championship.

The contest was declared the most successful ever held here. More than 2,000 words were included in the list. The school commissioner also awarded each township champion with a silver cup trophy. Township champions were determined earlier, and only the township winner and runner up were eligible to enter the finals.

Following are the various township champions and runners-up, the name of the township champion being the first one printed in each paragraph: Argyle—Arlene Munn, winner; Merle Morgan, runner-up.

Austin—Clara Hund; Ethel Darling. Bridgehampton—Francis McGregor; Naomi McGregor.

Buel—Alfred Smith; Rachel Sutton.

AN EASTER THOUGHT.

In the main the advancing nations of the world have always accepted the Christian belief, that Jesus Christ, following his crucifixion, appeared in some kind of form to his disciples, and gave a demonstration that there is a life beyond.

While some philosophers and scientists reject that view, still the inmost truths of life are not always discovered by philosophers and scientists. Some are apprehended by spiritual consciousness only. We may not be able to prove scientifically that our friends love us, but we know by a thousand looks and glances and demonstrations of affection, that they do. We have to learn the olive of God for humanity in much the same way, and we do not go to the philosophers and ask them to prove it to us.

The faith in the genuineness of the Easter tradition has made a vast difference in the world. The communities that have accepted it and modeled their lives and institutions upon it to some extent, have been good places to live in. Human nature is still so faulty, that no community comes anywhere near the ideal standard set by Jesus. But where the Christian gospel has been accepted and adhered to even in part, social conditions have been immeasurably improved, life has become safer and more protected, education has advanced, charity and philanthropy have become common. And the countries and localities where this Christian gospel has not been accepted, still lag behind, and most of them are abodes of darkness, superstition and terror. There must be some power in a religion that so transforms life wherever it is given a chance to manifest its vitality.

So let us cast aside our doubts and fears on Easter day, and give our joyful assent to a form of faith that is steadily lifting humanity to a higher level.

RISING FROM DISASTER.

The most pitiful thing about such a disaster as the flood that has just swept through a number of towns in the southern states, particularly Elba, Alabama, is the destruction of human hopes which such a catastrophe involves. Relief measures are quite efficient nowadays, and people are always willing to give generously to such a calamity. But such a sweep of destruction means that many people who for years have been working and toiling and struggling for certain ends, are frustrated and defeated, and some never recover from the blow of it.

People who had been working to pay for their little homes or furniture see these swept away or ruined. Merchants who had been struggling to build up a business, see their stocks wrecked. In many cases such losses are total, and the savings and effort of years are swept away in a few hours.

In an oriental country people would say that it was fate, and they would lie down discouraged after such a blow. It has the same effect on some of our own people. After they have struggled for years to attain a certain end, and were making a little progress toward attaining that end, it seems almost unbearable all at once to see that purpose thwarted and baffled, and made more remote than ever before.

But fortunately the majority of our people are not thus constituted. They do not know when they are licked. If they are knocked down, they pick themselves up, rub off the dust and the dirt, save what pieces are left, and then go on.

The sympathy of the country goes out to these sufferers from this and similar disasters. Contributions should be generously offered to those in need, and people who have a chance to throw business favors in the way of these suffering communities, should be glad to see that opportunity of helpfulness.

Forest Conservation

Most countries of Europe have rigid tree cutting and replanting laws in force. These govern the ruthless-cutting of trees for firewood on the farmers' woodlots as well as on the large forest areas.

Michigan Happenings

A radio hook-up between the Detroit Police Department's broadcasting station, and all State Police posts in the Lower Peninsula, is being planned by Oscar G. Olander, commissioner of public safety, at Lansing, to make life difficult for the criminal in Michigan. Mr. Olander's plan is to equip his posts with receiving sets with a fixed wave length, which would keep them turned in permanently on the Detroit station. This would put the State Police in immediate possession of all information as to major crimes committed in Detroit.

Michigan took another step forward in the care of those afflicted with tuberculosis when Governor Fred W. Green officially dedicated the recently completed $400,000 State Sanatorium, three miles south of Howell. The new structure, which is three stories high, fireproof throughout, contains 239 beds. It is built in the center of a 272-acre State-owned farm on a hill, said to be the highest above sea level in lower Michigan. Physicians declare it to be "the most modern and complete tuberculosis hospital in the United States."

Plans for release of more than 300 prisoners on temporary parole from the Michigan State Reformatory at Ionia so they can work in the road camps have been started by Warden Charles Shean. This would give the institution needed relief from the overcrowded conditions there. The men would be distributed about that section, 200 going to Orleans for work on M-42 and M-43 pavements. Sixty will be at Muir, on M-21, paving, and another 60 at Lowell, on the Lowell-Ada stretch.

Lloyd E. Schutt, of Jackson, 33 years old, owes his life to the inquisitiveness of his wife, and quick work by police. One morning he entered his garage to start his car. While inside the garage door blew shut and he was overcome by the fumes of carbon monoxide gas. Because he did not drive out when she expected, the wife investigated and found him unconscious on the floor. Police were summoned and rushed Schutt to the hospital, where he was revived.

In a resolution stating that "it becomes increasingly evident that there is little prospect for any early relief of congested conditions in the institutions," the state hospital commission recommended at its meeting in Traverse City recently, that superintendents of the Pontiac, Kalamazoo, Newberry and Traverse City hospitals for the insane accept no more patients except to fill vacancies created by death, parole or discharge.

Theodore Woodliss, caretaker of the Cabin Lake Hunting Reserve, near West Branch, believes that the only good lynx cat is a dead one, and to prove that he lives up to this he tracked one of these game killers through the reserve recently and ended its days with a rifle shot. Bay lynx, wildcats or lynx cats, all the same breed, are not numerous in Michigan, but where they do range small game is bound to disappear.

A line of 85 years spent entirely on two farms within five miles of each other, was closed at Mt. Clemens with the death of Mrs. Mandana Wood, widow of Ira Wood, of Davis. Mrs. Wood was born on the Werner farm, 18 miles northwest of Mt. Clemens, and when she was married moved to the place where she lived at the time of her death. It is believed that she never traveled outside of Macomb county. Wood died in 1901.

Gov. Fred W. Green recently reappointed the entire teachers' retirement fund board, cast out of office by the unintentional repeal of the retirement fund act in 1927. The legislation recently was re-enacted. The board consists of Cora M. Riggs, of Grand Rapids; J. B. Edmondson, of Ann Arbor; T. J. Knapp, of Highland Park; Mrs. Nellie B. Chisholm, of Muskegon, and E. C. Warriner, of Mt. Pleasant.

H. C. Calkins, Sturgis automobile distributor, has confessed, according to the police, that he and F. C. Cleveland blew up the Nottawa Garage, at Nottawa, 10 miles north of Sturgis, to collect $3,000 insurance. Calkins said, according to the police, that he and Cleveland left Sturgis, ostensibly for Detroit, to provide an alibi, and then doubled back to Nottawa.

The body of Oxel Anderson, 40-year-old farmer who resided between Kent City and Sparta, was found hanging in his barn by his wife.

Homer C. Murphy of the state conservation department has ordered an immediate clean-up of the Muskegon oil field to prevent lake and stream pollution, harm to fish in nearby lakes, to migratory birds and to the water supply of North Muskegon.

Nailing a note to his barn door telling where his body might be found, Homer Wilcox, Allegan farmer, hanged himself in a shed. The note told of ill health and loss of earning power.

The smallest dictionary in the world, is the claim which E. W. Hamilton of Saginaw makes for the little Volume which he wears on his hand in a tiny box attached to a ring. It would rest comfortably on a two-cent postage stamp. The little book is one inch long and three-fourths of an inch wide. It contains 384 pages. Hamilton became the owner of the dictionary without knowing it, for he bought the volume sight unseen, as a wrapped package in an auction sale of unclaimed baggage there. He paid $5 for it.

For the first time in seven weeks Lewis Sweet, known as the lost fisherman, made a successful attempt at walking in his room in Petoskey Hospital, where he has been since his harrowing experience on a drifting ice floe into Lake Michigan January 22. He walked despite the fact that his toes were all amputated near the foot due to their frozen condition. The fingers on his right hand were all taken off below the big joint while the members of his left hand suffered the same loss with the exception that his index finger was saved.

Bidding for couches may be spirited at future rummage sales held in churches at Marquette. Here's the reason: A North Marquette woman recently bid $9 for an old fashioned bed couch at a church sale. It was taken home, and kept several weeks. Then it was given to a daughter for use in her home. When delivered, and opened for inspection, the couch revealed a stocking containing $700 in gold, silver and paper money. The daughter, however, gave all the money, except $100, to her mother.

Free hotel rooms and meals will be given all army, navy and marine aviators who use the Cadillac municipal airport. The chamber of commerce has set aside a fund for that purpose and all hotel accommodations for military air men will be paid from this money. The airport embraces an entire section. Most of it was given to the city by W. L. Saunders, local lumberman, while 44 acres has been leased to the city by the Pennsylvania railroad for a dollar a year.

Opening prices at Grand Rapids on maple syrup and sugar of the 1929 run are slightly lower than quotations at the beginning of the season a year ago. The first maple sugar of the season sold at 40 cents a pound, compared with 50 cents a year ago, while first sales of maple syrup in the country were made at $2.75 a gallon compared with $3 a year ago. The lower quotations reflect the carryover of 1928 syrup and the prospect of a long production this year.

Rev. Rex O. Holman, of Owosso, pastor of the First Congregational church has proposed to his congregation that early morning services be held for those who wish to spend their Sundays on the golf links, or motor-ing. He said that any hour they agreed on, even though it be 4 o'clock would suit him. He proposed that the members come in their outing attire, spend from 20 minutes to half an hour in worship and then go on to their Sunday recreation.

Approval has been given by the interstate commerce commission at Washington, to the acquisition by the Michigan Bell telephone company of the properties of the Leslie Home Telephone company, in Ingham and Jackson counties. Members of the legislature at Lansing have taken steps to legalize the eating of Thanksgiving dinners. In amending the law relating to holidays to eliminate primary election days, the senate discovered that Thanksgiving day was set apart as a day of "fasting, prayer and thanksgiving." An amendment by Senator Seymour H. Person of Lansing, was adopted to change the word "fasting" to "feasting."

A muskellunge weighing 31 pounds, measuring 52 inches in length, was taken recently in Lake St. Clair, three miles off shore, by Charles Trost, of Mt. Clemens. As muskellunge run this is a sizable specimen and proves that the tiger of the water still is to be found in the southern waters of the state. The fish was speared through the ice and was lured to the kill by a 15-inch wooden sucker minnow.

Navigation for the 1929 season was opened officially at St. Joseph recently when the steamship Wisconsin left the central docks of the Goodrich company. The Easter Sun (An Old Irish Legend.)

Oh! Well do we remember The pretty story told! How Easter's sun, in splendor, When night was backward rolled, Would dance with joy and gladness At its rising, to proclaim Christ's triumph over darkness, And lost heaven to reclaim. With what eager expectation We look for that bright day! With what holy exultation Night and morning did we pray That good children He might make us, That God's will on earth be done, And while angels filed the chorus We might dance like Easter's sun. Light was our sleep the night before, No need for mother's call, No rapping on the bedroom door To awake us one and all, Through sleep our dreams were all on high, And when that sleep was done, With joy we scanned the eastern sky To see the dancing sun. O, holy, sweet delusion, So inspiring and so mild, So fit as a conclusion To the rapture of a child, To fill his heart with feelings Holy, tender, pure and bright, That in all his earthly dealings He may dance in heaven's sight.

Easter Day at Dawn in California

Have you ever been in California at Easter time? At Easter time, when the poppies begin to flash their brilliant yellow across the uplands and foothills? When the orange groves wait their perfumes into the face of snow-capped Baldy? If you haven't been so fortunate, you must miss this sight before you leave for the heavenly places. And if you have, you will recall the thrill of the early hour on the road out toward Rubidoux, cross-crowned or down along the Santa Monica palisades, out Hollywood way, or to the Rose Bowl, walled in by the hills of God—the hour before the East "grows gold and overflows the world." Just to join the throngs afoot or in automobiles is to get the thrill of expectancy that comes from the borders of the unknown, a writer in the Los Angeles Times asserts.

Everywhere spring is on the earth. Back yonder, from whence many of us came, the snow is still lying in the little gullies along the hills, or under the trees where the sun is shut out. The trees are burgeoning everywhere; the wild geese fly north, and the birds are busy about their nesting. It's apple-blossom time here, and orange-blossom time yonder. The farmer trudges in his furrow, here he rides his tractor; the smell of fresh-turned earth is in our nostrils; spring has returned once more. And the God of the Outdoors is again touching up the colors of the earth.

Wait for Word of Hope. We may not read the secrets of the hearts of men even by studying their faces. Sometimes, yes; for in a sense the face is the playground of the soul, and often a light shines through the thin folds of the fleshy vesture. But oftener, no. Yet we may be sure that many a heart is anxiously trudging towards the horizon, facing the frontier of eternity this Easter-tide; looking up out of some fearful bereavement, hoping for comfort and expecting light. These multitudes are out on the trails this Easter day to catch some token of life's meaning, to hear some word of hope, to feel some impulse that will justify their tremulous expectancy.

Day dawns like thunder, they tell us in Mandalay, but in California the sunrise is a sunburst, and beats upon our senses like drums, as does the meadowlark with its buoyant song. Man has never felt quite at home in the earth: "The day comes in upon wings of mystery, and sometimes departs with a glory that makes the heart ache, we know not why. The mountains are sacraments of power beyond our understanding . . . the stars are lamps that light an endless pathway."

Paradise Always Upheld. Yet, for all this sense of mystery and wonder, man is a blithe pilgrim and goes on stout-heartedly through the fogs and shadows, picking his course carefully along the precipices of life and among the graves new-made from dawn to dawn, feeling the sense of a Friendly Presence in all the awe-inspiring wildness of the land. And in his heart beats the instinct for the horizon and for adventure. He refuses to be intimidated, or to believe that life ends in eclipse. He has never passed this way before; the road is full of surprises and strangeness and often the trail is broken and steep, but he is sure that when he turns the next shoulder of the mountain, or the next, or the next, he will find Paradise stretching before him in all its glory.

He is going "west," and he has been a long time traveling, and the road has taken him across more than one riverford, over more than one desert stretch, beyond one frontier after another; but this Easter day his fellow-pilgrims, their laughter and their talk, and the spirit of the day, make his heart fairly burst with hope.

Symbolical of New Day. That young Roman, Mark, the scholar, years after the first memorable Easter day in Jerusalem, looking back, recalled that it was just at the hour of sun-up, as day began to dawn, that he and his friends first went to the sepulcher of Jesus. The farther that fact receded into the past, the more it seemed to him symbolical—the rising of the sun, a token to him of the new day that dawned then for humanity. In Russia, on Easter day, the moujiks greet each other with a holy kiss, and jubilantly proclaim, "Christ is risen today!" Faust heard the bells ringing on Easter morning, and the will to live arose in his heart once more. That is the ministry of Easter day.

Mistaken Idea. "A lofty mind I, well," said Hi Ho, the sage of Chinatown. "It is not found in one who goes among his fellow men carrying his head too high." —Washington Star.

In Northland. At Grunberg, in Germany, in the same parallel of latitude as Newfoundland land, are the most northern vineyards in the world.

Fish Has Speed. The sailfish, "greyhound of the seas," is credited with a speed of 60 miles an hour.

Easter's Message the Antithesis of Death

Perhaps a crucifixion, a destroying of some hopes is necessary, in order that Easter may be indeed a reality. There was a world of meaning in the statement "and ye now therefore have sorrow!"

To how many sad-eyed mourners will this Easter bring comfort and hope! To how many broken-hearted travelers along the way of life should it speak of a new, higher, better day, just about to break, as certain to break, as spring to follow winter, to the man who hopes and dares, and "keeps a stiff upper lip." So long as life lasts the brave man is never beaten. Life means effort. Without that, it is really death in life, an anomalous thing. Even though seemingly unsuccessful, effort is well repaid to a man's own soul, for success wears many forms, and sometimes comes disguised as failure.

Easter is the encouragement of effort, of courage, of daring, of hope, because it is the antithesis of death. The only death now worth fearing, is the passing of honor, of faith, of the joy of doing, of the blessedness of feeling the glory of life.

Good to Remember. Endeavor to be patient in bearing with the defects and infirmities of others of what sort soever they may be, for that theyself also hath many failings which must be borne with by others.—Thomas a Kempis.

Long Day and Night. In the northern parts of Lapland unbroken daylight and darkness last from two to three months each; through the greater part of the country the sun does not rise in midwinter nor set in midsummer.

Several other dogs on farms near Gageton are being kept securely tied by their owners awaiting developments.

EARLIEST HATCHED CHICKS ARE BEST

Reports from poultrymen in Colorado show that the tendency to earlier hatching is gaining a foothold among successful breeders. Early-hatched chicks make better winter layers, they have found, and the rapid development in the early-hatched chick results in more economical production of broilers.

The cold weather of this season of the year seems to give much greater development in a short period of time, while those that are hatched late and grow during the warm weather are slower in their development. Cold weather seems to retard the sexual development, thus holding back egg production until warmer weather, according to observations of Charles N. Keen of the poultry department at the Colorado Agricultural college.

If pullets are raised from late-hatched eggs and pushed for production, they attain a sexual maturity before the body maturity is attained. Then the first eggs produced will be small and continue so until body maturity is completed.

In the case of light breeds, such as Leghorns and Anconas, these small birds which have been forced break down under heavy production and go into a winter neck molt and often a full molt. With the larger breeds there may be less of this trouble with the late-hatched birds, but they are harder to force into laying. It takes approximately five months to mature a Leghorn or Ancona pullet and approximately seven months to mature Rhode Island Reds, Rocks, Wyandottes and other birds of the larger breeds. They should be laying not later than November 1 and not earlier than September 1 for best results.

Mash Essential Part of Ration for Layers

The mash is an essential part of the hen's diet, for she cannot make eggs economically from grains alone. In the mash should be included some of the common by-products such as wheat bran, middlings and gluten feed. These feeds are palatable and furnish relatively cheap vegetable protein.

The hen must be supplied with enough animal protein either included in the mash or fed in addition to it. Some of the more common home supplies of animal protein may consist of skim milk, buttermilk or some form of waste meat and, in the summer, insects that the hen can find on the range.

Repeated tests at the Wisconsin and other experiment stations have shown that hens cannot find the necessary amount of animal protein on the range to make profitable egg production possible. Even in the summer unless the hens have all the milk they can drink it will pay to have some additional animal protein in the mash. In the winter the hen will not drink enough milk to supply her needs and some addition should be made.

Ventilation of Poultry House Is Big Problem

The ventilation of the poultry house is a much discussed problem and many times local conditions are responsible for troubles. Sometimes the location of the house is such as to interfere with the usual results. However, if the walls of the house become damp last year it is an indication of too little fresh air. There are two methods of ventilation which are quite common. One is the use of muslin frames which may be closed at night and opened during the day. In houses 14 to 16 feet deep one should have one square foot of cloth frames for every foot the house is long. Deeper houses require more while narrow houses require less. Even with muslin frames one must not be persuaded to close them too tightly as this may result in too little ventilation at night. Their use requires discretion as does any other plan for ventilation.

Grist Screenings

Published Every Friday

Vol. 4. March 29, 1929. No. 33.

Published in the interest of the People of Cass City and vicinity by the Elkland Roller Mills Roy Taylor, Editor

We learn with great regret that a certain business man in this town went to sleep in church on Sunday evening. The ushers should be instructed to look after a case like that. Just as an experiment we would recommend a lath with a nail in the end of it.

You are sure of good healthy chicks to start with if you order your chicks of us. That's that.

He—"You say you don't know what love is?" She—"Why of course I do. It's the tenth word in a telegram."

The longer we handle Cow Chow, the more we are sold on it.

Do you know that more money is spent in the United States for face paint than for house paint, and that men eat more candy than women?

We sell "Laura" coal because we believe it is what most of you folks want. How about it?

Jinks: Have you heard the latest Scotch joke?

Binks: No, I've been out of the office for half an hour.

We never know just which way to turn when we hear a boy coming behind us on a wagon. Do you?

Everyday Heroes: The wife who, when there are fresh peaches for dinner, doesn't remind everyone that "peach stains won't come out."

We sell the Buckeye and Newtown brooder stoves, mash feeders, fountains and wafers for all makes of brooder stoves.

Everyday Heroes: The husband who took down the storm windows the first time his wife asked him.

Whether you buy your baby chicks here or hatch them yourself, you should by all means feed them on Startena and Baby Chick Chow. The cheapest feed in the long run.

Visitor (at insane asylum): I say, old man is that clock right?

Trusty: Well, it couldn't be right or it wouldn't be here.

It costs about one cent more per chick to feed Startena and Baby Chick Chow for the first six weeks than to feed uncertain (or so called just as good) mixtures. Startena is cheap chick insurance. More people realize this every year.

Chilled chicks never made any money for anybody. A Buckeye or Newtown brooder will keep chicks warm and dry.

Let us have that order for baby chicks early and get delivery at the time you want them.

Does it pay to advertise? We know it does. Last week we mentioned in Grist Screenings that Chas. Henderson had an incubator for sale. This machine was sold 3 days before the paper came out. What better could one expect than that?

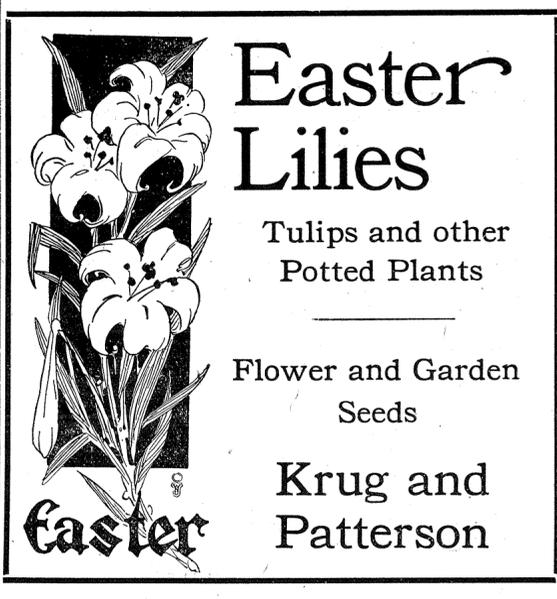

Cream of Wheat may cost a little more than ordinary flour but it is worth more.

Cow Chow and Bulky Las fed according to directions will lower the cost of producing milk. We know this and you can prove it.

Calf Chow makes a fresh cow valuable quicker. And it means healthy calves too. You can feed Calf Chow for about one-half the cost of whole milk.

Order those chicks early.

POULTRY FACTS

EARLY HATCHING MEETING FAVOR

Breeders Find Chicks Make Better Winter Layers.

The official results of laying tests recently concluded show that early-hatched chicks of the heavier breeds make the best winter layers. Rhode Island Red pullets which were hatched in March gave a winter egg production of 42.35 eggs. April-hatched pullets gave a winter production of 35.40 eggs and May pullets gave a production of 22.50 eggs.

The profit in producing eggs comes largely from producing them at a season of the year when they are highest in price. This means that we must plan to produce eggs during the winter months. The experiment referred to shows that, with the general-purpose breeds, the early hatched chicks are the ones which mature in time to start laying in the latter part of October and continue throughout the winter.

Many people have failed to raise early chicks for the reason that they have trouble with leg weakness and brooder troubles. The leg weakness can be largely overcome by the ration advocated by the Wisconsin experiment station as the result of their experiments in overcoming this trouble. This was reported at an earlier date but for those who overlooked it we are repeating the formula which they suggest: eighty pounds ground yellow corn, twenty pounds wheat middlings, five pounds ground raw bone, five pounds pearl grit and one pound of common salt. Skim milk is used freely but no water is furnished. Infertile eggs or cod liver oil is added in limited quantities if the chicks do not have access to sunlight.

The first experiment quoted shows that April pullets produced a fairly good quantity of eggs. This is undoubtedly on account of the fact that they were well grown. This is a fact that the producer who has late-hatched chicks should take into account. Oftentimes April-hatched pullets which are well fed will mature before March pullets that are stunted and poorly grown.

Crop-Bound of Fowls Caused by Rough Feed

"Crop-bound" is caused by eating food too large to pass through the gullet from the crop, to the proventriculus or true stomach. Chicks become crop-bound if fed whole wheat when too young. The wheat swells and becomes too large to pass out of the crop. Coarse feed with an excess of crude fiber often causes this condition. The paralysis of the muscles of the crop is another cause. This occurs in cases of cholera.

Sometimes the contents can be removed by drenching the fowl, then kneading the crop and holding by the feet head down and working the contents out by the mouth. In severe cases an operation is necessary. Remove the feathers, make a slit through the outer skin, spread apart, then make an incision in the crop and remove the contents; then sew up the crop, then the outer skin. The crop membrane and skin should be sewed separately.

Pullets Require Green Feed When Confined

When the pullets are penned and set to their work task of egg laying, their need for succulent green feed must be met, say the poultry specialists of the Ohio university. Succulent green feed provided for the pullets for the first few weeks after they are housed will keep them in good physical condition. Rape, green clover, and alfalfa are satisfactory for this purpose. If no succulent green feed is available, the poultrymen recommend a dose of Epsom salts for the birds soon after housing. One pound of the salts for each 100 birds should be dissolved in their drinking water, and no other water should be given until that containing the salts has been consumed.

Care of Pullets

Poultrymen who buy pullets at this season should have facilities for properly housing the birds and ranging them separate from old hens. The pullets will be unfamiliar with their new location and possibly changed rations, and every day that they go underfed means a day or more of egg production lost during the winter. It may be possible to learn the ration used by the former owner and make changes gradually to the rations you are using.

Hens Need Mash

Don't get the idea that because it is cold that your hens do not need anything but corn. Corn is all right and has its place in the menu, but if you want eggs, and also to get your hens in good condition for hatching they must have something besides corn. Give them a good egg mash and it will be better if it is fed moist and warm, once a day—better still if it is fermented for 24 hours with yeast. Do not feed all they want. Make them clean it up.

"We Serve Michigan"
The Motorist Will Stop for the Signal Light at the Street Intersection Where He Will Not Slow Down for Oncoming Train

IT is one of the strange experiences of railroads in dealing with traffic at the highway crossing that a large number of motor vehicle drivers are indifferent to all danger.

IT is an anomaly of this situation that the motorist will stop for the red light at the street intersection, where he will give no heed whatever to the signal at the railroad crossing on the highway.

DANGER lurks around the corner in both places.

BEHIND the automatic signal at the street intersection there is generally the police officer and the police ordinance with its inevitable fine to back its message.

BEHIND the automatic signal or the crossing watchman there usually is no such force of law, but there may be injury or death.

THE Motorist, through some perversity in make-up, stops at the Street Intersection for the Signal Light which indicates possible peril or a police court fine, where he often will not be awed by the oncoming train with its infinitely greater danger in the event of a mishap.

TOO often this certain type of motorist seems to set a higher value on his pocketbook than on his life.

THE American railroads are doing everything within their power to prevent casualties at the crossings.

THE American railroads have not the money to eliminate all of the grade crossings, for this would involve $20,000,000 additional investment.

ELIMINATION of crossings would not be necessary, if the motorist and others were made to take reasonable care in crossing railroad tracks at grade.

PUBLIC authorities, including the Police, State Troopers, and Village Marshals—as well as the Newspapers—should take an aggressive interest in any policy that makes for obedience to the railroad crossing signal.

NEWSPAPERS should constantly impress upon all the importance of observing signal indications.

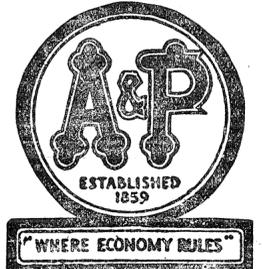

THE caution so given by public authority—or the warning so sounded by the newspapers—may save a life—or many lives.

AFTER all the saving of a citizen's life alone pays a big return on the good work so done, whether the result arises from individual or co-operative action.

Sure Way to Stop Coughing

This Prescription Relieves Almost Instantly.

Coughing is usually due to causes which patent medicines and cough syrups do not reach. However, Thoxine, a famous doctor's prescription relieves coughing with the very first swallow. It works on an entirely different theory, has a double action, relieves the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause.

THE WEEK IN THE STATE LEGISLATURE

Concluded from first page. The members for the Harnly bill legalizing the reading of the Bible in the public schools, which has been a matter of much controversy and of public hearings.

Printers will have to watch their step pretty carefully if a bill introduced by Rep. Fred Wade of Saugatuck goes through. This is a bill providing for uniform text books and contains a provision for printing the books at the state prison.

Rep. Milton Palmer of Detroit has introduced a bill in accord with Governor Green's proposal for consolidation or merging of counties in the state. This would give counties opportunity to merge if they so desire, the object being to cut down county expenses.

The House Monday night passed the Darin bill providing for the retirement of supreme court judges at the age of 70, at half pay, but provides that they may be called upon for extra service. At the same session a bill was passed raising the salaries of judges of the supreme court from $10,000 per year to $12,000. The bill was given immediate effect, so that the judges elected this spring may have the benefit of the increase, but the other members will have to struggle along on the present salary, as no raise in pay can take effect during the current term for which a judge is elected.

Rep. Feighner's bill permitting county agricultural societies to start condemnation proceedings for acquiring additional land for fair purposes was snowed under by a vote of 35 to 26 in the House Monday evening.

Automobile drivers' licenses must be renewed each three years under the provisions of the Howell bill which passed the Senate and now comes to the House for action. The licenses would be issued by the department of public safety, where mental and physical tests will be made.

The Darin proposition for appointment of a judicial council to study rules and practice of judicial procedure has passed the House. The council would make annual reports on methods of improvement. The council would be comprised of one supreme court justice, one circuit judge, one probate judge, a member of the faculty of the University law school, the attorney-general or one of his assistants, and three members of the state bar association.

Representative Fisher sponsors a bill providing for an appropriation of $400,000 for the construction of a new state psychopathic hospital at Ann Arbor.

The proposition to exempt fraternity and sorority houses at state colleges from taxation was ditched by the general taxation committee of the House, which voted to postpone consideration indefinitely.

Wednesday afternoon, following adjournment, many of the legislators went to Howell to assist in the dedication of the first unit of the new tuberculosis hospital.

Drunken hunters and others carrying firearms while intoxicated will face a possible fine of $100 and also a jail sentence under a bill introduced by Senator Conlon. The bill has been reported out and will undoubtedly have clear sailing.

Rep. Frye sponsors a bill raising the salary of the governor to $10,000 and the attorney general to $7,500. He wants to make it possible for poor men to hold such offices.

Rep. Thomas proposes a bill to make partnerships and firms doing business under a trade name to pay a license fee of $10 per year.

Rep. Bartlett proposes an amendment to the teachers' pension bill providing for repayment to teachers wishing to retire before pension age of one-half of the amount they have paid into the fund, or of a similar amount to heirs in case of the death of the teacher.

Representative Johnson of Greenville has introduced a bill in the House for an increase of the gas tax to 5 cents. Under provisions of the bill a split of 20% of the tax would go to the counties, 10% to the cities and villages and 10% to the townships. Under the 3-cent tax the cities and villages get no split, while the cities and villages get $2,000 per mile for maintenance.

The Culver bill, providing for a tax on malt and malt extracts was approved by committee of the whole in the House and was advanced to third reading. Sale for "medicinal use" is exempted from the tax. So the home brewers will have to make "medicine" instead of home brew, if the bill goes through, or pay more for the "makinings."

The county home rule bill, once defeated in the Senate, was lifted from the table Thursday and passed, by a vote of 24 to 8.

ing a real hardship to owners of water front property. A committee from both branches met with similar committees from Wisconsin and Minnesota at Madison, Wisconsin, this week, for a general conference on game and fish laws and other conservation matters, in an effort to harmonize the laws of the three states in regard to these matters. Bills covering the propositions agreed upon will probably make their appearance the coming week, which promises to be the busiest one since the legislature convened, especially as one of the numerous capital punishment bills will probably be reported out by the judiciary committee for consideration by the Senate.

SAME PRESCRIPTION HE WROTE IN 1892

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as today. People lived normal lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings. The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe bowel stimulant.

NURSES know, and doctors have declared there's nothing quite like Bayer Aspirin for all sorts of aches and pains, but be sure it is genuine Bayer; that name must be on the package, and on every tablet. This highway was constructed from the same gravel that two miles of road was built south from Valley Center, which was also placed on the improvement program by the road commission two weeks ago after complaint was made.

The bird and a short description of its nests, habits, etc. Pauline's class finished their afternoon books and have now started "Good Times on the Farm" which they seem to enjoy. Third Grade—The amount of sickness has taken our percent of attendance down to 87.2%, but we only had three tardy marks this month. Jean's number class caught up to Martha's, each class having 75. Martha's class won the number down Friday though, making them three more stars in language last week we learned Eugene Field's poem, "The Night Wind."
