FIVE FROM HERE AT C. E. STATE MEET

Rev. P. J. Allured and the Misses Evelyn Robinson, Marjorie Boyes, Blanche Stafford and Elizabeth Seed attended the Michigan Christian Endeavor convention held at Kalamazoo from Thursday until Sunday evening.

The convention theme was "Crusade with Christ in Michigan" and the convention text "I am the Way, the Truth and the Light."

Six hundred delegates from all parts of Michigan attended the meetings. Among the prominent speakers were Dr. Francis Shunk Downs, secretary of the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian church, whose subjects were "A World Crusade with Christ" and "The Call of Christ to Young Hearts;" Roy A. Burkhardt, associate director of Young People's Work, and International Council of Religious Education, who spoke on "Christian Citizenship" and "What Shall My Quest Be?" Rev. Paul J. Allured, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Cass City, gave two very interesting addresses on "Expression" and "Impression." George Dibble of Bloomingdale, well known song leader, associated with William A. Sunday, had charge of "Worship in Song."

One thing the convention impressed upon its delegates was that the crusade with Christ will carry those who enter upon its quest into the shrine of liberty and into the citadel of law. The young people of America are our first citizens, for they are its "first voters," and they will exercise their citizenship longer than their elders. If Christ can capture the hearts and consciences of American youth, our progress in citizenship and national prosperity is secure.

The convention next year will be at Holland.

Lone Tree Island is all but submerged this summer as a result of the unusually high water. Only a small area of the extreme west end of the quarter-mile strip of sand is exposed. For many years Lone Tree has been a breeding place each season for thousands of common tern, but this summer finds few of the birds in their customary retreat there. The hunting shack built on the island last year by Edward Jahr, who has the place under lease, floated away during a period of extreme high water recently and was delivered by the waves right side up with care on Fish Point, about three miles to the south.—Sebewaing Blade.

HARBOR BEACH TO HAVE FIRST AVIATION FIELD

Harbor Beach will be the first town in this section of the Thumb to have an honest-to-goodness airport. On the farm of Otto Poschke, two miles out of the city, 45 acres have been plowed and leveled and the ground will be seeded. A hangar will be built in one corner of the property and near the site on which Mr. Poschke intends to build a summer home. Mr. Poschke lives in Cleveland. He is a former Harbor Beach boy.

ELDER MUDGE MARRIES INDIANA MINISTER

The home of Mr. and Mrs. George Young of Ypsilanti, was the scene of a quiet wedding Thursday, June 6, when Mrs. Young's grandfather, Elder Abel Mudge, pastor of the Novesta church of Christ, and Mrs. Carrie A. Harper, of La Grange, Indiana, were united in marriage. Rev. Wilcoxson, pastor of the Friends church at Ypsilanti, performed the ceremony. Members of the immediate families attended the wedding. A six o'clock wedding dinner was served at the Young home.

Mrs. Mudge is an ordained minister. Mr. and Mrs. Mudge have been visiting relatives and friends, spending a few days the first of the week at the Robert Warner home in Cass City. After a short visit with Mr. Mudge's daughter in Mt. Clemens, they will make their home in La Grange, Indiana, where Mrs. Mudge owns a beautiful home.

TUSCOLA COUNTY MAKES GOOD RECORD

Miss Muriel Dundas, nutrition specialist from Michigan State College, has sent in her report of the nutrition work in Tuscola county for the year 1928-29 as follows:

"With 17 groups and 297 members enrolled, all groups finishing, shows that it filled a need felt by many people in the county. In most cases, the groups grew during the year and many visitors were present also. The group members not only put into practice what they had learned, but they extended their influence to 492 other persons than members. Four regular training meetings were held in each of the two districts, Fairgrove and Caro. The project was concluded by a special lecture on vegetable gardening by Prof. Geo. Starr. More than 100 people attended this lecture. A committee meeting for the planning of achievement day was also held, making a total of 11 days spent in the county.

Leaders were very regular in their attendance. Each leader held from five to 11 meetings in order to cover the material given in the project. More people became familiar with the project through the newspaper publicity. 142 items were published during the year. The county had a large number of schools, 37, enrolled in the school nutrition series. Of this number, 36 were enrolled at the conclusion of the year, reaching a total of 1358 pupils. Since this was practically the first nutrition work that has been carried on in the schools and in the county, it was very much more popular than it sometimes is. Two hundred forty-nine children carried milk to school, 187 carried approved lunches. Seven schools served hot lunches at noon, that had not previously done so, while 9 new schools were enrolled in this project. With an average health score at the beginning of the year of 77, the average for the county was increased to 80 during the year. One hundred six other adults than the group members improved their health score.

"The food habits scores were very low, the average being 67 for the county. This also was raised three points on the average. Some communities showed a higher level than others and in a like manner, showed greater improvements than some of the others did. There still needs to be considerable time spent upon this point.

Among the other defects that were improved were colds 271; digestion 140; headaches 94; weight 238; constipation 115; nerve control 91; posture 150; muscle tone 108; sleep 124; color 147. Physical defects were corrected by 104 adults and 81 children.

"The interest in the course is such that the group voted the continuance of it next year. The groups prepared especially fine exhibits for their achievement day, showing their comprehension of the project.

LANGS, 7 YEARS IN CHINA. RETURN HERE

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lang and two children spent last week with relatives in Cass City. They have just lately returned from China where they have been in service for the China Boat Missions for seven years. This is an interdenominational work with headquarters in Chicago.

Mr. Lang gave a short talk on his work among the boatmen on the coast of China at the prayer service in the Baptist church Thursday evening. The Lang home is a large boat, the upper deck of which is used for church services and seats 250 people. His congregation are all boat men and their families.

FEWER FARMS ARE BEING FORECLOSED

"Fewer farmers are delinquent in their payments of their installments on their loans from the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul than a year ago and fewer farms are being foreclosed upon," stated President F. H. Klawson of that bank, at Lansing, recently before the representatives of the local National Farm Loan Associations from some 40 southern Michigan counties with which the bank does business. This co-operative or mutual bank and the 647 associations have about 35,000 loans in force in Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota and Minnesota, aggregating nearly $15,000,000.

"Improvement in collections has been particularly good since the first of the year. The number of farms in process of foreclosure on June 1 last year in North Dakota was 209 where as this year it is only 110; in Minnesota 83 against 69; Wisconsin 134 against 103, and in Michigan 119 to 116. Delinquent installments throughout the district were reduced from 5,221 to 3,822, or 27 per cent. Not only is this condition indicative of progress and better conditions, agriculturally speaking, but the bank has been able to sell more farms upon which it has been forced to foreclose than it did a year ago."

IN AND OUT OF TOWN

Two properties in Cass City have been pictured and praised in magazines of nation-wide circulation in recent days.

Remember back years ago when the station grounds around the P. O. & N. R. depot at Cass City harbored two or three good sized mudholes? Those were the days when the railroad was used more extensively for traveling and the first impression a new-comer received when he stepped off the train was not at all favorable. Probably it was the first thing that R. A. McNamee saw when he came here to take the position of Grand Trunk station agent. He determined to remedy it and was not long in starting the job. For several years, two large flower beds have been in the space formerly occupied by the mudholes. Each spring and summer one finds pretty blooming flowers and foliage plants in these plots. The Canadian National Railway Magazine, in a recent number, printed a half-tone picture of the grounds and ivy-clad station of Cass City.

The March number of Keith's Beautiful Homes Magazine, published at Minneapolis, Minn., contained a picture of the beautiful residence erected at Cass City last fall by Harry Young. The magazine also printed a plate showing the landscape design for this property and gave details regarding the several types of shrubs and trees used in the landscaping.

The Voice, a magazine of the General Telephone Utilities Co., announces the re-decorating of the office of the Cass City Telephone Co. and the grading and seeding of the lawn next to the building. Those who frequent Seeger St. have noticed a decided improvement in the property of the telephone company. Grounds once infested with a great variety of weeds have been transformed into a fine appearing lawn.

Less than a block away and on the other side of Seeger St. another plot is being improved. Here for many years stood the old fire hall and council room, each year taking on a shabbier hue. This spring the building was sold and moved away and the land sold to C. W. Heller, who owns the adjoining property. With the characteristic Heller energy, he planted trees and is filling up the low spots and are long will transform this neglected space in keeping with the neatness of the neighboring territory.

On the corner of Third St. and Woodland Ave. lives a man who takes a deep delight in making that corner of the town spick and span. Each spring and summer, Wm. Akerman spends much time in his flower garden. Many a sick room has been made brighter and many a neighbor and friend has been gladdened with bouquets of beautiful flowers from his garden.

Only one youth in ten between the ages of 16 and 19 was lucky enough to enter high school in 1913. About one in three is now the average. We spend about ten times as much for our high schools now as we did in 1913. Education is no longer considered a luxury in America. Twenty years ago there was a car for every 265 persons in this country. With a production of 3,000,000 new cars every year and an additional 1,000,000 motor trucks, we come to a place in 1929, when, at any moment, we can place the entire population of 120,000,000 Americans in our automobiles.

If prosperity may be measured by the number of automobiles in a territory, the Thumb district is holding its own with the remainder of the country. In Tuscola county, for instance, there are 8,140 automobiles, or 24 autos per 100 population. This means, on the average, one for every family. In Sanilac county, there are 22 automobiles per 100 population, and in Huron county, 23 per 100 population. The average in Michigan is 21 cars for each 100 residents.

TUSCOLA COUNTY HAS 124 CLUB MEMBERS

Tuscola county has 124 members in the boys' and girls' livestock clubs, the final enrollments show. The membership is divided among the several communities as follows:

Fairgrove	14
Millington	8
Caro	12
Vassar	8
Unionville	10
Gilford	7
Cass City	65

Total 124

Cass City, it will be noted by the above table, has over half of the membership. In the local club, about one-third of the members are interested in both calf and pig projects. The Cass City club has the only sheep club member in the county in the person of Harry Crandell, jr.

Baptist Church, Novesta Corners—Clyde H. Lee, Pastor. Daily Vacation Bible School is now in progress with Miss Thelma Raymond of Detroit in charge. All children within reach of the church are urged to come. School will continue until Friday, the 28th, from 9 to 12, each forenoon except Saturday. Announcement of final demonstration next week.

Subject next Sunday morning, "Parable of the Mustard Seed," the third in the series of messages on the Kingdom parables. We want you to come.

WILL ORGANIZE CO-OPERATIVE HATCHERY

According to plans as announced by John D. Martin, former Sanilac County Agent and now manager of the Thumb Hatchery, Inc., arrangements are under way to organize a branch at Cass City on the co-operative basis.

This plan no doubt will be gladly accepted by the farmers as Mr. Martin has had a long experience in the organizing of co-operative associations, and this work which has been built up in Sanilac County, has been very successful. His experience has also been along poultry lines. During the past eight and one-half years as county agent, he has built up the poultry industry which is fast becoming second to the Dairy Industry. Most worthy of note is the fine laying strains of Rocks, Reds, and Leghorns, which have and are now making good records at the International Egg Laying Contest at Michigan State College. About 100,000 baby chicks have been put out this past season and the demand has been so great that it was impossible to fill all orders. Many of these fine baby chicks have been placed around Cass City.

In bringing a branch of the Thumb Hatchery in a co-operative way to Cass City, it is the desire of Mr. Martin to have the poultry raisers become partners in this great enterprise of developing the poultry industry in this community. This will give the farmers the opportunity of getting chicks from these strains right at home, and as soon as eggs can be produced in car-load lots, they can be shipped co-operatively and a much better price obtained.

Whether or not the farmers take an active part in this new organization, a branch hatchery of 25,000 capacity will be established at Cass City by the Thumb Hatchery, Inc., as the incubators have been purchased and negotiations are under way to obtain a location, says Mr. Martin.

FORT DOUBLES ICE CREAM STORAGE

The ice cream business of A. Fort & Son is growing so steadily that it has been found necessary to double the storage capacity. A second 400-gallon Frigidaire automatic ice cream cabinet was added to the manufacturing equipment in the past week.

Cream used in manufacturing Fort's Golden Jersey ice cream here comes from the Fort farm in Elmwood township.

OWENDALE MAN CHARGED WITH COUNTERFEITING

Sheriff Hoffman of Huron county arrested Geo. Stokl, an employee of a railroad section force at Owendale, on Friday, at the request of Federal officers at Detroit. The man was charged with counterfeiting money and was taken to Detroit for a hearing before Federal authorities.

PHEASANTS TO BE RELEASED AT MATURITY

At this season a number of nests of the ringneck pheasant are being exposed by mowing machines, and at times the setting hen pheasant is killed. As a rule the farmer takes such sets of eggs and re-sets them under one of his hens. This is proper and in the interest of conservation, but when sets of eggs are taken under these conditions, the fact should be reported to the local conservation officer so that the possession may be entered in the records of the conservation department, and in order to avoid a technical violation of the game laws. As there is no provision for acquiring captive game bird stock from the wild, birds reared from these eggs must be released later in the season when they have reached maturity.

YEAR-OLD STEER SOLD FOR $133.00

James Milligan sold a 12-months-old steer weighing 950 pounds to Chris Schwaderer, local live stock buyer, at 14 cents a pound. The sale netted Mr. Milligan $133.00.

The steer was shipped by Mr. Schwaderer to a Detroit packing house.

Michigan Happenings

The 10-cent fare, under which the city electric railway, a subsidiary of the Eastern Michigan Railway company, is operating street-cars in Port Huron, is not a success. W. G. Fitzpatrick, Detroit counsel for the traction company announced there. Whether the city electric railway will remove its cars from Port Huron at the end of 30 days, at which time the 90-day trial period will have expired, is problematical, Fitzpatrick said. The attorney said patronage has dropped 30 per cent during the last two months.

Admission to the Michigan State Fair this year at Detroit will be 50 cents. Fred A. Chapman, of Ionia, general manager of the fair, made the announcement and explained: "With a $60,000 interest charge on bonded debt to pay every year, and a steadily increasing amount being paid out in premium awards to exhibitors, it has been found that the fair cannot be operated on a basis of 25-cent admissions and pay expenses. The deficit last year, when the admission was 25 cents, was $42,000."

The Jackson city commission has adopted an ordinance believed destined to make Jackson one of the quietest large cities in the state. The edict bans all loud sounds connected with commercial and amusement activities in the city. The ordinance, on the streets of radio loud speakers, phonographs, player pianos, calliopes, shouting of hawkers, hucksters and vendors and other noise makers, calculated to disturb those who would have quiet.

Harry D. Cosier, 32 years old, associate editor of Michigan Roads & Pavements and David Barnes, 27, were injured fatally and three others were hurt in an automobile collision, east of Lansing. The two men died soon after reaching a Lansing hospital. The injured were Mrs. Cosier and her two young children. The Cosiers were en route to Ann Arbor to spend the day. Cosier's father is postmaster at Bear Lake, in Manistee County.

Fire threatened the village of Carney, 30 miles north of Menominee, but with the arrival of the Menominee fire department the blaze was confined to a blacksmith shop, garage building and residence owned by Arthur Hart, and the residence of Gus Peterson. The loss is estimated at $25,000. The fire is said to have started in the Hart blacksmith shop from a spark of a gasoline engine being used in cutting lumber.

A public hearing will be held by the Lansing city council July 8 to consider changes in the zoning ordinance to permit the erection of a 22-story bank building and tower planned by R. E. Olds, Lansing manufacturer, and the Capitol National Bank. A motion to change the zoning ordinance, which limits structures in the commercial district to 150 feet, was made in the city council meeting recently.

Frank Schrader, 33 years old, of Detroit, was killed when he was struck by lightning after he had taken refuge under a tree on the bank of Mud Lake, near Lum. Schrader had gone to the lake with his wife and eight-year-old daughter for the week-end. They were living in a tent. Schrader was accompanied by E. L. Dudley, of Lapeer, who was knocked unconscious when Schrader was killed.

The woman who drowned herself in the Homer Mill Pond one night recently was identified by relatives at Albion, as Mrs. Carrie G. Collins, 73 years old, of Youngstown, O., a former Albion resident and a daughter of the late Edwin Johnson, Albion druggist. Ill with an incurable malady, while visiting friends in Homer, where she once lived, she threw herself into the pond.

Gladys Donato, 17-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Donato, of Roseville, died at Grace Hospital, Mt. Clemens, from suffocation. The child choked to death on a marble she had put in her mouth. A physician was used on the child by the Mt. Clemens police department in an effort to restore life but without result.

Failure of the certified seed potato farmers of the Alba region to get a profitable price for their 1928 crop, is declared to be one of the main reasons for the closing of the private bank of Noble and Bennett, at Alba. Assets are said to be frozen. The bank is owned by Charles Noble, of Detroit, and R. C. Bennett, of Alba.

Struck by a Duluth South Shore and Atlantic passenger train as she was playing alongside the tracks near her home at Bergland, near Ironwood, Mary Elizabeth, 15-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Palack, was killed.

While playing on an improvised swing in the barn, Hilding Strom, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Strom, of Viola, near Manistique, slipped and broke his neck when caught in the twists of the rope.

Three thousand persons at the Pere Marquette Park recently witnessed the 30-minute battle of M. H. Hughes, 26 years old, against the heavy sea and undertow of Lake Michigan, at Muskegon, when he saved the life of Miss Edith Marie Morrow, 18. The girl, unable to swim, was caught in the undertow and carried out. Hughes, who was standing on the breakwater, saw her go down and plunged in with his clothes, and finally managed to get the girl to a pile. There Hughes hung for 25 minutes, holding the girl until the Coast Guard arrived in a boat.

L. Longwood, Grant merchant, feels that it is time he was given a rest from dodging automobiles as they crash through his store window. As a result, he has published an advertisement asking motorists to park their cars parallel to the curb in front of his store. Six times in the last few months Mr. Longwood has heard a crash and found an automobile in his store. C. Pierson, of Grand Rapids, was the latest to crash through in a car. He stepped on the accelerator instead of the brake.

The first of six bandits sentenced for the $90,000 robbery of the Grass Lake State bank 10 years ago, was ordered released by Arthur D. Wood, commissioner of pardons and paroles at Lansing. The convict, Lester Bacon, 43 years old, has served his recommended sentence of 10 years. Four other members of the gang received two life sentences each, one for robbery armed and one for murder. A Jackson county deputy sheriff was shot by the robbers when they were apprehended.

Damage, estimated at $250,000, was caused at the Story & Clark piano factory in Grand Haven by fire and water, after the building had been struck by lightning. The bolt hit a wire outside the building and ran along a wire to a fuse box inside the building. The melted fuses set off the sprinkler system all over the plant. The fire loss was only a few dollars and the damage was the result of water soaking into expensive, seasoned woods used in making pianos.

THREE RULES

Dr. Caldwell watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the most delicate system and is not habit forming.

The doctor never did approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for human beings to put into their system. Use Syrup Pepsin for yourself and members of the family in constipation, biliousness, sour and crampy stomach, bad breath, no appetite, headaches, and to break up fevers and colds. Get a bottle today, at any drugstore and observe these three rules of health: Keep the head cool, the feet warm, the bowels open. For a free trial bottle, just write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois.

MAKE IT A SAFE AND SANE FOURTH

True Americans calls for a safe and sane celebration this Fourth of July. There are plenty of ways to manifest patriotism without dangerous fireworks. The day can be spent in wholesome entertainment, in an enjoyable motor trip to the lakeshore or in the country, in picnicking or in the healthy pastime of hiking, which ever best pleases your fancy.

Fourth of July can be made safe and sane in another way, Mr. Motorist. Reference is made to careful operation of the automobile the night before and on the holiday. There will be thousands of motor cars on the highways. Many of these operators are new drivers who will be making their first long trips on the holiday. Older drivers must make allowances for the shortcomings of these new drivers and show them every courtesy.

Watch your speed, particularly on congested streets or in localities where children are at play. Do not overspeed or cut in and out of lanes of traffic and drive carefully around curves. You might lose a few minutes in reaching your destination by driving carefully, but better to arrive a little late than not at all. Your slogan for July Fourth should be: I pledge to drive safely and sanely.

INTERESTING FACTS.

A noted statistician informs us that "all the vision, initiative, enthusiasm and leadership of the country are locked up in two percent of the people. If these two percent were wiped out we would go back fifty years."

This means that ninety-eight percent of the people follow in the wake of some 2,500,000 individuals, the smaller number actually doing and directing for the majority. Such a condition is easily understood if a close study of the average individual is made. It is known fact that eighty percent of the people in the country think in terms of a child twelve years of age. This, in spite of our extended system for education and great industrial and economical achievements, the great establishments forming the background for such achievements being institutions of learning in the highest sense of the word.

With these facts and figures before us one marvels at the great advancement made in this country, giving it the leadership of the world in most things. The small percentage that lead, lead well or the majority would fail to follow. No other country can boast as many pioneers in the field of industry, no other country can point to as many industrial leaders, leaders, who think in terms of service for the masses rather than in terms of dollars.

The majority of us owe much to the two percent, but few of us ever give them due appreciation.

THE NATION'S FOUNDERS.

A good July Fourth thought is that there has perhaps never been a country which was shaped by people of such commanding ability and penetrating insight as those who founded our government.

Up to the time they created this great experiment in freedom democratic governments had been failures. People got tired of them, and turned to kings and dictators as a better way to secure what they wanted.

The wonderful men who created this government saw what were the underlying causes for these failures, and how such difficulties could be avoided. The principle that they built upon was that the people are intelligent enough to protect themselves. If our government is to continue to vindicate this principle and assure general welfare, popular education must not be neglected.

THE POWER OF ADVERTISING.

Emerson said if you make the best mousetrap, the world will make a beaten path to your door. That might have been all right in Emerson's time, but today it takes advertising to convince people that it is the best, it takes advertising to give the name of the street and house number, to say nothing of mentioning the parking space for cars while the mousetrap is being examined.

Loss Majeste

In Yugo-Slavin one must be careful of his speech or he is likely to find himself behind bars with the information that he is guilty of lese majeste. A woman of Serajevo was sentenced to one year in prison for making "insulting remarks" about the king's parents. A man at Novi Sad got a sentence of three years for "insulting remarks" about King Alexander himself.

It's going to be pretty tough for us if, in this age of airplanes, we have to keep the roof dusted as well as the porch cleaned off and the lawn mowed.

Orphan Pullets are those raised right to half-grown, then allowed to shift any old way on any old feed, expecting they'll lay early and often. Every cent saved on pullet feed means two lost in production. It pays to keep 'em on GROW-ENA, just as it pays to feed the other Purina Chows to hog-horse - cow - calf - dog pigeon.

We heard the first fire-cracker of the year yesterday. And sure enough, next Thursday is the 4th.

Calf Chow is a clean wholesome feed that takes the place of milk. It raises calves for about one-third the cost of whole milk. Buy some for your calves today.

We just asked Joe Crawford if he knew any good stories and he told the one about the Scotchman who had some real hard luck. It was in pioneer days and he got a haircut just the day before an Indian massacre.

Motorists will be pleased to know that a car derailed an Oklahoma train recently.

Purina Calf Chow fed instead of whole milk saves from $10 to $20 on each calf. Calf Chow raises good calves too.

Summer's here all right. We were bit on the ankle by a mosquito yesterday.

Chicago is a great packing center. Most everybody packs a gun.

Early laying pullets: Eight pounds of Grow-ena and 5 pounds of Intermediate Hen Chow will balance the range help every dairyman to realize more from home feds.

When an after-dinner speaker has told four or five chestnuts without getting a ripple of laughter from the audience, and then says, "But to be serious gentlemen," that is the time to laugh.

The mill will be closed all day July 4.

We have seed Buckwheat for sale.

ELKTON AGAIN HAS A NEWSPAPER

The initial issue of the Elkton Advance came out last week. Our sister village has had its ups and downs with newspapers for several years. The town has deserved better treatment along this line as there is no community of business men more loyal to a local paper than the business men of Elkton, if the paper will only give them half a chance. We are informed that the Elkton business men have contracted with The Advance publisher for a year's advertising in the neighborhood of $300.00 a month. Probably no other town in the county except Bad Axe is doing that amount of purely local advertising. Elkton business men appreciate the value of a local paper.

The publishers, E. Irving Steinhurst and F. M. Haley, are young men with practical experience and judging from the first issue of The Advance are going to give the community a real good newspaper.—Pigeon Progress.

There is nothing so small but that we may honor God by asking His guidance of it, or insult Him by taking it into our own hands; and what is true of the Deity is equally true of His revelation.—Ruskin.

You Can't Beat Em!

An American, an Irishman and a Scotchman dined together at a fashionable hotel. Upon finishing the dinner the American displayed a $5 bill, which he leisurely rolled up and used to light his cigarette. Not to be outdone, the Irishman took out a $10 bill, which he rolled and used for lighting his pipe. And the Scotchman, nothing daunted, drew a checkbook from his pocket, wrote out a check for $10,000, and used it for lighting his cigar.

Why the Red Sea Is Red

Fifteen miles south of Maricopa, Calif., the water in a small lake is said to have changed in color from a clear crystal to blood red. In ages past this phenomenon would have been considered a terrible omen. Scientists explain the reddening of the water as caused by a minute plant-like growth of the algae family known as diatoms. The same growth is responsible for the color of the Red sea, the cause of so much superstition in Biblical times.

Methuselah of Forest

The General Sherman big tree is the Sequoia National forest, California, estimated to be at least 4,000 years old, is still producing an annual crop of cones from which fall millions of fertile seeds. There are nurseries in the park that contain many young trees, the progeny of this oldest and largest living thing. The Methuselah of the forest perpetuates its kind today as it did when Cheops built the Great Pyramid in Egypt.

Twins Are Plentiful

Medical literature records some remarkable cases of multiple birth, and makes twins seem commonplace. There is one instance of seven living children born together of which only one did not survive. Five cases are known of six children born at once. The average of twin births to single ones is about 1 in 100; triplets about 1 in 6,000; and 5 births at a time about 1 in 10,000,000. It is rare for all four of quadruplets to survive.

"I cannot find words to express my gratitude and surprise for what Konjola did in relieving me from the agonies of kidney and stomach trouble and neuritis. I was nervous, irritable and despondent. Not one of the many medicines and treatments I tried did me a particle of good. And then I heard of Konjola, the master medicine of them all. Konjola went to work at once, and improvement began in a few days. In two weeks I was a well man again, thanks to this glorious medicine."

DAIRY

POORLY FED COWS
GIVE SAME CREAMImportant to Learn Milk
Standard Before Buying.

There is no foundation, in fact, for the general belief that the cows which give poor, thin milk, are those that are starved or fed a limited or unbalanced ration, says Dr. George H. Glover, head of the veterinary division of the Colorado Agricultural college.

"Many feeding experiments have fully demonstrated that the percentage of cream in milk is not materially altered either by the amount or quality of feed," Doctor Glover states.

"When the feed is reduced in quantity, less milk is obtained, but the percentage of cream remains the same."

"Therefore, the importance of breeding, as well as feeding, for milk and cream production is apparent."

A grade Jersey family cow, kept under observation at the college veterinary hospital for several weeks, gave very poor milk, with a butterfat content of only 1.7 per cent. It was found in experiments that this butterfat content of the milk could not be altered by the most liberal feeding. She was in perfect health, and the owner had purchased her because she looked like a good cow.

This demonstrates the importance of learning the milk standard of dairy cows before they are bought, Doctor Glover says.

He also points out that each quarter of a cow's udder secretes milk of a different composition, the milk of each of the four glands varying in the percentage of fat, water, albumin, sugar, mineral and specific gravity.

Tests have fully demonstrated that the mammary glands of the same cow are anatomically and physiologically different.

Some Precautions Will Prevent Loss of Stock

The right precautions will prevent a good share of the loss of cattle on sweet clover hay or pasture. Moldy hay may contain poisons that will kill stock. Sweet clover hay seems to thin the blood of the animals and cause it to lose its clotting characteristic. Some other kind of hay should be fed with clover hay, or the animals should be changed to another kind of roughage after two weeks on sweet clover hay.

Bloat is caused by the rapid decomposition of the high percentage of organic matter in green feed. Bloat on sweet clover pasture may be largely prevented by starting the animals on some other green pasture in the spring and then getting them used to the clover slowly. In serious cases the pressure may be relieved with a trocar. Every farmer who pastures clover of any kind should have one or more trocars on the place for emergency use.

Protein Is Constituent
Which Bothers Dairymen

Protein is the constituent with which dairymen are most concerned. It costs the most money and is one of the limiting factors in economical production because so many dairymen feed either too much or too little of it. Protein is the only food constituent which contains nitrogen. In the animal body it goes to make up the lean meat or muscles, and the internal organs, such as the heart, lungs, and liver. In the milk, the protein is represented by casein and albumin. Although protein has no influence on the composition of milk, it is the only nutrient that actually stimulates milk production and, therefore, a small excess over that needed by the cow for maintenance, milk production, and other purposes should be provided if maximum production is to be obtained.

Future Dairy Business
Depends on New Calves

The future of the dairy business depends on the quality of the calves raised to replace worn-out cows. The first factor to be considered is breeding. Because an animal is pure bred does not endow her with the ability to produce abnormally large amounts of milk or fat. Because a bull is pure bred, it is not a forgone conclusion that his daughters will be abnormally high producers. Too many animals which are pure bred, are bought and sold on their registry papers and not on their own merits or the meritorious work done by their ancestors.

The key to this situation is the bull. If, as we say, a bull is half of the herd, why object to paying the price for a good one?

Give Cow Right Care

A cow about to calve should be placed in a freshly disinfected stall or box and provided with a deep bed of clean straw to keep the calf clean when dropped. When the signs indicate that the cow's time has come, her bearings, tail, hindquarters and udder should be washed with a 5 per cent solution of carbolic acid in water—rain water for preference, as mixing better with the acid—and a solution of half this strength should be injected into the vagina.

Workman's Lucky Hunch

A workman's hunch probably averted a tragedy at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. A house that had been built about 60 years ago was being wrecked. The workman found a pint bottle between the walls and was in the act of hurling it among the rest of the debris when he had his hunch to examine the bottle. It was marked "nitroglycerin." The bottle was dumped into a river.

Elephants "Right Lusked"

African elephants show a tendency to what might be called "right handed-ness," since their right tusks are usually worn down by digging more than the left.

There's peace in the household guarded by Castoria. Peaceful sleep for Baby. Uninterrupted rest for Mother. For a few drops of pure Castoria will quiet any fretful infant. Or put the little one back to sleep when there's an upset during the night.

Parents, don't try to do without good old Castoria! It isn't fair to the baby, and it makes things hard for you. You can't give Baby medicine meant for grown-ups—or shouldn't! Castoria is the solution. It is always safe. It always does the work. And although it acts as swiftly as an opiate or a narcotic, it contains neither. Castoria is purely vegetable. Give it whenever there's constipation, colic, diarrhea.

No less than five million modern mothers have come to depend on Castoria, for twenty-five million babies were bought last year! Get yours today; don't wait for some night when it's needed, and the drugstore is closed!

"SHUT IN WITH GOD."

These verses were left by Mrs. Laura Dorman in the box with her will. They seem to explain the sweet, patient life she lived during the 22 years she was confined to her bed and wheel chair. Most of that time was spent in Cass City.

Thy beautiful sweet will, my God, Holds fast in its sublime embrace My captive will, a glad some bird. Prisoned in such a realm of grace A prisoned bird, I am, Shut in from the fields of air.

And in my cage I sit and sing To Him who placed me there, Well pleased a prisoner to be, Because my God it pleaseth thee.

Shut in with a trio of angels sent With patience and grace,

All pain to meet. With faith that can suffer and stand and wait And lean on the promises strong and great.

Shut in with Christ. Oh! Wonderful thought. Shut in with the peace These sufferings brought, Shut in with the hand That fears the rod. Oh! company blest, Shut in with God.

That's the Secret of Success—to be Able to "Open the Door" When "Opportunity" Knocks

One reason why we are operating Baker Business University is to help young men and young women prepare themselves to "Open the Door."

There's not much chance for a young man to succeed in the ditch with a shovel, unless he is prepared to "Open the Door."

There's no chance for a girl, only to use the mop, unless she knows how to "Open the Door."

Dutch Colonial Style That Appeals to Those Who Prefer an Open Porch

By W. A. RADFORD

Mr. William A. Radford will answer questions and give advice FREE OF COST on all subjects pertaining to practical home building, for the readers of this paper. On account of his wide experience as editor, author and manufacturer, he is, without doubt, the highest authority on all these subjects. Address all inquiries to William A. Radford, No. 1827 Prairie avenue, Chicago, Ill., and only inclose two-cent stamp for reply.

Though of late years open porches have been rare in home construction there are still many people who appreciate them, especially on warm summer evenings and who do not feel that a home is complete without one. It is highly probable that in the years ahead many of the more recently built homes will have porches added to them. And so this design, which provides an open porch right at the start, should have a ready appeal.

The style of this home is Dutch colonial and the walls are finished in wide shingles, a combination which is particularly pleasing in a small

Dwelling Needs About 45 Gallons of Paint

For every brushful of lead-and-ole the painter spreads some miner had to dig up a shovelful of lead ore, some farmer had to cultivate several stalks of flax and some one had to tap a pine tree down in the Carolinas. Nature has truly been generous in providing the necessary ingredients for paint, but it is surprising to learn just how generous she must be in order to furnish the material for painting just one house.

Suppose this house were of typical size—25 feet by 35 feet and 30 feet high at the ridge with a sloping shingle roof. Assuming that both the inside and outside of the house have been painted, including walls and ceilings, the approximate area to be painted would be about as follows: Outside walls, 2,900 square feet; roof, 1,100; inside walls and ceiling, 5,300; total, 9,300 square feet.

For the outside and roof about 20 gallons of paint would be required, for the inside about 25 gallons would be required, making a total of 45 gallons for surface protection and beautification. Divided into its component parts, 45 gallons of paint would take 700 pounds of lead, 15 gallons of linseed oil and nine gallons of turpentine.

To secure sufficient metallic lead to make 700 pounds, it is necessary to mine a small mountain of ore, weighing some 9,000 pounds. Average lead ore as taken direct from the mine contains less than 6 per cent of pure lead, which amount is further reduced by metallurgical losses which occur during smelting.

A half-acre of flax would have to be planted to get the necessary 15 gallons of linseed oil. If properly cultivated, a half-acre will yield six bushels of flax. Flax is a touchy crop, growing best on land adapted to raising wheat. It is called a "ten-year" crop because the land upon which it is raised is not in condition to grow a second crop before ten years.

The needed nine gallons of turpentine represent a whole season's yield of 25 full-grown pine trees. Of course, the colors and drier that would be used in painting this mythical house contain lead and oil, but the amount used would not materially change the figures above.

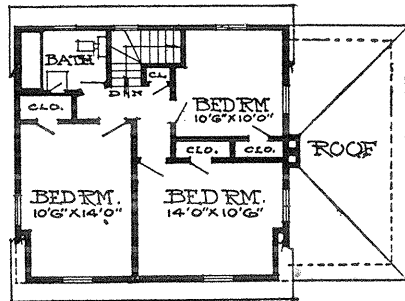

When one goes behind the scenes in this manner, the tremendous magnitude of the painting industry becomes apparent. The steps necessary to protect with paint a house built of wood are more complicated than those necessary to procure the lumber with which to build it.

Closet Space Savers

Hat holders and shoe racks that fasten to the back of the closet door, for use in homes where closet space is at a premium, are available, having been put on the market recently.

house. The brick steps, the shutters, and awnings at the windows, the flower boxes and the shrubbery do much to complete the general effect that this design creates and the picture is a particularly cozy one.

While classed as a small house this design provides six rooms and bath. The living room extends across one whole side. At its far end the stairway rises directly from the room. An arched opening connects it with the dining room directly back of which is the kitchen. The living room is a really large room, 13 by 23 feet. The dining room and kitchen are in proportion, much space being saved by the elimination of a first floor hallway.

Above stairs there are one large bedroom and two smaller ones, neither of which, however, is so small as to seem restricted. Each bedroom has a closet of ample size and windows on two sides, providing good cross ventilation. The bathroom, in one corner of the second floor, is conveniently placed in relation to the bedrooms and there is a linen closet in the hallway close by.

Pipes That Rust Are Sure to Cause Trouble

A matter of first importance in the building of the new home is the water supply system, and upon the pipe depends the supply of pure, clean water so necessary to home convenience and health and comfort of family. If pipe that rusts is used, in a short time it will begin to deteriorate; rust-stained water will flow from faucets into basins, baths, tubs and sinks.

Rust will clog the pipe, gradually reducing the flow of water to a trickle, and eventually rust will cause damaging leaks and necessitate expensive repair. These things will not happen at once; two or three years may pass before the first signs appear; they are inevitable if pipe that rusts is used.

When it was the custom to build houses with pipes exposed, it was comparatively easy to replace rusted piping. Good construction dictates that plumbing pipes be concealed beneath floors and behind walls; one reason is to safeguard them against frost. In order to replace even a short length of rusted, leaking pipe, the services of carpenter, plumber, plasterer and decorator are often required. Brass pipes installed in the plumbing system is a permanent protection against pipe failure caused by rust.

Great Care Needed in Building Roofs

Roofs made of overlapping units, such as shingles, slates and tiles, the form of roof used most commonly in home building, invite leaks and disaster when they are slapped on in any old way, and there will come a time when you will positively want to do violence if you use just any old quality of these units.

They make sound roofs if they are made right; good felt, good asphalt, good wood—cut and preserved as it should be—made by science and not by guess. If they are of proper materials and put on skillfully the wind will not blow them off. They will not curl or crack and let water down through the ceilings.

Let us stop our roof leaks before they happen by not taking a chance with questionable materials or poor workmanship. Buy roofing on the basis of reputation for service.

Drive Must Look Well

If poorly planned, a service yard may be hidden from the street by plantings. Badly arranged plantings may not be conspicuous when flowers are blooming. A lawn filled with weeds may not show in winter. But the driveway, good or bad, is always on exhibition. It can be made attractive just as easily as not. Give thought to this subject early in the planning.

POULTRY

PASTURING GEESE ON CLEAN RANGE

As General Rule Fowls Are Given Freedom of Field.

The raising of geese has not been specialized like duck raising, for the reason that geese secure most of their feed by grazing. For this reason, geese are raised on most farms in comparatively small flocks. These facts are the principal reasons why geese raising offers an opportunity for most farmers to add another source of income to their spring poultry raising.

Geese may be pastured at the rate of 60 head to an acre, but, as a general rule, they are given free range. This is satisfactory so long as they are not numerous. However, if a large flock of geese is pastured on the regular pasture the live stock will not relish the pasture on account of the goose manure on the grass. Ordinarily, the number of geese raised on any one farm are not numerous enough to cause any trouble from this source.

Geese do not require a great deal of attention. After the first two weeks they are able to look after themselves if given a good range. The principal food of geese is grass, supplemented by insects and other low forms of animal life. If suitable range is not accessible it is not advisable to go into geese raising.

Houses that will protect the geese from rains in summer and from snow, cold winds and dampness in winter are the only essentials from the housing standpoint. Low, open front sheds are often used for this purpose. Care should be taken to see that the interior of the house is dry at all times. Geese like to swim and they will exercise in the snow practically all day, but they should have dry places to roost or they will contract rheumatism. The floor of such houses should be of earth. This should be covered with straw and renewed often enough so that it will be dry. A thin coating of sand often proves helpful in keeping the house dry.

Geese mate more successfully after they are two years of age than when mated earlier. This is more true of the females than of the males. Occasionally yearling geese will produce fertile eggs, but they cannot be depended upon. Small, undersized geese should not be used for breeding purposes. On the other hand, extra large, coarse geese are not as satisfactory as those of full development, but not so coarse. With most breeds the gander will mate with from three to four geese.

Ohio Station Advocates All-Mash Chick Ration

The rearing of chicks to maturity on an all-mash ration is a rather new venture in poultry keeping, and we shall have to take the word of those who have tried it as to its value. This system has been developed and advocated by the Ohio agricultural experiment station, at Wooster, and is fully described in a bulletin issued by that station. They state that they have found the method successful on their experimental farm and equally so in the hands of other poultrymen of the state. Some other stations, where it has been tried, discount these claims somewhat. There is no question as to the attractiveness of the plan and the results at the Ohio station should be sufficient to give warrant for trying it out.

Those who have followed the teaching of poultry experts over a considerable period of years have learned that there is little that can be considered as absolutely fixed, even in the seemingly fundamental principles of feeding and care. Revolutionary findings are apt at any time to upset long accepted practices. The all-mash ration should not have scratch grains added to it, since it combines in itself both the scratch and the mash and the addition of more scratch grain would unbalance it. That is, it would change the proportion of protein foods to the other ingredients and presumably lessen its value. An all-mash should be more coarsely ground than other mashes, to make it more palatable.

Raising Turkeys

Turkeys can be raised by artificial methods with less loss and more profit than by the hen-hatched and hen-brooded method. Each year the number of growing more than 20 or 30 per cent of the poult has become more difficult. That the association of turkeys and chickens is one of the leading causes for the heavy losses in baby poult and that turkeys can be raised in brooders and hatched in incubators are comparatively new developments in the turkey situation.

In Case of Roup

Should any of your flock begin to show symptoms of roup, no time should be lost in starting measures to prevent further spread. All houses, pens, coops and runs should be thoroughly cleaned and sprayed with a strong solution of a good coal tar dip and disinfectant. Droppings, litter and trash of every description should be removed and burned. All unnecessary equipment of every kind should be removed from houses and yards and stored elsewhere.

What would it be worth to you to find a good job—to get your name on a regular payroll, so that the weekly income is assured and ample?

What would it be worth to you, in additional business, to secure the needed office employee—the worker who could show results, and help you to carry through your every plan?

What would it be worth to you to be able to sell that used car at a fair price—or those office fixtures which you no longer need—or that discarded but still useful furniture?

What would it be worth to you to secure a business partner, or a financial backer?

All of these "results" may be had through classified advertising—if it is persistent, intelligent, done.

And the cost of little campaigns of liner advertising is so small that in the final summing up you will have to consider that your result has been purchased at a "bargain price."
