FARMERS DAY SET EARLY IN AUGUST

State College Will Be Host To Thousands of Michigan Families.

Friday, August 2, has been selected as the date for the annual Summer Farmers Day at Michigan State College and the College staff will be host to the thousands of Michigan folks who annually accept this occasion to check up on the new experimental work on the College farm and to listen to the speeches and music arranged by the program committee. College departments will have men at the plots to explain to the visitors the experiments which are being carried out this year. Inspection of the experimental work is scheduled to begin at 8:00 a. m.

Demonstrations, which will be given during the forenoon, include horse-breaking, the use of the rotary hoe for cultivating, and the use of chemicals as quack grass eradicator. The new dairy barn will be dedicated and a special program for dairymen will be given. A banquet for dairy enthusiasts will be held in the new barn Friday evening.

The speaking and musical program is scheduled for the afternoon. A choir singing contest is a part of the day's program.

Arrangements have been made for a play hour for children and the home economics department has completed a list of events of special interest to women so every member of the family will have a part in this year's Summer Farmers Day, August 2. The newest quirks for lightening household tasks, methods for selecting fabrics that will wear as they are supposed to do, good music, and just plain entertainment have been provided by the program makers who have charge of the women's section.

One of the features, this year will be the awarding of medals to the second group of Master Farm Homemakers to be chosen in Michigan. A banquet for women will also be held Friday evening.

FINE LIMESTONE IS BEST FOR MICHIGAN

The rapidity with which limestone becomes available for the use of plants on Michigan soils depends upon the fineness of the material which is applied to correct soil acidity, according to soils specialists at Michigan State College.

If immediate results are desired from the application of lime, 85 per cent of the stone applied should be fine enough to pass through a ten mesh screen. A screen of this size has 100 holes to the square inch and is slightly coarser than ordinary window screen.

Three grades of limestone are commonly sold in Michigan. The first is known as pulverized stone and this grade has given good results in the college experimental work. The second grade is somewhat coarser but is satisfactory. The third grade does not contain enough fine material so that an ordinary application will give good results.

If only the coarse grade can be obtained by the farmer, larger amounts of the stone must be applied to obtain enough fine particles to give an immediate effect.

Trials made by Michigan State College indicate that limestone which gives satisfactory results in neighboring states is not always successful in Michigan. Some of the soils in this state are low in organic matter and the large sized particles of limestone seem to break down slower than they do in soils which have a large organic matter content.

"A commanding personality, a strong and instructing address. He drew a full house and held the audience in close attention throughout," says Rev. Wm. Henry Hormel of Flint.

"Every seat in the auditorium was taken, and those who were unfortunate enough to be absent missed a rare treat," says the Yale Expositor. "The speaker left a profound impression upon his hearers and something really worth while to think about." A cordial invitation is given to the people of Cass City to attend this service.

KILL APPLE MAGGOTS WITH SPECIAL SPRAY

The appearance of the apple maggot in several localities in Michigan makes it necessary for the grower who wishes to produce first class late fall and winter apples to apply a special spray to control this insect.

The apple maggot is the larvae of a fly and it differs from the codling moth larvae so that it can be identified by a careful observer. The apple maggot is white, is smaller than the codling moth larvae, and has no head. The maggot feeds throughout the flesh of the apple.

Successful control is dependent upon proper timing for the application of the protective sprays. The first spray must be applied after the emergence of the adult flies and before they have had a chance to lay their eggs, and a second spray is applied two weeks later.

The spray recommended by entomologists at Michigan State College is one pound of arsenate of lead to 500 gallons of water. This extra spray should be applied only in districts where the apple maggot is present. County agricultural agents can inform growers if the insect is found in their localities.

The spray is recommended for use only on late fall and winter apples. Notices of the proper time to spray will be sent to each section of the state as the fly appears.

Advertise it in the Chronicle.

Mr. and Mrs. George Seed had as guests Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fisher of Akron, Mrs. Della Lauderbach of Cass City, and Donald Seed and five other young men, who are members of a Pontiac orchestra of which Mr. Seed is also a member. Mrs. Davis, pianist and director of the orchestra, was also a guest. Mrs. Davis is well known to many Cass City people as Miss Helen Legg, formerly of Kingston. The orchestra played a number of selections at the Seed home which were much enjoyed by all present.

S. Champion left for Coldwater and Lansing Tuesday morning where he inspected poster boards for the Outdoor Advertising Association of Michigan.

Mrs. George Seed, daughter, Miss Aletha, Mrs. Della Lauderbach and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Henry DeLong, Miss Mary Mathers of Fortyfort, Pa., and Mrs. Charles Edson of Benton, Pa., visited the Fisher Bros. at Akron and Columbia Tuesday. On Wednesday, the Pennsylvania cousins left for their homes.

Professor William Lyon Phelps of Yale University and Mrs. Phelps have taken up their residence at their summer home, Seven Gables, at Huron City, after an absence of nearly two years. In 1928 Mr. and Mrs. Phelps took a trip to Europe instead of spending the summer at Huron City. Professor Phelps held his first services of the summer Sunday afternoon at the little Huron City church. He spoke on his travels in Europe and of his friendship with Gene Tunney. On July 28 he will conduct memorial services for members of the church who have died during the past two years. He will also deliver his annual lecture on the best books of the year later in the summer, at the club house at Pointe aux Barques. Edgar A. Guest, Detroit poet, and his family have taken up their residence for the summer at their cottage at Pointe aux Barques.

OBITUARY.

Manly Peter Kitchin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kitchin, was born in Evergreen Twp., Sanilac County, on Feb. 1, 1900. He departed this life at the Morris Hospital at six o'clock Sunday evening July 7, 1929, aged 29 years, 5 months and 6 days.

Nearly all his life previous to his marriage was spent at the home of his parents. He gave his heart to God early in his boyhood and lived a clean, consistent Christian life, making friends wherever he went and leaving an influence for good. His cheerful greeting will be missed by all who knew him.

He had a very serious illness ten years ago and it was only through prayer that he was then raised up to spend a few more years in the Master's service. While it would now seem that his life work was not finished, yet God knows best and we bow our heads in submission to His will.

On April 7, 1925, he was united in marriage to Miss Hazel Stitt of Shabbona. Since then, they have resided on their farm, five miles east and three miles south of Cass City. It could truly be said that theirs was a happy home.

He was ill but 12 days and his death comes as a shock to all. He was always patient even though suffering intensely. The evening before he was taken sick he attended the mid-week prayer meeting held at the home of his parents and the bright testimony he gave then will long be remembered by those who heard it.

He leaves to mourn his departure his wife, little son, Donald, father and mother, two brothers, Jason and William, both of Evergreen, and one sister, Mrs. Lewis Surbrook, four nephews and two nieces. One brother, Ray, preceded him in death ten years ago and a sister, Alice, died in infancy.

He will be missed in the home, the family gatherings, in the church and Sunday school, where he taught a class of boys and in the community, where he enjoyed a wide acquaintance.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Mizpah M. E. C. church of which he was a member, Rev. J. A. Avery, presiding elder, having charge and the following ministers assisting: Rev. Krake, Rev. I. W. Herber, Rev. O. B. Snyder, Rev. D. L. Schultz, Rev. B. Douglass and Rev. B. A. Sherk. Interment was in Elkland cemetery.—Contributed.

Cargo Sailors Dislike

Many common cargoes have some curious and unpleasant characteristics. Sugar, for instance, gives off a powerful and often poisonous gas. It has also a sickening odor, and you cannot get the sweet taste out of your mouth. The men simply crave vinegar or lemon juice—anything sour. "Deliver us from sugar" is the sailor's earnest prayer.

Will have another car of salt this week. Those wanting a quantity we will make a very low price if taken off car.

Vacations, after all, are just a pretty good course in home appreciation.

Supply your herd with the milk making materials that pasture lacks by feeding Cow Chow. It's cheaper to feed a little Cow Chow now than to wait for a slump and then try to bring them back.

A Kansas newspaper says if you put a pinch of pepper on strawberries it will keep you from having hives. And if you put two or three pinches of pepper on them it will keep you from having strawberries.

Purina Cow Chow on pasture means no milk slump this fall.

Many pullets will drag into the fall—eating, not laying—not paying. But the pullets fed Growena and Hen Chow will have averaged about 45 eggs before January and those eggs come when egg prices are highest. Feed Growena and get eggs when eggs are always the highest—October, November and December.

Insurance companies declare that the bath tub is a hazard. That's something all small boys can use as an argument.

We've had another offer to work in a hay field—only they want us to work in the mow.

Another car of Purina this week. Purina Chows like Cream of Wheat flour is a good bet at any time.

Don't worry over split milk. Feed Calf Chow and save the milk waste. It's easy to feed and saves from $10 to $20 on each calf by taking the place of whole milk.

Michigan Press Association Rallies at State Metropolis for 1929 Summer Outing Frolic

Publishers Cast Cares Aside and Enjoy Generous Hospitality of Detroit, the World's Most Interesting City

Theatre Parties, Boat Trip, Banquets, Baseball Games, Visit to General Motors Proving Grounds and Variety of Other Educational Features and Diversions Make Outing a Memorable One.

Welcome to Detroit! Welcome to the Hotel Fort Shelby! Welcome to the Campbell-Ewald Advertising Agency! Welcome to the General Motors proving grounds near Milford! Welcome to the Detroit baseball park! Welcome to the Fox theatre! Welcome to the Ashley-Dustin steamboat line. Welcome to Put-in-Bay! Welcome from the federal government to ascend the Perry Victory monument! Welcome to Ohio!

From the moment we landed in Detroit on Sunday and Monday, everywhere a most cordial and enthusiastic welcome was extended to the Michigan Press Association.

No new records were established, for our reception in 1929 was no more cordial than it has been in 1928, in 1927, in 1926, or prior years. Perhaps the main difference was in the fact that Detroit and the metropolitan area has more to offer in some ways than can be found in the great open spaces where for the past few years our annual summer frolics have been held.

The city is the city and the country is the country, but there is a difference between Detroit and the ordinary city. Detroit has the river, the lakes, the islands, and many other attractions that the ordinary city does not have, and which make it an ideal great summer resort where city and country meet, in perhaps the finest setting that nature has provided for any of the great cities of the world. And Detroit has taken nature at her best and has added all civilization has available as an aid to nature.

Detroit, dynamic metropolis of Michigan, outdid herself in hospitality to Michigan newspaper people from out in the state this year on the occasion of the annual summer outing meeting of the Michigan Press Association.

From all sections of the state the knights and ladies of the quill poured into Detroit. From the Thumb, from the heel of the mitten, from the fingers of the hand and from the upper peninsula came the pencil pushers and their families, until all portions of the great commonwealth were fairly represented.

The splendid Hotel Fort Shelby was headquarters and the warmth of the welcome extended by Manager J. E. Frawley and all of his co-workers was but a sample of that later extended by all with whom we came in contact.

As early as Wednesday evening the members of the MPA commenced dropping in and getting "set to go." Thursday forenoon the secretary and his aids were kept busy making registrations, and long before noon the program was well started. Many of the editors refused to wait until afternoon to start the program but visited the Campbell-Ewald agency in the morning in order to avail themselves of the generous invitation of Mr. Navin of the Detroit Baseball company to visit Navin field and see the Tigers feast on the Indians later in the day.

So the program started early and finished late, with no untoward event to mar one of the most joyous summer frolics the MPA has ever had.

Not only Detroit, but Ohio as well, welcomed the Michigan country newspaper people. When Field Manager H. E. C. Rowe of the Ohio Newspaper Association learned that the Michigan editors were to visit Put-in-Bay, which is in the Buckeye state, he got busy and rounded up a bunch of Ohio editors and their wives to meet us at Put-in-Bay, where they gave us cordial greetings and extended the hospitality of the Buckeyes to the Wolverines.

It would take the art of the painter and the language of the poet to transfer to paper in ink all the alluring attractions which were ours to enjoy, in words fitting to do justice to our hosts and their endeavors in our behalf. Those who were there know—those who were absent can never know, except that they will be told from time to time as the present fades into history, all that was so freely ours.

Our Hospitable Headquarters

The splendid Hotel Fort Shelby, one of the finest and greatest of Detroit caravanseries, was our home while in Detroit. And a real home it was, for Manager Frawley had given instructions that we were to be made doubly welcome. The Hotel Fort Shelby, located on Lafayette boulevard, is close to the heart of the downtown shopping and theatre district, yet away from the noise and confusion of the congestion which surrounds many of the Detroit hotels. It is a mammoth hotel, twenty floors of home-like and beautifully furnished rooms, with a lobby which in its very atmosphere spells "Welcome" to the weary traveler. At the desk there is no glare of stony eyes and no chill of aloofness. You are made to feel that you are welcome to the Hotel Fort Shelby and there is an air of certainty that you will feel at home, that you are a guest whose desires are to be anticipated in every way. The hotel is easy of access by motor from any entry into the city, without fighting your way through interminable traffic congestion. The Fort Shelby Garage is but a short half block from the hotel, and courteous attendants will take your car and see that it is properly cared for and bring it to the hotel door at your wish, without extra charge. Very comfortable rooms may be had at $3.00 to $4.00 per day, with bath, and more luxurious quarters, if one so desires, at slightly higher prices. Many Michigan people make the Hotel Fort Shelby their home when in Detroit and it is constantly increasing its number of friends by the warmth and genuineness of its hospitality. Mr. J. E. Frawley is the managing director and Mr. E. J. Bradwell the resident manager. Both are well known to most Michigan people who visit Detroit frequently and their cordiality is one of the reasons for the popularity of the Hotel Fort Shelby.

The banquet which was tendered to the members of the Michigan Press Association Friday evening by the hotel management was one of the delightful affairs of the week. It was jolly from start to finish and delightfully informal. The feast was all that the most exacting epicure could desire and the service was most satisfactory. There were no tiresome talks as an adjunct of the banquet, but cabaret entertainment and community singing enlivened the dinner hour and the company dispersed in ample time for those who desired to attend theatre parties or other attractions.

Visit to Modern Advertising Agency

One of the most intensely interesting events of the entire program of entertainment was the first thing on the program following registration Thursday morning. This was a trip to the offices of the Campbell-Ewald Agency, which occupies the entire thirteenth floor of the enormous General Motors Building, and two wings of the fourteenth. The Campbell-Ewald executives made their welcome evident by having Mr. M. B. Tunicliff of their office force at the Hotel Fort Shelby to greet the incoming publishers and direct them to the offices of the agency, seeing them safely in taxis which were paid by the agency to bring their guests to their headquarters, a courtesy which aroused much favorable comment.

Arrived at the agency offices, each group was escorted by a guide who followed a sample advertisement through all the devious courses of initial order, through the department of art and display work, proofs and corrections, through the order department, the mailing department, orders going out to various publications, tear sheets, invoices, and checking copies coming in, being assorted and checked up, on through the accounting department, until the check in payment of the account is written, cut and sent on its way.

The various departments and their work was explained in detail so that all could have a clear understanding

Michigan Publishers See How Automobiles are Tested

As Guests of General Motors, Members of Association Visit Proving Grounds

One of the features of the 1929 summer outing, and there were many eventful ones, was the trip to the General Motors Proving Grounds, about 45 miles from Detroit, near Milford in Oakland county. It is here that this great corporation, that has set the pace in so many of the developments in the automotive industry, brings its cars to put them through every conceivable test to establish what they will do.

All Cars Tested

Not only General Motors products, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Oakland, Buick, LaSalle, Cadillac, General Motors Trucks and Yellow Cabs and Coaches, but automobiles of every conceivable make, domestic and foreign, are brought here to be tested. Road conditions of all kinds are made as they are encountered every day, everywhere.

The party arrived at the proving grounds club rooms just before noon. H. A. Newman, in charge there, saw to it that every one was comfortably provided for and soon the publishers were seated around the tables for a delightful luncheon as guests of General Motors.

They gathered next in the auditorium where Mr. Newman explained the purposes of the Proving Grounds and the manner in which it had functioned since put in operation in 1927. Then followed a moving picture, "The World Builds a Motor Car," in which was shown the process of manufacture as carried on by General Motors in every nation of importance in the world. Workmen in China, Egypt, Australia, Japan, European nations, everywhere, were shown making their living as employees of the automotive industry. The picture also presented the manner in which the automobile served the nations of the world, bringing them into closer contact and also presenting a picture of how the civilization of the world has followed the trend of transportation.

The trip to the laboratories where scientific devices are employed to test out all the features of all makes of automobiles revealed to Michigan publishers many new things. The exhaustive study given to each detail also explained the reason for the great development of the motor industry. All tests are the same for all makes of cars. As a matter of fact, each car is numbered after it is brought to the proving grounds and the engineers are interested only in learning the maximum service that might be secured from it under all conditions that are encountered in ordinary driving.

Two Years Driving in Month

A car undergoing tests will travel as many as 25,000 miles in one month, as much as it would ordinarily travel in two and a half years in the hands of the average car owner. As many as 1,000,000 miles of travel are covered in one month's driving.

The publishers were given a ride over the speed tracks, over hills and grades, on the straight-away, everywhere where tests were being made. The one exception perhaps was the "bath" where cars are driven through water to test out the ignition system's reaction to water. One car was being tested at 104 miles per hour.

More than one lane of travel is provided to allow all travel uninterrupted.

Just a few years ago the 1268 acres now devoted to this activity were devoted to the peaceful pursuit of agriculture. In 1923 the ground was acquired. It is located about equal distance from Lansing, Flint, Pontiac, and Detroit. In this tract is level and hilly country and all sorts of rough and smooth roads with all sorts of surfaces. The concrete speed loop is nearly four miles in length, with high banked turns. Today's cars are measured and studied. The cars of tomorrow will be put through identical tests, over identical roads, under similar weather conditions. Before, when public highways were used, it was impossible to get as accurate information as is now possible.

When a test is made—for instance, hill climbing—the run is made 10, 15, 20 times, until results are proven. Guesswork has been eliminated. Tests are made with groups of cars to establish standard bases of comparison. Every new device, every novelty, every principle of engineering and construction, every kind of material, must prove itself by use.

Learn Something New

Some "family" debates were set off by some of the information gleaned by the publishers at the Proving Grounds. One publisher had told his wife "it was all right to leave the motor idle while at the curb because it wouldn't burn up much gas." He learned that an idling motor will burn as much fuel as it will at a 40 or 50 mile pace. Another was that speed beyond 30 to 40 miles used up more gas.

The laboratories have electric "fifth" wheel speedometers; apparatus for measuring fuel; duplicate wheel measure steering effort; device to measure foot pedal pressure; electrical devices to record acceleration as well as deceleration.

Foreign motor cars were seen in the garages and undergoing various tests. The small motors made by German, English, French and Italian manufacturers came in for a great deal of questioning. They are not as powerful, nor as fast as those of American make, but this, explained the guide, is because the taxes in other nations are usually based on displacement and the license costs of what is here considered a "small car," a Chevrolet for instance, is almost prohibitive, being over $200. The original cost, too, is considerably higher, because of the high taxes.

Pointing to one car of German make, the writer asked the guide whether it could be driven at as high as 45 miles an hour. "Yes, it would go that fast," he replied, adding, "if you drove it far enough to get a good enough start."

There were over 160 association members at the Proving Grounds and all were more than pleased with the knowledge and pleasure derived through their visit. The activity of General Motors there has been little known and less understood, and the information secured by the publishers is of sufficient importance to make its telling through their columns something of benefit to their readers, just as it was to themselves.

guests took taxis for Navin Field, where the Detroit Tigers and the Cleveland Indians were clawing at each other. Here again they felt that they were most cordially welcome, for the management not only recognized the MPA badges at the gate, but the courtesy of the press boxes was also extended to those of the publishers who desired to sit up among the scribes and the radio announcer. At the Thursday afternoon game, which was won by the Tigers by a score of 6 to 4, they saw one player realize that glowing ambition of every baseball player, to come to bat with the bases loaded and slam out a home run. Outfielder Johnson of the Tigers was the lucky player and his wallop over the scoreboard put the game on ice for the striped cats of the Navin menagerie. A few devoted fans passed up the attractions of the proving grounds trip Friday to attend the game, but had to mourn with the Tigers, who were taken into the wigwam of the Indians to be properly scalped for their antics of the day before.

Magnificent Fox Theatre Opens Doors

One of the largest and most magnificent of Detroit theatres, the new Fox on Woodward avenue, just above Grand Circus Park, gave hearty welcome to the Michigan Press Association by opening its doors to all members at all performances of Thursday and Friday. The official badge of the MPA was the open sesame at the portals and those who availed themselves of the privilege were most enthusiastic at the splendor of the grand play house and the intrinsic merit of the attractions presented. A trip of inspection to this wonderful temple of amusement is mighty well worth while and one can spend fruitful hours in admiring the sheer beauty of the edifice and its barbaric splendor of furnishings. The attractions are always of the very highest class and it is recognized as one of the most magnificent theatres of the United States.

The Glorious Trip to Put-In-Bay

A most fitting climax to the three-day visit of Michigan newspaper folks to the City of the Straits was Saturday's golden trip to Put-In-Bay. For this trip the Ashley & Dustin Steamer Line had tendered the courtesy of the big, fast steamer "Put-In-Bay," which makes daily trips to this most delightful Ohio resort. Nearly two hundred of the newspaper people availed themselves of the opportunity to make the trip. A more perfect day could not have been desired, not too hot, not too cool, with just a slight breeze rippling the waters of the Detroit river and island-dotted Lake Erie.

Leaving Detroit at 9:30 o'clock the boat had barely left the dock before the orchestra started toes tingling on their way to the spacious dance floor, where 8,000 square feet of polished surface tempted the activities of those who love to dance, while those more sedate wandered about the six spacious decks and enjoyed the magnificent scenery.

We passed under the skeleton of the new Ambassador international bridge, which is to unite Canada and the United States with another steel link. The bridge was to have been ready for traffic by July 4 of this year, but it was discovered in time that the huge steel cables which had been strung were of wire which was faulty in manufacture. Promptly the immense cables were cut down and removed and new cables of tested and approved wire are now being strung, and present plans are to have the stately and graceful structure completed by the first day of 1930.

Glimpse New Tunnel Sections

Further down the river we had glimpses of sections of the new tunnel which is being constructed under the Detroit river at the foot of Randolph street, to make an underwater hook-up with our sister country. These big sections are built at Ojibway and are then towed up the river and sunk into place in a huge underwater trench excavated by dredges.

Swiftly the big "Put-In-Bay" sped past all other water traffic except the flying hydroplanes and soon we were out on the sparkling ripples of Lake Erie, the huge twin screw propellers, driven by the 3,000-horse power engines making play of the swift pace toward our destination.

Shortly before noon we got our first glimpse of the towering Perry monument which dominates the scenery of that section of Lake Erie. It was not until we had landed, however, that the full majesty of this great marble shaft impressed itself upon us. Erected by the United States government, conjointly with the states of Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Wisconsin, New York, Rhode Island, Kentucky and Massachusetts, the imposing shaft commemorates the Battle of Lake Erie, September 10, 1813, and is dedicated to the principle of international peace by arbitration. May it not have been erected in vain. It is constructed of Milford granite, is 352 feet high, 45 feet in diameter at the base and 35½ feet at the top. An open air promenade, protected by a 5-foot parapet, at the top of the monument, is reached by an elevator. The walls are 9 feet and 9 inches thick at the base and 5 feet at the top. For the first time since the monument was erected, the federal government tendered the courtesy of a trip to the top of the monument, the Michigan Press Association receiving that marked honor, and nearly every member of the party made the trip to the top, where a most beautiful view of the lake and its many islands is to be had.

Met by Ohio Newspapermen

Arrived at Put-In-Bay, we were met by a party of Ohio newspapermen, headed by H. E. C. Rowe, field manager of the Ohio Newspaper Association, and were given a hearty welcome to the soil of the Buckeye state. Most of the Ohio publishers had their families with them and the newspaper folks of the two states were soon fraternizing in true newspaper fashion. Promptly all were seated in the dining room of the Crescent hotel, where W. F. "Bill" Panzer, manager of the Detroit office of the Western Newspaper Union, acted for his company as host to the fraternity, at a bounteous luncheon, and the lake ride proved its full efficiency as an appetizer.

The list of Ohio newspaper people who joined us at Put-In-Bay follows: Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Mohler, Berea News and Olmstead Falls Towne Crier. Mr. Mohler is also President of the Buckeye Press Association.

Mr. and Mrs. George Frank and daughter, Grafton Citizen. Mr. Frank is also a former director of the O. N. A. and is now Sec-Treas. of the Lakes district.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Kuesthardt and Miss Martha Kuesthardt, Port Clinton Progressive Times. Mr. Kuesthardt is president of Lake district of the O. N. A.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ramsdell, Sycamore Leader. Mr. Ramsdell was formerly president of the Harding district of the O. N. A.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Warwick, Bowling Green Democrat. Mr. Warwick is Sec-Treas. of the North-West district of the O. N. A.

Roscoe Carle, Fostoria Daily Times. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Keller Dix, Prospect Monitor.

G. H. Speck and grandson, Pemberville Leader.

H. E. C. Rowe, Secretary and Field Manager of The Ohio Newspaper Association.

Visit Points of Interest

Following the luncheon the company scattered for visits to the tower, the caves, the concessions and the other attractions of the famous resort and the time passed all too swiftly until 4:15, when the "Put-In-Bay" returned from Sandusky and Cedar Point on its return trip. Safely stowed away on board, the time passed happily in dancing, cards, visiting, and watching the scenery until six o'clock, when the gang announced the dinner hour.

Here again we were placed under still further obligations to Mr. H. T. Ewald, head of the Campbell-Ewald company, by being guests at a "steamship dinner" which was all that heart and stomach could desire. And what we did to that dinner was a plenty, and some more of "nobody's business." Mr. Ewald, our host, was unable to be with us, as he was in New York say-

Stop those clouds of road dust. Have your officials keep dust bound to the road surface with clean, odorless Dowflake. Make this a dustless summer by joining with your neighbors in a petition to highway officials.

FIRST STEAMBOAT WAS NOT BUILT BY FULTON

RESEARCH reveals strange and unexpected facts. Robert Fulton did not build the first steamboat. Neither did he build the second nor the third. And his famous Clermont, which has come down in popular history as the first steamboat, was not Fulton's first.

When we get to digging into dusty records we discover that one William Henry, of Lancaster, Pa., had a boat which was operated with a steam engine and paddles in 1760. It was a cumbersome affair and early in its career was accidentally sunk. That dampened the hopes of William Henry.

John Fitch a little later built another boat, an improvement over Henry's effort. It was sixty feet long, eight feet wide and its paddles were fitted in the stern. It made a speed of seven miles an hour and records show that George Washington, Thos. Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin were among those who marveled at its mechanical wonders. Fitch's boat, though it worked, was a financial failure. He committed suicide in 1798 when his backers deserted him.

Next to try his hand at steamboat building was John Stevens of New Jersey. After experimenting over a period of ten years he launched his first boat in 1798. Stevens was the first to use a screw propeller. About the same time inventors in England were at work on the same idea.

Robert Fulton was born in a small town in Pennsylvania in 1765, five years after Henry had tried out his

Dust Prevention Methods Win Public Approval

The subject of dust prevention has become proportionately important each year with the constantly increasing number of automobiles on the highways, and with the addition of new miles of improved gravel roads. Each year sees the dust problem become more acute—and each year, until very recently, it has become increasingly costly.

A motor trip through the State shows the remarkable progress made in the prevention of dust by officials and citizens who are awake to the costliness of dust both from the standpoint of road maintenance and damage to crops, homes and estates, and general business.

Our State Highway Department and county and municipal officials have been foremost in a study of dust prevention methods and can, as a result of their efforts, point with pride to considerably over 1,000 miles of moist, dustless, well-maintained gravel roads. Cities, towns, and small communities which a few years ago were seen only through a haze of dust are today clean, refreshing and inviting in appearance.

Pioneers in dust prevention, supported by favorable newspaper editorial comment and enthusiastic public approval, found that Dowflake Calcium Chloride produced by the Dow Chemical Company, Midland, Michigan, opened the way to comparatively inexpensive dust control and better road maintenance methods. It was found that this white, flaky product absorbs moisture from the air as soon as applied to the road surface, and holds the road materials in place, binding them into a moist, firm surface, thereby preventing dust particles from being blown away.

The efforts of officials, supported by public opinion, are responsible for a keener enjoyment of motoring, pleasanter living conditions, better business in communities, and cleaner fruits and crops for the farmer. Dust is a common enemy which every citizen can help to combat by giving his or her support to the officials responsible for its control, and by recommending the clean, odorless, non-tracking, inexpensive method.

STRAY THOUGHTS

Many persons mistake ambition for ability, and thereby hangs a "fall." Those who are big enough to profit by wise advice seldom need to seek it.

Truth walks through life naked and unashamed—Falsehood alone resorts to many guises and disguises.

Some people are not big enough to endure success, which perhaps accounts for them not having any.

Even those who want the earth may be weighed and still be found wanting.

A motor knocks going up hill; a man going down hill.

Testing Engine at 20 Degrees Below Zero

Workers in the Graham-Paige cold room must wear Arctic clothing. Not only is the temperature far below zero, but the blower in the rear creates a 35 mile-an-hour gale. The performance of the engine is observed by means of a dynamometer in the adjoining room.

FROM "PRINTERS DEVIL" TO LINCOLN'S CABINET

WHEN Z. N. Garbutt, editor of the Pike County Free Press, borrowed Rev. Josiah Carter's roan mare one day back in 1848 and rode out into the country to round up a new subscriber or two he set into motion a train of events that led to the court of St. James, to the freeing of the slaves and to the promulgation of the Open Door of China. Listen.

Pittsfield, Ill., wasn't much of a town then and Garbutt's paper wasn't much of a paper. But fate was waiting that summer's day in a little hill-cabin.

As Editor Garbutt rode past the cabin an angry woman, with broomstick upraised, chased a small, frightened boy from the cabin. The boy ran toward the road. The woman halted at sight of the stranger. Garbutt beckoned to the boy and questioned him.

"She's my stepmother," replied the boy. "And she seems to like to beat me. But—I don't like it."

The boy was a pleasing sort of boy and the naive answer touched Garbutt. After a few moments' talk he lifted the boy up and placed him on the roan mare behind him. They rode into Pittsfield that night and the boy became a printer's devil.

We turn the reel up a few years. The boy, John G. Nicolay, is grown now. He is writing editorials, news items, "sticking" type and getting out the newspaper. He has found another boy for "devil." That boy, literary, clever, is named John Hay and he is writing some verse. He calls it "Pike County Ballads."

Nicolay becomes a great admirer of a young Illinois lawyer, a tall, sallow, slender fellow who appears to have political promise.

One day Nicolay, perhaps more than ordinarily inspired, writes an editorial appealing to the nation to make Abraham Lincoln President. He pulls proof, laboriously, on his hand press, and mails them to editors he knows.

The idea takes. There is big talk about it. Political thunders are heard afar. Finally Lincoln is elected.

Now one of Lincoln's strongest traits was his ability not to forget friends. When he went to Washington he took John G. Nicolay with him as his aide, first-friend and advisor. Nicolay was, perhaps, a sort of Colonel House to Lincoln.

Nor did Nicolay forget his friend. So John Hay, too, moved to Washington. Of the twain, Nicolay and Hay, perhaps opportunity smiled the larger for Hay.

John Hay became secretary to President Lincoln when twenty-four years old, became ambassador to the court of St. James, became secretary of state under President McKinley and Roosevelt, became the greatest diplomat that the United States has ever known, took time from his political duties to be, for a time, editor of the New York Tribune when Horace Greeley published it. And John Hay promulgated the Open Door to China. A treaty he negotiated with Great Britain healed a sore of fifty years' standing.

John G. Nicolay became one of the greatest historians of Lincoln, became consul to Paris and then marshal of the Supreme Court of the United States. Pittsfield, Ill., is today only a village; maybe 3,000 people. Few see it because no railroad passes through; a stub line its only transport. But on the courthouse square stands a noble boulder. On it are engraved four names:

Abraham Lincoln
Stephen A. Douglas
John G. Nicolay
John Hay

Douglas, who once defeated Lincoln for the senate, was added to the list because he, like the others, was a familiar sight in Pittsfield in those prewar days when the four were carving their careers out of the rough.

So I say to you, viewing the above apart, if you ever see a woman chasing a frightened little boy with a broomstick, lift him up and put him on your roan mare behind you. It may lead him to the court of St. James or to the opening, perhaps, of some door to China. Or even to a share in the making of some future Lincoln.

Michigan publishers at the Detroit meeting were given a real thrill on the trip to and from the Proving Grounds. A motorcycle police escort was provided, and all cross traffic was stopped to allow the procession of General Motors busses to pass. The shrill blast of the police whistle warned all traffic to a stop and pedestrians and drivers alike, gazed in surprised wonder as to what was the reason for the unusual occurrence, this being the first escort of the kind this year. All the publishers admitted that the pace was faster than they would care to employ through Detroit traffic.

FIRST NEWSPAPER IN U. S. WAS SHORT-LIVED

AMERICA'S first newspaper was short-lived. It was promptly suppressed by the government after the first issue on the ground that it contained "reflections of a very high nature."

The only edition ever issued was dated Thursday, September 25, 1690, and was called Public Occurrences Both Foreign and Domestic. Richard Pierce was the publisher and Benjamin Harris was employed to print it. Boston was the place of publication.

Pages were 7 by 11 inches. Three pages contained printed matter and the fourth was blank. Plans were formed to get it out monthly but the heavy hand of the government wrecked the project. Only one copy of the paper exists and that is in the Colonial state paper office of the British government in London.

Fourteen years later, on April 24, 1704, the first successful newspaper on the Western hemisphere was launched in Boston. It was printed by one B. Green, and the owner was John Campbell, postmaster. In the beginning it contained only two pages, 8 by 12 inches.

In the first number Campbell made a bid for advertising with the following notice:

"This News-Letter is to continue Weekly; and all persons who have any Houses, Lands, Tenements, Farms, Ships, Vessels, Goods, Wares or Merchandise, etc., to be sold or let; or Servants Runaway, or Goods Stole or Lost; may have the same inserted at a Reasonable Rate, from Twelve Pence to Five Shillings and not to exceed. . . .

"Who may agree with John Campbell, Postmaster of Boston, all persons in Town or Country may have the News-Letter every Week, yearly, upon reasonable terms, agreeing with John Campbell, Postmaster for the same."

"B. Green," the printer, became owner of the publication in 1722 and after that his name blossomed into Bortholomew Green. The News-Letter was published continuously in Boston for 72 years and was the only paper printed there during the famous siege.

The Massachusetts Historical society has a partial file of the publication. In its early years it was crudely written with small regard for grammar, spelling or punctuation, and the printing was badly done. Its columns reveal that trading consisted largely of barter and that a condition of semi-slavery existed.

Servants were "bound out" and "indentured," imprisonment for debt was common and there was much poverty. For many years it was believed that the first American publication was the English Mercurie, presumed to have been published originally in 1588. Finally it was admitted that this publication was a hoax perpetrated by the second Lord Hardwicke.

Proof of this came along with evidence that the paper upon which it was printed came into existence long after the supposed time of its publication. Errors in historical data and mistakes in the timing of notable events of the period were other evidences offered to prove it a forgery.

Spending time is like drawing money out of the bank. When one day is gone there is one day less remaining.

Sidelights from the Michigan Press Outing

Mr. Dustin of the Ashley & Dustin lines made the trip with us to Put-in-Bay and personally looked after the comfort of his editorial guests.

Mr. G. S. Crane of the Campbell-Ewald organization was not only the generalissimo of the trip to Put-in-Bay, but he was an invaluable aid to the field manager in making the preliminary arrangements for the summer outing meeting. He has placed the entire MPA organization under obligations by his invaluable and generous services.

Among old friends attending various portions of the outing were Roger Andrews, one-time Poobah of Menominee, now managing editor of the Detroit Times, Norman C. Hill of Sault Ste. Marie and a former member of the Michigan Conservation Commission, also now connected with the Times, and Clifford C. Ward, former editor and publisher of the Charlotte Tribune, now connected with the advertising department of the Times.

Mr. C. W. Hungerford, advertising and news manager of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, was a most welcome guest of the MPA during the outing and evidently had as good a time as anybody in the party. Mrs. Hungerford accompanied the party to Put-in-Bay Saturday.

Residents and innocent bystanders along Grand River avenue took to the alleys Friday afternoon as that cavalcade of roaring blue buses came tearing into town, under guard of a battalion of motorcycle police with shrieking sirens, who convoyed the bunch through traffic and danger signals at a forty-mile clip. The timid ones are gradually regaining normalcy.

Aimee Semple McPherson, beautiful blonde evangelist of Los Angeles, who is holding services daily at the Masonic Temple auditorium, is a guest of the Hotel Fort Shelby and the newspaper folks had the privilege of a short-range glimpse of the famous feminine Billy Sunday. All agreed that the lady is easy on the eyes and that she certainly knows how to wear clothes.

That long deferred Upper Peninsula outing trip now seems a fair prospect for next summer. Upper Peninsula members are getting together and planning for suitable quarters and program and it is likely their plans will come through. Many of the lower peninsula folks are anxious to make the trip.

The National Association of State Press Field Managers is to hold its annual meeting for 1923 at Tacoma, Washington, August 19 to 24.

Several new members were added to the MPA during the Detroit outing meeting.

"Dad" and Mrs. Adams of the Fowlerville Review were present at the early part of the convention but were called home to attend the funeral of an old friend Saturday.

The hearty thanks of the association are due to all of our Detroit friends who did everything humanly possible to see that we had a royal good time on our summer frolic. And thanks to all of them, we did have just that kind of a time.

When George H. A. Shaw of the Pigeon Progress met Joe Sturgeon of the Gladstone Delta Reporter, he knew that Joe belonged to the gang but he just couldn't recall the name. He knew Joe was some kind of a fish, but now just what kind? Finally he said, "I know you, all right. You're Mr. Perch, aren't you?" Well, perhaps that's close, but if you have ever seen a regular sturgeon, you wouldn't mistake it for a perch, now would you,

George? That is generally speaking, considering the size of the perch you usually catch.

A dinner meeting at the Book-Cadillac hotel Thursday evening was attended by the officers and committee men of the MPA and a number of the executives and space-buyers of the leading advertising agencies of Detroit, at which many interesting topics were discussed. This friendly gathering brought these two branches of the advertising business into closer contact and gave the newspaper people a more definite idea of ways in which they can render more service to the general advertiser who desires to reach the reader of country newspapers.

Graham-Paige Motors Undergo Severe Tests

Any climate in the world can be duplicated to order, on any day of the year, in the automotive industry's latest research and test building, at Detroit.

The new engineering laboratory built by Graham-Paige, housed in a two-story building 300 feet long, has a cold room in which an engine or an entire automobile can be tested under arctic conditions, at temperatures as low as 20 degrees below zero; and a hot room in which tests can be made duplicating Sahara, at 140 degrees. It is by such tests that automobiles are developed to operate efficiently in any country of the world.

Refrigerating machinery capable of producing 60 tons of ice every 24 hours keeps the cold-room at sub-zero temperatures, while the car undergoes dynamometer tests. A powerful blower sends a blast of frigid air against the radiator of the car, equalling a 35-mile-an-hour gale.

The new laboratory is a veritable exhibition of the latest mechanical and electrical devices for precision-testing of materials and machines. Four dynamometer rooms are constantly in use making test after test. In the silent room, completely insulated from all outside noises, entire cars or separate units may be tested for noiselessness. Another room houses the road shock test, where the car is run on rollers having heavy blocks mounted on their circumference, giving the effect of high speed driving over extraordinarily rough roads.

One of the most unusual devices in the laboratory is the stroborama, a French device. A cluster of neon tubes of 1000 candle-power may be timed to flash in synchronism with the rate of speed of any mechanical part under study, so that the action may be seen in any phase, just as if it were standing still.

If you would only all be true to the vows you have made in the past, what a conquering host there would be!

WHAT DR. CALDWELL LEARNED IN 47 YEARS PRACTICE

A physician watched the results of constipation for 47 years, and believed that no matter how careful people are of their health, diet and exercise, constipation will occur from time to time. Of next importance, then, is how to treat it when it comes. Dr. Caldwell always was in favor of getting as close to nature as possible, hence his remedy for constipation, known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a mild vegetable compound. It can not harm the system and is not habit forming. Syrup Pepsin is pleasant-tasting, and youngsters love it.

Dr. Caldwell did not approve of drastic physics and purges. He did not believe they were good for anybody's system. In a practice of 47 years he never saw any reason for their use when Syrup Pepsin will empty the bowels just as promptly.

Do not let a day go by without a bowel movement. Do not sit and hope, but go to the nearest drugstore and get one of the generous bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, or write "Syrup Pepsin," Dept. BB, Monticello, Illinois, for free trial bottle.

"In 3 Bottles of Konjola I Found Health"

Lady Relates Splendid Experience with This New and Different Medicine.

"My entire family unites with me in giving to Konjola the most enthusiastic indorsement possible," said Mrs. B. Martin, 328 Bagley Street, Saginaw, Michigan. "I had indigestion, kidney trouble, headache and my nerves were a tangled wreck. My appetite was not good and had pains throughout my body.

"When I had taken three bottles of Konjola I knew that at last my long search for health had been rewarded. When I had finished the sixth bottle I was a well woman in every way. My indigestion is gone. My nerves are calm, and I haven't an ache or a pain. No wonder Konjola has a million friends."
Konjola is sold in Cass City at Burke's drug store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.—Advertisement.

In 5 MILLION HOMES TONIGHT

A host of babies will enjoy sound sleep tonight. And their parents will have unbroken rest. Castoria is the cause of this contentment in a multitude of homes.
Good old Castoria! Children cry for it. Mothers swear by it. Not a household where there is an infant should ever be without it. A few drops of Castoria quiet Baby in a perfectly innocent manner. It is natural slumber that follows. Castoria is a purely vegetable product. No opiates. No narcotics. Of any kind.
Now you know why trained nurses give Castoria as often as an infant is ailing, or even restless. And why doctors tell mothers it is the first and only home remedy when Baby has constipation, colic, diarrhea, or other upset. It is made for babies, and safe to give babies, and other things are not.
Fletcher's Castoria is "old-fashioned" if you count its fifty years, but it's an old-fashioned mother, nowadays, who worries about it. Twenty-five million bottles bought last year! Think of the number of mothers who rely on Castoria! All these mothers can't be wrong! To keep a bottle in the house is a precaution you owe your little one.
