VILLAGE BUILDING A RESERVE FUND

Had Sufficient Funds on Mar. 1, 1929 to Wipe Out All Indebtedness.

Village taxes will be up $2.50 on a thousand valuation this year. In 1928, the tax rate was 12½ mills. This year it will be 15 mills.

This is not alarming, however. The village council is not planning to spend more money this year, but will add to a reserve fund for future improvements. In fact, the council has been doing that very thing for several years until today the village has on hand approximately $10,000.00.

The creation of a reserve fund and the addition of say $2,000 a year to that fund will soon build up a reserve that would make a substantial payment on any big improvement which the village might desire to undertake in future years.

Back in 1924—five years ago—when the village owned and operated its electric light plant, the tax rate was 22½ mills, just 50% more than the tax rate of 1929. A comparison of the tax rate for the past seven years follows:

Year	Rate
1923	.021
1924	.0225
1925	.015
1926	.012
1927	.0125
1928	.0125
1929	.015

Figures for the past six years show the financial condition of the village on March 1 of each year:

Year	Bal. on hand	Indebtedness	Valuation
1925	$ 379.79	$24,450.00	$847,060.00
1926	7,167.76	17,000.00	860,450.00
1927	7,555.48	16,000.00	866,900.00
1928	10,766.06	15,000.00	860,950.00
1929	15,973.67	14,000.00	864,350.00

According to these figures, on Mar. 1, this year, the Village of Cass City could have paid the $14,000.00 indebtedness on pavement bonds, if the bondholders would have accepted the money, and had nearly $2,000.00 left in its treasury, with no obligations against the municipality. Since that time, however, the village has purchased a building for a council room and fire hall and the treasury has been depleted about $4,000.00 because of this purchase and alterations made. Quite different did the auditor's statement on village finances look in 1921. Then the balance sheet showed:

Current liabilities	$6,220.51
Electric light bonds	2,000.00
Waterworks bonds	5,000.00
Mortgage on city park	3,000.00
	$16,220.51

The cash balance at that time showed a cash account of $44.85. There were also current accounts due the village amounting to $3,092.77.

Since 1921, the village has purchased a standpipe for $7,000.00, a water pump for $5,000.00 and water meters for approximately $3,000.00, paid $3,000.00 on the pavement bonds, and sold the electric light system for $9,000.00.

A considerable saving was instituted when the village discontinued manufacturing electricity. Not only has there been a saving due to the discontinuance of operation of the village plant, officials say, but another benefit has accrued to the individual user because of the lower light and power rates.

A comparison of power bills paid by Roy Taylor, proprietor of the Elkland Roller Mills, shows the substantial savings made by electric power users under present-day rates.

In December, 1920, Mr. Taylor used 4,440 k. w. h. at the rate of eight cents straight, making his bill for that month $355.20. At today's rate, the same amount would total $153.20.

In December, 1924, the mill used 2,450 k. w. h. at a cost of $159.00. Today's rate on the same amount would be $103.00.

In December, 1925, the village purchased electricity at wholesale and retailed to Mr. Taylor at a sliding scale 3,690 k. w. h. at a cost to the miller of $206.50. Mr. Taylor can purchase the same amount today for $130.70, and should his consumption be heavier it would show a still greater saving.

With the installation of a standpipe and meters for water users, another big saving was effected. Under the old system of direct pressure, the steam pumps were kept in operation 24 hours a day and proved an expensive process. Water meters provided a more equitable system of charges to users and eliminated considerable waste. Water collections now total approximately $3,000.00 a year, while the power bill for pumping is about $700.00.

Water bills are paid more promptly in late years because of the cash discount. The collections were never better and are done at the expense of 1%, amounting to only $80.00 a year. Another saving effected by village trustees was in reduced salaries paid to electrician, street commissioner and village clerk since the sale of the electric light system. Formerly the electrician and street commissioner were paid $3,300.00 a year. These positions have been combined and the combination man is paid $1,260.00 by the village and the remainder of his salary is paid by the Michigan Electric Power Co. The village clerk, relieved of light and water collections, has had his salary reduced from $720 to $75 a year.

There has been a four-fold increase in the amount of electricity used from the Cass City station since 1924, a comparison made by C. U. Brown, local electrician, shows. From May 7 to June 7, 1924, when electricity was retailed by the village, the amount totalled 17,700 k. w. h. From May 7 to June 7, 1929, the amount was 79,500 k. w. h.

SAYS BABY BEEVES WILL MAKE PROFIT

Results of Feeding Trials Reported at East Lansing Feeders Meeting.

The probable continuation of a favorable market for beef cattle gives Michigan farmers a chance to make a profit by raising beef calves for feeders, according to J. L. Torney, fieldman for the American Short-horn Breeder's Association, who stated at the annual Feeders Day at Michigan State College that these calves, which would cost $50 in the West, could be grown here for $35.

Feeding results presented at the meeting indicated that ground barley is on a par with shelled corn in producing gains on beef cattle, but the corn-fed animals appeared to have a little better quality of fleshing.

The cost of gains were approximately equal with the barley and the corn rations. Both were fed with corn silage and alfalfa hay. The addition of linseed meal to the corn ration hastened the gains made by the cattle and increased the returns from the corn 40 cents per hundredweight.

Hog feeding trials showed that the use of alfalfa pasture reduces the cost of pork production. Another experiment proved that expensive hog houses are not necessary for housing hogs which are being fattened in the winter. Temperatures as low as 22 degrees below zero had no bad effect on the hogs which were housed in A type cots.

Officers elected by the Cattle Feeders Association were: Otto Wagner, Deefield, president; E. L. Pifer, Blissfield, vice-president; G. A. Branaman, E. Lansing, Secretary; Henry Townsend, Ionia; A. T. Boyd, Eckford; Charles White, Jonesville; Lester Allen, Alma; and W. W. Crapo, Swartz Creek, directors.

Weddings of the Month

Turner-Little.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Turner was the scene of a very pretty wedding Thursday, June 20, when their daughter, Miss Helen Gould Turner, became the bride of Mr. Mack Little. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. H. Clark of Columbiaville at high noon, the ring service being used.

The bride was becomingly gowned in green georgette and lace and carried a large bouquet of pink roses. Miss Ruth Elliott of Caro, who acted as maid of honor, was gowned in gray crepe and carried sweet peas and pink rose buds. The bridegroom was assisted by Clare Turner, brother of the bride. The wedding march was played by Cressy Steele.

After the nuptials a wedding dinner was served to 34 relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Little left at once for a motor trip through Northern Michigan and upon their return will make their home in Cass City.

Mrs. Little graduated from the Cass City high school with the Class of 1924 and also from the Central State Teachers' College at Mt. Pleasant. She taught as the first grade teacher at Reed City for two years and the last year has taught the first grade in Alma. Mr. Little is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William Little and a prosperous farmer of Cass City.

Kelley-Severance.

An occasion of moment to the community, and the joyous crowning event in the lives of two worthy young people, occurred at the pleasant farm home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kelley, when their daughter, Fern, became the bride of Louis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Severance of Shabbona.

The nuptial vows were spoken at high noon Saturday, June 15, beneath decorations of roses, sweet peas and evergreens, in the presence of 38 guests. While Miss Marion Retherford of Saginaw, as pianist, played the wedding march, "At Dawn," Miss Kelley, attired in a dress of blue silk crepe, and attended by her sister, Miss Freda Kelley, and Mr. Severance, attended by his brother, Harry Severance, took their places. Rev. Bert Ede of Shabbona, using the ring service, solemnized the marriage rites according to the rules of the Methodist Episcopal church, of which both of the young people are active members.

After the usual salutations, all repaired to the dining room where the wedding dinner was served. The afternoon passed pleasantly and quickly.

In the evening, a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents near Shabbona. The esteem in which these young people are held was evidenced by the assemblage of approximately 150 friends, neighbors and relatives.

Many useful and expensive tokens were received. The Niagara Falls will be visited, also various points of interest and friends in Canada. Best wishes of many friends go with them to their new home at Flint.

Walett-Rushlo.

Forest Rushlo and Miss Dorothy Walett, both of Pontiac, were united in marriage in Detroit on Thursday, June 6. They will reside in Detroit. Mr. Rushlo was a former resident of Cass City.

Sebawaing high school baseball team scored enough runs in the first inning to beat Cass City high, 9 to 5, for the 1929 championship of the Upper Thumb Athletic Association.

The one bad inning proved Cass City's undoing. Vatters, who assumed the mound after Luther withdrew, held Sebawaing to four hits and three runs during the remainder of the game.

Features of the game were the pitching of Hornbacher and Vatters, the fielding of C. Kelly of Cass City and the hitting of Flint, Cass City. Hornbacher was strong in the pinches and kept Cass City's hits scattered.

Michigan Happenings

Heavily-loaded motor trucks passing through Grand Rapids are to be routed over county roads if City Manager Geo. W. Welch's proposal can be carried out by the traffic department. Welch said protests are received daily at the city hall against use of the city streets by these trucks. The manager has told the city commission that inasmuch as Grand Rapids has been paying a mill tax for several years for construction of county roads outside the city limits, all traffic it is possible to divert over county highways should be detoured around the city.

Four inches of water in the bottom of a 20-gallon crock, caused the death of Willard Rider, 18-month-old son of Seymour Rider, of Hart., owner of the Catawba Camp, on U. S. 31, when the boy fell into the receptacle while watching tadpoles swim. Death, according to county officials, was caused by drowning. The body was found head down in the crock, 50 feet from the back door of the home after 200 persons, led by deputy sheriffs, had conducted a five-hour search.

Whether Arthur C. Rich is to walk from the Michigan State Prison and start life anew in California, or is to remain in prison for the remainder of his life, is to be decided by Circuit Judge Charles B. Collingwood, of Lansing. Gov. Fred Green made this plain in Detroit when he said that payment of a $25,000 judgment to Miss Louise King, for the attack on whom Rich was sentenced to prison, would not influence him in considering Rich's plea for clemency.

Louise Crandall, 17-year-old Dundee high school girl, was killed and two classmates, Margaret Wagner and Alton Sontag, were injured when Sontag's car overturned in loose gravel near Devil's Lake. The victims were attending an outing of the junior and senior classes of the high school. Miss Wagner suffered scalp wounds and Sontag also was injured about the head. Four other pupils in the car escaped with minor injuries.

The United States department of commerce at Washington made public its world census of motor vehicles as of January 1, 1929. On that date there were 32,028,684 automobiles on the globe and 24,629,921 of them, 77 per cent, were in the continental limits of the United States. Michigan alone had 1,249,221 autos of all kinds at the end of 1928, or more than any country except the United States or the United Kingdom.

Authorities of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan are seeking Frank Tapp, 45 years old, until recently a State warden at Sidnaw, Houghton County, accused by the Michigan Conservation Department of stealing and disposing of 201 beaver which he is alleged to have killed while employed as a warden. A few weeks ago he was discharged by the department on suspicion of "bootleg" fur operations.

A heavy rain storm extinguished a fire in the woods that had been raging for several hours 16 miles east of Ironwood in the Upper Peninsula, despite the efforts of Conservation Department wardens and others who were fighting it. A quarter of a million dollars, distributed over a five-year period, has been granted the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor for humanistic studies and the promotion of a dictionary of old English terms, it was announced from the offices of the president. The general education board of New York City, founded by John D. Rockefeller, is the donor.

Chauncey F. Cleveland, 35 years old, was found guilty by a jury in the St. Joseph Circuit Court of dynamiting his garage at Nottawa, nine miles north of Sturgis, March 14 to collect $3,000 insurance. H. C. Calkins, Sturgis automobile dealer, also accused in the dynamiting, was acquitted when he took the stand for the prosecution.

Everett Branson, 28 years old, of Keenes, Ill., was killed while working with a pneumatic hammer in the steam plant of the Consumers Power Co., in Jackson. A short circuit in the hammer caused Branson's death.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed a sawmill, workshop and sheds owned by Gus Melke, of St. James, Beaver Island, in Lake Michigan. A 40-foot boat just completed in the workshop was burned. The loss will exceed $10,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Osborn of Sturgis celebrated their sixty-sixth wedding anniversary there recently with a dinner to four generations. They have lived in Sturgis all their lives.

Mrs. Ruby Snell of Fowlerville, who a year ago drowned her 6-year-old son in the bathtub at her home and was found insane by a jury and committed to the Ionia State Hospital, is to be released from that institution on orders of Atty-Gen. Wilber M. Brucker. Dr. P. C. Robinson, of the hospital, reported to Mr. Brucker that Mrs. Snell is sane and the attorney-general said there was nothing for him to do, under the law, except to order Mrs. Snell's release. As Mrs. Snell was acquitted of a slaying charge by a jury previous to her being declared insane, she can not be tried again on criminal charges and will go from the hospital a free woman.

A mill building at Mosherville, Hillsdale County, 20 miles south of Jackson, has been offered to Henry Ford for his museum of American history, it was announced by E. A. Moross, the owner. The Lake Roller Mills, as they are called, were established in 1818, and re-established in 1850, according to Mr. Moross. The original mill stones and turbines are said by the owner to be about 90 years old and in good working order. Replacement of the old mills by a modern hydro-electric plant is Mr. Moross' plan.

The University of Michigan, at its eighty-fifth annual commencement exercises graduated one of the largest classes in its history. A total of 1,944, of whom 301 were Detroiters, were included in the procession which wound down State street and filled the center section of the Ferry Field south stand. The awarding of degrees, including 15 honorary degrees to famous personages of the state and nation, and the annual oration by Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan, of the California Institute of Technology, concluded the brief exercises.

Dearborn telephone rates will be raised to the Detroit scale July 1, and the toll rate between the two municipalities will be discontinued by an order of the state public utilities commission issued at Lansing. Heretofore Dearborn has had a lower rate than Detroit, but a toll of 10 cents each was levied for calls between the two municipalities. The new rates in the suburb will mean an increase of about 75 cents a month for two party subscribers, $1 for single lines and slightly more for business telephones.

The tax rate for Detroit for the fiscal year was announced by Mayor John C. Lodge as $20.65 per $1,000 of assessed valuation, a decrease from $21.50 of last year. Together with the announcement of the lowering of the rate Mayor Lodge announced that the increase in assessed valuation had been but $119,567,370, which figure is below the normal increase for several years. In some sections of the city real estate valuations were lowered, the report received by the mayor from the board of assessors shows.

Harry Kipke, of East Lansing, newly appointed football coach at Michigan, adds a new wrinkle to inter-sectional rivalry. Other colleges may argue about the relative strength of their athletic teams but the greatest coaching job in the country is head coach of Michigan's football team at Ann Arbor, in Kipke's opinion. CHRIST FOR ALL—ALL FOR CHRIST The Word of God BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

Jesus Answers the Lawyer's Question Matthew 22:36, 37, 38, 39, 40. Master, which is the great commandment in the law? 37. Jesus said unto him, Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind. 38. This is the first and great commandment. 39. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. 40. On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets.

Prayer: My God shall be my strength.

THUMB OF MICHIGAN ASSO. NEWS LETTER By Ross L. Mahon. The delegation of members of The Thumb Association that went over to Lansing a short time ago about the paving of M-29 (the shore road) are to be congratulated on the results they obtained. We had been waiting for a long time for the commencement of paving of the stretch of this road from St. Clair County north to Lexington, relying on definite promises made in the last year and a half that this pavement would go ahead. We suddenly woke up to find that it was likely to be sidetracked and postponed indefinitely. Through the machinery of the Association a delegation was quickly got together to go to Lansing. By bringing before the Governor and the Administrative Board the definite promises in writing that had been made the situation was quickly changed, with the result that this pavement will proceed rapidly early this fall. That is the way those matters should be handled. It is the province of this Association to step into the breach and to organize the efforts of all of us in The Thumb. This also is the way, it seems to me, that these road matters should be handled. It is the province of this Association to step into the breach and to organize the efforts of all of us in The Thumb. This also is the way, it seems to me, that these road matters should advance. Instead of securing the pavement of one road in The Thumb clear through it should be our aim to advance the principal trunk lines, like 19, 29 and 53, step by step. We can accomplish more that way as one can rely on the united effort of all parts of The Thumb. The 1929 folder is coming through the printing office and will very soon be out. It is increased a little in size over the 1928 folder and your publicity committee believes that it will be a decided improvement. It is likely that these news letters may have to be suspended, or at least appear less frequently, until fall. The writer may not have the privilege of greeting you as frequently as in the past, as demands of his own personal business requires time and thought more than in the past. I hope, however, to keep in touch with the readers of this paper and meet you from time to time in these columns in the interests of The Thumb of Michigan Association. LEAGUE ORGANIZED FOR THE FALL OF 1929 At a meeting held at Fostoria June 5 a fall baseball league was organized comprising the following schools: North Branch, Columbiaville, Millington, Fostoria, Kingston and Mayville. A silver cup will be awarded the school having the highest percentage of games won in the following schedule. September 6. Millington at Fostoria. North Branch at Columbiaville. Mayville at Kingston. September 13. Columbiaville at Millington. Kingston at North Branch. Fostoria at Mayville. September 20. Millington at North Branch. Fostoria at Kingston. Mayville at Columbiaville. September 27. Grist Screenings Published Every Friday Vol 4. June 21, 1929. No. 45. Published in the interest of the People of Cass City and vicinity by the Elkland Roller Mills Roy Taylor, Editor. Growing Chicks:—Half the daily ration by weight for growing chicks should be Purina Chick Growena. It should replace Starrena beginning the seventh week. Keep it before growing chicks at all times. The other half of the daily ration (by weight) for growing chicks should be Intermediate Hen Chow. Feed it twice a day in deep straw litter. Here's another Scotch one—or maybe you heard it: It's about a Scotchman who left the roof off one part of the house—said it was to be the shower! Use Cream of Wheat flour and have the pleasure of eating mighty good bread. Every pound on those chickens of yours means that much more money in your pocket. You can add those pounds more profitably by feeding Purina Chick Growena. "Did you get a haircut?" "No, I just had my ears moved down a half an inch." Change 'em, you guys! Summer's here now—even the calendar says so. John Ball says Al Smith is going to sue the Democratic party—for non-support. Our Weakly Etiquette Hint: Be sure before you shoot. A New York man shot at his wife and killed his niece. Through the spring, through the summer, your pullets eat and eat. You pay and pay. It's an unproductive period. Cut it short and get your money back!  Feed your pullets Purina Growena and Purina scratch to get them fit for laying and paying. Just eight pounds of Growena and eight pounds of Purina scratch per pullet will do the job. The magician had spent a busy evening, at the climax of which he called an old man up on the stage and pulled two rabbits out of his whiskers. At first the man was somewhat disconcerted, but on the way home he confided, "I'm not so surprised. I've been suspecting they were in there for a long time." Folks can boast all they want to about their blue blood—but it's all the same to a mosquito.

Oil From Whale

The amount of oil which can be taken from a whale depends on the individual whale. The sperm whale yields from 5 to 145 barrels of oil, averaging about 25 to 30 for cows and 76 to 90 for bulls. In 1801 there was a record of a whale yielding 274 barrels of oil.—Washington Star.

Watch Your Feet

Asked whether people abuse their stomachs or their feet the most, Dr. William S. Sadler of the American Magazine replies unhesitatingly, "Their feet." He explains that people have had a little sense knocked into their heads about overeating and wrong eating, but precious little regarding their feet and their care.

The Age of Retirement

"Miraculous--Is What I Say of Modern Konjola"

Stubborn Case of Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble Ended by New Medicine—All Else Had Failed.

"I know of but one word that describes Konjola, and that word is 'Miraculous,'" said Mrs. Julia Rice, 214 West End street, Alma, Mich.

Mrs. Julia Rice.

"As a result of stomach trouble and rheumatism I was in a terrible condition. I lost weight and strength. Gas and bloating followed by meals, and the pains were almost unbearable. I couldn't sleep on account of the rheumatic pains.

"I didn't think it possible for one medicine to do what Konjola did for me. Within a week I was immeasurably better, and in four weeks I felt like a different person. My stomach has been corrected, and my food nourishes me. All the rheumatic pains have been driven from my body. O, that all the world could know of this master medicine!"

Konjola is sold in Cass City at Burke's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Advertisement.

"Common sense is the most uncommon kind of sense."

Considering Culture

"Some folks put in so much time wonderin' why God Almighty made 'em so much better than other folks that they never find out how much less than other folks they really be."—Preachin' Bill.

CULTURE?

Yes, I looked it up in the dictionary. It appears to be a fairly large word—extracted from Prometheus to prohibition, which you will allow is a long reach—and takes in about everything from growing potatoes to making beer, which is not so far, perhaps, looking at it from an alcoholic point of view.

Yes, I said potatoes—solonum euber- osum, you know—edible, farinaceous, tubers.

Well, if your crop turns out to be fine, fat, smooth, husky, white and mealy, it is because your culture is 100 per cent efficient. But if your field of Jerusalem artichokes yields nubby, scrubby, soggy specimens your culture is all wrong. And when you draw Early Rose, Bliss Triumphs, Burbanks, Beauty of Hebron, or Irish Cobbler where you expected Early Ohio, that, too, is a result of culture.

All of which seems reasonable enough when you remember that human spuds act much the same way.

Exactly! The variety and the quality of the male and female human vegetable is wholly a matter of culture.

Of course, one must start with good seed. We have no right, either, on the ground of science or common sense, to expect fine minds, husky bodies and white souls from nubby, scrubby, scabby, soggy seedstock.

Yes, I know I have said something like that before. I expect to keep on saying it in one way or another. Because until we are willing to give at least as much attention to growing men and women as the average farmer gives to his potatoes, we are a long, long way from comprehending culture—even when we look it up in the dictionaries.

But it is not enough to start with good seed. The ground in which the seed is planted must be right. The soil must have just those elements which potatoes require. In other words: the environment must be such that every littl' boy and girl potato in the hill will have exactly the right material out of which to make itself into a full-grown, well-matured and creditable individual.

And we must not overlook cultivation. Culture and cultivation are very nearly twins. No matter how good the seed, or how rich the soil, if the ground is not stirred occasionally to let the air in and to keep the weeds out; if the soil—I mean environment—is allowed to become hard and caked and overrun with weeds which take all its strength; or if the good soil is not drawn protectively close around the little tubers, the crop will fall short of what it might have been.

Is there anything sadder to see than the men and women who might have been?

Oh yes, about the beer!

It seems that different cultures produce different beers. You can easily look up the subject yourself.

Don't worry! Brother Volstead never said that we should not even talk about beer.

Well, as I understand it, this culture is a sort of yeast, and the different brewing results are obtained by using different kinds of yeast.

Yes, yeast—y-e-a-s-t—the stuff which ferments, works, stirs up, puts in the spirit, you know—the inspiration.

I am told by those who are experienced in such things that beer without inspiration is a dull, lifeless, flat, stale, worthless sort of thing. And I know from my own personal observation what poor, tasteless good-for-nothing humans are brewed when there is a lack of the right kind of inspirational yeast.

Indeed yes—absolutely, cultural inspiration is the very life of good character brewing. It is the spirit which distinguishes the real from the near.

To some culture is a matter of geography—to live on a certain street, in a certain district, city, or state. To others it is a question of archeology—having nothing to do with present-day living. To others it is a religion—a thing to bow down before in worship. To others it is a disease—something which one catches as one catches mumps or measles.

Certainly, there is such a thing as oyster culture. Heaven above! Don't you know about that? In every community in the land there are more or less extensive neighborhood beds of these culture-oysters—flabby, slick, slippery, cold, heartless, barely alive things in shells of conventionalism.

The book says that culture is the "improvement or refinement of mind, morals, tastes."

I like that. Mind and morals are inseparable and taste is one with them. That which one thinks, habitually, one is morally; and that which one determines one's tastes.

And so, you see, people whose minds are filled with selfish, cruel, obscene, vicious thoughts, and whose indecent tastes would shame any red, yellow, black or brown savage, are not cultured. No matter what street they live on, who their forefathers were, what school they attended, or what church they belong to—they are not cultured. They may speak seven languages, or write books about nothing at all, in passable English, or be at home in the social capitals of the world, but if their minds, morals and tastes are those of degenerates they are not cultured.

Yes, culture is "enlightenment or civilization." But that is good only so far as it goes. Between you and me we need more light on our enlightenment. We need light enough to see and recognize in our civilization those forces which are pulling us down into darkest savagery.

For all practical purposes if one thinks like a Hottentot, feels like a Hottentot, and acts like a Hottentot, one is a Hottentot.

They tell me that "bouillon is a cultural media." And that must be so because so much of our culture these days is "in the soup."

It seems never to have occurred to some of us that culture is not a means to an end but is in itself an end. We desire culture for what we think it will bring us; not because we understand that culture is a way of living and wish to live that way.

The one who has little culture often talks much about it; while those who have most seldom speak of it.

There is nothing in the world that can be counterfeited with such universal success, and there is no counterfeit thing that is so easily detected.

Those who possess the genuine thing never boast of having it, but those who have the counterfeit cry their possession from the housetops for fear they will not be recognized as one of the elect.

The authorities say: "Of all species of fish except shad those of the salmon family prove to be the best adapted for artificial culture." But I am not so sure about that; it is my opinion that the authorities are in error. They seem not to be acquainted with certain queer fish with which I am familiar. Shad and salmon may be fairly good for some cultural purposes, but I doubt if anything that swims in river, lake or sea can compare with certain human fish in adaptability for artificial culture.

Do you suppose, though, that there may be a difference between artificial culture and culture which is artificial? And do you know, by any chance, if the shad and salmon receive this artificial culture in schools?

I sat at dinner, one time, with a goodly company of people. They were painters, sculptors, writers and others who like to have such around.

I still have an uneasy feeling that the conversation would have been edifying to me if only I could have discovered what it was all about.

At last a faint gleam of light penetrated the darkness which enveloped me. One of the he-authors drove home the point of whatever it was he thought he was saying with a French phrase, and a distinct cultural thrill went round the board.

"I beg your pardon," said I, timidly, "but I do not understand French. Just what did you say?"

A pitying silence followed my humiliating confession. The gentleman graciously condescended to explain: "Why, you see, Wright," he murmured gently, "there are some ideas and thoughts which I simply cannot express in English, you know."

"Oh," said I humbly, "but was there not a writer called Shakespeare, who did fairly well in English? And there was one Emerson, I believe, who is generally credited with having thought a few man-sized thoughts. And I have heard of one or two others. Do you, sir, really have ideas and thoughts which you cannot express in English? I envy you! More than ever before I wish now that I understood French."

The silence became a trifle thicker. The man with the thoughts which could not be expressed in English, said nothing, but he did not look happy.

Then, for once in my life, I was inspired; it came in one great, glorious flash: "As a matter of fact, sir," I said, "you do not understand French, do you? That French phrase which you used you gleaned from a book of phrases like the 'Standard Dictionary of Facts.'"

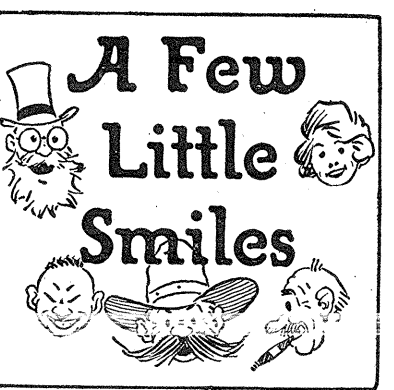

And, sure as you live, I had hit on the exact truth of that high-browed fish's culture.

Never since that day when Balaam's ass rebuked her rider has human intelligence been treated to such exhibitions of colossal impudence as these asses show at every opportunity. And the scriptural ass was justified. She, poor beast, was caught in a jam between the angel's sword and Balaam's cudgel. But these artificial cultural asses have not the shadow of an excuse for their impudent mouthings.

Verily, it is better to think in one language than to be thoughtless in several.

A culture-hero I find is "an, prehistoric hero regarded as the author of an advanced culture and civilization."

There is an ambition for you, my hero-worshipping, medal-craving young friend! To be the author of an advanced civilization! To look with brave understanding upon this savage, selfish, heartless, warring civilization of ours, and to be the author of something better! To awaken your generation to the true meaning and value of culture—physical, mental, moral, social, political, industrial and commercial culture! To gloriously gather to your own heart the critical spears of the jeering enemies of culture, and make a way for decent, kindly, helpful living!

WEDDINGS OF THE MONTH.

Concluded from first page.

drew Keith Sikkema, of Grand Rapids, in the Union Baptist church.

The church was beautifully decorated with a profusion of white peonies and syringas. The bridal procession entered to the music of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin; and Mendelssohn Wedding March was used for the recessional. The bride was dressed in white crepe and wore a short veil, and carried a colonial bouquet of tea roses and maiden hair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Ellen Newberry, as maid of honor, and the Misses Catherine Newberry and Florence Ludwick as bridesmaids. Gertrude Halverda, niece of the groom, acted as flower girl. Mr. Halverda, of Grand Rapids officiated as best man for the groom. The wedding service was read by the bride's father.

When the evening shades are falling, And we are all alone; In our hearts there comes a longing, If you only could come home.

Oh, we think of you, dear Roy, And our hearts are sad with pain; Oh, earth could be a Heaven, Could we but hear your voice again.

In Dollars and Cents—How Much Is a Liner Advertising "Result" Worth to You?

What would it be worth to you, in money, to be able to find "the right buyer" for your property—the buyer to whom your property, at its real market value, would be a "bargain?"

What would it be worth to you, in money and in peace of mind, to find a desirable tenant for that house or furnished room—over which the menace of "vacant" hangs threateningly?

What would it be worth to you to find a good job—to get your name on a regular payroll, so that the weekly income is assured and ample?

What would it be worth to you, in additional business, to secure the needed office employe—the worker who could show results, and help you to carry through your every plan?

What would it be worth to you to be able to sell that used car at a fair price—or those office fixtures which you no longer need—or that discarded but still useful furniture?

What would it be worth to you to secure a business partner, or a financial backer?

All of these "results" may be had through classified advertising—if it is persistent, intelligently done.

And the cost of little campaigns of liner advertising is so small that in the final summing up you will have to consider that your result has been purchased at a "bargain price."
